KIERAN MISSING.

Buffalo, Jan. 20.—P. J. Kieran, the head of the Fidelity Funding Co., who was in Buffalo yesterday, has disappeared just as quietly as he appeared here, and no trace can be found of him to-day. Neither of his two attorneys, Shire & Jellinck, is in Buffalo to-day to throw any light on their client's movements. It is thought possible that Mr. Jellinck has accompanied Mr. Kieran to New York.

GOOD ROADS BY-LAW TO PEOPLE AGAIN.

Will Likely be Voted on Soon---Engineer Barrow Urging For Electric Pumps.

Indications are that the good roads by-is $300,000, the amount asked for the which was swamped in the municipal law which was swamped in the municipal election will be submitted again early this year, which will make the third time the ratepayers have voted on the question in less than a year. The matter was discussed last night by the Board Works, and the plan that seems to of Works, and the plan that seems to be favored is for the city to conduct a vigorous campaign on behalf of the bylaw. The Council must have money to do roadwork this year, particularly on the streets where the railway company will re-construct its roadbed. The city is in a bad way, financially, and it will be impossible to get the money from the funds at present available. Chairman Allan favors the submission of the by-law again provided all the members of the Council approve of it and agree to take nart in the open-call and the conduct of the council approve of it and agree to take nart in the open-call and agree to take Council approve of it and agree to take part in the proposed campaign. The idea is to hold public meetings in each ward and explain to the ratepayers just what it means. The aldermen say that there is only one other resort, and that is local improvement, if the people will not vote the money to put the roads in proper shape. They say the sum required

Mr. Barrow says he will do this to clear himself in case of an accident, as it is a well-known fact that the pumps at the Beach are in danger because of the great strain upon them. It is doubtful, however, if the committee to-night will be in a position to send on to the Council a recommendation to close the contract. Dear Sir.—I have to direct the attention of your County Council to the fact that so far no House of Refuge has been erected in the county of Wentworth. The statute now makes it imperative for every county in Ontario to erect a House of Refuge before Jan. I next, and action should no longer be delayed in the matter. It will take at least a year to build and properly equip a House of Refuge, and on that account it will be necessary for the matter to be settled at the January session.

A GIRL IN A THOUSAND

Despite his anger, he was forced to dmire the cool audacity of the indivi-lual; never had he seen it paralleled in he whole course of his checkered experience.

Mr. Chauncey Odell, looking indolenty out of the door, saw that he was beng surveyed by some one who had topped here, some one who scowled like pirate, and who beckoned with his nger. He dropped his legs from the seat, and straightened his figure, while a land smile crept over his handsome face.

"Ah! How d'ye do? Have a seat, and join me in a cigar, now. Great pleasure, I assure you," he said, seduc-

Rex still beckoned.

"You will have to come out of that, my friend," he said, endeavoring to speak dispassionately.

"I say, have we arrived at our destination?" jumping up eagerly, and half-stretching his arm toward his valise, now up in the rack.

"You have, at least," replied the stern proprietor of the special.

"But I want to go to Lucerne."

"You are at liberty to do so on the next train."

"But this one is going there."
"Exactly, but it will not bear you, I fancy."

"See here, I've met you somewhere or other. Face very familiar. Are you connected with the railway—conductor, other. Face very familiar. Are you connected with the 'railway-conductor, superintendent, a new guard, perhaps?"

"I happen to be the party who chartered this special," said Rex, stiffly.

"Oh! indeed. Thought I had seen you somewhere—it was at the hotel in Paris. Well, sir, I admit to you that in one way I have played you a scurvy trick by taking advantage of your hurry; still, it has not hurt you an iota, and I assure you that haste is of the most vital importance to me just now."

"Indeed!" sneered Rex, wondering how long the fellow would talk, and whether he would be compelled, after all, to forcibly eject him.

"It was of the utmost necessity that I leave Paris. I missed connecting with the express, and was almost in despair when, at the station, I chanced to hear that some rich foreigner had chartered a special, with the understanding that it was to overtake the regular train in the mountains. It seemed a golden opportunity too valuable to be missed. I bribed the guard and came. No doubt I should have seen you, and endeavored to make proper arrangements, but I was afraid you might refuse the favor. I should have seen you, and endeavored to make proper arrangements, but I was afraid you might refuse the favor that I took my chances the other way. At any rate, there was little opportunity for thought. And now I want to appologize frankly and offer to share your expense in the proportion you think just and right."

think just and right."

Well, that frank speech disarmed Rex more than a little; he could not find it in him to lay violent hands on the man who stated his case in that open way. Besides, after all, Odell did not seem like a scamp.

So he stood and looked at him, unmindful of the fact that valuable seconds were flitting. "You would have done just the same thing yourself in a like emergency, I warrant, sir," said the unwelcome passenger.

It was so—Rex admitted the fact in his heart; the other had simply seized upon an opportunity that was offered him, as any other bold chap would have done.

Immediately, a feeling of friendliness struggled in Grafton's heart.

"And allow me to tell you in confidence," pursued Chauncey Odell, with a smile, "that the need of urgency on my part is caused by an affair of the heart."

heart."

"Oh, indeed!" said Rex, his lips tightening and his eyes becoming hard again, while his fingers opened and shut in a manner that told of eagerness to lay hold of something in the shape of a coat collar and do a little act in the eviction line.

eviction line.

