U. S. Officials Are Charged With Protecting Bootleggers
TWO FORTH STREET HOUSES COLLAPSE

PROBE IS STARTED BY GRAND JURY IN MASSACHUSETTS

Police Officials and Selectmen Summoned to Tell of Liquor Matters.

BRIBERY CHARGED
"Protection" Rate is Said to be From $50 a Week Upward.

Boston, Mass., Sept. 12.—Police officials of Salisbury and Newburyport and three members of the board of selectmen were among the persons summoned to appear today before the Federal grand jury, which has begun an investigation of charges that rum runners were "protected" in their operations by officials of northeastern Massachusetts cities and towns. Seabrook, N. H., which adjoins Salisbury, also comes within the scope of the inquiry, it was said.

Agents of the Department of Justice who investigated the charges reported that rum runners and liquor dealers received protection in several shore resorts and that bribery and corruption of officials was indicated. Witnesses admitted, the agents said, that the weekly "protection" rate for liquor dealers was $50, while rum runners paid large fees.

The grand jury inquiry, it was said, was brought about by women of the towns involved, who complained that the laws were being evaded openly. The present investigation is the second undertaken by Federal authorities, the agents said, affidavits procured in the first instance having disappeared from files of the Department of Justice.

The Salisbury selectmen summoned as witnesses are Roscoe George, Ruel Gatchell and Harold F. Congdon, the latter being also chief of police, proprietors of beach resorts and business men also have been called to testify.

N. J. POLICE BELIEVE MAN WITH $150,000 SLAIN BY PIRATES

Moeller Missing Since Speed Boat With Liquor was Found Adrift.

New York, Sept. 12.—Absent from home since June 28 and known to have had $150,000 in cash a few days later, George F. Moeller of West New York, N. J., is believed by the police to have been killed in Sheepshead Bay by whisky pirates who boarded his speed boat Rex. The Rex was found with one aboard early in July by Coast Guard men a few miles off of Sheepshead Bay. The craft's propeller had been damaged. Forty-five cases of whisky were found on board.

Though friends of Moeller, recalling his long absence on business trips from which he always returned with large sums, were optimistic and held to the belief he would return home, the West New York police were fearful that he had been murdered. "The large sum of money, which he usually carried in a brown brief case, would have been attractive to owners of hopleg craft among which the Rex moved, with the police point out.

Moeller left home June 28 with the $150,000 in cash, saying he was going on a business trip. He carried the money in the brief case. He drove his automobile (Continued on page 9, third column).

SEEKS INDICTMENT AGAINST WM. FAHEY

Attorney Charges Him With Leadership of Illinois Mail Robbery.

Chicago, Ill., Sept. 12.—Assistant District Attorney John Eliot Byrne will go before the Federal grand jury here today to seek the indictment of Wm. M. Fahey, postal inspector, as a leader of the Roundout, Ill., $2,000,000 mail robbery.

At about the same time Attorney C. D. Reich, Chicago, will be pleading with the Leavenworth Parole Board for the release of "Big Tim" Murphy, sent to the penitentiary by Fahey for the $880,000 Dearborn street robbery.

Mr. Reich announced last night, just before leaving for Leavenworth, Kansas, that he will present affidavits from various witnesses of the Pullman, Ill., mail robbery, for which Murphy is still under indictment, although the hold-up preceded the Dearborn robbery by almost a year.

The old indictments thus far have prevented "Big Tim" from having his petition for parole entertained, although he has been eligible for parole consideration for five months.

The affidavits which he will present to the parole board is purported to show Fahey "framed the identification" which caused Murphy to be indicted in the Pullman case, Attorney Reich said.

RESIDENCE OF DR. ANGLIN WAS AFIRE

Much Damage is Caused by Outbreak in Fine Home.

Fire broke out this morning after 11 o'clock in the attic of the handsome Mrs. Mrs. Anglin's home, 22 years of age, was ill in her bed when the fire broke out and she had to be assisted from the burning building. The only other occupants of the house when the fire was discovered were the cook and the housemaid.

A man passing noticed the fire and notified those in the house, and sent word to Dr. Anglin at the hospital. A message was also sent to Arthur Anglin, son of Dr. Anglin, and he hurried to the scene from the city by taxi.

Mrs. Anglin, who was attending a Red Cross meeting in the city, also hastened home.

St. John Firemen Help
The fire departments in Fairville and St. John were notified and a motor chemical from the city and the chemical engine from No. 6 station responded in addition to the Fairville engine.

When the firemen arrived the upper part of the building was a mass of flames. Neighbors and attendants from the burning building, and from the house, The firemen soon saw that the chemical was not enough to handle the fire and several streams of water were turned on. After a fight of about three-quarters of an hour the fire was extinguished, but not until the contents of the building were badly damaged.

Tons of water poured into the attic, seeping through the floors, soaking the beautiful fittings of the home and covering them with plaster torn from the ceilings and walls. The handsome mahogany furniture, some of which was quite old, was damaged, especially part of it which was in the upper part of the building.

Mrs. Ives was taken to the home of Mrs. Hebert Wetmore, Earle avenue, by Mrs. Love and one of the servants. She was able to walk from the building with assistance.

The lawn in front of the house was covered by articles of furniture removed by willing hands, and these goods, which were damaged, especially the Pullman, were being especially diligent in this work.

NEW SENSATION IS PROMISED IN BRITISH POLITICS

London Paper Says Prime Minister Recently Acquired £30,000

PREMIER EXPLAINS
Says Capital Not His; He Only Technically Owns the Shares.

