55TH YEAR. NO. 22035

THE LONDON ADVERTISER, LONDON, CANADA. TUESDAY EVENING, MARCH 19, 1918.

PRICE, TWO CENTS.

Let Citizens Tonight Give London Veterans a Rousing Welcome to Their Old Home Town!

Home from the wars wearing the badges of valor and honor! Home from the wars after hard years of unswerving service in the great game in France! London thrills today with a reborn pride in the men of the First Contingent and the other early contingents who held the line to Calais, made the night raid a fearful thing for the boche, swept through "impregnable" defences and without a whine or whimper stood up against the barrage, the deadly German gas, the bitterness of winter trench life! No men have given greater service to the cause of humanity, to Britain, to Canada, to London, to their homes! Citizens should swarm the streets tonight! Lights should blaze and bands should play! While the background of the scene may be dark with the sacrifice of scores of London's sons, the time is one for whole=hearted rejoicing! The city should make the day memorable, more memorable than when the few South African survivors returned to their native hearth! Welcome the veterans home again! Many of them must soon return again to the battlefield!

Into the Heart of Motherhood—

each burdened day brings throb or thrill.

Into your heart, Mothers of Canada, come the trials, and labors, and sacrifices of the Nation to be translated into its fervent patriotism and its heroic purpose.

To you the Nation is turning now in its day of supreme need and effort. A great share of Canada's mighty task is placed upon your heart and in your hands. The courage and inspiration of manhood find in you a necessary source of strength.

The mother instinct is the sacred birthright of all womanhood. Even the "little mothers" of the tenements are glorified with this tender, brooding spirit. In the mother hearts, young and old, that beat steady, and strong, and true throughout this land, is the real hope of Canada.

The mothers of France and England, no less than the heroic sons and fathers in the hartle trenches, are saving Democracy to the world. They are supporting their armies, and are making it possible for their countries to "carry on."

And now to you, Mothers of Canada, has come the same great task. You are giving it your time, and toil, and treasure. You have consecrated your best, and your all, to the service of your country. THE LITERARY DIGEST has told, and will tell again and again, from week to week, the growing record of your devotion and your service.

In some of the Provinces you have been called to share in the planning and administration of Government, and these Provinces will gain strength, wisdom, and purity in their civic life to whatever extent you shall bear your part with clear vision and intelligent understanding. In every Province, in every city and village of Canada, however, you are called to the largest and most vital part in molding the life of the nation, in preparing the foundation of future citizenship, in lighting and feeding the fires of patriotism, and in rendering the service to Canada and to its fighting sons which belongs to the spirit and heart of motherhood.

You need no inspiration for this supreme task. You have been devoting an eager spirit to it, with tireless heroism, for three and a half long years. You do need all that can be given you, by others, of co operation, and all you can gain, for yourself, by careful, intelligent preparation. The life of the world is complex. confusing, full of contradictions. You want to know the real facts and to have them rightly related and explained. THE LITERARY DIGEST is doing this for you, and you will find it your strong and constant helper. In the jangle of conflicting opinions, you will find relief and satisfaction in the unbiased presentation, in THE LITERARY DIGEST, of the opinions on every side of every question, gathered from thousands of leading newspapers and magazines throughout the world.

As the war pushes its way into your home, your kitchen, your nursery, your cellar, and lays its heavy hand on those you love and on the things you need, THE LITERARY DIGEST comes, also, to help you to understand and to meet these hard conditions, and it brings you special help in household matters prepared for it each week by the official authorities.

As your boys and girls grow, and go to school, and step forth bravely and hopefully into the great uncertainties and responsibilities of life, THE LITERARY DIGEST helps you to guide their reading and thinking into useful channels, to give them the equipment they need for citizenship, and to insure their success in the world. Seven thousand high-school teachers have adopted THE LITERARY DIGEST in their classes for all their pupils, and special lessons in war-time citizenship are being supplied in every issue.

As you meet with other women in your social, or church, or war activities, THE LITERARY DIGEST helps you to discuss with them all the big topics of the day. It helps you to inform and influence them, that they, with you, may understand and do a woman's whole part in the work of the new age. Already a million and a half women throughout the world are reading THE LITERARY DIGEST, and the advantage, in any circle, rests with those who have its helpful companionship from week to week. THE LITERARY DIGEST offers to every mother in Canada its world-wide service of information in all the things of business, of politics, of industry, education, religion, science, literature, art, home economics, and the happenings of the world war.

