Casement Has Paid Penalty

Government. Many prominent men both in Great Britain and America interested themselves in Casement's behalf, including George Bernard Shaw, William Butler Yeats, the Irish poet. The hopes of the condemned man's friends were extinguished when Lord Robert Cecil, minister of foreign affairs, announced on Wednesday that the British government was determined not to grant a reprieve.

Some Irish People Present

An affecting incident took place outside the prison as the execution was in progress. At the back of the prison, a little distance from the crowd about the gates, was a group of about thirty Irish men and women, many of whom were praying for the repose of the soul of their dead fellow countryman.

Executioner Came East Night

Ellis, the executioner, arrived in the prison early last evening and immediately made his preparations. He examined the trap-door in the execution shed and tested it thoroughly with a bag exactly the same as Casement's. Ellis remained in the prison all night.

Was Catholic

A member of Casement's family wrote in that faith but became a convert to Roman Catholicism within the last few weeks. On June 1, he was a member of the Roman Catholic church, and since that time James McCarroll and O'Leary of Eden Grove church, near the prison, have been assisting him to him. His first and only communion at 7 o'clock this morning, when he assisted at Mass in his cell.

Honored with Knighthood

George's order for his many years of service in the British army and as a general, Casement assumed leadership, at a period of his country's crisis, in the recent Irish rebellion, that he was knighted by King George V. Casement was reported to have negotiated an understanding with German Imperial authorities.

British naval supremacy brought An abortive close to Casement's plans. The German tramp steamship "Komet" was captured by a British expedition from Germany, nearly to the west coast of Ireland, in April of this year, was blown up by its own crew, when the latter foresaw that it was inevitable that the blocking English warships would capture it. The crew were made prisoners.

Found Guilty

In May, Casement was given a preliminary hearing and was committed to the prison on a charge of high treason. Late in June the trial was begun. Casement pleading not guilty and uttering a denial that he had conspired with Germany's interests and that he had accepted German gold as a bribe.

established a reputation through his investigation of the Congo and South American rubber atrocities committed on natives by Belgian and British rubber hunters. Then then Sir George headed a commission of inquiry which brought about reforms. In 1913 he became actively identified with the organization of the Irish national volunteers. He was in the United States when the war began, and addressed an open letter to the Irish press advising Irishmen to remain neutral. In October, 1914, he went to Norway and thence to Berlin, whence came the news that started the world—Casement was plotting what his country looked upon as high treason. His friends, recalling his years of service in Africa and South America, claimed for him that the tropical sun had unbalanced him mentally. Casement was born on September 1, 1854.

GOBLIN RAIN

Once a boy named Joe, running through a forest, stepped upon a pile of rubbish and the crooked toe of a goblin stood asleep beneath a blanket of leaves. Mean to? I should say he didn't mean to! He didn't know the goblin was there. But he knew it very soon after for a dreadful, dancy little gray man with a beard popped out, scowled, played a tune on his teeth and worked his nose, crying: "Rump-diddle-de-diddle, I play a tooth fiddle! The spell will begin when I do. You've stepped on the toe of Benjamin Bum-tee And the first thing you say will come true!"

PREMIER HEARST OFF TO ENGLAND Will Attend to Important Public Business in the Old Country.

Toronto, Aug. 3.—In order to attend to important public business, Hon. W. H. Hearst accompanied by Hon. Dr. Fyfe, will leave for England within a day or two. The Prime Minister has recently taken under his personal control the Agent-General's office in London, and it is his intention to study the situation on the ground and arrange for the carrying on of the work of the office on a broader scale than heretofore. The Prime Minister is planning the work of the office with a view to meeting after-the-war conditions, and the added burden that will be thrown upon the Agent-General's office after the war.

The Government, since the commencement of the war, has taken a deep interest in and tried in every way possible to assist wounded Canadian soldiers in England, and representatives of the London office have regularly visited Canadians in the different military hospitals and have done what they could to minister to the comforts and happiness of our wounded heroes. The Prime Minister desires personally to investigate the character of the work being carried on and to make any additional arrangements that may be necessary for the most complete and effective manner possible.

Salonica, Aug. 3.—Crown Prince Alexander of Serbia, accompanied by the Minister of War, had a long conversation yesterday with the French Commander-in-Chief General Sarrail. They discussed the military situation and future operations. In the evening he talked with Admiral Sir Berkeley Milne, Commander-in-Chief of the British fleet in Eastern waters.

THE SITUATION

There has been more or less of a lull on the various fronts. There must be spaces of breathing time, even in connection with such persistent fighting as that recorded in the present tremendous operations.

Reviewing the four weeks of British operations in the Somme, Philip Gibbs, the war correspondent, says: "It has been a stupendous month."

He calls the struggle "the greatest battle of history," and points out that Haig's men have taken eleven hostile strongholds, and won back for France a patch of soil, eight miles wide by three miles deep.