The deluded Odell seemed to consider that he had aroused the other's interest—which he certainly had—and awakended that fellow sympathy which makes all the world think well of a lover—which was hardly in line with the truth in this case.

which was hardly in line with the truth in this case.

He chattered on.

"The girl with whom I'm in love has been carried away by her guardian. Imagine my despair. Then came this glorious chance to overtake them, for which I am beholden to you. Ah! my dear sir, I'm exceedingly grateful to you. Continue to be my friend, and ji I win the girl against the objections of all the girl against the objections of all concerned I shall insist on you being at the wedding."

"The deuce you will!" roared Rex, for

He surveyed him in a startled way. "I mean it from my heart. You have been of great assistance to me, and I foresee that, through your kindness, I may be able to accomplish my end and win a wife."

"You expect all of that?" said Rex.

I certainly do. You are an American, and a gentleman. Perhaps you have never been in the same predicament yourself, but I am sure I may appeal to your love of fair play in the matter."

matter."

"Ah yes; fair play," laughing softly.

"They are leagued against me, but I'm determined to win out in spite of fate. Do you blame me for that?"

"Certainly not," said Rex, perplexed.

"Ah! I was sure you were that kind of a man. You wouldn't feel happy in bringing misery to loving hearts."

"See here, are you speaking for yourself alone, or with an eye single to the happiness of the—ah—young lady concerned?"

"For both. To be parted would mean untold misery for her as well as my self."

Jove! he spoke as though he meant it, too, and yet Rex could plainly remember the look of annoyance, almost disgust, upon the pretty face of Miss Madge when she was compelled to refer to the detestable fellow who had given her such trouble by chasing hither and thither after her.

Was Mr. Chauncey Odell a fool or a knave?

was Mr. Chauncey Odell a 1001 or a knave?
Plainly, he looked neither, and yet appearances were often very deceitful.
"You seem to be very sure of her affection, sir," Rex said, sarcastically.
"Of course I am; just as sure of it as a man can ever be of a woman."

"Doubtless she is yearning for you to come, and do the Lochinvar act—run away with her?"

"She has said so," quickly.
"How romantie! You are a fortunate fellow, Mr. Odell."

"Ah! you even know my name."
"Saw it on your bag at the last stop and I've been figuring ever since how I was going to fire you from my train."

"But you have repented—you won't do it now, will you, for the girl's sake?"
Rex ignored the leading question.
"As I was about to remark, Mr. Odell, you might be deceived in the girl."

Rex knew time was flitting—in an other minute or so the special would be on the move, and he must hurry.

Still, much may be said even within the space of sixty seconds, especially when both parties are very much in convect.

"Well, I don't think there's much danger of that fate overtaking her. Have you been really—er—engaged?"

"I should say so".

"And I presume you have more than once kissed the young lady?" with a sinking heart.

"A thousand times, as any lover would, given the chance."

"I'm sorry for you, my dear fellow," coldly, "but the lady has experienced a change of heart, and no longer wishes to see you."

"Exactly.'
"Oh! I shall make no scene about it, only I'm sorry you refuse to give me a chance. It's very evident you are in league with that accursed guardian of hers, against me. Never mind, I'll stand the whole lot of you off, and I'll win out yet, see if I don't!'

whom I understand to be yourself, and, of course, under the circumstances, I'm the last man to go up against her wishes, for I might as well tell you, Mr. Odell, that I'm head over ears in love with the young lady myself."

"You! Well, I like your nerve. I tell you she belongs to me by every holy right in the world, and I stand ready to fight any man who dares rob me of her You in love?" sarcastically.

"Why not? Don't get excited, Mr. Odell. As to your proposition for blood-shed, perhaps I'll find time' to oblige you later. I'm in a big hurry now, and you'll have to excuse me," slamming the door of the guard's compartment shut.

"May I ask your name?" demanded

No. 8325.—Cut in sizes 34, 36, 42 inches bust measure. This useful little garment will be found invaluable to stenographers, artists, bookkeepers and others engaged 14 work requiring protection to the waigt and sleeves. It will also make an excellent kitchen apron with the skirt attached as seen in the back view. The sleeves are full enough to slip on easily over the dress sleeves underneath. The front is gathered to a belt, or it may be finished by tape, the ends brought around and tied 31 the back. Lawn, cambric, linen and danim are all serviceable and appropriate for making. The medium size will require 3½ yards of 36-inch material.

DISEASED KIDNEYS

Made Sound and Strong Through Dr. Williams' Pink Pills.

"Two doctors told me that I was inurable, but thanks to Dr. Williams Pink Pills I am a well woman to-day. This strong statement was made Mrs. Ed. Rose, of St. Catharines, to reporter, who hearing of her remarkable cure called to see her. "A few years ago while living in Hamilton," continued Mrs. Rose, "I was attacked with kidney trouble. The doctor lulled me into a state of false security, while the disease continued. continued to make inroads. Finding that I was not getting better I consulted a specialist, who told me that the trouble had developed into Bright's disease, and that I was incurable. I had dwindled to once kissed the young lady?" with a sinking heart.

"A thousand times, as any lover would, given the chance."

"I'm sorry for you, my dear fellow," coldly, "but the lady has experienced a change of heart, and no longer wishes to see you."

