Funeral of Sir Geo. E. Cartier.

IMPOSING OSEQUES. The public funeral, decreed to the late Sir Geo. E. Cartier, took place on Friday in Montreal.

car. The cost of the car is said to be not less than $2,000. The imposing procession marched slowly and with frequent halts down Bonsecour street up to St. Denis street, to St. Catharine, along St. Catharine to St. Lawrence Main street, down St. Lawrence Main to Craig, along Craig to Place D'Armes Hill and up to the Parish Church of Notre Dame.

Here the coffin was raised by pulleys placed in the roof of the car, and taken into the Cathedral, which was appropriately draped in mourning. Immense festoons of black and white cloth were hung between its upper galleries, from a central point far above the catafalque, while behind the altar, which was appropriately draped, was an immense white cross depicted on a black ground. From each pillar the Baronet's coat-of-arms was suspended, while wreaths of immortelles were displayed along the gallery fronts. The catafalque bore on the front its canopy the late Baronet's monogram, while on its right hand side was the inscription "A Disinterested Man," in English and French, and in front were the words "A Sincere Man." Surrounding the catafalque were wreaths, one being dedicated to each Province. Opposite the front of the catafalque was a statue of Jacques Cartier bearing the following motto: "I live again in my descendant." On the opposite side was a marble funeral urn, behind which again was a splendid silk banner, made for the occasion and bearing appropriate devices, all of which were both in French and English.

Mrs. Fabre, brother-in-law of the deceased, officiated at the service. Grand Vicar Careau, of Quebec, was also present at high mass, as well as Bishop Horan of Kingston. The organ was used and supplemented by the full choirs of over 200 trained voices. Aside from this the service was of the usual kind, there being no sermon, preached or funeral oration pronounced.

At the close of the funeral service the procession re-formed and slowly marched down St. James street, the bands playing appropriate airs. It passed around Victoria Square to Beaver Hall, up Beaver Hall to Sherbrooke street, along Sherbrooke street to Guy street, and thence to the cemetery.

During the march of the procession minute guns were fired from a battery stationed on the Champ de Mars, and afterwards on the slope of the mountain. There was no firing over the grave, and the only troops that accompanied the remains to the cemetery were a detachment of the Montreal cavalry, who went merely for the purpose of preserving order.

SATURDAY EVENING, JUNE 14, 1873

The French Government and the Press.

Among other curious documents which the Empress of the French left behind her in Paris, when she fled from that city after the battle of Sedan, was a report from the Minister of the Interior to the Emperor, explaining his plan for the organization of the press previous to the elections. By this, of course, was meant the inspiration and control of the press in France, to serve the selfish and ambitious purposes of the late Emperor who obtained his throne by the wanton massacre of thousands, held it by intrigue, and sought to create and galvanize a popularity by poisoning the fountains of intelligence, and making the press of the country serve his own selfish purposes. That he succeeded beyond his deserts in this is fully evidenced by the reports and correspondence found in this batch of secret documents, which were never intended for the public eye; but which, being accidentally discovered, lets in some light on the deplorable policy of the late Emperor. And the success of that policy was for a long time a mystery. The sweeping majorities recorded in favor of the Government were for years unaccountable, until these revelations showed how completely the Government had secured the control—in many direct and indirect ways—of the press, especially in the small towns and country places, and how this powerful agency was incessantly worked to bolster up the Napoleonic dynasty.

It is an ominous enough sign of the ulterior designs of the new McMahon Government that they have been detected in employing the same means in subsidizing and controlling the press, which disgraced the administration of the late Emperor. Only a few days ago they initiated a reactionary policy by removing the Prefects, who had governed wisely and well under President Thiers, and appointed in their place the old bureaucrats of the imperial regime. This was only the first step backward. Soon it was followed by another equally bold and still more pernicious. Secret circulars were sent to all the provincial authorities, suggesting the systematic corruption and subordination of the press—just as Napoleon the Third did through his time-serving ministers. Gambetta, the fearless Republican, soon got wind of this infamous proceeding, and boldly accused the Government, who, naive as he was of it, not only admitted its truth, but defended their conduct. Strange to say, the Assembly, by a large majority, upheld them in their course, endorsed their conduct, and left them free to pursue their nefarious work under the sanction of a tribunal which is supposed to stand by the rights and liberties of the people, and to represent their views.