(British United Press)
London, Sept. 12.—Disclosure by the Daily Mail that Premier MacDonald on March 12 acquired possession of £30,000 shares of a great Scotch bluest company, valued at £1 a share, promises to develop into a political sensation of the first magnitude.

The Morning Post today, after commenting upon the fact that the Prime Minister made no attempt to conceal his ownership of the shares, says: "It only remains for the Prime Minister to afford the public the explanation which is its due, having regard for the fact that in a speech at Carlisle on January 29 of this year, Mr. MacDonald said: 'I bear securities have gone up. I do not know. I have nothing of this world's good to turn into securities.'"

Premier Answers
In an interview at Loughborough, where he was returning from a picnic, MacDonald made a statement regarding the securities of the McVittie & Price, Ltd., Biscuit Company. "The capital is not mine," he said. "I only technically own the shares. The matter had nothing to do with politics."

Sir Alexander A. Grant, principal owner of McVittie & Price, received a baronetcy last June.

Referring to this, the Prime Minister said "Sir Alexander received his honor for public services, including the gift of a national library to Scotland, which most people know about and for which he has already received the freedom of Edinburgh."

U. S. WAR DEFENCES ARE TESTED TODAY

Patriotic Demonstrations Are Held Throughout Country And Possessions.

Washington, Sept. 12.—The nation's defense machinery intended for actual use only in the event of a war emergency was given its first test today, accompanied by patriotic demonstrations throughout the U. S. and its possessions. It was a limited test, the actual expansion plans of the war department being designed to cover a period of months but dealing only with the question of personnel and not with supply equipment, housing or training.

Demonstration of the success of the new scheme of defense will signalize the separation from the military establishment, at least so far as active service is involved, of General John Pershing, who has devoted his time since 1918 to perfecting it.

When the defense day tests actually go under way today it was apparent, the War Department officials, after studying reports from outlying commands that their hopes had been entirely justified by the response throughout the country of men who for the day had reported for "duty" to the corps area commanders and in the more local districts to the committees set up during the war.

BUILDINGS ARE WRECKED BUT ALL TENANTS SAVED

Remarkable That Not One is Seriously Injured as Houses Crumble.

DEAFENING ROAR
North End Aroused in the Early Morn by Sensational Episode.

To be awakened from their slumbers by a deafening roar, to feel themselves hurled from their beds, while doors were torn asunder from their fastenings, glass flew in all directions, plaster was torn from the ceilings, and walls crashed down about them, was the terrifying experience of five families who reside in Harrison street a little before 4 o'clock this morning, when two large three story wooden dwelling houses collapsed.

Both houses were literally wrenched from their foundations and partly crumpled, while all of both houses were ripped from the main structures and toppled into a mass in the yards. Heavy beams were ripped from their positions and hurled about, but not a person was seriously injured. How all escaped with their lives is a miracle.

Aid Quickly at Hand.
When the accident happened the roar could be heard for a long distance. Thomas Hunter, who was passing along Main street at the time, hurried to a fire alarm box and pulled the hook in Box 144. The terrifying sound, which rent the air at this early hour, when the vast majority of citizens were sleeping, caused the policemen who were patrolling their beats to act first and think afterwards. Without a moment's hesitation a call was sent for the patrol and every man on duty nearby rushed to the scene.

No one knew just what happened, but they say it seemed that something had exploded and the horrifying thought that some unfortunate citizens might be killed or badly maimed coursed through their minds as they rushed to the place.

Hardly had the echo of the sound of the falling buildings died out when Sergeant Timothy Sullivan, Policemen Killen, Coughlan, Gibbs and Phinney were rushing up on different directions. On their arrival all they could discern was a cloud resembling smoke which swept out through windows and doorways while the screams of terrified women and children rent the air.

Forget Danger in Rescue.
Without a thought for themselves or the danger they were in they started to render succor. They were soon joined by the firemen who quickly responded to the call from Box 144 and, with the aid of ladders, the men, women and children were taken from the windows and carried to the street. The premises were then searched for fear that some unfortunate was plucked beneath a mass of debris, but such was not the case and every soul in both buildings was taken out in safety, the majority suffering from a nervous shock but otherwise uninjured.

Five Danger Eliminated.
Fortunately not a fire or lamp was burning in either house or the scene which greeted the eyes of the policemen and firemen might have been much worse and many of the people might have lost their lives.

The cause of the mishap is said to have been collapse of the foundation posts under one of the houses owned by William E. Emerson of West St. John. It in turn crashed into a house adjoining, owned by Thomas Buckley, which was torn from its foundations and hurled fully ten feet to settle in parietal ruins.

Tells of Experience.
Mr. Buckley in conversation with a reporter from The Times-Star told the following story: "I heard nothing until the plaster on the ceiling came crashing down on top of me as I was sleeping in a room towards the rear of the house. I then heard my nephew call."

UNBUSINESSLIKE OPERATION IN PUBLIC OWNED RETAIL STORES

Toronto Paper Finds Further Evidence in Stratford Hydro.

Hardware and Metal, published in Toronto, has the following in its issue of Sept. 6: Further evidence of the unbusinesslike manner in which certain public owned enterprises are being conducted is found in the report of the accounts of the Stratford retail store operated by the Hydro for the sale of electrical appliances. Auditors who have made a thorough examination of the books of this store report that "a far from businesslike system seems to be in vogue in the matter of handling accounts."

The auditors made a close check of the accounts receivable in the merchandising department of the Stratford store and it was found that there were some 782 accounts on the books owing approximately $46,000.

The report continues as follows: "An examination of this list shows that the question of the regular collection of accounts is not given the attention that it should get."

"The following are some of the irregularities: "The non-payment in a large number of cases of the instalments as called for in the contract and the lack of any apparent follow-up methods."