Substitutes For Wheat Make For Well-Being, Says Science

By DR. LEONARD KEENE HIRSHBERG, A. B., M. A., M. D. (Johns Hopkins University.)

Whether to eat all whole wheat or J. H.—Q.—What can I use to get rid Whether to eat all whole wheat or rye, bariey, corn flour, rice and the other substitutes is no longer a question but an absolute necessity.

Rice and rye are excellent cereals to be interchanged one meal every day and one day every week for wheat flour, but cornmeal may be exchanged for a good part of wheat in the making of bread, biscuits, rolls and other breadstuffs.

Wheat, to be sure, is richer in vitamines and proteins, life-sustaining and flesh-making substances than is cornmeal flour, yet the latter has enough of both, when mixed with wheat, to prevent any untoward appearance of physical distempers.

vent any untoward appearance of physical distempers.

Use Cornmeal Often.

There is a lot of oil and fat in cornmeal, which is conspicuous by its absence in wheat, but such fat is by no means the equal of cream and butter or any other animal oil.

Dr. Harvey W. Wiley, the pure food chemist, says: "We may safely assume that what is true of pigs in regard to nutriment is fairly true of people." The tests which agriculturists make as to the food values of any of the earth's products or livestock may be expected to serve equally as well for human estimates.

In the matter of cornmeal this has been found to be almost the same for wheat. That is to say, an animal fed on either wheat or cornmeal, if other foods are eaten, will gain about the same.

In cold weather, when hard, physical effort is to be made, as in military service, hard labor or athletics, corn bread and cornmeal might well take preference or a major part of the mixed flour in bread, biscuits or rolls.

for the entertainment of the last liste."

Instead of executing the graceful movements of the classic dances, Hippoclides jumped about and posed in the most ridiculous fashion. Instead of the admiration he had hoped to win he inspired only laughter.

Cleisthenes saw the expression of disgust which passed over the lovely face of Agariste as Hippoclides called for a table, and, leaping upon it, danced madily. Finally he stood on his head and waved his legs about in the air.

This undignified conduct changed Agariste's admiration of Hippoclides to dislike.

Agariste's admiration of Hippoenics to dislike.
Cleisthenes, unable to stand this shameless exhibition longer, cried out: "Stop, son of Tisander! You have danced your wife away-"
Hippoclides reluctantly returned to his seat at the banquet table.
Then Cleisthenes asked for silence, and addressing the suitors, said: "Noble youths, I am well pleased with all of you, but, since my daughter can marry only one, I betroth her to Megacles."

The young Athenian proudly accepted the hand of Agariste, and the marriage was immediately solemnized with all possible pomp and ceremony.

It will have to be done if supplies of the valuable foodstuff are to be maintained, and the sooner the Government realizes this fact the better for the dairying industry and the country. The excuse that the British Government sets the price it will pay and that Ottawa nnot override this is of no avail. If trouble taken to show the British Government that its price is too low to pay producers, it will consent to the necessary increase. It needs the cheese.

THE BIG MUNITIONS OFFER.

ANADIAN manufacturers have an opportunity to secure orders for airplane bombs from the United States, to the amount of about $50,000,000. Toronto dispatches say that on the platform. As time passes many women munition men, and several firms are figuring on the proposition. At the same time, it is said that about half the firms formerly engaged in making munitions have gone out of business because of lack of orders.

There is more to be considered in this offer than the possibility of getting the American cash and the reducing of the debit trade balance between the two countries. To fill such a contract it will be necessary to add hundreds of men to tain women to do all the work.

Can these men be spared for munition work when the agricultural needs of the country are so pressing? So far as is heard there are no unemployed in Canada who will work, and if this is so it means that men will have to leave other branches of industry to engage in the new work. Experience has shown that great numbers of munition workers are persons who have come into the cities from rural parts, attracted by the high wages. Therefore, it is to be expected that this will be the case again, if new plants start work or old ones are extended beyond their present size and capacity. The ones who leave the farm for the city will not be the young men who have been granted exemption to work on the land, but others over whom the Government has no con-

To meet the demand for food production the whole nation has been asked tation? to assist. Neither plan has proved a startling success as yet. Would it be wise to permit another call for men for other purposes at this time?

A large contract such as this offered Canada is tempting bait, especially when it comes from a country which can and will pay in cash. But the crops of Canada mean much more than $50,-000,000 and are more essential for the winning of the war than is this quantity of bombs. If the order can be accepted and filled without injury to other industries, it is, of course, most desirable. But if dependence is to be placed on women to do the work it should first be ascertained that there are sufficient willing and capable to undertake the work.

