What Became of the Ballot? Events: There have been some very ugly rumors about the West Eight ballot and as a result the disposition made of them. I have heard it said that they were destroyed some months ago "by mistake" and that if the Clerk of the House, Col. Clark, had not been so unfortunate as to fall to receive his subpoena to attend to hand in the documents he was required to produce. It is to be hoped that the rumors are not well founded and that the Government has carefully preserved the ballots and all the other documents necessary to enable the commission to get the whole truth.

Weather This Winter. Moses Oates declares the coming winter will be characterized by moderately sharp spells, with large intervals of mild weather. He prognosticates this because of careful observations taken during the past two months. Sleighing in Toronto will last not more than 18 days all told. during the terrible suspense of the past few days. No other civilized nation on earth save Russia perhaps, would be most uncomplainingly the deprivation of news which the British Government has seen fit to impose upon the public.

The obvious inference is that the effect of Monday's reverse at Ladysmith has been the cause of trouble in Cape Colony since this has been feared from the first by all who have a knowledge of the African situation in the whole of the Cape Colony.

The public and press are doing their best to take a hopeful view of the difficulties, but there are certain ugly facts which, with all they imply, must be faced. The Boers are virtually masters of Natal.

But all England now expects that Gen. Buller will evacuate himself, primarily Gen. Buller's retreat. The Boers' success is undoubtedly due to the fact that they are communicating to attack the railway line.

The only alternative is for Gen. Buller to stick to his original plan to invade the Orange Free State from the south, with Natal, East London and Port Elizabeth as bases.

The situation changed. With the necessary detachments to guard the long line of communication, etc., Gen. Buller will be unable under the present circumstances, to invade the Orange Free State with a main column of more than 10,000 men.

Another despatch from Ladysmith says the Boers have proclaimed the Upper Transvaal a British province, and have taken possession of the Orange Free State.

The news of the losses at Ladysmith caused the Boers to be more cautious in their movements, especially when coupled with the fact that the Boers invaded the colony almost simultaneously with the Boers at Ladysmith.

More Trains Stop Running. A despatch from the Cape Colony, south of Burgersdorp, says that trains have ceased running between that point and Orange River.

UNNECESSARY UNIVERSITIES.

The time has come to discuss anew the necessity question and to seek some further consolidation and economy. Too much good money and human energy are being frittered away in maintaining unnecessary universities in Ontario, and in the Dominion for that matter.

Churches engaged in university work are wasting energy and money that ought to find their way into preaching the Gospel of Christ. What call has a church to teach mathematics, languages, science, when this is better done by the state and when her ministers are badly paid, poorly housed, and disheartened by the prospect of preaching?

Let us be more explicit. The Church of England in Canada is one of the institutions we could least spare from our midst. It is an agency of good, of refinement, of religious life. But it is not holding its own in rural parts. Doctrinal differences of its repute are being given up for more practical sources into maintaining Trinity as a university, as a college teaching the arts and sciences, has weakened its powers for good among the people. That money would be ten times as effective if it were given to the laity, in making better stipends for its ministers, in concentrating its efforts in the missionary field.

Trinity has reached a point where it must be enlarged at great expense or allowed to vegetate. No university can keep up the pace of the great institutions that are being set up in the United States, comparatively near to our border, without spending enormous sums in building, in equipment in salaries. And the tendency of these expenses is to expand faster than the income. It is the interest on several millions to maintain scientific laboratories, libraries, professors and examiners in science and in literature as they are maintained at Harvard, at Yale, at Chicago, at Baltimore. Surely with this competition of the great universities, the money rapidly expending expenses, the money and energy could be better employed in theological training, the preaching of God's Word and the support of the clergy. The best men are drafted into the ranks of secular teaching when they ought to be serving in the pulpit or in the parish.

