Conscription of wealth in order to meet the monetary needs of the Red Cross Society has not yet been resorted to in Kingscourt, and from results attained by the voluntary system the chances of adoption are small. By virtue of their generosity and willingness the members of the Kingscourt Sewing Circle have done much in the past three years to meet the requirements of our boys at the front. Aside from the many bales of shirts, socks, towels, etc., sent from time to time to France, the welfare and upkeep of the Red Cross Fund has had the keen attention of the Sewing Circle members. At a 25c tea given at the home of Mrs. Craig, 4th line, on Wednesday, Sept. 5th, under the auspices of the Kingscourt Sewing Circle, the sum of $16 was raised. AFTER SIX YEARS OF SUFFERING

Woman Made Well by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Columbus, Ohio.—"I had almost given up. I had been sick for six years with female troubles and nervousness. I had a pain in my right side and could not eat anything without hurting my stomach. I could not drink cold water at all nor eat any kind of raw fruit, nor fresh meat nor chicken. From 178 pounds I went to 118 and would get so weak at times that I fell over. I began to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, and ten days later I could eat and it did not hurt my stomach. I have taken the medicine ever since and I feel like a new woman. I now weigh 127 pounds so you can see what it has done for me already. My husband says he knows your medicine has saved my life."—Mrs. J. S. BARLOW, 1624 South 4th St., Columbus, Ohio.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound contains just the virtues of roots and herbs needed to restore health and strength to the weakened organs of the body. That is why Mrs. Barlow, a chronic invalid, recovered so completely. It pays for women suffering from any female ailments to insist upon having Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Lambton county is undoubtedly one of the best in the Province and is still one of the three which have not adopted a County Road System, obtaining Government assistance in building of highways. Thirty-four out of thirty-seven counties have adopted the System and have received $2,500,000 from the Province. Lambton, wake up!—Theford Tribune.

The attempt to stir up a rebellion in the south of China against the new government has turned out a fiasco, and three more provinces have offered an aggregate of 50,000 trained troops for war against Germany. If the situation gets much worse, the very Russian politicians who wrecked the Russian army may be eager to have the Chinese come and save the liberty of their country for them.

The mystery of 50-cent eggs in summer and butter selling in the most productive season at winter prices, have been solved. Commissioner O'Connor reports that these products have been withdrawn from the market and placed in cold storage to such an extent that there are now over 13,000,000 dozen eggs waiting for the boost of winter prices and close upon 13,000,000 pounds of butter.—Montreal Herald.

Militarists have always smiled at the dreamer's vision of a warless world. David Lloyd George may be a dreamer. He is also a statesman and a man of affairs. Recently he said: "Today we are waging the most devastating war the world has ever seen. Tomorrow, tomorrow, perhaps not distant tomorrow, war may be abolished forever from the category of human crimes."

Plans are being discussed—in American newspapers at least—for the storing of a million bushels of potatoes in Chicago. These potatoes will be bought up by the National Food Administration and doled out at the lowest possible price. There should be no difficulty in getting the million this year—and it will not cost such a tremendous amount to buy them, by the looks of things to-day.

In the midst of the war we are apt to forget the other enemy of mankind—famine. It is as a precaution against famine that all these measures are being adopted. It would be an excellent exercise for some of our housekeepers to read "Robinson Crusoe." There are no more fascinating passages in Defoe's classic narratives than those describing his harvesting and preserving a storing of food. Whatever the details may convey, the spirit of the story is that with which the whole country should be imbued.

Canada is advancing, as a set-off against Imperial payments for her overseas troops in Britain and France, millions every month to the British Government for the purchase of munitions and supplies in the Dominion, according to the statement made by Finance Minister White in the House Monday. In July she advanced $35,000,000. In August she advanced a similar amount. For the remainder of the year she will advance $25,000,000 monthly. In addition she is advancing $40,000,000 for the purchase of cheese in Canada, and $10,000,000 for further purchase of hay, oats and flour. To date the Dominion has advanced to the Imperial Munitions Board the sum of $285,000,000, and the chartered banks of Canada have also advanced the sum of $100,000,000.

Women are replacing men laborers on the New York Central railroad.

Salt put on a cloth saturated with kerosene will clean the enamelled bathtub. Afterward rinse the tub with warm, soapy water.

All stale bread can be put in the warming oven until dry. It is then dry enough to roll with crumbs or to use as twice-baked bread.

Count carefully the cost of buying fruit to can. Sometimes when labor, sugar, fuel and cost of the fruit are considered, it does not really pay.

If you want more cream than usual from milk, heat the milk until it is lukewarm, and then suddenly chill it. More cream rises to the surface this way.

TO ASTHMA SUFFERERS. Dr. J. D. Kellogg's Asthma Remedy comes like a helping hand to a sinking swimmer. It gives new life and hope by curing his trouble—something he has come to believe impossible. Its benefit is too evident to be questioned—it is its own best argument—it is its own best advertisement. If you suffer from asthma get this time-tried remedy and find help like thousands of others.

Children Cry FOR FLETCHER'S CASTORIA

HUNS AS LUMBERMEN

A CANADIAN TELLS OF VISIT TO FRENCH FOREST.

Prisoners Are Employed to Handle the Timber, but They Are Not Very Efficient, and Men From Our Own Dominion Are Doing the Bulk of This Important Work.

