IN PROPUSEU ONTARIO MERGER TO CONTROL BREAD TRADE

Weston Company, of Toronto, Is Said To Be Behind Scheme---Hamilton Firms Are Said to Have Already Sold Out---Deal Is To Be Completed on August 1st.

[Special to The Advertiser.] .
Hamilton, July 5.—The new bread bylaw, which became operative on July 1, standardizing the weight of bread, may result in a consolidation of a number of the largest bakeries in the province. Negotiations, it is understood, have been pending for several weeks and according to a report here several prominent firms in Hamilton, Toronto, London and Ottawa, are interested in a deal which will almost give them control of the bread market in four of the largest cities of Ontario.

BEHIND THE SCHEME. The Weston Company, of Toronto, is rumored to be, the moving spirit behind the scheme. It was reported here today that the William Lees Company, the largest bread manufacturers in Hamilton, have already sold out, and that options have been secured on a number of other places. Mr. Lees refused to discuss the matter.

Rumor has it that the deal is to be completed by Aug. 1. THE POLICY.

The policy of the merger, it is said, will be to get things on a smooth working basis in the larger cities and then reach out for the business in With the cost of labor and operating expenses steadily increasing, the bakers say they have to take some action to protect themselves. A consolidation, such as spoken of, would give the big dealers a marked advantage over their smaller competitors in the purchasing of flour and other

SOME ALARM.

The merger is viewed with some alarm here, as it is feared it will result in increased prices. Hamilton led in the movement for legislation standardizing the weight of bread, and the bakers say that if it works against the interests of the people the city council is to blame. Already many people here have begun to bake their own bread, because the fancy loaves sold by the bakers are not much larger than buns.

ABSORB TWO BAKERIES.

It is stated that at least two London bakeries will be affected by merger of Canadian Bakeries, which is being formed, and which it is expected will be complete by Aug. 1.

The plants of Parnell and Johnston Bros. will in all probability taken over by the bread trust, and run by them. Inquiry today elicited the information that negotiations are on at the present time, and that is expected that they will be complete in the course of a few days. ONLY LARGER FIRMS As far as can be learned none of the smaller bakeries have been proached to enter the combination. Several stated to The Advertiser that if they could sell out at any reasonable figure they would gladly do so, as conditions at the present time are far from satisfactory. In regard to the new bread bylaw bakers state that they will sell either a. 12-ounce loaf of fine quality for five cents, or a 20-ounce loaf of fries ordinary quality, at the same price. "We would, if we could, gladly sell a 16-ounce loaf of fine quality, as we have been doing," said one man, "But we can't do that under the new law, and we can't afford to sell a pound and a half of that quality for five cents, INSPECTOR SULLIVAN so we will sell the smaller loaf."

Other bakers are putting out various sized loafs, such as 12-ounce, 12ounce and 24-ounce, all varying in quality.

REAL ESTATERS THREATEN.

The Real Estate Owners, who took such an active part in supporting The Real Estate Owners, who took such an active part in supporting the Miller bread bill, declare that if any attempt is made to raise the prices Separate School Official Speaks of bread to six cents, they will bring in English bakers and start a municipal bakeshop. We are in touch with some English bakers now," said one member

"They would gladly come to Canada and set up business. We have figures which show that in places all around London bread is being sold cheaper than it is in this city, and there is no reason why it should not be sold as

Mr. Joseph Johnston was out of the city today, and the report that negotiations were going on for the taking over of the bakery could not be confirmed, as those at the office stated that they could say nothing until Mr

The matter will likely be referred to a committee, when a recommendation along that line will be adopted. Inspector Edwards is in favor of medical and dental inspection, and has insisted upon the appointment of a nurse to look after the general health of the children of the public schools.

"Such a nurse is a necessity," declared Inspector Edwards. "We should look well after the physical health of the pupils in our schools. It is our first duty."

Mayor and Aldermen Regard the Move as a Serious One for the City-Ald. Morgan Said "Accept It."

The Bell Telephone Company were given permission by the city council last night to lay their wires underground on Dundas and Richmond streets, as well as on a few outside streets.

There was a lively debate, in which some little heat was displayed, and the motion to give the company the right was carried on the casting vote of Mayor Beattie.