What then would you advise Trinity to do? Something very radical and something that will at first glance shock her friends. Enter into negotiations with the Ontario Government, looking to the sale of the building for the purpose of erecting a free site in the Park, and erect there a first-class divinity hall with a residence attached for all Anglicans attending the provincial university. Give up teaching in the sciences and in literature, and now doing it better and for nothing, and put her energy into teaching theology and strengthening the hands of the ministers in the parishes and missionary field. Not, perhaps, so proud a sphere, but certainly a more useful one. Demolish the tower, sell the church's gable in unnecessary teaching work as much as a sin as to waste it in riotous living.

And there is another university, that of Queen's at Kingston, which is in the same boat. There are men talking of removing the college and down front, and giving it a fresh start there. But to do this will take millions for endowment and thousands and thousands for buildings. And when this is done it will not be in the race!

One college equipped university is all the people of Ontario can afford. Any more is a waste of money—is an almost criminal waste of money. One university can turn out all the university men we shall want for 100 years to come. University men and their families are a burden on the province in universities have an absurdly high estimate of themselves and of their mission. Not one in twenty of these teachers and graduates repays the public what he costs. All the rest are gold bricks bought much more easily than Demosthenes, and the local pride, the personal ambition of heads and sub-heads of colleges have more to do with maintaining unnecessary universities than the genuine needs of the church or the true interests of learning.

But Canada is much in need of technical education and we desire here to bear testimony to the good work of Sir William Macdonald of Montreal in devoting a portion of his means to that worthy purpose. Here is a true field.

McGill in Montreal, Laval in Quebec, and one university for the three Maritime Provinces are more than enough east of the Ottawa. West of it one in Toronto, strengthened by the Legislature and private generosity, is all that we want, all we can afford.

Cheap railway travel has centred the university. It is a thousand times cheaper to concentrate universities in great cities and to draw students to them than to pepper-box the province with poorly equipped colleges. Money is wasted and the quality of education demoralized.

Let us get over all this denominational pride, this local ambition, this personal desire of high-perching, let us concentrate what we have where it will do most good. Above all let us not fritter away in science and literature what should go into straight Gospel work. Let us, once and for all, get rid of this university itch, which seems to be one of the prevailing public plagues of America, and let us get down to the needs of life.

Let us have no more, universities. Too many are a curse. They are the cause of a lower type of education, they are perennial springs of jealousies, they are nurseries of desertion of duty. A young man is no sooner enrolled in a coming world, where he is being filled a number of successful concert engagements.

LET US TAKE IN NEWFOUNDLAND. A movement to bring Newfoundland within the Dominion Confederation has again been started, and it is probable that the scheme will be consummated before long. The subject is being freely discussed in the press, and as far as Canada is concerned public opinion seems to be almost unanimously in favor of the proposal. The Shoe and Leather Journal of Toronto has made the question the subject of an elaborate article in its current issue. The project is to be treated from every point of view and the facts and figures adduced show that amalgamation would be in the interests of all parties concerned. Newfoundland would certainly be advantaged by a union with the Dominion. Canada, on the other hand, would have free entry into the markets of the island and would take away a great deal of the trade now done by the United States and Great Britain. Under present conditions more goods are brought into Newfoundland from the United States than from any other country. The principal articles imported by Newfoundland are such as Canada can readily supply. The island imports $1,500,000 worth of flour a year; butter, $75,000; leather, $212,000; hardware, $361,000; pork, $205,000; and other articles in proportion. Under Confederation the bulk of this trade would be controlled by Canada. But it is not only in trade that Canada would benefit. The island is capable of a great development of its natural resources. In addition to its fisheries, Newfoundland is rich in minerals, and in forest products. Since the field railway was opened, a company with a capital of two million dollars has been formed to produce pulp on the island. The iron mines of Newfoundland will furnish the ore for the great smelting furnaces that are under process of erection at Sydney, C.B. Copper mining has also reached considerable development. During the last fiscal year there was exported copper valued at $401,332. But the principal arguments in favor of amalgamation are geographical and political rather than material. Geographically speaking, Newfoundland will round off the Dominion. It will extend our territory to within about 1000 miles of Great Britain and place Canada within three or four days of the Mother country by a fast steamship service. From a political point of view it is desirable that as far as possible all British interests in North America should be consolidated. The consolidation of the colonies into large units is the distinguishing feature of the Imperial movement at the present time. The success of consolidation in Canada has popularized the idea among the Canadian provinces was the means of relieving Great Britain of a big financial burden for military defence. Instead of being a burden to the Mother Country Canada is now a source of strength to her. We no longer require Great Britain to garrison the country with troops. On the other hand we contribute troops for the purposes of the Empire. The confederation idea is now being worked out in Australia and it will undoubtedly be applied to South Africa as soon as the country is ready to carry out this idea to its legitimate conclusion leads to the consolidation of all British possessions in North America, including even Jamaica and the West Indies. The British Islands adjacent to North America can be administered better from Canada than from Great Britain. The sooner the amalgamation of all British North America takes place the better. At any rate there is no reason for postponing the taking in of Newfoundland. The inclusion of the West Indies in the confederation may be another discussion, but in the case of Newfoundland the project is ready for execution.

