DEVOTED SUBJECTS OF EDWARD VII.

Commemorate His Funeral Day With Ceremonies Appropriate to the Sad Occasion, as Last Tribute of Honor

A world-wide Empire united in the observance of the funeral day of our late lamented King, Edward VII. In great cities and in rural communities alike the people gathered to pay honor to the memory of the departed ruler.

In Bridgetown the day was most becomingly observed and the surrounding villages were well represented in the throngs that filled our churches and the crowds on the streets at time of the parade. The public schools were closed and all business suspended.

The Funeral Service in St. James Church attracted many and commenced at 10.30 the bell tolling at minute intervals from 9.30.

The service coincided with that by which King Edward was buried, omitting the "committal" and adding certain hymns. The following gives the order; and the service lasted about one hour.

Hymn, "Nearer My God to Thee"
Opening Sentences of "The Office for the burial of the dead," (Book of Common Prayer)
Psalms 39 and 90 to Chants no. 77 and 185 Cathedral Psalter.
Lesson, 1 Cor. xv.
Anthem "God Shall Wipe Away All Tears" J. T. Field.
Address by the Rector, Rev. E. Underwood
Hymn "O God Our Help in Ages Past"
Prayers
Anthem "Blessed are the dead,"
Benediction
Organ Voluntary "Dead March in Saul."

Very tasteful decorations, with hangings and draperies of black and royal purple, added an emblematic feature to the ceremonies making them thus more impressive. The floral decorations also were in excellent taste. The congregation filled the church and overflowed into the Sunday-school room adjoining. The Mayor and councillors and town officials occupied seats reserved in the front of the church. The musical numbers were effectively rendered by the choir with Miss Madge Morse as organist and one of the most impressive features was the rendering on the organ of the Dead March in Saul at the close while the congregation stood in motionless attention. The address of the rector paid a graceful tribute to the memory of the late King, and was listened to with marked appreciation.

Before the hour for the Memorial Service in the Baptist church the procession of school children, led by the Bridgetown Brass Band, militia of the 9th under the leadership of Capt. J. E. Morse, the Town Council and officials, formed on the school grounds. At the head of Washington street they were met by the Oddfellows and the Masons in regalia.

Arriving at the church the militia and Band and the Oddfellows formed lines through which the school-children passed. Mr. M. McLeod acting as marshal. They were followed by the Masons, Oddfellows, Militia and Band and as many of the citizens who thronged the streets as the spacious church edifice would contain. The decorations of the church were of purple and black draperies with floral emblems, and cut flowers. Before the pulpit was a floral bier and above it a black shield with Edward VII in gilt letters. The pulpit was occupied by the clergymen of the various churches with the exception of Rev. G. F. Johnson, who through illness was unable to be present.

The following program was carried out:—
Quartette.—"Blessed are the dead"
Miss Bessie Crowe, Mrs. Congdon
Mrs. Chute, Mrs. Brown.
Prayer by Rev. Mr. McNeill.
Hymn, "How firm a Foundation"
Reading of scripture by Rev. E. Underwood.
Hymn, "Peace, perfect Peace"
Address to children by Rev. W. H. Warren.

Quartette.—"Nearer My God to Thee,"—Messrs. Dixon, Hall, H. Chute, A. Clariton.
Address by Rev. A. F. Thompson.
Hymn.—"Crossing the Bar."
The music was excellently rendered by a full choir under the leadership of Mr. G. H. Dixon. The organ accompaniments were rendered by Mrs. Bishop and Mr. Kinney. Rev. W. H. Warren addressed the children, adapting to their youthful understanding the memorable features of the occasion and the lessons to be derived from the late King's life and character. Rev. A. F. Thompson addressed the elder members of the congregation and dwelt upon the admirable traits of King Edward's character and the part he played in bringing about the happy relations that exist between the nations today.

At the close of the service the procession reformed and marched back by way of Queen street to the school grounds, where with effective ceremonial an elm tree was planted and dedicated to King Edward VII. This was the most picturesque feature of the day and hundreds of spectators watched the interesting ceremony in which the red-coats of the militia and the Band formed an effective background. The Mayor and members of the school board took part in the ceremonial and the tree was dedicated by Rev. Mr. Underwood in the following words:—

"Whereas it has pleased Almighty God to call to His mercy our Sovereign, the King, Edward VII, of blessed and glorious memory and affectionately known by all his loyal subjects as 'King Edward the Peacemaker,' we here, on behalf of the citizens and children of this town of Bridgetown, dedicate this tree, now being duly planted under the name of and to the memory of King Edward VII, in the fervent hope that it may be to them and to the generations yet unborn an inspiration to follow His example in His great trait and in every department of life to 'Seek peace and pursue it.'"

IN MEMORIAM, KING EDWARD VII.

LONDON, May 20.—The body of King Edward VII was carried through the streets of the capital today in the presence of many hundred thousands of subjects, and with the kings of nine European nations, several future rulers, members of the royal families of the world, and a former president of the United States, following the casket from Westminster Hall to Paddington station.

The cortege moved through solid lines of red-coated soldiers, standing with rifles reversed and the regimental colors dipped to the ground. At the railway station the casket was placed in a funeral car and taken to Windsor, where, after the Church of England service had been conducted by the Archbishop of Canterbury in St. George's Chapel, it was entombed in the Albert Memorial Chapel adjoining.

ALL COUNTRIES REPRESENTED IN THE PROCESSION.

No such processional spectacle had been witnessed in London since Queen Victoria's jubilee. The parade included many of the greatest men of the kingdom, with representatives of all arms of the service, and delegations from the most famous regiments of the empire and representative groups of foreign armies and navies.

Behind the casket upon which rested the imperial symbols, followed the late king's charger, while his favorite terrier was led by a Highland soldier just before the imperial ensign.

King George, Emperor William and several other members of royalty wore the uniforms of British generals.