"EYES LEFT!" "Eyes front!" Uttered in guttural German, these commands sound strangely on a Canadian ear. Stranger still is the mis-en-scene whence they arise. For the non-com. who shouts the order is a hulking Hun in field grey, wearing the Iron Cross, and by his side marches a column of German soldiers. But no Mausers are in their hands, no bayonets at their sides, and the headgear is not that of one regiment.

Blue, red, yellow, white border the caps of these men, and quite as diverse are the designs of their shoulder-straps. Tall and short, fat and thin, many be-spectacled, mingle in this conglomeration of Prussians, Bavarians, Saxons, Wurttembergers—no longer soldiers, but woodmen marching to dinner. They salute a group of Canadian officers as they pass, and the burly German non-com. in charge is quite evidently glad of a chance to air his authority a bit in public and do a bit of a swanking he was wont to do in the barrack square of Deutschland.

It is in a pine forest of France that Douglas Robertson, the Canadian correspondent, saw these Boches working for the Canadians engaged in forestry work. Working, did I say? Well, imagine thirty-two husky Huns pretending to haul on a rope, leisurely pulling down a tiny jack pine, scarcely more than a sapling, and you can visualize their efforts. How an Ontario farmer would laugh at such "work." However, the Germans do accomplish a little. They quite evidently like this "job," and it confers an appetite and an appreciation of the comfortable huts in which they are housed.

By the roadside stands their own German "kitch," and facing him a row of burnished kettles. Brimming with some savory stew, the steam ascends in fragrant clouds. To him in batches of twenty at a time come the prisoners, to fill their dixies and receive each one a generous chunk of bread. Squatting under the trees in this fine weather, they partake of their mid-day meal. Would that Canadians in Boche-land fared half so well. After feeding, several of the Huns produce long-stemmed pipes, with china bowls, which they puff contentedly, their enjoyment unimpeded by any thought of the sentries who stand back among the trees in case some forgetful Hun might wander through the sylvan dells.

And what a pine forest is this! Its like does not exist throughout the length and breadth of Canada. A regular fairy-tale wood, this vast plantation of clean trunks, rising almost limbless to an average of fifty feet, green-topped, springing from an underbrushless carpet of moss and needles. They grow in yellow sand, these trees. The larger ones measure from 10 to 14 inches through at the base, and give some 40 feet of log.

Hark, Canadian lumbermen. In this country a stern Government allows no timber-limit vandalism on the part of loggers. No brush nor slashing may be scattered about, as in Canada, to start fires. Everything here is piled, swept clean. In the adjoining French section of this wood I actually saw windrows made of branches carefully tied together. Thus they are shipped off to Paris for firewood.

In marked contrast to the Huns the Canadian bushmen, who, over-alled, stand in military formation ere they dismiss to lunch. A little group, they have charge of the more technical jobs. Soon a mill will hum in this vicinity, as others are doing elsewhere, turning out 'ts fall cotta each day. These Canadian mills are not only supplying our own troops, but Imperial and French troops as well.

Canadians are hard at work in forests of beech, hornbeam, ash, oak, birch, cherry, and chestnut trees, which are falling before them, and, odder sight of all, are being pulled down by block and tackle. Such is the French fashion. Limbs chopped off, and a rope attached to its top, many a tree is torn out by the roots, which are afterwards sawn off.

Saw-dust roads, slab piles, noon-day whistles among such surroundings. Sacrilege! Mais c'est la guerre! Alas, modern war is an ogre for timber. But then the trees will grow again; many are ripe for the saw; many more will be left standing. All is being done systematically under Governmental supervision.

"Builders in Canada would be glad to pay $60 and $70 a thousand feet for this," remarked an Ottawa Valley lumberman, now an officer in charge of one of these mills. He referred to the beautiful, clear beech, which, alas, was being sawn into common planks for roads. "Does seem a shame to see such stuff being wasted when pine or spruce would do just as well. But the army simply has to have it, so we are turning it into lumber as fast as we know how. I sent planks like these, hot from the saw, to build the roads over which our guns were hauled up to Vimy Ridge."

One of the hardwood Canadian millmen are sawing besides lumber, beams, trench timbers, railway sleepers, firing beams for 9.5 howitzers, etc. Fuel was scarce in the trenches last winter. If the Hun manages to defer his final thrashing until next year, the boys in the trenches won't freeze for lack of waste wood. One mill commandant told me he had 1,000 tons of such stuff ready for them.

A THOROUGH PILL.—To clear the stomach and bowels of impurities and irritants is necessary when their action is irregular. The pills that will do this work thoroughly are Parrett's Vegetable Pills, which are mild in action but mighty in results. They purge painlessly and effectively, and work a permanent cure. They can be used without fear by the most delicately constituted, as there are no painful effects preceding their operation.

A DARING AVIATOR.

Captain W. A. Bishop Possesses Three Decorations.

The intrepidity of Captain William Avery Bishop, a Canadian, and a member of the Royal Flying Corps, in attacking a German aerodrome single-handed, has been rewarded by the bestowal upon him of the Victoria Cross, the most prized of the British valor medals. The Official Gazette gives the following resume of the action which brought Captain Bishop the Victoria Cross:

"Captain Bishop flew first to an enemy aerodrome. Finding no enemy machine about, he flew to another aerodrome, three miles distant, and about twelve miles inside the German lines. Seven machines, some with their engines running, were on the ground. He attacked these from a height of 50 feet, killing one of the mechanics.

