Woman Died From Paralysis of Heart in Spite of Christian Science.

Rome, N. Y., Nov. 13.-Coroner Nock, of this city is holding an inquest into the cause of the death of Mrs. Moses M. Davis, who died here under the care of Christian Scientists.

Miss Lizzie Moore, Christian Science healer and first reader in the Rome church, and Horace W. Davison, sec-ond reader, testified that they would give only Christian Science treatment to a person who was bleeding to death. Mrs. Davis suffered from a delusion. No physician was summoned or medicine given.

Dr. W. B. Reid, who made a postmortem on the body, testified that the immediate cause of death was paralysis of the heart. This condition could have been relieved by proper medical treatment and the life of the patient pro-longed for a number of years. Dr. C. A. Frost, who assisted in the post-mortem examination, corroborated the statements of Dr. Reid.

The inquest was adjourned until Nov. Berber.

"With reference to my telegram of the 10th, Col. Gough, with two squadrons of the 10th Hussars, a battery of field artillery and one and a half companies of mounted infantry, found about 700 of the enemy with one gun in position about nine miles west of Belmont.

A MISTAKE. "In yesterday's fight the Boers made their appearance near Carter's farm. The British opened fire with a Maxim, the enemy replying with rifles. By mistake our fire went down into the valley, killing a member of the Cape police and wounding another. They fired on a patrol under Major Peakman, which engaged them, but the firing was at long range. The only casualty was the wounding of Major Ayleff, of the Cape police.

"The enemy 'lifted' forty cattle northeast of the sanitarium, subsequently firing eight shells in the neighborhood of Felsmead's farm at Kenilworth. They did no damage and retired. Later they fired on a number of convicts who were working near the sanitarium, and eventually went off with a large num-

The ladies have letters which were received by their parents many years ago, when the General's father purchased for him a commission in the British army in 1864. His' first assignment was to the South Wales Borderers, and he afterwards served in the Zulu and Burmese wars, and in China. He was buried with military honors beside the English Church at Dundee. Some years ago Gen. Symons visited Rome, and had an audience with the Pope, who, on hearing of his gallantry and consequent victory on the field of battle, and his heroic death. wired his condolences to Lady Symons, and also celebrated mass in honor of the general's memory and as a personal recognition of his bravery. It is believed that the Boer retreat will be made over the Drakensberg into the Zouthpansberg district, where every preparation for provisioning and maintaining the Boers is said to have been made for the last stand, and where it will be difficult to dislodge them. Already it is rumored that they are in straits for food around Ladysmith, and may, therefore, abandon the investment. Estcourt advices say that the concrete beds have been laid for the machine shell guns, so there is no fear of the lyddite ammu-nition at Ladysmith having peen exhausted. TREATMENT OF BOER PRISON-

The government has received letters from Col. Schiel, the German officer captured at Elandslaagte in behalf of the Boer prisoners, expressing thanks for their kind and hospitable treat-ment. The Boers and British, he says, ere treated exactly alike. The colone! further expresses his appreciation of the civility and humanity of the Britauthorities at Ladysmith and Pietermaritzburg.

BOERS REPULSED.

Cape Town, Wednesday, Nov. 8.— News received from Mafeking, undated, says that Monday the Boers shelled the town. One Boer gun, it was added, was knocked out of action, and the Boers retired, were reinforced, attacked again, and were repulsed.
Tuesday they shelled the Cangan Copje, with little damage. Wednesday there was a general attack, under cover of the artiHery, but it was repulsed by the Maxims and Hotchkiss guns. The Boer loss was 50 killed. The British loss was slight. Thursday, shelling by a heavy gun, was renewed, and the Boers massed with the inten-tion of making an attack, but this was prevented by a thunderstorm. Friday there was a desultory rifle firing, and an occasional whell, but there was little loss of life, due to the excellence of the shelter in the trenches. The health and spirits of the troops are

SWARMS OF SHARPSHOOTERS. London, Monday, Nov. 13.-The war office this morning issued the following official dispatch from Cape Town, dated Sunday, Nov. 12-Noon.-"Col. Gough, at Orange River, reports that during the reconnoissance of fifteen miles to a point nine miles west of Belmont, on Nov. 10, the officers of the patrol first came on a Boer position taken upon a great semi-circular ridge standing out into a plateau. endeavored to make the Boers develop their strength by demonstrating with two squadrons of the 9th Lancers and a field battery on the left wing, with one and one-half companies of mount-ed infantry on the right wing, and with artillery in the middle of the plateau, with infantry fire. The enemy began by firing at our cavalry from a gun on the north end. As the cavalry, in open order, began to circle around them, the hills seemed full of sharpshooters. The mounted infantry endeavored to outflank the enemy's left in order to discover the laagar, coming under a heavy and unexpected fire from a few skirmishers. Our guns fired several apparently effective shots, but the enemy did not respond, having withdrawn with the wounded. Col. AT KENILWORTH. London, Monday, Nov 13 .- The war office this morning posted the following from Gen. Buller, dated Cape Town, Nov. 11, 10:45 p.m.: "Col. Kekewich (British commander at Kimberley) reports that the enemy were active on Nov. 4, principally with the object of driving off cattle. The Orange Free State troops retired rapidly before Col. Turner without firing. At 12:30 p.m. the Transvaal troops advanced on Kenilworth, Major Peakman, with a squadron of the Kimberley Light House, was hiding in the bush, and gave the enemy a warm reception. The Boers retired, firing, Col. Turner reinforced Major Peakman, and at 12:40 p.m., the enemy opened fire with one piece of artiflery at nearly 400 yards range. Two guns the Diamond Field Artillery were then sent in support of Col. Turner, but the enemy's guns had ceased firing after the fifth round. Consequently our guns did not come into action. The enemy's artiflery fire was not damaging, and his shooting was bad. Our casualties in the Kenilworth engagement were limited to Major Ayleff, of the Cape police, who was wounded. He is expected to recover. Later in the day pickets say the Boers carried off six dead from one spot. The total Boer oss was probably heavy, but had not been estimated by Col. Kekewich.

Hon. Dr. Borden, minister of militia, in the Canadian Gazette, thanks the Canadian militia for its prompit reof two weeks sponse to the call ago. The official statement of the minister is as follows: "The imperial government having offered their hearty congratulations to the Canadian Government and military authorities for the rapid organization and em-barkation of the contingent sent to South Africa, the minister of militia and defense desires to express his great atisfaction at the prompt response given by every selection of the Dominion to the invitation to enlist in the volunteer force for South Africa. The difficulty which he experienced was chiefly one of selection, owing to the large number of officers, non-commissioned officers and men who volunteered their services. He regrets the disappointment which must unavoidably be felt by those who were compelled to remain behind. He further desires to express his warm appreciation of the loyal support accorded to him by the officers of his department, both civil and military, and to congratulate them upon the extraordinary success which attended their efforts. (Signed) L. F. Pinault, lieutenant-colonel, minister of militia and defense."