The representatives of the two great republics—France and the United States—were given a position at the rear of all the royalties and the princess of all the European states. Their carriage followed those carrying the royal ladies, and they were the last in the line of the representatives of foreign governments. The Duke of Orleans was given precedence as the envoy of the French people.

MANY BROKEN LIMBS AND OTHER INJURIES.

The booming of minute guns and the tolling of bells accompanied the movement of the procession, while the bands in turn played "The Dead March from Saul" and "Chopin's Funeral March."

The morning was clear and a hot sun beat upon the great mass of humanity that lined the route of the procession. It is doubtful if so many people were ever before seen in London. At the Mall, in St. James street and at Hyde Park the throng almost overwhelmed the procession. The police and soldiers had to fight to prevent the lines being swept away by the crush. There were many broken limbs, and other injuries were received.

Hundreds of persons fainted, and especially among the women, who had been standing on the pavement for hours before the procession left Westminster Hall.

King George, the Queen Mother, Alexandra, and the Princess Victoria, entered Westminster Hall, before the procession and spent some minutes before the casket.

Emperor William, who was at the entrance as they appeared, dismounted, and waving the hackneys aside, opened the door of the Queen Mother's carriage, helped her out, and then kissed her on the cheek.

The procession started from the hall at 9.50 o'clock, just as the first minute gun boomed. The precedent afforded by the funeral of Queen Victoria nine years ago was closely followed.

The onken casket with the crown and cushion, regalia and insignia of the Order of the Garter thereon, was borne on a gun carriage the same as was used at the funeral of the late Queen.

The procession proceeded through Parliament street and Whitehall. The public buildings were heavily draped with black and purple throughout the route.

The route was lined with thousands of troops, behind whom were massed countless thousands of people in deep black, on the pavement below and the house fronts above, with the balconies, windows and roofs crowded.

Every branch of the defensive forces of the empire was represented in the long column which preceded the gun carriage. An officer of the headquarters staff mounted, headed the procession with the bands of the household cavalry. The territorials and colonials came just behind the bands, then other volunteer corps, the honorable artillery company, officers of the Indian regiments in their picturesque uniforms and turbans, followed by detachments of infantry, footguards, royal engineers, garrison, field and horse artillery, cavalry of the line and regiments of household cavalry followed.

MASSED BANDS PLAYING SOLEMN FUNERAL MARCHES.

The royal marine infantry and artillery and naval representatives came next, with the military attaches of the foreign embassies, the officers of the headquarters staff of the army, the field marshals and massed bands playing solemn funeral marches.

The field officers of the royal house of England, headed by the earl marshal, the Duke of Norfolk, and followed by a non-commissioned officer of the household cavalry bearing the royal standard.

THE ORDER OF THE PROCESSION.

The king rode between the German emperor and the Duke of Connaught, all in brilliant uniforms, and next in line was the group of rulers, heirs to

FAREWELL TO HALLEY'S COMET

The Celestial Visitor Behaved with Eminent Consideration and Passed Harmlessly by This Planet of Ours.

Halley's comet has passed around the sun and is now proceeding on its way back around the circle it traverses. Seventy-five years will elapse before it again reaches the space visible to our planet.

A report from Halifax says:—
Large crowds assembled on the Citadel Saturday evening to get a glimpse of the comet. It appeared about nine o'clock and was visible for about half an hour. It was frequently hidden behind a cloud, but when the clouds broke away it was plainly visible.

IMMERSED IN THE TAIL.

Geneva, N. Y., May 20.—Dr. Wm. R. Brooks, director of Smith Observatory believes that the beam of light seen in the Eastern sky yesterday morning was a branch of the tail of Halley's comet, that the earth had really passed through the preceding portion of the tail and that we were then actually immersed in the hollow part of the tail as indicated in the black streak previously observed, extending ten to twelve millions of miles back from the nucleus.

NO COLLISION WITH EARTH.

New York, May 20.—The comet came, the comet went and the old earth is no worse and no better, and very little wiser. There was no collision as the superstitious and ignorant feared, and now that the comet is headed away from us there will be no recurrence of the manifestations of terror that were recorded from all parts of the country and of the world. The earth did pass through the tail of the comet, but none of the auroral effects which some astronomers were willing to concede might be visible were in evidence. Nor did anybody suffocate from deadly cyanogen gas. Comet parties were held everywhere in the streets, on roof tops, but for all that was visible to the naked eye, the tail of the comet was indeed "the veriest approach to nothing set in the midst of naught."

Chamberlain is Improving

British Statesman is at Cannes and is much Improved in Health

Cannes, May 19.—Joseph Chamberlain, the British statesman, appears to be much improved in health. He may be seen almost daily promenaing the boulevards.

Mr. Chamberlain, who had been in ill health for a long time, came here on February twenty-first to recuperate. A rumor originating in London last night had it that Mr. Chamberlain had died suddenly at his home in Birmingham.

the throne prince of great states and special ambassadors.

The mounted group was followed by twelve state carriages. The first was occupied by the Queen Mother, Alexandra, the Russian Dowager, Empress Marie, the Princess Royal and the Princess Victoria. The second carriage contained Queen Mary of Great Britain, Queen Maud of Norway, the Duke of Cornwall, heir to the British throne, and Princess Mary.

The next four carriages carried royal ladies and ladies in waiting. The seventh carriage carried Prince Tsai Tao of China and his suite.

The eighth carriage was shared by special American Ambassador Theodore Roosevelt, M. Pichon, French foreign minister, and Sanad Khan Montazem, Sultan of Persia.

An Old Annapolis Co.

Editor Passes Away

A Caledonia despatch of May 23rd says:—This community was startled this morning by the announcement of W. H. Banks, editor of the Annapolis Journal and Spectator of that town. He came to Caledonia some twenty-two years ago, and established the Gold Hunter. Mr. Banks was a man of kindly and genial disposition and highly esteemed by all who knew him. He leaves a wife and two sons, one in Caledonia and the other in New York. The passing of Mr. Banks will be a severe loss to Northern Queens and a matter of great regret all over the county. Mr. Banks was about sixty years of age.