Commissioner Phil Pocock was present and urged the council to refuse the company the permission to use the streets until such a time as the commissioners were given an opportunity to take up the question of joint conduits with the Bell Company. He dealt with the objections made by the company that the use of joint ducts Use of Ducts.

Mr. Pocock read a letter from the head engineer of Baltimore, in which the latter stated that a large number of companies used these ducts, and there was no danger. As high as 13,-000 volts were carried alongside telephone wires, but there was no danger. So far as London was concerned they would carry but 2,300 volts. "We have carried out to the letter the system of conduit construction in vogue in Baltimore," declared Mr. Pocock. "There can be no objection on the part of the company to the conduit for both the city and themselves. It will be a distinct advantage to us, and will lessen the cost to the company. The cost of construction work will be reduced a great deal."

No Competition.

Mr. Pocock stated that the underground system was defeated by the citizens last year because it did not provide for all wires to go under-

'At the end of three years there will be no possibility of any other company coming in here to compete with the Bell," he declared. "In Toronto the company paid a rental, as they do here, until they got their wires underground, and then they told the city that they would pay nothing.
The situation will be exactly the same here. An ounce of prevention is worth pound of cure." Ald. Saunders wanted to know if the elegraph companies had come in yet, out Commissioner Pocock informed nim that while they had not yet come n, they would probably do so. "Will the city furnish ducts in other streets where the Bell Company need them?" asked Ald. Richter. "Oh, yes, I think so," answered Mr. necessity I think the commissioners pany merely wanted to extend their facilities on Dundas and Richmond streets. They had conduits enough at he present time, but they considered that when the streets were being torn up it would be a good time to increase their number for future use.

Manager Beard pointed out that they were blocked in the north end for service lines, and it was necessary to lay underground work. It would be eighteen or twenty years before the city would go into this work.

"If you do not furnish us the facilities to increase our service system, you cannot expect us to live up to our agreement to give service to your cit-zens," declared Mr. Beard.

Ald. Richter asked Mr. Beard if the company would come in if the city provide conduits in the outlyng districts, and Mr. Beard thought they would not, as they were doing

Engineer Roberts was brought in and stated to the council that it was perfectly feasible to place all wires in the same conduit system.

Ald. Pocock then moved that the company be asked to take up the question of joint conduits with the water commissioners. Ald. Tancock seconded the motion, but as he moved the report of the board of works, Mayor Beattie ruled that he had no right to cond the amendment.

Twenty Years Late. "The only equitable way out of this natter is for the city to purchase the ompany's ducts, and lay another sysem beside them, and charge a rental," said Ald. Saunders. "We are 20 years late in this matter."

"Will you abandon your present sysem, and come with the city?" Ald-Richter asked Mr. Beard. "No, we certainly will not," he answered. "As for future new work that for our engineering staff to decide.' Mayor Beattie spoke on the subject some warmth.

"It is a matter of honor with me," declared. "We made an agreement with the company, and we should keep We understood it, and so did the mpany. It is dishonest business to et out of an agreement on a techhat the company may use ducts, and the agreement implies that. I have no desire to befriend the company, but I do believe in fair treatment. the commissioners laying ducts, I think that is entirely out of the question. The recommendation that came from the commissioners to lay this matter wedded state must come before the over is not unanimous. In fact, it has not a majority vote. Two of the commissioners are in favor, and the other two are against it."

"What about Chairman McMahen?" sked Commissioner Pocock. "He was sick and was not at the meeting." answered his worship.

a long string of autobiographical am speaking of those at the meeting. I think the whole proposition is absurd. I think we are acting most unfairly for it. I want to go on record as objecting to the report of the water

Send It to Solicitor.

Ald Richter then moved in amendment to the amendment that the application of the company be referred to City Solicitor Meredith for his opinranged, the liver and the kidneys congested causing numerous diseases. The ion as to the effect of granting the stomach and liver must be restored to a healthy condition and Chamberlain's feet the city's rights to the streets in future, and that he be instructed to stomach and Liver Tablets can be depended upon to do it. Prize-fighting has probably made its last stand on American soil. It was driven from San Francisco, the least respectable of the great cities, to the most shameless town of the continent, and it will be driven from there shortly by a state law. Mankind will lose nothing of profit to anyone except the bruisers themselves. The fight to a finish is debasing as a sport or a spectacle.