In addition, their bag includes over twelve thousand Hun prisoners and immense losses have been inflicted on the foe.

Petrograd, in sizing up the situation on the Eastern front, feels assured of the ultimate Russian occupation of both Kovol and Lemberg. The badly crippled Teuton forces are still withdrawing.

The Verdun struggle has dropped a good deal out of sight, but it still continues in terrific form. Yesterday the French made a notable gain on the right bank of the Meuse, and took six hundred prisoners.

Premier Asquith, in addressing the British House with regard to the Paris economic conference, made it very clear that after hostilities were closed, the Allies must act together to combat a vigorous attack on world markets which the Germans are already organizing.

In this respect he pointed out that the enemy had two advantages. 1.—They had destroyed the works and factories of invaded countries.

2.—For the reason that they had a large maritime fleet safely interned in their own and neutral ports. However, he believed that they would be largely balked.

During his remarks, the Premier reaffirmed that it would be part and parcel of the peace terms that Belgium, Serbia, and the devastated districts of France and Poland must be restored, not only nationally, but also economically and materially as they were before war broke out.

EXECUTION OF CASEMENT.

Sir Roger Casement has paid the penalty for his misdeeds. With the exception of those squeamish folk opposed to capital punishment, and violent Irish agitators, it is difficult to see how any one of ordinary common sense can do otherwise than endorse the unflinching course of the authorities.

A more glaring instance of deliberate and absolute treason was never recorded than in the case of Sir Roger. The man had admittedly in the past rendered great services to the Empire and he had received for the same, in his later years, a handsome pension and a title. He was thus by his knightly oath and his acceptance of a yearly stipend from the Crown, under even unusual obligations of lealty and faithfulness. Clinging to both, however, he nevertheless sought to stir up such a condition of affairs in Ireland as would advantage the enemy and no one doubts for an instant, that had he been able to hand the keys of London over to the Kaiser, he would have done so without the slightest hesitation.

Not content with taking steps to foment discord in the Emerald Isle, he actually went to Germany and there addressed captive Irish prisoners in an effort to get them to take up arms alongside the Huns against the Mother Land, and mayhap their own countrymen. And as if all of this rank disloyalty was not enough, he landed in Ireland from a German submarine, with a German vessel along, loaded with arms, to help in an uprising which led to the death of hundreds of innocent people, including women and children. On top of it all he was no friend of Home Rule for he wanted to smash that in favor of an Irish monarchy.

Bernard Shaw and some kindred cranks in the Old Land, led a movement for his reprieve, on the ground that as De Wet had received such leniency, so should Casement. The instances do not constitute a parallel.

The Boer General was an adopted son of the Empire, after he had passed middle age; Casement was a son of the Empire from whom he had received many marks of favor. Moreover De Wet didn't go to Germany to post the enemy, but did what fighting he put up on his own soil.

There was only one possible excuse for the conduct of Casement—instantly—and this was not urged by his counsel, or shown by his demeanor in court, or the testimony of witnesses.

On the evidence he was most clearly and fairly convicted of unmitigated and double dyed treason, and he has met the ignominious end very properly allotted to such offenders.

A BRANTFORD OPPORTUNITY

Very much has been said and written upon the subject of "Canada after the War," with special reference to the idea that the Dominion, when hostilities have ceased, will receive a very large influx of Old Country citizen soldiers. The idea is that while the men have been away fighting the battles of the Empire, the women in very large numbers, have proved their ability to fill many jobs hitherto barred to them, and that such female competition has come to stay.

Still further that many men, having had a taste of open air life, will not again desire to enter confined surroundings. "Back to the land," in the eyes of a great many people will prove the panacea for all this. The statement is very glibly made, but not by any means so readily proved, for the idea that anyone can successfully farm is one of those easy assertions not at all borne out by the facts.

However, Canada, without much doubt, will receive a good many new comers, a portion of whom will take up land holdings.

There is another phase of increased development which is likely to occur, and that is the industrial. The Empire is sure to become more closely knit in the matter of trading, and goods "made in Canada" are going to have quite a preference among the vast aggregations of peoples which owe allegiance to the Union.

Jack, also among the nations of the Allies, especially Russia, which takes a lot of manufactured stuff. A well-known Brantford manufacturer in recently discussing this subject with the Courier, exclaimed: "I don't believe that Canadian industries can prepare any too soon to take care of vastly increased export business."

There is another phase of this thing also which is bound to develop, and that is the establishment on this side of the border of many large U. S. concerns. Shrewd business men over there know that the fact of Uncle Sam keeping out of the war is not going to help that country any too well with the allies, and that goods affirmed to have been produced in Canada, will reap an advantage in very many directions, not to be enjoyed under the U. S. mark. Already there are a number of such offshoot establishments over here, and there are going to be a great many more. Brantford, as a railway centre and by reason of many other advantages, should be able by alert action, to secure one or more such concerns. They can't be obtained by sitting down.