PIANO WITH PEDAL ATTACHMENT

Being Built Specially by Heintzman and Company for the Ontario Ladies' College, Whitby

The recent annual report of the di-rectors of the Ontario Ladies' College, Whitby, tells of the continued remarkable growth of this well-known edu-cational institution. From year to year the attendance has been increasing, making at different times the extension of premises a necessity. This year all past records in point of attendance are beaten. There is reason for this success. The faculty of the college is such as to command the confidence of those most scrupulous of the education of their daughters. Very special attention is given to the musical department, both in vocal and instrumental music. In 1888 this college equipped their musical department with a number of pianos coming from the old firm of Heintzman & Co. They have been pleased to speak of the surprising purity, richness, and fullness of tone-quality of these instruments, were heavy. No details have been re- and in equally strong terms of their great durability. A few weeks ago they added to the original equipment three of the best upright pianos and one of the famous concert grands of this firm, and this week they further strengthen the musical department by giving orders for a fine upright piano, which is to be built with pedal attachment, so that it may be worked in the same manner as might a pipe organ. When completed the instrument will rank as one of the most select bearing the name of these well-known makers of strictly high-grade pianos. The Heintzman & Co. Piano is the choice of the leading colleges in all parts of Canada, including London Conservatory of Music, Toronto Conservatory of Music, Metropolitan School of Music, Toronto College of Music and others. Each of us is a little part of the grand mechanism of God's world. He made it bright and beautiful. He gave to some lovely faces; to others glorious voices; to each some gift to make the world more lovely and less sorrowful. Part of the world is called society, that is, the gathering together of men and women whose courtesy and dignity fit them for their positions; these meet under certain laws, such as: That each shall to his or her best strive to make time pass more pleasantly for the others; that each shall so dress as to make the most of the looks the Master gave her, in order to please the eyes of others; that each shall put aside their personal likes and dislikes, and deal with all with kindliness and forbearance. These laws obeyed, we call the men "gentlemen," and the woman that sweet and gracious title, "lady." Londoners will have an opportunity of seeing a good, hard, well-fought game of football on Tecumseh Park next Saturday, when the Nationals of Kingston play the London Juniors for the championship of Ontario. London has easily defeated the teams that have been drawn against her up to the present, but will have a worthy foe in the Nationals. Arrangements have been made for night practices, to be held in Jubilee rink next week. Coach Reid will work the team harder than ever. McGILL FAVORS A CHANGE. At a well-attended meeting of the McGill Football Association, it was decided that the present system of football played in Canadian colleges is not a good one, and a resolution was drawn up advising the general committee to dispense with the present rules and introduce the system of football played in England. For some months there has been a growing feeling among the rolleges of the inter-collegiate series, that the present game was not a satisfactory one, especially from the spectators' point of view, and that the com-paratively small attendance which has marked the games has only been the result of this, and would be remedied by a change in the game. The reasons for the change are mainly that the scrimmage in the Canadian game is weak, and quite detrimental to good play, while it spoils the appearance of

SEASONABLE HINTS.

Guard Your Health in Fall and Early Winter.

A change from warm to cold is always attended with more danger than from a cold to a warm temperature, hence the greater mortality from lung and throat diseases at this season of the year as compared with spring. The best protection agaist colds is not so much in extra clothing as in good digestion. If the digestion and circulation are good, colds will be unknown. Poor digestion causes poor circulation of the blood, and when in this condition severe colds are contracted on the slightest provocation. People who make a regular practice of taking Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets after meals are free from colds, simply because their digestion is perfect, the heart strong and regular, and whole system fortified against

It requires little argument to convince anyone that the best safeguards against colds, pneumonia and changes of temperature is a good stomach. Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, taken after meals are dissolved, and, mingling with the food, cause it to be promptly digested and assimilated; they do this because they contain nothing but harmless digestive ele-ments, which digest meat, eggs and other food even when the stomach itself is weak and flaccid.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets make people well and keep them well, and the best habit you can acquire is to make daily use of them at meals to keep the digestive organs strong and vigorous.

Under the Direction of Mrs. Trap To Be Set by Three Gener-Brown Potter.

Prince of Wales Will Be the Attrac- Lawton and MacArthur to Keep Him tionat the Chantant in London Next Saturday-All Yankee Performers.

London, Nov. 13 .- Next Saturday & most remarkable American entertain-ment will be given under the modest title of "A Chantant." This is the outcome of Mrs. Brown Potter's untiring efforts for an entire month. She is going to produce a very unique show of American talent, and success is already assured. The golden sovereigns are rolling in in waves. The tickets sold at a sovereign each, and whatever is made goes toward the fund for the American hospital ship.

I remember years ago seeing Mrs. Brown Potter at the famous Tuexdo Park Club acting in the cause of charity. She had gained by her amateur EX-PUGILIST BECOMES MINISTER acting a small fortune. It was not After being graduated from the Bap- only her acting, but her power of organization also, which had made her

She has not changed one bit since then. In this particular case the first clever point Mrs. Brown Potter made was to get hold of the Prince of Wales. It was His Royal Highness who named next Saturday as the date upon which the performance should take place. next spring to compete for English, Having got the prince as her star attraction, she bethought herself where to find a fitting frame for her picture. Sir Arthur Sullivan and D'Oyly Carte are the principal directors of that most luxurious hotel, Claridge. Mrs. Brown Potter won them over, and they gave her one of their gorgeous reception rooms free of cost.

This important concession obtained, Mrs. Brown Potter set about to look for talent. A hundred volunteered. The members of the dramatic world are nothing if not generous. But she would have none not Americans, nor who was not first rate. "So many have been disappointed," said Mrs. Brown-Potter, "that I won't appear myself lest it should be thought that I kept someone else out to make place for myself."

Privately, I think that when the day of the "Chantant" comes round, the audience will insist on hearing its organizer herself.

ONLY AMERICANS CAN BUY TICKETS.

But further, so as to keep it thoroughly American, Mrs. Brown-Potter laid down the law that only Americans were to buy tickets. They have so bought them in tens, in twenties and in fifties. The Prince of Wales, for instance, gets his ticket from Mrs. Potter herself. Now here is what Mrs. Potter herself says:

"There will be no recitations. Our programme has been arranged with a view to brilliancy.

"We have got the Belle of New York's chorus and solo, with full orchestra. The girls will appear in their private dress. Mr. De Wolf Hopper will appear in a Sousa march, and will give special songs. "Lady Hope, known to the world generally as May Yohe, will sing the famous coon song with which she captured the English public on her arrival here. She will wear the famous Hope diamond about which there has been so much written. HOSTS OF SINGERS AND ACTORS.

"Mr. R. G. Knowles and Mr. Eugene Stratton will appear, also the new prima donno, Ellen Beach Yaw of Carte's company, and Mr. D'Oyly Frank Lincoln, in a short story. "Miss Ella Russell, one of the best American voices, now in London, is on the lists, also Miss Maud Jeffries, Miss Elliott, and lots of other beautiful women. The Kronthal people have given the bar. Tea has also been given. Mr. Paul Arthur is stage manager. "The English national anthem will be sung by the united companies, Mr. Kerker leading. The 'Star Spangled Banner' will also be similarly sung. "I have 400 applications from those who are desirous of acting or singing. Pretty girls of the stage. Edna May among others, will sell programmes and little Union Jack-Star Spangled American flags, which latter will be held up during the singing of the national anthem. These flags have been given by the Princess Hatzfeldt.

FINE SHOW OF DRESSES. "But perhaps of all the features the most prominent is that it is going to be a great frock show. I have made a special request of several of the smartest ladies that they should wear light dresses so as to give brilliancy and cheerfulness to the scene. The Duchess of Marlborough, for instance, will wear white plush toilette. "I have got something, which I hope will be very pretty, coming from Worth's. My decoration will be quite unique, nothing but flowers and little satin frogs. "While beforehand assured of success, there is more than a probability that the Duke and Duchess of Connaught will attend.

"Another feature of the 'Chantant' is that Tod Sloan, the crack American lightweight jockey, will sell pro-grammes. His Grace, the Duke of Marlborough, will mix cocktails for all who want them. "Tickets for the entertainment can be obtained from Mrs. Van Andre, No. 81 Piccadilly, or from Ashton's, No. 38

cident was caused by train wreckers. It removed ten corns from one pair of feet without any pain. What it has done it will do again.

in One . lace Until Wheaton Can Capture Him.

Washington, D. C., Nov. 13.-In order to prevent the escape of Aguinaldo from Bayombong, Gen. Otis will send an expedition to capture Aparri, on the north coast of Luzon, and, after establishing its base at this port, the expedition will be conveyed in cascoes and light draught vessels down the River Cagayan and its tributary to Bayambong, or to whatever point Aguinaldo may have established his headquarters.