THE PREMIER'S CONDITION.

Premier Murray continues to make substantial progress toward recovery. His condition shows satisfactory improvement as rapidly as could be expected after such a serious operation.

Thousands Viewed the Body of Dead Monarch

London, May 17.—Simple ceremonies marked the removal today of the body of Edward VII, from Buckingham Palace to Westminster Hall, but more impressive than the presence of Kings and the gorgeous uniforms of state officials and officers of the Army and Navy was the silent grief displayed by the British people, who massed behind double lines of soldiers watched with strained eyes and bowed heads the passing of the gun carriage that bore the coffin of the monarch. The Queen Mother, Alexandra, who rode in the first state carriage, suffered with queenly dignity, and King George walked behind the coffin with his two sons, the Duke of Cornwall and Prince Albert, showed signs of the burden of sorrow and state that rested on his shoulders.

PROCESSION FROM PALACE

The procession from Buckingham Palace to Westminster Hall passed through double lines of red-coated soldiers flanked with rows of stalwart policemen and a mass of silent black-garbed humanity. The buildings along the route were heavily draped with mourning.

The German and other Embassies in Carlton House Terrace were covered with funeral pallis of black wreaths and bouquets of white lilies.

BOOMING OF GUNS

The first intimation that the crowd which had been waiting for hours, had of the approach of the funeral cortege was the booming of a sixty-eight-minute gun followed by the tolling of "Big Ben," the great bell in the closed tower in the House of Commons which heretofore has been held as it struck the hours and the roll of muffled drums.

TROOPS SALUTED

Then a guardman with sword reversed came down the Mall at measured tread, two other guardmen following close behind. Then came the officers of the Headquarters Staff, the Army Council and the Board of Admiralty. As those appeared the troops came to a half salute with reversed guns and remained thus until Field Marshall Lord Roberts and Lord Kitchener of Khartoum, the Admirals of the fleet, the India or other officers in black uniforms, and the aides de camp of the late King passed.

ROYALTY ON FOOT

When the gun carriage on which the casket was borne approached the order "Best on your Arms," was given sharply. With heads bowed the soldiers kept their eyes on the ground while the body of the late King passed by, coming to attention again for the Royal Standard which was carried immediately behind the casket and in front of King George, who like the officers and other members of royalty was afoot.

The Duke of Cornwall and Prince Albert, two little figures in the natty uniforms of naval cadets, followed their father.

King Frederic of Denmark and

King Haakon with the Duke of Connaught between them came next and then followed the other members of the British and foreign royal families in gorgeous uniforms, the only touch of mourning being the black bands on the sleeves of their coats. An array of officers of the late King's household, nearly all of them in bright uniform but a few of them in mourning dress followed.

SYMPATHY FOR QUEEN MOTHER

The greatest interest of the crowd was aroused at the approach of the royal carriage for a time rode the Queen Mother, Alexandra, to whom the hearts of all Britishers have gone during the past week. Her Majesty wearing the deepest mourning, had lifted her veil and the people reverently raised their hats to the pathetic figure who, even in the hour of her great grief acknowledged the silent testimony of sympathy by bowing repeatedly.

The Queen Mother was accompanied by her sister the Dowager Empress Marie of Russia and her daughters, Princess Royal and Princess Victoria Queen Mary Queen Mary occupied the second state carriage having for the occasion surrendered the first place which as Queen she was entitled to.

Her Majesty was preceded by the Sovereign's escort. Queen Mary was accompanied by her daughter, Princess Mary, and Prince Henry.

Seven other state carriages, gold-becked and drawn by heavily caparisoned horses, carried the ladies of the royal families and the suites of the Queen Mother and the Queen.

AN IMPRESSIVE SCENE

Arriving at the Palace yard at Westminster where a close throng had gathered, the gun carriage stopped the palls were removed and the bearers, a company composed of Life Guards lifted the casket and carried it into the Palace.

The dominating characteristic of the procession was the impressive simplicity. There were 12,000 troops (the largest body of uniformed men was the massed bands of the Guards' regiments, numbering two hundred and fifty, which played funeral marches.

THE MASSES BANDS

Upon leaving Buckingham Palace a corps of eighty drums played a special introduction, at the conclusion of which the massed bands took up Beethoven's funeral march, the most striking feature of the music being played by "Flowers of the Forest" as the procession passed the Marlborough House, the music bringing tears to many in the great crowd.

During the Horse Guard's parade the band played "Chopin's March Funerale," and as the procession approached Westminster Hall the strains of "Handel's Dead March from Saul" were heard.

BODY LIES IN STATE

The body of Edward VII will lie in state in Westminster Hall until Friday when it will be taken to Windsor Castle there to be placed temporarily in the vault beneath the floor of St. George's Chapel and later in the tomb that will be prepared for it in the Albert Memorial Chapel.

Brief services attended only by the members of the royal family were conducted at Westminster Hall this morning by the Bishop of London. The Archbishop of Canterbury received the body at Westminster Hall, where it was borne on the shoulders of soldiers and placed upon the purple catafalque, a white and gold embroidered pall, with the royal ensign, covered the coffin, and above all are the crown, the orb and scepter.

VIEWED BY THOUSANDS

At four o'clock in the afternoon the doors of the Hall were thrown open to the public. Already 50,000 people were in line waiting for admission. They were composed mostly of the middle and working classes of men, women and children, and the great majority of them were dressed in black, many of them carrying flowers.

THE TALLEST OF TREES

A Hundred Feet is All That is Usual by Attained in Britain.