"The failure to charge interest on outstanding accounts."

"The selling of goods in a large number of cases on time without a contract."

"The showing of bad and doubtful accounts as current balances."

"The number of small balances remaining unpaid for a considerable length of time."

"The selling of goods with a small cash payment down and a small instalment due every month. An example of this is the following transaction: A party purchased an article for $50.00 under a contract of May 20, 1922, signing a contract which called for 50 per cent. down and $5 per month. The transaction took place during a special campaign. This party failed to live up to even this arrangement for on July 10, 1924, she still owed $34 on the account."

"In conversation with Mr. Myers, of the local commission, it was found that it was the practice to send out special statements for the merchandising department accounts, and only in case of continued non-payment were the accounts included on the current bill."

"The foregoing being but one of scores of similar cases which have developed in connection with stores publicly operated in various parts of Canada, it becomes quite obvious that the principle and the method of operation is not only grossly unfair to competing retailers and to the taxpayers who must provide revenue to meet deficits upon such stores, but the unbusinesslike character of such operations is undermining the very structure upon which independent retail stores have been endeavoring to build during recent years."

"What hardware merchant could conduct his business successfully with large portion of $42,000 of time payment accounts in arrears?"

"What would a bank manager tell a hardwareman about his account, were he to let such a state of affairs develop in his business?"

"He would be denied further credit until he put his business on a more efficient basis, and the number of hardwaremen who could stand such a condition is limited. The public owned enterprise meanwhile pursues the even tenor of its way, secure in the knowledge that the taxpayer will be deluded into providing revenue to meet the deficits resulting from such inefficient management."

"Then there is the practice of encouraging time payment accounts, a basis upon which such public owned stores are largely founded. Hardwaremen use this plan with very great care, if at all, realizing its great dangers, and steps are taken to see that every risk is secure. Such care is taken that the unpaid balance can frequently be discounted at the bank and the whole sum become immediately available to the merchant.

"The instalment plan is a very easy method of getting business and a highly dangerous one if improperly administered, such it appeals strongly to public owned store managers, who, unfortunately, have almost unlimited funds at their disposal and are only out for big volume business."

"The lax business methods followed by most of such stores and the encouragement of time payments are two phases of this subject which are becoming an increasing menace to retail trade. Efficient retail merchants have discovered that they cannot operate their business upon such methods, and have been endeavoring to educate their customers away from expecting long credit extension and indiscriminate granting of instalment payments. Their efforts along such lines are likely to be largely frustrated by the public owned store which is only out to rapidly flood the district with merchandise at the expense of the recognized principles of retail distribution."

PREPARING FOR CHURCH ANNIVERSARY

D. L. Hutchinson, director of the Meteorological Observatory in Douglas avenue, did not put much credence in the reports of a slight earthquake. The observatory is not equipped with apparatus which could detect an earthquake, but he said no instruments would be necessary to detect one severe enough to shake over a house.

INTEREST KEEN IN LECTURE FOR THE MILK FUND

Character Analyst Speaks of Subject on Which He Will Give Address.

Keen interest was aroused yesterday by the announcement that Edward Lee Hawk, character analyst and business psychologist, had generously offered his services to help towards the Free Milk Fund. Mr. Hawk has consented to change his programme of free lectures so as to deliver his talk on "How to Know What Your Child Should Be" in the Imperial Theatre on Sunday afternoon, hour not yet set. A silver collection will be taken, the entire proceeds going to the milk fund. W. H. Golding, manager of the Imperial, with his usual courtesy, having offered the theatre free for this purpose. The plans have received the hearty approval of officials of the Women's Council, who are the promoters of the Free Milk Fund, and it is hoped that a large gathering will attend the lecture and contribute generously to the object for which it is being given.

Every normal child, he said, was a possible genius, but at the same time was a possible failure. Which of the two he would be depended on whether he was able to find his natural talents; and was given opportunity to use them. Children are not born with their talents, but they are born with tendencies, did many things that had a tendency to stifle the natural bent and will which nature had endowed the children.

He said in passing that there were children with certain talents who to day were paying the penalty in reform schools for violations of the law, when, had their natural talents been developed along the proper lines, such would not be the case.

While it was not his intention to criticize school systems, he observed that in the greater part of school work not enough attention was given to the individuality of the child, and that group lines rather than with the idea of giving attention to individual tendencies.

Many parents, he said, were responsible—ignorantly—for the physical condition of their children, not being able to recognize the different types of child and furnishing them with different types of food. The development of the mental, emotional and religious natures of children, he added, were reached through their natural tendencies.

Mr. Hawk expressed the desire particularly to have teachers and parents hear his lecture on Sunday afternoon. It was his firm conviction, after continued and applied observation, that the children of a given generation at any given age should be further advanced than were their parents at the same age. As by the parent's order of things, the parents should transmit to their offspring their own natural accomplishments, to this should be added what the child had acquired himself up

ARAB WOMEN ASK REMOVAL OF VEILS

Want This as First Step Towards Their Emancipation.

Jerusalem, Aug. 18.—(By mail)—The stubborn conservatism of the Mohammedan custom with regard to the social isolation of the women in Palestine may soon give way before the movement launched by Arab feminists for the removal of the veil.

The movement for the enfranchisement of Moslem women in Palestine is of recent origin and is traceable to the influx of people from the west, especially Jewish immigrants coming to settle in their national home.

tical sanction for the removal of the dark veil from their faces. If such flying in the face of age-long custom does not win official approval, some of the leading Arab women of Palestine are determined to do what their Moslem sisters did in Turkey, where the veil has been entirely cast off, or at least in Egypt, where only a light transparent veil is still worn extending from the forehead to the neck.