When the present Administration was formed we had hopes that it would pursue the same wise and cautious policy initiated by M. Thiers, which, while according full liberty to the people, was opposed to all extremes, whether Republican or Autocratic. But it seems that our expectations, and those of every true friend of France, are doomed to disappointment. The Government, in their insane folly, are following the footsteps of Napoleon, and they will fail as surely as he failed in his attempts to stifle free speech and free action. Now can this Assembly hope long to survive after trampling on the necks of the people. Brought together for the purpose of making terms of peace with Germany, its legitimate work ended long ago, and it should then have been dissolved. It may hang together for a little and a Tremendous Rush at our Mantle and Millinery Rooms.

THE LION! THE LION!

GREAT COMMOTION IN THE DRY GOODS TRADE

On all hands we hear of dull trade: "Nothing doing," says Tom, Dick, and Harry, but it is not so at THE LION. Times better than ever. Still great bustle and activity at the leading house. The spring trade is opening beautifully, thus encouraging us to greater endeavors in the public well; and the reason of our success is apparent. Our Goods are all direct from the manufacturer, and none can do a successful business only those who buy from first hands, for which our Establishment has long been noted, and has raised the standard of our Home (combined with the energy of the proprietors of the firm) to the present proud position, and more especially for the last two years, so that our daily sales are almost equal to the combined trade of the same character in the Town of Guelph.

OUR MILLINERY DEPARTMENT

Our Millinery is a complete success this spring, the taste inherent displayed by Miss McDonald is captivating all hearts, and places her high in the ranks of first-class Milliners. Combined with the genuine popularity of Miss Sutherland, thus making our rooms the centre of attraction.

longer, but it is liable at any moment to be swept out of existence along with the reactionary Government it sustains. The Republicans will not long brook the deep-laid schemes of McMahon, his colleagues and an obsequious Assembly, and if they cannot effect their downfall by legitimate means, they may again kindle the fires of insurrection, that terrible but potent enemy of tyranny, corruption and intrigue.

Speaking of the opposition expressed by citizens of Montreal to the action of the Government in making Sir George E. Cartier's funeral a public one, the Witness says:—"Montreal has by the action of the Mayor been the first to express itself in decided disapprobation of having a public funeral forced upon it. Sir George, as a distinguished citizen, would doubtless have had many marks of respect paid to his memory by citizens of all creeds and nationalities had the Government not interfered in the matter, but left it to the spontaneous action of the public."

Ex-President Thiers, in a letter to a friend, says he has retired into private life believing that party government in France is a mistake, and will only lead into fresh divisions. It is reported that a treaty of alliance has been concluded between Germany and Italy.

But, alas! for Annabel. Her exertions had been all in vain, and now she was being carried back to a closer and more rigorous imprisonment than before.

The hope of Annabel, and the fear of Dick in regard to the letter, were equally disappointed. It was delivered to Mrs. Langton herself, and was never seen or heard of by her husband.

When she got to the foot of the first page, and was turning the leaf, she caught Sally gazing at her, and commanded her imperatively to go on with her work.

Wesleyan Conference. June 12th. It was agreed to adopt the 10th of October as a day of thanksgiving for the harvest.

Rev. Samuel Rose read the annual report of the book and printing establishments, from which it appears that the sale of books and the profits from the circulation of the denominational periodicals have been largely in excess of the preceding year, and by far the best business year of the establishment since its commencement.

Mr. Rose remains in the book room another year, and the Rev. Mr. Dewar was reappointed editor of the Guardian. The debate on the division of Conference was resumed, when Dr. Ryerson's amendment substituting one President over the General Assembly, instead of three Superintendents, was unanimously carried.

Several other clauses of the report were passed. June 13th. The total receipts for the superannuation fund, including a gift by Mr. John Macdonald, of Toronto, of $5,000, is $18,642.

The income fund of Victoria College is now upwards of $38,000 of which $53,000 have been paid and invested.

Rev. Dr. Rice was re-nominated for the presidency of next year's Conference, and Rev. J. A. Williams was nominated for the co-delegacy. It was resolved to send two representatives to the English Conference, and the Rev. Edward Dewar and Dr. Nelles were chosen for that mission by ballot.

The Revs. Dr. Rice and Dr. Douglas were appointed representatives to the Eastern British American Conference. It was resolved to accept the invitation of the Officers of the Centenary Church in Hamilton to meet in annual Conference there next year.

OUT-SIDE SPORTS. BASE BALL. About 10,000 people witnessed the game between the Philadelphia and Athletics in Philadelphia on Wednesday, which resulted in favor of the former by a score of 7 to 5.

The Boston easily defeated the Resolutes on Thursday, on the Brooklyn ground, in their 2nd game, by a score of 11 to 4. Time 1h. 20.

At Philadelphia, on the 12th, the Philadelphia and Mutuals played their 3rd game. The Mutuals made a hard fight. The former won by a score of 10 to 8. Time 2h. 15m.

