COOL SCHEME TO STEAL BAGGAGE

Two Sharp Graft Operators Caught In Chicago

THE TRUNK GAME

Daisy Dean and Her Accomplice Secured Much Valuable Booty From Railway Companies Before They Were Caught--How They Worked It.

CHICAGO, Aug. 25.—The Inter-Ocean today says: "The mysterious disappearance of hundreds of trunks and other baggage from the railroad trains and stations between St. Louis and Denver during the past two years has just been revealed through the arrest here of Roy Adams, alias Roy E. Sprey of California, and a woman giving the name of Daisy Dean and her home as Denver. They were arrested on a charge of stealing furs from a safe in the Masonic Temple. When their rooms were searched the police found a large number of trunks and suit cases and a profusion of the most expensive clothing and toilet articles for men and women. Miss Dean confessed to the police yesterday her participation in a scheme which has caused a large number of railroads to lose a vast amount of valuable baggage.

The scheme was simple. They would take a trunk, either in suit case containing only a shirt or some other article of clothing, and check it to some nearby point. After the trunk was placed in the baggage car either the man or woman would go to the baggage agent, hand him a dollar, and the check and ask to be allowed to open the trunk or suitcase in order to get out a check. The man or woman would then take the check and return to the station. In a few cases the baggage master refused the request. When getting something out of the trunk, the man or woman would take a small exchange die check on the empty trunk or value for one on the last appearing trunk of value in the car. When the train reached the destination to which the dummy baggage had been shipped, the duplicate of the check which they transferred to another trunk, get it and take it to the baggage agent. The trunk called for it to be opened would be the dummy trunk of the sharper.

Detectives of the railroads are now trying to trace the stolen property. It has been shown in various places but so far has been refused to reveal where.

FITTING OF THE SCHOOL TO NEEDS OF THE COMMUNITY

Manual Training as Discussed at a Southern Educational Congress--What New York's Director of Manual Training Has to Say About It and Its Successes.

From the Times interviews on manual training it can easily be gathered that the question in educational circles and to the public is the "fitting of the school to the needs of the community," or the relation of education to vocation. It is clearly set forth in an article in the issue of "The Southern Workman" number of "The Vocational Future of the South." The article deals with the Richmond, Virginia, Educational Congress, and says: "Dr. James P. Hancy, director of manual training for the department of education in New York, spoke of what he called the 'vocational view of life,' which he said the economic pressure of the day obliges us to give to schoolboys and schoolgirls if we are to develop a constructive people capable of holding their own in the 'constructive future' that awaits them. 'Especially in the south,' he said, 'it is necessary for the youth to have a tremendous industrial development, and fifteen years from now the children in our schools today will be the directors of industries.' This thought was further amplified and with great force as well as considerable humor, by Dr. Bruce Payne of historic William and Mary College, who characterized as immoral or at least 'unmoral' the school which does not fit its pupils to be of service to society. All the speakers agreed that the fitting of the school to the needs of the community, the relating of education to vocation, was the proper province of the right sort of manual training. And the right sort for the American boy, it was maintained by Dr. Henry Turner Buller, the well-known editor of 'The School Art Book,' is that which presents to pupils problems that involve design, problems that hold the Secret Sessions of Committees, and Members Are Silent as to Their Transactions--Attorney General Pugsley Talks on McArthur and McVey's Claim and the Threatened Injunction--Dry Lake Flooded Again--What Will the Next Move Be?

The Loch Lomond water works situation seems to be the main topic of conversation on the streets at present. Further complications are arising all the time, and the end is by no means near at hand. Word comes this morning that the so-called dry lake is completely flooded as a result of the water at Lake Lashimer being turned on, and the contractors are more than ever dismayed with the outlook.

IN COLORADO

At Least Nine Lives Were Lost in Ragging Torrent--Property Loss Estimated at Hundreds of Thousands of Dollars.