This expedition will probably be under the command of Brig.-Gen. Wheaton who has occupied San Rafael and is under orders to proceed against Dagupan. Before dispatching him to Aparri, Gen. Otis will reinforce his command, so that it will be able destroy any bands of hostile natives that it may meet and have ample force to crush Aguinaldo's army when it is finally brought to bay.

WILL CO-OPERATE WITH WHEA-TON. Generals Lawton and MacArthur will so arrange their forces as to keep Aguinaldo in the north of Luzon until

Gen. Wheaton gets in position, when the three commanders will bring their forces to bear upon the point at which Aguinaldo may be located. Gen. Otis is expected to send several "tinclads" with the expedition, as they will be useful in protecting the troops during the passage down the Cagayan. It has been expected that Gen. Wheaton's expedition would make a short cut across the mountain to get to the north of Aguinaldo; but Gen. Otis has decided that the wiser plan is to send his command by transports to the north of Luzon and to have Generals Mac-Arthur and Lawton guard the south. HARD TO CATCH AGUINALDO.

It has become evident to the officials that it will be extremely difficult to catch Aguinaldo. It is pointed out that with the long coast line of the island, it would be an easy matter for him to enter a small sailboat and get away, and naval officers predict that if he is captured it will be by the navy and not by the army. Three important dispatches from Gen. Otis were received at the war department today, showing the hard-ships and difficulties encountered by our troops in their advance and giving a captured insurgent dispatch showing a line of argument put forward to sustain the insurrection. The dispatches are as follows:

"Manila, Nov. 11.—Severe typhoons over Panay last two days impeded march of Gen. Hughes' troops; his column several miles north of west of Insurgents have abandoned strong defenses in that section.

ADVANCE IS DIFFICULT. "Manila, Nov. 11.-Lawton pushing troops through on Lupadimgan and San Quentin road; but country submerged; bridges and recently constructed rafts washed out and wheel transportation cannot move. As Others See Us.

The Louisville, Ky., Courier-Journal, Henry Watterson's great paper, is much impressed by the spectacle of British colonies rising to the moral and material support of the mother country in the present war. The Courier describes the enthusiastic scenes attending the departure of the colonial troops from Canada and Australia, and moralizes thus:

"No greater tribute could be paid to the wisdom with which the mother country has treated her children since the lesson which she received after her transmission which she is North America. tremendous mistake in North America. No colony since then has had cause to complain of unjust treatment or has been made to feel that it is not as truly a portion of the British Empire as Scot land or Wales. Whether in the frigid zone or in the tropics the English government has adapted itself to the wants and even the foibles of the people, and made them feel the inestim-able value of the British birthright. What it once was to be a Roman citizen it is to be a British subject in the nineteenth century. The feeling that the majesty and power of England are extended over every one of her hundreds of millions of subjects, and the assurance thus given them of all the rights and privileges of life, are things that Americans who have been in the habit of looking upon themselves as a little better than Britons have not a little better than Britons have not thoroughly realized. It is fully understood elsewhere, as is shown by the enthusiasm with which the colonists are hastening to help their titanic mother strike down the puny forces of the Boers.

"The lesson is an impressive one. It teaches not only that the Boers must teaches not only that the Boers must inevitably be overcome, but that it will be infinitely better for them as well as for the remainder of South Africa. Civilization has a great deal of work to do in the Dark Continent, and the best workers should do it. The English stand head and shoulders as colonizers above Germans, French and Portuguese, who divide the territory with her. Under them not only the natives will receive the largest received the lar largest possible liberty, but the Dutch largest possible liberty, but the Dutch themselves will feel the quickening influence of a higher and better civilization. The Boers may be conquered, but they will still be permitted to rule themselves, though they will not be allowed to rule other people. Their unprogressive, wasteful, tyrannical and corrupt government will give way to an corrupt government will give way to an enlightenment that will lift them into a higher plane of life. They are fighting now against their better destiny, but it is not conceivable that they will fight long, and it is to be hoped they will not."

No Bitterness Here.

The London, England, Times, in recent years, surely does not always represent the best wisdom of the English people. It is not always fair to Canada. In dealing with the latest developments in the Alaskan boundary dispute, for example, it refers to the lieved Gen. Buller will not wait to or-"bitterness" of Canada's feelings on ganize an army corps, but will conthe subject. In what has Canada been "bitter?" Surely, the stand of our Government has been characterized by the most conciliatory line of conduct. They made the offer, and have always stood by it, to have the question at issue settled on the exact lines demanded by the United States in the dispute between Great Britain and Venezuela. Is there any bitterness in maintaining the justice of that ous encounter of the war. If victory view, as Hon. Cavid Mills, the Minister of Justice, has done? Let the confession of representative leading newspapers in the United States be the answer. They concede that Mr. Mills has made a clear, calmly-reasoned statesmanlike exposition of the case from Canada's standpoint. So far, this statement has not been answered by anyone in the United States. Why? In our belief, because it cannot be answered. But surely, a firm and manly maintenance of Canada's rights ought not to be characterized as an exhibition of "bitterness" by a paper of the standing of the London Times. To adopt that view is but to give aid and comfort to the opposing forces in the United States, which are not for the maintenance of international fair play so long as they can obtain a selfish advantage. The London Times depends too much on prejudiced sources for a great deal of its information regarding the Dominion.

The Dominion Presbyterian, with publication offices at Belleville, Montreal and Toronto, has put on a new dress of type and a new make-up, and is a decidedly attractive-looking publication. And the matter is not less attractive than the form. The Do- generals. minion Presbyterian is not so much a technical newspaper for preachers, as a journal for the home, and in the latter respect it is very rich. In the last issue we observe, among other things, an interesting article from Rev. Dr. Johnston, of this city, on the recent Presbyterian Council at Washington, and a notable paper by Rev. Dr. Jordan, of Queen's, on "Public Reading of the Scriptures." The Dominion Presbyterian is on the right track, and is marking progress every

"Thou Shalt Not Chaw." TWoodstock Sentinel-Review.1

It is painful to see occasional unkind reference in Canadian papers to our neighbors by way of retaliation for cimilar utterances of the American press. For ourselves, we have not press. For ourselves, we have not found it in our heart to say any thing disparaging of the United States since we observed the other day that a millionarire in California had been sent to fail for expectorating on the of a street car. There is great hope for any people who will thus undertake the work of social reform. Some may think, it tyranny to interfere with the cherished rights and customs of a free people. But we look at the incident in another way. It proves what sacrifices our neighbors are prepared to make when they once enter on the work of individual and social regeneration. No one need be surprised if our versatile coustns should add a new commandment to the decalogue, in this age of change and surprises: "Thou shalt not chaw."

saulted -- Confidence in Gen. White Restored--Boers Realize That Their Time Is Short.

Innovation in Warfare-Results of Reconnoissance To Be Recorded by Telephoto Pictures-Russia and Germany on the Best of Terms-Blue Blood at the Front-Ironical Resolution Regarding the Mules' Stampede.

London, Nov. 13.—As each day and leave for a week to attend his father's ach week of the war draws to a close funeral on Wednesday. Lady Evelyn Orichton also has two brothers at or each week of the war draws to a close without a decisive action at Ladysmith, the probability that the Boers will risk an assault upon that garrison becomes, it is said, more and more imminent. It is claimed that the campaign has reached a stage where it is absolutely necessary for the Boers to deliver a telling stroke. Unless they decide to do this their only alternative is to retire within their own lines and strengthen themselves against the impending onslaught by superior numbers. That the latter course will be followed without first making a determined attempt to oust or capture Gen. White, seems beyond all reason, for the methodical isolation of Gen. for the methodical isolation of Gen. White's force indicates that the cam-paign has been carefully planned and the main objective definitely fixed.

GEN. WHITE UNDER-RATED. Even if the Boers have already discovered that they have under-rated Gen. White's capabilities of resistance, it is thought scarcely likely that they would give up their expected prey without a desperate struggle. Not only have they tasted of the danger-ous delights of victory and revelled, in anticipation of still further conquest over the main unit opposing them, but, now, it is too late for them to change the main objective.

