Our stock of Wall Paper is complete, all new paper is in stock. Do your papering now and avoid the rush.—P. Dodds & Son.

A medical man advises people to use dried milk on health grounds. We have felt for some time, says Punch, that what was wanted was a really good waterproof milk.

The New Hats at Swift's, five dollars.

There is one advantage in being a bootlegger, your B.O.T.A. fines are counted as expenses. Wonder if any of them state their true income on their papers.

Zimmie says:—"A church is God's house, and the people who don't go to it when they're invited should not complain if they feel, some day, that they've been cut off his calling list."

The Women's Institute will hold a St. Patrick's Tea in the Public Library on Thursday, March 17th, from 5 to 7. Admission 35c. Proceeds to go to the new skating rink. Every one invited.

Get in your Easter Suit order.—Swift's.

The breaking of a fuse at the butcher shop corner deprived a section of the town of hydro power for an hour on Saturday night. The picture show had to put off their exhibit until Monday evening.

A lecture was given at the High School on the evening of March 1st, by Prof. Dorland of Western University, under the auspices of the Reading Club. The subject was "The Northwest Passage," and the lecture was most interesting and instructive.

At the last meeting of the Board of Education J. F. Elliot, constable, was appointed trust officer and will enforce the law regarding non-attendance of children at school. His work will likely be light until after Sept. 1st.

The Directors of the Lambton Farmers' Insurance Co. held a meeting in their office here on Wednesday. Among the claims paid was one of $1500.00 to Colin Young of Warwick for loss on his brick house, and also a number of small claims.

It will pay to get our prices on storage batteries when you need a new one. We have Prest-O-Lite, Willard and Exide, and carry new ones of the most common sizes in stock that you will have no delay. We have a large number of rental batteries to fit any make of car in this vicinity, our repair equipment is complete and our prices are right.—R. Morningstar.

The Auditor's report for the village has been printed and copies can be had from the Clerk.

Owners of poultry in the Village of Watford are requested to take notice that they must comply with the by-law prohibiting them running at large as the Constable has been ordered to enforce the by-law without fear or favor.

A large and deeply interested congregation listened to the special sermon to young people delivered with much fervor by Rev. A. C. Tiffin in his pulpit last Sunday evening. The text on which his remarks were based is "Lest I mar mine own inheritance."

Don't miss hearing Mr. Heipel, former president of Dominion Experimental farm, Kemptville, at the Lyceum, Watford, Saturday, March 19th, at 2.30 p.m., talk on "Power Farming and Agriculture." Illustrated by actual moving pictures. It's free.—R. Morningstar.

Miss Mitchell, Travelling Secretary of the Women's Missionary Society of the Presbyterian Church in Canada, will deliver an address in the schoolroom of the Presbyterian church, Watford, on Wednesday evening, March 16th, at half past seven. All are cordially invited.

To-day, March 11th, Mrs. Shannon will celebrate her 93rd birthday, and no doubt will receive many congratulations from her numerous friends in which the Guide-Advocate joins. She is enjoying fair health and is as smart as many people a quarter of a century younger.

Revs. I. A. McKelvey, of Oil Springs, A. Roy Johnston of Warwick, and C. J. Moorhouse of Kerwood, are preaching in the Methodist church on Monday, Wednesday and Friday evenings of this week. The brief series of evangelistic services is being conducted under the auspices of the Epworth League and are being well attended.

Sometime ago the Canadian Red Cross Society having made an appeal on behalf of the famine sufferers in Central Europe and elsewhere, several of the ministers of Watford held a meeting and decided to read the appeal from the pulpit and commend the cause to the support of the people. At the same time they appointed Rev. E. H. Sawers, treasurer and instructed him to receive and forward to the proper quarters any money which might be given him for that purpose. T. B. Taylor kindly consented to receive any money which might be left with him and hand it to the treasurer. The following is the result so far. Cash received $345.67. This has been transmitted by the Merchants Bank free of charge, part to Central Europe and part to Northern China. "Inasmuch as ye have done it unto one of the least of these my brethren ye have done it unto me."

"America," says Mr. Chesterton, "began with the Declaration of Independence" and ended with prohibition. "And," says the Chicago Tribune, "It was an unidentified sage who remarked: 'We fought for the freedom of the seas; now ye can drink 'em.'"

We understand that the Lyceum has been leased permanently for Saturdays by a reliable company, who intend putting on a high class and educational line of films, featuring all the best and latest films put on at Loew's and Allen's. First entertainment March 19. Noise, peanuts and spitting will not be tolerated.

Mrs. (Rev.) Maxwell Parr of Harmony, only daughter of Rev. Geo. Jewett, president of the London conference, and formerly stationed at Warwick, lies in Victoria Hospital, London, very ill with small hopes for her recovery. The sympathy and prayers of many friends will go out to their anxious relatives in such trying days.

House Dresses $2.00 to $3.00.—Swift's.

Gannanoque stores have been continuing the Wednesday afternoon closing during the winter months. Finding the practice injurious to the trade of the town, the Board of Trade has passed a resolution, requesting that the half-holiday be observed in July and August only. The summer holidays satisfies the demand and is not much inconvenience to the public.

The Excelsior Boys Class was organized at Brooke Parsonage on Thursday last with the following officers: President—Wm. Fitzgerald, Sec.—Treas.—Donald Vail, Membership Com.—Fred Fuller, Burton Roberts, Handy Men—Alex. Raps and Billy Vail, Teacher—Mrs. T. Steadman. The boys will call at all the homes in Watford on Saturday, 12th inst., for magazines, papers, rubbers and rags.

A correspondent writes:—We were a little surprised a few days ago to find $50 lying in the road beside the fence at the corner of one of our prominent business farmer's home, and more so to find that it had lain there several months unmolested but beginning to look much the worse for the exposure. The money was in the shape of a corn planter and will have to be replaced by a new one before many years unless cared for better than that.