In an extreme case the city might be willing to come to the private citizen's temporary relief so that he would "break even" but its attitude toward assisting him so that he might show a profit would be unsympathetic.

In any event the company's requests will have to go to the ratepayers for a decision. The company is well advised to invite wide open inspection of its affairs, and to leave its open inspection of its affairs, and to leave its case to the fairness of the city. The tendency to ward an improved service and equipment has been noticed by many citizens. Publicity has been invoked to reach the public mind, and the city, which looks forward to acquiring the road at some time, will secure a lot of valuable information and education in regard to the system.

There never was a time in the history of the world when Liberalism was having as hard a fight for its life as today. The world war is being fought for Liberalism, for the emancipation of the world, for liberty, equality and fraternity.

The franchise in Canada has been from time to time extended. The last extension gives the vote to women. It was stated that giving the vote to women was the beginning of the fall of the Roman empire, but times have changed in every way since then, even if that were true. probably of North America. The crop is to be found in nearly every garden, giving immense yields for very little time spent on it, and is one of the first vegetables to be had in the spring. It is of great value medicinally.

The soil for rhubarb should be preferably a sandy loam, haying a southern exposure. It responds readily to applications of manure, and yet does well even if practically neglected. There are two ways of propagating this vegetable, by seeding plants or by division of the crown or root. If the seed method is followed, it is usual to buy the young plants when they are one or two years old. However, if seed is bought, it should be started indoors about the listh of February, and then transplanted outdoors when all danger of frost is past, usually in May. Place the plants 16 inches apart in rows 3 feet apart. The following spring these plants should be lifted and planted 6 inches deep, 3 feet by 3 feet apart. To obtain a rhubarb replantation by division of the root or crown, it is necessary to dig up old crowns in the spring or fall, and cut them with a spade, leaving one eye to each piece. These pieces should be planted the same distance apart as the grown outside, have a very fine flavor. hem half way and give them a lift for the rest of the Journey.

DEADY FOR ANOTHER DRIVE. The workers at Hyman Hall are still talking about their Great Day, and actually looking for another. It seemed as if the whole of Military District No. had formed their forces into a spring drive, and they nearly swept away Hyman Hall in their onslaught. But though the defending army were shaken, they were not overcome. They have cleared away the debris, filled up the shell holes, built up their parapets, enlarged their trenches, and they are still calling on the attack to come on, with their socks and their shirts and their hospital supplies, for they are ready for anything. That Friday was a grand day, and no wonder they want another. It's a pity the kaiser can't another. It's a pity the kaiser can't know about it.

The Wandering Jew Sweater.
Aren't you all dreadfully tired of those old stories of socks being sold to the soldiers at the front, and of funds being misappropriated, and of Red Cross workers getting salaries? These things have been denied again and again, with such overwhelming evidence from every quarter, that it seems as if nobody could believe the amazing tales that still circulate. And that poor old sweater story! Why, the Red Cross Society of Spokane, Wash., is struggling with it at this moment, and Germans are finding it a profitable story, for the woman who wants an excuse for not working will retell it for them and help on the work of the Hun. One never finds mothers with boys at the front telling such stories. They know they are not true, and they are too front telling such stories. They know they are not true, and they are too busy, anyway, to heed them. Anyone hearing such a tale from any source whatever would be doing a good service to her country if she would secure the name and address of the teller, and the rank and unit, if the recaller be a soldier, and send the same to the Red Cross headquarters, where the matter will be thoroughly investigated.

In speaking about their work, Mrs. Harrison of the W. C. T. JESUS MINISTERING UNTO BODY AND SOUL.

The bodies and souls of men are reaping a harvest of sickness, sorrow and death from the seeds of sin. We see evidence of this everywhere. The majority of this crop of evil 4s, perhaps hidden from sight, but it is our business to find it and then to do what we can to minister to the suffering which sin has produced. As well as doing this we should to the extent of our ability, exterminate the seeds which produce such a crop of sorrow. We cannot do everything, but room was a large tent. The first pickers arrived at the camp on the third of July, while the last ones did not leave until the first of September, some being present at the camp for the whole two months, and others being there for shorter lengths of time. The White Sox and the Cubs were the winners of the Harriers' League basketball fixtures played at the Y. M. C. A. gymnasium on Monday night. Neither of the victors were particuarly hard pressed and won their games by good margins. The Sox defeated the Maroons 24 to 12, and the Cubs won from the Tigers 18 to 2.