"I shall take my dismissal only from her lips direct. And no matter whether you put me off your train or not, I shall follow her until I can settle this question. This is a matter of life and death to me, and not third party must juggle with my interests."

He looked very manly while saying this, and Rex was sorely tempted to let him go on, meet Miss Madge, and receive his conge from her direct.

'I am waiting, Mr. Odell," he said, with a significance that might not be misunderstood.

The other gritted his teeth.

"You mean that I shall vacate?"

"Exactly."

Oh! I shall make no scene about it, "Oh! I shall make no scene about it, "oh! I shall make no scene about it, one in the shadow, and suffered from pain in the back, and often a difficulty in the back, and often and foul. Then the back in the back and often a difficulty blood unfiltered and foul. Then the kidneys get clogged with painful, poisonous impurities, which brings aching backs and deadly Bright's disease. The only hope is to strike without delay at the root of the trouble in the blood with Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. They make new blood. They flush the kidneys clean, heal their inflammation and give them strength for their work. Common kidney pills only touch the symptoms—Dr. Williams' Pink Pills cure the cause. That is why they cure for good, and at the same time improve the health in every way. But you must get the genuevery way. "I insist on it—no, that door's locked; don't waif for the guard, but tumble into my den here. It strikes me there's some explaining to be the order of the day, and you may be happy with your Polly yet, Mr. Odell."

The train was commencing to move, the alarmed guard having mounted the engine, a fraid to face Rex again after having been so neatly-caught in his duplicity.

Just in time Rex ran alongside and started with a decided jump, as though BRITISH COLORY. cairley, who was this morning acquitted of a charge of criminally assaulting Mattie Brakeford, was this afternoon Mattie Brakeford, was this afternoon fatally wounded by George Brakeford, father of the girl.

Fairley was tried in police court on the assault charge. There were no witnesses except the girl, whose testimony was contradictory, and the police justice dismissed the case. This afternoon Fairley met Brakeford in the store of Jake Rogers. Some words were passed and the two had a fight, in which Brakeford is said to have received a severe drubbing.

Fairley left the place and started down the street. Brakeford followed him to the door and opened fire.

OPENING OF PARLIAMENT. To-day the eleventh Parliament the Dominion is being organized, and it is expected that at this afternoon's sit ting Mr. Charles Marcil will be elected Speaker, and Mr. McIntyre, of Perth, Deputy-Speaker: Mr. Marcil has for weeks been made the target of abuse by the Opposition press, led by the Toronto News and Mail and Empire. Probably no stronger argument for his selection as Speaker than this abuse by the scandal organs could be asked.

The Government programme for the session is in readiness and no excuse will given to the Opposition for delaying the business of the country. It is expect ed that an amendment will be made to the rules of the House enabling Parlia ment to control malicious obstruction ists. Important items of the session' legislation will be the enlargement, as already outlined, of the boundaries of Manitoba, Ontario, and Quebec; the new insurance bill; amendments to the banking act; a bill along British lines to prevent "graft" by making it a criminal ofsions in connection with either public or private business. The treaties with the United States will come up for ratificathe civil service bill, to the acts relating to marine and shipping; and the control of water services derived from the Trent canal will be placed in the hands of the Dominion Railway Commission, A bill to create a portfolio of Labor will also be brought down. The estimates have been closely pared with the object of fitting them to the revenue which de creased considerably in the period of finloquaciousness, there would seem to be no reason for the session being a long one, and it is hoped that it may be brought to a close early in the summer.

NOW TALK BUSINESS.

The much-abused street railway, which last year was hindered greatly in its work of improvement, is now pro ing for aldermanic decisions that will enable it to early in the spring proceed to rebuild its roadbed and to construct its car sheds and shops. Had the counci of last year shown ordinary busines self to a war of revenge, matters would have been much more advanced in the direction of improved street railway. and several hundred men would have been employed on the sheds and shops The mischief thus done during the Stew art regime cannot now be undone, but the anti-Hamilton policy should cease railway to give us a good service; we

The company wants a definite direction as to the width of the devil strip to be used. This matter has been used by some aldermen in the past as illustrating the street railway's grasping disposition, and it has been made an ob stacle to progress toward improvement The aldermen wanted wide, modern cars, which cannot be operated with a four-foot devil strip, and at the sam time they refused to permit the widening, and then cursed the company for not getting the wide cars! The com pany for some time operated two wide, nodern cars of the short kind, which were well liked by the public; but as such cars could not pass each other or the tracks with a four-foot devil strip it is not practicable to utilize them gen erally. The City Council has its choice wider devil strip and wider, better cars, or the narrow devil strip and the old kind of rolling stock. But the com pany wants to know what to do request is not unreasonable. And wethink that it is about time that the "war party" washed off its paint, pluck progress in the city's interest.

According to the that life is "the sum total of the forces is "the constant uniformity of phenom ences": Duges, that it is "the special activity of organized bodies," and Beclard twofold internal movement of composition and decomposition at once general and continuous." Herbert Spencer's conception of it is: "The definite combinasimultaneous and successive, in corre and sequences." G. H. the technical staff of Boston has long and justly had an excellent reputation for ability and zeal. The situation is precisely that existing in many cities. This work has been done and the results of it are instructive as an example of municipal ownership.