The complaint is frequently heard in small towns that while some society's or church's gatherings are reported in the local press, others are not. In the one case the particulars are furnished by some enterprising person interested—in the other case they are not. It would take an army of reporters to cover all the gatherings in a local newspaper's constituency, and the editor can be in only one place at a time—usually his sweat shop. Send in the news.

It is claimed that never in their history have the mail order departments of the departmental stores of the big cities suffered from lack of business as they have during the past few months. The cause is said to be due to the clearing sales put on by the country merchants. Much of the goods offered by the country merchants was bought several years ago, before the high price prevailed, and are now offered at a price less than the departmental stores can buy wholesale.

Colonel Kenward is making his rounds as assessor. Part of his duties consists of enquiring the age of the ladies with a view to having their names placed on the voters' list, as this year all females of twenty-one years of age and over are entitled to vote at Provincial and Dominion elections. When viewed in its proper light it will be seen that the office he occupies is a most responsible one. If a lady's age is such a secret as the newspaper paragraphs would have us believe, the gallant Colonel will carry around with him more secrets than contained in all the secret societies put together. It is said that he put some young ladies on the roll without enquiring if they were twenty-one years old.

All members of Peabody Lodge, No. 99, I.O.O.F., are urgently requested to meet at the hall Monday, March 14th, at 7.30 p.m., especially the degree team.—L. H. Aylesworth, Sec.

The average monthly production of crude oil in Petrolia and Enniskillen for 1920 was 5423 barrels and in the Oil Springs field 3282 barrels. Already this year the decrease in revenue of $1.25 per barrel will effect operators in the first named field to the extent of $6779 a month and in the Oil Springs field $4102 a month.

Mr. D. Eccles, Winnipeg, has the editor's thanks for the program of the unveiling of the memorial tablet in the Central Cong'l church there. This church contributed 522 men to that great army of Canadians, who won undying fame on the battlefields of Europe, Asia, and Africa. Fifty-two of this number made the supreme sacrifice. Forty-seven were wounded, and several won honors in the field for deeds of heroism.

The regular meeting of Lambtons 149 chapter I.O.D.E., was held at the home of Miss Ella McLeay on Tuesday, March 9th, with 17 members and one visitor present. It was decided to invest $150.00 in Watford's new rink and plans were made to hold an Easter dance to raise money for this purpose. A letter was read from the Cemetery Board thanking the chapter for its recent donation of $75.00. Councillors of the National and of the Provincial chapters were appointed. At the conclusion of the business the hostess served dainty refreshments.

ANNIVERSARY SERVICES

Rev. B. H. Robinson, M. A., of Memorial Methodist church, London, will preach in the Methodist church next Sunday morning and evening at the anniversary services. This is the sixth anniversary of the re-opening of the church. The choir will give special selections and other musical numbers are expected to add to the interest of this special occasion. Every person is invited and will be welcome to enjoy these services. Come and hear Rev. Robinson, who is one of the rising ministers in the London conference.

WARWICK

The township auditors' report for 1920 has been printed. Copies can be had from the township clerk.

The Epworth League of the Zion Methodist church is enjoying a period of real interest and great activity and profit, in which the whole church is sharing. The president, Miss Florence E. Edwards, is to be complimented on her splendid zeal and rare tact in arranging such a splendid series of meetings.

Don't miss hearing Mr. Heipel, former president of Dominion Experimental farm, Kemptville, at the Lyceum, Watford, Saturday, March 19th, at 2.30 p.m., talk on "Power Farming and Agriculture." Illustrated by actual moving pictures. It's free.—R. Morningstar.

It is expected that many of the people of Zion Methodist church and others throughout the township will embrace the opportunity of hearing Rev. B. H. Robinson, M. A., of Memorial church, London, preach at the anniversary services in Watford next Sunday morning and evening. He is highly spoken of as a preacher.

BROOKE

Don't miss hearing Mr. Heipel, former president of Dominion Experimental farm, Kemptville, at the Lyceum, Watford, Saturday, March 19th, at 2.30 p.m., talk on "Power Farming and Agriculture." Illustrated by actual moving pictures. It's free.—R. Morningstar.

The roads in this township are not just like a cement pavement, but it is expected that many people will make it possible to be present at the anniversary services of the Watford Methodist church next Sunday morning and evening, when the special preacher will be Rev. B. H. Robinson, M. A., of London. Don't fail to hear this talented preacher.

CHOP STUFF

Leslie C. Bettridge, C. P. R., agent at Bothwell died at Muskoka last week. The funeral took place to Sarnia.

Capt. Walter E. Linton, of Moore town, dropped dead from heart disease while attending church at Sarnia on Sunday last.

Mr. Clarke Taylor who recently sold his farm in Brooke township to Jas. O'Hara, has purchased fifty acres on the 2nd line of Plympton from Robt. Anderson. The property is generally known as the old Roger farm.

Byron W. Boyd, a former resident of Bosanquet and Forest, and brother of Mrs. John Wichmann, Forest, died suddenly last Friday evening at his home in Daytona, Florida. He was about 70 years of age, and had been ill for some time. His wife survives him.

At a meeting of the Sarnia Presbytery arrangements were made for the induction of Rev. Mr. Waghorne at Mandamin on March 10th at 2.30 p.m. and provisional arrangements were also made for the induction of Rev. J. J. Monds of Carleton Place at Petrolia on April 12.

Robert Wigfield of Wheatley, had an experience on Saturday that he is not likely to forget. He went to take a dose of cascara and got hold of the wrong bottle and dumped a quantity of disinfectant into his mouth, part of which went down his throat. Antidotes were promptly administered and outside of a very sore mouth he is little the worse for his unpleasant experience.

