Get Ready for the FUTURE TODAY

Opportunity may knock at a man's door, but the richest prize go to him who seizes the fickle divinity by the forelock. The only way you can be sure of tomorrow's success is to prepare for it today. At a pinch an ounce of preparation is worth an ocean of regrets.

The man who is not thoroughly trained for a business or commercial life doesn't know who kick's him from behind—he's the last to be hired and the first to be fired. He spends his lifetime doing other people's work while they climb over his back to the ladder of success.

Appaling Disaster.

Pennsylvania Mill Town Wiped Out By Flood And Fire.

JOHNSTOWN DISASTER RE-PEATED.

Three hundred or more persons met their death through the bursting of a dam above Austin Pa., on Saturday. Fire followed and completed the work of destruction. The curtain of night which was rung down on the flood scarcely before its victims had all been claimed and its surviving spectators fully realized how great a tragedy the elements of water and fire had enacted in the natural amphitheatre of the Alleghany mountains there, was lifted by dawn Sunday, revealing a ghastly scene of death and devastation.

Austin itself, Saturday a busy mill town of 8,000 people, many of whom were enjoying a fine autumn afternoon as a Saturday half holiday, is only a ghost of a town. Torn to pieces by water and eaten by fire, the wet and charred remains of its buildings, believed to hold the remains of 300 or more persons, were strewn along the valley edge piled in windows where the main street business section was, or swept in scattered masses for down the ravine. Spectators, many of whom barely escaped being victims of the disaster, and hundreds of people from surrounding towns, looked down from the steep hillsides on Austin and Costello through a veil of fog Friday morning to see the wreckage here of some four hundred houses, a score of business blocks, three churches and several large lumber mills and three miles farther down the river, at Costello, the ruins of more than fifty buildings. The flood did not spend its force until it reached for more than ten miles from the reservoir. Wharton, still further on, suffered somewhat, but is practically intact. The loss of life at Costello, where the residents had more warning, is believed to be but three. Property loss in the valley is estimated at upwards of six million dollars.

The immediate scene of the obliteration of Austin covers an area three-eighths of a mile wide and one and three-quarter miles long. This comprised the business section and the valley residence portion. Nearly a mile above stood the mammoth concrete dam of the Bayless Paper and Pulp Company, six hundred feet long, 52 feet high and 60 feet thick at the bottom, tapering to a thickness of 8 feet at the top. Back of this dam yesterday lay a reservoir of water a mile and a half long and an average of 35 feet deep. Directly in front of the dam stood the plant of the Bayless Company with four main buildings. Stacked high nearby was 700,000 cords of 50 inch wood and slabs, and also a portion of the company's immense timber stock, totalling in the Austin Valley 15,000,000 feet of hardwood and 20,000,000 of hemlock. This was a five year supply, practically the last large cut of the region, valued at $2,000,000.

The wreckage of the dam had been complete as it was sudden. Two immense sections from top to bottom a 150 feet wide were thrown out bodily like the immense gates of a canal lock. The outward swing was more than 90 feet, and on either side the remaining structures began gradually to crumble away. Repairs last spring had consisted of a patch of cement 14 feet square. One of the several sections Saturday began at that patch. The cause of the breaking of the dam is a matter which the district attorney of Potter county has taken steps to investigate.

Credit for the quick spreading of the alarm was given to Lena Binckey, a telephone operator. Upon receiving the message from the Cliff House that the dam had broken she pushed the alarm button connecting with the fire department and the engineer's office of the Goodyear Langbar mill below the dam. The engineer tied his whistle down and the fire bell in the town was sounded continuously. She then rushed to the street screaming the warning cry, "The dam has broken." Then she fled for her life toward the steep hillsides at the north end of Main street. Turning towards the valley she saw the great wall of water descending upon the town. "From where I stood," she said next day, the wall of water seemed 50 feet high. Above it rose a great cloud of spray in which houses seemed to lose, bumping against one another, spinning and turning as they fell to pieces or were swept out of my sight. The noise was appalling. When I fled from Main street there were scores of people behind me, many of them children. They did not seem to appreciate the imminence of their danger. Some turned into stores as if to make a casual purchase. While I was looking down upon them, utterly helpless to give further warning, the cloud of mist that seemed to precede the flood hid them from view, and a moment later the great water buried the houses from my sight."