NOTES AND COMMENTS.

Mr. George Bateman writes in the New York Evening Sun that he has stood for Home Rule since 1885, and that many years ago he asked Michael Davitt who a young fellow was, who had been bothering him. To this Davitt made answer, "He's just one of those friends of Ireland who are Ireland's worst enemies." Bateman adds "His name was Casement."

Can a man come back? Von Hindenburg is doing it just now as fast as he can.

If he had been Von Casement and had done to the Fatherland a hundredth part of what he attempted towards the Empire, the episode would have been closed a good many months back.

New Zealand has adopted a compulsory military bill. It would need a similar measure to reach some of the Canadian tribe of slackers.

The sad holocaust in Northern Ontario has brought home to Canadians in a small way the kind of devastation which has been taking place for two years in Europe, and which would be the portion of the whole of Canada were we in the war zone.

Colliers' Weekly publishes figures showing that in U.S. navy practice last spring, of the six ships engaged, out of a possible 125 hits, this record was made:—Nebraska 10, Kansas 5, Louisiana 10, Virginia 12, New Jersey 13, Rhode Island 1. The Toronto Globe referring to the matter, says:—

Clara Morris Says

THAT THE BEST WAY TO CORRECT CRIME IS THROUGH THE "MOTHER SPIRIT."

CLARA MORRIS

WHEN Mayor Mitchell of New York appointed Dr. Katherine D. Davis Commissioner of Corrections many persons cried, "Ah, it is to laugh!" And now? Well, now it is to rejoice—may, it is to salute every one in reach, quite after the fashion of French trials, with embraces and kisses—not to mention tears.

The day Miss Davis took her best parol, and in 1600 rioting prisoners she was a personal question, a human? Would she? Could she? Then she returned, hat on straight, hair smooth, parol intact, a personified triumph of feminine.

She could, she had! The surprising thing about her handling of the situation was the utter absence of coaxing. From 11:30 to 1:30, with a calm impersonal sort of sternness, she stood for obedience to prison rules. These, these, even those modification or abolishment she proposed to work, were to be obeyed while still intact.

Every man on earth enters life via woman's agony and love. Every man who has known his mother retains her memory till death. A father often trounces a boy to prove his own authority, and the boy dislikes him for it. But M-O-T-H-E-R spells comfort to him, and even when she gets busy with the back of a hair brush or father's slipper, because of clothes, she knows she is thinking of his welfare, not her process, and so he loves her for it.

Thus when those excited, hot-headed, sore-hearted, badly-treated men saw the prettily gowned woman issuing a stern order to them they took heed of the kindly, anxious eyes turned upon them; and the spirit of maternity, like a powerful leaven, began to work upon the crowd. Memories were banked, like a mother's eyes that had looked like that at them when they had disobeyed—well, they would obey now, because she was acting for their welfare.

The maternal spirit, taken in conjunction with courage, wisdom and patience, becomes a power for good; and Miss Davis, having blazed the way, the feminine factor in government will have to be reckoned with, for, surely, the one touch of nature that makes the whole world kin is the mother memory.

the security of the Atlantic and Pacific slopes.

Rubbish. The security of John Bull's fleet now, as always, is good enough.

Another grievance for Americans

By special wire to the Courier. London, Aug. 3.—The morning papers mostly deal in the briefest and most matter of fact way with the execution of Casement. The only editorial references is in the Daily News, which says: "We cannot but reaffirm our conviction that the government is right in its decision to execute Casement."

The execution of Casement, which has been followed a commutation of the sentence. The hanging gives the dissatisfied section in Ireland and other martyrs, embitters feeling throughout the island, alienates a large and important body of American opinion, and enables Germany to play off the death of Casement against the death of Fryatt."

The Value of Used Lubricating Oil

TO all intents and purposes lubricating oil that has been used, if thoroughly filtered, is just as valuable for lubricating purposes as new oil. This at least is the conclusion at which the chemists of Cornell University have arrived, after a series of the most exhaustive experiments.

The oil used in the investigation was from the system of a large hotel, whose engines run 24 hours on every one of the 365 days of the year. The oil is applied to 24 points of lubrication on the engines and pumps, and is of good quality. By comparing new oil and used oil which had been filtered it was found that, if anything, the used oil had the advantage in viscosity. Its specific gravity was greater, indeed, probably because in passing through the bearings some of the more volatile elements had been given off.

Friction tests showed little difference, the coefficient of friction being slightly lower for new oil in low-bearing pressures, and for the used oil in higher bearing pressures. As to the temperature of the bearings, it was about the same with either oil.