The Ruthven correspondent says: The indications are that the season of 1921 is going to be one of the banner years here for all kinds of fruit and berries. The buds on the peach, cherry, plum and apple trees never showed better signs for a real bumper crop. The grape vines are looking exceedingly good, while the peach trees are loaded with extra healthy buds, which is a never-failing sign of a bountiful crop.

John S. Martin of Port Dover has sold to Thomas E. Quisenberry of Kansas City, Missouri, president of the American Poultry School, five White Wyandottes which won prizes at a poultry show in Kansas City about two months ago, a first prize cock for $1,000, and first, second, third and fourth prize pullets for $2,000. This is said to establish a new record price for Canada in any breed of hens and a new record for the continent of North America in White Wyandottes.

Rose Fisher, beloved wife of Richard E. Cowan, passed away in Kitchener, on Monday, Feb. 21st, 1921, at the age of 39 years and four months. She leaves to mourn her loss a husband and one child aged three years; also six brothers, John James, Joseph, Albert, Charles and Oliver, and two sisters, Mrs. Wm. Evans and Mrs. Frank Somerville. They all reside in Plympton, except Mrs. Somerville in Altamont, Man., and James in Sonbra. Mrs. Cowan was a daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Fisher, of Plympton, and was married at the old home June 10th, 1908, and resided ever since in Kitchener.

A large number of friends and relatives gathered at the residence of Mr. Thos. Bailey, lot 10, con. 4, Enniskillen township, on Saturday, to pay their last respects to the remains of his beloved wife, Sarah Ann Cowan who passed away Thursday, Feb. 24th, after a lingering illness. Mrs. Bailey who was in her 48 year, was a daughter of Wm. and Helen Cowan, and was born in the township of Brooke. She is survived by her mother, now 89 years of age, two brothers, a sister, her husband and four daughters, Helen, Beatrice, Hilda and Gladys. The floral tribute was beautiful, consisting of wreaths from the family, Petrolia friends, Mr. and Mrs. McIlwain, Sarnia, and from aunt, uncle, nephew and nieces Port Huron. The funeral service at the home and grave was in charge of Rev. Jas. M. Finlay, Oil City. Interment was made at Oil Springs.

Internally and Externally it is good.—The crowning property of Dr. Thomas' Electric Oil is that it can be used internally for many complaints as well as externally. For sore throat, croup, whooping cough, pains in the chest, colic and many kindred ailments it has curative qualities that are unsurpassed. A bottle of it costs so little and there is no loss in always having it at hand.

YOU will always find our bread good, our cakes fresh, and a choice assortment of confectionery.

WHAT MEN LIKE

Men like pretty homemakers, no mistake there. You can appreciate beauty as well as the next one, but they want that beauty to be of an order that appeals to their comfort. Of what good are cushions so elaborately embroidered that no head can rest on them? What sense is there in easy chairs of such rich material that they are quite the reverse of the name given them? Is there any satisfaction in a room the furnishings of which cost hundreds of dollars, when it is only open at rare intervals, when the owner, perhaps, sits by the kitchen fire or in a little sitting-room, where he can put his feet on the fender, if he wants to, can smoke, and as a great indulgence, tilt back his chair?

A GENTLE LAXATIVE FOR THE CHILDREN

Mothers—the surest way of keeping your little ones well and happy; whether it is the new-born babe or the growing child is to keep their bowels regular and their stomach sweet. Nine-tenths of all childhood ailments are the result of clogged bowels and sour stomach. The most necessary and the best medicine for little ones is a gentle laxative—something that will relieve constipation; sweeten the stomach and promote rest and natural sleep. Such a medicine is Baby's Own Tablets. They are a gentle but efficient laxative; are absolutely guaranteed free from opiates or other injurious drugs and may be given to the youngest infant with perfect safety. They banish constipation and indigestion; break up colds and simple fevers and give the baby that health and happiness which all children should have. They are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

ALCOHOL IN THE SILO

Former Assistant Attorney General Harpending of Starkey, N. Y., one of its most prominent farmers and domestic animal breeders, has torn down the silo on his stock farm.

It is a well-known fact that the corn fermentation to be found in liquid form in the bottoms of silos is very intoxicating, owing to the large amount of alcohol therein.

Obtaining alcoholic drink from this source is getting to be so common in this section that Harpending, not wishing to be in the slightest degree responsible for a condition which might promote intoxication, is dispensing with silos altogether.

TRIBUTE TO TEMPERANCE

Dr. Myerson has no sympathy with those who sigh regretfully for John Barleycorn. He rejoices in the passing of liquor, as in the removal of a primary cause of nervousness and misery for many women:—

"To see, as I do, the almost complete absence of delirium tremens from the emergency and city hospitals, where once every Sunday morning found a dozen or two of raving men; to witness the disappearance of alcoholic insanity from our asylums, where once it constituted 15 per cent. of the male admissions; to see cruelty to children drop to one tenth of its former incidence; to know that former drunkards are steadily at work, to the joy of their wives and the good of their own souls—this is to make one bitterly impatient with the chatter about the 'joy and pleasure of life gone,' etc., that has become the stock-in-trade of the stage."

ABOUT YOUR INCOME TAX

The normal (or ordinary) tax is 4 per cent. on income up to $6,000. What that means is if the income is $6,000 in the case of a married man with no children or other dependents, he is exempt up to first $2,000 of the income, and he therefore pays an income tax of four per cent. on $4,000.

The unmarried person, who does not come under any other special class, will be exempt up to $1,000 and if he receives $6,000 income, he will pay four per cent. on $5,000.

If the income is over six thousand dollars, the recipient pays, not four per cent. on the excess over his exemption.

As the law now stands, it is "up to you." You cannot in future sit in your comfortable chair receive from the postman a blank schedule sent by the Tax Commissioner, decide you have lots of time, throw the blank away, receive another, and finally fill it out with grudging pen, and send it away, perhaps a week late.

First of all, the taxpayer must apply for his own blank form, if he does not otherwise receive it.