BEAVERBROOK AND CANADA

When Lord Beaverbrook returned to England he published some of the impressions of his recent visit to the Dominion. Canada will not suffer from any of his remarks. The well-known London correspondent of the Montreal Gazette quotes some of the remarks of this son of New Brunswick.

Beaverbrook notes that the Canadian dollar is now at par on the New York exchange, and asks to how many Europeans this will come as a surprise. The parity of its dollar, he says, is a reflection of Canada's prosperity. The Dominion has no debt system, and its permanent unemployed are those with physical incapacity or mental disabilities for hard work.

The Canadian banking system is the soundest and strongest in the world. Dominion problems are purely internal, and for this reason the banker rather than the politician is king in Canada. In the hierarchy of the financial world, says Lord Beaverbrook, Sir Vincent Meredith holds foremost place, and in the world of industry Sir Herbert Holt, Canada, he says, enjoys good governments, and their working is demonstrably more efficient than that of the United States. They have proven it in their successful struggle to improve their rathous heritage of bankrupt transcontinental railroads. Lord Beaverbrook concluded by urging British youth to go to Canada and grow up with a growing country.

WESTERN WELFARE CONGRESS

The Social Service Council of Canada is calling a number of welfare congresses in the Western Provinces during the month of October. These are being organized by the Rev. Dr. Shearer, Secretary of the Social Service Council, who is in a peculiarly effective position to arrange conferences on this subject. Dr. Shearer has made such problems as will be discussed, namely, The Underprivileged Child; Religious and Social Welfare; Delinquent Boys and Girls; Habit-Forming Drugs and Social Diseases; The Problem of the Mentally Defective; and A Social View of International Relations, the study of a lifetime. He has traveled from coast to coast, viewing conditions from an impartial standpoint, and probably knows more concerning the social life of Canada than any other man. The Social Service Council, of which he is Secretary, is in itself a very broad institution, representing practically all the organizations that are working for social improvements within the Dominion. These western conferences will include representatives of both Protestant and Roman Catholic churches. Canada has not escaped the serious social problems that have attached themselves to all countries. In addition the Dominion has her own perplexing social questions to grapple with. The congresses that will be held in Calgary and other western cities will supply a forum for the considerations of these problems.

CITIES TAKING CHANCES

Commenting upon the fact that cities sometimes take great chances, the Vancouver Province points out where that constantly growing community has taken many chances with regard to its water supply, and notes that the water which supplies about a quarter of a million people is led in eleven iron pipes across the bottom of one of the busiest harbors of the western world. They are subject at all times to damage from drifting ships and dragging anchors and some of them are out of commission nearly all the time.

Vancouver is no different from any other city. All of them take too many chances, and in common with the western city they play with fire and with wind. In common with Vancouver other cities similarly situated come through comparatively, though not completely, unscathed. They cut out fire-fighting force to the limit; reduce equipment until underwriters cry out in alarm; block their cross-town arteries so that the force they have can function with only partial efficiency; and smile when those vitally interested suggested a fireboat. There comes a day when a fire should break out with it there would be no stopping the flames. But there is no fire. Four days later the fire comes, but there is no wind, and the city escapes with comparatively little damage.

COMING BACK TO CANADA

The immigration authorities at Ottawa are receiving some reports from the Canadian Government Information Bureau at Detroit to the effect that a large number of Canadian families who went to the United States some time ago have applied for and obtained permission to return home from that section of the United States.

COLLAPSE OF PARTIES

Permanent parties outside the issues that call them into existence and offer only disaster and corruption, declares Glenn Frank in a keen editorial on "The Decadence of American Politics" in the September Century. Mr. Frank says:

Entirely aside from agreement or disagreement with the specific opinions or issues involved, I think it is a happy sign that Democratic conventions parade their deep differences of opinion openly and frankly and hurl their denunciation through the radio into millions of homes; I think it is a happy sign that the Couzens, the Brookharts, the LaFollettes, the Wheelers, and others, whether running for office inside or outside their parties, refuse to hand over their minds as blank checks to their parties. Sooner or later men of intellectual independence and moral courage will see that they are making tragic waste of their energies in trying to inject reality into our existing political parties. The permanent political party is, will remain, and cannot be made other than organic indecency. Here then, as I see it, is the most important political question of our time: Is the permanent political party system an adequate instrument for the administration of the American Government? I think we must answer that it is not. The permanence of parties seems to me the root from which disorder, paralysis, and corruption of government stem. When a political party deposes the point in its life at which its members are in ardent agreement on the issue or issues with which it is dealing, when a political party reaches the point where the major part of the time of its councils is taken up with considering whether an honest and intelligent pronouncement will "split the party," it seems obvious that the party in question ceases to be a worthy instrument for an enlightened people. It becomes thereafter merely a "vested interest" that must spend more time and energy in saving itself than in serving the nation.

SAVE YOUR WASTE PAPER

"You often think," writes D. B. Andrews, in Forbes Magazine (N. Y.), "that the many newspapers thrown away in the street corners, parks, hotels and public places are wasted. In this you are mistaken, for thousands of tons of this refuse are sorted and sold every day, and the daily sales of this useful commodity run into big figures.

"When these old boxes, magazines, newspapers, books and documents reach the paper mill they are frequently sorted, as some very good grades are more valuable than others. For instance, the soft, white book coverings are quite valuable, bringing as high as three cents a pound. Your bulky Sunday newspaper is worth about one cent a pound.