BOERS DARE NOT MOVE. Mobile as are the Boers, they could scarcely transfer the body of their forces, which are at present concentrated about Ladysmith, to any other vulnerable British point without running the risk of encountering superior numbers, which are always pouring northward. Moreover, any weakening of the Boer force at Ladysmith, would give Gen. White a splendid opportunity of attacking, and he has shown no hesitation in accepting every opening for assuming the offensive. The Boers must know just as well as the British military authorities that 23 transports will arrive in South Africa before Nov. They must also realize that

THEIR TIME IS SHORT. for in the present emergency it is betent himself with ou he can dispose of. Hence, news telling either of Gen. Joubert's complete route or Gen. White's capitulation, it is claimed, can be expected daily.

MOST SERIOUS ENGAGEMENT OF THE WAR.

It is thought more than likely that the engagement understood to be imminent will prove to be the most serilies with Gen. Joubert, it will be a month or more before Gen. Buller can dispute with him the possession of Natal, for while it is still perfectly to send reinforcements Gen. White, it would, apparently, be absolutely impossible to assume the offensive were Gen. White no longer a military factor. The destruction of military factor. The destruction of the railroad bridge over the River Tugela would greatly retard the progress even of minor reinforcements. it would much more seriously affect the onward march of a British force of any proportion. is no reason to believe Lady smith has not a good chance to withstand the most determined Boer attacks CONFIDENCE IN GEN. WHITE RE-STORED.

Gen. White's ability to hold his own until now, and the reported success which has crowned his sorties have done much to restore confidence in him If Gen. Buller continues to send transports to Durban and disembark there, Gen. White will only have to wait about a fortnight before he is reinforced, or, at any rate, be-fore the reinforcements create a di-version of the Boer forces. CRITICS' FEARS.

Among the military critics, what is most dreaded is the possibility that Gen. White may succumb to the pettiness of personal inclination which in the history of the world has so often influenced the actions of the greatest On this score, the Natal and Military Record says:

"It looks as though Gen. White will not be content to await the arrival of reinforcements and the supremacy of Gen. Buller. But the spirited soldier who held a high command over the whole Indian army might be pardoned for being slightly influenced by pri-

The generally accepted feeling is that Ladysmith is not in so great peril as last week. This emanates from the partially renewed confidence in Gen. White and the lack of bad The same applies equally to Mafeking, Kimberley and other points. The popular and expert impression now is that these places and Lady-smith will not fall into the hands of the Boers.

REMARKABLE INNOVATION. One of the most remarkable innovations in warfare will shortly be tested in South Africa. Lieut. Foulkes. a young officer of the Royal Engineers, sailed for Cape Town, Oct. 11, to put photographs to uses hitherto considered impracticable, which, if successful, will revolutionize the methods of military reconnoissance. Briefly summed up, Foulkes' proposition is to indicate the exact position and formation of the Boers by means of telephoto pictures. He takes out an equipment of his own invention and is attached to Gen.

ARISTOCRATS AT THE FRONT. Among the Guards' officers, who are leaving for the seat of war, is the Hon, Gerald Ward, aged 22, son of the Countess of Dudley. He married Lady Evelyn Crichton, aged 21, on Tuesday last. Among other departures are Lord Howard De Walden who had ed as favorable to the empire and the licity given to his majesty's naval pro-on the way to the front. The Marquis of Dufferin has three sons on the Tranvalal border and in Natal. The Marquis of Tulibardine, heir of the Duke of Athol, who married a most beautiful girl, Miss Ramsay, two months since, also leaves with the Guards. The three Tecks, brothers of the Duchess of York, are already in South Africa. Lord Edmund Talbot, only brother and heir to the Duke of Norfolk, whose sister died yesterday, has gone with the Nineteenth Hussars. Two sons, neither heirs, of Lord St. Claire, of the oldest baronetcy of Scotland, are there, as well as two sons of the war secretary, the Marquis of Lansdowne, while the Duchess of Buccleuch has two sons and a sonin-law at the front. The Earl of Longford, married on Wednesday to the daughter of the Earl of Jersey, sails with the Guards for Cape Town. The Duke of St. Albane, brother and height Duke of St. Albans' brother and heir is in Kimberley. The Duchess of Roxburghe has two sons with White's force at Ladysmith. The Duke of Portland has a brother in Mafeking. The Earl of Durham has two brothers there, one being in command of the naval contingent at Ladysmith, where the Earl of Derby has two sons. Lord Edward Cecil, Salisbury's third son, is in Mafeking, and Lord and Lady Tweedmouth, Lord Randolph Church-ill's sister took leves the lady child sister, took leave of their only child today, the Hon. Dudley Marjoribanks. In fact, there is hardly an aristocratic family with a son which has not one engaged in some way in the warlike operations in South Africa.

CRITICISM. Criticism of certain unpleasant features of the army administration is still rife. It is beginning to be asked whether, looking at the present experience, the British army is equal to the national needs. Lieut.-Col. Sir Wolfe Barry, of the Engineer and Railroad Volunteers' staff corps, says: "In military matters Great Britain is tradmilitary matters Great Britain is trading with insufficient capital. She ought to add 100,000 men to her army." Mr.
George Bernard Shaw, in an ironic mood, asks how "Tommy Atkins" can be expected to shoot as well as the Boers, "when the nation begrudges the money to enable him to practice."
Lord Wemyss writes, suggesting that former volunteers be called out to join their former regiments for home service, as was done in 1859, when war with France was feared. "Foreigners would then see," said he, "that they have half a million at least of arme and trained Britons, plus the regular army, militia, yeomanry and volun-teers now serving. I feel very certain this would have a most sedative effect on our many foreign friends."

THE REPORTED TREACHERY OF THE BOERS. In discussing the reported acts of treachery on the part of the Boers, the Westminster Gazette's military correspondent proceeds: When an act, which must necessarily brand the perpetrator with infamy, is deliberately committed, with no possible excuse of hot blood or of the turmoil or confusion of a great battle, we are entitled to assume that such obloquy will not be incurred without some prospect of great and immediate advantage. What possible advantage could the Boers gain from the destruc tion by artillery fire of a number of refugees, whom they had just handed over to our charge, doubtless with the object of embarrassing White with a number of additional mouths to feed? It must also be remembered that these Boer guns—for the allegation is dis-tinct that the outrage was committed by guns and not by riflemen—were mounted at a great distance—probably some three or four miles from our pickets. Do not all these considerations point to the fact that shots were fired through a misunderstanding, such as might equally well have occurred on our side? So that without further evidence we ought not to convict the Boers of willful inhumanity and gross violations of the laws of war.

THE MULES STAMPEDED. The following ironical resolution was adopted at a recent meeting in East Mayo, Ireland, presided over by Michael Davitt: "Resolved, that we cannot refrain from expressing our approval of the conduct of some thousands of British mules in the neighborhood of Ladysmith, nor expressing the hope that some fitting testimonial be made to the common sense of these intelligent animals in following the example of British soldiers in running into the camp of the victorious Boers." Notices have been sent throughout North Cork calling upon the people to remember 1798 and prevent enlisting in the English army, which is treason to Ireland. The document sets forth that "Irishmen in the English service who have been sent to South Africa will have to fire against the Irish Nationalists who have raised Ireland's flag in the Transvaal, and are fighting for the Boers against the oppressor of Ireland. The Boers are making a brave fight against the tyranny and oppression of England. Let no Irishman dare raise a hand against them. In all the Irish towns and villages reeruiting sergeants are trying to entrap thoughtless Irish boys to join the British army." This document eman-ates from the Irish-Transvaal com-mittee, and the government is urged by the ministerial press to prosecute its authors. The manifestation of sympathy with the Boers through public meetings and the press in Ireland is bitterly resented here. English home rulers declare that such action absolves them from further adhesion to Cladstane's policy government. The press did everything to assure the czar a hearty welcome. The press dwelt especially on the fact that the czar and Emperor William were always exerting themselves for peace, and that the presence of the ezar at Potsdam on the eve of Em-peror William's departure for Engmoment when Germany had entered into a friendly understanding with Great Britain regarding colonial policy, was tantamount to an additional guarantee of peace.