think unnecessary are maintained on merely denominational or local lines. We would like to see our universities, or university rather, play a part in the national life of our people; as things now are they never be the case. Can you see for the life of you see how there can be more than one national university in this country?

LET US TAKE IN NEWFOUNDLAND. A movement to bring Newfoundland within the Dominion Confederation has again been started, and it is probable that the scheme will be consummated before long.

DEAR SIR—I have been suffering from Piles. The last attack was the most severe I have experienced. For ten days I could neither sit nor stand, and walking was out of the question, so great was my suffering. I could find no relief anywhere until your Pile Ointment was recommended to me. KISSED HIM TILL HIS FACE HURT

Louis Meiselbauer and His Sister Ask Protection Against the Violent Love of Mrs. Schrader.

Chicago, Nov. 5.—Louis Meiselbauer and his mother appeared before Justice Dooley Saturday and besought the protection of the law for Louis against the yearning love of Mrs. Anna Schrader.

Mother and son swore that Anna followed Louis by night and by day; she waylaid him in alleys, they said, and swooped down upon him at meals, hugging and kissing him with such force rapidly that his face hurt him.

She crooned messages of love through the speaking tube of his flat, and would wake him up at midnight to fly with her. He told the court she paid Louis's barber bill and therefore had the right to kiss him whenever she could get at him. Justice Dooley warned Anna to "get up" on Louis.

Many Old College Friends Were at the Funeral Services on Saturday.

In Friday's World there was a short notice of the death of Samuel J. McCormick, son of Thomas McCormick, formerly of Chicago. The funeral service of the Church of England was performed over his remains at the undertaking establishment of Alex. Millard by the Rev. John Pearson of Holy Trinity Church on Saturday.

The service was attended by many of his old college mates and friends. Those who attended his funeral were: Dr. Pyle, Mr. John Small, D. B. Read, G. C. G. Munro, Dr. Brooke, W. T. Stuart, S. M. Jarvis, Charles Ridout, H. Rowland (secretary of deceased), and lady friends of the family.

It shows the great respect in which he was held when it is remembered that he was over sixty years since he attended Upper Canada College. His old college comrades, who were in the city, were invited to the funeral, and many of them were present.

He was a man of high character, and one who had done more to himself and the province. He was the brother of Charles McCormick, Dr. Hayes' expedition in search of the North Pole in 1850, and was very favorably mentioned by him in his book "Living story of that expedition."

Mr. J. H. Cameron, the entertainer, has just returned to the city from Eastern Ontario, where he has been filling a number of successful concert engagements.

Manila, Nov. 5.—This evening a fleet of transports and gunboats left Manila for the most important expedition of the autumn campaign. Its destination is supposed to be Dagupan or some other northern port. Gen. Wheaton commands a brigade consisting of the 13th Infantry, the 33rd Infantry, two guns of the 6th Artillery and two Gatlings. The transports Sheridan, Francisco de Reyes and Astec carry the troops, with the gunboat Helena as escort. A despatch boat was sent ahead to arrange a rendezvous with the U.S. cruiser Charleston and the other warships that are patrolling the north coast of Luzon. The landing will be under cover of the guns of the fleet. It is assumed here that the purpose of the expedition is to move down the Dagupan-Manila Railroad toward Tarlac, or to prevent Aguinaldo's forces from striking another base farther north. Dagupan and Appari are the strongholds of the insurgents in the north, and it is supposed the points where the most of the filibustering parties land.