"At the time the paper is dumped into an enormous vat, where it is soaked in hot water. A large and voracious revolving cog, known as the beater roll, turning at a high rate of speed, chews and beats the paper into a pulpy mass. When it reaches the proper consistency the mass is pumped away for still further refining before it reaches the huge paper machine. Foreign matter, such as bones, sticks, paper, etc., drop to the bottom of the beater, and several times a day the receptacle is emptied of its contents and the refuse is removed. It is in the latter operation that many valuable articles are found by the workmen.

"Waste paper sales produce quite a revenue for those concerns which gather and conserve it. During the war, when conservation was urged in every quarter, a large Western high school induced its pupils to conserve papers. Every available scrap of paper was brought to the school and accumulated baled. The sale of this accumulated waste paper furnished ample money to equip a gymnasium. A certain charity well known to the writer increases its revenues by the conservation of papers on the part of its patronesses, and the Salvation Army secures much revenue for its work through its mixed paper gathering department."

NO WORD FROM MACMILLAN YET

Wiscasset, Me., Sept. 11.—Although the American Radio Relay League has its instruments ready to communicate with Capt. Donald B. MacMillan, Maine Arctic explorer, at Battle Harbor tonight, up to midnight it had failed to get in touch with MacMillan's ship, the Bowdoin.

The league had for transmission to Captain MacMillan the following message from Governor Percival P. Baxter, his classmate at Bowdoin College: "Welcome home; hope your voyage has been successful."

A HINDU SONG

The jewel in my turban gleams
Which lay beloved on my breast,
It's fire reflects the moon's pale beams,
Heart flowers of passion and unrest.

The jewel in my turban gleams!
O child! My heart is bowed in pain
Or love that haunts me in my dreams,
Where I have sought for thee in vain.

The jewel in my turban gleams!
And I can feel thy warm soft breath
Upon my brow! It speaks of death,
A better friend than love it sears.

CONVENTION GAVEL GIFT OF VICTORIA

The gavel used during the last three days at the convention here of the Association of Canadian Clubs was presented the association at the last annual meeting held in Victoria, B. C. The inscription on the base is "made of Holly, Arbutus and Broom, native evergreen woods of Victoria, B. C." On the gavel the inscription is, "Presented to the Association of Canadian Clubs by the men's and women's Canadian Clubs of Victoria, B. C., Sept. 18, 1923."

The woods and workmanship in the gavel and base are specially attractive and the gavel was greatly admired.

LIKENESS BRAIN TO RADIO SET

The people of St. John are showing an increasing interest in the lectures of Edward Lee Hawk, giving at the Seaman's Institute last night, practically every seat in the auditorium was taken and the audience showed a keen interest in Mr. Hawk's discussion of "Man's Brain, a Human Radio Receiver."

"When we think on any given subject," said Mr. Hawk, "we do not use all of our brain, but we use only a definite area. If we think mathematics we use one portion of the brain and if we think art we use another portion of the brain."

"That portion of the brain that is used the most grows the most, therefore we can strengthen any portion of the brain by using it."

At the close of the lecture Dr. Ward invited four persons from the audience to come to the platform for personal analysis and Mr. Hawk pointed out the characteristics of these different persons.

LEOPOLD AND LOEB GET THEIR THRILL

Car, Taking Them to Joliet, Runs Into Embankment

Penitentiary, Joliet, Ill., Sept. 11.—Nathan F. Leopold, Jr., and Richard Loeb, who killed 14-year-old Robert Franks for a thrill, narrowly missed possible death on their motor trip to prison tonight, the climax of their separation from society for the remainder of their natural life.

At the centre of a five-car convoy, traveling about 35 miles an hour, the powerful automobile carrying the two boys and deputy sheriffs was seen to swerve abruptly to the right, dive into the unballasted tracks of an electric railway, suddenly right itself and bounce 50 yards down the centre of the right of way before it was stopped.

vagrant "moved on" simply "moves on" to the next bench. When Hyde Park closes there is disgorged a stream of vagrants who find refuge on the south side of Piccadilly under the wall of Buckingham Palace Gardens. There are men who have slept here every night of their lives for years. They are of the race who prefer to sleep in the drizzling rain to a bed in a dry house—men who find a joy in being miserable and wretched. This is illustrated by the fact that on a cold night last week Trafalgar square had its usual number of guests, while in the crypt of St. Martin's Church over the way, where benches and hassocks are nightly provided for the homeless, there were only six sleeping figures.

MANY NIGHTLY SLEEP OUTDOORS Vagrants of London Astonish Visitor—233 in One Place. London, Sept. 11.—(Correspondence by Dominion News Service.) "The thing which has astonished me in London," said an American visitor recently, "is the number of men and women who prefer to sleep in the open instead of going to the institutions provided. "Even if it rained they continue to sleep on the cold stones without even troubling to look for a sheltering archway or cover for their heads. "It is a fact so true that within the last two years the number of vagrants who can be found sleeping in the open streets has increased beyond all reckoning. This increase cannot be attributed to unemployment, for the generally unemployed generally seek the shelter of the casual wards and homes where free accommodation is provided. "A tour of the West End of London, a little removed from the electric glare and clamor of Piccadilly circus, reveals some curious scenes. "From eleven o'clock onwards there is a constant drift of shabby humanity towards Trafalgar square. By midnight the whole range of the low steps which skirt the base of the balustrade on the north side is the common couch of hundreds of men and women who, whose ill-lad bodies litter the stones, bent and contorted into scores of indefinable, uncomfortable positions. "Group of 233 "One day recently there were no fewer than 233 silent figures there. They never seem to speak. "Here and there a more fortunate "homeless" one is indulging in a brief smoke. Sometimes you see a lucky fellow eating. But usually they contemplate, after the manner of Greek philosophers of old time in the open places of Athens, until sleep wafts upon their tired eyes. You find them in the damp shadow of the still fountains. Some lie at the feet of the Gordon Monument. "It is the same along the Thames Embankment. Each bench has its own appointed client. The police have a heartless task in "moving them on." "A HEMORRHOIDS Do not suffer another day with itching, bleeding, or protruding piles or hemorrhoids. Surgical operation required. QUEEN CHIPETA OF THE UTES DIES

Death Recalls the History of Chief Ouray, Indian Diplomat.