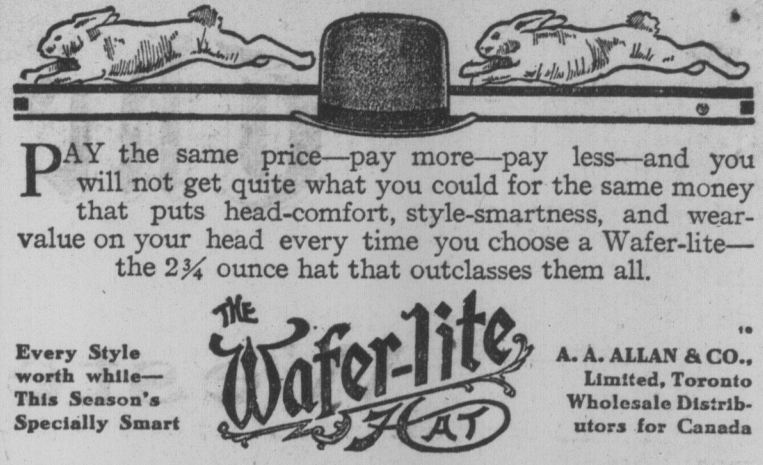

A tree 100 feet high, accurately measured, is not as tall as it looks. There are not many trees in the gardens of England that exceed 100 feet, notwithstanding the records of reputedly higher trees than this. We have been told that the highest tree in Kew Gardens, carefully measured with a tape, was 103 feet and that the tallest pine, a Corsican near the entrance, is 88 feet, says The Field.

There are some fine specimens of Atlas and Lebanon cedars in these gardens, but not one of them is 70 feet high. A larch that had been drawn up by surrounding beeches and was looked upon as a giant, was blown down in 1892 and it proved to be 110 feet long. Beech, among the tallest of our trees, rarely reaches 100 feet, though Dr. Henry measured one in Halkyn in 1904 which was 117 feet. The famous deciduous cypress, Tardian distichum, in Syon Park, Brentford, is, according to Mr. Elwes, 110 feet high, the tallest of its kind in Europe.

The same authority gives 105 feet as the height of the tallest horse chestnut he has seen, though there are others estimated to be even higher. The tallest larch he has seen is from 80 feet to 95 feet, and the tallest black walnut, at Marble Hill, Twickenham, was 95 feet high when measured by Dr. Henry in 1905. Oaks have been measured up to 130 feet, but they are quite exceptional, 100 feet being above the average for our tallest oaks.

The height of trees is influenced by the company they grow in. For example, a larch growing in the open would most likely fail to reach 100 feet in height, whereas larches growing close together or pressed upward by other trees have been known to exceed 130 feet in this country. The California giant tree of the Wellingtonia owe their great height to the same influence. Not even in that country would this tree have grown to 300 feet or more if it had not been forced to grow upward because it could not grow outward.

According to Mr. Elwes, one of the tallest Wellingtonias in England is at Fonthill Abbey, which in 1905 measured "certainly over 100 feet and probably 105 feet high. This is at least 10 feet higher than the tallest at Strathfieldsaye. It is next to impossible to ascertain the correct height of a tree by any other means than that of careful measurement; there are, we know, ingenious contrivances for doing it otherwise, but they are not reliable. Of course the approximate height may be gauged enough and yet be a long way out.

Priest at Salmon River Fataally Shot

Rev. Fr. Jean B. Ruest, the beloved parish priest of Salmon River, Digby Co., whilst cleaning a gun Monday afternoon, accidentally shot himself by the premature discharge of the weapon. The charge entered his stomach or bowels, but he lingered until 2 o'clock Tuesday morning, when he passed away. He was a native of Rimouki, Quebec, and was about forty years of age. He had been stationed at Salmon River for about two years, and at Plympton for six or seven years previous, and was very popular with all who knew him.—Digby Courier.

Digby, May 18.—Two thousand attended the obsequies of Rev. Jean B. Ruest, parish priest at Salmon River. Besides the reverend superior of St. Ann's college and Monsignor Daly, of Halifax, who represented Archbishop McCarthy, the other clergymen present were: Rev. Father Murphy, Halifax; Dion Young, of Yarmouth; LeBlanc, of St. Bernard's; Dion, of Weymouth; Cote, of Meteghan; Deveau, of Tusket Wedge, and Hamlin, of Eol Brook. The late Father Ruest and Clarence Jameson, M. P., were warm friends. Mr. Jameson was on the way home from Ottawa via Yarmouth, and stopped off at Salmon River to attend the funeral of his reverend friend.

WHAT BECAME OF THE DOG?

A few months ago complaints were laid with the Town Council against the big black dog kept by Mr. W. C. Parker. It was stated that it was vicious and had bitten several children. A resolution was passed that the dog must be either destroyed, chained or muzzled. The resolution was not enforced, however. On Friday last the little five-year-old daughter of Mr. J. B. Thompson while at Mr. A. W. Allen's place, was pounced upon by this dog, which drove its teeth into the child's neck and through her lip. Miss Allen, who heard the child's cry, had considerable difficulty in driving the brute away. Policeman Bailey went to Mr. Parker's residence to destroy the dog, but was refused possession of the animal. We understand that the dog was sent down the line.— Outlook.

THE "A I DEMONS"

It was a little boy, who had been taken to see the pantomime at Drury Lane Theatre, who has described the Salammbos, who, as the wizards of the lamp, did so much for Aladdin. The Salammbos comprise Mr. Salambo and his wife and daughter. Previous to appearing at Drury Lane, they had for four years been travelling all over the world. As a boy Mr. Salambo was apprenticed to a cabinet-maker, and he became a fruit buyer in Los Angeles; then an engine-driver on the Southern Railway; and ultimately acquired that knowledge of chemistry and electricity which he has turned to such good account on the stage.

In India their fire-blowing act caused the Parsees to really worship them, for fire is the Parsees' god, and when they saw the Salammbos toying with flames and exhaling volumes of fire with each other by merely blowing sheets of flame from their lips, they seemed to think they were their gods come to earth. As a consequence, the Parsees pulled down their kurtas, and were bowed and saluted to whenever they were seen in the streets.

A Sailor's Compliment.