"One of the machines got off the ground, but Captain Bishop, at a height of 60 feet, fired 15 rounds into it at close range and it crashed to the ground. A second machine got off the ground, into which he fired 30 rounds at 150 yards. It fell into a tree. Two more machines rose from the aerodrome, one of which he engaged at a height of 1,000 feet, sending it crashing to the ground. He then emptied a whole drum of cartridges into the fourth hostile machine and flew back to his station.

"Four hostile scouts were 1,000 feet above him, for a mile during his return journey, but they would not attack. His machine was badly shot about by machine-gun fire from the ground."

Captain Bishop is a native of Owen Sound, a son of W. A. Bishop, Grey County court clerk and registrar of the Surrogate Court. At the outbreak of the war he was a student at the Royal Military College, Kingston, and he went overseas shortly after the outbreak of hostilities with an engineering corps from Kingston. He was home on furlough some time ago, having been slightly injured in an aeroplane accident.

Frequent reference has been made in recent war despatches to an aviator "from a Northern Ontario town" who was making a name for himself at the front, and it is now apparent that Captain Bishop was the officer referred to. He is said to have the knack of unnerving his opponent at once by diving straight at him as a hawk strikes at his prey.

Six weeks ago his father received reliable information to the effect that his son had destroyed 36 German aircraft. Captain Bishop, who is but 23 years of age, already holds the Distinguished Conduct Order and the Military Cross. Field Marshal Sir Douglas Haig referred to his most recent exploit in his despatches and endorsed it as "remarkably clever work."

Captain Bishop's brother, Major Worth Bishop, is on the headquarters staff at London, Ont.

Canada's Contribution.

It is now more than a century and a half since Louis XV. of France signed over to Great Britain the Dominion of Canada with the light remark: "Oh well; it's only a few acres of snow."

One cannot help wondering what his thoughts would have been could he have had a vision of the Canada of to-day and the part she is playing as an ally of his countrymen of the twentieth century. Out of a population of some seven and a half millions Canada has given 440,000 fighting men to the war. At the end of last year war orders totalling $1,095,000,000 had been placed with her, while this year's munitions orders are expected to exceed $700,000,000—or about $100 for every man, woman, and child. At the beginning of this year 630 factories were working on munition contracts, the country's output being now more than that of any European nation except Germany before the war.

Wooden ships, steel ships, and submarines are being turned out, and on this account and that the Imperial Munitions Board is spending annually more than two and a half times as much as the Federal Government spends in a normal year. Anxious European allies await the grain and flour of the Canadian prairies as eagerly as ever the populace of Ancient Rome looked for the corn ships from Sicily and Egypt. And if the province of Alberta alone were cultivated on the same intensive scale prevailing in pre-war Belgium it would support an agricultural population of fifty million—or half the entire population of the United States.—From "Canada's Troubles and Triumphs," by Harry C. Douglas, in the American Review of Reviews.

An Intrepid Mariner.

An intrepid but almost forgotten Canadian mariner was Captain J. H. Gardiner, who left Shelburne, N. S., on June 19, 1893, in an effort to cross the Atlantic in a fifteen-foot sailboat of his own make.

Captain Gardiner was last heard of about eight hundred miles east of New York when Captain Crowley, of the British steamship Verejeh, picked him up and outfitted his boat with supplies.

Captain Gardiner insisted on continuing his solitary journey across the ocean, although he said that he had had hard luck in the journey out of Shelburne. He was bound for Falmouth. He said that he was trying that method of crossing the ocean in an effort "to make a name for himself."

Russians in Our Army.

Although the Doukhobors are recognized as immune from military service, over one hundred of them have joined Saskatchewan battalions. This is the more remarkable when it is remembered that they left Russia largely on account of their rooted objection to military service. Many of them still maintain that attitude, and the Government has recognized their scruples. It is also remarkable that they should now be fighting in a cause which so largely concerns the land they migrated from.

PROHIBITION LEGISLATION

Ottawa, August 16th.—During the discussion on the bill now before Parliament introduced by Hon. Mr. Doherty, Minister of Justice to amend the law in respect to intoxicating liquors, Mr. J. E. Armstrong, M. P., read some interesting correspondence between himself and the Minister of Justice.

This correspondence deals with the powers of Provincial Legislatures to prohibit the manufacture as well as the importation of intoxicating liquors.

Following is the correspondence:

Dear Mr. Doherty:—I would appreciate greatly if you would advise me as to whether any Province in the Dominion has power to prohibit the manufacture and sale of liquor within its boundaries.

Further, has any province of the Dominion the power to prohibit the circulation of literature or advertising which has the object of promoting the sale of liquor to its people?

Is the Dominion Government prepared to prohibit the importation of liquor into any Province that has passed an Act prohibiting the manufacture, sale or use of liquor in that Province?

The Minister replied:

Ottawa, August 1st, 1917.

