"KYRA," OR, The Ward of the Earl of Vering.

CHAPTER XIX.

The Love of Other Days.

"Oh, he, Wild Jack, had been over the whole globe!" laughed Lady Pacewell, with a little blush. Her ladyship had been one of Wild Jack's lady-loves. "Yes, he disappeared quite suddenly, and only came above the horizon an hour or two before the old earl died."

"How romantic!"

"Wait; there is more romance than that! It seems that he did not return alone—of course, I am only telling you gossip now, for I am not in his confidence, nor is any other man or woman, I believe—but the story goes that he brought a young girl—" Lady Pacewell broke off suddenly. "Tell me my dear—your eyes are so good—is that a carriage coming along the park?"

"Yes," said Mrs. Gorton.

"Then, I shall have to postpone the history of Lord Vering, for that must be the late comers of our party. I expected them by this train. Go in, dear, and give the gentlemen their tea, will you? I must receive those people, and see if any dinner is left," and she turned into the dining-room.

The carriages came swiftly up the drive of Ashwell Park, and, as the gentlemen left the dining room and got their tea in the drawing-room, the new guests made their entrance at the hall.

The drawing-room of Ashwell Park was a large, old-fashioned room, with quiet nooks and curtained recesses, and four French windows opening on to the terrace. The party was not a large one, and by the time the new arrivals had finished their dinner and reached the drawing-room, the party already settled in the house was spread about at the piano, the whist-table, and some in the recesses, talking over the coming season. One or two of the gentlemen were, by special permission, smoking out on the terrace, for the night was a warm one, as we have said. Among the latter was Lord Percy, leaning over the balustrade, smoking and thinking, as usual.

The newcomers drew round the tea table, at which Mrs. Gorton was still officiating, talking and laughing, and making acquaintance.

Percy heard the increased number of voices, and, with a start, awoke from his reverie, lit another cigar, and drew farther away, to resume his meditation.

Of whom was he thinking? Of a certain young girl, now struggling with English grammar and English manners at Minerva House.

Presently, a lady—one of the newcomers—detached herself from the rest and sauntered through the open window on to the terrace.

Presently, the aroma of a cigar reached her; she coughed slightly, and turned. A gentleman was smoking near her; at the little cough, he started, and, throwing the cigar away, came forward.

"I beg your pardon, Lady Pacewell; I did not know any lady was near—" Then he stopped, for the lady had started, and, with one hand resting slightly on the balustrade, turned face to face to him.

"I am not Lady Pacewell," she said, in a voice sweetly soft and tremulous, with a half-doubtful questioning.

At the sound of that voice, Lord Percy pulled up short, and uttered an exclamation:

"Lillian—Marchioness!"

The lady echoed the low cry, and turned away from him, with her hand clinched tightly.

"Percy Chester—Lord Vering!"

There was a moment's silence, the man looking at the woman who had betrayed him, the woman pressing her hand to her heart and struggling for calm.

She was the first to break that terrible silence.

"You called me marchioness. I am not marchioness. I am—Lillian Devigne."

"What!" he said, in a voice low and troubled. "Lillian Devigne?"

"Yes," she said, with a weary smile, that gave a pensive loveliness to her face beyond words, "I am still Lillian Devigne."

Percy's dark eye-brows contracted, as he looked at her and listened.

"And the marquis?" he said, with a grim cynicism that brought the red blood to her delicate face.

"He is dead," she replied, in a low voice. "Have you not heard?"

"I have heard nothing," he said.

"I have been out of the world since—"

He paused, significantly, and she winced visibly.

"When did he die—where?"

She turned her face from him, and leaned one white arm upon the balcony.

"He died the day before that fixed for our marriage; died in an hour after a heavy dinner at the Duke of Gloumin's," and she smiled, bitterly.

Percy stood regarding her, in silence. And so the price she had betrayed him for had slipped from her grasp! It was bare justice—and yet—and yet he pitied her—a dangerous sentiment for any man in his position to feel for a woman, and such a woman!

There was a profound silence; then she turned to him.

"And you? Ah, but I have no right to ask! I have no right to ask, although I have thought of you so often—always! Lord Percy, I have wronged you past forgiveness; I have prayed that you might forget, as profoundly as you, no doubt, hate me! But I cannot forget—I cannot forgive myself!"

As she spoke, she placed her hand, whitely gloved, but not more white than her exquisite arm, against her heart, and then let it fall upon the stone balcony.

"I cannot forget, and I see myself vile and base, and yet not so base as weak, and I loathe myself. I did not know you were here. They told me you remained at home, secluded and alone; that you visited no one. I did not dream that I should be likely to meet you here, or I would not have come."

Still he was silent. What was there for him to say?

"And yet," she resumed, almost inaudibly, "it was not to spare myself that I would have avoided you. I am punished night and day, by conscience by remorse, and I hug my punishment. If I had spent one hour of happiness since—since you left me, I should die now at your feet with shame. But I have suffered, Lord Percy, almost enough for expiation. Even you, could you but know its extent, would deem my remorse sufficient. No doubt, long before this you have had no feeling in the matter but one of profound thankfulness for your escape from one so worthless, so worldly, so mercenary; and my presence here can only cause you annoyance, not pain. How often do I say to myself: 'He never loved me! No man so good, so never, could have really loved me.'"

"That assurance was false," said Percy, in a deep, low voice, speaking for the first time. "I loved you, and you knew it."

She hid her eyes in her hands, and a slight tremor ran through her frame, whether of pain or pleasure, of his words, who can say?

"The deeper the wrong, then. Now I know that you must hate the sight of my face."

She looked up at the sky, and smiled.

"It is too late to-night, or mamma should ask them to let us go. Tomorrow she shall make some excuse, and we will get from your sight."

He leaned over the balcony for a moment; then said, gravely:

"There is no need for anything of the kind. If we two cannot meet without pain to either, it shall be for me to retreat, not you; but there should be no such feeling after these years. There is no bitterness in my heart against you, Miss Devigne; if I cannot forget, I can forgive."

As he ceased, his noble words ringing low and clear on the evening air, the beautiful woman, listening in breathless eagerness, she bowed her head upon her hands, and her bosom rose and fell with her efforts to suppress the sobs that shook her.

"Hush!" he said, gently. "Hush! You magnify the—the mistake of the past. You have suffered too greatly; it is all expiated, for I have forgotten, but I am not unhappy. It is time that you should strive to forget."

"You are happy," she said, in a low, tremulous voice, her eyes fixed on his face, as if she could read his soul. "You tell me that I may stay here, that you do not hate me; if you knew how great a weight you had lifted from my heart—if I could but then hope that you would ever bring yourself to forgive me!"

He smiled gravely. "I have forgiven you long ago," he said, simply.

She looked up at him, with wide, tearful, abashed eyes; then, as he held out his hand, she bowed her lovely head over it, and—he fancied afterward that she kissed it.

"How noble you are!" she breathed. "How noble!"

Then, without a word more, she looked at him full in the face, and meekly bowed, and glided away.