The fundamental cause of the waste of money in this department is reported to have been the employment of many more men than were needed. The number complexed in 1898, was actually chant of the department was very About 50 per cent, more men less. About 50 per cent, more men were employed to do about 15 per cent, less work. The efficiency of the day-labor force had diminished so by 1908 that the amount of work done per man per hou had shrunk by 50 per cent. In the mat ter of employees receiving high salaries the case has been still more significant of political control, according to the fin ance commission. Although there were had practically nothing to do, a third was added in 1906 at a salary of $3,000. was added in 1906 at a salary of $3,000, and the position of secretary and chief clerk, with a similar salary, was divided into two offices, with salaries aggregating $3,500, in order to make a new place for a political favorite at $2,500. The office force of the distribution division consisted of a chief clerk and eighteen assistants, but the work could have been done by half that number. Two of the three assistant superintendents were unnecessary and a large "cree of useless inspectors was employed, "These are the results of conducting a great department of the public service with the purpose of getting votes instead of a fair day's work for a fair day's wage," according to the commission's report.

For Six Months They Suffered Tortures - Patches of Humor Became Raw—Could Hardly Sleep—Medical Treatment Did No Good but

"Last February my sister broke out with a humor which gradually spread to the rest of the family. I being the last to take it. It manifested itself in patches varying from the size of a pea to that of a silver dollar. The joints of our limbs were most affected. The parts where the skin was tender soon became raw and irritated and we were able to sleep but little because the itching got so bad at night. My sister consulted a physician but he was unable to name the disease and the treatment he prescribed did no good at all. As the warm weather came on we were tortured worse than ever, the irritated parts causing us to scratch until they would bleed. In August, when it was at its worst, my sister was given a cake of Cutieura Soap. This she tried and it afforfied so much relief that I bought the (complete treatment, consisting of Cutieura Soap, Cutieura Ointment, and Cutieura Pills. This we used according to directions and immediately the humor began to disappear. I then bought another set and the whole family were cured by these two, the blotches disappearing in ten days. After this we used the Cutieura Pills for ten days more to be sure that the humor had gone to stay. We have not been troubled since and we all think that If it had not been for the Cutieura Recordes we would have been suffering yet.

men detailed for day duty in the western portion of the city, and No. 2 Station is used for the convenience of the men on duty north of Sthart and Barton streets. Our police system is obsolete, and I again point out the necessity of dividing the city into two police divisions, and the appointment of superior officers to have charge thereof. In order to do so, we require a new station on Napier street, with the necessary number of cells for the detention of prisoners. The strength of the force on the 31st of December was 64, all ranks, but we should have at least 75 men, in order to meet the requirements of the city.

New York, Jan. 20.—Six weeks ago Thomas Hutchings walked into the office of the Stephen Merritt Burial Com-pany at Nineteenth street and Eighth avenue, and asked for Mr. Radcliffe, the manager. When Mr. Radcliffe appear ed, Mr. Hutchings introduced himself and told Mr. Radcliffe that he had heard him preach in the Broadway Tabernacle some time back and that he had enjoyed his sermon very much.

I am a real estate man,' 'said Mr. Hutchings, "and am very much interested in the question of cremation."

The two men talked for a time and Mr. Hutchings left without giving any further information about who he was, but said he would return and talk further with Mr. Raddiffe.

Hutchings walked into the Merritt of Hutchings walked into the Merritt offices again to-night and asked for Mr. Radcliffe. He seemed in a particularly jovial mood and laughingly recalled himself to Mr. Radcliffe as the "man who talked remaition" to him.

"I was on my way uptown," he said, "and I thought that I would drop in and make arrangements for my own cremation, as I have thought the matter over carefully and am convinced that cremation is better than burial. In fact, I don't like the thought of going under ground," he added, with a hearty laugh. "I think in cremation that they don't burn up your soul. I have studied the matter and I am convinced that the soul remains forever. It is my belief, however, that the soul does not really begin to live until it is freed from the human body,"

Mr. Radcliffe agreed on the last propo-

Mr. Radeliffe agreed on the last proposition, but said that he himself preferred burial to cremation.

The two men chatted some time longer and then Mr. Radeliffe showed Mr.

As he started to leave he asked if he might make a deposit on his urn and paid $10. Then he asked if he might write a letter, as it would save him a trip uptown. He wrote a letter and was whistling while doing sê. As he left the undertaker's, he asked the man at the door where the nearest police station was and was directed to the West Twentieth street precinet.

At the station-house, whither Hutchings immediately went, he asked Lieutenant Tighe, who was at the desk, if he were a Mason. The lieutenant said that he was not, but that John Anthony, the doorman, was. Anthony, who was in the room, asked Hutchings what it was that he wanted.

"Well, I am a Mason and in trouble, family troubles, and I want to talk over my troubles, and I want to talk over my troubles. They are partially family troubles," said Hutchings.

"Well, I don't think I can advise you," replied Anthony. 'but if you walk over to 23rd street and Sixth avenue, you can find plenty of Masons there in the Masonic Temple."

as aspiroto concerning his sainty or intentions was raised in the minds of the police, of whom there were at least 50 on the floor, waiting for the 8 o'clock roll-call to go out on patrol.

Hutchings went out on the front steps of the station-house and stood there watching a number of children play.