TRINIDAD, Colo., Aug. 25.—A cloud burst in the vicinity of Rhode Canyon through which ordinarily a small stream of water runs, last night converted the canyon into a raging torrent which swept through the town of Trinidad and its suburbs wrecking everything in its path, and drowning at least nine persons. The property loss is estimated at hundreds of thousands of dollars, suffered mostly by the Colorado Fuel & Iron Co. and the Colorado & Southern Railway Co. It is impossible to get accurate news of the loss of life and property, for the reason that communication with the stricken town is constantly interrupted by the storm, which still continues. Relief parties have gone from Trinidad and neighboring towns but cannot reach the canyon for several hours, as the 10 miles distance, which between is deluged. From all directions are coming reports of the disastrous effects of the storm which swept through Trinidad, but no further loss of life than at Trinidad and Tobacco has been reported.

WEDDINGS

Stewart-Bridges. A quiet wedding took place last night at the home of Mrs. John Bridges, German street, when her daughter, Margaret Louise, was united in marriage to Alexander J. Stewart, of Toronto. Only the immediate relatives of the bride were present. The bride was prettily attired in white silk, with open work trimmings and carried a bouquet of bride roses and carnations. The ceremony was performed by Rev. David Lang. After the happy young couple will leave tonight for Montreal, Toronto and other Canadian cities, the bride's going away gown will be white with pale blue trimmings and hat to match.

Fabulous Tales of the Wonderful Pearls Found in Little River and the Head Waters of the Petitcodiac--Branch Post Office Wanted--The Moncton Hospital.

MONCTON, Aug. 25.—(Special.)—good offers from Moncton jewelers for the pearl, but still retains it in his possession. The recent find started a party of a dozen ladies and gentlemen from Moncton today in search of pearls in the Salubry waters.

Moncton is soon to have an improved telephone system. The local management is now at work putting new fixtures in the new exchange building recently completed, and the old instruments are to be replaced with more modern and up-to-date phones.

Miss Stenhouse, of Edinburgh, Scotland, is spending some time here with her cousin, Mrs. G. O. Spencer. Miss Stenhouse is a niece of James Stenhouse, manager of the Acadia Sugar refinery at Halifax, and is paying her first visit to Canada.

The Moncton hospital is crowded with patients, and applications for admission to the institution are being daily refused. Twenty applications for admission have been refused the past few days. Many of them are from outside of the city. One of the questions the hospital management will have to face shortly is the erection of a nurses' home in connection with the institution. The undertaking has already been considered, and it is estimated that such a building will have to be built within the next two or three years. The hospital, which cost $40,000, is entirely free of debt.

W. P. Fogarty, formerly of the I. C. R. office, has returned from Los Angeles, Cal., where he has been spending the past year for his health.

Rev. J. E. Peters and wife, of St. John's, Newfoundland, are in the city, guests of Capt. Wastene. They are on their way to the Pacific Coast on an extended trip.

A new volume has been added to the city library. It is handsomely bound in calf, and is entitled 'Murdoch's Revenge, or the Mystery of the Dry Lake.'

The Carlotta ferry boats are to be taken out next week for repairs. After they have been repaired the mayor and aldermen with a few invited friends will go down the harbor on them on a trial trip. The same will be done with the east side boats. Admiral Glasgow has charge of the arrangements, and Harbor Master Ferris will be at the wheel. Naval Architect MacLean will be present.

Several packages of personal luggage were embarked at Havre, and weighed 2000 kilograms. For the journey from Paris to Havre the two utilized an automobile hired from a garage in Paris.

A letter received in Paris from the actress which pointed at Las Palmas, stated that the actress was bound for Buenos Ayres, and the police telegraphed to those ports Thursday. The police have just now received news of the arrest of Gailly at Bahia.

The chief of the Bahia police called that the yacht had arrived there and the persons arrested say they are of Belgian nationality.

Now, of course, that suggested at once that there must be a communication between the two rooms. It could only be a small one, of it would have been remarked upon at the coroner's inquiry. I deduced, a ventilator."

HUMORS OF HISTORY---127

Queen Margaret and the Robber. The Wars of the Roses arose from the claim of the Duke of York to the throne of Henry VI., who was of the House of Lancaster. The Lancastrians were defeated at Northampton, at Towton, at Barnet, and other places, and the Duke of York assumed the crown as Edward IV. After one of the battles Henry IV's wife, Queen Margaret, fled with her young son into a forest, where a robber waylaid them. In response to his demands for money, the Queen gave him the little prince by the hand saying, "My friend, this is the son of your lawful King. I confide him to your care. The robber responded to the appeal, and assisted the Queen and her son to rejoin their friends.