As Miss Margaret Tennant, Mrs. Asquith, is a beautiful woman with her beauty, her wit and her high spirits. Mr. Gladstone admired her, and the novelist Benson owed his success to the portrait that he drew of her in "The Sign of the Cross."

Gladstone, Tennant and other distinguished persons made a cruise to Norway one summer in Sir Daniel Currie's yacht. Miss Margaret Tennant was among the party and her beauty and beauty charmed all on board, from Tennant and Gladstone down to the cabin boy.

Mr. Gladstone and Miss Tennant, promenading the deck one morning, passed and talked awhile with a sailor.

"Are you married?" Miss Tennant asked him.

The sailor touched his cap and answered: "Yes, ma'am; I'm sorry to say I am."

Big Sheep Run.

They have some pretty big sheep runs out New South Wales way. Dunlop is one of four large grazing grounds, mostly owned by one man, on the Darling river. Dunlop is 1,000,000 acres; Toorak, next door to it is also a million; Fort Bourke, next to Toorak, is 600,000; and Nicolob on the bank of Dunlop, on the Paroo River, is 800,000. They make practically one enormous property of three and a quarter million acres. They reach along one bank of the Darling for 95 miles as the crow flies or as the river winds 280 miles. There is one fence, on Dunlop that runs something like 90 miles.

In Memory of Seddon.

In the crypt of St. Paul's Cathedral, the Duke of Argyll the other day unveiled a bust placed there by colonial and other friends in memory of Mr. Richard J. Seddon, the late Prime Minister of New Zealand. "Dick" was a great empire builder, and laid the grip of the marbles of which this fitting monument is formed.

Fire at Bombay.

A most destructive fire occurred at Bombay, India, recently, a number of grain, seed, and oil warehouses being gutted. The damage done by the outbreak, the cause of which is unknown, is estimated at from £100,000 to £130,000.

FATHER'S GALLANT RESCUE.
Head Foremost Into Well and Hangs Twenty Minutes by Heels Save Life of His Child.

Kemmare, Sask., May 11—(Special)—With a rope tied about his feet, Knute Anderson jumped headfirst into a well on his farm at Estevan to rescue his two year old son Walter. Hanging with his head just above the water, Anderson managed to grasp the child and remained in that position twenty minutes till his wife brought help. When the neighbors arrived it was found necessary to enlarge the well opening in order to pull Anderson out with the child in his arms.

How to get a pure white loaf

THE object of all expert bakers and cooks is to make a pure white loaf. And this object is attained by the use of

PURITY FLOUR

Purity is a hard-wheat flour of decidedly superior whiteness. It bakes into a pure white loaf. So, you see, to get the really beautiful white loaf you must use PURITY hard-wheat flour.

LITTLE GIRL LEARNS EARLY

Miss Mary Garden at a tea in Philadelphia praised the skill of the modern corset-maker. "It is really wonderful," said Miss Garden, "what this artist can do. I have seen fat old women who, from certain aspects, looked like supple girls. It was the corset-maker." "And that reminds me of an answer that I heard in Sunday school when I was a little child."

FUNNY ADVERTISEMENTS

Some very amusing advertisements find their way into the papers. Wanted—A steady woman to wash, iron, and milk two cows. Lost.—A cameo brooch, with figures representing Venus and Adonis walking down the Portobello Road between eleven and twelve o'clock on Saturday. Wanted—Assistant butcher, one able to drive and kill himself preferred. Isaac Holt wishes to inform the public that he kills pigs like his father.—E. K.

JUST A LITTLE EXERCISE.

The elevator conductor of a tall office building, noticing that the colored janitor had ridden up with him several times that morning, remarked: "Sam this is the fifth time I have taken you up, but you have not come down with me." "Well, you see," Sam replied, "Ah been washin' windows on de 'leventh floor, and every now and again Ah misses mah hold and falls out."

HIS OPPORTUNITY

The Son—Yass, guv'nor, at college I could lift more than any other man in my class. The Dad—Waal, jest ye take off yer coat and try yer hand at liftin' the mortgage we put on the farm tew send ye tew college."

CORRECT.

Teacher—"Now Willie, give me a sentence using the word 'dozen.'" Willie—"Bobby dozen like school." Teacher—"Dear me, no! Bobby, correct him." Bobby—"I dozen, Willie don't."

KINDNESS.

Suitor—"Surely your father would do something for us!" Doctor's daughter—"Indeed he would! He said he would operate on you any time free of charge."

Never hesitate about giving Chamberlain's Cough Remedy to children. It contains no opium or other narcotics and can be given with implicit confidence. As a quick cure for coughs and colds to which children are susceptible, it is unsurpassed. Sold by all dealers.

SCHOOLS WASTE TIME.

Merc Babes Taught Matters They Can't Understand. New York, Saturday—"Every bit of so-called knowledge imparted to a child under ten years of age in mathematics and history or in any theoretical subjects is a waste of time and is completely lost. Children are parrots; they have no reasoning power up to that age and the educational system which tries to impart such knowledge to the child-mind is worse than foolish."

GOOD REASON.

A little newsboy, to sell his paper, told a lie. The matter came up in Sunday-school. "Would you tell a lie for three cents?" asked a teacher of one of the boys. "No, ma'am," answered Dick, very decidedly. "For a dollar?" "No, ma'am." "For a thousand dollars?" Dick was staggered. A thousand dollars looked big. Oh, would it not buy lots of things? While he was thinking, another boy behind him roared out, "No, ma'am!" "Why not?" asked the teacher. "Because when the thousand dollars is all gone, and when all the things that they have got with them are gone, too, the lie is there all the same," answered the boy.—Foster.

VOGUE POINTS.

Hints For Girls' Lingerie Frocks—A Garden Hat.

A pretty conceit in connection with some imported lingerie frocks for misses' wear is the introduction of sets of long eyelets at the waist line, back and front, and again at the edge of the elbow sleeves. Through these wide, soft ribbons are tied in long drooping bows at the waist line and in small bows at the elbow.