NEWSPAPERS AND A CRITIC.

Mr. E. Norman Smith, of the Ottawa Free Press, replies effectively to One of Dr. McPhail's complaints is newspapers rely too much on United States news channels, which give the news a Yankee color and flavor. The Canadian newspapers have had no alternative. The Associated Press, the world's greatest newsgatherer, is a United States enterprise, and naturally its dispatches are adapted to United ago. States newspapers and readers, the Canadian press forming a very small portion of its enormous clientele. All negro of brains, will be remembered the Canadian daily newspapers are dependent were it, or upon a minor brawn, is forgotten. Dr. McPhail, to give a sample of his eriticism, objects to the publication of the short interview a Canadian correspondent had with Mr. Roosevelt, in which he said. "I swear by Canada." He calls it a "touch which would delight the heart of an American editor, who is concerned above all else in giving to his story what he calls 'human interest." Mr. Smith comments on this pertinently:

"Would Dr. McPhail eliminate the 'human interest' altogether? There is probably not a man on earth who does not think he could run the newspaper he reads regularly better than the editor. But these critics of the village newspaper. just as I knew it would!" forget that a newspaper is constructed for a multitude of people, with varying tastes and differing education. Dr. McPhail probably likes to read the London Times. Its solid editorials, its professional discussions, its news articles dealing with ponderous subjects, its elimination of the 'human interest' story, and its absolute lack of even the color sensation, appeal to him. But forgets that a paper published on the lines of the London Times could not sion. last a year in Canada."

It might be added that the majority of the readers of Canadian papers wduld be repelled by the publication of much of the "news" appearing in even the London Times. The evidence of the divorce court is published in the Times and all the leading British journals in unblushing detail. It has no scare headlines, but it is often as filthy as anything in the yellowest journals of the United States. Certainly there is nothing in Canadian iournalism so offensiva

TWO USEFUL MANUALS.

The London Times has supplied a want by issuing a Canadian "Who's Who." The last issue of Morgan's was the most complete thing of the kind, is over ten years old. The Times' Who's Who is smaller than Morgan's, but it is up-to-date, and covers about 1,500 names of prominent Canadians. Omissions are inevitable in the first volume, but these may be repaired in future publications. It is to be hoped the Canadian Who's Who will be issued regularly-if possible, annually. A welcome visitor is the Canadian Annual Review, now in its ninth year This is the only yearly compendium of Canadian history. The editor, Mr. J. The Globe.

As A Newspaper

"I. F. W.'s letters are all right," says the Goderich Signal, in referring to the London, Eng., correspondence of The Globe. Quite so. That is why "I. F. W." is acting as The Globe's correspondent in the heart of the empire. If his correspondence was not worthy the commendation of the contemporary mentioned it would not be finding a place in The Globe.

Affairs in Britain at the present time are in such a state that a correspondent who did not know them at first hand, and to whom sources of reliable information were not open, would be worse than useless. Those who have not previously taken an interest in British politics would do well to read these letters.

As An Advertising Medium

The Globe has been said to be "sixty years young." As an advertising medium it is true that the growth of The Globe lately has been very much like that of a healthy bounding boy. Few mediums on the continent can show such phenomenal increases in advertising earnings as The Globe has shown during the past few years.

This applies to advertising of all descriptions-store, trade mark, and condensed. More and more Canada's National Newspaper is being recognized as the one outstanding indispensable medium in a Canadian advertising campaign.

The menu has a rather meagre, air about the first two meals, but then so have our appetites; so let us break with tradition, and not offer what we imagine someone else might think we thought they thought we ought to have, but what we actually know to be a healthful meal. For the very young a well-boiled cereal with milk or cream is always acceptable at at dinner, cut off the tough end, boil in salted water twenty minutes before adding the tips, boil until the latter are tender; strain, cool, chill and serve with sauce Tartare, which is a mayonnaise with the addition of a few chopped gherkins and capers, with sometimes minced parsley.