Good Casters Ives' Brass Beds

The caster on a metal or brass bed is important. An imperfect caster is liable to injure carpets or rugs while on polished floors it always leaves marks. Ives' Brass Beds have a double wheel ball bearing caster. The double wheel divides the weight and its wide face does not mark the floor, while it turns so easily to the motion of the bed that it never injures carpets.

CORNER IN LAKE SHIPBUILDING

Lines Wanting New Ships Can't Get Them Built--Advance in Prices--Steel Plants Working Overtime.

CHICAGO, Aug. 25--A half dozen steamship lines fighting to build new passenger liners for service next season have discovered within a day or two that lake shipbuilding is retarded.

One line that is especially anxious for a new ship has made the rounds without finding a shipbuilder who is anxious for a new boat.

A marked advance in prices resulted and it is known that several projects for new boats will have to go over for a year. Lake Michigan lines alone are starting on two new boats.

Already there is a serious delay in the delivery of material and this is certain to grow worse. Every steel plant in the country is far behind in its orders and it is said to be impossible to get the boats already under contract out on time, even if the supply of workers were as large as it should be.

THE DOUKHOBORS

It will be remembered that great sympathy was expressed a year or two since for Peter Verigin, the Doukhobor leader, because of his treatment by the Russian authorities. He was represented to be a man of enlightenment, whose coming to Canada would have a good effect upon those of his race who had already settled in the west.

The report of an interview with this visitor further says: An incident was related of a Russian general who was at Port Arthur, and during an attack himself shot down Japanese one after another as they came up the esplanade in a line five feet apart, until the number stationed behind him and their determination and heavy arms made it a matter of inquiry what could inspire men thus willing to sacrifice their lives as three Japanese apparently had done.

These are the days when those who are interested in the stock market manifest unusual interest and activity. The range of prices is very high, and sooner or later there will be a reaction. The public is in the market again, and trading is more active than for a considerable period.

It is said there is now some prospect of securing the long needed drill hall in this city. If the statement be true, Lord Aylmer deserves our thanks.

The situation of three years ago. Women took the place of men in the commercial offices. Never before in the history of Japan has the power of organization been developed in the women of that land as now. The Ladies' Patriotic Association of Tokio, with the Marchioness Oyama and Mrs. Uru, wife of Admiral Uru, as patrons, is producing degrees of efficiency in relief work through this emergency that is almost unsurpassed in any land.

The book Bushido, which deals with knightlyhood ways and the military spirit and training handed down from the twelfth century in Japan, has been translated into English, German, Polish, Norwegian, Russian and Hindustani. Its author, Dr. Niobe, married an American lady.

Going more into particulars Col. Waterson says: "New York covers the field more fully. But it does this at the cost of a vast amount of the immaterial. Too much elaboration is the sin of New York; sometimes too little, though not often, of London."

The divorce court furnishes a constant stream of matter which, under American treatment, would be most salacious and unwholesome. It is not so as rendered there. The same may be said of the police reports. Indeed, in all points of decency they far surpass us."

A recent visitor to Japan was much impressed by the great resourcefulness of the people of that country under the strain of the war. He is thus reported: "There was no excitement and very little talk about the war, and all seemed to be cheerful, although there must have been great anxiety of heart on account of the loss of many who never returned from the battlefield. The industries went on seemingly without interruption. He asked him that she noticed no difference from

WINNIPEG, Aug. 25.—Premier Roblin, who is also minister of agriculture, has just returned from an exhaustive inspection of crop in Manitoba. He said that the largest and best crop ever grown in the Northwest is now ripe and being harvested, but he added that the grain was so heavy and maturing so rapidly that loss must occur unless the harvest is pushed through. "Twenty per cent. is out, he said, but eighty per cent. should be in stack tonight."

CROCKER'S HORSES COMING "This week the management of the Theatre Royal, Exeter, are providing unique entertainment for patrons of the Theatre, in the shape of Professor Crocker's horses. These animals have earned a world wide reputation for their clever tricks, and until one sees with one's own eyes the perfectly marvelous performance of these magnificent creatures, one is inclined to regard the claims of their trainer with grave doubt. The programme in this direction, however, will be dispensed when put to the test, and after seeing the will leave the theatre more impressed than ever at the wonderful state of training to which the noble horses can be put in to the relief from the performances that one never all sees at the theatre. No lover of all sorts of the theatre should neglect the opportunity afforded by the visit of this well-known troupe."—Western Times.

