Left London in 1917 and Reported Missing One Year Later by Authorities.

Information has been received by Mr. and Mrs. H. S. Horwood, 332 Ridout street, from Mrs. Horwood's sister, Mrs. W. Burrows, London, England, that the body of her son, Herbert Horwood, had been found, identified and interred in the British military cemetery at Roye.

Mr. Horwood went overseas with the C. A. M. C. on August 7, 1917, and was reported missing on August 16, 1918, while stationed on the Roye-Fresneye line near the French lines. He was 20 years of age. As his body was not found at the time, it was thought probable that it had been buried by the French, and since the end of the war Mrs. Burrows on behalf of his bereaved parents, sought the aid of the British Graves Commission in the hope that the place where the body was interred could be found.

ROLLO GIVES ASSURANCE

Labor Minister Declares That Immediate Relief Be Afforded.

Toronto, Dec. 8 .- About 1,000 unemployed veterans of Toronto gathered in Queen's Park shortly before noon today as a protest against the labor situation as it exists in the city, and to press for relief both from the provincial and municipal governments. They met with a measure of success at the Parliament Buildings, obtaining assurances from the cabinet and Mr. Rollo, minister of labor, in particular, that some sort of immediate relief would be afforded them.

No definite proposals were given, however.

An unusual case was tried in police court today, when the C. S. Hyman Company was charged with having five deer skins in its possession without a proper license or permission. After the case had been tried on technicalities and after long arguments had taken place concerning the interpretation of the act, the company was found not guilty.

The charge was laid by Hugh Brown, game warden, as the result of a search which he made on the premises on December 2. Beneath a pile of sheep skins and cowhides he found five deerhides, salted. The skins had tags attached.

Ashton R. Douglas, who conducted the prosecution, claimed that although there might not have been any intention to break the act, the firm was none the less guilty. Even though the C. S. Hyman Company had no intention of dressing and tanning the hides, they had no right to keep them in their possession for any purpose whatsoever.

There are many men in this crowd who haven't had their breakfast today. Some had only one meal yesterday. Will the government do anything immediately to see that they are fed?"

Action to provide adequate police protection for the city will be taken by the city council at once. It is too late in the year for any expenditures for this purpose to be made, but plans will be made now for tackling the problem early in January.

The road running north and in front of the Byron Sanatorium, between lots 26 and 27, concession 1, London Township, is to be increased in width from 33 feet to 66 feet in accordance with a recommendation brought in by a special committee. It was recommended that as a Mr. Sanderson would not put a price on a strip of property running in front of his property, that action be taken to secure the necessary lands from Mr. Sanderson and Mr. Foster on lot 26. Acting for Byron Sanatorium, Sir Adam Beck gave the council permission to take the propersory land bordering. to take the necessary land bordering the sanatorium property. He asked that the council bear the expense of moving the fence, gate posts and hydro poles.

Reeve Allen McPherson of Glencoe started a long and heated discussion on the practice of the police authorities in closely checking and of summoning motorists who break the speed laws on the county and provincial laws on the county and provincial highways. He used as a basis of his attack the large number of car owners summoned on the charge of speeding during Western Fair week.

He said that a large number of farmers living many miles from London were summoned to the quurt in the city because of alleged breaches of the motor vehicle act. As it would not pay these farmers to lose the time and to pay for transportation so that they could defend themselves against the charge they chose to plead guilty.

Mr. McPherson wanted to know why the authorities picked on that week to set such a close watch, and he desired to know where all the money collected in fines went. He said in no uncertain language that it was a disgrace to London and to Middlesex, and that he felt sure that the Western Fair would not have many visitors next year because of the actions of the authorities.

Says It is Scandal.

Reeve W. E. Grieve took up the protest where Mr. McPherson left off. He asserted that in one day during fair week no less than 65 people were summoned to court for breaches of the act. He claimed that it was a scandal. He pointed out that no one living near London had been summoned.