It is thought that these tests point the way to tremendous saving in large industrial plants, where much lubricating oil has been thrown away under the impression that its value has been lost through use. They would be helpful to the motorist, too, in case he is able to keep his lubricating oil free from gasoline.

Weighing Nebula Gas

BY studying the light emitted by a luminous gas, it is possible, by purely optical methods, to determine the temperature of the gas and also its atomic weight.

Observations on the nebula in Orion have been pursued since 1911. By studying the lines in the spectrum of the nebula which are due to hydrogen, it appears that the temperature of the hydrogen in the nebula is about 15,000 degrees.

The double ultra-violet line, which is attributed to the hypothetical gas called "nebulium," gives as the atomic weight of this unknown gas the figure 2.

A strong green ray, which is also due to an unknown gas, gives the figure 2 for its atomic weight.

Amputating a horse's leg at the fetlock joint, Prof. Udriski of the veterinary school at Bucharest replaced the lost portion with a leather artificial leg that enabled the animal to walk about and take exercise.

Fillings for "Bridge" Sandwiches

H OSTESSES who entertain a great deal are always on the lookout for new fillings for the ever-popular sandwiches. Here are a few that may add a pleasant variety to those one already may have:

Avacate or alligator pear filling: Halve, pare and stone one large alligator pear. Mash fine with a silver fork, season with pepper, salt and lemon juice, then spread thin on sliced bread rounds lightly buttered and lay up the sandwiches.

Cocoanut filling: Add to a full half cup of freshly grated cocoanut a half cup of whipped cream, a tablespoon of chutney syrup and a teaspoon of chopped tarragon leaves. Mix lightly and lay up the sandwiches with rye bread slices.

Nasturtium filling: A small bottle of pickled nasturtium seeds—drain and chop, then add them to a small can of tuna fish that have been flaked. Add mayonnaise enough to make a spreading paste and lay up the sandwiches on whole wheat slices cut thin and sparingly buttered. Chestnut filling: Peel, pare—after blanching in hot water—a pound of large chestnuts, then boil them until tender enough to mash; drain and mash, adding a little salt, a tablespoon of whipped cream and enough honey to make a spreading paste. Lay on fine thin-cut wheat bread.

Brazil-nut filling: Peel and then steam three ripe bananas, mash them and add six salted Brazil nuts, finely chopped; a tablespoon of chutney syrup and a tablespoon of whipped cream. If the paste is not quite soft enough add a little more cream; then lay on thinly-sliced brown bread chopped tarragon leaves. Mix lightly and lay up the sandwiches with rye bread slices.

Onion filling: Spread thinly with pate de foie gras slices of whole wheat bread, then cover with thinly sliced Spanish onion; dust with red pepper and lay up the sandwiches. The spreading paste takes the place flaked. Add mayonnaise enough to make a spreading paste and lay up wiches very tasty.

The Secretary read the following communications: From the Slingsby Mfg. Co., dated August 2, regarding agreement of December 19, 1904. Statement of water pumped for the month of July. From R. O. Wynne-Roberts, consulting engineer, Toronto, dated July 31. From Alex. Gillespie, July 11, regarding position as engineer in residence at pumping station. From City Engineer, dated July 29, regarding extensions on Erie Avenue, between Market and Emily streets. From Provincial Board of Health, dated July 11, 21 and 25, regarding information asked re application for chlorine to the water and condition of water. From Dr. Chas. H. Hastings, Medical Health Officer, Toronto, dated July 10, re chlorine and application of same to water supply. All of which were ordered to be received and filed.

It was moved by A. G. Montgomery and seconded by John Fair that the representatives of the local press be allowed to attend the meetings of the Board, if they so desire, as the Commissioners have nothing to conceal from the public. Carried. It was moved by A. G. Montgomery and seconded by John Fair, that the Secretary get full particulars regarding liquid chlorine plant, as to cost of installation, price of material, and report to this Board as soon as information is obtained. It was moved by John Fair and seconded by Mayor Bowby, that a pump be installed at the screen house to raise water five feet, and be pumped into the district, and for the purpose of increasing the supply by pressure into the filtering grounds. Carried.

Commissioner A. G. Montgomery opposed this resolution on the ground that it should be submitted to the Consulting Engineer and have his opinion before any expenditure was made.

It was moved by John Fair, and seconded by Mayor Bowby. That the lawn watering hours be changed and the territory divided, owing to the enormous consumption and tremendous tax upon the Works. The division to be as follows:—All that portion of the city east of Clarence St. and south to Colborne St. to water their lawns and gardens between the hours of 7.30 p.m. and 9 p.m. The balance of the city from 6 to 7.30 p.m. (city time.) ## Construction Men Active Unit Will Soon Go Overseas, and Last Call is Issued.