FOUR WEEKS IN HOSPITAL

Mrs. Brown Finally Restored to Health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Cleveland, Ohio.—"For years I suffered so sometimes it seemed as though I could not stand it any longer. It was all in my lower organs. At times I could hardly walk, for if I stepped on a little stone I would almost faint. One day I did faint and my husband was sent for and the doctor came. I was taken to the hospital home I would faint just the same and had the same pains.

A friend who is a nurse said for me to try Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I began taking it that very day for I was suffering a great deal. It has already done me more good than the hospital. To anyone who is suffering as I was my advice is to stop in the first drug-store and get a bottle of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound before you go home.—Mrs. W. C. BROWN, 1109 Auburn Avenue, Cleveland, Ohio.

Why not take Mrs. Brown's advice? Write for free and helpful advice to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential), Lynn, Mass.

Percy looked after her, in silence; then he paced up and down, with bent head and frowning brows; his heart beat quicker than he liked it—he was not so unmoved as he had seemed.

How beautiful she was—how unspeakably bewitching—this old love of his! Her beauty had lost something of its girlishness, but it had gained a spirituality that compensated for it tenfold.

He laid his hand upon the balcony and vaulted over into the garden, lit a cigar, and strode off toward the park.

Among the trees, a new train of thought took possession of him. These words reminded him of those others across the sea, white with snow, and silent as the grave—reminded him of Kyra. He had not forgotten her. Ah, no! There was not an hour of the day that the vision of her lithe, dark-robed figure, lying before him, clinging to his hands, with its lovely face upturned so piteously. No, he had not been near her, because—

He stopped to ask himself why. Not because he did not care for the child, but because he cared too well. It was not well that she should center her passionate affection on him so intensely; she was young; if she did not see him, her passionate dependence on him would slacken and grow less absorbing. He would keep away from her for a while, until she had learned to think less entirely of him—to detach herself somewhat, to form new ideas and new friendships. It was for her good that he should do so, and—he looked up at the trees, and then sighed—perhaps also for his own. Yes, here in the solitude and stillness of the night, he knew that the child was enshrined in his innermost heart, and that she was so much to him that he could not tell how much, or in what way.

"Little, dark-eyed, lithe-limbed Kyra, Heaven send that you learn to love me less, and all the world more!" (To be Continued.)

A shell eight inches long and 3 in diameter which was fired into Atlanta, Ga., by Gen. Sherman was found in an excavation dug in a street.

The shell has the appearance of a solid shot and not an explosive shell and is now being used by H. M. Godfrey, who found it, as a paper weight.

"You tell me that I may stay here, that you do not hate me; if you knew how great a weight you had lifted from my heart—if I could but then hope that you would ever bring yourself to forgive me!"

He smiled gravely.

"I have forgiven you long ago," he said, simply.

She looked up at him, with wide, tearful, abashed eyes; then, as he held out his hand, she bowed her lovely head over it, and—he fancied afterward that she kissed it.

"How noble you are!" she breathed. "How noble!"

Then, without a word more, she looked at him full in the face, and meekly bowed, and glided away.

HEAD WAITER: Yessir, we are a bit old fashioned, as you say—but we find people like it so long as we make them comfortable. I haven't heard no complaints on that score.
GUEST: Good beds and good food, eh?
HEAD WAITER: Excellent beds and good wholesome food—comfortable Gas Fires and 'ot water in every room in the 'ouse.
GUEST:—Gas Fires, eh! That doesn't sound old fashioned.
HEAD WAITER: No, sir, it don't. But we 'ad to move with the times, sir, and it's our business to give people what they want. If you'll excuse me, sir, that 'ave been 'ere all my life, I find that our people mostly want 'ot baths, 'ot water, well cooked food, good fires, good beds and no fussing. We couldn't do that with coal—not satisfactory as I may say. So we puts in gas—everywhere. We cooks by gas, we lights by gas, we 'eats the water by gas and we 'as Gas Fires. So you can 'ave a 'ot bath in ten minutes if you want it, sir, a fire in your bedroom and whatever you like to order for dinner, sir, punctual to the minute.
GUEST: That sounds top-hole—but where's the old-fashioned part come in?
HEAD WAITER: It don't come in, sir, so far as that's concerned. But there's the 'ouse, the furniture, the pictures and—if I may say so—the 'omeliness of the place.
GUEST: (a trifle bored) Well, well I'll have that hot bath right away—if you'll get the bathroom ready.
HEAD WAITER: The bathroom is ready, sir, always. There's plenty of 'ot water, you'll find clean 'ot towels in the 'ot cupboard in the bathroom and the Gas Fire lighted in your room.
GUEST: Right O!—and dinner at 8 sharp, please!
HEAD WAITER:—What'll you 'ave, sir,—a nice sole, leg of mutton and sweets?
GUEST: Well, if that isn't troubling the cook too much—I'm rather late, I'm afraid.
HEAD WAITER: No trouble at all, sir. You see, sir, our kind of comfort means comfort for us as well as our people. We don't 'ave no coals to carry, no fires to make up, no bathrooms to attend to—This 'ere gas, if I may say so, saves money and time, and—
GUEST: You may say so at dinner time, please, I'm off to have that bath. . . (ascends stairs slowly) . . . Decent old boy, though he does talk a lot; and a real nice place. Thank heaven, I've struck a decent billet at last! (The bathroom door bangs sharply.)

Two British Steamers Sunk.

London, June 15. — Despatches to Lloyd's report the sinking of the unarmed British steamers Dewland and Salmon Hole. The latter of 4,905 gross tons, sailed from Adelaide, on March 19, and arrived at Las Palmas May 11, but no reports of her movements since then are obtainable. The Dewland was a vessel of 1,993 tons, which sailed on May 4 from Penarth for destination not given in maritime records.

Pale Cheeked Women Told About Restoring a Rosy Complexion.

A few years ago the girl with pale, drawn cheeks scarcely knew what to do in order to restore her fading appearance. At that time there was no blood-food medium made that really would put color and strength into systems that were more or less worn out.
To-day it is different. The blood can be quickly nourished, can be made rich, red, and healthy. All you have to do is take two Ferrazole Tablets with a sip or two of water after meals. The effect is almost magical. Mothers, look at your children. Are they ruddy and strong—do they eat and sleep well, or are they pale, weak, and anemic?
FERRAZONE will rebuild them. Take your own case—is your blood strong and rich? Have you that old-time strength and vigor, or are you somewhat under the weather?
FERRAZONE will supply the strengthening elements you require. It is a blood-forming, nourishing tonic that makes every ailing person well. FERRAZONE is a marvelous remedy, it contains in concentrated form certain rare qualities that especially fit it in cases of anaemia, poor color, thin blood, tiredness, and loss of weight.
Every day you put off using FERRAZONE you lose ground. Get it to-day, sold in 50 cent boxes by all dealers, or by mail from the Cattarhozone Co., Kingston, Ont.

W. J. HERDER, Proprietor H. A. WINTER, B.A., Editor

FRIDAY, June 23rd, 1916.