For the pie, line a pie plate with rich paste, prick and bake in a quick oven. Fill with a custard made by beating to a cream three egg yolks, with one cup of granulated sugar, add the unbeaten whites of two eggs, and whip light; add the grated juice rind of three lemons, and a tablespoonful of butter: cook in a double boiler. Use the white of the remaining egg for the meringue on top. Rich, but delicious.

The Hausa sergeant was puzzled in more ways than one. He heard his officer talking English to an Arab, he heard the unmistakable crackling of rifles fully equal to those with which he and the others were armed, and he was unable to account for the delay in the attack. Enjoining on his men the necessity of keeping well within the shadow, he crept along close to the wall until he stood by Colville's side. He was about to ask permission to make a reconnaissance, and thus force the enemy to reveal themthus force the enemy to reveal themselves, when an incident almost without precedent in bush warfare took place.

The subaltern did not understand the curious undertone of grim irony in the remark; but he was aware of it and halted. His wonderfully developed sense of hearing warned him that some one not in the house was speaking, and the voices could come from no other place than the gloomy recess beneath the verandah.

Oh, yes, she was truly mad. She realized it herself, but the others would never suspect it. Then the persistence of the notion brought relief to her aching heart. A kindly delirium might carry her through the ordeal that lay before her. She no longer feared insanity, rather did she welcome it, and now was her chance to act while she was brave and would not flinch from that which she conceived was her duty. But why was that tall Arab still talking in Warden's voice, and why did the stalwart savage seem to threaten him with furious gesture? Even while she was gazing between the wooden bars of the railing, she saw Loanda grasp his spear menacingly, whereupon the Arab laughed—how like it was to Warden's laugh of good-natured raillery!—and a couple of Hausa soldiers appeared, with riffes held suggestively, as men hold shotguns when they expect a rabbit to scuttle out of a spinney.

An English officer and several soldiers came out into the open. After one glance of sheer astonishment, the Oku chief turned and stalked away towards the bush. He did not deign to hurry, but his lithe springy gait soon carried him into the sombre shadows. The dramatic silence that followed was broken by the man in an officer's uniform. Your Money Back is the Letter and Spirit of the Williams Piano Club

We say, in speaking of and advertising this big Williams Piano Club: If the piano is not satisfactory after 30 days use we will give you your money back.

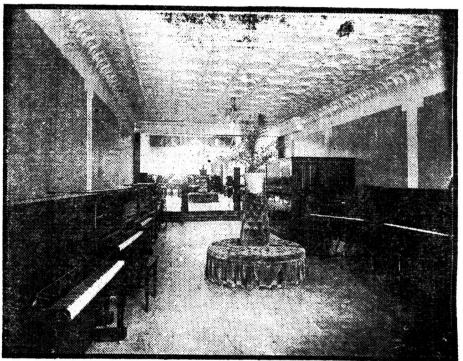

This is not a "catchpenny" scheme. This is not done as an inducement to get you to join the club, then not live up to it. We mean to give you your money back if you ask for it. We have no other intention---never have had---nor never will have.

If you are dissatisfied with the Williams Club Piano after 30 days' use, all you have to do is to say so. We will send and get the Piano and return your money.

We will not even ask you the "whys" and "wherefores"—we simply will give you your money

We know this Piano we are selling to this club. We know it like we know our A B Cs, and in order that you and the public should know it, we hit upon this old, time-honored proposition of "YOUR MONEY BACK"though as far as we know this is the first time it has ever been applied to selling pianos.

Business Offices and Showrooms of Williams Piano Company.

Club Members Full Year's Trial

It is our belief that a person cannot get a satisfactory trial of any Piano, either good or bad, in 30 days. If, however, a 30 days' trial dissatisfies a club member, we will give him his money back. On the other hand, we have arranged a trial for each and every club Piano that will tell the tale-that will show whether or not this club Piano is worthy of a permanent place in your home.

Privilege of Exchange of Williams Club Piano

Privilege is given the purchaser to exchange WILLIAMS CLUB PIANO (No...) within ONE YEAR from date. The exchange, if made, shall be made for any new Piano sold by us of equal or greater value at the time exchange is made, all payments made on the Piano herein mentioned being placed to the credit of the price of instrument for which it is exchanged.

WILLIAMS PIANO COMPANY, Ltd.