A pretty variety of garden hats has a band of light changeable silk sewed on the top of the brim and covering all but two inches of the straw. It is trimmed with a mixed garland of flowers in rose, lily, yellow and blue shades set around the crown. This frock is pretty for a girl's party dress. As illustrated it is made of all over embroidery, tulle and founce. Slightly older girls will find the dress suitable for graduation affairs, with trimming of lace.

JUDIC CHOLLET.

This May Manton pattern is cut in sizes for girls of eight, ten, twelve and fourteen years of age. Send 10 cents to this office, giving number, 628, and the pattern will be promptly forwarded to you by mail. If in haste send an additional two cent stamp for letter postage, which insures more prompt delivery.

GLANINGS OF LA MODE.

Pockets, Pockets Everywhere, and Not One Really to Use. This season there are pockets, pockets everywhere, but not one for use. These pockets as a trimming are very swaggy, but to use one of them would mean pulling the garment out of shape and making your suit look baggy. You may have all the pockets you want, but you will still have to go on putting your handkerchiefs in your sleeve and your car fare in your glove. So much for woman's pockets.

MINARD'S LINIMENT CURES PAIN

The Russian Blouse to Stay During the Summer Months. There is every reason to believe that the Russian costume will hold good for the summer months. Besides this, it is an excellent model for summer frocks that otherwise would be made

A FASHIONABLE GOWN OF LINEN with tucks. Very often a tuck gown could not be successfully accomplished with "slippery" material, while the Russian blouse produces the same effect and keeps its shape.

These May Manton patterns are cut in sizes for the blouse from 32 to 42 inches bust measure and for the skirt from 27 to 36 inches waist measure. Send 10 cents each for the patterns to this office, giving numbers—skirt 626 and blouse 625—and they will be promptly forwarded to you by mail. HERE AND THERE.

Belts Are to Be All the Rage—And the New Models Are Stunning.

The black patent leather belt and the belt of colored leather, gilt-ton silk or velvet combined with patent leather are evidently to be much worn. Manufacturers are bringing out extremely pretty things along this line. The return of the normal waist line and the rise of the Russian frock have brought the belt again in vogue.

ROSES AROUND IN THE YOUNG GIRL'S PARTY COSTUME.

They are worn in the hair, and it is to be expected that they will adorn many a summer frock. When the sheen of satin is considered trying, as it is apt to be when the complexion is not good, the effect

TWO FLOUNCE SKIRTS will be much improved by covering the fabric with chiffon, laid on flat.

Do not attempt to bleach a hat you value until you are sure of the process. There are various proprietary cleansers that can be relied upon. Your druggist will tell you which are the best of them.

Flounce skirts next summer are going to be very modish, and the model pictured is charming in every way. It is made of embroidered founce, but bordered materials, including marquisette, yokes, silk and wool goods, are good fabrics to use in this design. The good foundation means perfect smoothness over the hips as well as simplicity of adjustment.

Pongee is one of the best liked materials for spring and summer. The dress seen in the cut is of pongee in a pretty grayish blue shade, and the trimming is black soutache braid. The Dutch neck is a modish feature, and the pocket of cream lace is Frenchy.

On the Trying Art of Puff Paste Making

Across the briny we are told, when a tenor is up for Grand Opera honors, they test his range in all manner of ways. If triumphant, they hand him the score of "Mlle. M. Tell." Which floors many a young tenor's ambition. Which all reminds one of the difficult art of Puff Paste Making. Being, as you know, the supreme test of cooking ability.

She who risks above the level of ordinary everyday paste must be an artist. She is one in a hundred, mighty good marriage material.

Could YOU stand the test, Madam Housewife? Can you really make Puff Paste, Paste that is Puffy? With a clear, delicate appearance, a golden creamy brown that is eye-tempting? With a crinkly, close-grained texture that is tender, melting away on the tongue, while producing a rich effect of the soft spot of the palate?

Plus that longed-for quality so hard to secure—an even thickness? The kind mother tried to make but couldn't, you know.

Don't say: "Ah! I could only make Puff Paste like that." Why shouldn't you Madam? You can get FIVE ROSES flour. If you really want to.

Milled in the perfect way to fit your every need in plain and fancy cooking.

FIVE ROSES flour improves every recipe in healthfulness its quality and evenness never vary.

For puff paste, all sorts and conditions of puff and tartlets, FIVE ROSES will seem like another Aladdin's Lamp.

With the same amount of shortening and water, because of higher absorption, you use at least ONE-FIFTH LESS FIVE ROSES.

It makes up so much lighter, raises so much higher even when rolled thinner from slacker dough, makes so much richer-looking pastries.

Don't you want YOUR puff paste perfect combined with economy? Won't YOU try FIVE ROSES, Madam?

Mrs. Goldsmith possessed a most attractive personality and was greatly beloved as wife, mother and friend.

ORCHARD AND GARDEN IN MAY

Planting raspberries, cost of growing grapes, cranberry culture, selection of nursery stock, lime-sulphur vs. Bordeaux for spraying, co-operative buying of supplies, spraying peaches and controlling brown-tail moth are among the many topics for fruit growers that are discussed in the May issue of The Canadian Horticulturist, published at Peterboro, Ont. A valuable article is contributed by Mr. J. A. Ruddick, Dairy and Cold Storage Commissioner Ottawa, on "The Construction of Cold Storage Warehouses." For vegetable growers there are articles on onions, potatoes, asparagus, celery, tomatoes, peppers and starting seedlings. Amateur gardeners are given special attention in articles on sweet peas, asters, dahlias, lilacs, and so forth. Horticultural notes from all the provinces constitute a strong feature of the issue. There is much information of special interest to Maritime Province horticulturists. Among the contributors are J. A. Moore, Hazelbrook, P. E. I.; R. J. Messenger, Bridgetown, N. S.; and Miss Eunice Watts, Waterville, N. S. The issue is well illustrated. Sample copies of the Canadian Horticulturist may be had on request to the above mentioned address.