He must then be his own accountant. That is, he cannot any longer rely upon the Government to tote up the amount of his income that is subject to tax. He must do it himself. He must calculate what amount of money he is to pay in 1921 to cover 1920 taxes, not later than April 30th, 1921. The rest is payable later, with six per cent. interest added, in three two-monthly instalments.

If the taxpayer makes an error, either designed or unintentional, and it comes to light he will not be asked to "Think Again" and kindly send a correct statement to the Government, but instead he becomes immediately liable to heavy penalties. If he understates his income, he must pay income tax on the deficiency with ten per cent. interest. If he understates his income by over ten but less than twenty per cent. he is fined half the amount of the income omitted.

A married taxpayer gives his income as being $3,000. His actual income is $2,600. He is liable to a fine of $300, which is half the amount of income omitted. Suppose he says his income is $3,000, and it really is $4,000; he then is liable to a fine of the entire unreported income, that is, he must pay over the full $1,000 he failed to report.

Twenty-five per cent. of the amount of the tax is added to the tax for a return that is late. The same penalty is applied, if he pays less than a fourth of the tax as estimated by himself, before April 30th 1921. He may be fined $100 per day of a default in sending additional requested information, or for failing to keep books as prescribed by the Finance Minister.

The Law

as amended Nov. 10, 1919

THIS Referendum on April 18 is to ratify a new federal law, namely, the Canada Temperance Act, as recently amended by Dominion Parliament.

If a majority of the people of Ontario vote in favor of the Canada Temperance Act as amended, then, in the exact words of the law, it follows:

1. "No person shall import, send, take or transport into such province any intoxicating liquor.
2. "No person shall, either directly or indirectly, manufacture or sell, or contract or agree to manufacture or sell, any intoxicating liquor to be unlawfully imported, sent, taken or transported into such province.
3. "The carriage or importation of intoxicating liquor through such province shall only be by means of a common carrier by water or by railway and not otherwise, and during the time any intoxicating liquor is being so transported or carried no person shall open or break or allow to be opened or broken, any package or vessel containing such intoxicating liquor, or drink, or use or allow to be drunk or used any intoxicating liquor therefrom."

NOTE.—This law does not prohibit importation of liquors to be used for sacramental, medicinal, manufacturing or commercial purposes, or the importation of such liquors as are permitted to be sold by the laws of the Province.

"Shall the importation and the bringing of intoxicating liquors into the Province be forbidden?"

Children Cry for Fletcher's

Fletcher's Castoria is strictly a remedy for Infants and Children. Foods are specially prepared for babies. A baby's medicine is even more essential for baby. Remedies primarily prepared for grown-ups are not interchangeable. It was the need of a remedy for the common ailments of Infants and Children that brought Castoria before the public after years of research, and no claim has been made for it that its use for over 30 years has not proven.

What is CASTORIA?

Castoria is a harmless substitute for Castor Oil, Paregoric, Drops and Soothing Syrups. It is pleasant. It contains neither Opium, Morphine nor other narcotic substance. Its age is its guarantee. For more than thirty years it has been in constant use for the relief of Constipation, Flatulency, Wind Colic and Diarrhoea; allaying Feverishness arising therefrom, and by regulating the Stomach and Bowels, aids the assimilation of Food; giving healthy and natural sleep. The Children's Comfort—The Mother's Friend.

THE INVASION OF GERMANY

The action of the French and British Governments in taking drastic steps to enforce its demands upon Germany will be generally approved by the allied powers. A little show of force seems to be the only way to pound into the head of Germany that she did not win the war.

Following the short Franco-Prussian war of 1870-71, when no injury was done to German land, when both countries were far poorer than at the outbreak of the recent war, and when money was worth a great deal more, Germany, which had devastated France, compelled payment of a thousand million dollars.

Also France had to surrender two of her richest provinces, Alsace and Lorraine, whose coal and iron became a great source of Germany's subsequent wealth.

In the face of the present German offer it is not to be wondered at that France particularly insists on a little compulsion.—Free Press.

PRESIDENT HARDING'S CABINET

The U. S. Cabinet was sworn in on Saturday, as follows:

- Secretary of state—Charles Evan Hughes, of New York.
- Secretary of treasury—Andrew W. Mellon, of Pennsylvania.
- Secretary of war—John W. Weeks, of Massachusetts.
- Secretary of the navy—Edwin Denby, of Michigan.
- Secretary of the interior—Albert B. Fall, of New Mexico.
- Secretary of agriculture—Henry C. Wallace, of Iowa.
- Secretary of commerce—Herbert Hoover, of California.
- Attorney-general—Harry Daugherty, of Ohio.
- Postmaster-general—W. H. Hays, of Indiana.
- Secretary of labor—James J. Davis, of Pennsylvania.

THE PASSCHENDALE ROSE

The village was razed to the ground, And gardens all blotted from view Yet a lone red rose I found, Full blown and brilliant in hue.

On the shell torn fields of the war, Most sweet and tender it grew, For nothing its beauty could mar, The lone rose fragrant and true.

That lone red rose I took From trench, weeds and the mire, As on it none other might look; I was alone in the region so dire.

It was Passchendale Ridge I sought, The guns seven months before stilled, And there midst the havoc they wrought Many graves our hero boys filled.

That Ridge all alone I trod, With the lone red rose in my hand Seeking o'er the sore broken sod Certain graves in the desolate land.

One grave my sore heart would find Of a bonnie brave laddie from home, Who loved the streams as they wind Among trees and flowers he'd roam

"O laddie, this lone rose will be For your grave, if only it's found, But the writing no more one can see So we'll petal the graves around."

He'd share the rose, O soldier boy, Among comrades loyal and true. To my sorrow was given a new joy, The longing I felt surely he knew.

"O loveliest rose, thy mother tree More blossoms of richness bring, To speak red blood, so grandly free, In triumph earth-heaven can sing."