Mr. Grieves attacked the police in the city of London. He said that the police officers were ready to pounce on a man who did not have the required number of lights, or if he parked his car in the wrong spot, but that they did not give any protection to property owners from thieves. If they continued in their petty ways a large amount of business would be driven were the continued to the continued to the continued of the continued of the continued of the continued to the contin Says It Is Scandal. owners from thieves. If they continued in their petty ways a large amount of business would be driven from the city to the smaller centres where the farmers would not be persecuted.

A great many of the members of the council were emphatic in the belief that there should be no law against speeding. They felt that there was no harm in a man driving in excess of 25 miles an hour if he had the road to himself. There should be a law they claimed only against reckless driving.

He wanted to know who was responsible for the stationing of spotters on the roads to catch speeders. He thought that car owners were being persecuted so much that the matter should be taken up. He believed that constables should be appointed on salaries who would do work that a constable should do.

Reeve S. Oakes of Strathroy was also of the opinion that there was no harm in speeding.

of the opinion that there was no harm in speeding.

Deputy Reeve R. Brown of Westminster, who admitted that he did not own a car, claimed that the councillors were talking differently than they did a few years ago He did not think that it became the members of a county council to advocate the breaking of the country's laws. Council Committee To This Effect Laid Over.

Because of a lengity discussion, which took on the proportions of an open debate before the afternoon wore away, on the ways and means of financing corporated municipalities from year to year the Middlesex County Council was forced to hold a night session on Tuesday in order to dispose of the day's program of work. In the overlap means, the session on Tuesday in order to dispose of the day's program of work. In the evening means reports covering means treasurer, were asked to explain the statements.

Had received their instructions from the high constable.

Reeve Cyrus Henry asked the council if it was correct that the township councils were bound to double amounts of the grants made to the schools last year, during the present year. Warden Clark informed him that this was the cate, and that any school desiring the increased grant could demand it. Mr. Henry claimed that the announcement of the change in the statutes arrived after the taxrate for the year had been struck in the township of Metcalfe.

As a 'result of a certain letter and an article appearing in The Advertiser recently, attacking the system of financing in vogue in the county of Middlesex, the afternoon was given over to a debate of an open character. Because the letter originated in the treasurer, were asked to explain the statements.

County Engineer Talbot and County Clerk John Stuart claimed that such a system was entirely illegal under the municipal act. They also stated that the county was paying as it went.

Proof that the system advocated by Mrs. Robson was illegal was produced in the form of a letter from the county solicitor who quoted a section of the municipal act concerning the matter. It read in part as follows:

Levy for Debts.

"Section 297—The council shall in each year assess and levy a sum sufficient to pay all the debts of the corporation falling due within the year, but shall not assess and levy in any year more than two and a half, cents on the dollar on the assessed value of the property."

This paragraph combined with one other established the fact, the solicitor claimed, that the intention of these sections was that the council shall only levy in any years the amount required during such calendar years.

After the reading of this ruling those present were convinced that Mr. Talbot and Mr. Stuart were right in their contentions. The consensus of opinion was that any charges of juggling of finances were absolutely unfounded.

How To Revitalize Wornout Exhausted Nerves

Your nerve power depends on plenty of good, rich, red blood of the kind that organic iron—Nuxated Iron—helps make. Nuxated Iron is like the iron in your blood, and like the iron in spinach, lentils and apples, while metallic iron is iron just as it comes from the action of strong acids on iron filings. Nuxated Iron does not injure the teeth nor upset the stomach; it is an entirely different thing from ordinary metallic iron. It quickly helps make rich, red blood, revitalize wornout, exhausted nerves, and give you new strength and energy. Over quickly helps make rich, red blood, re-vitalize wornout, exhausted nerves, and give you new strength and energy. Over i,000,000 people annually are using it. Beware of substitutes. Always insist upon having genuine organic iron— Nuxated Iron. Look for the letters N. I, on every tablet. Sold by all drug-rists.

France and Italy Oppose.