A severe gale raged in the English Channel on Saturday night with much rain and some loss of life. Several vessels are reported in the Channel. The Russian ship City of Benares was wrecked near Westphalia, one of the crew being drowned. The British North Sea Coast also suffered severely.

The British navy is equipped with torpedoes said to be effective at ten thousand yards, or nearly three times the range of the most powerful projectiles now used in the United States Navy. The existence of this torpedo has been kept a secret and it was only by a "leak" by one of the British experts that it became known. No say Washington advises.

Dudley Cusston, manager for Mark Hambrough, the great pianist, was shot to death at Rimouski last Friday evening. The demand, with Mr. and Mrs. Hambrough, were passengers on the Dominion of Britain, and headed to take the train for the east. During the evening while a political demonstration was in progress, a revolver was discharged the bullet striking and killing Cusston.

We regret to learn that Roy. Dr. Genthler, F. P. Palmer Road, met with an accident last week that will likely lay him up for some time. Returning from the Exhibition at Summerside he was driving in his carriage; the night was dark and the driver could not see that a carriage in front had suddenly stopped. A collision occurred and Father Genthler was thrown violently out and had several ribs broken.

DOCTOR JACK.

The letter which said so much, and yet so little.

My dear, dear Jack: Dr. Jack Jennings, glancing over his morning mail in the privacy of his bachelor apartment, that was a distinct combination of apartment and office, stared incredulously at the dainty missive in his hand.

It is no fit place for you to go, said Dr. Jack. My maid, who has both spirit and muscle at need, will accompany me, replied the lady.

I will say so more, said Dr. Jack, snatching his jaw, as he took his last stand. I refuse to be responsible for your visit to such a pesthouse as that Italian tenement. It is the very folly of fanaticism, he continued hotly, as he met the steady gaze of the secretary's eyes and realized all his bluster was in vain.

I think you are rather exceeding your professional privileges, Miss Vane answered calmly though her fair face flushed. I have my ideas of duty, and you know there is happily no need of my insisting the matter further.

And this was the final incident that had seemed to lead to the amazing document that Dr. Jack, after reading for the tenth time, considered to be his last breast-plate, when it disturbed the doctor's heart against all professional belief.

They had never seen a trace of sentiment apparent in Mildred Vane's manner to him. They had met with the friendly camaraderie of those who seek together in ways of justice and self-satisfaction, to work and not for any glimmer of romance.

And all the time she had glanced the secret his heart was hiding, read in his honest eyes, heard in his tender tones.

After the first bewildering shock of the letter, his passion began to subside and to be in Dr. Jack's mind with some exquisite strain breathing through music he had been too dull to comprehend.

And he had watched in sympathy to the love she had guessed, she had stung from her dancing light in his lowliness to bid him stop.

And he had watched in sympathy to the love she had guessed, she had stung from her dancing light in his lowliness to bid him stop.

And he had watched in sympathy to the love she had guessed, she had stung from her dancing light in his lowliness to bid him stop.

And he had watched in sympathy to the love she had guessed, she had stung from her dancing light in his lowliness to bid him stop.

An Ancient Foe

To health and happiness is hereditary, as it is ever since time immemorial. It causes hunches in the neck, distorts the skin, inflames the mucous membrane, wastes the muscular, weakens the bones, reduces the power of resistance to disease and the capacity for recovery, and develops like consumption.

Hood's Sarsaparilla

will rid you of it, radically and permanently, as it has rid thousands.

I wish me to consider, but, the fair face flushed. I am a stubborn young person, as you know.

After that little story we had yesterday, I felt I must settle matters or I might lose you, so I wrote at once.