School Lads With Supply of Cartridges

Winter Street Principal Makes Collection of Dangerous Playthings, and Probably Prevents Accidents.

A dozen of the pupils of Winter Street school whose cartridges as playthings one day this week says the St. John Times and that they did not explode and fatally injure some of them is no fault of their own, as no effort was spared to 'fire' them. It is due to Principal William A. Nelson, of the school that nothing serious happened as, learning of the matter, he went among the boys during school hours and took about ten or twelve cartridges from them, ranging in size from a 22 to a 38 calibre.

It seems that one of the boys in grade two distributed the dangerous playthings among his companions and some even fell into the hands of some children too small to go to school. However, all are now in the safe keeping of the principal and he has warned the pupils that nothing in the line of cartridges, fire crackers or caps is to be carried by them either going to or from school or in the yard or about the building.

MINARD'S LINIMENT CO., Ltd.

Gentlemen,—In January last, Francis Leclere, one of the men employed by me, working in the lumber woods, had a tree fall on him, crushing him fearfully. He was, when found, placed on a sled and taken home, where grave fears were entertained for his recovery, his hips being badly bruised and his body turned black from his ribs to his feet. We used MINARD'S LINIMENT on him freely to loosen the pain and with the use of three bottles he was completely cured and able to return to his work.

THE KING'S LAST WORDS.

Berwick Register.—It is cause for regret that no trust worthy account of the closing scenes of the life of the late King can be given. The details given out by the medical men in attendance are few, but they are eagerly seized upon by the reporters of the Associated Press and paraphrased beyond all reason. The alleged last words, "It is all over, but I think I have done my duty," were telegraphed to and appeared in print in the evening papers of the chief cities of America some time before His Majesty had sunk into the state of unconsciousness, in which the last hours of his life were spent. There is no reason to believe that he spoke any such words. If he did it was doubtless in reference to some particular act, not to the work of his life or his conduct as King. King Edward was not a boaster. He had, besides, an innate sense of the fitness of things which would not have permitted him knowingly to go into the presence of the Eternal Judge with the words quoted upon his lips.

(This is the only criticism we have seen attributing to the much-quoted words a spirit of boasting, though possibly at first glance it may have given the same impression to others as to the Editor of the Register. The general interpretation is that the words escaped the King in a moment of introspection and not with any intention that they would be quoted as a message to his people, or, in fact, become, as is probable, historic.—Ed)

Religion is the mortar that binds society together, the granite pedestal of liberty, the strong backbone of the social system.—Dr. Guthrie.

When the Little Hands are Stilled

A little elbow leans upon your knee—Your tired knee, that has so much to bear: A child's dear eyes are looking lovingly From underneath a thatch of tangled hair.

Perhaps you do not heed the velvet touch Of warm, moist fingers, sliding yours so tight— You do not prize the blessing over much; You are almost too tired to pray tonight.

But it is blessedness! A year ago I did not see it as I do today; We are so dull and thankless; and too slow To catch the sunshine till it slips away.

And now it seems surpassing strange to me That, while I wore the badge of motherhood, I did not kiss more oft and tenderly The little child that brought me joy only good.

And if some night, when you sit down to rest, You miss this elbow from your tired knee This restless curling head from off your breast, This hissing tongue that clatters constantly;

If from your own the dimpled hands have slipped, And ne'er will nestle in your palm again; If the white feet into their grave have tripped, I could not blame you for your heartache then!

I wonder so that mothers ever fret At little children clinging to their gowns, Or that the footprints when the days are wet Are ever black enough to make them frown.

If I could find a little muddy boot, Or cap, or jacket, on my chamber floor; If I could kiss a rosy restless foot, And hear its patter in my home once more

If I could mend a broken cart today, Tomorrow make a kite to reach the sky—

There is no woman in God's world could say She was more blissfully content than I.

But, ah! the dainty pillow next my own Is never ruffled by a shining head; My singing birdling from its nest has flown.

The little boy I used to kiss is dead —May Riley Smith.

West Paradise.

Mr. Alonso Daniels, who has been spending the winter in Massachusetts has returned to his home.

The day of the comet has passed and nature glides along in the same old channel.

The weather is very fine but rain is much needed.

Mrs. Charles Daniels, who has been very ill, is now able to drive out.

Mr. Norman Longley has built an ample and carriage house combined, which adds very much to the appearance of his place.

A number of our soldier-boys attended the parade at Bridgetown, on the 20th day of May, in honor of King Edward the Seventh.

Some of our "crack shots" attended the shoot, on the Rifle Range at Bridgetown on the 21st inst. Some very good scores were made, very few below 90 points.

Preaching next Sunday at Evergreen Hall by the Rev. Lewis Wallace at 3 o'clock.

Tupperville.

Arnold Kent is home on his vacation from Boston, also Miss Bessie Kent. Stanley Kent is so improved in health as to be around again.

Mr. Reginald Longley, Miss Cora Longley and Miss Mills were over here this week making calls among friends and relatives.

Clare Bent has returned home.

Mr. Smith, the photographer, has gone to Maine.

The Sunday-School was re-opened on Sunday last, Mr. Philip Inglis being Superintendent and H. E. Bent being Supt. and Treasurer.

S. D. James has been spending a few weeks grafting at Bridgetown, Clarence, Centerville, Tupperville and Rosette.

Mrs. Fenwick Inglis is improving in health.

Mr. Harry Potter, of Clements, has returned to this place.

St. Hanley

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Chute, from Bridgetown, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Z. Elliott last Monday.

Mr. Clarence Brown from Port George and Miss Nettie Banks of this place were married last Wednesday, May 11th, 1910 at Paradise, by Rev. L. W. Wallace. —Congratulations.

Mr. J. N. Hines has caught several salmon and other fish.

Mr. G. M. Durling from Springfield, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Berteaux the first of the week.

Port Wade

Capt. Abram Holmes has arrived home with a big tern schooner of one hundred and eighty tons, which he purchased of Capt. Strout, of Millbridge, Me. The name is "F. G. French" and is built of oak, pine and hickory and is copper fastened.