Printed right across the face of the contract is an agreement that gives to each and every club member the privilege of exchanging his club Piane, at any time within one (1) year, without one

It's just like this: You join the club-you then, as a club member, become entitled to all its advan-

One of those privileges is, a year's trial of the Piano. In other words—the club member has one full year's time to fully satisfy himself as to the character of the Piano he is getting. Suppose that year's trial is not satisfactory—what then?

WE WILL EXCHANGE THE PIANO

The club member can come to our store and make another selection. He can select a Piano of equal grade or a better grade. Whatever money he has paid, whether it is $40, $50, $60, $100, whatever the amount, will be credited to the price of his new Piano, and we will take the original club Piano back without the loss of a single cent to him.

The Crowning Idea of the Club-THE LIFE INSURANCE FEATURE.

"If the signer of this contract should die during the life thereof, and all weekly payments have been paid when due, the remaining instalments will be cancelled forthwith, and receipt in full for the Piano turned over to the family of the deceased."

This is a simple statement—without any "frills" -that covers the whole story, and it is made in writing, right on the face of the contract. We want this club to be co-operative and helpful to each and every member in it. We want the saving to each and every member to be the greatest possible.

We want every protection that we can think of to go to all of its members. In short, we want this big deal, with which to celebrate our Inaugural Opening to be a standing advertisement for us as long as we are in business, and this life insurance idea is its crowning feature.

Who Should Join Club?

- 1.-Young married folks should join the club 2.—Young couples ABOUT TO BE MAR-RIED should join the club.
- 3.—Young persons who are anxious to learn to play the Piano, but who, through force of circumstances, will have to buy and pay for their own instruments.
- 4.-Music teachers who are just starting their professional career should join.
- 5.—Societies, clubs, lodges, and Sunday schools that have small stated incomes should take advantage of the easy conditions of the club.

If the head of the family dies-if the bread winner dies-if the source of income is stopped by death—the Piano is not lost to the family. The family does not have to work and worry to meet the remaining payments. They are immediately cancel led-and a clear "receipt in full" is given to the family of the deceased. Isn't this a comforting and reassuring idea?

Counted Out on Second Fall, But Negro Went In to Put Him Away.

By C. E. Van Loan. Reno, July 4.-The vital spark was not there.

Jim Jeffries, only the empty shell of the great fighter of seven years ago, was whipped by Jack Johnson this afternoon before the most remarkable assemblage of sporting men ever gathered in the history of the game. Johnson not only outclassed Jeffries, but actually played with the history of the game, as he played with little the big white man as he played with little Tommy Burns and Stanley Ketchel. The end, while it came with the suddenness of a thunderclap, was not a surprise —it had been in plain sight from the fifth round.

There could have been but one ending, and even the most rabid Jeffries men could not deceive themselves into thinking that the white man had a chance af-ing that the white man had a chance after the fifth round.

It was not that he was taking much punishment, for the blows that Johnson anded were not enough to have beaten a strong man of ordinary vitality.

Jeffries did not display a semblance of his old-time form. There were none of his short, determined rushes; none of his trip-hammer blows to the body, and when after the fifth round the negro began after the fifth round the negro began nan-handling Jeffries in the clinches, and easily blocking any attempt at retaliation, there was nothing to do but to wait for half rising from his seat, his bristling white mustache marking him. Behind Sullivan was Fitzsimmons, his round red face sober and anxious. No need to tell these defeated champions what was coming. They had all been there in their time.

Jeffries shuffled into a clinch. There was nothing about his leg action to indiwas nothing about his leg action to indi-care that he was growing groggy, but he seemed tired, and his face, over John-son's shoulder, was a picture of defeat. The right eye was closed to a blue slit in the puffed flesh; the left eye was swollen, the puffed flesh; the left eye was swollen, the nose was split, and the blood was trickling from the lips.

Many a time Jeffries has taken more ounishment and won his fights, but never before did such an expression show on his face—an expression which made it plain that he was at the end of his string.

Johnson Comes Swiftly.

Johnson came up swiftly, his lips parted and his eyes shifting from side to side. There was no smile on his face, and he forgot to nod to his friends at the side.

Once he led with his left, and the two men came together, locking arms in a slinch. Jeffries hung on for a few seconds, and then disentangled backing slowly away toward side of the ring and toward Johnson following with left ex-

First Knock Down Surprise to Crowd.