M. Viviani of France and Signor Pagiliano of Italy have opposed this step on the ground that Albania has not been recognized by any power, and that admission at this time might interfere with national policies of some governments. They were able to secure postponement of Albania's application, but Lord Robert reserved the right to continue the discussion on the floor of the assembly. The commission considering the manner in which the four elective members of the council should be chosen has decided that they are to be elected for a term of two years. At the expiration of this time they will be eligible for two years more, but after the second term they will be ineligible until after four years have elapsed.

When the assembly meets again next September it will receive a report from a special committee, to which Argentina's proposed amendment to the league covenant was referred. All proposed amendments have been sent to this committee.

Burglars are not anxious to carry on their operations under an efectric light even if it is at the back of a building. At present they can work in darkness.

"If a policeman does happen along it is an easy matter for the crook to slip into a doorway or behind a post. It would be a different matter if the lanes were half as well lighted as the streets, and if they were cleared of the rubbish and boxes, which offer fine hiding places for any man trying to escape from an officer. Any lanes that are directly under city control should be cleaned up at once, paved, if necessary, and properly lighted.

of the judge, John Wilson of Innisfail, Alta.

The standard bred horses were judged this evening, and the competition was keen, with many splendid entries.

Scores of red-ribbon sheep and hogs were slaughtered today in accordance with the usual custom, paying with their lives for their prize winning at the fair. Following the kiling, long rows of carcasses are awaiting the decision of the judges tomorrow as to their qualities as dead meat, and then they will be put up at auction. Large crowds were attracted by the squealing of the pigs, and although the massacre was conducted with as little publicity as possible, many persons, including a number of women, took advantage of all possible vantage points to witness it.

Probably the most interesting feature of the fair today was the announcement of the awards in the three-day milking tests for the dairy cows. Marion De Kol. a splendid Holstein, carried off the grand honors in the competition, in addition to leading the Holsteins, of which there were eleven animals entered, all of which made fine records. Of course, Lily of the Valley could not be expected to come close to the achievement of Marion De Kol, the Holstein, easy leader of all dairy breeds in the milking test. Marion De Kol was bred by D. The result is that Ontario graduates cross the line for their post-graduate work. and the majority of them do not return. That is a national loss that would at least partially be prevented by providing proper facilities for advanced work in our own province.

Western University has a good case. The fourteen counties of Western Ontario, with more than a hundred high schools and colleglates, will furnish a larger student body as soon as there are facilities in London to care for them. London city can hardly be expected of itself to provide higher educational facilities for all of Western Ontario. Quite as good work can be done in undergraduate studies as in Toronto, and is being done today. Provision for taking care of the students of Western Ontario in London will relieve the pressure on the provincial university at Toronto, and enable it to do better work than in the past, and to pay more attention to the individual student.

[By Mrs. George Hambleton, M.A.] Slow-footed hunger is allying herself with unemployment and the high cost of living to during the previous decade, and that the cities perate part in the great agricultural revolution now felt in all parts of the world. Last year the cold and silent streets of Russian cities echoed the despairing march of many thousands without work. Now, the Russian Government seeks in vain for men to repair rusting ships, which should be transporting food, wood, coal, manufactures, from port to port. For when a kindly sun last spring released the death-grip of a Russian winter, the men fled to the country to raise for themselves what food they could. And no law of compulsion has been de-

With him it is not the thought of past battles which fills the heart with dread. It is "famine, creeping slowly like the wolf, into his obscure chamber." He is somewhat in the mood of ancient mariners. After the dangerous voyage, the heavy struggle against wind and waves, sailors of old would hear the mysterious chanting of the sirens. Had they not been so exhausted, they would have resisted the lure. But they had fought with oar and sail through the horrors of the night, and, worn out, they preferred illusion to reality.

In the rest of Italy land sefzures have called forth much attention. Noble proprietors of great estates, flinging money away at Deauville or Monte Carlo, while their lands languished for lack of capital, brought their own retribution. In Sicily land seizure is almost a religious rite, to be accompanied with music and song. When peasants march out to seize, a priest, carrying a cross, heads the procession. City fathers fall into line and—the land returns to the workers.

Ample testimony is also borne to Italian love for the soil by the flood of remittances pouring into Italy. They come from emigrants who left to seek a fortune overseas. It is estimated that last year the remittances amounted went to buy land in Italy.