Essentials and Unessentials.

We have had occasion already to draw attention to what we consider the logical position of the city in respect of its Municipal Government, and we confess to having had misgivings that things might not be much improved at the end of this month. Briefly, the very purpose for which, in answer to the popular demand, our present Commission was called into being, has not, however, this important document will receive scant consideration from the electorate.

But what is the work? Our own opinion, which we have before expressed, is that quite the most valuable portion of it is to be found in their charter. To all appearances, however, this important document will receive scant consideration from the electorate. The Commissioners are far more likely to be judged by other achievements, which we may be pardoned for thinking quite minor matters—whether or not these "hoppers" are a benefit to the localities in which they have been introduced; whether the Tarriva road was worth the expense; and a number of other particular questions—largely, but not exclusively, of a financial nature—which the Commissioners are not to be blamed if they themselves subordinate other and better claims which they could make to the advantage of their fellow-citizens to an exposition of what they have accomplished in these directions.

But these are after all pure acts of administration. If another, and quite different, body of men succeeded the Commission, they too would be called upon to make roads, and to make roads, and to make roads. It is not likely they would make Tarriva roads. They would use a formula of their own. The result would probably be no less expensive, and it is very doubtful if it would be any better. So, too, with the hoppers, and a dozen other things. Now, if matters were as they formerly were, and we had to elect a Council to carry on the work of civic administration on the lines and under the laws governing their present conduct, these questions might be very material. But this is not the case; nothing could be further from the truth.

We will give an illustration, the most important we can think of, to explain our meaning. In the records of Councilors we find again and again recurring the phrase, "So far as the revenue would permit." From legal experience, we have had abundant opportunities of seeing how inadequate the revenue derived from the city has been to meet its needs; how inequitable it has been collected; and how uneconomically it has been administered. If anyone will take the trouble to open the proposed charter and read with particular attention sections 209 to 290, he will find this vitally important matter, there exhaustively treated. We have not yet

Reservists Return

Reservist Williams Invalided.

By the express which reached town yesterday afternoon, six men of the Royal Navy returned from active service. They were engaged in the Dardanelles and North Sea on board different warships. Their names are Joseph Barrett, Spaniard's Bay; W. F. Way, Flowers Cove; C. A. Williams, Pools Cove, Fortune; R. S. Martin and C. Kavanagh, St. John's; and Geo. Morgan, Brigus. The men left Liverpool on June 9th and crossed to St. John, N.B., on the S.S. Scandinavian. According to the naval rules the men had to travel second class. After spending a few weeks with their relatives after an absence of 22 months, most of the men signified their intention of enlisting in the Newfoundland Regiment. Reservist, C. A. Williams served on board the auxiliary cruiser Digby, in the North Sea, and was through some trying experiences while doing patrol duty. The young sailor who has just recently passed his 15th birthday, was sixteen months on active service when he was stricken with rheumatism on April 1st, and was placed in hospital at Chatham. Being unfit for future service he was discharged on June 8th, and left for home on the day mentioned. Let us not forget the men of the navy, who protect us while we sleep, who move our troops across the seven seas to the scene of battle, and by their dauntless courage and steadfastness have won the admiration of all who looked up to the keel of their ships.

Stranded Grain Steamer Arachue

Will Be Total Wreck.

Hopes of refloating the s.s. Arachue which is stranded at Point Platte, thirty kilometers, have been abandoned. The probabilities are that she will become a total wreck and the work of salvaging the cargo has commenced. The Red Cross Liner Florizel and Coastal steamer reached the scene of the wreck last night, having been ordered there by Bowring Bros., Ltd., in relation to a misleading article as to losses of Newfoundland Battalion which appeared in the Daily Express of the 17th instant. I shall be glad if you will kindly give this message space in your columns so as to avoid misunderstanding should any of our people read the item in the Daily Express. I have the honour to be, Sir, Your obedient servant, J. R. BENNETT, Colonial Secretary.

Hearty Reception Accorded Returned Gallipoli Heroes

WHO RETURNED YESTERDAY AFTERNOON.

Yesterday morning and afternoon bunting flew from nearly all the commercial houses from Hoyliestown to the Railway Station, the latter place being surrounded with long strings of flags. About 2.30 o'clock the crowd began to gather at the station and by the time the express pulled in to the eastern terminus the platform in front of the station was filled to overflowing, while hundreds had to be content with standing in the streets. Included in the big crowd were fathers, mothers, wives, sisters, brothers and sweethearts of our returning heroes, and a large number of prominent citizens.

Drawn up in front of the building forming a guard around the station were 500 of the Newfoundland Regiment under command of Major Montgomerie. About 3.30 the big engine attached to the express came pending into the station, and as the heroes stepped from the train they were greeted with hearty cheering by the vast crowd, while friends and relatives gathered round and warmly welcomed the boys home. The names of the returned soldiers are:— Capt. C. T. Carty, Second Lieut. Hector Ross and R. Burnham; Privates J. St. John, Bell Island; L. Griffin and J. Griffin, brothers of Harbor Grace; Strickland, Spaniard's Bay; R. Follett and J. Brown, St. George's; G. S. Garland, D. Cooper, W. Newell, J. Cooper, St. John's; and J. Fury, all members of the First Newfoundland Regiment.

Accompanied by members of the W. P. A. and recruiting committee in automobiles and headed by the Regiment, they were taken to Government House where they were warmly greeted by His Excellency the Governor, who commented on the good services they had performed for the Empire and the civilized world. Capt. Carty, who went through the Gallipoli campaign, is suffering from the effects of disease contracted in the trenches and is now on furlough. He speaks highly of the manner in which our boys behaved while fighting the Turks. They did their part nobly and well in company with the Australian and the English Regiments. Shortly before leaving for home ten days ago he visited several members of our boys at Wandsworth where they are being treated like kings and are visited quite often by Royalty and persons of high rank. In England Queen Amelia, of Portugal, who has taken a deep interest in nursing, often visits Wandsworth. The Hospital Authorities at the new Newfoundland wounded as patients. Capt. Carty also visited Ay where the men are in the best of health. Several officers and a number of men have lately been transferred to France.

Second Lieut. Hector Ross who left here as Sergt.-Major of C Co., received his present rank before returning leaving for Gallipoli, where he was wounded and won honour in the famous fight at Caribou Hill. It happened that he advanced before being captured by Turkish snipers at night were captured in the day time by Capt. J. Donnelly, M.C., Corporals Barrett and Snow and The Turks were beginning to make things hot for the little band when Lieut. Ross with Sergt. Greene (now Lieut. and D. C. M.) and six other men were sent as a reinforcement, but on their way they encountered a squad of twenty Turks who were trying to surround Capt. Donnelly and his men. Our boys immediately opened fire and in the battle that followed, Privates Joachim Murphy and Elsworth quickly fell. Elsworth passed away the night and Murphy the next evening on board the hospital ship. Lieut. Ross received a gun shot wound in the left arm near the shoulder, with their little party cut to pieces they were forced to retire; at daylight Capt. Donnelly and party got back, but returned the next night, Lieut. Shortall replacing Lieut. Ross, who was placed on board a hospital ship the next morning for Malta, where he remained two months prior to being removed to Wandsworth Hospital. He had seven pieces of bone removed from his arm. Second Lieut. Burnham having sustained injuries to his knee while in training at Aytr, did not see active service.