One recruit, in the person of Pte. Mathewson, was sent this morning, by the local recruiting sergeants of No. 1 Construction Battalion, to Toronto, to be followed on Saturday by Pte. Richardson. The men will go on almost immediately from Toronto, where the construction battalion is at present encamped, prepared to leave for overseas, as it will do very shortly. It is desired to emphasize the fact that this is the last call which will be issued in this district for this unit, and that all who are contemplating joining it should hesitate no longer. The local recruiting sergeants expect to be recalled almost any day now, being certain that their stay in the city will not last longer than the remainder of the week at the very latest. The Construction Battalion is now over strength, and is only recruiting a small number to be carried as reinforcements now.

BILLION DOLLAR CROP EXPECTED

After a thorough canvass of various points throughout Western Canada, Dr. McGill of the Dominion Grain Commission, is quoted in Calgary as saying that Alberta would have a crop as good as last year, that the Dominion would have a billion dollar grain crop and that the grain crop of the three Prairie provinces would be little, if any, behind that of last year.

"The country as a whole never looked better than it does at present," said Dr. McGill. "The weather was made to order, as you might say and I am of the opinion that this year's harvest will be another wonderful one."

Those who contemplate going West will do well to remember that the most fertile districts in Western Canada are served by the lines of the C.N.R. and that this season they can travel from their home districts to destination Canadian Northern all the way.

Arrangements have been made whereby passengers may travel in comfort. Colonist and lunch counter cars being a feature.

The first of these excursions will be run in August, the date will be announced later.

For further information apply to nearest Canadian Northern Agent, or write to R. L. Fairbairn, General Passenger Agent, 68 King St. E., Toronto.

ADVANCE PARTY OFF TO-MORROW

First of 215th Men Will Leave for Niagara at 8.30 a.m.

REST FOLLOW ON MONDAY.

W. P. L. Will Formally Present Field Kitchen To-morrow Night.

The headquarters of the 215th Battalion to-day presented a scene of the busiest nature possible, owing to the preparations being carried out everywhere for the impending departure of the unit for camp. In particular, the work of dismantling is prevalent, and all is bustle and confusion. At 8.32 city time, tomorrow morning the advance party of the battalion, 52 strong, will leave the city, via T. H. and B., under the command of Capt. Ferguson and Lieut. Hall. With them will go a large portion of the battalion's supplies, which are to-day being racked in readiness.

Remainder Go Monday.
The hour for the departure of the main body of the battalion has been fixed for 8 o'clock, city time, on Monday morning.

The officers of the 215th are desirous of expressing their thanks for the set of dishes so kindly donated by him to the officers' mess.

Two recruits were signed yesterday for the 215th, and several more were looked for this morning, men who were expected to report for attestation. During the week-end the recruiting activities of the battalion will be in no measure relaxed, but rather carried on more vigorously than ever, in a last attempt to reach the even 600 mark before Monday morning. It is expected that the battalion will leave a small party in the city to continue recruiting, although the recruiting for this has not yet been received.

Presentation of Field Kitchen by the Women's Patriotic League. A field kitchen will be formally presented to the 215th to-morrow evening on the occasion of the celebration of August 4th. This is the second of these articles to be donated to the 215th, and arrangements have been made for the transportation of both in a special flat car, on Saturday morning.

The members of the 215th Battalion have and the officials of the Band Committee desire to express their thanks to Mr. W. H. Webbing, who has donated to the band an equal sum of sporting goods.

With both bands, the 215th will parade at the armories at 7.15 to-morrow evening, to attend and participate in the celebration of the anniversary of Great Britain's entry into the war.

ODD and INTERESTING FACTS

Queen Victoria of Spain easily takes the first place as the best dressed royal lady. She obtains all her dresses from Paris, and has to pay over to the great firms of the Rue de la Paix a sum of no less than $40,000 a year. The German Empress has all her dresses made in Berlin at a cost not far below $500. An equal sum is expended by the Czarin. The same sum represents the cost of dresses to the wife of M. Poincaré, President of France.

Queen Elena of Italy spends only about $16,000 a year, while the dress budget of Queen Elizabeth of Belgium does not exceed $10,000. Her neighbor, Queen Wilhelmina of Holland, dresses still more modestly, and spends on her toilette only a few thousand dollars. But the palm of simplicity belongs to the Queen Mary of England, who has all her dresses, with the exception of those made at special occasions, made at home, and to go to the rescue of her maids.

The heels are very dressy—so much so in fact that the conservative woman "keeps her head" and gold, or silver filagree, which shows prefers her heels of plain satin or the satin heel through its tracery. Of course, the slipper buckle too, cooking, and I'll make you as comfortable as a parson's government will allow me." Thacker had set the time at a week, but it was two weeks before the design that he patiently tattooed upon the kid's hand was to his portion.

Half an hour afterward, quick time for Buena's Tierras, Senor Urrique's ancient landau drove to the consul's door, with the barefooted coachman beating and shouting at the team of fat, awkward horses.