SPORT NOTES

De La Salle are anxious to have two officials in the junior final at Barrie tonight, but the Barrie management refuse to consider the proposition in view of the fact that in the first game at the Arena, on the larger sheet of ice, there was only one.

The Barrie team left for home Sunday after a four-day stay in Toronto. They were supremely confident of winning out, and some wagers were made by followers of the team to the effect that Barrie would win the round by four goals.

Fiat feet and a short arm were the defects found in Benny Kauff by draft officials who examined him a few days ago. Whether or not these defects will be sufficient to exempt Kauff from military service, or secure deferred classification, is not known. A report of the examination conducted will be forwarded to Kauff's exemption board.

Optimism was the keynote in the amp of the Chicago White Sox when he champions departed for the spring raining camp at Mineral Wells Texas. Toronto hockey followers have another treat in store for them as a result of the tie-up Friday night in the intermedi-ate O. H. A. final between Oshawa and Collingwood. These teams have proven and I had awful colds and coughs which we got by being in drafts. I tried a number of different remedies for us, but got no relief. I thought I would try Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup, and I found it a most excellent and sure cure. It gave relief to the tickling in the throat and stopped the cough, and with a few bottles we were all cured."

Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup is a remedy that has been on the market for over twenty-five years, and we can recommend it as being, without doubt, the best cure for coughs and colds that you can possibly procure.

There are a lot of imitations on the market, so when you ask for "Dr. Wood's" see that you get it. Put up in a yellow wrapper; three pine trees the trademark; price, 25c and 50c; manufactured only by The T. Milburn Company, Limited, Toronto, Ont.

In passing, it is interesting to note that Ty Cobb, noted batsman, is a great lover of the ancient game, but gave it up last year, as he claimed it "dimmed" his batting eye.

Thus we have the two masters disagreeing. Both are artists, one in deceiving the batter, and the other in "ruining" the pitcher. Ty says the "follow through" in golf is different from the follow through stroke in baseball, and that the perfection of one will be the detriment of the other.

AS THE STRANGER SEES THE NEW YORK CURB MARKET

The Curb Market Furnishes a Surprise—Transmission of Orders
Via Wireless—Pups and Wild Cats Defined—Get-RichQuick Schemes Naught But Delusions.

The mercury was hugging the zero point, and the intense cold caused a lengthening of the stride of pedestrians on lower Broadway.

My friend Layman and I walked down Exchange Place, crossed New street and turned the corner into Broad street, just below the New York Stock Exchange.

"An accident," he exclaimed, as we rounded the corner. "Or a strike. Look. What does it mean?"

He pointed excitedly toward two or three hundred heavily mufflered and coated men moving in small groups on the street. All, br at least most of them were moving their arms, running hither and thither and shouting.

"The Curb Market," I replied tersely. "Ever seen it before?"
"No," he answered, "nor anything that looked like it, except the 'rooters' at a football game. Why don't they go inside?"
"The reason they don't go inside is that there is no inside for them to go to. They are the Curb Association, and if they go inside they will be something else," I replied.

I was in for an explanation, so continued: "There is a rule of the New York Stock Exchange, prohibiting its members from transacting business with any other exchange dealing in the same securities. The same securities are never bought and sold on the Curb and the Exchange at the same time, so there any other exchange, prohibiting its members from transacting business with any other exchange dealing in the same securities. The same securities are never bought and sold on the Curb and the Exchange at the same time, so there is no restrictive reason for the Curb Market remaining in the middle of the street. There have been several attempts to house the association, all of which have failed, because of opposition from several quarters, including some of its members.

"The Curb is an open market, where anyone may buy and sell securities whether he is a member of the association or not, but provided his responsibility is recognized by the other brokers."

"Who are the men in the open windows—the cheering section?" he inquired, looking on either side of the street at the four and five-story buildings, the windows of which were filled with men and boys, shouting and signalling with their arms and hands."

"Those are the telephone men," I replied, not at all pleased at the prospect of standing there, kicking my toes and blowing on my fingers to keep warm, while explaining the workings of the curb workers to my information gleaning friend.

"Orders for stock are telephoned from the brokerage houses to these men, who signal to their representatives in the street the kind of stock to be bought or sold, the number of shares and the price. The order is at once executed by the curb broker and the result signalled back by him to the telephone map, who immediately communicates the information to his house. All of this takes almost less time than to tell about it. At each group of men certain stocks are traded in and no others."