Private G. S. Garland received a gun shot wound in the left knee at Gallipoli after being ten days in the trenches. He was moved with others to Egypt and arrived at Wandsworth, January 9th. He has since suffered from typhoid enteric and a relapse following the latter complaint. Pte. St. John was severely wounded in the head. Private L. Griffin, in the arm and leg; Private J. Griffin contracted typhoid in the trenches, and was again attacked by the disease when removed to France. He states the conditions there are far superior to those existing in the land of the Turk, and up to leaving, June 1st, the boys were in the best of health.

Distribution of Prizes and Concert.

Last night at the College Hall, distribution of prizes to the pupils of the Primary Department of the Methodist College took place. Preceding the distribution a concert was held which proved very enjoyable to the large audience present. The performers acquitted themselves creditably and the various numbers evoked encores and received well merited applause. The programme was as follows: Chorus, "Evening Bells are Ringing"; Due and Chorus, "Our Khaki Daddy"; Emily Jardine and Doris Thomas; Chorus, "Arctus"; Boys' Recitation, "Robert Monroe; Action Song, "Daily, Girls; Drill, Boys; Action Song, "Japanese Umbrella"; Girls; Recitation, Doris Thomas; Chorus (a) "Now Fresh from School." (b) "Drum Tops." The prizes were then distributed by Mrs. C. P. Ayre. The rendition of the National Anthem brought the event to a close.

Commissioners Hold Meeting.

Chairman Gosling and Commissioners Withers, Bradshaw, McGrath, Morris, McNamara and Ayre Address an Enthusiastic Gathering. A large audience filled the C.C.C. Hall last night and greeted with enthusiasm Mr. Gosling and his associate candidates. The primary purpose of the meeting was the formation of a committee to carry out the active work of campaign in favor of these gentlemen. The chair was occupied by Mr. W. J. Linegar, President of the Cooper's Union, and Mr. F. J. Wadden acted as Secretary. After a short introduction by the chairman, Mr. Gosling addressed the meeting. He spoke in broad terms of the work the Commission had done, and showed the effect of the proposed Charter. Among the chief objects aimed at by it were a more equal distribution of taxation and better housing conditions for the poor. He pointed out the great improvements that had been effected in sewerage and sanitary conditions generally, improvements which could be continued and greatly increased if the City Charter were adopted. He laid great emphasis on the valuable work done in enlarging the water supply; by the end of the current year the large factories and other premises had been effected in sewerage and sanitary conditions generally, improvements which could be continued and greatly increased if the City Charter were adopted. He laid great emphasis on the valuable work done in enlarging the water supply; by the end of the current year the large factories and other premises had been effected in sewerage and sanitary conditions generally, improvements which could be continued and greatly increased if the City Charter were adopted. He laid great emphasis on the valuable work done in enlarging the water supply; by the end of the current year the large factories and other premises had been effected in sewerage and sanitary conditions generally, improvements which could be continued and greatly increased if the City Charter were adopted.

Mr. Withers, in a delightful speech, largely retrospective, indicated the contrast between the old state of things and the new. Never had the city received the benefits of the services, time and ability of such a body of men as the Commission, it was for the citizens to see that the benefit was continued.

Mr. I. C. Morris spoke generally, and emphasized the necessity of a wider view of the question, if it was to be fairly judged. But it was gratifying to see that most people recognized the worth of the services rendered by the Commission. Mr. Bradshaw spoke next, with particular reference to the water supply and sanitary matters. He had himself made a special study of these questions. He also indicated the use and value of the "hoppers" in places where better arrangements could not for the present be made.

Mr. McNamara, after defending the humor by a speech in which quiet humor was combined with great practical sense. He added his strong support to the remarks of the previous speakers on the "hopper" question; they were of invaluable service to the city from the point of hygiene and cleanliness. Mr. McNamara, after defending the work of the Commission generally, made an interesting announcement to the effect that they contemplated the possible project of utilizing the Mobile water supply for the purpose of an electric lighting and power system for the city. If it materialized, he anticipated a revenue of $50,000 annually upon it.

"MEASLES."

Hundreds of children are suffering from "Measles" at the present time, and one has to be very careful in trying to avoid the complications that often follow them. A heavy "Cough" is very prevalent during the present epidemic, and "Pneumonia" is the great danger. Avoid this by keeping a bottle of Stafford's Phoratorine Cough Cure" on hand. Stafford's Drug Store (Theatre Hill) is open every night from 7.30 to 9.30. The above preparation is manufactured only by DR. F. STAFFORD & SON, St. John's, Nfld. "Specialties":— "Stafford's Liniment," "Stafford's Prescription "A," "Stafford's Phoratorine Cough Cure."

THESE OLD LETTERS.

By RUTH CAMERON.

In a second-hand shop yesterday I saw on the floor beside an old oak desk a scattered heap of old letters.

I stopped to look at them. One does not usually read other people's letters, but when they lie scattered on the floor of a second-hand shop, one scarcely feels that one can do them further harm.

One letter began, "Dearest little wife." In another I glimpsed something about some private money transaction and a reference to "James' unfortunate love affair."

My first impulse was the impulse most of us selfish human beings feel when we see the misfortunes of others — to translate the experience into safeguards for ourselves against similar misfortune. In other words, I thought I would go home and burn all my personal letters, lest some day they, too, fall into the hands of strangers.

I Love To Read Over Old Letters.

Then sentiment intervened. I love to read over my old letters. If I destroyed them all I would have none to read. So I compromised by destroying all but the ones I liked the most — and by the same token those I should like least to have others read.

What should one do about this matter, anyway? Common sense says, Destroy every letter you receive as soon as you have read it. But for that matter, wouldn't it be safer not to write at all? You've probably heard the mother's advice to her son on his departure to seek his fortune, "Do right and fear no man. Don't write and fear no woman."

I Am Glad My Grandmother Didn't Burn Her Letters.

For my part I am glad that my ancestors were afraid neither to write letters nor to keep them. Some of my most treasured possessions are the letters of my grandmother to her husband-to-be and her son. I never saw my grandmother, who left a home of luxury to become the wife of a Methodist minister and burnt herself out before fifty in that difficult position, but I have a beautiful picture of her in those letters. The love letters, unlike any love letters I ever read, dwell mostly on her fear that she is spiritually unfit for her lover, the letters to her son at college are infinitely touching human documents. She tells him sensitively how she loves to hear from him, but warns him not to write too often on account of the expense. That's what it meant for a Methodist minister to send his son to college.

Designate The Letters To Be Destroyed.

It does not seem possible that another age could find anything half so interesting in the letters of this generation. And yet, well, it's hard to prophesy anything.