Daniel Forbes, a boy living at 239 West Twentieth street, said that he saw Hutchings take a revolver from a pocket in his trousers and place it behind his right ear. Without any hesitation he pulled the trigger and fell to the steps.

Captain Kane heard the shot and saw Hutchings as he fell. A dozen policemen ran out and picked the man up and carried him into the station-fouse, where he died in a few minutes without regaining consciousness. In his pockets the police found only the burial deposit receipt. There were no letters and no money.

Things have not always liroken so nicely for him as they have of late. He has tasted of the bitterness of political defeat, having run twice for the Quebec Legislature, and when it was all over found that the other fellow had the most votes. In 1897, when he ran against. Hon. E. J. Flynn, then the Premier, in Gaspe, he came within eleven votes of getting in on a recount. He also ran against Dr. Delaney in the Magdalen 14and, ard, was beat in by only 42 votes. Three years later he ran for the House of Commons in Bonaventure, and was successful, and has been returned at every general election since.

tian Association ended the past year with a balance on hand, and this is the first time they have not faced an overdraft for many years, in fact since their first annual meeting. The credit for this showing is due greatly to the untiring efforts of the energetic general secretary, Miss Ethel T. Simpson, who came here from Toronto to take charge of the work some time ago. Since she has taken over the reins the receipts have been greatly augmented and expense cut down matrially. "Tag Day" was one of her schemes, and it did much to advertise and help finance the noble work of this institution. The large amount of money collected for a new building speaks well for the management of this haven for for many years, in fact since their first for the management of this haven for espectable young women. The year's innual meeting was held yesterday afternoon in the parlors of the Association building and was the nineteenth. The parlors were crowded with members and parlors were crowded with members and the meeting was highly successful. Mem-bership fees totalling $125 were collect-ed and two life members were added to the Association, Miss Unsworth and Mrs. Atkinson. Life members pay $50 for the privileges and the money will be velcomed as well as the additional names to the life membership list. Mrs. James Harrison Vice-President James Harrison, Vice-President ture.

Miss E. T. Simpson, general Secretary, read her annual report, which covered the different departments of the work of the past year. She mentioned the new building fund and the response the collectors were meeting. She reported that the Association had a good year, despite the financial depression, and paid a tribute to the members of the board for the great assistance they had given the the great assistance they had given the vorkers. Tag Day was mentic most successful undertaking. The men bership of the Association is 411, an in bership of the Association is 411, an in-crease in girl members offsetting a slight decrease in the older members. The classes were all reported to be high-ly successful. Those running during the year were as follows: Shirtwaist class, English literature class, millinery class, English literature class, millinery class, St. John's Ambulance Corps class, fancy work class. would, not for a week or a month, but through the years! That is the new movement just initiated in this city along the lines of the heralded temporary efforts in Cleveland and Boston. And it is being led by Rev. Dr. Charles A. Eaton, the militant new pastor of the Madison Avenue Baptist Church.

"No person can ever life as Christ didfor He was divine," said Dr. Eaton. "But there can be a genuine effort, based upon sound reason, which should last through the life of each human being." Dr. Eaton outlined his rules for Christian living as follows:

"First—Approach your problems from the eternal side. This makes very few things that we struggle after worth while, and would at once reduce the strain and tension of life.

"Second—Remember that the Christian life is spiritian, not form or formula. It is the spirit in which men perform their tasks rather than the tasks themselves which constitute the Christian life. At conversion men are not taken out of them. A Christian is a man who does small things in a large way.

"Third—The Christian man has a divine standard of values, so that a man is worth while for his own sake. To accept this completely would very largely eliminate our artificial class destinctions. To this completely would very largely clim-inate our artificial class destinctions. To be a Christian is to look upon the world as Christ did, Jesus died for the sake of showing the world that men are crea tures of eternity, that time is only ar incident in their existence, a short period incident in their existence, a short period of discipline, and that men take with them simply what they are and leave behind what they had."

Dr. Eaton was formerly pastor of Bloor Street Baptist Church, Toronto.

The Opening and Maintaining of a Savings Bank Account is a duty that everyone owes, both to themselves and to those dependent on them

NCIDENTS constantly arise that make demands beyond one's regular income. The possibility of sickness, temporary loss of employment or income, or the need of something the regular income cannot meet, renders it absolutely necessary to lay aside, in the safe custody of a Savings Bank, all money not required for current living expenses. The Bank of Hamilton has long been very generally recognized as one of the best savings institutions in Canada. Conducted for over thirty years under sound, conservative management, it has accumulated total assets of over Thirty Million Dollars. This public confidence, reflected in being selected as the custodian of this large sum, is its best reference to you in soliciting your Savings Account.

Why not give personal thought to this question of opening a small savings account to-day, and start with a deposit-if only of one dollarto save a little as regularly as possible for the future. All that is necessary is to call at the local branch office of the Bank of Hamilton, and enquire for the manager.

Fine Progress Has Been Made in Burials and removals Many Ways.

Hamilton Now Leads Most Cities in This Respect.

Finances Are in a Highly Satisfactory Condition.

At a meeting of the Cemetery Board, held last evening in the City Hall, the secretary's report for the year ending, December 31, 1908, was presented, and other business transacted. Mr. F. C. Fearman presided.