We congratulate the captain on his success as a dealer in vessels.

Mr. John Kelly, carpenter of Advocate, Cumberland Co., came here Saturday to work on the trestle. A few more carpenters are expected soon.

Mr. D. Hayden took a party to Annapolis Royal Saturday evening in his power boat. They reported a delightful sail on the river.

Capt. Keans is making a number of special trips to Digby each week by Ferry boat "Port Wade". The boat is open for excursion parties any afternoon or evening and is capable of carrying about seventy-five people.

Port Wade also is aspiring to great things since the acquisition of the D. A. R. by the C. P. R. people. What next?

Parkers Cove

We are glad to report that Rev. J. W. Smith and wife, who have been quite ill with influenza, are both convalescing.

Mr. Robert Gregor is seriously ill at time of writing. Dr. Smith is in attendance.

Mrs. Reginald Rafuse and baby of Granville are visiting Mrs. Rafuse's parents, Mr. and Mrs. James Young.

Sch. Wave Queen, Capt. Milner, sailed for the fishing grounds the 19th inst.

On Monday last Mrs. Mary Ann Hudson, widow of the late Capt. Elias Hudson, passed away after a few days illness of pneumonia, at the advanced age of eighty-three years.

She is survived by two sons and two daughters. The sons are Alonzo and Alvin, of this place, the daughters Mrs. Joseph Mitchell, of Hampton, Mrs. David Robinson, of Lynn, Mass.

One son and one daughter predeceased her several years ago. Rev. G. W. Whitman conducted the funeral services.

Sch. Ethel May, Capt. Young, arrived from Digby the 17th with a general cargo of merchandise for Capt. R. E. Hudson.

Sch. Minnie C., Capt. Robinson, arrived from Digby the 19th.

The sad news just reached friends here of the death of one of our men, Mr. Albert Coates, who died in the hospital in Boston. He has been steward on board of a large American vessel for years. No details have been received in regard to his death.

He leaves a wife and six children, two of them at present are in the West Indies. His sudden demise has cast a gloom over the community.

Beaver River.

S. S. Beaver River sailed for St. John on Monday.

Both doctors Lovitt and Archibald are pretty well used up with bad colds, and find it hard work to look after their patients as they would like to. We trust they will not be forced to confine themselves to their homes.

On Friday last there was a bad fire in Victory settlement, by which Aaron Dares lost his house, barn and several farming implements, also the barn of Stephen Kaulback, the Episcopal church and the school house. The fire started in one of the out-buildings of Mr. Davis. It is presumed it was caused by fire from a pipe.

Born to Mr. and Mrs. W. Romans on Friday 20th a daughter.

Mrs. C. C. Rice and son, Tom, of Round Hill, visited her husband's mother, Mrs. Cordelia Rice, for a few days, Mrs. Rice being ill.

There is a slight change for the better in the condition of Mrs. Cooper, also in that of Miss Beatrice Purdy.

Mr. C. H. Cooper, who was called from New York last week on account of the illness of his mother, returns to that city on Tuesday if improvement continues.

Mr. Walsh and Miss Godfrey are guests at the Methodist parsonage.

Chamberlain's Stomach and Liver Tablets will clear the sour stomach, sweeten the breath and create a flow of gastric juice, thereby inducing healthy appetite. They promote the good digestion. Sold by all dealers.

TERRIBLE EXPLOSION IN ENGLISH MINE.

Manchester, May 12.—One hundred and thirty-seven miners lost their lives today in an explosion in the Wellington coal mine at White Haven. Rescue parties succeeded in saving four men but fire has broken out in the works, leaving practically no hope for those who are still entombed.

Throughout the day the rescue parties made considerable progress at the mine, but their work was stopped to-night by the collapse of the roof.

MORE DEADLY THINGS THAN COMETS HERE.

There are people who are fearful that the comet will kill them, that are harboring at their back doors what which is a thousand times more dangerous than the comet, such as filthy closets, sink holes, cess pools, pig pens, and other breeders of deadly disease. There are people calling upon the Lord to save them from the comet that will not use the means at their disposal to remove pest holes from their doors.

If certain people wish to become more Godly because of the comet's visit, they would improve their efforts by adding cleanliness to their devotion, for in truth it is said to be next to Godliness.—Colchester Sun.

The ever-burning question, "What shall we do with our boys?" seems to be satisfactorily answered in the following advertisement, which appears in the window of a Farnington road butcher's shop: "Wanted—A respectable boy for beef sausages."—London Tribune.

A COSTLY BATH.

The Berwick Register says:—Freeman Bent enjoyed a most unusual experience in the form of a cider bath on Sunday last. Freeman had, by some means, gained access to the interior of the Vinegar Factory. While bending over the side of the large tank in which the juice of the apple undergoes the first changes in the process of reducing it to vinegar, endeavoring to fill a jug, which he lowered by a string into the liquid at the bottom of the tank, Freeman lost his balance and plunged, head foremost, into the fermenting substance below. His situation was a serious one. The tank is some twelve feet in depth and had but a few feet of liquid in it. Freeman found that by standing on tiptoe he could keep his mouth above cider, but the top of the tank was far above his head. He called lustily for help, though, from the secluded location of the factory, he had but slight chance of being heard. Fortunately however, for Freeman, Mr. H. G. Lyons, who was walking in his orchard, came within hearing distance of the factory, and noticing unaccounted sounds of splashing liquid and of sepulchral cries sought an entrance to the building and found it by the same window which had admitted the youth. He soon found the boy in his bath: attempted to draw him out by means of a rope lowered to him, but Freeman, who was nearly exhausted, was not enough of a sailor or an acrobat to make his escape in that way. Finally, Mr. Lyons secured a ladder which he lowered into the enclosure and Freeman was rescued from his living, liquid, tomb. The cider, about three thousand gallons, has been "run out."