It seems to me that the wisest way is to make a will, however small one's property, appoint some true friend executor and ask him to destroy designated packages of letters which are too intimately personal for any other eyes. For the rest, leave an injunction upon one's heirs to arrange for the destruction of any other papers at any time the line dies out.

They may not do it, but that will be a long time hence, and it is unlikely that we will care very much.

A Remarkable Company Meeting.

This is not an Advertisement.

"The annual meeting of shareholders in the Hell Lelloose (Europe 1914) Development Co. Ltd., was held 'somewhere' in the 'Univers' 'last month,' says the Cambridge Magazine.

"M. O. Loch, Esq., Chairman (supported by E. E. Lial, Esq., Secretary, and other well-known gentlemen), after reading the Directors' Report, made a few general remarks; in the course of these he stated that the rapid increase in the business of the Company was most gratifying.

"During the past hundred years they had experienced periods of severe depression—noticeably between the years 1816-40 and 1872-1911. It was true that the Company had successfully operated in America, Asia and Africa, but on a comparatively modest scale. His hearers would remember the American deal of 1867, the Asiatic operations of 1905, and the South African successes of 1899-1902.

"He had, however, always felt that the soundest field for operations, (Cheers.) He would take this opportunity of thanking (in the name of the Directors and himself) their friend Mr. B. E. Lial, whose influence with the Christian press was so largely responsible for these splendid results. (Renewed cheers.)

"Despite the puny efforts of the Pacificists to shake the Company's credit and depress quotations, he was glad to be able to assure the meeting that never had that sound old stock, the Envy-Hatred-and-Malice 'Preference Debenture' offered a better field for operations than it did to-day.

"In conclusion, he would ask the shareholders to bear in mind that, even after the big blood-and-iron deal was closed, its effects would be advantageously felt for some time to come. (Cheers.)

"B. L. Zebub, Esq., in moving a vote of thanks to the Chairman, declared that as long as the clergy and ministers of all denominations continued to extend to the Company the kindly support which they had given it in the past, the Company was assured of continued prosperity. Prophecy was proverbially dangerous, but he ventured to express the hope that the Directors, before the year expired, would be able to gain the confidence and support of various 'neutrals,' and thus be able still further to extend their profitable operations. (Loud cheers.)

"PERSEUS."

A Shareholder's View.

The Bishop of Kiel, in an article published by a Schleswig newspaper, exhorts the Germans to thank God, who "allows our submarines to torpedo all American vessels and others carrying supplies to our enemies, quite regardless of how many and how impudent the Americans on board may be." It is barbaric to sink merchantmen, but England is responsible. "May a hundred more Zeppelins be visited upon her, and should they ever succeed in dropping bombs on the Bank of England, what a heartfelt cry of jubilation would resound throughout Germany, considering that it was for money that Great Britain started the war."

HIRED HELP.

If you should have in your employ a useless sort of man or boy, and you're c o n v i n c e d he won't improve, but plug along the same old groove, just take him by the shoulder blade, and tell him, quietly, to fade. Don't jaw or argue by the day, but shoo the worthless wight away. If you would make your business win, you'll hire the man behind the grin, who finds a pleasure in his work, and strives to be the model clerk. You must have teamwork in your shop, or you will hear some object drop, and you can't work that splendid scheme, unless all hands are full of steam. One lazy grouch around your place, one frost with gloom upon his face, one kicker who is always sore will give his microbes to a score, and by his anarchist harangue, will chill the spirits of the gang. So when he makes his mauldin moan, just take him by the collarbone, and push him gently from your door, and tell him to return no more.

AMERICANS CAPTURED AT CARRAZAL.

CHIHUAHUA, Mex., To-day. Seventeen American soldiers and negro troopers of the 10th Cavalry, who were captured in the battle of Carrazal, were brought here to-day with Lem. H. Spillsbury Orman, a scout employed by General Pershing, and were interned. Spillsbury said Capt. Boyd commanded the Americans, with Lt. Adair among the killed.

GREECE BECOMING MORE AMEN- ABLE.

LONDON, To-day. The urgency of the Greek problem had greatly diminished since last October, when Premier Venizelos was driven from power by King Constantine and his court, and the pro-German element at work in the army; but the news that the Greek Government had accepted the demands of the Allied Governments for demobilization of the army, dissolution of the Greek Chamber and a general election, was received in Britain with much relief and satisfaction. When, on the fall of Venizelos, the Allies landed a force at Salonika, the attitude of the Greeks was a burning question. Apprehension was felt in the Allied countries, especially France, over the prospect of German military activity in the Near East. Latterly since the Russian success in Asia Minor, less anxiety was felt on this ground; nevertheless the recent Bulgarian occupation of Ruspel, and the renewal of German activities at Athens proved that danger still exists. The Allied Powers began to apply further pressure in the shape of a partial blockade of the Greek ports. The rumor was current that Greece had signed an agreement with Bulgaria for the peaceful evacuation of all frontier forts. The Skoulondis Ministry promised partial demobilization, but probably owing to the powerful influence of the King and his Consort, it was never carried out. Finally the Entente Allies presented a note containing drastic demands, which as announced, have been accepted. Ex-Premier Zaimis has been called upon to form a ministry in which he will head the Foreign Department. M. Zaimis is a neutralist with a leaning, it is stated, toward the Entente Allies. The view is held that his age and temperament make it doubtful whether it will not be long before Venizelos is again in power.

LONDON BUDGET.

LONDON, To-day. The Germans and Austrians in Volhynia are vigorously carrying on an offensive against the Russians and seemingly have stopped them for the time being, at least. The Russian drive westward along the Stokhod River west of the Stry region of Sokul, and still further west around Mylesk, a sanguinary engagement is in progress. In these encounters, the Russian War Office says, the Germans and Austrians have been repulsed, while Berlin declares that on both sides of the Turra River southward from Svinfakki to Grochow, the Russians have been driven further back and that northwest of Lutsk the Russians are making attempts to dislodge the German successes without retreat on the Stripa. In Galicia the Russians have taken portions of the trenches of the Teutonic Allies near Calvoronka, and further south in Bukovina have driven their forces forward. Southward they have captured Radoutz, about 30 miles below Czernowitz, and taken more officers, men and guns. From north of the Pripet marshes in the region of Riga, the Germans again have opened what is apparently a general offensive, heavily bombarding the Russian positions or throwing violent infantry attacks against them. While Berlin reports nothing but successful German patrol incursions, Petrograd says the Germans are violently bombarding the Ikskul bridgehead, and have driven their infantry against the Russian positions around Drinsk near Dubatowka south of Kreve and on the Oginski Canal. All these attacks it is declared, have failed, except near Krevo, where the Germans crossed the river, but were later driven back to the west bank. On both sides of the River Meuse in the region of Verdun and to the east of the fortress and in the Woerre at the foot of Meuse Hill, the Germans are heavily bombarding the French. Especially heavy are the attacks against Hill 304 and Le Mort Homme, northwest of Verdun, and northeast of the fortress around Thiaumont, Vaux Wood, Chapiro and Fort Laufen. In a counter attack the French have retaken from the Germans most of the trenches the Germans captured Wednesday night between Fumil Wood and Chonols, north east of Verdun. The Germans near Givenchy captured some British trenches, but were later driven out suffering heavy losses in a counter attack. No important changes in the situation on the Austro-Italian or Asiatic-Turkey front are reported.