The Board under the Cemetery by The Board under the Cemetery by-law has the power to invest its funds but this procedure is not authorized by legislature and on the suggestion of City Solicitor Wadell a resolution was passed that the chairman, F. C. Fear-man, and William Armstrong be ap-pointed a committee to wait on the City Council and ask its co-operation in se-curing legislation granting the Board power to invest its own funds. Under the Municipal Act the City Council could wipe out the Board and handle the cemetery itself. the cemetery itself.

The superintendent, F. H. Rutherford submitted his report, from which the following extracts are taken:

The year 1998, taken generally, was probably the mast satisfactory and successful in the history of Hamilton Cemetery, as most of the recently introduced methods had passed the experimental stage; the affairs now being conducted, as far as practicable, in accordance with the usages adouted by the best cemeter. as far as practicable, in accordance with the usages adopted by the best cemeteries in Canada or the United States: in fact, very few cemeteries combine the many up-to-date methods in force here. A telephone system to the five section-which was installed during the year adds greatly to the efficiency of the work, and such a system is in advance of most of the other cemeteries.

The uniformed attendance at burials, of which there were 885 during the year, is the best I have seen in any of the larger cemeteries, which, added to the satisfactory provisions made by the local funeral directors, has changed entirely satisfactory provisions made by the local funeral directors, has changed entirely the surroundings formerly so depressing. Favored with good soil, your Board has been able to construct roadways at a low cost, which are suitable throughout the year, both for pedestrians and carriages, so that with the purchase during the past year of a road sprinkler, designed especially for cemeteries, the driveways could hardly be improved upon.

The formation of a separate fund to The formation of a separate fund to provide for the maintenance of the roads, buildings, trees, fences, etc., after the ground in the cemetery is entirely sold, was approved of by your Board, so that a question which is simply being advocated by a few of the most advanced cemeteries, has been settled here, and the formation of this fund is under way. This action, we believe, will prove in the future to be one of the most beneficial ever adopted by the Board, and was all that was required to place Hamilton Cemetery on a self-supporting basis, for with the disposal cu to piace Hamilton Cemetery on a self-supporting basis, for with the disposal of available ground, your Board should have on hand several funds, amounting in all to considerably over $200,000, which will, unnided, guarantee the main-tenance of the cemetery in every de-partment in an even better manner than at present.

We would here emphasize the fact, which, while understood by your board, is not realized by many of the rate-payers and let owners, namely, that for at least six years your board has been able to so conduct affairs that the receipts for care, burnls, etc., amounting hast year to $15,000, have been sufficient to cover all expenses in connection with the cemetery, so that not-sone dollar has been required from the City Treasurer.

Treasurer.

Aside from the above amount there has been added on an average $10,000 yearly to the perpetual care funds, which now amount to $52,676. Of this $8,000 is invested in property purchased for cemetery purposes, while $44,676, at present earning 4 per cent, is about to be invested by your beautiful purpose.

The continuation of this planting is con-templated during the conjunctions. templated during the coming spring. The public and private flower beds, placed in the care of a competent man, were

In the older part of the cemetery the in the older part of the cemetery the one marring element is the presence of so many fences in all stages of disre-pair. These not only destroy the natu-ral beauty of the rolling ground, but also prevent any attempt at proper creating.

During the summer memorial services were held by the Sons of England Society, the Army and Navy Veterans, the Bricklayers and Masons, and the Independent Order of Oddfellows, all of which were very impressive. It would seem to be of general advantage if the various societies would unite in one Sunday as memorial day, each society selecting a different hour for service. During the coming year we would strongly recommend the procuring of suitable stone gateways for the main entrance. These are not only necessary, but would create a good first impression on visitors.

modest grace" look from her book at a youth look away, and then look again? May she flirt if she would? Is there any harm in learning the color of the other's eyes?

These questions have been answered by the Rev. S. B. Dexter, pastor of the Fark Place Baptist Church, of Aurora. The elergyman holds that "the little mingling of glances consequent upon opposite seats is not objectionable if it is in church.

"On the other hand," said the minister yesterday, "flirting in theatres and other places of public amusement should be tabooed—it is harmful there, but in church it is purged of its harmfulness."

At the same time he replied to an assertion of the theatre owners that a show had been given in his church on Sunday. A moving picture exhibition was given in the Park Place Church a week ago, and in defense of this the pastor said: "Church surroundings and associations are entirely different from those which attend performances in public playhouses. Sometimes the plays in our theatres are a trifle risque, and if the show be given on Sunday, the result is a general forgetfulness of that fact. Under such conditions flirting is harmful. "In church, however, I can see no harm in a 'little bit' of flirting, if the young people come not to look at each other, but to learn the scriptures. "I am not opposed to the theatre—in fact the theatre may be termed an 'aid to indigestion." But the Sunday show is a step below the plane Christianity should occupy. LABOR DEPARTMENT

Annual Report Shows What It Has Accomplished.

Ottawa, Jan. 19.—The annual report of the Labor Department for the last fiscal year is one of the first of the sessional blue books to be issued. In respect to the industrial disputes act the report says that it was the means of eliminating from the category of strikes and lockouts practically all disputes af feeting public utilities. There were thirty-five references to boards of cor ciliation under the provisions of the act The number of men concerned was about 30,000, and the amount of capital involved many millions of dollars. In only one case did a strike follow the report of the board, and in this single instance, after a strike lasting thirteen weeks, the men returned to work on the terms recommended by the board. The total cost of administration of the act during cost of administration of the act during ost of administration of the act during the year was within $20,000.