His integrity as apublic servant had been questionas apublic servant had been questioned and there were certain features that in the interests of clean government required official inquiry. He was perpared to move for the appointment of a royal commission to investigate and report upon conditions vitally affecting financial institutions, election laws and other matters. It was something with which he had concerned himself seriously for several years, and it was partly to prove his theories in this connection that with the assistance of Mr. Blatchford Ferguson he had taken ad-Blatchford Ferguson he had taken advantage of the situation which had developed in the affairs of the Interprovincial. The real-estate transaction in question had been planned by Mr. Fergusing for the purpose of quieting suspicion in the mind of Nickleby. It was a case of fighting the dayli with orsy of speculation into which the discovery of new mineral wealth had led the public, he had become personally involved. He was only human and the general excitement had induced him to make several disastrous investments which had left his personal affairs in a precarious tangle for a time. But it was an ill wind that blew nobody good. The financial crisis through which he had passed had brought him touch with J. C. Nickleby, and it was not long before his eyes had been opened to the unscrupulous methods that were being followed by the president of the Interprovincial Loan & Savings Company. He had called in his learned friend, Mr. Ferguson, and as a result of their consultations it had been decided to make a few experiments in high finance with the object of uncovering the whole system.

As their relations had ripened he had grown bolder and had organized a construction company with the object of using his "connection" to swing certain tenders for public works into the graft column. Nickleby had felt so sure of himself by this time that he even had proposed a contribution of $50,000 to the party campaign funds in return for "privileges." He had been told quite plainly that he would make such a contribution at his own risk. Never-

My Nerves Were So Bad at Times that I Could Not Keep Back the Tears

HEN the nerves collapse there is such a feeling of such a feeling of utter helplessness that strong men, as well as women, cannot do otherwise than weep.

The average physician is sadly at a loss when consulted by a nervous patient, and we have from such an eminent authority as Dr. Richard Cabot the statement that half the ordinary practitioners' work is with derangements of the nerves.

Think of the headaches, backaches, neuralgic and sciatic pains, the sleeplessness, indigestion and tired, depressed feelings that give the doctors their business. and you will realize the truth of this statement of Dr. Cabot.

The conditions under which people have lived during the last few years has meant enormous strain on the nervous system. The fear, the worry, the anxiety have wasted nerve force at such an enormous rate that persons of nervous temperament have been unable to stand the strain—the result is nervous collapse.

Recovery must necessarily be slow, and the average doctor, accustomed as he is to treating symptoms only, finds difficulty in bringing about restoration, and often mils to realize the helpless and discouraged condition of his patient.

Because Dr. Chase's Nerve Food supplies in condensed and easily assimilated form the vital substances with which Nature rebuilds the starved and wasted nerve cells it stands out to-day as the greatest of nerve restoratives.

A careful reading of this letter will give you an idea of just what you may expect from the use of this treatment, because it describes an average case:

Mrs. S. Sharp, Midland, Ont., writes:-"About eleven years ago I had a serious nervous breakdown, and was so bad at times that I could not keep back the tears. I also had a queer feeling in the back of my head; sometimes it seemed to be going backwards. I could not do any sewing, and finally could do no work at all. I tried other remedies and doctors' medicine, but they only gave me temporary relief. Last fall I commenced using Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, and had not taken very many until I found I was getting better. I kept on taking them, and am at present greatly improved. I am now able to do my work, and they have strengthened me splendidly. I can highly recommend Dr. Chase's Nerve Food for nervous trouble of any kind."

The next step is to make the test of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food in your own case. If you are careful to see the portrait and signature of A. W. Chase, M.D., on the box you buy you will be sure that you are getting the genuine. 50c a box, 6 for $2.75, all dealers, or Edmanson, Bates & Co., Ltd., Toronto.

DEARTH OF HOMES LEADS TO LOSS OF HUNDREDS OF GIRLS

3,600 Girls Ran Away From New York Homes in 1919.