HOPES OF PEACE WITH MEXICO.

WASHINGTON, To-day. One fact stood out to-night at the close of a day of many developments in the Mexican crisis. Apparently both the States Government and the De Facto authorities of Mexico hope to treat the clash at Carrazal yesterday as an incident aggravating the gravely strained relations but not of itself likely to precipitate general hostilities. So far as the Washington administration is concerned no final decision can be reached until President Wilson has received a report of the fight from the American army officers. A despatch from Gen. Finston late to-day said General Pershing had heard of the affair only through reports from Field Headquarters. The cavalry started immediately to get in touch with a detachment which is supposed to be returning toward the field base at Colonia Dublan, more than sixty miles from the scene of fighting. Many officials here have not abandoned hope of a peaceful outcome basing their hopes against war reports that have reached them indirectly that the Carranza Government is inclined to seek a peaceful way out.

GERMANS MOVE TROOPS FROM WEST TO EAST.

PETROGRAD, To-day. The last two days have brought no essential change in the situation on General Brussiloff's front. Crossing

The Archbishop at Basques.

Special to Evening Telegram. SOUTH BRANCH, To-day. Archbishop Roche with his Chaplain Dr. McGrath, reached Basques this morning. He was welcomed by Bishop Power and Dr. Whelan, representing Hr. Grace. The party attended mass at Mrs. Smart's, celebrated by Bishop Power. His Grace looks hale and hearty and was all smiles as he landed once more on his native soil. All denominations gave him a cordial reception. Hunting was displayed on the ship and store and along the line of railway.

the River Sereth in Bukowina, General Letchitzky's forces have progressed slightly further south in pursuit of the Austro-Italian General Plangera Army, but in the centre and all along the northern flank the Russian drive has been halted by fierce counter-offensives of the Teutonic Allies; the defence of Kovel, in the Lutsk region, being taken over entirely by German reinforcements newly arrived from the French front, who are making a determined effort to regain the ground lost during the first ten days of the Russian advance. The bulk of German forces is concentrated at Kovel where it attempted to advance toward Kolk, but after a sharp conflict in the neighbourhood of Kolk, it was forced to retire by the Russians. A second group of German forces is defending from Vladimir Volynski to Lutsk, while a third group, with headquarters at Bokul, likewise joining the movement to press back the extended northern flank of General Brussiloff's army. On other points of the front further Russian operations are being delayed by the necessity for consolidating the positions already won.

FRENCH BARQUE TORPEDOED.

LONDON, To-day. Lloyds announce that the French barque Françoise Danberg, 147 tons gross, was sunk by a submarine on Wednesday. The crew was landed at Kirkwall.

LARGE LOSS OF LIFE.

PETROGRAD, To-day. The loss of life on the steamer Mercury, which was sunk by a mine in the Black Sea, has been undoubtedly large. From later reports received in regard to the disaster, the Mercury had eight hundred passengers, including a large number of college students who were bound for their homes for the summer vacation. Only two lifeboats were launched and both laden with passengers were overturned.

GREEK SITUATION SCATISFACTORY.

ATHENS, To-day. General satisfaction is shown among the Greeks at the result of the ultimatum sent to the King by the Entente. Diplomatic representatives of the Allies have recommended the immediate lifting of the blockade and the stock market is rapidly recovering from its panic. The Chief of Police at Athens, understood to be under the ban of the Entente Allies, has asked for sick leave.

GERMAN ATTACKS SHIFTED.

PARIS, To-day. The Germans have launched heavy attacks in the Champagne district. Violent assaults on the French trenches in the region of Mont Tetu were repulsed last night after severe fighting with grenades and bayonets, according to an official statement. West of the Meuse in the Verdun sector the Germans again attacked Hill 304 and there was lively infantry fighting toward Deamans Hill. Heavy artillery fire all night in this sector was particularly violent east of the Meuse around the Vaux front.

DIED.

At the General Hospital, yesterday morning, Ruby, beloved wife of Joseph A. Innis, manager of the Bank of Nova Scotia at Bonne Bay, aged 22 years.

To the Ratepayers of St. John's.

At the request of a large number of my friends, both East and West, I have decided to place myself in Nomination at the forthcoming Municipal Election. Owing to the limited time between now and Polling Day, and the possibility of not being able to call on every elector personally, I would kindly ask them to accept this card as a personal canvass. I promise, if elected, to use all my energies to see that the civic taxes are spent judiciously. H. J. BROWNRIGG. Jun16,11

Is Your Boy Climbing?

How we like to see the children "getting to the top"—physically, intellectually—every way.

But sometimes there are obstacles in their way that make progress difficult.

Tea and coffee drinking are among these obstacles. It is well known that children should never be permitted to use tea or coffee—they stunt growth and hinder mental development.

The child's natural desire for a hot table drink can be fully satisfied with the wholesome pure food-drink—

POSTUM

This famous health beverage, made of prime wheat and a bit of wholesome molasses—roasted and skilfully blended to bring out its distinctive flavour—makes a warm, invigorating cup so delicious that it may well be the table drink for all the family.

THE SHOES I CAN'T WEAR

All Because of a "Toughy" CORN

BUT you can wear them, Madam—and now. Simply place on that corn a little Blue-jay plaster, and never again will you feel it in two days there will be no corn. It will disappear for good. Millions of women know that. They don't pare corns. They don't use old-time methods. And they don't suffer. Why? Because Blue-jay plaster appears they end it. We are urging you to join them. Corns are needless since Blue-jay was invented. So they are absurd. You can prove in one minute that Blue-jay stops corns. You can prove in two days that it ends them forever.

ADDITIONAL INCOME TAX.
LONDON, June 22. The Commons has formally agreed to the resolution of Reginald McKenna, Chancellor of the Exchequer, imposing an additional income tax of two shillings in the pound on incomes derived from foreign investments. Several members opposed the resolution and endeavoured ineffectually to induce McKenna to accept an amendment. The only concession the Chancellor would make was to provide that the tax be limited for the duration of the war. McKenna stated that if war continued for some time the government would be obliged to issue further lists of securities that it was willing to purchase in order to create a balance to meet its needs.

GREECE ACCEPTS ENTENTE DEMANDS.

LONDON, June 22. Acceptance by Greece of all demands by the Entente Powers, is reported by Reuter's Athens correspondent. He cables that M. Zaimis, to whom the formation of a new cabinet is said to have been entrusted, went to the French Legation, during a conference there of the Entente ministers, last evening, and announced in the name of King Constantine that Greece had yielded fully.

TO CRUISE BEFORE PIRATE.