 NEW YORK STOCKS

The early market developed firmness with good buying in such issues as N. K., K. S. U., Eric and U. P. It was denied that the Pennsylvania is to take back its B. O. stock sold in 1906. C. O. is still below its high price of 65%, reached in 1906. There is said to be well informed buying of Eries on prospect for favorable decision regarding the bond issue. This stock looks high, but its position relative to the preferred stock has been established by months of trading around current levels, and it must be assumed that insiders knew the reason for the apparent disparity in price as congared with distinct prospect. Silver was lower in London, with outlook for price improvement of importance. Earnings of distillers have increased gradually since October, and sales are now—large. U. S. realty business earnings are very large at present. It is now thought that the Bank of England rate will not be advanced to morrow. Sentiment is favorable to prices. WHO SHOT FIRST.

Three Men on Trial For Shooting an Editor.

State Exhumes Murdered Man's Body For Evidence.

Nashville, Tenn., Jan. 20 .- With the stage set for the trial to-day of Colonel stage set for the trial to-day of Colonel Duncan Cooper, his son Robin and J. D. Sharp, on a charge of having murdered ex-United States Senator Carmack, the witnesses and the prospective jurors summoned, it became known today that the State had prepared a surprise for the defence by having had the body of Senator Carmack exhumed and an autopsy held.

an autopsy held.

Following the murder, in the excite ment attendant upon the crime, the State neglected to order a post-mortem It is essential in the trial that the di-rection from which the bullets came be determined. The defence claims that determined. The defence claims that Carmack fired first. The State's theory is that Carmack, with his hat raised greet a lady, was shot from behind, and it appears that some time between the date of the killing and the present time the State, secretly at night, exhumed the body of the slain editor, and caused a careful post-mortem to be performed. The course of the bullet thus was determined, and the State claims to have proof that the bullet which killed Carmack entered his neck from behind.

This, however, does not entirely disprove the theory of the defence. Even the defence does not claim that Colonel Cooper fired the shots. It maintains that Robin Cooper, believing his father's life was in danger, fired upon Carmack to protect his father, and it is not contended that young Cooper stood elsewhere than behind Senator Carmack.

The case promises to be the most famous criminal trial in the history of Tennessee.

Brantford Manufacturers Committee After New Industries.

(Special Despatch to the Times.) Brantford, Jan. 20.—After an extended hearing, lasting from 10 o'clock until after 3 yesterday afternoon the local after 3 yesterday afternoon the local police succeeded in registering convictions against Fred Henderson and Harry Ireland, two well-known local men, who had been carrying on under the guise of respectability an extended system of chicken thieving. Out of six charges the police were successful in three. Henderson, who denied all knowledge of the thefts, was let off with a fine of $55, while Ireland, who pleaded guilty, was fined $35. Henderson fainted in the police station before he got out. The police think they have succeeded in putting an end to a series of thefts that grew recently to alarming proportions among the city and township chicken owners.

Perhaps the time is not far distant when a feature of an athletic meeting in July will be an ice skating contest. Such a conjecture will not be considered such a great stretch of the imagination, as it probably appears at first, when Isabel Butler and Edward Bassett are seen here next week in their new act, which shows skating on real ice on the theatrestage. Tom Butler, the famous exhicycle rider, who invented the act, and under whose direction these clever skatorial artists appear, talked to a reporter about his novelty. "There is good authority for saying Billy Carroll predicts that there will be some funny stunts pulled off at Armory Hall next Tuesday night, in the Armory Hall next Tuesday night, in the amateur vaudeville contest, which will take place while the crowd is waiting for the reports of the Longboat-Shrubb race at Madison Square Gardens. "Some queer looking actors have already entered to sing comic songs," he says.

Three judges will be appointed to award the prizes, the chairman of these being that funny fellow, "Bay Hill."

Walter Miller, who was the Walter Miller, who was the best jockey in America, in point of winning mounts, year before last, and who has been leading the riders in the same respect at Oakland this winter, has got into serious trouble, and may never be seen in the saddle again. Ten days ago the Oakland stewards fined Miller $250 for breaking the rules of racing. Miller promptly refused to pay the fine and stopped riding voluntarily, declaring that he would appeal to Thos. H. Williams, his employer, who is the big man liams, his employer, who is the big man in California racing affairs. Miller ac-cordingly laid his case before Williams and asked to have the stewards' ruling and asked to have the stewards' ruling set aside. Williams called on the track officials for a statement of the facts, and after due consideration of the case he shocked Miller by canceling his con-tract with the jockey immediately.

Jockey Dave Nicol got a pretty good contract to ride for Baron Maurice Rothschild of Paris, France, says the Cincinnati Enquirer. He will get $5.000 a year for a retaining fee and $30 for each winning mount and $10 for the losing ride.

Ottawa, Jan. 20 .- The third day of the Central Canada Racing Association's winter meeting produced some excellent contests in the different heats, all of which thoroughly pleased the large num ber of spectators. The track was some what heavy on account of a recent fall ing for some time. I think the process of snow, and 2.25 was the best mile of has never been so thoroughly mastered and subserved to the uses of conveniemce as in the portable apparatus that I stake, and by Ideal in the second and employ. Two races were on the card, but only one, the 2.24 were on the card, but only one, the 224 class, was finished, the other class being split up when time was called to halt.