"From the way the brokers act, I can easily understand why some curb stocks are called 'pups' and 'wild cats.' It looks like a mixture of both out there," he said.

"'Pup' stocks," I explained, "are new and untested, as the name implies, while the 'wild cats' are apt to scratch or otherwise subject their owners to damages—usually financial."

"Their curb stocks are not a safe purchase?" he volunteered.

"They are, if good," Isreplied. "But it is sometimes difficult to separate the good from the bad, Many stocks are traded in on the curb before admission to the stock exchange. Bethlehem Steel 8% Preferred, though not listed, was traded in on the curb before it was admitted to the exchange in October, 1917. Some well known good stocks like the Standard Oil issues remain on the cheap curb stock burns with the hope that his will some day be such a stock and presto—a new millionaire."

"Yes," I said, "but every man must learn by sad experience that 'get-rich-quick' schemes are a snare and a delusion." The penetrating cold and my friend's absorption in the unusual scene before him were finally too much for

"Next summer," I said, "I'll tell you more about the curb market if you're interested then, but now let's to a warm place."

"I agree," he replied cheerfully, "but I will see you again before summer, and for your sake, in your warm office."

THE MANUFACTURE OF CHEMICALS IN FRANCE AND ITS FUTURE PROSPECTS.

Too much credence has been given to a time-worn legend rumored about, tending to establish a belief that France finds herself in a state of evident inferiority when compared with other great nations, in regard to the manufacture of chemicals, and that she is, in a measure, dependent on the foreigner. An impartial examination of facts that have arisen since the war began, will, on the contrary, prove that France is in no way inferior to any other country as a producer of the raw materials required in the manufacture of chemicals. The various improvements made in the working and management of her 9,000,000 horsepower of hydraulic force enables her to amply supply her own works and factories. By making a reasonable use of coal, she is able to dispose of more than 470,000 tons of tar a year, for the manufacture of coloring matter. In regard to the production of sulphuric acid, the very base of chemical manufactures, the situation in France is at least equal to Germany's, being quite as favorable. Prior to the war Germany produced 411,000 tons of acid, and imported from abroad those stocks required for the manufacture of 1,200,000 tons. French production amounted to 905,000 tons, of which 62 per cent were obtainable from home sources. As regards chloride of sodium—the source of hydrochloric acid—chlorine and soda—the generators of soaps,—France produces from her saltmarshes, mines and works, nearly a million tons of them. The treatment of sea-water easily supplies her with bromine. Phosphates abound in French Northern Africa, nickel and chromium in New-Caledonia. Lastly, France posseses the best layers of aluminum in the world, as well as mines of lead, antimony, arsenic and iron-ore. The departments of the south, and her colonies yield large quantities of oleaginous seeds, resin, turpentine, and plants used in perfumery

The number of factories engaged in the manufacture of chemicals before the war has now been greatly increased, and special schools are training up, each year, 200 chemists possessing all that is required in the way of a thorough technical education. In November, 1916, the Compagnie nationale des Matieres colorantes was founded, starting with a capital of 40,000,000 francs.

Other societies have been formed, or have extended their sphere of action. It is advisable; more especially, to call attention to the founding, at the beginning of 1917, of the "Compagnie francaise de Produits chimiques et Matieres colorantes, de Saint-Clair-du-Rhone." The Societe de Saint-Denis has increased its capital from 4,374,000 to 7,000,000 francs. The Etablissements Kuhlmann have raised theirs to 40,000,000 francs.

After the war, French chemical manufactures, possessing such resources and plant, will contribute, in a very large degree, to the economic expansion of the country.

WILL RUSSIA REPUDIATE HER LOANS?

While Russia has threatened to repudiate her loans it has not been definitely settled that she will do so. Repudiation, however, would at the most be only temporary, as Russia sooner or later would want to re-establish commercial relations with the other nations. Russia also would want to raise new money, and as a discredited debtor would find this practically impossible. France would be the heaviest loser through Russian repudiation. There has, however, at no time been even a suggestion that the French Republic would not make good its obligations to the United States. All of the loans now being made by the United States to England and France are protected by the deposit of Government securities of the borrowing nations.

WALL STREET CONDITIONS.