Next week the Athletics go on tour, playing in Baltimore, Washington, and Brooklyn.

A match was played in Paris yesterday afternoon between the Beavers of Paris, and Red Stockings, of Brantford, junior clubs, which resulted in a victory for the former by 80 runs.

Ottawa and Guelph are going to play base ball soon. Time not fixed. The Herald's talk of challenging the Montreal. Come on, Alec—we licked you last.

Day, Anderson and Pashley all sell base ball. Take your choice. Where are the Unions?

CRICKET. A game of cricket was played on the Cricket Ground, Wellington Square, yesterday, between the two first elevens of Wellington Square and Oakville, which the latter gained by 10 runs; Oakville scoring 97 to their opponent's 87.

The St. George club defeated the Staten Island cricketers on Thursday by a score of 107 to 80.

LACROSSE. There is to be a lacrosse match on the Toronto Lacrosse Ground this afternoon between the Young Ontarios and Young Shamrocks.

AN AMERICAN PAPER IN LONDON.—There is a semblance of fact in the rumor which has for some time been in circulation to the effect that Mr. James Gordon Bennett, of the New York Herald, is about to establish a daily paper in Old London, modelled after the great New York daily. The report is current in the metropolis. The story is that the editor of the new journal is to be Mr. Fitzjames Stephens, who is to receive a salary of $5,000 a year; that the staff is to be made up of British and American journalists; and that the paper is to make its appearance on the first of January next.

MR. FITZJAMES STEPHENS is the most powerful journalistic writer in England. It is Mr. Stephens who has written those wonderful articles in the Pall Mall Gazette which, more than anything else, have given that journal the hold which it now has upon the public mind. The publication in England of a journal such as it is said Mr. Bennett contemplates, will make things lively among the sober going newspapers of the mother country.

PROTESTANT CHURCH AT ROME.—About $3,000 has been collected or promised towards the erection of an English Church, which will be the first Protestant Church ever erected within the walls of Rome. A site has been obtained for the new building in the Piazza San Silvestro, adjoining the Piazza di Spagna. It is stated in an appeal which has been made for further contributions that the sum needed in all is about $7,000, towards which about $4,000 has been raised. The erection of the church has the approval of the Bishops of Durham and Cuthbert, and the appointment of the incumbent will be vested in trustees; the Church itself being under the episcopal control of the Bishop of Gibraltar. It is added that the services are to be "conducted on the thoroughly Protestant and Scriptural principles of the Church of England."

BACK ENTHUSIASM.—The disadvantage of holding back editorial is illustrated in the fact that a leading journal was recently accused for stealing one of its articles, because the article had been printed, some weeks before in a Hartford paper, where it was supposed to have originated. The editorial had been written by one of the staff of the metropolitan journal; had been inserted in the semi-weekly edition, and had enjoyed quite a run among the exchanges before room could be found for it in the daily edition. The Hartford paper had copied it without credit, and hence the unjust accusation.

A BROAD HINT.—A young man, not a thousand miles from here, went to see his fiancée the other night. He was determined that that visit would end his misery, and what he would say in popping the question was all settled. He opened the campaign by asking her to "play something." She instantly complied, and flung "God Save the Queen." The young lady went to bed early that night, and a young man may be seen around here who says he has changed his mind about matrimony.

EGYPT.—Egypt is now practically an independent kingdom, if any reliance is to be placed in a late special to the New York World from Constantinople, which states that the Sultan has issued a firman granting to the Khedive of Egypt an independent internal Government, and authorizing him to augment the army, and conclude foreign treaties.

L'Evenement says that Riel is resolved to persist in his candidature for Provencher at all hazards. When people represent to him the danger to which he would expose himself by going to Ottawa, his reply uniformly is that it is absolutely necessary to get out of the impotent and abnormal condition in which he is at present, and that it is better to brave the danger just now than afterwards.

ENGLISH POTTERY.—A study of the pottery at the Vienna Exhibition seems to lead beholders to the conclusion that on the whole England is the country which now stands foremost in Europe in the manufacture of this beautiful branch of manufacture. There are exquisite pieces from France—especially by M. Deck—and also from Italy; but there is a greater variety and a greater excellence in various styles, ranging from the homely to the ideal, in the English Court than anywhere else.

PARADOXICAL.—"Oh, George, your sister is a nice girl, but she does dress her head up so!" "Yes," said George; "but it's the fashion, there's nothing in it, you know."

THE Omelette correspondent of the Peterboro' Times says: Mrs. Anderson, a grand niece of Oliver Goldsmith, died on Sunday evening, the 25th of May, at the advanced age of 103 years.