(United Press). Grand Junction, Colo., Sept. 12—The last page of history of the Ute Indians in Colorado has been written.

Beyond the sunset, in the Happy Hunting Grounds, Queen Chipeta, favorite wife of Chief Ouray, has gone to join her husband.

Queen Chipeta died at Bitter Creek, Utah, at the estimated age of 85. Her death recalls the history of Chief Ouray, the "Jefferson" of western Indians, and probably the greatest diplomat the Redskins ever produced.

It was through the influence of Ouray that, even at the zenith of their power as rulers of western Colorado and eastern Utah, the Utes were kept from open warfare with white settlers, and a treaty was negotiated at Washington between the tribesmen and the Government.

Saves Pale Faces. "It is useless to fight the pale faces. They are as numerous as the stars in the sky, and cannot be counted." This was always the wisdom passed from the chief to his belligerent warriors, when attacks upon the settlers were suggested. So anxious was he to keep peace with his "pale face" pioneer neighbors that on one occasion, when a small colony of whites, the chief took a short-cut in the direction of the settlement, waylaid his own followers, killed three of them and turned the others back.

Somewhere on a high mountain peak, following the custom of the Utes in burying their leaders, lies the body of Chief Ouray. His resting place is known only to Chief McCook, brother of Queen Chipeta, and success to Ouray.

"A Last Treaty." Efforts are being made to negotiate a "last treaty" with Chief McCook. This time the "pale face" would know where the remains of Ouray lie, that they may place the body of his wife beside him and erect a fitting memorial to the leaders who saw the power of their tribe topple beneath the onslaught of the whites.

It has been suggested, too, that the former palatial quarters of Chief Ouray, a three-room, one-story abode now being used as a chicken house by Mr. and Mrs. Louis Myers, farmers, residing two miles out of Montrose, be set aside as a memorial to the departed chieftain.

Even now, less than a generation after his death, Ouray is looked upon in this vicinity as the greatest statesman among western Indians. Although too soon for his history to be fully appreciated, hundreds of persons annually pull their cars to a stop before the modern home of the Myers', and are welcomed to the back yard where the adobe dwelling stands little the worse for its half century of use.

CANCEL DECORATION DAY.

It was announced at the meeting of Marlborough Lodge, Sons of England, last night that unavailably it had been found necessary to cancel the decoration day services for which preparations were already under way.

P. L. Griffin, worthy president, presided at the meeting and one member was initiated and an officer installed by District Deputy G. H. Lewis. After lodge business had been disposed of refreshments were served and a social hour spent. The committee in charge of the refreshments consisted of P. L. Griffin, worthy secretary; E. C. Freeman, D. Bevans and R. I. Carlos.

MEN ARE WAITERS AT CHURCH SUPPER

A successful supper was put on last evening by the Men's Brotherhood Class of the Carleton Methodist church. The money raised will be used to repair the brotherhood class room. The pastor of the church, Rev. F. T. Bertram, was host and Hedley Belyea was convener, being the president of the class. The Ladies' Aid catered for the supper, which was served by the men, with Charles Watters and W. D. Williams presiding over the tea. The tables were attractively laid and decorated with asters, dahlias and other autumn flowers.

The left over cakes were auctioned by Ernest Bisset and brought a good sum. Miss Helen Henderson led the boys in singing after which all joined in hearty thanks to Rev. Mr. Bertram for his interest in his class.

(No Rubber Touches the Skin)

EXQUISITE because of the daintiness of the very absorbent, specially fine, silk-covered rubber in a peaches and cream shade.

SAFE because "no rubber touches the skin;" and the figure is healthfully controlled and supported.

SANE because the continuous auto-massage furnished by the contraction and expansion of Nemolastik reduces and ultimately eliminates excess fatty tissues; and produces from the beginning a fashionable slenderness.

Nemolastik Girdles and Brassieres

(guaranteed against tearing) are the corset sensation of the century. Worn together they beautify the entire figure.

Because of the "Stayput" device on the back of the brassiere which fastens to eyelets on girdle, the brassiere cannot ride-up over corset top, a distinct advantage.

MAKE IT SAY WHAT YOU MEAN

A clear statement is the essence of good selling. When the earnest, level-headed salesman tells the buyer all he ought to know—clearly, truthfully and convincingly—he makes a sale, just as he fails to sell when he overalls or underalls.

N. J. POLICE BELIEVE MAN WITH $150,000 SLAIN BY PIRATES

(Continued from page one.) Mrs. Moeller did not report her husband's absence until Aug. 7. On that day she told Lieutenant Harry Atty of the West New York police that he had never been away before for more than a month. The New York police were asked to search for Moeller, known in West New York as "Doc."

Wife Gives Alarm.

Mrs. Moeller said that invariably after an absence on business her husband would return home with his finances greatly improved. She said she did not know the nature of his enterprises, other than that it had to do with the purchase of cargoes and their resale.

Speed Boat Confiscated.

The speed boat was confiscated by the cutter and is still in possession of customs officials. It was said to have been used for carrying liquor and that Moeller had obtained its release.