Senora Urrique threw back her heavy veil with a quick gesture. She was past middle age, and her hair was beginning to silver, but her full, round figure and clear olive skin retained traces of the beauty peculiar to the Basque province.

SOME TICKLISH
CALCULATIONS.
Hard to Work out the Range of an Object Just Beyond British Infantry.

The following is an extract from a letter received in the city from Lieut. C. Morgan Bennett, of the Royal Field Artillery, B.E.F. Lieut.
Bennett enlisted in February, 1915, with the 2nd McGill University Corps, as reinforcements to the "Princess Pats" as a private. After serving several months in the trenches he obtained a commission in Royal Field Artillery, of the Imperial Army.

Observing Officer
At the time of writing I am doing the job of forward observing officer with the infantry who happen to be the 10th Cheshires. My duty is to remain near the Colonel in order to be his R. A. adviser, and in case of need to direct the fire of the battery. I have telephone connection through to the battery about two miles distant.

In a German Dugout I have established my station in a German dugout, a few yards from the Colonel's. This dugout is also occupied by the brigade machine gun officer and the trench mortar officer. The dugout is a wonderful affair, the entrance is a flight of stairs going down from the trench.
The floor is 26 feet below the surface of the ground, leaving 18 feet of earth and chalk over us. The entire place is lined with wood, with heavy props to support the roof. As water is rather scarce the Boche had piped it up from the rear together with electricity. Of course both of these have been cut off now.
Our water is carried up with the rations.

"In Hunland"
In this dugout, before the present officers arrived, a valuable camera and finishing outfit was found by an officer. It is thought it was used for finishing aeroplane photos.
It does seem funny to be at last in "Hunland," as we call his trenches, but almost any shell would fail to break up the dugouts.
We certainly are having the time of our lives, of all the branches of the army, the artillery is the best for seeing events and gaining first hand knowledge. How I wish I could draw a map and tell you all about things around here. Even with the guns we have fine rooms in dugouts to sleep in and have our meals. The walls are covered with burlap, the floors boarded, telephone connections in each room to the observation post. I expect it won't be long before we will get the Hunns really on the run and here's hoping it will happen in the next few days.
The Boche is so mixed now that he does not know his head from his heels.

Everybody Feels Good.
Everybody is of course at top spirits on account of the successful "pushing" and the chance of the open battle according to the British method of fighting. I sincerely think that this big push is the beginning of the end. Our chaps in front of us are doing well and will continue to do so. Yesterday we made a push —one of the many in the past two weeks. From our observation post we had a great view of it.

Emergency Work.
The work is extremely interesting, lately I've been doing a lot of telephone laying. We talk on a line three miles long to one forward observing station. This morning an order came through from brigade headquarters to shoot at a certain zone for which the data had not been worked out. As I was the only officer at the battery it was up to me to make the calculations necessary. I did it and then shot the battery. I see the Major always does this himself.

But it Was Accurate I was a little nervous about it as the objective was only a short distance from our own infantry, which I might have shelled by an error. I could not see the target, as our bat-

AGRICULTURE IN G.T. BRITAIN A SUBJECT NOW OF MUCH PLANNING FOR THE FUTURE

Under Earl of Selborne, Efforts are Being Made to Revive Scientifically This Art so that Much More May be Produced—Women Workers Now on the Farms

London, Aug. 3.—(Correspondence of The Associated Press) One of the effects of the war will be seen in a great revival of agricultural life in England and the United Kingdom. The outbreak of the conflict caught the British Isles dependent on foreign commerce for four-fifths of their food supply, barring meat, of which between 60 and 70 per cent is produced at home.

The motto of a few years ago,
"Back to the Land," thus has given way to the slogan, "England must feed herself." Lord Selborne, the leader of the crusade, and he emphasizes the point that the farmer can do as much for the country as the soldier in the trenches.

Plans for Land Reform.
Plans for the great reform include a number of important measures that are to be put into effect at the earliest possible moment. They include the following: 1. The repopulation of the rural districts and afforestation. The War Office has just consented to the exchange of many of the older men for the earlier days of the war left farm work for the firing line for men between 19 and 30 to take their places at the front. This exchange will begin immediately.

2. The settling aside of thousands of acres for the settlement on the co-operative plan of England's soldiers and sailors after the war. This expedient is provided for by the Smallholdings Colonies Act, now halfway through Parliament. The scholars will provide for model villages, better housing, with a garden to every cottage, reading rooms, libraries and good schools. Conceived by Lord Selborne, the idea has aroused so much enthusiasm that a wide demand has been made for increasing the land to be devoted to it by almost as much again as is specified in the bill.

3. The importation of natives from South Africa for agricultural labor during the remainder of the war, though so many have been raised to this that there is little likelihood of its being adopted.