We quote from a high-class American magazine—"In eleven months of 1919, 3,600 girls under nineteen, ran away from their homes in New York City alone," and were listed as "Missing." The mass of these homes were thoroughly respectable, and the girl's the slime of the underworld-left a roken-hearted mother and crushed father. Why did these girls run away? Oh, you say, this happened in the States, and we cannot try to answer their problems. Unfortunately our workers in juvenile courts and prisons tell us that far too many girls, as well as boys, run away from home in Canada, and add heavily to the burden of ada, and add heavily to the burden of ada, and add heavily to the burden of the community. One factor in the H. arose for attaching it to other feminine C. of L. is the awaking of the public significance forming a pretty complication. tion of social workers, and no stinting of money to provide homes and asylums for our so-called criminals. Certainly should do all this for our people who have strayed into crime, yet one cannot help wondering if it would not be wiser, as well as far cheaper, to save the children in their own homes, before they run away. No Homes. And this brings us to the reason given by the magazine we are quoting, for the majority of these girls running away from home. It was because they had no homes! For New York is a city of flat dwellers, and a flat is not a home-for children. Unmarried people or a childless couple can be happy in a flat, but a woman with a cool brain, and a conscience, will see that the cradle is kept empty. But if the mother-hunger should get the better of cold reason, a baby in a flat is a nuisance, and a child is an impossibility. It is reared in a hurricane of "Don'ts" until love of home and mother is killed in it, and so in less than a year 3,600 girls ran away from home. And let Canadian women note this—Our cities, because of lack of proper housing, are rapidly becoming cities of "flats" instead of homes.

High Rents. by the magazine we are quoting, for the cities of "flats" instead of homes.

We cannot believe that our organized women of education and comparative leisure, are indifferent to such facts as these, being spoken of our Canadian cities—"High rents forcing people to quit housekeeping and take up their quarters in rooms!" Because some women live in placaant, many-chambered houses, where there is plenty of room for their children to grow, will they not make sure that not a cent of their income comes from too high rented little houses?

come comes from too high rented little houses?

They know that it is our indifference to the housing problem that has caused the scarcity of houses, driving people into unhomelike flats, where children are either prohibited or unwelcome. And look at the rents of even these! A four-roomed apartment in Toronto was cited as an illustration, it having risen from $25 a month to $75, a raise which even the present H. C. of L. cannot justify.

What To Do?

What can we do? Well, a fair rentals act, like that of Queensland, Australia, is advocated by many; this fixes the rent at 10 per cent of the value of the property; but we are told that this would be impossible in Canada because we would find "big difficulty in fixing the value of land and buildings." Why more than in Queensland? Surely it would be possible to manage as in New Zealand, where the value of property is set at a stated value above what it is assessed for? In this case it would be only necessary to look at the assessment roll to fix the rent of any house or flat.

Behind the liquid beauty of the name of Linda lies on interesting history. It is not, as is generally supposed, a contraction of Melinda of Belinda, or even Rosalind, though the latter came into existence in somewhat the same manner. Linda is one of the "serpent" names, which are found in abundance in Teutonic nomenciature.

The old German word for snake was lindwurm, or supple worm, The Visigoths considered the litheness of the snake a characteristic of great beauty, and the word survived and finally reached Spain as lindo or linda, It was translated to mean "fair woman."

The Spanish linda, which was used as a proper name in that country, was brought to other European nations and to England as a suffix, rather than a

Whitney Stable Leads List of Winning Owners Own Studs-Ross Next.

NEW YORK, Dec. 8.—Harry Payne Whitney heads the list of winning owners of the 1920 racing season. His winnings will amount to $300,000 for the year. In winning the high turf honors this year, Whitney will displace Commander J. K. L. Ross of Montreal, who was the leader last season and the season before, in spite of the fact that the Ross horses won more money this year than they did last year. Ross stables finishes the year with an aggregate of a little under a quarter of a million dollars in earnings.