BUILDINGS ARE WRECKED BUT ALL TENANTS SAVED

(Continued from page one.) Daniel O'Neill, who resided in the second flat of the Emerson house, was asleep when the houses collapsed. He said there must have been an earthquake. We both struggled to get free from the mass of wreckage, fearing that the house would catch fire.

Commissary Harding and Chief Blake of the fire department visited the scene early this morning and policemen were detailed to keep all persons away from the building.

There's an Earth Tremor?

In the hubbub of gossip at the scene of the collapse this forenoon the possibility of an earth tremor having caused the accident, cropped up every once in a while. A reporter attempted to get some definite information on this possible cause and while the names of several householders who were said to have felt a slight earthquake could not be learned, it was said a tremor had surely been felt by a considerable number of people.

FOOTBALL PLAYERS ARE GETTING READY

Some of the Big Teams Have Hard Schedules to Face.

New York, Sept. 12.—(United Press)—Football players, stars of last year and the hopefuls of this year, are swarming the fields of every college in the country, getting ready for the most interesting season on record. Since modern football has developed in every section of the country and since the game has become the ranking fall sport, intercollegiate games have become the most enjoyable feature of the schedule.

Last year was the banner year for intercollegiate games, but the 1924 season will go it better with 23 major intercollegiate games bringing together representative teams from the east, south, north, middlewest and Pacific Coast.

Yale, the eastern champions of 1923, leads off with two interesting games against North Carolina and Georgia. Harvard opens the season against Virginia.

Princeton plays one of the feature games of the season against Notre Dame.

Pennsylvania plays Virginia and Georgetown.

Penn State plays North Carolina State, Georgia Tech and Marietta, from the middlewest.

Washington and Jefferson resumes relations with Detroit University.

The Army Cadets have four interesting games against St. Louis, Detroit, Notre Dame and Florida.

The Navy has one interesting game with Marquette, representing the north.

West Virginia plays Centre and Washington and Lee.

Notre Dame meets Princeton, Carnegie Tech and the Army.

Chicago plays Missouri. Nebraska plays Colgate, and Minnesota plays Vanderbilt.

One of the best games of the season is reserved for the last—the University of California plays Pennsylvania on New Year's Day at Berkeley. It is a regular schedule game and has nothing to do with the annual Tournament of Roses game.

For willingness to assume the heaviest of burdens, Notre Dame wins the crown. The Indiana Catholics have always been "willing" in the past to crowd every big game they could get on the schedule, but this year they have assumed a tremendous load in scheduling in succession games with the Army, Princeton, Georgia Tech, Wisconsin and Nebraska. Wisconsin, one of the big powers of the Western Conference and Nebraska, the lone conqueror of Notre Dame in the past two seasons, have arranged an open date before the game with the Hoosiers, but Notre Dame gets ready for the Wisconsin game by playing Georgia Tech and turns up for the Nebraska game by playing Wisconsin.

Yale, which has slipped out of a lot of her old conservative ways, has a hard schedule considering that 20 of last year's varsity stars are gone. Yale plays North Carolina, Georgia, Dartmouth, Brown, Army, Maryland, Princeton and Harvard. There really isn't a set-up on that schedule.

The Dartmouth schedule makers weren't looking for cast-iron when they arranged games on successive Saturdays against Yale and Harvard. Cornell, as usual, has the easiest schedule in the country, with only two test games against Dartmouth and Pennsylvania. Cornell probably will increase its list of consecutive victories and claim the championship.

Princeton has one or two soft spots on the schedule, but the Tigers will have plenty of work cut out to get over the Navy, Notre Dame, Harvard and Yale.

Pennsylvania also has no soft road in going through a schedule calling for games with Columbia, Virginia, Lafayette, Georgetown, Penn State and Cornell.

Among the western conference teams, Ohio State has an exciting programme, including games against Purdue, Iowa, Chicago, Indiana, Michigan and Illinois.

Illinois also has a burden with games against Nebraska, Michigan, Iowa, Wisconsin and Ohio State.

Iowa has Ohio State, Minnesota, Illinois, Wisconsin and Michigan.

Chicago has two interesting intercollegiate games against Missouri and Brown, and family games with Indiana, Ohio State, Purdue, Illinois, Northwestern and Wisconsin.

Wisconsin has North Dakota, Iowa State, Minnesota, Michigan, Notre Dame, Iowa and Chicago.

Michigan plays the Michigan Aggies.

THE PANTHER AT QUEEN SQUARE IS NOTABLE PLAY

The McAuliffe-Taylor players presented one of their best plays yet last night at the Queen Square. The Panther is a gypsy story. It is different from anything yet presented and it pleased the large audience. The boxing match between Thad Cooper, played by John Taylor, and Mickey Morris, a local boxer, was a big feature. Mr. Taylor showed himself to be a very versatile performer and made a big hit last night. Colonel Calvin Dixon, played by Jere McAuliffe, was remarkably well done. Mr. McAuliffe can always be depended on to give a good performance. Joseph McInerney played Bonito, a gypsy athlete and thief, and did his part remarkably well. Miss Lumley portrayed the part of Mother Bettina, queen of the Gypsies, and received well merited applause. She gave an excellent performance of the part, especially in the last act in her confession. Robert Evans did well as David Roland, a lawyer, and Peggy Corolla showed she was an actress of ability in the part of Mabel Atherton, an adventuress. Ruth Elma Stevens, as in part performances, received much applause as Zelma, the Gypsy. Edwin Francis, as Clyde Dickson, gave his usual good performance. All together, The Panther was a great play and is expected to do capacity business during the balance of the week.

V. R. on the Pacific coast. To his left is Major Stuart MacLaren, British round-the-world flier. Those in the picture are, from left to right: Lieut. Stow, R. C. DISCUSS MAKING ST. JOHN FREE PORT

Local Committee in Session—Mayor Speaks of C. N. R. and Portland.