It is believed that the plan for bringing back soldiers from the front will have the effect of providing sufficient farm labor practically immediately. In announcing the War Office's consent to the transfers an expert told the Agricultural Society that in England and Scotland, as well as in Ireland, the farms in many districts had fallen far below the minimum needs in the matter of labor.

Producing More.
The tendency to regard more seriously the country's capacity for growing larger crops is illustrated by the figures of the wheat, barley and oat crops in England and Wales.
Wheat and oats were grown in larger quantities, though the barley crops were much smaller. There were 5, 489,939 acres devoted to the three cereals in England and Wales in 1915, an increase of 248,944 acres as compared with 1914. The greatest increase in acreage was devoted to wheat, or 2,170,170 acres in all, the figure representing an increase of 362,672 acres (20 per cent), greater than in 1914, and 25 per cent greater than during any of the years between 1905 and 1915. Every county returned increased areas, the total for Wales of 1,122 acres (31 per cent), being the greatest.

Credit Due to Selborne.
The returns for 1915 give 2,088, 407 acres under oats, an increase of 158,421 acres as compared with 1914, but only 24,869 acres above the average for the past ten years.
The whole of this increase was in England. The reduction of the areas under barley amounted to 158,421 acres, the total acreage of 1,231,722 being the lowest yet recorded.

Perhaps to no individual as much as to the Earl of Selborne is due the credit of bringing home to the people of all classes the importance of taking prompt means of making the country more nearly self-supporting in food-stuffs. In all of his addresses in recent years he has laid stress on the point. A practical farmer and enthusiast on his large and fertile tract in Hampshire, he has been able to meet the objections of opponents of expert knowledge to the great advantage of his crusade.

Lord Selborne an Expert As Under-Secretary for the Colonies between 1895 and 1900, as well as during his term of office as High Commissioner of South Africa,

Asked Permission to Explore With an Aeroplane

Australia Refused to Allow Possible Agitation of Darkest Africa.

Melbourne, Australia, Aug. 3.—Dr.
Eric Moberg, a Swedish scientific aircraftman, has requested permission of the Commonwealth authorities to use an aeroplane in exploring the interior of Papua or British New Guinea, some parts of which have never been seen by a white man, but the Australian authorities have refused to sanction his project for fear of trouble with the natives. The English police are already hunting down some natives who recently killed one of their men with poisoned arrows, and although the natives are less than two minutes many of them fainted and collapsed at my feet. At another place a chief came within a few yards of me and when I went to take hold of his arm he fainted and fell into the bed of the creek. The whole crowd then assembled around me and prostrated themselves.

An explorer who recently headed an expedition from the Dahiti River had an unusual experience. "When I approached the natives," he said, "they stood and gazed at me, and in less than two minutes many of them fainted and collapsed at my feet. At
creek. The whole crowd then assembled around me and prostrated
themselves."

Immediately after the war, he had further opportunity of enlarging his knowledge as to agriculture.
Just before resigning as President of the Board of Agriculture the other day as a matter of principle, due to his views on the Irish question, Lord Selborne consented to review briefly the situation as to agriculture in an interview with a representative of the Associated Press.

"I have been highly gratified by the ready response of the people generally to the idea of making the country more nearly self-supporting from the soil," he said. "I have made my plea for the cultivation of the soil on the grounds of patriotism; the farmers and laborers came forward first to meet the emergency, and then the girls and women from the villages and even cities—some of the best type of women, including many of independent means, answering my call out of pure, unadulterated patriotism.

Praise for Women
"These women have taken to the soil enthusiastically and with the intelligence that seems to charac-terize everything they are undertaking. They are living like laborers and are doing remarkably well all of the farm laborer's work." The women are feeling and looking after the stock like veterans. Many of these even have mastered the work of handling horses and get as much work out of a team as any man.

"Because of the splendid manner in which the women have risen to the occasion in his respect at a time when farm work is of vital importance to the nation, we feel justified in the belief that we are going to pull agriculture through the crisis in spite of many apparently insurmountable difficulties.

Cannot Let Supplies
"We realize that the problem of making as much progress as we should in war time presents its handicaps. Among these, in addition to the shortage of farm labor already indicated, is the difficulty of obtaining sufficient supplies of fertilizers and modern machinery that are so essential in farming to the greatest advantage now. Then there is the shortage in shipping tonnage, restricting at many turns our requirements in the matter of supplies from overseas.

"We've asked the farmer to main-

Powers That be Fiends About the Red Cross work in the trenches in reference to the wounded Germans. Of course there are a very limited number of stretchers, so that our own wounded are carried out first. It's rather tough to see the poor Hunns waiting in the trenches to be taken out. You know these chaps are harmless. It's only the powers "that be" that are fiends. Several times I've spoken to them in French and they say it is all up with the German cause. Such youngsters, too!
Yesterday I met one coming along about 19 years old, who had been shot with a machine gun in both legs.
Nothing dangerous, however. Our own chaps are lying about in small numbers compared to the Hunns.