—Rev. J. P. Gerrie
in The Canadian Congregationalist.

A petition has been in circulation in Kingsville requesting the Town Council to submit a by-law to the rate payers on the question of establishing a High School in that town.

Wyoming will go in for football this season and will be lined up with the Lambton county group with Sarnia, Petrolia and Pt. Edward. The first game played in Wyoming will be with the Sarnia Rovers on April 9.

HOCKEY

About fifty fans accompanied the team to Stratford on Friday last to give the Classic City Arena the once over and see if the boys from the Pill Box had pep enough to skate from one end to the other. Everyone had a big hunch that the Redmen would be quite able to run all around them on the big ice surface, so that no one lost any money on the unbalanced score of 13-2. After a few minutes of play the locals realized how far they were outclassed by the fast skaters of Stratford, so in the second period they defaulted the game and brought Davenport of Glencoe out to even up a little. The Redmen are speedy on their skates but are no stick handlers, as they themselves admit, so that the local fans are watching their outcome with Wiarton in the finals.

The line up:
Stratford—Goal, Malone; defense, Erickman, Zimmer; center, Berger; wings, Moore and Kelterborne; sub, McArdle.

Watford—Goal, Rogers; defense, Trenouth, Lidell; center, Bruce; wings, Irwin and Greer; sub, Dodds. Referee—Legg, of London.

The head of the provincial police at Windsor says 90 per cent. of the people of that district are lined up with the liquor business. Must be a boosey crowd.

Isabella Carmicheal, one of Bosanquet's pioneer settlers, died at the family residence, 6th concession, on Saturday, in her 90th year. Interment took place in Pinehill cemetery on Tuesday afternoon.

Miss Edith Murray spent a few days last week in London.

The regular meeting of the W. I. was held on Saturday, Mar. 5, at the home of Mrs. Rooks, with a large number present. 12 of the grandmothers, dressed in white caps and shoulder shawls and white aprons put on the program which was much enjoyed by all. The W.I. have pieced and quilted three quilts, two were sent to Byron Sanitorium and one to Soldiers Aid Commission, London. The grandmothers still have charge of the April meeting which will be held at the home of Mrs. Robt. Riggs.

An old resident of this district passed away on Wednesday, March 2nd, in the person of Mr. John Anderson, formerly of Warwick, at the age of 75 years and two months. The funeral took place on Saturday to Bethel cemetery and was conducted by Rev. C. L. Couzens. The pallbearers were C. Smith, Donald McLeay, Wm. Thompson, Luther Smith, William Thompson and Jno. Thomas. Mr. Anderson was married to Annie McPherson, a daughter of the late William McPherson of Warwick, who survives him. He leaves also four daughters and one son, namely Mrs. Allan Thompson and Mrs. Geo. Thompson, Warwick; Mrs. Silas Cooper, Strathroy, Miss Leila at home and William in Saskatchewan. One brother also survives, Peter of Strathroy.

MARGARETS

A Little Story
of Toronto

BY MARION HADJOW

Mr. "Flint" Fergus tried his number for the second time. "Main 9642!" Such a stupid, silly Central! Here he was, late for his appointment at best, and now—"Hello! Main 964—Hello! Central!"

The voice that came over the wire was not Central's. It was a soft, clear, slightly childish voice—"And thanks so much, dear, for the lovely, lovely roses!"

Mr. Fergus should have hung up the receiver, he felt that, but he hesitated a moment. Now a male voice, a deep voice, (where had he heard that voice?) came back over the wire.

"And I don't have to work on your birthday night after all! But it isn't very early, Margaret—too late for down town. We might go to the 'Alhambra,' I heard a fellow say it's a good show there." And again the sweet clear tones, "That will be beautiful. I'll be ready in ten—"

Mr. Fergus hastily hung up the receiver, with the unpleasant feeling that he had been an eavesdropper.

Then, with a sigh and a frown, he tried once more. "Main 9642, please!" But his party had just that minute gone out. No, Mr. Brown would not be in again this evening. Was there any message? No! There wasn't any message. Confound the man, couldn't he have waited ten minutes longer? The matter was important—and now, here he was, with a whole empty evening before him.

Mr. Fergus sighed, and frowned again. A whole empty evening. Friday evening, Friday evening, November—What was the date? November twenty-sixth? What should he remember about the twenty-sixth. Why, of course, his birthday! He was sixty-two years old. Well! Well! His birthday was of no account. He had no one who cared a snap of their fingers how old he was or when he was born. He didn't himself.

But there had been a time. Ah, yes,—he found himself recalling—there had been a time when some one never forgot his birthday. Now he was old, and people, he was aware, counted him a hard, cold man; but there had been a time when he was young, and some one had cared. Margaret! That was what that chap had called the girl over the 'phone. Another Margaret! Were they all alike, these Margarets? Would this one prove as fickle, as cruel, as his Margaret had been? And yet, perhaps the fault had not been all on her side. They say it takes two to make a quarrel. But these two young things were happy now—you could hear the ring of happiness in their voices—and it was Margaret's birthday and they were going to a motion picture theatre.

Well, it was his birthday, too. Suppose he went to the movies? He smiled to himself at the idea. True, he had only been there upon two previous occasions in his life—but why should he not go now? There was nothing in the wide world to prevent him. He would go to the movies. He would go—where would he go? He would go to the Alhambra. Margaret had said it would be beautiful to go there.

Mr. Fergus rose stiffly from his chair, went to the hall for his coat and hat, summoned his housekeeper informed her that he would be out for the evening.

"Will you leave your 'phone number, Mr. Fergus?" enquired the housekeeper.

"No 'phone number," replied he, briefly; "I shall be back in two hours. Good night!"

Arrived at the Alhambra, Mr. Fergus stumbled blindly after the usher down the dim aisle, and fumbled himself into a seat.