At a meeting of the port committee this morning in the office of Mayor Potts the matter of increasing the trade through the port of St. John was discussed in anticipation of a conference with C. J. Smith, chief executive to Sir Henry Thornton, and other C. N. R. officials.

The question of making this a free port, in-so-far as grain is concerned, was discussed among others but no decision was arrived at, Mayor Potts said after the meeting.

His Worship in speaking of the matter of more trade here said it had been intimated to him that the C. N. R. had it in their power to increase the trade through Canadian ports by refusing to carry goods to United States ports and he had been told by an official of the White Star line, which now uses Portland, Me., as its winter port, that if the C. N. R. left Portland and brought the freight to St. John the steamship company would be forced to follow suit.

The bringing of the ships here would force the hands of the Government in taking over the harbor and providing more docks, His Worship said, and he hoped to see them coming soon.

Those present at the meeting were Mayor Potts, chairman; L. V. Lingley, secretary; Hon. Dr. W. E. Foster, A. P. Peterson, G. L. Warwick, H. C. Schofield, D. W. Ledingham and Commissioner Bullock.

LEG IS BROKEN BY AUTO; HORSE SHOT

John Murphy's Team Struck by a Car on McClure's Hill, Fairville.

As the result of collision between an automobile and a team last night about 10 o'clock, on McClure's Hill, Fairville, a horse owned by John Murphy, was so badly injured that it had to be shot.

The automobile was driven by John McGrath, who had in the car with him Matthew McGrath and Cornelius Logue. They were driving toward Fairville and as they swung from the Gypsy Settlement road, the driver's vision was obscured by the street light and he failed to see the horse and wagon coming toward him. The car struck the horse and one leg was broken. The automobile was damaged somewhat and Mr. McGrath paid the owner of the horse for the animal's after it was shot.

Mr. Murphy was pinned under the horse when it fell, but was not seriously injured.

THEIR ANNIVERSARY

Mr. and Mrs. George T. McCafferty Remembered at Loch Lomond.

There have been many happy gatherings at the hospitable Johnstone's Hotel at Loch Lomond, as so many of its patrons know, but one that took place last evening had a special claim to distinction as marking the 18th anniversary of the wedding of the popular host and hostess of the establishment, Mr. and Mrs. George T. McCafferty.

It was a surprise to them when they found friends from the city and the immediate countryside assembling at the house and it was a greater surprise when they were called into the midst of the company after a bounteous supper and were showered with congratulations and asked to accept a number of gifts and floral remembrances of the wedding day of 1906.

Happy speeches, and an appreciative response by Mr. McCafferty on behalf of himself and wife, were listened to with interest by all and were followed by three rousing cheers for the bride and groom of 18 years ago. Then came hours of jollity, to be brought to a close with renewal of congratulations on the day and expression of the best wishes for the years to come.

ONE OF FIRST TO WELCOME AVIATOR

Lieut. Oland, Here Yesterday, Tells of MacLaren and the Thielpval.

It fell to the lot of Lieutenant Richard H. Oland, son of G. W. C. Oland, of this city, to be one of the first to welcome Major Stuart MacLaren, British round-the-world flier, on his arrival in Canada from Nikolski, in the Kuriles Islands, where his airplane was wrecked. Mr. Oland, who is stationed at Esquimaux on his way to Quebec, where he will sail for England to take a two years' course in naval gunnery.

Lieut. Oland said that Major MacLaren was keenly disappointed at being forced to abandon his venture after the greater part of it had been completed and he verified previous stories sent out to the effect that MacLaren, when he realized that he would have to stop his journey, sat on the beach at Nikolski and cried like a child.

Lieut. Oland has been stationed at Esquimaux for the last two years and during that time has been in charge of the Royal Canadian Naval Reserve on the western coast of Canada. For the last two years he was the winner of the general efficiency cup for submarine work in the Pacific fleet.

Thielpval's Great Work. The work of the crew of His Majesty's Canadian ship Thielpval, the little 120-ton trawler which brought Major MacLaren to the safety of Canadian shores after his accident, Mr. Oland said, was worthy of the highest commendation. In spite of her size, this little vessel steamed all the way from Vancouver Island, up the western coast of British Columbia, through the Aleutian Islands to the Kuriles, just north of Yezo, the northernmost island of the Japanese group, a distance of more than 14,000 miles, and laid supply dumps for MacLaren all along the route.

An interesting event in connection with the Thielpval's trip occurred at Dutch Harbor in the Aleutians. In order to keep up with their schedule, the crew of the little trawler were compelled to sail from Dutch Harbor in a raging gale. Sollicitous for the welfare of the daring sailors, the entire population of the settlement repaired to the church as the Thielpval headed for the open sea and prayed for the safety of the men. It was a touching event and the simple faith of the residents of that little out of the way place struck a responsive chord in the hearts of the Canadian sailors. Amongst the souvenirs which the crew brought back from their sojourn in northern Pacific waters was a pair of woolly little bear cubs.

BOY MISSING; WAS REPORTED SEEN IN ST. JOHN

The local police have been requested by the secretary of the provincial police of Nova Scotia to be on the lookout for a boy named Tommy Green, who has been missing from his home in Halifax for nearly two months. He was last seen in the Campdown road, in Halifax county, making his way towards Bridgewater, but no trace of him was found in that town. He was reported seen in St. John about two weeks ago. Green is described as 19 years of age, although he looks only about 15, with dark curly hair, brown eyes, upper front tooth broken off. He is four feet nine inches in height and was wearing short trousers, peaked hat and gray suit at the time he disappeared.