Prisoners Everywhere
Every day we see numberless German prisoners; the latter carry or help carry the wounded, for which they eagerly offer themselves. I've got a German helmet (1914) which was found in a dugout in a dugout of a trench I was walking along.

A Typical Hun Officer.
To illustrate what the Hun officers are like, this was the act of a Colonel. He surrendered and had his hat in his hand. A captain of ours went up to speak to him and the Hun threw his hat at him and killed the captain with a bomb in it. The Hun colonel was shot next morning.

Yes I know the fellows whose names were in the casualties in the paper you sent. I could not find any of the "Pats" numbers in the papers lately, but I met a Canadian "gunner" officer who said they lost 850 in the action including Colonel Buller. Only 47 of the company I was formerly in are left. Please send all concerning the "P. Pats" that I may know from time to time.

Remarkable Development of Silk Making in the United States

AMONG the industries which have shown the influence of the "Made in America" impulse few, perhaps, have made such rapid strides as the silk industry.
This was suggested by the recent placing in the Smithsonian Institution at Washington of 20 designs of "pussy willow" taffeta. The quality of these American products has been highly extolled by the experts.

Silk making has long been regarded as one of the most fascinating of manufactures. It is said that the Chinese discovered the possibilities of the silkworm 2700 years before the Christian era. The discovery was preceded by the spinning of wool, and was followed by the use of cotton and hemp.

The orientals kept their secret of silk weaving for many centuries, and the first importations of the raw silk from Greece and Syria cost, ounce for ounce, their weight in gold. The Emperor controlling the price. As years passed the industry grew; China, Japan and India controlled the east, while France and England were famous for the finer weaves, and Germany for the cheaper weaves.

Today from China, Japan and Italy merchants count upon sending fully 200,000 bales of raw silk to America for the use of our American manufacturers annually. The city of Paterson, N. J., alone turns out $50,000,000 worth of silk materials a year.

The raw silk is brought from the various states about the country, baled and ready for export, to the Isle of Shantung, where the Japanese merchants have warehouses—or "go-downs" as they are called—where the cocoon fires burn night and day to keep the silk from absorbing dampness, and where the buyers come to purchase.

Mulberry Meals.
As the culture has grown it has been brought to business methods.
It soon became known that there were four kinds of mulberry leaves to feed the worms upon. But upon the white mulberry leaves they grew the strongest and became most productive, so that orchards were planted with it, and the allowance of 10 pounds of leaves was made for every one pound of cocoons.

When the leaves are picked, which is done in dry weather, they are aerated before they are fed to the worms. One ounce of the eggs will yield in the neighborhood of 130 pounds of cocoons, which require 1500 pounds of leaves worth about $10.

Butterfly Tragedy.
The butterfly emerges ten or twelve days after the worm builds the cocoon, a fat, ugly, wet insect of a brownish hue, but in 15 minutes it dries off and its wings become rigid.
It immediately seeks its mate and spends its few hours' span of life in most delirious courtship, which ends in death—the price of fashion's silken threads. This cocoon are least 100 pounds in a bag—in dry warehouse rooms, until they are reeled. When the raw silk is spun it is tested for water, and 10 per cent is the usual result.

The first reeling machines produced fabrics coarse and uneven in appearance. The next step forward was the spindle or cylinder. There are several diseases that make silkworm culture rather difficult, and at times gamble, like many other enterprises wherein natural products are undergoing experiments.

France may have the distinction of being second as regards the quality of manufactured goods and in splendor of production. America now is first, and is forging to the front so rapidly that Lyons, the city of silk, and the fashion world of Paris are influenced by the result. The older cities were conservative, and hardly realized what was going on in the new world, until the American silks loomed large upon their horizon and their own beloved Poiret and Paquin took their term under earnest consideration.

Improvement in Manufacture.
Landed at San Francisco and sent overland, the bales containing the skins of raw silk go to New York, and are there claimed by the importers and forwarded to their various factories.

Side by side with the silks are charming indestructible voiles. American experts claim that no French chiffon can equal them for texture, coloring or design, and their durability makes them unique in the flimsy, cobwebby material that usually is such a short-lived luxury.

The widths of the silks vary, as do the imported ones, 37 to 40 inches being the average width. In former years the question of superior dyes, properties peculiar to water and climatic conditions have been the excesses offered for the superiority of imported silks over the American-made materials; but it has now resolved itself into the simple knack of "knowing how," and Americans have learned the trick.

Silks are in more general use today than ever before, and as the qualities vary the prices range until they accommodate themselves to the purses of all classes of purchasers. The silver lining to the war cloud, as the American manufacturer views it, is the possibility of establishing the greatest silk market in the world.