Mr. Fergus was old for his years and grizzly grey of hair and beard. His life had been severe and lonely. In business he had been successful but he was poor in human love and friendship. His childhood had been lonely; in his one love affair he had been thwarted, and after that he had shut up inside himself and refused to come out of his shell.

Fortunately for Mr. Fergus the picture was neither a hackneyed modern problem play nor a tale of adventures in the wild West, but a simple love story of the 18th century, prettily and effectively screened. He found himself becoming rather interested as the plot unfolded.

Suddenly something intervened in his line of vision. It annoyed him. It was somebody's head—a man's head—the side of a man's head.

Why wasn't it the back of his head? He couldn't be looking at the picture, he must be looking at the opposite wall. But, no, upon closer observation, it wasn't the wall—he was looking at a girl beside him.

And then Mr. Fergus roused himself with a jerk. That head belonged to James Mitchell, and James Mitchell was one of his own men, in his own office. In fact he was the young cub who had had the nerve to ask for a raise the day before yesterday. Well, he hadn't given him one. These young whipper-snappers expected too much nowadays.

Of course he was a good worker, he must admit that, a really promising chap. A fine face too, he acknowledged, as he studied, in the dim light, the clear cut profile before him with its straight nose and strong square chin. James Mitchell—at the movies, not at all engrossed in the picture, but in a mass of fluffy black hair beside him.

All at once Mr. Fergus grasped the arms of his seat. Then he pulled out his handkerchief, mopped his brow, briskly polished his glasses and set them back on his nose.

Somehow he felt that he had lost his identity as Frederick A. Fergus, that he had been lifted bodily out of the rut in which he had plodded along for so many years, and that now on this, his 62nd birthday, in the Alhambra Theatre, Bloor street, he was launched upon a great adventure. He almost chuckled to himself.

Now he knew why that voice had sounded familiar over the 'phone. It was James Mitchell's voice! The young scoundrel! He had never thought of him apart from the business before. So he had a girl, a Margaret. Yes, a Margaret with fluffy black hair.

Oh, what an opportunity was before him! Here was another young fellow such as he had been once, with another Margaret, perhaps such as she had been once. And here was he, perhaps holding their destinies in his hand. Oh, if he could, if only it should be in his power to help them realize their castle of dreams, to have it not come tumbling in ruins, as his had done.

Mr. Fergus, trembling with emotion and excitement, grasped his hat and groped his way out of the theatre.

Three weeks went by. On a crisp December evening, according to his custom, Mr. Fergus was walking home from down town. He was feeling happier these days, happier than he had felt for many a year, and the fine glow he felt within him was reflected in his face.

With an unusual elasticity in his step and quite oblivious to the traffic, he was going over, in his mind, the events of the past weeks. Such a strange satisfaction had come to him over raising young Mitchell's salary that, a few days later, he had promoted him as well. The young rascal had deserved it—but what a shock it gave him! He chuckled to himself now as he recalled the look of amazement on the boys face.

But to-day, to-day had brought the crowning delight, when Mitchell had come and asked for two days' holidays.

"You see sir," he had said hesitatingly, and then with a rush, "you see, I have a girl and we want to get married. So if it isn't asking too much—"

Then Mr. Fergus had frowned and looked at him over his glasses. "So you think you'll add a wife to your expenses in these hard times, do you?" And here he shook his finger. "I think that any man who deliberately marries these days—but it's your own affair of course. Take two weeks holiday, with full pay

Jim Mitchell had gasped inarticulate thanks. He had been almost speechless. Yes, undoubtedly that had been the best moment of all. Unheeding of motors and street cars, Mr. Fergus stepped blithely on. Never, he thought, had he experienced anything quite so fine as those minutes—

"Honk! Honk! Honk!" went a motor horn; and "Hi! Look out!" yelled a frantic chauffeur. But just too late, for Mr. Fergus, stepping off the curb, remembered no more as the powerful car hurled him down.

The following day found James Mitchell in the midst of hurried preparations. He and Margaret were to be married to-morrow and were going to Kirkfield for their honeymoon. "Good old Flint sure did come out on top. He's a trump!"—Hang that 'phone!"

The Toronto General Hospital was calling Mr. James Mitchell, a matter of life and death. Mr. F. A. Fergus had met with an accident last evening. Recovered consciousness this morning and kept asking for James Mitchell. Would he please come at once.

James hesitated a fraction of a second, then he phoned Margaret. "You come with me, dear. We owe a lot to him. I'll be right over!"

Bang went up the receiver, and then down again as he ordered a taxi to come immediately to Margaret's address.

In a darkened room at the hospital, Mr. Fergus lay in strange delirium.

"It's not my fault this time, Margaret. I've done everything I could for him. Mitchell, where are you? Tell her I fixed things all right. I did, didn't I Mitchell?" Then, raising himself on his elbow. "I can't rest another minute till I've given that boy a raise. He deserves it! Do you hear me? I tell you he ought to have it!"

Margaret and James came softly into the room. "He hasn't been sane a minute since he recovered consciousness," said the nurse. "Perhaps you might speak to him, Mr. Mitchell."

James stepped to the bedside, followed by Margaret. "I'm here, sir. It's Mitchell. Is there something you want?"

But Mr. Fergus stared at him with unseeing eyes. "He deserves it I tell you and he's going to get it!" His eyes wandered from James' face to Margaret. Margaret in her haste had simply thrown over her head a scarf which now, slipping back upon her shoulders, revealed her wavy black hair in becoming disorder about her face. Her wide gray eyes, brimming with compassion, looked down into those of Mr. Fergus, and held them!

For age-long seconds the sick man's eyes remained blank, then slowly a light of recognition dawned in them. With an eager tremble in his voice Mr. Fergus weakly stretched out his arms. "Margaret," he cried, "Margaret Harcourt! Oh, my Margaret! I knew some day you would understand and come back."