PARIS, June 22. An allied fleet has been ordered to cruise before Piræus, the port of Athens, according to a despatch from Salonika. It is made up of squadrons of the allied nations, and will be commanded by Vice-Admiral Moreau. It is said that the fleet will eventually be supported by a landing party, but the action of the landing party will depend on events.

TO REPLACE SKOUFODIS MINISTRY.

PARIS, June 22. It was stated that the note that demobilization of the Greek army must be complete and immediate, the allies demand the replacement of the Skoufodis ministry with a cabinet which would give all guarantees for the observance of friendly neutrality towards the Entente, in harmony with engagements. The Greek government is also requested to replace police officials alleged to be under foreign influence.

ITALY ADHERES.

PARIS, June 22. The Italian minister at Athens has handed the Greek government a note from his home government, declaring that it adhered to the representations made by the Entente Powers, says a Havas despatch from Athens to-day.

AUSTRIANS DROWNED IN THE STRYNA.

LONDON, June 22. Hundreds of Austrians were drowned in the Stryna after the recent Russian success. On the eastern bank, north of Buzzozac, according to Reuter's Petrograd correspondent, the troops holding some trenches were enveloped by the Russians from north and south. Cut off from the bridges, they rushed into the river, panic

System Was Full of Poison; Pains in Side and Back

Had Constipation for Many Years, but Was Entirely Cured by Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills.

The most common ailment and the greatest cause of disease and suffering to-day is constipation. Artificial food and sedentary indoor life combine to induce torpid, sluggish action of the liver, kidneys and bowels. As a result poisonous waste matter remains in the system and gives rise to pains and aches and a starting point for serious disease. Infectious and contagious diseases are little known to persons whose liver, kidneys and bowels are kept in healthful activity, for there are no suitable conditions for disease germs to thrive in. Even common colds usually take their start when they find the system in a constipated, poisoned condition. Mrs. Ed. Miller, West Flamboro, Ont., writes: "I can truthfully say that Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills have cured me of constipation almost ever

UNITED STATES AND MEXICO.

WASHINGTON, June 22. Secretary Lansing to-day sent a memorandum to the diplomatic representatives of South and Central American nations, reviewing the situation existing between the United States and Mexico, and announcing that if hostilities should eventuate, the purposes of the States was to defend itself against further invasion, and not to intervene in Mexican affairs.

Rev. Thomas H. James, D. D.

Taylor University, Upland, Indiana, U.S.A., a Methodist institution of learning, at its recent commencement conferred the degree of Doctor of Divinity upon Rev. Thomas H. James, Newfoundland Methodist. Dr. James was given the degree because of his eminence as a Methodist preacher and theologian and his apostolic ministry of fifty years. It is interesting to note in this connection that Dr. James' daughter graduated from Taylor University some years ago, and went from there to a professorship in a college in Iowa. Rev. George W. Tidwell, D.D., another Newfoundland, is on the staff of Professors at Taylor University, holding the Chair of Practical Theology. He is one of the signers of Dr. James' Degree parchment.

At the City Hall.

The weekly session of the Municipal Board was held last night, all the members being present. Plans of several houses were submitted. Some were approved of and others held over until the owners comply with the sewerage regulations. Intimation was made as to repairs to the grounds opposite the Court House. The question of liability was referred to the Engineer.

SPAN SUSPICIOUS.

CARTAGENA, June 22. The German submarine U-35, commanded by Lieut. Von Arnault, arrived here to-day with a letter from Emperor William to King Alfonso. The lieutenant said that the Emperor expressed the Emperor's thanks for attention given by Spain to refugees from Kameruna. The submarine first anchored at the port of Cartagena. The German steamer Roma but the port authorities required her to move and take up another anchorage near the Spanish cruiser Catalina. The Secretary of the German Embassy arrived here on a special train last night for the purpose of receiving the letter. Accompanied by the German Consul he went on board the submarine and visited the commander. The Spanish cruiser and destroyer received orders to watch closely the movements of the submarine. Instructions were given to keep the entrance of the harbor lighted brightly with searchlights. The German submarine departed from this port shortly before daylight.

BRITISH AMBASSADOR CALLS ON THE SPANISH PRIME MINISTER.

LONDON, June 22. An official despatch to-day says: The British Ambassador at Madrid yesterday called on the Spanish Prime Minister and expressed the hope that the U-35 would disappear from Cartagena harbor at the expiration of the 24 hours' allowed by international law. The minister made no further representations to the Spanish Premier, the despatch says.

CARRANZA'S REPLY EXPECTED.

MEXICO, June 22. Two trains, carrying Americans, left Mexico City this morning. The first was composed of six passenger coaches, the second of six box cars. Both were crowded. The government giving guarantees to facilitate the travellers, has assured James Rodgers, the American representative, that they will arrive safely at Vera Cruz. No cabinet meeting was held to-day. The local press announces that the reply of General Carranza

Have You a Bad Sore?

If so, remember these facts—Zam-Buk is by far the most widely used balm in Canada! Why has it become so popular? Because it heals sores, cures skin diseases, and does what is claimed for it. Why not let it heal your sore?

Remember that Zam-Buk is altogether different to the ordinary ointments. Most of these consist of animal fats. Zam-Buk contains no trace of any animal fat, or any mineral matter. It is absolutely herbal. Remember that Zam-Buk is at the same time healing, soothing, and antiseptic. Kills poison instantly, and all harmful germs. It is suitable alike for recent injuries and diseases, and for chronic sores, ulcers, etc. Test how different and superior Zam-Buk really is. All druggists and stores at 50c. box. Use also Zam-Buk Soap. Relieves sunburn and prevents freckles. Best for baby's bath. 25c. tablet.

Britain's Food Problem

Westminster Gazette. We have in the United Kingdom a population of 47,000,000, to a considerable extent fed and supplied from overseas. That is a condition which differentiates our position from that of any of the Dominions and renders impossible any protectionist policy on a large scale unless we contemplate a considerable reduction of our population. We may increase home-grown supplies, somewhat, we may, and we hope we shall, increase what we take from the Dominions, but cheap and abundant supplies from all sources must remain a vital interest of the majority of the British people. They are also the interest of the large body of traders who are engaged in foreign trade and are competing with foreign rivals in neutral markets. If for patriotic or political reasons we were engaged at the end of the war to close down our trade with the central powers, we should have carefully to count the cost to our manufacturers, and to face the fact that we were placing ourselves at a serious disadvantage in neutral markets. Most of all, we should have to count the cost to our shipping, which must decline or remain stationary, if we adopt any policy which threatens to diminish or arrest the growth of the foreign trade.

5 Months on the Way.

After being on the way for five months Lynch's wax paper bread wrappers have arrived at last. The writer has been informed that the public are appreciating the bread wrappers, from the fact that their bread trade is increasing rapidly since the arrival of their wrappers, which goes to show that the people of St. John's appreciate cleanliness, and know a good thing when they see it. This is the time of the year when the dirty dust from the streets, and flies are in the air and watching their chance to alight on your bread and bring dirt and disease to your children. Guard against them by buying Lynch's Pan-Dandy Bread, white, and brown, wrapped and sealed by machinery in a dust and germ proof wrapper; it is the only bread in Newfoundland that is made, wrapped and sealed by machinery. Ask your grocer for it. Did you get any of Lynch's Beauty Cake, yet? Oh, what a beauty cake! They are in the land. Ask your grocer for it. June 22, 16

Your Boys and Girls.