Dear Mr. Armstrong:—Replying to your letter of the 20th ultimo, I beg to say that in my opinion there is absolutely no question of the right of a province to prohibit the sale of liquor within its boundaries. As regards the manufacture of liquor, the Council has never given a categorical answer to the question. This much, however, may safely be said, that it is within the power of a Province to prohibit the manufacture when the conditions under which it is carried on are such as to make it a matter of local concern in the Province.

In reply to your second question, in my opinion the Province has the power to prohibit the circulation within its limits of literature or advertising which has the object of promoting the sale of liquor to its people.

In reply to your third question the Dominion Parliament, at the instance of the Government, has already passed legislation prohibiting the importation of liquors into any province to be therein used in violation of the law of that province.

The effect of this is that it is a violation of the Dominion law to send liquor into a province to be sold therein in violation of the law of that province. And without further legislation on the part of the Dominion, if any Province chooses to prohibit any other method of dealing with liquor than the sale thereof, as for instance the use of it for beverage purposes it will then be a violation of the existing Dominion law for anyone to send liquor into that province, to be dealt with in violation of any such law.

The practical result is that any province that wants to prevent liquor being sent into it for use as a beverage can attain that end by prohibiting the use in the province of liquor as a beverage. Such a prohibition on their part produce the result that under the already adopted Dominion law it will be an offence to send liquor into the province to be used as a beverage.

Yours sincerely,
(Sgd.) CHAS. J. DOHERTY.

Resolution of Condolence

At the last regular meeting of Court Pearl No. 306, C. O. F. the following resolution was proposed and unanimously adopted.

"Whereas the Almighty Father has in His Providence seen fit to remove from our midst, one of our esteemed brethren in the person of Bro. Josiah Hoskins, we wish, at this time and in this way to express our sincere sympathy for the bereaved.

"The deceased brother was a charter member of our Court and was at all times an enthusiastic forer, and will be greatly missed in our Court and in our neighborhood.

He is gone, and nothing remains for us but to commit ourselves to the will of the Great God of the Universe, who has called our beloved brother to a higher court where suffering shall be unknown. We know that his loved ones left behind will, as we do, take comfort from the fact that he is at rest where suffering and pain shall never again molest him."

Our Share

If the law which relates to Highway Improvement is a Provincial law, then it is fair to assume that the entire Province is entitled to benefit.

If the money which has been contributed by the Government towards the building of Roads belonged to the entire province and each County has received its share, such share being based upon Rural Population, the County of Lambton would have received $76,625.00. This amount has been lost to us while we get as profit the experience of others. The Auto License Fees paid by the County including the City of Sarnia amounted last year to about $15,000.00. This will be increased this year—so far as we can learn.

Now the only way for the County of Lambton to obtain our share of this money for our roads is to have our County Council adopt a system. On a basis of the County spending $100,000.00 annually upon its roads under this System, this amount being contributed by the Province, the County, and the City, the average cost to each One Hundred acre farm would be $4.78, while the average cost per capita would be 95 cents.

The County would require to raise $37,500.00, while the balance of the $100,000.00 would be made up by the city and Province as stated.

From a purely business standpoint, doesn't it appeal to the ratepayers that it is a good thing to have others assist?

Those besides ratepayers use the Highways; why shouldn't they be given a chance to pay?

The Essex county agricultural representative estimates that 300 carloads of onions will go from Leamington district for fall sale.

A MARVELLOUS MEDICINE FOR LITTLE ONES

Mrs. Delvina Pelletier, Ste. Perpetue, Que., writes: "I have much pleasure in stating that Baby's Own Tablets have been a marvellous medicine in the case of my baby. I have been using the Tablets for four years and don't think there is anything to equal them." In using the Tablets the mother has the guarantee of a government analyst that they do not contain one particle of opiates or other harmful drugs—they cannot possibly do harm—they always do good. The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Vision Your Sons, Mothers of Canada!

Vision them at early morning when through the rising mists, there bursts a hurricane of fire---

See your valiant boys---calm, grim, but cheerful, "stand-to-arms" until the Hun's "morning hate" dies away.

Picture them at breakfast, the meal that must bring them the bodily sustenance to carry them through the strain of another day.

Then think what might happen if, one morning, there was no breakfast ---no food, and word went down the lines that Canada had failed them.

Vision all these things, and then---as Women of Canada---Mothers of Men---Answer this Call to Service.

Canada must send to Her Own, and to the Allies Fighting Forces, more wheat, more beef, more bacon, and more of such other foods as are non-perishable and easily exported.

Canada can do this without depriving her own population of a fair share of any of these foods if You Women will but help.

All we ask of you is, that instead of buying so much white flour (if you do your own baking) you vary your baking by using one-third oatmeal, corn, barley or rye flour. Or, if you buy your bread, that you order a certain proportion of brown bread each day.

Second, instead of using as much beef and bacon as formerly, you vary your family's diet, by substituting for beef and bacon such equally nutritious foods as fish, peas, lentils, potatoes, nuts, bananas, etc.

Third, and this is most important, ---positively prevent the waste of a single ounce of food in your household.

They Must Be Fed

Statistics show that, everyday, in Canada, sufficient food is thrown into garbage cans to feed the entire Canadian Overseas Army.

Travellers have often remarked that many a European family would live well upon the quantity and quality of food wasted in some Canadian homes.