With a sob Margaret flung herself down by the bed and pressed the feeble hands against her cheek. "My mother," she whispered. "You loved my mother!" Then, as she gazed into the white, drawn face of Mr. Fergus, with a woman's intuition, she realized that this must be the one of whom her mother had told her—that dear lover of her early youth who had believed her unfaithful, and who, it was said, had broken his heart. She kissed away the tears that fell from her eyes on his hands and glanced up at the nurse. Mr. Fergus had fallen back on the pillows with his eyes closed.

"Leave him now," said the nurse. "His mind is at rest, and I will call you when he stirs. Evidently you had a better effect on him than anything else in the world. I will let you know if the doctor gives any hope."

Three years have passed by since that eventful morning. Almost any sunny afternoon now that you walk along Spadina Road you will meet a white-haired man of about sixty-five with a cane in one hand and a diminutive boy of uncertain "footing" by the other. The child, if questioned, will tell you his name is "Fergeth Mitchell," and that he is out walking "wiv gampaw."

HIS LIFE RUINED BY DYSPEPSIA

Until He Tried "FRUIT-A-TIVES" The Wonderful Fruit Medicine

MR. FRANK HALL

Wyevale, Ontario.

"For some two years, I was a sufferer from Chronic Constipation and Dyspepsia.

I tried every remedy I heard of without any success, until the wife of a local merchant recommended 'Fruit-a-tives'.

I procured a box of 'Fruit-a-tives' and began the treatment, and my condition commenced to improve immediately.

The Dyspepsia ceased to be the burden of my life as it had been, and I was freed of Constipation.

I feel that I owe a great debt to 'Fruit-a-tives' for the benefit I derived from them."

YOUNG GIRLS NEED CARE

Mothers! Watch Your Daughters' Health

Health Is Happiness

From the time a girl reaches the age of twelve until womanhood is established she needs all the care the thoughtful mother can give.

The condition that the girl is then passing through is so critical and may have such far-reaching effects upon her future happiness and health that it is almost criminal for a mother or guardian to withhold counsel or advice.

Many a woman has suffered years of prolonged pain and misery through having been the victim of thoughtlessness or ignorance on the part of those who should have guided her through the dangers and difficulties that beset this period.

Mothers should teach their girls what danger comes from standing around with cold or wet feet, from lifting heavy articles, and from overworking. Do not let her overstudy. If she complains of headache, pains in the back and lower limbs, or if you notice a slowness of thought, nervousness or irritability on the part of your daughter, make life easier for her. She needs thoughtful care for a few years.

In all such cases Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound should be given as it is especially adapted for such conditions. It contains nothing that can injure and can be taken in perfect safety.

Read how Mrs. Eicher helped her daughter. She says:

"At the age of sixteen my daughter was having trouble every month. She had pains across her back and in her sides. Every month her back would pain her so she could not do her work and would have to lie down. My married daughter recommended Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and I read the books which were left at my door. She took it faithfully and is now regular and has no pain. We recommend the Vegetable Compound and give you permission to publish this letter in your little books and in the newspapers."—Mrs. KATIE EICHER, 4034 N. Fairhill St., Philadelphia, Pa.

Mrs. Williams will profit by her own experience. She says: "When I was thirteen years old I had sick spells each month and when I was very backward I would bear the pain and my mother knew nothing about it. I read in the daily paper about Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and took my own spending money and bought a bottle. It helped me so much that I took it regularly after that until I had taken two bottles and I did not have any more pain or backache and have been a healthy, strong woman. I am now 39 years old and have a little girl of my own, and when she gets old enough I shall give her none other than Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound."—Mrs. C. E. WILLIAMS, 2437 W. Toronto St., Philadelphia, Pa.

For almost fifty years Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has been helping women, young and old, of ailments peculiar to their sex. Ask your neighbor about it, for in every neighborhood there are women who know of its merits.

Thousands of letters similar to the above are in the files of the Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., and for years such letters have been published. Surely it is worth your while to make a fair trial of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Private Text-Book upon "Ailments Peculiar to Women" will be sent to you free upon request. Write to The Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Lynn, Massachusetts. This book contains valuable information.

Became a Canadian.
Rev. H. A. Berlin, who was elected on January 1 to be a school trustee in the city of Toronto, has had an eventful career. Born in the new Republic of Latvia, he is a descendant of the old French nobility. This little country has proved to be one of the most progressive of the European republics, and has already established a mercantile marine of its own. Its flag is red, with a white bar.

Mr. Berlin came to Canada in 1907 and was naturalized in 1906, when he entered Knox College and surprised everyone with the brilliance he exhibited in mastering the language of his adopted country. In 1909 he graduated and entered the Presbyterian ministry. His first charge was at Victoria Harbor, Ont., and from there he moved to the Robertson Memorial Church at Winnipeg. In May, 1917, he became pastor of Rhodes Avenue Presbyterian Church, Toronto, and has attracted such attention that his church is now overcrowded. Few persons would suspect that Mr. Berlin was of foreign birth; as in appearance, voice and manner he is thoroughly British. More than this, he is British in spirit, being imbued with the highest of British principles and enthusiastic for the well-being of the land of his adoption. During the recent elections he proved himself to be the most eloquent speaker on any of the platforms. At one meeting an opponent called out: "What nationality are you?" To which Mr. Berlin replied emphatically: "I am a Canadian."

Canada's Peat Bogs.
The peat bogs of Canada contain at least 9,000,000,000 tons of peat. It is not certain whether Canada's supply can be utilized enough to be a great commercial success. The countries which have met with the most success in putting peat on a paying basis are Germany, Sweden and Italy. Canada's product is quite up to the standard of the European, although the European countries have an advantage, as most of them have had specially constructed furnaces for the use of peat.