In 'the 2.24 class, Dan K., a local horse, and Honest Billy, from Loronto, were split tavorites, each selling in the auctions for $10, with Baird's ideal and the field bringing $5 each. Jack Rombough was up behind Ideal, and drove the big geldling a cleyer race, landing the money gelding a clever race, landing the money right off the reel, and also a lot of the right off the reel, and also a lot of the long green for his friends: from Hamilton. It was Dan K that did battle with Ideal, but the best the Ottawa horse could do at any stage was to get to Ideal's sulky, as Rombough always had a little up his sleeve when it came to a brush. Honest Billy did not repeat his Toronto race, where he paced the fourth heat at Dufferin Park in 2.20 3-4. Apparently the footing here does not suit him, as he did not appear to be able to extend himself.

Acting upon numerous requests that have been received from women who want to see the race, and also upon the request from Shrubb, the management has decided to prohibit smoking in the garden on the night of the match. Both Shrubb and Longboat are outdoor runners and the clouds of smoke bothered them considerably in their recent races at the garden.

The meeting to seelet the officials for the race will be held this afternoon at 1 at the Hoffman House. It has already been decided that Tim Hurst shall refere the match and probably Tom Flanagan and Lou Marsh, of Toronto, will be Longboat's attendants during the running of the event. Y. M. C. A. Basketballers at St. Catharines.

St. Catharines Ont. Jan 20 - (Special)-In one of the most keenly concial)—In one of the most keenly contested basketball games ever played in St. Catharines, the fast Hamilton East End Y. M. C. A. team succeeded in defeating the local Y. M. C. A. seniors. At half time the score stood 14 to 16 in favor of the homesters. In the second half the teams alternated in scoring and leading, until at full time the score was even, each having 31-points to its credit. Five minutes' extra play was allowed, and Lewington, of Hamilton, broke the tie. Veale then made the record 35 to 31. Rapsey and Bates, of St. Catharines, each scored close together, and the teams were again even. The game finished 39 to 36 in favor of the visitors.

McPherson and Veale were the stars of the Hamilton team, and Call and Boles were the best of the home team. The officials were Referee, Mawdesley, St. Catharines: umpire, Warner, Hamil-ton; scorers, McIntosh, St. Catharines, and Connors, Hamilton. TIME KEEPER ASLEEP.

The Conquerer

What puts the fighter on the blink when he is young and strong? What takes away his glory, adds a blue note to his song?

What turns his youth away, and throws his youth away, and throws him down and out just when his glad career begins to loom up in the distance like a gleaming star core loom the cause we have not got the dope? What takes the vigor from his blow, and makes them say before the fight he has not got a show? What the lustre of his eye, and places in the star of the cause we have not got in the dulk the quickness of his thought. This heart an offer the fight has not got a show? What the lustre of his eye, and places his heart and him with the "also-rane, and lays him on the shelf, deprives him shard-earned fame and takes away sif? What causes him to groan and wand hang his head in shame, and drive him with a hand of steel to quil hi chosen game? Why does he lie awake at nights and rounted him and made him do its bidding at a call and started him adown the path on which so many fall? What was it stole into his life with care and made him voil of all the things for which men do and dare? feet. Fix your eye on the head or centre pin. Remain motionless an instant, while the brain receives the proper photograph of the alley. The head pin is what you must aim for. Unless you strike it attempts to bowl good scores will be failures. Lit the head pin three-quarters full on either the left or the right side, it matters no, and a strike is almost certain to result. While waiting to start the ball, keep

While waiting to start the ball, keep your mind fixed on this one idea of where the ball must go to make a strike, and allow nothing else to distract your attention. Don't start to deliver the ball until you are ready. Too much hurry is sure to spoil your chance for a good score.

Don't use a short, jerky swing of the arm. You can't get good results that way. Use a full swing of the forearm to deliver the ball.

At the same time don't run to the oth-ball runs off into the gutter.

Right in the beginning acquire the habit of grasping the ball properly. The spread of the fingers is most important. Beginners make the mistake of drawing the index finger too close to the second finger. This is what causes the ball to turn and roll off into the gutter. The fingers should be well spread, so that the pressure on the ball as it leaves the hand is equal in all directions. Any violation of this rule is going to cause trouble in the end. The bowler should also always be certain to keep the second finger held in direct line with the alley.

Newcomers in the game often think it is necessary to take a long run to set the ball going in good shape. This is a serious mistake. Don't stand too far back. About three steps are enough to take. When the bowler takes a long run to generally finds that when he is ready to deliver the sphere he is somewhat off his balance, and the ball rolls untrue.

GET THE HEAD PIN.

When you have determined the proper distance at which to stand don't look around the room or gaze at your degree, but it has no place in the beginner's vocabulary. He should wait until he has mastered all other points before he delves into the fancy stunts. The beginner should take things easy in the start. Don't worry about not making big scores. Of course, they are desirable, but they cannot be made without practice. They will come later if you stick to it.

Don't deliver the ball with a short rm swing. Don't take too long a run, it may nbalance you.

Don't get the index finger too close to the second finger.

And above all, don't go over the foul line. -- Splits in Toronto News.