Such waste is shameful at any time; but in these times it is criminal.

Our only hope is that with these truths before you, and in view of the vital issues at stake, we may count upon your earnest co-operation in stopping this appalling waste; and in substituting other foods for the wheat, beef and bacon that must be sent overseas.

Next week a Food Service Pledge and Window Card will be delivered to you. It is your Dedication to War Service. The Window Card is your Emblem of Honour.

Woman's Auxiliary, Organization of Resources Committee, in Co-operation with The Hon. W. J. Hanna, Food Controller.

"I FEEL LIKE A NEW BEING"

"FRUIT-A-TIVES" Brought The Joy Of Health After Two Years' Suffering

MADAM LAPLANTE
 85 St. Rose St., Montreal, April 4th.
 "For over two years I was sick and miserable. I suffered from constant headaches, and had palpitation of the heart so badly that I feared I would die. There seemed to be a lump in my stomach and the constipation was dreadful. I suffered from Pain in the Back and Kidney Disease. I was treated by a physician for a year and a half and he did me no good at all. I tried "Fruit-a-tives" as a last resort. After using three boxes, I was greatly improved and twelve boxes made me well. Now I can work all day and there are no headaches, no palpitation, no heart trouble, no constipation, no pain or kidney trouble and I feel like a new being—and it was "Fruit-a-tives" that gave me back my health."

A Plantation Story of Before the Civil War

By ESTHER VANDEVEER

In Alabama in ante-bellum days was a fair plantation comprising many hundred acres and many hundred slaves. On an elevated spot stood the mansion, a great square house with "galleries" surrounding every story and shaded by high trees. In the rear were the homes of the negroes, a line of cabins, kept clean by frequent coats of white-wash. The plantation, now cut up, is the site of large cotton mills.

This property was owned by a child six months old. Its grandfather and its father had both died within a brief period, leaving a young widow, mother of the heir at law, as his guardian and manager of the plantation.

Edward Le Moyne, this child's uncle and brother of his father, was a scheming man, who, under the pretense of assisting his sister-in-law in the management of her property, established himself in the house and assumed control. Mrs. Julian Le Moyne, the widow, had not invited him to do so, but, being a very gentle feminine person, had not the will power to prevent him. Edward Le Moyne in his youth had been wild. Indeed, he had disgraced himself, and his father had willed the property to his brother Julian. When Julian died and Edward commenced the role of assistant to the mother of the child, who had inherited the property, the mother was sure his object was to get rid of the heir that he might become the owner himself.

Edward Le Moyne had married a woman beneath his family, by whom he had a son. Had Edward brought them to the plantation to live Mrs. Julian would not have had the will power to prevent his doing so. Instead, he established them in a town near by, and Mrs. Julian knew very well that the next move would be, when Edward had got rid of her son, to the manor house.

As might have been expected, the child fell ill. Edward Le Moyne saw him lying in his mother's arms unconscious. She accused him of having poisoned the boy and, summoning more fortitude than she had displayed before, ordered him out of the room. Qualling before her, he retired. Two days later he saw a little coffin carried to the family burying ground on a hill near by, followed by the widow and a number of her house servants, who were devoted to her. When she returned to the manor house she packed her belongings and the same day took her departure.

Edward Le Moyne took possession of the plantation, brought his wife and son, then ten years old, to the mansion and lived there a lonely life. None of the neighboring planters would have anything to do with him, and his slaves hated him.

Twenty years later his son, Tom, who had come into possession of the property, with a view to establish relations with the neighboring planters gave a ball. He was no better liked than his father had been, and the acceptances were few. Nevertheless they were sufficient for a merrymaking. Among the guests was Proctor St. Clair, a young man who had been reared by a relative and was extremely popular on account of his high sense of honor, his independent character and other manly traits. Another guest was Caroline Archard, the belle of the country round about. Tom Le Moyne was ambitious to win this girl, thinking that a marriage with her would gain him an entree into the aristocratic families in his neighborhood.

But hardly had the guests arrived and the festivities begun before Le Moyne observed that Miss Archard was manifesting a decided preference for young St. Clair. The traits of the father showed themselves in the son. He resolved to work by underhand means, relying largely on assurance to carry his point. When his guests were ready to depart he invited them to remain as a house party for as long as they would. A dozen accepted, among them Mr. St. Clair and Miss Archard, both secretly desiring to avail themselves of the opportunity to be together. Le Moyne was especially urgent that St. Clair should remain, promising him every facility for enjoyment.

Le Moyne used his privileges as host to assign himself in all rides, drives and other amusements to escort Miss Archard. Nevertheless he saw that the moment she was free she and St. Clair seemed to fall together and St. Clair. One morning after breakfast St.

Far more effective than Sticky Fly Catchers. Clean to handle. Sold by Druggists and Grocers everywhere.

Clair returned to his room for some article of clothing and was hunting for it in the closet when, hearing a step, he turned and saw Le Moyne come quickly into the room, pull out a bureau drawer, drop something in it and retire hastily, as he had come in. St. Clair, being in the closet, had not been seen. A moment after his host had left the room he went to the bureau drawer and took out a small box containing several articles of jewelry.