Why should not boys and girls have their own allowance in proportion to the means of the parents, as so many of them are old enough to know the value of money? An allowance is the best safeguard against the habit of extravagance, if a child is taught to spend the money judiciously and to keep a strict account of all expenditures. It is absurd to think that a boy is not capable of buying his own neckties or a girl her handkerchiefs. What if they do make mistakes? They can be taught to profit by them and they must learn to rely upon themselves sooner or later. Children like to be trusted and will seldom betray confidence, and there is not a better way than this to teach them the value of money.

Cure Your Bad Cough by Breathing "Cattarhazone"

You may dislike taking medicine—but coughs are best cured without medicine. The modern treatment is "Cattarhazone"—it isn't a drug—it's a healing vapor full of pine-essences and healing balsams. It spreads over the surfaces that are weak and sore from coughing. Every spot that is congested is healed—irritation is soothed away, phlegm and secretions are cleaned out, and all symptoms of cold and Cattarrh are cured. Nothing so quick, so sure, so pleasant as Cattarhazone. Beware of dangerous substitutes meant to deceive you for genuine Cattarhazone. All dealers sell Cattarhazone, large size which lasts two months price $1.50; small size 50c.; sample size, 25c.

Hr. Grace Notes.

It is said that our business men have decided to hold the weekly holiday as usual this summer, beginning on Wednesday next. It is now up to the young men to arrange for some sports; otherwise the holiday will be looked forward to more with dread than with pleasure.

The s.s. Meigs sailed yesterday afternoon for Labrador, taking a large number of passengers.

The s.s. Bloodhound is now discharging a cargo of coal to Messrs. Murray & Crawford, and another load arrived last night.

We congratulate Actg. Sergeant E. L. Oke and Actg. Corp. C. Holmes, two of our boys, on their promotion in the Newfoundland Regiment, and wish them still higher promotions and distinctions.

Mrs. Ed. Spencer of Bell Island is in town on a visit to her mother, Mrs. Mark Sellers. Mrs. Spencer is accompanied by her little daughter Laura.

We are glad to hear that our Shoe Factories are now very busy filling orders that are constantly pouring in for boots—and more boots.

Fishermen on Harbor Grace Island are said to be doing well with fish now, and are hopeful that the "spurt" will last for a time.

Much regret is felt here over the death at St. John's of our former townsman, Mr. Archibald Hall. We tender our sympathy to the widow and other relatives.

The ladies of the Harbor Grace Patriotic Association are still busy knitting socks, etc., for the soldiers. They are now arranging for the gathering of a quantity of our Newfoundland moss to be used in bandaging wounds and for other purposes. School children now during their holidays could gather a large quantity and thus be helping in no small way to bring comfort to "ours" serving in the trenches.

Saints Defeat St Bon's

BY FOUR GOALS TO ONE.

The Saints put it all over the St. Bon's in last evening's football match on St. George's Field. Though the weather looked threatening, a large gathering of onlookers was in evidence. The game was fast and clean. During the first half hour the Saints had honours in their favour and scored three times to their opponents' once. In the second period the victors added one more to their score and the game ended Saints, 4 goals; St. Bon's, 1.

Elton, Pearce and Kerr were a great help to the winning team.

For the losers Power, Rawlins and Ryan were responsible for saving their side from a worse defeat than they got.

Mr. W. Duggan acted as referee. What is anticipated to be the best game for the season is this evening's meeting between the Collegians and Terra Novas.

Cheerful Feeling Throughout British Lines.

Believed Earl Kitchener's Predicted Turn of the Tide Has Come—War Likely to End by Decisive Military Victory.

British Headquarters in France, June 17 (via London, June 19).—The contrast between the news of Russian success now and the news of Russian reverses last year is remarked on all sides as proof of the turn of the tide as Earl Kitchener predicted last year, and reassurances that the co-operation of the Allies on all fronts will end the war, not by the blockade and exhaustion of Germany alone, but by a decisive military victory.

It is universally considered certain that in committing herself to the Verdun operation, Germany has dealt her own death blow.

So far as the correspondent can learn, Germany still maintains enormous forces against this front and continues to hold the eastern front with a thin line. She has known that the long Russian front gave a better opportunity for an offensive than the heavily held and fortified western front, but she has not realized how magnificently Russia could come back.

This and the heroic stubbornness of the French at Verdun and the increasing strength of the British Army, has resulted in the most cheerful feeling on the length of the British trenches since the war began. No talk of any compromise or peace is heard. The only opinion on which the war will end depends on whether the Germans will fight through the third bloody summer before coming to terms.

TWICE WOUNDED.—Only a few weeks ago, Private Joshua Thomas was reported wounded, in a Canadian casualty list. He recovered quickly and went back to the firing line again and, according to a message received by his mother, Mrs. W. H. Thomas, of Carbonar, he was wounded in France on the 5th inst. He is now in hospital and it is hoped that his recovery will be as speedy as before.

DIRECTIONS FOR THE GUIDANCE OF ELECTORS IN VOTING.

Each elector, on entering the room where the poll is being held, shall declare his name, surname, and addition. After so doing he shall receive two ballot papers in the above forms respectively.

Each elector, if required by the Deputy Returning Officer, the Poll Clerk, one of the Candidates, or one of their agents shall, before receiving his ballot papers, take an oath of qualification. The voter is to vote only for one candidate for Mayor and for six candidates as Councillors.

After receiving the ballot papers the voter shall go into one of the compartments and with a pencil, there provided, place a cross in the division containing the name of the candidate for Mayor, and the six candidates for Councillors, for whom he intends to vote, thus—X.

The voter will then fold each ballot paper, so as to show a portion of the back only, with the initials of the Deputy Returning Officer, and shall hand them so folded to the Deputy Returning Officer, and the Deputy Returning Officer shall, without unfolding them, ascertain that they are the ballot papers which he furnished to the elector, and then immediately place them in the Ballot Box. The voter shall forthwith leave the Polling Station.

If a voter inadvertently spoils a ballot paper, he may return it to the Deputy Returning Officer, who will give him another.

If a voter votes for more candidates than he is entitled to vote for, or places any mark on the ballot papers by which he can afterwards be identified, his vote will be void and will not be counted.

If a voter takes a ballot or ballot paper out of the Polling Station, or fraudulently puts any other paper into the Ballot Box than the papers given him by the Deputy Returning Officer, he will be subject to punishment by a fine of Five Hundred Dollars or by imprisonment for a time not exceeding six months, with or without hard labour.

F. J. DOYLE,
 Returning Officer.

The following is published for the information of the public:

He must have resided for one year next preceding the election within the limits of the town of St. John's as Being qualified as above, he may vote if he