Mr. Whitney has the satisfaction of knowing that the horses that have put him on top are homebred. Not one of them came from an outside establishment. They are the products of the stud his distinguished father got together in the late ninettes and in the first few years of the present century. The Whitney stud is one of the greatest thoroughbred studs in the country today. It has so far outgrown the productive capacity of Brookdale Farm, which is in Monmouth County, New Jersey, that it has been necessary to establish Peter Pan and Broomstick and many of his mares on one of the sub-divisions of the Elmendorf Farm of the late James Ben Ali Haggin in

The nucleus for one girls' soccer team will be found amongst some Scotch nurses, now at the Ontario Hospital, who played the game in Scotland before coming out here. Many Canadian girls also who have taken up basketball have had soccer in mind as a summer game when basketball is more or less off the stage.

GOLDIE PRODGER AS PILOT OF TIGER PROS LOOKS CERTAINTY

Hamilton Club Has Local Man's Terms and Will Likely Sign Him.

Despite the fact that the C. H. A. have announced the signing of Goldle Prodger, it is altogether likely that the local pro star will be found managing the Hamilton team this winter.

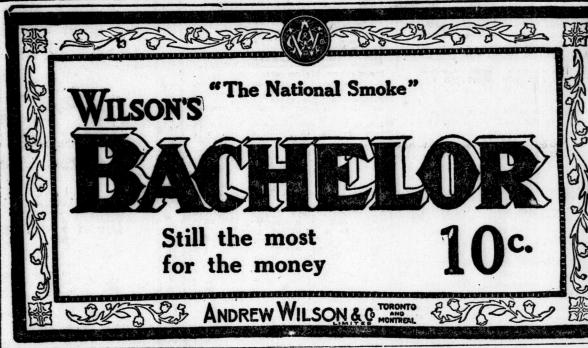

Prodger was in telephone communication with Hamilton yesterday, and they have his price, which apparently didn't cause any gasps of astonishment at the other end of the wire, though at this season's rate is it likely to be rather fancy.

The local boy has been persistently connected with the Hamilton club, even before he was traded there from Canadiens. However, as trades count more on paper than they do in reality, in prohockey circles, Prodger is just about free to do what he likes and go where he gets the highest remuneration.

If Hamilton puts him at the head of their team they won't be going far wrong. Besides getting beettr on the ice every year "Old Forked Lightning" knows a lot about both the game and handling of men, and if he is given even fair material, should be able to produce a winner.

NEW YORK STOCK EXCHANGE.

New York, Dec. 8—Wall Street, 10:30 a.m.—The uncertain trend of prices at the outset of today's stock market session pointed to a continuance of the recent irregular movement. Willys-Overland preferred, yesterday's weakest feature, rallied a fraction, while Texas and Pacific Coal and Oil cancelled part of its substantial gain. American Agricultural Chemical rose 1%, but this was offset by a decline to the same extent in International Agricultural. American Woolen rose 1 point and Norfolk and Western 1%, but Mexican Petroleum's initial advance of 1 point was almost immediately replaced by a 2-point reaction. Steels and equipments were hesitant mainly at slight recessions. Foreign exchange as répresented by the London rate was firmer.

You might be surprised to know that the best thing you can use for a severe cough, is a remedy which is easily prepared at home in just a few moments. It's cheap, but for prompt results it beats anything else you ever tried. Usually stops the ordinary cough or chest cold in 24 hours. Tastes pleasant, too—children like it—and it is pure and good. It promptly heals the inflamed membranes that line the throat and air passages, stops the annoying throat tickle, loosens the phlegm, and soon your cough stops entirely. "MUTT AND JEFF" AT THE GRAND TONIGHT.

Pretty girls, catchy songs and plenty of lively comedy are promised at the Grand twice today, where "Mutt and Jeff at the Races" will hold forth. Every year Gus Hill, who took Mutt and Jeff from the comic pages of the dailles, has surrounded them with something new to do. This season they are seen in a series of hair-splitting, rollicking and mirth-provoking adventures, which add glory to their fame as funsters who make life worth living and open the flood-gates of infectious laughter to the welfare of the public. A feature of this singing and dancing carnival of fun is the endless variety of pretty costumes which are used by the beauty chorus to good effect in the different musical numbers with which the play abounds. There are wonderful creations in the matter of dress which are the delight of mere man and the envy of the women.