TO BUY FARM HERE Attorney General Pughly has received from C. Duff Miller, agent general for New Brunswick in England, information relating to Mrs. Close's scheme for the emigration to New Brunswick of poor children. Mrs. Close has been interested in this scheme for the past few years, and in this connection she has been advised to receive the aid of the New Brunswick government. Mrs. Close has just received from a London banker a generous offer of a farm of about two hundred acres in New Brunswick, and for the purpose of looking the children over and for the supervision of the different groups will be in the hands of a local committee.

YOUNG IS ANGRY Elmer E. Yeo has been refused the custody of baby Elma, and has announced his intention of taking proceedings in Boston with an end to recovering the child. Beyond the statement that the child was born in Boston and is therefore an American subject, he was rather vague as to what line of action would be adopted. He left Digby for Boston via Yarmouth yesterday afternoon. Before leaving he called at Digby jail and asked permission to say good-bye to Mary Young, but was refused, being told that the condemned woman would be informed of his visit. No one but jail officials are allowed to see her.

IN THE COURSE OF JUSTICE The inadequacy of our criminal law is strongly drawn in a story by Arthur McClure in the September McClure's. "In the Course of Justice" tells a vivid story of the underworld of the habitual crook in New York. His author's position as an assistant district attorney gives him a first-hand knowledge of the criminal writings achieve an importance entirely beside their quality as vile, moving stories. Much is heard of the hampster of our criminal code and no more vivid picture of its lacks is needed than this tale of a thief with a conscience.

CANADIAN FORESTRY JOURNAL The third number of the Canadian Forestry Journal contains a number of interesting articles. "The Art of Forestry" is dealt with by Dr. A. Harold Urwin, a European Forester, and "Diseases of Timber" by Dr. J. H. Paul, of the University of Toronto. "Taxation of Forests in British Columbia in 1904" and "The Poplars" are the titles of popular articles, and plans and descriptions are given of new timber reserves established in Ontario and Quebec.

TO SHINE SHOES. Greek Boys Brought to America Under Contract for This Work.

When a young Greek who was employed in a shoe-shining shop in this city recently attempted suicide it was alleged that he had been promised better wages here than he had got in the states. In connection with the shoe-shining industry the following from a Boston paper is of interest: 'United States Immigration Inspector Mansfield at Omaha has caused to be brought before him several Greek boys from fifteen to eighteen years of age, who are engaged in shining shoes in different shops in that city. Inspector Mansfield believes they are in this country in violation of the contract labor law. He learned that one firm has brought a great number of these boys from Greece and employs them shining shoes in the large cities throughout the country. When questioned the boys admitted that they were paid by the year and their food and clothing was furnished by their employers. They also admitted that they came to the United States with the understanding that they were to be given this kind of employment.'

IS THE WORLD TOO YOUNG? From 'Prolonging the Prime of Life,' by A. E. McFarlane, in the September McClure's.

If it is the belief, however whimsical, of Dr. Omer, that there would be much virtue and gain in chronism for the sake of forty, it is the belief of Dr. Elie Metchnikoff that what this world chiefly suffers from is human immaturity. In an age which for long enough has been proclaiming the inestimable value of the young man, he congratulates himself that through medical progress the balance of power may be given to those whom we now call the old. And probably we should still continue to call them old. But we must keep in mind that the great extension would really be one of middle life. What is now a mere flattened hill-top would become a wide, stretching plateau. At present it is those still climbing who, from their egotism and short-sightedness, most largely give the law; the future would be for those who, with ripened thoughtfulness upon the upper level. Above all, indeed, does this Russian philosopher believe that the thought that longer life will have its highest value in the restoration of the old man to his rightful position. He will not only gather wisdom and experience, but he will be able to make it felt preponderantly in a more effective manner than the young man. For what science is now determined to arrive at is the 'healthfully old,' not age that is feeble and ailing, and miserably doubtful of its life, but age such as we may see it in some fine old oak or elm, having reached its maximum, it retains it, with scarcely the forebodings of decline for some after score of years.

MORNING NEWS IN BRIEF.