Dagupan Should Be a Base. Since the beginning of hostilities it has been the unanimous opinion of military experts here that Dagupan should be made a base of operations, but sufficient troops have heretofore been lacking. With Gen. Wheaton, McCarty and Lawton moving upon Tarlac from three directions, and the insurgents being on the other side, the insurgent capital will soon become untenable. Aguinaldo may attempt to shift his headquarters to a rich tobacco country at the northern end of the island. Possibly he may slide around Gen. Lawton's front from the southern base of the U.S. Militair and Lawton's troops are spread across the country from Angeles to Cabanatuan. It will be difficult for the insurgents to escape. Should the concerted operations succeed organized insurrection on a large scale should be at an end early next spring. Aguinaldo's strength, by desertions and through loss of hope among the supporters of the revolutionary movement.

Autumn Campaign Now On

INFANTRY, ARTILLERY, GATLINGS

Are Under Way, With Gen. Wheaton in Command, and a Gunboat as Convoy.

Manila, Nov. 5.—This evening a fleet of transports and gunboats left Manila for the most important expedition of the autumn campaign. Its destination is supposed to be Dagupan or some other northern port. Gen. Wheaton commands a brigade consisting of the 13th Infantry, the 33rd Infantry, two guns of the 6th Artillery and two Gatlings. The transports Sheridan, Francisco de Reyes and Astec carry the troops, with the gunboat Helena as escort. A despatch boat was sent ahead to arrange a rendezvous with the U.S. cruiser Charleston and the other warships that are patrolling the north coast of Luzon. The landing will be under cover of the guns of the fleet. It is assumed here that the purpose of the expedition is to move down the Dagupan-Manila Railroad toward Tarlac, or to prevent Aguinaldo's forces from striking another base farther north. Dagupan and Appari are the strongholds of the insurgents in the north, and it is supposed the points where the most of the filibustering parties land.

Dagupan Should Be a Base. Since the beginning of hostilities it has been the unanimous opinion of military experts here that Dagupan should be made a base of operations, but sufficient troops have heretofore been lacking. With Gen. Wheaton, McCarty and Lawton moving upon Tarlac from three directions, and the insurgents being on the other side, the insurgent capital will soon become untenable. Aguinaldo may attempt to shift his headquarters to a rich tobacco country at the northern end of the island. Possibly he may slide around Gen. Lawton's front from the southern base of the U.S. Militair and Lawton's troops are spread across the country from Angeles to Cabanatuan. It will be difficult for the insurgents to escape. Should the concerted operations succeed organized insurrection on a large scale should be at an end early next spring. Aguinaldo's strength, by desertions and through loss of hope among the supporters of the revolutionary movement.

Arthur Toronto Declares St. James' Churchwardens' Choice Will Not Be the New Rector.

These words, couched just as Thomas a Becket might have used them to King Henry II. of England, were said by Bishop de Soyres...

REV. DE SOYRES OBJECTIONABLE.

Another Step in the Disagreement Between His Lordship and St. James' Congregation.

"I am not obliged to consult the committee absolute power to appoint a rector, whether the wardens agree or not."

TO PLAY INDOOR BASEBALL.

Officers of Toronto Garrison Re-organize League—Q. O. R.

A meeting of the officers of the Toronto garrison was held on Saturday night at the Military Club...

A Bishop's Ultimatum.

Bishop's Room, Merchants' Bank Building, Toronto, Nov. 3, 1899.

To the Churchwardens and Lay Representatives of St. James' Cathedral, Toronto:

My Dear Sirs,—I beg hereby officially to acquaint you that I am in my mind and intention, as I have intimated to you on many occasions, not to appoint the Rev. de Soyres to the rectory of St. James' Cathedral.