He was filled with astonishment, horror and indignation. It was evident to him that Le Moyne had placed the jewels in his drawer, intending to accuse him of having stolen them. St. Clair closed the door and spent half an hour deliberating. At the end of that time he took the jewels to Miss Archard and told her how he had come by them. She had experienced enough of Le Moyne's attentions to her to divine his object. Then St. Clair took the jewels to Le Moyne, whom he found with several of his guests, and told him where he had found them. Le Moyne colored and stammered that some of the house servants must have stolen them and temporarily hidden them in St. Clair's room.

"You lie!" said St. Clair. "I saw you come to my room and place the box in my drawer."

Le Moyne raised his cane and struck his accuser. St. Clair attempted to strike back, but the others interfered.

At that time in the south such an affair must be settled under the code duello. The accusation against Le Moyne could only be wiped out in blood. He knew that it could not be wiped out at all. There was not one of his guests but would believe the word of St. Clair in preference to his own.

With the dogged spirit that possessed him Le Moyne proposed that they should settle the affair at once. St. Clair was agreeable, and though the two principals were too hot for it, rapier were the weapons most used, and there was sufficient space in the room where they were. The adversaries, in shirt and trousers, faced each other, swords were handed them and they began to fence.

Le Moyne, true to the instincts of his race, was cool. Not even the truth of the charge could unnerve him. St. Clair, on the contrary, was so shocked, so indignant at the base attempt to put a stigma upon him and rob him of the girl with whom he had just plighted his troth that he fought wild. The result was that in a few minutes he received a sword wound in the side which took him out of the fight.

He was carried to his room and a surgeon sent for, who pronounced him in danger of his life. Of course, removal was out of the question.

The first Miss Archard heard of the matter was that her lover had been stabbed by her host and was lying in his chamber in a critical condition. She flew upstairs and in another moment was bending over him.

"Why," she moaned, "did we come into this house? It is accursed."

At the moment an old negro woman entered and heard the words.

"No, missy," she said, "de house ain't cu'sed. Hit's de people in it. Don't worry, honey. I had a dream las' night. I dreamed I saw a p'cession goin' to a grave takin' a baby coffin. An' I saw 'em buryin' de coffin. Den when dey all go way I saw de baby rise out o' de groun', an' he was growed to be a fine young man. An' he said, 'Mammy, my dear ole mammy!' He put his arm around my neck an' said, 'I's come of age today.'"

"I know wha' de dream meant. Don't yo' worry, honey. Hit's all comin' out right."
 The lovers well knew the superstition of the colored race and thought nothing of her words. But her prediction that it would all come out right proved true. It was a month before St. Clair could be moved, and during this period Miss Archard came every day to nurse him, though never once did she deign to notice Le Moyne. One day, shortly before the surgeon gave permission for his removal, the negro who had told her dream came into the room in which St. Clair was lying, Miss Archard sitting beside him. The old woman locked the door and approached the bed with her finger on her lip.

"Is it de fit' ob August?" she asked. "Yes, aunty."

"Dis'en! I got a secret I'm gwine to tell yo'. I promise missy I nebbber tell twill dis day, cos dis de day yo', Mars' Julian!"

"Julian! I'm not Julian, I'm Proctor. Something is the matter with you, aunty. You're gone daft."

"Jus' yo' wait, honey. Mars' Julian, yo' twenty-one years ole dis berry day. Beckon I ought to know. I'm yo' mammy."

By this time she had caught their attention.

"Yo' ma, she lib heah, an' Mars Le Moyne, Mars Tom Le Moyne's father, he come in to run de plantation. Missy 'traid her baby git poisoned so Mars Le Moyne 'ud own de prop'ty. Yo', de baby, git sick. Missy tink Mars Le Moyne poison yo'. So she p'tend yo' daid. She git a coffin, an' she fill it with stones, an' she said to me: 'In heah is de proofs dat my boy is not in de coffin. Yo'll know all about him, an' on de fit' ob August, 18—, yo' tell him who he is. Den he kin claim de plantation his ownself.'"

When the old woman finished, the lovers, whose eyes had been opening wider with every word, looked at each other in astonishment.

"And this is the mystery that has been hanging over me all my life," said Julian.

"And I believe it's all true," added the girl, clasping her hands and drawing a long breath.

"Well, aunty, or, rather, my dear mammy, you've kept the secret so long; keep it longer."

"Dat I will, honey."

It was more than a month later when one night Proctor St. Clair appeared as a resurrectionist on the hill near the plantation and took up a little coffin lined with lead. In it were stones and the proofs of the identity of the child it was supposed to contain. The proofs established the fact that Proctor St. Clair was Julian Le Moyne and heir to the Le Moyne estate.

He dispossessed his cousin, took possession of his property and married Caroline.

SORES FLEE BEFORE IT.—There are many who have been afflicted with sores and have driven them away with Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil, which acts like magic. Mountain Barriers Handicap Italy's Red Cross Workers

Over Italy's far-flung 450-mile battle line where Austria, aided by nature in the ice-bound ramparts of the Alps, has striven to keep free Italy shut out from enslaved Italy, the Italian Red Cross Society is heroically waging its fight for the relief of suffering humanity against odds far greater than those surmounted by the Red Cross banner-bearers on other Allied battle fronts.

On the western front the automobile ambulances quickly speed back the wounded from the front lines. Likewise medical attention and hospitals are near at hand for the Russians on the Eastern battle line, though supplies are scarce.