Local. The four guns for St. John's new field battery have arrived. Owing to the cramped quarters in the military stores building the guns have been stored in the exhibition building at the order of George West Jones to whom they were consigned. The guns are 12-pounders and they and their carriages are painted a green. With all their gear considerable space is taken up. A large amount of space will be required for the same due to arrive at any time now, a dozen other wagons, (ammunition wagons, chiefly) and harness for twenty or thirty horses.

The school board is hard pressed for teachers this year. At the close of the last term large numbers of teachers resigned and some difficulty has been experienced in filling the vacant positions. The principalship of Newman St. school formerly filled by Miles McCutcheon, who resigned last spring has been filled by the appointment of E. M. Reid. Mr. McCutcheon will enter into a new sphere of labor and will attend Acadia University and study for the ministry. Wilfred Isenor, of Ready street Fairville, injured his arm while working in Cushing's mill yesterday. The arm caught in a wood roller, and was drawn in up to the shoulder. It was badly contused, but no bones broken. Dr. Roberts attended the injured member. David Lovell, a watchman in J. K. Sargent's store, was severely injured early last evening. He was working about the furnace, and fell a distance of about ten feet. His thigh bone was fractured. He was conveyed to his home, Moore street, and Dr. Roberts was called for on account of a serious character.

WEDDINGS. McKusick-Bates. St. Stephen, Aug. 24.—(Special)—Canada's Linker Sam today one of her most estimable daughters in a marriage solemnized at 4 o'clock this afternoon at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. D. Hume Bates, the parents of the beautiful young bride. The contracting parties were Professor (South Dakota), son of Hon. M. N. McKusick, of Calais, and Miss Alice Amelia Bates, of St. Stephen. The ceremony was performed by Rev. W. C. Goudier, pastor of the Union street Baptist church. The bridesmaid was Miss Sadie Calhoun, of Calhoun's Mills (N.B.) and the witness, Haycock, of Calais, supported the young groom.

The hall, drawing rooms and dining room were beautifully festooned with ferns and flowers, the marriage ceremony being performed beneath an arch of ferns and white sweet peas, with crossed flags and a true bride forming the apex. The bride was attired in white embroidered chiffon over silk and the bridesmaid wore champagne chiffon over silk. Ten young ladies of a club to which the bride belonged were ribbon bearers. The attendants a business and fashionable one, the young bride being a popular member of exclusive society circles. At the close of the ceremony, a reception was held and lunch served, and later the happy couple, accompanied by the young ladies who had assisted, made the first stage on an extended wedding journey together. The presents were fittingly expensive, the bride receiving a beautiful diamond ring, and including a check for $1,000, a valuable case of silver, an abundance of cut glass, and other articles of value among them a token from fellow teachers of the bride in the Baptist Sunday school and Prof. and Mrs. McKusick will reside in Vermilion.

Morgan-Harrison. A very pretty wedding was solemnized yesterday afternoon at the residence of Mrs. L. Harrison, Celebration street, when his only daughter, Elizabeth Arnold Harrison, was united in marriage to Chas. Archibald Morgan at the city, a member of the traveling staff of the Imperial Starbuck Co. of Prescott (Ont.). The ceremony was performed by Rev. Geo. M. Campbell, pastor of Queen square Methodist church, the happy couple standing under a beautiful floral ball. The hall and rooms were very tastefully decorated with flowers by the bride's friends. The bride was attended by her cousin, the Misses Eva and Olive Jamieson, an inside of honor, and as the bridal party entered the room, a choir sang the wedding march, the organ playing Mendelssohn's wedding march as the bride and groom went down the aisle. The bride wore cream crepe de chene over cream tulle, with a high and brown silk hat to match. The groom's present to the bride was a beautiful diamond brooch set with pearls and to the flower girl he gave pearl pins. The presents were many and handsome, and a number came from out side the city. Friends in Toronto, Montreal, Boston, New York city and Ithaca (N. Y.), and Sackville sending beautiful gifts of cut glass and silver. Mr. and Mrs. Morgan left on the C. P. R. train for an extended trip to the west, probably as far as Vancouver.

'Isn't that a beautiful color?' exclaimed the flag dealer, as he cut into a large roll of bunting. 'I suppose he is thinking for the extravagant price he is getting for himself.'