Jeffries' hands dropped at his sides and he bent double, slowly collapsing to a sitting position. He tried to rise, but fell over backward half in and half out of the ring, his legs over the lower rope.

The thing came so swiftly that it took the crowd by surprise, and there was no noise save that caused by the thousands of people rising in their seats. A thin, scattering cheer from the bleachers was not sufficient to drown the voice of Time-keeper George Harding.

not sufficient to drown the voice of Time-teeper George Harding.

Jack Jeffries moved over and placing his arms under his brother's shoulder, helped him back into the ring. Jeffries was helpless and staggering, and just as his knee cleared the floor Johnson step-ped forward to deliver a right to the law, but Rickard pushed the negro aside.

Jeffries swayed over toward his corner, and Johnson stepped in with a deliberate jaw punch which sent the white I an down for the second count. This time Jeffries lay on his side for four seconds and then slowly crawled to his hands and theses.

From the west side of the arena came the yell:

"Stop it, Tex; stop it!"

Jeffries lurched to his feet just at the count of ten, and as he raised himself if 1 the floor he spat out a great mouthfun of blood. The last blind instinct of he fighting animal warned Jeffries to slinch, and he hung on with what little strength he had left, while Johnson mauled him clear across the ring.

Sam Berger jumped through the ropes, but Rickard's back was turned and he did not see the acknowledgment of defeat until Jeffries had been floored for the third and last time.

Jeffries so close to the timekeeper that he might have touched him, heard the count this time, and was trying to rise to his feet when Rickard pushed Johnson toward his own corner and raised the negro's glove as a signal that the fight t was a solemn crowd which filed out to the dusty street. Less than an hour om the sounding of the first gong the gest procession that Nevada has ever en was passing down the long street ward the centre of the town, and nine to f ten of the men had the took of ose who return from a funeral. He wasn't even a ghost of his old if," was a common remark. Once more it has been shown that a may train well without having left thin him the spark which makes a ampion.

How the Tiger Finished the Crippled Bear

Round 15—When the men faced each other, it was plain to all that Jeffries was in distress. His face was puffed and bleeding, from the punishing lefts and rights he had received, and his movements were languid. He shambled after the elusive negro, sometimes crouching low with his left hand stuck out in front, and sometimes standing erect. Stooping or erect, he was a mark for the negro's accurately driven blows. Johnson simply waited for the big white man to come in and chopped his face to pieces. They came into a clinch after a feeble attempt by Jeffries to land a left hand-blow on the body, and as they broke away, Johnson shot his left and right to the jaw in a flash. Jeffries staggered back against the ropes. His defensive power seemed to desert him in an instant. Johnson went at him like a tiger. A rain of lefts and rights delivered at close quarters sent Jeffries reeling blindly. Another series of short, snappy punches, and the big giant went down for the first time in his ring career. He fell under the top rope, over the lower one, and on to the overhanging of the platform. Resting on his haunches and right elbow, Jeffries looked round in a dazed way, and got up at the count of nine. While he was down, Johnson stood almost over him until Rickard waved him back. He stood ready to strike, and when Jeffries rose from his knees, he dashed in again. Jeffries reeled about and tried to clinch, Johnson eluded him, and as the old champion swung around to the south side of the ring, Johnson jolted him twice on the jaw. Jeffries sank to his knees, weak and tired, but got up again at the count of nine. It was then that Jeffries' friends began to call to Rickard to stop the fight. "Stop it! Stop it!" they shouted from all sides.

"Don't let him be knocked out." Rickard gave no heed to these appeals. Jeffries was helpless now, and as he staggered to a standing position, the negro was waiting for him. A left, a right, another left, short, snappy, powerful blows, found their mark on Jeffries' chin, and he went down again. Again he sprawled over the lower rope, hanging half outside the ring. The timekeeper raised and lowered his arm, tolling off the seconds. He had reached the count of seven, when some of Jeffries' seconds put foot inside the ropes, and Rickard walked between the fallen man and the negro champion. Placing his hand on Johnson's shoulder, he declared him the winner. While Jeffries was not counted out, this was a merely technical evasion. It

MORNING GAME. Cleveland, Ohio, July 4. - "Wild William" Donovan, who has done what everybody expected to see Jeffries do this afternoon—"come back"—this morning added another victory to his string for this season, when he pitched a superb game against the fast-going Naps (always fast-going against Detroit), defeating them by a score of 3 to 1. "Old Cy" Young tried to land his five hundredth victory today. He won his four hundred and ninetyninth game last week, and McGuire sent him in this morning to make it an even half thousand. But the veteran fell down in his attempt, and was plainly outpitched by the other vet.