The market is already beginning to reflect the near approach of the next Liberty Loan, as is also the money situation as the time draws near for the payment of the excess profit taxes. As time loans come due on stock market collateral, the banks are not renewing them on time, but are converting them into call loans. The ruling rate on money for some time now has been around 6 per cent, and would doubtless be considerably higher were it not for the Bankers' Money Committee, which is equipped with $200,000,000, and has power to control much more if occasion arises. Under these circumstances coupled with the fact that the total amount already provided for, out of the money market since November 30 for payment in the Government, amounts to $3,156,000,000, it is not reasonable to expect any violent changes in prices of stocks on the upward trend, but it is none the less clear that there is plenty of money in the country as is evidenced by the continuous transfer of good dividend paying stocks to individual owners. Many of these investors began buying stocks on margin and through the partial payment plan are paying for the stocks in full and taking them out of the market altogether, all of which greatly strengthens the situation of those left. The market has much inherent strength just now, and while adverse war news and domestic money requirements to meet the demands of present war activities may tighten the money market somewhat, there is nothing for holders of good reliable stocks to fear. The operations, which made these stocks of present and much higher values, still continue, and in many cases, with increased earning capacity. The railroad bill has passed, and the dividends of the last three years on railroad stocks are assured to holders, until eighteen months after the war closes. These securities are safe and are good earners at present prices.

Let Us Have Facts and Fairness.

Scores of Cities Grant Increased Fares

THE CHEAPEST FARES IN AMERICA—That, reliable statistics show, London has always been given by the London Street Railway.

We have never been paid, nor have we asked, as much as other railways, in other cities, great and small. Now even railways which collected higher fares in normal times have found those fares insufficient for present-day abnormal strains.

From Bangor, Maine, or Boston, to Bartlesville, in Oklahoma from Port Arthur, Canada, or Puget Sound, to Pen Yan or Petaluma California, they have asked, and have been granted, higher fares.

Atlantic City, Cleveland, Chicago, Seattle, Toledo, Albany and Syracuse, Indianapolis, Lexington, Scranton, Portland—whether in Maine or Oregon—Fort Worth, in Texas or Seattle, in Washington street railways here, there and everywhere, ONE HUNDRED AND FORTY OF THEM, in Canada and the United States, have been given relief.

Fifty-six of them sent up rockets for help before the end of 1916—and the people helped them. Eighty-four more threw up the sponge in 1917—and they were aided. They couldn't live on the fares they got.

BUT THEIR FARES THEN WERE HIGHER THAN OURS

We have fought with our backs to the wall, longer than most of them and against greater odds. We are not asking for big things; we are not asking for as much as is paid elsewhere, Too great an increase would actually hurt us.

But we do appeal for fair play,
We are up against it. We can't make ends meet, and the future is menacing. We, to give an efficient service, must have a sufficient revenue.

An Old Friend with a New Name

ONG before Labatt's Brews come to the fermenting tuns, they have passed through the processes which give them the flavor, the body, the tonic quality which has made the old style Labatt's Ale, Canada's favorite for over eighty years.

Old London Brew, the new brew which Labatt's will put on the market at Easter time, is made with the same ingredients, with the same care and skill and by the same processes as the ale you have known and used for so many years.

W. Scarrow and others addressed the council, explaining that while they were grateful for what had been done, somewhat more was necessary to make the breakwater safe. They suggested that a sum amounting to $2.700, covered by debentures be utilized in making certain weak places permanently safe, and that city refuse be dumped on the breakwater from Oxford to Dundas streets, to build it up two or three feet. The matter was sent to the board of works with a request that

A CHANCE TO MAKE A MAN.
To the Editor of The Advertiser:
Your paper has had many fine fearless editorials during the last few months, but none more worthy of praise than the one in today's issue on "A Harsh Sentence."

Canada has been guilty of many national crimes, but none greater than this, if she allows his young man to languish for five years behind prison walls to complete the criminal education now just begun, and then emerge wholly unfitted to take his place in the new social order which will have then developed. This young man under proper treatment will be worth much more to the state and to society than all the wealthy rascals who have been stealing banks and railroads and robbing the public of millions, but wo have never seen inside a prison wall. He may become a man, and men, not wealthy rascals, is what the state needs now, and will need in the years to come. Something must be done to correct this mistake. Don't let the matter drop.

Real Competitors.

"The real competitors of the London merchants today are the big city stores, specialty and departmental, and the mail order houses. These competitors are thoroughly organized, reaching out after business all the time and figuring the cost of business closely."

Referring to the four distinctive types of stores of the present day, the specialty, in which special lines of goods are sold, the departmental, the mail order, and the chain of stores, Mr. Stockdale emphasized the fact that management in all cases is the great factor in success. "I have never looked at a job yet which looked anything like as great as the retail merchant's," he