I am yours very truly, Arthur Toronto.

Has No One in View?

After the meeting of the committee, the bishop declined to say what objections he had to the appointment of the Rev. de Soyres.

Churchwardens Not the Church.

When informed that the committee were unanimously in favor of the Rev. de Soyres, Bishop Sweatman replied: "I do not think the churchwardens are the church."

It was known by all the congregation that the Bishop was and had always been opposed to the appointment of the Rev. de Soyres.

One of the committee members chosen for the appointment of a new rector said that the choice was unanimous as it could be, and the statement of the Bishop to the World, that he knew for a fact that the greater part of the congregation were something that he, as one who knew the feelings of the congregation in that respect, could not understand.

Saw the Bishop.

The committee waited on the Bishop three weeks ago, and acquainted him with the desire of the congregation. They were given to understand that his wishes and those of the congregation would be complied with.

They were thankful to the Bishop for his kind and courteous compliance with their wishes. They expected the Bishop would soon make the appointment, and that they would be notified of his decision.

The Bishop's decision was something that he, as one who knew the feelings of the congregation in that respect, could not understand.

They were amazed.

The Bishop's decision was something that he, as one who knew the feelings of the congregation in that respect, could not understand.

What Will Follow?

To sum the matter up, the congregation has been disappointed, the committee and churchwardens humiliated, the Bishop has exceeded his authority by saying his decision was final, while the congregation give in to the question all are asking.

NOT A SUDDEN TROUBLE.

But It's Simply an Upheaval in One Spot of a Long-Standing Disagreement.

"The trouble of St. James' Cathedral between the congregation and the Bishop is not of sudden growth. It is but the upheaval in one spot of a widespread, long-standing disagreement."

Who don't you give the Bishop the credit of having given us notice before he would accept?

If the Bishop could be got to retire so gracefully, things Anglican would go along swimmingly. There are two sections of the church in Toronto doing this.

The one is represented by Trinity University, and the other by Wyville College. The one is the high church and the other low church. The one is led not too wisely by Hartley, and the other by Sammie Toronto.

A BRAVE WOMAN.

How a Drunken Husband Was Made a Sober Man by a Determined Wife.

A PATHETIC LETTER.

She writes:—"I had for a long time been thinking of trying the Samaria Prescription treatment on my husband for his drinking habits, but I was afraid he would discover that I was giving him medicine, and he thought unnerred me. I hesitated for nearly a week, but one day when he came home very much intoxicated and his week's salary nearly all spent, I threw off all fear and determined to make an effort to save our home from the ruin I saw coming, at all hazards. I sent for your Samaria Prescription and put it in his coffee as directed next morning and watched and prayed for the result. At noon I gave him more and also at supper. He had not expected a thing, and I then boldly kept right on giving it regularly, and I had discovered something that set every nerve in my body tingling with hope and happiness, and I could see a bright future spread out before me—a peaceful, happy home, a share in the good things of life, an attentive, loving husband, contented, and everything else dear to a woman's heart. My husband had told me that whiskey was the only thing he was taking a dislike to. It was only too true, for before I had given him the full course he had stopped drinking altogether, but I kept giving the medicine till it was gone, and then sent for another lot to have on hand if his promises, as he had done on his previous relapses, he never has, and I am writing you this letter to tell you how thankful I am. I honestly believe it will cure the worst cases."

THE BOER WAR AND POLITICS

Will the Transvaal Campaign End in a Return of the Liberals to Power?

Speculation as to the result of the Boer war has been going on since the outbreak of hostilities in possession of an overwhelming force of the most able Boer leaders.

After three weeks of war the British losses exceed 2000 men, and the Boer forces are closely invested. Cape Colony is invaded at two points below the Orange River and Lower Natal threatened from Zululand. John Bull is after his first burst of over-confidence has been awakened to the seriousness of the situation. The Boers were well prepared for war, whereas too much was expected of the British.