Cook in You no longer need wear your-self out with the weakening Comfort heat of an intensely hot kitchen. You can cook in comfort.

Here is a stove that gives no outside heat. All its heat is concentrated at the burners. An intense blue flame (hotter than either white or red) is thrown upwards but not around. All the heat is utilized in cooking - none in outside heating.

Oil Cook-stove

entirely removes the discomfort of cooking. Apply a match and immediately the stove is ready. Instantly an intense heat is projected upwards against the pot, pan, kettle or boiler, and yet there is no surrounding heat—no smell—no smoke.

Why? Because The New Perfection Oil Cook-Stove is scientifically and practically perfect. You cannot use too much wick — it is automatically controlled. You get the maximum heat -no smoke. The burner is simple. One wipe with a cloth cleans it - consequently there is no smell. The New Perfection Oil Cook-Stove is wonderful for year-round use, but especially in summer. Its heat operates upward to pan, pot, or kettle, but not beyond or around. It is useless for heating a room.

It has a Cabinet Top with shelf for keeping plates and food hot. It has long turquoise-blue enamel chimneys. The nickel finish, with the bright blue of the chimneys, makes the stove ornamental and attractive. Made with 1, 2 and 3 burners; the 2 and 3-burner stoves can be had with or without Cabinet. "There's a Reason"

Says City Council Is Going the Limit On Local Improvements.

RECORD HASBEEN BROKEN

Ald. Tancock Sharply Criticizes the Financier of the Council-City's Powers To Be Inquired Into.

Local improvements again took up much of the time of the city council at its meeting Monday night, and Ald. Richter succeeded in having a motion passed appointing a committee to interview City Solicitor Meredith to discover what powers the council has under the municipal act reference to local improvements. His motion in full was as follows: "That the mayor and the chairmen lum, Gordon Beattie. of the three standing committees be a

This was the result of Ald. Richter's exploration into the working out of the municipal act as it refers to local improvements. He called the board of works up sharply on the number of petitions being recommended to the council and declared that it was high time a stop was put to it.

"So far this year we have passed $133,595 worth of local improvements," he declared. "Although we have been doing business for six months we have exceeded the average of the past five years by $15,000. If this keeps up we will break all existing records. will lay at least $250,000 worth of walks and curbs and gutters."

The Mayor's Opinion.

"Even if the bylaws were passed illegally, the Legislature has them," Mayor Beattie pointed out.

This Morning's Supply Was Small and of Poor Quality.

Arrangements for the biggest local picnic of the year have been completed and the members of the East London Businessmen's Association expect to have an immense crowd out at the annual East End outing at Queen's Park tomorrow afternoon and even-

The programme is a fine one, and large crowd. The usual foot races and the like will be run off before the grandstand, and an exhibition will be given by Hon. Adam Beck's thoroughbred jumpers. The bands of the Seventh Regiment and the Scotch Pipers will lead a procession from the corner of Dundas and Adelaide streets to the ground in the afternoon. The Seventh will give a concert at night in the park.

Although this is but the third annual picnic, the outing has gained great favor, and over 10,000 people attended last summer.

The city is now out of danger of a water shortage and the messenger, and left the body in the officials are very much relieved. The citizens whose lawn suffered because they obeyed the proclamation of the mayor to stop lawn sprinkling are also glad about it, as lawn sprinkling may be undertaken now.

It was this feature of the case that resulted in the suggestion that a bylaw be passed. The mayor stated that a number of citizens had been decent enough to cease sprinkling their lawns after he issued his proclaimation, but that a large number paid no heed to it.

"If the people would be decent at such times there would be no trouble, but as there are always some who will Ottawa, July 5. — An application has been made by the employees of the Montreal street railway for a board of proposed that this be done.