GUESSES. 'After the czar's departure the press indulged in the wildest guesses as to what the monarchs might have agreed upon especially during the ten minutes in the mausoleum of Emperor Frederick, when the doors were closed and all others were excluded. The correspondent of the Associated Press earns from an excellent source that, after a silent prayer at the tomb of Emperor Frederick, they as silently shook hands and left the mausoleum. At dinner, when Count Mouravieff, Count von Buelow and Prince Hohenlohe were also present, an exchange of ideas on the political situation oc-

IDENTITY OF OPINION. While no specified agreement was entered into, identity of opinion was found to exist regarding present and future policy in China, South Africa, the Balkans, Greece and elsewhere. her relations with Great Britain One object of the conversation of the monarchs and the statesmen accompanying them, the correspondent is credibly informed, was the phenomenal progress of the United States as a weltmatcht (potent factor) everywhere on the globe. This subject is said to have caused a lively discussion, as the ideas on the subject by no means tallied.

SATISFIED WITH SETTLEMENT. The newspapers, with few exceptions, express lively satisfaction at the Samoan settlement. There is no doubt that Count von Buelow has gained tremendously in favor, not only with the emperor, but with people of most all shades of opinion. He receives the whole credit for the agreement. The price paid for Samoa is not deemed too high. All the papers, except a few of the pan-German variety, express confidence that the United States, as the owner of Tutuila Island, will prove a peaceful and accommodating neigh-

STRICT PRECAUTIONS From personal observation the correspondent is able to say the czar presents the appearance of a man in fair health. His motions and speech are rapid and unaffected. Of course, precautions for the safety of the visitor were of the most minute and comprehensive description. The train convey-ing the czar traveled only twelve miles an hour and stopped frequently while a pilot engine away ahead was ex-amining the ground. Detectives shadwed every step of the czar while in Potsdam, even when alone with the German Emperor in a dog cart which the latter drove through the park of jects, and it is strongly probable he will have to resign, though there is still ABOLISHES THE a chance that another truce will be patched up. It seems certain that Count Von Buelow will be Prince Hohenlohe's successor. The emperor is deeply impressed with the skillful manner in which Von Buelow conducted the Samoan matter, and managed Russia without giving offense tither to Britain or the czar, yet obtaining substantial benefits for Germany.

CANAL BILL RECONSTRUCTED. The canal bill has been reconstructed for another introduction into the diet. It now involves a total expenditure of 400,000,000 marks instead of 260, 000,000 marks, as heretofore. The new features include new canals, the Masovian and Berlin-Stettin, besides more extensive regulation of the Oder and Vistula.

ANNEXATION OF THE NETHER-LANDS.

During the recent visit of the Dutch queen, the idea of making the Netherlands part of the empire holding a similar position to Bavaria was discussed, and M. de Beaufort, the Dutch foreign minister, left a memorandum on the subject with the emperor. While nothing has been accomplished, it is within the bounds of possibility that an agreement might be reached. The projected customs argeement between the Netherlands and Germany is still much discussed. In the press the hope that it will materialize is generally expressed. GERMAN NAVAL PLANS.

The Vorwaerts claims the creation of a huge naval port-of-war at Dantzic is contemplated, and that a new torpedo station near Plenendorf has been planned. The same paper says as long ago as 1891 the emperor, while at Kiel, naval academy, formed the plan of making the German navy adequately The government press daily eulogizes the naval programme. The feeling on the other subject was voiced by Gen. Posen, who proposed as the motto of the colonial society "a first-class empire and a first-class navy." The emperor is immensely pleased at the accumulating evidences of popular approval of his pet idea. Still the agrarians, socialists and part of the freisinnige and a majority of the center continue to protest, through their organs, suggesting that the reich stag has become "a club of nodding mannikins under the endless screw of the naval plans."

"HEROIC" HOGS. The German agrarian press, in all seriousness, circulates reports that the hogs of Schleswig refuse to touch American barley, and the anti-agrarians report humorously that the hogs are of heroic breed.

The report that the end of the world will occur on Nov. 15 have been received with such credence throughout Germany that the director of the Berlin observatory has published an official

The emperor is determined to fight the Berlin municipal council's refusal to let him construct a terrace, twelve meters wide, all around the castle, razing houses in order to achieve this. Topeka, Kan., Nov. 13 .- The Rev. Charles M. Sheldon, author of "In His Steps," who is a bold and original thinker on religious lines, has aboushed the Apostles' Creed in his church, the Central Congregational of this city, and has decided to adopt one in its stead which is simpler in form and language and stripped of what he

A GREAT BOOM IN CANADIAN LUMBER.

Ottawa, Nov. 11 .- Prices for Canadian lumber, especially for common grades, is higher than it has ever been known before. This is the statement of a prominent Chaudiere lumberman. The Canadian and British markets are simply booming, and a further rise in the British market is expected. The mills here are getting all the export trade they can attend to, and prices are good enough to satisfy any lumberman. Business around the Chaudiere mills is being rushed just at present, so that all the sawing will be done before there is any danger of interference by anchor ice.

The Crow of Croup.

It strikes terror to a mother's heart to have her child wake up at night with a croupy cough. Child can scarcely speak, can hardly breathe—seems to be choking.

There is no time for delay—apply hot poultices to the throat and upper part of the chest, and give Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup—nothing like it for giving prompt relief-will save a child when nothing else will.

Mrs. Wm. Young, Frome, Ont., savs: "One year ago our little boy had a severe attack of inflammation of the lungs and croup, which left a bad wheeze in his chest. "We were advised to use Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup, which we did, and it cured him completely. "Now we always keep this remedy in the house, as it excels all others for the severest kinds of coughs or colds."

SUNNYSIDE CREEK

Mystery Surrounds the Death of James Rowe-An Inquest Probable.

The body of James Rowe, a man about 60 years of age, who is wellknown in London and throughout Middlesex, was found in a creek near Sadleir's Hotel, on Adelaide street, about 6 o'clock last night. The water was only three feet deep, and his head was almost touching the bank. His hat was found about ten feet away. Rowe has been working in the country for about a month past, in the vicinity of St. Marys. He came to the city on Friday and called on a friend, telling him he was going out to a raffle at Sadleir's Hotel, on Adelaide street. This was about 3 o'clock in the afternoon. Rowe had some money in his possession at the time, as he asked to have a bill changed. Mr. Martin Rowe, a laborer, city, is a brother of deceased. Two married sisters also survive, one in Wiarton and the other in Delaware.

The coming performance promises to be of a more serious nature. Foreman Hamilton and the aldermen of the fourth ward, will be the principals.

John Hamilton, of Thornton avenue, has been city foreman in ward 4 for the past three or four years. This morning he was suspended by City Engineer Graydon on the strength of certain charges made by Ald. Malloch and Ald. Graham. Chairman Douglass was greatly displeased with the engineer's action, and held that the department should not have acted in the matter unless the charges were made in Sup. 'A COLONIAL GIRL" TOMORROW NIGHT. "A Colonial Girl" will appear at the Grand tomorrow night. All the To-ronto papers spoke highly of the performance last week. The following is a synopsis of the World's criticism: "Go to the Grand tonight, tomorrow night or Saturday matinee, and live two pleasant hours in the stirring times of the revolutionary war, amid the gallantry of military officers, the rudeness of common soldiers and the romance that the old colonial days alone can arouse. See manly Howard Gould as Godfrey Remsen, make merry love to dainty Miss Grace Freeman, as Mollie Hedden, and with quickened pulse relive your own sweet story. Observe in the case of Miss Eleanor Carr, as Lady Judith Danvers, Godfrey's cousin, how a woman scorned may turn against a former lover, even to the endangering of his life. See how a pampered, flattered officer like Capt.