But the task of caring for the Italian wounded among the unstable snows and mountains of the Alps is almost inconceivable. Often the sufferers must be transported in box-like cars sliding on overhead cables or even lowered by ropes down the mountain sides. On snow sledges or by burrow back are the most common methods of carrying the Italian wounded down the mountain trails. Intense suffering and often death is caused before hospitals, miles away, are reached.

Treacherous snow, ice and rocks, and the extreme cold, cause many casualties among the Italian soldiers. Thousands of amputations have resulted in the two years of warfare among perpetual snows.

The Italian Red Cross Society and the Royal Italian Government fund for orphans of fallen Italian soldiers ask of their Canadian ally—"Will you help?" In answer to this appeal Southern and Western Ontario have fixed a goal of $100,000 to be raised by popular subscriptions. Campaigns will be conducted during August and September.

Every dollar given to the Italian Red Cross Society will shorten the war against Germany and its horrors. Every fit fighting man in the trenches, be he Canadian, British, Italian, or other ally, makes more efficient fighting forces—thus hastening the war's end.

CARNEGIE HEIRESS

Daughter of the Captain of the Steel Industry.

INTEREST IS PHILANTHROPY.

In Case Mr. Carnegie's Health Fails, as is Reported, This Young Lady May Find Herself One of the Richest Daughters of America.

Miss Margaret Carnegie is the only child of Andrew Carnegie, whose indisposition has attracted much notice. She is twenty years old and was graduated in May, 1916, from a New York private school, in which she took the English course.

She was a leader in the school and achieved a high standard of scholarship. Her special interest is civic and philanthropic movements, and for two years, despite her age, she has been vice president of the Armstrong league, which concerns itself especially with the dissemination of information regarding the Indian and the negro.

It has been the policy of Mr. and Mrs. Carnegie to shield their daughter as much as possible from publicity.

"She is the only one of my treasures I want for myself," is what Andrew Carnegie says of his daughter, who devotes so much of her time and affection, along with her mother, to the care and pleasure of the aged financier.

The world awaits with interest the special use this heiress of the Carnegie millions will make of her opportunity.

DISH WASHING.

How to Do This Drudgery Fairly Easily.

Save up your soiled dishes and wash them only once a day. By so doing you can save something like an hour and a quarter a week. Eleven minutes per day was the actual time saved in a recent experiment.

Piles of dishes waiting to be washed three times a day year in and year out throw a damper over the finest of housekeepers. If only the drudgery of dish washing could be disposed of once a day instead of morning, noon and night kitchen work would be in greater demand than it is.

The careful housekeeper will always resent the suggestion that once a day is often enough to wash dishes. She cannot train herself to allow soiled plates and silverware to stack up from one meal to the next, for she has been taught that such actions are the evidence of shiftless, slovenly housekeeping. As a matter of fact, along with many other notions which are fixed in the operation of the home both time and energy are saved by cutting out two of the three daily dish washing jobs.

The experience of one housekeeper bears out this statement as true. "One week I washed dishes twenty-one times," she says. "The next week I washed dishes seven times. During the two weeks I planned the meals so that the same number of dishes could be used on each day. I found that while it took fifty-two minutes each day to wash my dishes three times it took only forty-one minutes a day when I washed them all at once."

For Pain in the Back

GIN PILLS FOR THE KIDNEYS

Also for Swollen Joints and Ankles, Constant Headaches, Urinary and Bladder Troubles and all Irregularities of the Kidneys.

This statement takes no account of the interruption of other duties. It does not estimate the amount of gas or fuel saved by heating water to boiling but once instead of three times a day and nothing of the soap saved.

Cucumber Pickles.

Twenty-four large cucumbers. Cover with boiling water (be sure water is boiling) and a piece of alum size of top of the thumb. After five minutes lift the cucumbers out, wipe dry carefully. Put into stone jar, cover with cold cider vinegar and small piece of alum. Put cover on. In a few days a scum arises give new vinegar and alum, then cover and put away.

The Eskimos at Home.

Some interesting and amusing information concerning the aboriginal inhabitants of the Arctic regions is contained in an article, "Wireless with the Eskimos," by Douglas J. P. Coats in The Wireless World. The author kept a diary of his experience while on a voyage to Baffin Land and Hudson Bay on board the Nascope, a sealer and ice-breaker engaged in carrying supplies to various Hudson Bay stations in the Far North.

"The Eskimo at home was rather a surprise. I was taken to a wooden hut, which belched forth the Eskimo stench as we opened the door. There were four or five inhabiting the hut, and they lived in a state of semi-cleanliness, perhaps superior to many of our brethren in civilized slumland. They all assumed the happy Eskimo smile as we entered their dwelling and arose politely to their feet. Snowshoes and various seal-skin garments hung upon the walls, while from the shadow in one corner protruded the horn of a phonograph! It seemed so utterly incongruous, this possession of an up-to-date marvel by a family who ate raw seal and whose children delighted, most likely, in nothing better than chewing a piece of walrus hide, that I wanted to laugh. I had not heard then of the passionate love which the Eskimo has for music. In some regions, where missionary influence is strong, he has his own brass band, and produces horrible noises in the process of mastering the trombone or euphonium—just like ourselves.