These are objections, of course. You ought to be a Catholic. But our good Bishop, who is a dear old friend of mine, agrees that for the present, considering all our other good qualifications, such as being in an excellent state of health, and your own lack of faith, I will promise I will do anything enough for both.

For the money matters, she hesitated a little, but you must see papa about these. You will find him most liberal. And so you will take charge of the "Water Misericordias" at once.

The Water Misericordias, echoed Dr. Jack.

Don't you like the name? she went on. I seemed to me such a fitting one for a hospital like ours, where there is so much hope. And then, too, it is, I explained, a memorial to my own dear mother, who died three years ago.

A hospital! A memorial to her mother! He was to take charge.

The unconscious stranger lay on the sidewalk breathing heavily and groaning. Two teeth were missing, his eyes were marked and his nose was bleeding.

Who can he be? said the crowd again and again.

I guess he was some passenger, suggested the ambulance surgeon, surveying the wreckage.

Mr. H. Wilkinson, Stratford, Ont. says:—It affords me much pleasure to say that I experienced great relief from Muscular Rheumatism by using two boxes of Milburn's Rheumatic Pills. Price a box 50c.

Think of the golden moments you have wasted playing bridge, said the curious friend.

Yes, replied Mrs. Flight regretfully, besides a lot of silver coin and paper currency.

Milburn's Sterling Headache Powder gives women prompt relief from monthly pains and leave no bad after effects whatever. Be sure you get Milburn's. Price 25c and 50c.

Did you know Phipps made me the hero of his new play? Why, no? Yes, I set through it all. Wasn't that heroic?

Seeking the brain in alcohol does not preserve the mind.

What her visitor's intention read in its lines of rigid restraint we can not say, but she went on calmly:

The Terrible Pains of INDIGESTION

Mr. Wm. H. MacKee, Mount Bryton, P.E.I. says:—For more than a year I suffered with all the terrible pains of indigestion, and my life was one of the greatest misery. It did not seem to make any difference whether I ate or not, the pains were always there, accompanied by severe bloating and a belching of wind. I did not seem to get relief at night, and sometimes hardly got a bit of sleep. In my misery I tried many remedies said to cure indigestion, but they did me not one particle of good, and I fully expected that I would always be afflicted in this way.

At this time my brother came home on a visit, and urged me to try MILBURN'S LAXATIVE PILLS, and get me a few trials. By the time I had taken one trial I began to improve and could eat with some relief. I was greatly cheered, and continued taking the pills until all traces of the trouble had disappeared, and I could once more eat all kinds of food without the slightest inconvenience. I am so fully convinced of their virtues as a family medicine I have no hesitation in recommending them.

Milburn's Laxative Pills are 50c per box, or ten for $5.00, at all dealers, or mailed direct on receipt of price by The Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

Home-seekers' Excursions.

The Grand Trunk Railway has issued a circular authorizing all Agents in Canada to sell Home-seekers' Excursion Tickets to points in Western Canada.

This is interesting information for those desiring to take advantage of these excursions on certain dates from April to December 1911. The Grand Trunk route is the most interesting, taking a passenger through the populated centre of Canada, through Chicago, and thence via Duluth, or through Chicago and the twin cities of Minneapolis and St. Paul.

Ask Grand Trunk Agents for further particulars.

What her visitor's intention read in its lines of rigid restraint we can not say, but she went on calmly:

This letter was to ask Jack—it is her right to come to me to get out all foolish pride and let me help her to be happy and best. In fact, I am trying to settle all my friends well and wisely before I leave. For my little sister Jess is coming from school next month to take my place here, and I am going where my heart has long been calling me, the Convent of Saint Orlin, to be a Sister of Mercy in dead and in truth. And now, dear friend, you understand—and her voice seemed to blend with the breath of the lilies, her glance to beam with the pure, pitying light of the far-off star.

I understand, he said, and he lifted her white hand as if it were a holy thing to his lips, and went out into the night.—Mary T. Waggoner, in Reister's Magazine.