Lovelace, played by Robert Conners,
-may forget to be self-restrained, and in his unbridled self-conceit forget that honor makes a man. Go and be amused, instructed, edified; and you will be "'A Colonial Girl' is a pretty picture. It is staged historically exact. The play as a picture will last; as an addition to dramatic literature, it has but little to commend it. Nevertheless, there are powerful dramatic situations, which, though not wholly original, still serve to make the story fascinating. Nothing prettier has been seen in To-ronto than the first act, wherein Godfrey Remsen woos and weds Mollie Hedden. There is comedy in the play well sustained by excellent actors. In fact, every part is essayed with intelligence, while the whole performance is a finished one. Those who miss 'A Colonial Girl' do not know a good thing when it is in town. See it."

Uneasy Feeling in Shanghai-Rushing Work on a Japanese Battleship-

An Eastern War Cloud.

UNEASINESS PREVAILS. London, Nov. 13 .- The Shanghai correspondent of the Daily Mail says: An uneasy feeling regarding the relations of Russia and Japan is spreading here. There is no doubt that Japan is practically allied with China, despite the degradation which the empress dowa- in a wide circle. ger inflicted upon the Chinese envoys to Japan on their recent return. This was merely a tactful move, with a view of appeasing Russia. A large Russian fleet intends wintering in Nagasaki harbor, and some remonstrance by Japan is probable. Prince Henry of Prussia, the commander of the German squadron in the North Pacific, is watching the progress of events. He recently declared, in the course of a conversation, that the Japanese army was "in splendid condition, from the European point of view." The Daily Mail says: "We understand there is a censorship on cablegrams

JAPAN HURRYING WORK ON A

BATTLESHIP. London, Nov. 13.—Hurry orders have been received by the builders of the Japanese battleship now in process of construction at Clyde Bank to complete the vessel as speedily as possible. The new ship, which will be one of the wreckage up high. Three men the largest afloat, is to be finished by were in the caboose. One of them was taken out dead, another had one foot instructions are the result of the increasing tension between Japan and Russia.

> AN EASTERN WAR CLOUD. London, Nov. 13.-Amid much wild talk concerning the relations of Russia and Japan, the Times' Seoul correspondent writes in a suggestive fashion, which is worthy of consideration. He argues that there is going to be a great struggle in the far east, chiefly between Japan and Russia, on account of the trade of that territory. Practically Japan's only market is the United States, and this trade is destined to drop as prices begin to rise in Japan, and the country become more industrial. This being so, the correspondent argues, Corea is the key to the question. If Russia is thoroughly entrenched there, she will be able to watch every line of Japanese communication with the continent, cut off her markets on the mainland, and even menace Japanese harmony. menace Japanese harmony. But Japan has control of the peninsula, she will have a more advantageous position in the Yellow Sea than Port Arthur gives to Russia, on account of the unrivaled harbors of West Corea. Thus Japan, while vitally interested in China, must desire a disposition of Corea before there can be any settlement of the Chinese problem. If the Chinese matter is forced to the front, Japan will be compelled to hurry a decision as regards Corea. Herein lies the danger, as it is not likely that Russia will care to share her domination of the Yellow Sea with an inimi-cal country which bids fair to become a great naval power, while nothing will compensate Japan for the loss of the peninsula, which is indispensable to her, both for commercial and strategic London, Nov. 13.—The Times, referring editorially this morning to the speech of United States Ambassador Choate at the annual banquet of the Walter Scott Club in Edinburgh on Friday evening, said: "The American people are generous enough to like us better for being proud and glad of their sympathy, than for having given them our own. Now the British people, amid the chorus of depreciation and abuse from the continental press, find in the hearty approbation of a great, free nation, encouragement and strength of a kind which even ironclads cannot supply." Proceeding to discuss the bearings of the Samoan agreement, the Times remarks: "Both the English and American people will remember that in the very nature of things Germany can never be a friend of either in quite the same sense as they are, and ought increasingly to become friends of one another.'

A DINNER PILL-Many persons suffer excruciating agony after par-taking of a hearty dinner. The food partaken of is like a ball of lead upon the stomach, and instead of being a healing nutriment, it becomes a poison to the system. Dr. Parmelee's Vegetable Pills are wonderful correctives of such troubles. They correct acidity, the secretions and convey the food partaken of into healthy nutri-ment. They are just the medicine to take if troubled with indigestion.

THE SITUATION

The Boers' Chances in Natal Fast Fading Awsy,

London, Nov. 13 .- The simultaneous attacks on Ladysmith, Mafeking and Kimberley, which were opened on Thursday, manifest recognition by the Boers of the fact that every day lessens their chances of a successful onslaught on any of the three British strongholds. Gen. Joubert's chances of reaching Pietermaritzburg can be said to have vanished. This is already reported to be admitted by Col. Schiel, the German officer commanding the Boer artillery, who is supposed to have been largely the author of the Boer plan of campaign, and who, in an interms." But although the hope of accomplishing this must now be abandoned, there is no doubt that, from the British point of view, the general situa-tion in Natal is rapidly improving. As the cavalry and artillery belonging to Gen. Methuen's division will not have arrived by then, the advance from Estcourt may be delayed. But, if it is deemed essential to open communication with the beleaguered town at the earliest possible moment, Gen. Methuen, it is believed, may decide to replace the regular cavalry and artillery by the Natal and Uitlander mounted forces and the naval guns, in which case it ought to be possible to reoccupy Colenso and stretch out a hand to Gen. White by Monday.

WOUNDED DOING WELL. London, Nov. 13 .- The colonial office today gave out the following extract from a telegram received from the gov-ernor of Natal: "Lieut. Lethbridge, of the Rifle Brigade, who was dangerously wounded, Nov. 7, at Ladysmith, Lieut. Nisbet, of the Gloucester Regiment, and the wounded prisoners at Pretoria, are reported by a refugee to be doing well."

OUS. Lord Wolseley is not anxious respecting the conditions of affairs in South Africa, but most confident that the worst is over, and that Ladysmith will hold out until reinforcements enable Gen. White to take the offensive. He has been anxious, but not since the troopships have begun to arrive at Cape Town. He can be quoted as saying that Gen. White only needs to keep still and remain on the defensive until an advance column can be sent Mr. Parke, in conversation with Mr. forward from Durban, and that he has Boers from Lower Natal.

To accept the proposed change would, it is said, reduce the wages very materially.

It was perfectly dark, and the rags melt unpleasantly, but Mr. Bultitude was very glad of this second ark of refuge, even though he did bruise his legs over the broom-handles; he was gladder still, by and by, when he heard gladder still, by and by, when he heard a rapid, heavy footfall outside, and a voice he knew only too well, saying:
"I want to see the station-master. Ha, there he is. Good-evening, stationmaster, you know me-Dr. Grimstone, of Crichton House. I want you to assist me in a very unpleasant affair— the fact is, one of my pupils has had the folly and wickedness to run away.' "You don't say so!" said the station-

"'Bout arf an 'our since." "Do you know where he is now?" "I dessay I could give a guess if I give my mind to it." 'Out with it, Ing, now, if you know; no tricks," said the station-master, who had apparently just turned to go away.

"Not at all," said the doctor, "not at all, my good fellow; you're—ahem!—advancing the cause of moral order." "Oh, ah," said Tommy, obviously open to conviction. "Well, if I'm a doin' all that, I can't go fur wrong, can I? And, arter all, we mayn't like schools or schoolmasters, not over above, but we can't get on without 'em, I s'pose. ling whisper through the keyhole: "Are you all right in there, sir?" He's safe enough now 'orf on a pretty dance.
You didn't think I was goin' to tell on ye, did ye now? I ain't quite sech a cur as that comes to, particular when a young gent saves me from the 'orrors and gives me a 'arf-suffering. I'll see you through, you make yourself easy about that.