Poison Pistol.
One is not permitted to carry firearms, but a "poison pistol" is different. There is no law forbidding it. It is a new idea, the invention of a Frenchman—most like an ordinary pistol in appearance, but without cartridges or bullets. Its handle, however, contains a poison gas fluid. If a bandit comes along, you press the trigger, and the pistol shoots a thin stream of the fluid in his face. It puts him out of business instantly.

HEARING OF VETERAN HAS BEEN RESTORED

George H. Murphy, a second-year student in chemical engineering at the School of Science, has recovered his hearing after several years of stone deafness as a result of shell shock while serving with the Canadian forces in France. As sudden as the loss of his hearing was the miraculous recovery, and his arduous powers are as good now as they ever were. It was while he was in one of the frat houses that Mr. Murphy realized he could hear, but to make sure that he was not merely the victim of some prank of the imagination he ran into the music room and struck a note on the piano and to the amazement of his friends reproduced the note and demonstrated to himself as well as the others that he could hear once again.

Growing Old Gracefully

Are you growing old gracefully? Who wins in the race of life? Is it the man who is thin-blooded, weak, tired all the time?

An athlete trains for every race. A man is as strong as his blood and as old as his arteries. Make your blood redder, your health better by taking that old fashioned blood tonic—sold fifty years ago and still "good as gold"—namely, Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. Sold by all druggists, or send 10c. to Dr. Pierce's Invalids' Hotel in Buffalo, N. Y., for a trial package.

CHATHAM, ONT.—"For many years I suffered with stomach trouble, and I tried many remedies, but they seemed to be a failure—I seemed to be getting worse instead of better. One day I came into possession of a bottle of Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery and took it, and my stomach trouble seemed completely cured. I have great faith in this medicine, and hope any sufferer that reads this will give the 'Discovery' a trial. Once tried, you will never be without it."—C. TRUSS, JR., 28 Duke St.

WHAT TO DO FOR STOMACH TROUBLE

Good Advice From One Who Had Suffered Much.

Nine-tenths of all forms of indigestion or so-called stomach trouble are not due to the condition of the stomach at all, but are caused by other influences. The great contributing cause of indigestion is thin blood. Good blood and plenty of it is required by the stomach to take care of the food. If the blood is thin the stomach functions sluggish, food lies undigested, gas forms and causes pains in various parts of the body. Instead of getting nourishment from the blood the system gets poison.

Relief from this condition can be obtained by the tonic treatment which Mr. D. Shaw, Mt. Stewart, P. E. I., tried and now warmly recommends to others. Mr. Shaw says: "I suffered from indigestion for over four years, and have tried many of the well-known remedies for such troubles, but never obtained more than temporary relief. The trouble was aggravated by constipation setting in owing to the stomach failing to do its work, and laxatives only gave relief to the bowels and left the stomach in worse condition. The result was my blood was growing more and more anaemic, I did not sleep well at night and was growing despondent. I was in this wretched condition when a friend advised me to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. I got three boxes and by the time they were finished there was some change for the better. This greatly encouraged me and I continued taking the pills for some three-months, by which time my stomach was all right again, my blood good, nerves strong and life was again worth living. My advice to all who suffer from stomach trouble is to give Dr. Williams' Pink Pills a fair trial."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills can be obtained through any medicine dealer, or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

At three o'clock last Saturday afternoon the office force ceased their work for the day and then began the grand parade. Time clocks, filing cabinets, desks, adding machines, planning boards and safe were straightway transferred to their new quarters. These furnishings had accumulated one or two pieces at a time until they had become so congested that at least a shoe horn would have been required to have gotten another desk or file into the room. Ten years ago the office contained but two desks—one for the girl who was bookkeeper stenographer and the whole clerical force combined, and another desk for the manager, who seldom had time to use it. The office seemed then to be considerably over size, but with the steady growth of the business it eventually became over crowded. When it was decided to erect a new building for manufacturing purposes plans were made to include ample space for an office in the new portion. Particular attention was given to the construction to insure good working conditions for the office staff. So that there would be no lack of light, large windows were installed which aggregated nearly as many square feet as the floor space. To provide for proper heat and ventilation a steam radiator was hung under each window and a complete change of air in the room may be had four times per hour with the temperature maintained at 70 degrees. While there are many offices much more elaborate than ours, we think that for comfort, convenience and utility this one ranks with the best. The old office will be renovated and used for shop conferences, meetings of the Androck Association, etc.

NEW OFFICE RULES

1. Thou shalt arise early and be in the office ready for business at 8 a.m. If perchance thou hast not time to eat thy second piece of toast bear in mind that our mail carrier is a kind and courteous man and he passes the confectionery store at 10 a.m.
2. Thou shalt not spend too long in front of the new mirror lest thou shouldst break it and then the little old mirror shouldst necessarily have to be resurrected.
3. Thou shalt be cautious before thou sittest down as to how far thy chair goes when thou takest from thy desk lest at any time thou mightest be cast downward.
4. Thou shalt not move thy books boisterously on thy new desk lest thou leave the imprint on the surface thereof.
5. Thou shalt not kill time by looking out the spacious window beside thee. Bear in mind summer is not yet here and thou art better on the inside looking out than thou wouldst be on the outside looking in.
6. Thou shalt not become too friendly with thy neighbors. Thou shalt love them but shalt not demonstrate thy love for rememberest thou that there is a time and place for all things.
7. Thou shalt be willing at all times to lend a helping hand to those who need thine aid lest thou too might stumble and no aid appear.
8. Thou shalt not darken the office by wearing a cloud on thy brow for "A cheerful giver giveth much" then shalt thou give thy service cheerfully.
9. Thou shalt not be a clock watcher, for thou knowest every time thou lookest at the clock its hands are over its face—thou makest it ashamed when thou watchest it incessantly.
10. Thou shalt not labor on Sundays nor holidays nor after 5 p.m. on Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday, Thursday, Friday or Saturday nor Saturday afternoons after June 1st, for thou art in need of these days of rest.