"The smile of the Eskimo is a continuous one. When he is hurt he smiles; when his kayak upsets and precipitates him into icy water he smiles; when he is friendly he smiles again, and when he is not friendly I am willing to wager that he smiles to. It falls upon one who is not accustomed to it, and I was not sorry when we bade the family good-bye and went out into the fresh air."

Imperial Titles Urged.

Appropos of the recent change in the Royal titles a correspondent of The Morning Post suggests that the younger sons of the King should take some Imperial designation for life. Ontario, Quebec, Nova Scotia, etc., might very euphoniously and advantageously emphasize the common heritage of the Empire.

A Copper Country.

British Columbia is becoming one of the world's leading copper producers. Production is showing rapid strides. In 1915 the increase in amount was 11,908,706 pounds over the previous year. For 1916 there was a still further increase over 1915 of about 17,000,000 pounds. The estimate for 1917 is 73,000,000 pounds.

Use of Concrete.

Many large structures are now being built entirely of concrete, or their foundations are composed of this useful material, necessitating the mixing and placing of very large amounts of other material.

Iron in British Columbia.

It is estimated that there are 40,225,000,000 tons of the best iron ore in British Columbia; these resources have scarcely been touched yet.

Apples for England.

During recent years the exports of Canadian apples to the United Kingdom have totalled about 1,500,000 barrels per annum.

Hard and soft corns both yield to Holway's Corn Cure, which is entirely safe to use, and certain and satisfactory in its action.

Why A Child Needs Glasses

(Parents should realize this!)

MANY children are born with a defect of vision. Unless it is very great the child does not particularly suffer until the school period. Then the young mind becomes intent upon study and any defect of vision becomes a direct strain upon the brain. To relieve this the child will squint, or turn the head, in many cases using only one eye. This habit grows until we almost have a deformity of the eye.

Parents do not let this be the experience of your child. We will gladly and thoroughly examine your child's eyes, and tell you truthfully how best to remedy it. See to it now.

Family Reunion

Mr. and Mrs. John Hume, who live near Petrolia had a big family reunion on Aug. 31st. They have been married 58 years and were pleasantly surprised by their children, grand children and great-grandchildren and a large number of friends.

Following their marriage at Watford 1859, Mr. and Mrs. Hume farmed in Enniskillen Township, Lambton County, where they endured all the trials and pleasures of pioneer life, and even yet the last one living in each family, they enjoy the harvesting of the crops, to which Mr. Hume lends a willing and able hand.

Mr. Hume, who is of Irish descent was born in Watford 1837 where he lived until his marriage 1859.

Previous to her marriage, Mrs. Hume was Miss Nancy Lee, one of a family of six children.

When she was thirteen years old, she came to Walnut, in Brooke where her home was until she went to Enniskillen with Mr. Hume, 1859.

Though she was so young, Mrs. Hume has vivid recollections of her journey on foot over twenty miles of unbroken pathway from Mossa Station to Walnut in Brooke.

THE BUSINESS WOMEN

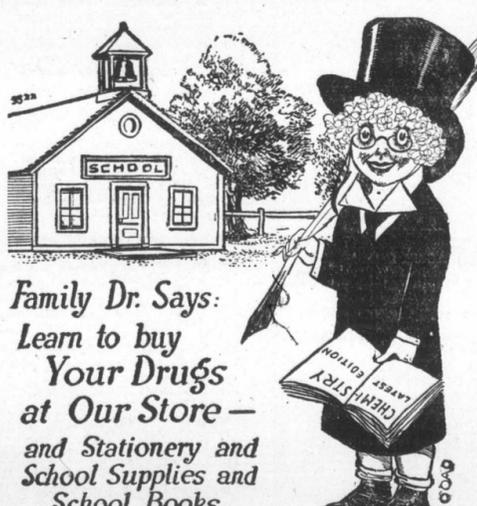

To-day, more than ever before, is woman's opportunity. Many new occupations are now opened to her, which before the war, she was deemed unfitted to fill. And truth to tell she has risen to the opportunity, and now shares many business responsibilities as in former times confined to men. But as women are subject to more frequent fluctuations of health than men, many will be handicapped early, if they regard their health requirements too lightly.

The nervous strain, long hours and prolonged mental or physical fatigue thin the blood and weaken the nerves. Such conditions as women are now called upon to undergo can only be endured by a full-blooded constitution. This is as true for men as for women, only weaker women suffer sooner.

The woman worker, in any line, requires her blood replenished frequently. She needs new, rich blood to keep her health under the trying conditions of business life, and fortify her system against the efforts of overwork. This applies also to the women in the home, who, perhaps, have more worries and anxieties than usual. So let all girls and women take heed and renew their blood promptly at the first approach of pallor, lack of appetite, headaches or backaches. This can be best and most effectively accomplished by taking Dr. Williams' Pink Pills which make new, rich blood and thus help womanhood so perfectly. No woman need fear failure of health if they take these pills occasionally to keep them well, or give them a fair trial if they find themselves run down.

You can get Dr. Williams' Pink Pills through any medicine dealers or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Tent caterpillars have made their appearance in great numbers in the vicinity of Wheatley and in some instances trees have been completely denuded of their foliage.