Half an hour went slowly by for Mr. Bultitude in his darkness and solitude. The platform gradually filled, as he could tell by the tread of feet, the voices and the scent of cigars, and at last, welcome sound, he heard the station bell ringing for the up-train. It ran in the next minute, shaking the cupboard in which Paul crouched, till the brushes rattled. There was the usual blind hurry and confusion outside as it stopped. Paul waited impatiently inside. The time passed, and still no one came to let him out. He began to grow alarmed. Could Tom-my have forgotten him? Had he been sent away by some evil chance at the critical moment? Two or three times his excited fancy heard the fatal whissound for departure. Would he be left behind after all? But the next instant the door was noiselessly unlocked. "Couldn't do it afore," said honest Tommy. "Our guv'nor would have seen me. Now's your time. Here's a empty first-class coach I've kept for ye. In with you

He hoisted Paul up the high foot board to an empty compartment, and shut the door, leaving him to sink down on the luxurious cushions in speechless and measureless content. Tommy had hardly done so before he reappeared and looked in. "I say," he suggested, "if I was you, I'd get under the seat before you gets to Dufferton; otherways your guv'nor 'll be spotting you. I'll lock you in."

"I'll get under now; someone might see me here,' said Paul; and, too anxious for safety to thank his preserver, he crawled under the low, blue-cushioned seat, which left just room enough for him to lie there in a very cramped and uncomfortable position. Still, he need not stay there after the train had once started, except for five minutes LADY ABERDEEN'S

HAY WANTED

For South Africa-Hon. Sydney Fisher Does a Good Stroke.

Ottawa, Nov. 11.—Canada, in all probability, will benefit directly by the probability, will benefit directly by the war in South Africa, as from present indications it seems likely that a permanent trade will be opened up in canned goods and in hay. For the past two weeks Hon. Sydney Fisher, minister of agriculture, has been acting at the request of the imperial war office as the 3 000 tons of baled hay purchase of 3,000 tons of baled hay for use by the armies in South Af-The original idea of Lord Lansrica downe, the secretary for war, was to purchase only 2,000 tons of Canadian hay, stipulating that the cargo should be delivered at Cape Town by Christ-mas day. On making inquiries Hon. Mr. Fisher ascertained that a firm in Boston has lately invented a new hay compressing machine, which can do the article up in bales that contain onethird as much again as similar bales turned out by the old-style pressure. Upon satisfying himself as to the ability of the Boston men to do what they said they could perform, Hon. Mr.

"Well, you see," went on Tommy, very slowly, as if struggling with the remnants of a conscience, "it was like this here: He comes up to me and says—your young gen'leman, I mean—Bays he, 'Porter, I wants to 'ide, I've run away.' And I says to him, says I, 'It's no use your 'anging about 'ere, I ada, so that the energetic minister of ada, so that the energetic minister of agriculture has killed two birds with one stone. Diphtheria of a most virulent type broke out in the house of Mr. William Anderson, con. 3, Westminster, a few days ago, resulting in the death of a bright little girl, 4 years of age. Another child, aged 2½ years, also exhibited signs of the disease, and Dr. Meldurm, of Belmont, now has some hopes of saving its life, although it is an extremely bad case. Lucan Sun: A very pretty wedding took place on Wednesday evening, Nov. 1, at the residence of Mrs. Jas. Hodgins, when her daughter, Miss Ida Kate Hodgins, was united in marriage to Geo. W. Hamilton, a well-known and popular resident of McKillop township. Mr. Albert Hodgins was best man, while Miss Nellie Hamilton, a sister of the groom, was bridesmaid. The wedding march was played by Miss Nellie Hodgins. The ceremony was performed at 8 o'clock in the evening by Rev. R. H. Shaw, of Wood-stock, assisted by Rev. H. A. Thomas, of Lucan. The maids of honor were Mabel and Lena Hodgins, the bride's nieces. There were over 125 guests present, and after dinner a very jolly musical programme was given, fol-lowed by dancing until an early hour. The wedding gifts were numerous and costly, thus testifying to the esteem in which the young people are held.

WOODBANK.

Woodbank, Nov. 13.—Several members of the Brick Street League spent a very enjoyable evening at Lambeth, where a social gathering was held for

In the Interests of Canadian Womanhood-Handbook for the Paris Exhibition.

To the Editor of The Advertiser: At the request of the National Council of Women of Canada I venture to ask you to draw the attention of your readers to the effect which is to be made to represent the life and work of the women of Canada in a suitable manner at the Paris International Exhibition of 1900.

Instead of arranging for a women's section, which but too often means disappointment and imperfect representation, the Dominion Government has decided to publish a handbook for distribution, which will give statistics and information regarding all departments of women's life and activities, and concerning the organization with which they are connected, and which will also contain a series of interesting papers, giving a general survey of the position, education and work of women in the Dominion.

The preparation of this work has been intrusted by the government to the National Council of Women of Canada, who have appointed a committee of arrangement under the convenership of Mrs. George Drummond,

The volume will be divided into sections on charities and reform, educatrades and industries, social work, professions and careers, art, literature, church work, Indian women and immigration, each of which will be undertaken by a sectional committee and convener.

In order to facilitate the work of these sections a list of questions has been prepared and is being sent out tario, dined at the Genesee Hotel last by Miss T. F. Wilson, corresponding night. He was on his way home from secretary of the National Council, to persons likely to have the requisite experience and ability for replying to inquiries bearing on the various departments I have named. It will greatly aid the council in its work if those possessing information which will be of interest for such a handbook will send their names and addresses (post free) to Miss T. F. Wilson, care Auguste Dupuis, Esq., Paris Commission, Department of Ag-riculture, Ottawa, before Dec. 1, and indicate the section regarding which they could furnish answers to our

All such help will be gratefully re-ceived, as it is the earnest desire of the National Council of Women to show itself really worthy of the con-fidence reposed in it by the govern-ment to produce a volume containing as full, accurate and concise information as it is possible in the short time available for compilation.

It will also interest your readers to know that the government intend to furnish an apartment especially as a Rest Room and Information Office for the use of Canadian lady visitors to the exhibition. I remain, yours faith-

New York, Nov. 13.—Word was re-ceived in this city yesterday that the revolution which was raised in the republic of Colombia last month by Gen Ruiz had been practically quelled. The Colombian seaports are all open, and navigation of the Magdalena River is free. The revolutionary army is said to be so broken that it now consists of little more than bands of bandits. In the battle at Nocaima, Gen. Fi-gueredo was killed, after which his forces fled. There followed several skirmishes of minor importance, all favorable to the government.

ONLY THRICE IN ONE CENTURY

Can the Great Meteoric Display Be Seen That Is Billed for the Next Few Nights.

Astronomers predict a grand meteoric display to be looked for within a day or two of November 15. The spectacle is such as is seen only once in 331/4 years, and the maximum display is set down for from midnight until down on the morning of Nov. 16.

"The heavens," writes a local astronomer, "will be one mass of fiery trails shooting hither and thither not by twos and threes, but by hundreds and thousands. So grand a spectacle is seen only once or twice at most in a lifetime. For hours the meteors will fall, and the sky will be criss-crossed in every direction by these flaming bodies. The geatest shower is expected on the morning of Nov. 16, about 5 o'clock, continuing for an hour or so.

"Similar star showers have been re-corded in the years 931, 1202, 1533, 1698, 1799, 1832, 1833, 1866, 1867, 1868. pland and Humboldt witnessed the shower of 1799 at Cumana, and Bonpland says that 'all through the display there was not a space in the sky equal to three times the diameter of the moon that was left uncovered.'
The showers of 1867—8 were best seen in North America. In all these showers the meteors seem to radiate from a fixed point in the well-known "Sickle This is known as the 'center' of the display, from which the flery bodies shoot in every direction, like great sky-rockets.