It is seldom that a city even one world-famed for its arts, gives an offi-cial welcome and reception to an artist. Yet this is what happened in Genoa when Vasa Prihoda arrived to Genoa when Vasa Prihoda arrived to give a concert hardly a month after he had burst from penniless obscurity to sweep Italy off her feet with the magic of his violin. On Christmas Day, 1913, the young Bohemian offered to play for his food in a little Milan restaurant. On February 1, 1920, Genoa turned out en masse to acclaim him. He was conducted to the city hall and there received by Mayor Massons, his staff, the leading musicians and the newspapermen. Of the concert which followed the critics wrote: "We doubt the possibility of translating into words the manifestations of joy, of frenzy, of enthusiasm, of clamors, of applause for the young violinist."

Prihoda's stay in America is limited to 56 concerts, of which one will be given in this city tomorfow with a concert bearing the truth fo say that the picture registered a profound impression, and it was declared by many to be the best photoplay they have witnessed this year. PORT WILLIAM, Ont., Dec. 7 .- (By Canadian Press).-While the United States has been talking about on embargo on Canadian wheat exporters have quietly moved over the border 45,000,000 bushels of "Western Canada hard." The record wheat rush culminated in the departure from this port in the last 24 hours of fifteen ships, all laden to the coamings with wheat and all bound for United States ports, notably Buffalo practically defeating any move that southern growers may take to save their home markets from the Canadian-grown product.

Of 72,584,000 bushels received at elevators in Fort William and Port Arthur, 45,420,000 bushels have been shipped to the States more than twenty times the amount sent last year, which means that Canadian farmers and businessmen have successfully marketed a vast amount of their farm produce, despite restrictions in European markets. Considering Duty.

Although the United States House of Representatives is considering a 45-cent import duty on wheat from this country, as presented in the form of a bill yesterday, together with an import duty of $1.80 per barrel on flour, the move in response to United States farmers' demands comes too late for this year. this year.

Sees Hurry Effort.

N. M. Patterson of this city who was a member of the Canada Wheat Board during its operation, and who is Board during its operation, and who is regarded throughout the West as an authority on grain marketing, sees in the unprecedented movement of wheat from Fort William to Buffalo a hurry effort to get under the barrier and dispose of as much Canadian wheat to United States buyers as the traffic will bear before the long-talked-of embargo is put on, or a duty bar raised.

The forty-five million bushels already dispatched to Buffalo or other southern ports takes no count of the enormous shipments that have gone forward since December 3, up to which attended to be placed on board vessels now lying in the plac

MAY BE FOR EUROPE.

TORONTO, Dec. 7.—A member of one of the largest Canadian grain export houses, stated tonight that there was nothing unprecedented at this season in the very large shipments of wheat now taking place from the head of the lakes. It was natural to suppose that under existing circumstances a considerable portion of it might be for sale to United States dealers, but, on the other hand, it was to be remembered that in normal years two-thirds of Canada's export wheat had been through United States points.

During the war this was not possible. Wheat shipped to Buffalo and other United States points, designed for export to Europe, might later on be taken out of bond and sold to United States buyers.

ALLIED GOVERNMENTS NOT IN MARKET, CLAIM

NOT IN MARKET, CLAIM

OTTAWA, Dec. 7.—(By Canadian Press.)—The heavy movements of wheat from Fort William to the United States have occasioned he surprise to Government officials here, in view of the approaching close of navigation, the possibility of a duty being imposed upon Canadian wheat by the United States, and the fact that the wheat movement this year has been largely an over-the-border movement. This has been largely because the Allied Governments have not been in the market for the Canadian wheat, and the British market has absorbed but little of the Canadian product up to the present time. The heavy movement by rail from prairie points to the United States, more particularly Duluth, was emphasized at a recent sitting of the railway board, when the request of the Winnipeg Grain Exchange for a ruling providing for the payment of the Canadian part of the international rate in Canadian instead of American currency was considered.