MOONLIGHT WILL INTERFERE. | ment plans. "Astronomers have agreed that these meteoric showers are due to a swarm of small bodies revolving around the sun in a period of thirty-three and one quarter years. The earth meets the swarm at what is called the 'node,' or orbit intersects the orbit plane of the meteors. By the friction produced in passing the bodies are heated to such a degree that they glow brilliantly. "A shower was expected in November, 1898, but only a few meteors were visible. The collision of the earth with the main body of the meteors will occur this month This year when the display is expected to reach its maximum the moon will, unfortunately, be nearly full and visible during the whole night, but if the sky is clear it is certain that a large number of meteors will be observed. However, the moonlight will certainly detract from the brilliant appearance of the larger meteors, and the flashing Leonids will have their luster somewhat dimmed. From the same cause the streaks left by meteors will appear faint, and in many cases may escape detection altogether. Nevertheless, the meteor shower should be most attentively watched, and it is probable that the sight will fully repay every effort made to witness it at the coming display. DIRECTIONS TO OBSERVERS. Observers intending to watch the display must necessarily take up a position commanding a good open view of the northwestern sky near the hori-zon before midnight. The radiant must next be located, being a point among the stars in the sickle-shaped group in the constellation Leo. When the radiant, or point from which the meteors seem to radiate, has risen above the horizon, the meteors appear to traverse long paths, but as the radiant approaches the meridian the paths are

-Toronto Star: Mr. J. F. Carling, of Ottawa, son of Sir John Carling, today identified a lady's gold watch and chain and a Rough Rider's badge as part of the booty a couple of safeblowers secured in the safe in his office two weeks ago. Mr. Carling also lost $60 in cash. A number of foreign coins which were found in Williams' possession have been identified as the property of an employe of Baju's brewery, Kingston. The safe in the brewery office was blown open days ago. The police have no doubt that Williams and McIntosh are responsible for several other safe-blowngs in Ontario, and an attempt will be made to connect them with the Bowmanville bank robbery. The men who cracked the safe in Bowmanville secured $10,000.

of Elginfield, died on Friday morning last at his home in London. The funeral took place on Saturday to St. James' Cemetery, Biddulph. A very sad feawas the fact that, until the cortege stopped at Mr. Ryan's farm at Elginthe family had no word of the death. It appears that an urgent message was sent, but for some peculiar reason the messenger neglected to deliver it. One would judge that even the most heartless or careless person intrusted with such grave news would make every effort in his power to deliver the message. As it transpired the shock was a terrible one to the relatives, and, being totally unprepared, the funeral was delayed for some time until they were ready to accompany the remains to the cemetery. Mrs. Ryan and family have the deep sympathy of their many friends in this trouble.

ENTERED MAN'S ESTATE.

A very pleasant evening was spent Friday, at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. C. Linnell, on the occasion of their son Arthur attaining his majority. During the evening he was presented with a handsome watch and chain and scarf pin from his employer and his fellow workmen, Mr. Stevely making the presentation, which was accompanied by the following address: "On this, the occasion of your 21st birthday, we beg to congratulate you on having attained your majority. By your pleasant manner and honest and industrious character you have gained the good will of your employer and fellow-workmen, who will be only too ready and willing at all times to help you in any way in their power, and as a token of their esteem they ask you to accept this slight testimonial, and trust you will receive it in the spirit in which it is given. When you look on it to see the time, may it reveal the many hours we have worked to-gether, as it will doubtless remain in your possession long after many of those who are presenting it have passed away. (Signed) S. Stevely, Geo. Winterbottom." Mr. Arthur Linnell, although taken entirely by surprise, made a happy reply. An elaborate supof any and a serious control of the serious c

Splendid Turnout of the Seventh on Church Parade.

Anniversary, Missionary and Other Special Services in City Churches.

The Seventh paraded to St. James' Church, South London, yesterday morning. The companies were well filled, and presented a splendid appearance. The officers expressed themselves deligted with the turnout.

Ven. Archdearon Davies, chaplain of the Seventh, preached from Numbers xiv., 9: "The Lord is with us; fear them not." The reverend gentleman traced the history of the causes leading up to the present struggle with the Boers, and explained to his congregation that ever since England emancipated the slaves in 1834, the Boers had been nursing a deep hatred for her, and ever since the conventions of 1881 and 1884 had been engaged in preparations for a struggle with England. As soon as Great Britain commenced to place herself in a position for defense, war was declared. The Canadians had gone to fight for civil-ization and justice and liberty. They had gone in a just cause that we might well pray for.

He congratulated the officers upon their battalion, upon its success and efficiency. He congratulated the men upon having officers who remembered practically the men who had gone to the front, and he congratulated both officers and men upon the position the Seventh holds.

While returning from the church the battalion marched around the driveway in front of Col. Smith's residence, and saluted him while he was lying propped up in bed, by the window. This was the first time that the men had seen the colonel since his illness, and they were all happy to see that he had so far recovered as to be able to wave his hand to them in response to their salute.

Before dismissal Major Little announced that the battalion would parade to the First Methodist Church next Sunday

For more than eighteen centuries the same wondrous personage had been lifting up palsied men into vigor and newness of life. But somehow we grew accustomed to the events of time, he said. The average newsmonger did not regard a re-vival in which 20,000 idolators became Christians as of much value. But if a horse ran a mile in record-breaking time, the fact was telegraphed to the wide world. Dr. Thorburn dwelt upon the primary and vital character of missions. No Christian could be true and not feel himself responsible for the conversion of the world. Whenever Christianity became in earnest it evidenced the missionary spirit. The nineteenth century had been full of activity. There had been monster strides in the uplifting of the race. "Judicial arbitration has worked wonders," he said. "Sixty wars have been averted by arbitration, and England and the United States have taken the lead in these bloodless conquests. the politicians and the yellow journals will only keep their hands off," the preacher said, in conclusion, "the dying century may yet pronounce a great compact between these two great nations, never more to lift up the sword against each other."

The collections on behalf of missions were liberal. The music by the choir, under the leadership of Mr. Wolcott, was excellent.

DR. SOWERBY ON "CONDITIONS FOR NATIONAL RUIN."

Last evening the Rev. Dr. Sowerby, of the Talbot Street Baptist Church, preached upon the above subject to a large congregation. In the course of his remarks he referred to the Book of the Law that had been lost for a long period, and that was found during the reign of Josiah. He pointed out the fact that it was good for kings and serfs, high and low, nations and individuals; that as it penetrates the inner life of man, so it arouses the national conscience, and is a gauge to statesmen. It is upon this law that all good legislation is based, and upon it alone can any great nation hope to prosper. There are conditions, then, for national ruin, and these all ensue from a loss of the law of God, in other words, the failure to recognize Bible and its teachings in personal, domestic and national affairs.

To lose or set aside the Bible would mean to lose the true knowledge of God. The "Rook of Nature" is the book of God, but it is only the alphabetical, the elementary, nature teaches us of the existence of God, his power, majesty and wisdom and omnipresence; but here the lesson ends. It is simply the kindergarten, and does not serve the higher needs of a spiritual being such as man. The Bible teaches us of God's character, personality, purpose and love. Revelation is not contrary to science and reason, but is an advance upon them. By this Bible we have advance chapters on immortality, sin, another world beyond; hope and faith are inspired, and man is led to take hold of God; lose the book, and you lose the true knowledge of God. By its loss all benevolent institutions would soon perish; love to God and love to man is a Biblical idea, and it expresses itself in permanent benevolent institutions. This is seen in the provisions for gleaning in olden times, and later in the life and teachings of

Mr. Jenkins' Case. To the Editor of The Advertiser:

I have seen, in a late issue of the London Free Press, a report of a difficulty between Mr. Hiram Wilson and myself, which report, I wish to say, is false in nearly every particular. It is therein stated that Wilson accused Church at London Junction, occupied me of beating him out of his job. The collections of the day were in aid of the trust fund. Rev. R. D. Hamilton, of Kingsville, preached morning and evening, and both services were targely attended.
