LUMBERING IN THE SCOTCH HIGHLANDS

Charles MacLean Writes Interestingly of Trip to Highlands. Cutting Fir and Larch

The following letter is a portion of one received from Charles MacLean, who went overseas with the 224th Forestry Battalion.

We marched to Liphook and took the train for Waterloo Station, London. Then we had a grand "hurl" up to Waterloo Road, the Strand and High Holborn to Euston Station. There we entrained for Scotland. We went from Waterloo to Euston in huge motor trucks. We passed through Carlisle, Glasgow and Sterling, while I slept, waking at Perth and finding the rest of the bunch had picked out the soft places and seats. I got a pile of kit bags on the floor, and after all, had the best bed of all "much to the amusement of the curious people who came to look at the "Canadians," and gave us tea and sandwiches. We took the Highland Railway and went right through the middle of the "Grampians," through the passes of Killie Crankie and Drumochter. These are great peaks, quite like the "Sugar Loaf," but higher and have rounded knolls, bare save the heather. We burn came tumbling down their sides, from crevices among the tops, where the snow lies. There are deep glens, with precipitous sides, and at the bottom are the sombre waters of the dark lochs. There are a few little square stone huts, where the shepherds live, with their flocks of black faced Highland sheep.

It is not a gentle inviting country, but the sights give one a great thrill, (especially if they are of Scotch descent), and the heather, oh my. The whole moor seems to steam, though it is not at all boggy. Clouds of mist roll up the sides of the bare hills in a most impressive way, and stir up queer feelings in one that cannot be explained.

Nairn, seven miles from the camp at Broadshaws, is a neat clean little town of square grey granite houses, one and a half stories mostly, or as they express it, "Wee a bit but and a hen". The country here is much more like N. B. Every little farm is clean and bright as you could wish, with barns of granite heavy enough to stand artillery fire. There are no eaves on the houses and each has a great stone chimney up each end. The land appears more wholesome and virile than in Southern England.

The lumber is Scotch fir and larch. The fir looks like Jack pine, however it is tough and strong with quite a coarse grain. The larch is almost identical with hackmatack or Juniper. It grows everywhere and does not die as in Canada.

132ND BATTALION NEEDS MORE MEN

Officers Sent to Home Districts to Get Needed Men—Overseas Soon

Word was received here late last week that it was absolutely necessary, if the 132nd Battalion was to retain its identity, that one hundred additional men be recruited on the North Shore.

With this object in view, Major McKay arrived here early this week and is hard at work endeavoring to persuade men to join the 132nd North Shore Battalion.

As it is expected the Battalion will sail shortly for England, this is a rare chance for any of our brave young men who are anxious to get to the front without undergoing the long training of a new battalion.

We trust that the necessary men will be speedily raised, as only this week is allowed for the work.

ALLIES STILL MAKE MARKED PROGRESS

More Villages Occupied and Prisoners Taken.—Rumanian Conquest

(Special to Graphic)

London, Sept. 7.—In the first week of participation in the war, Rumanians have captured 1000 miles of Austrian territory. Austrians admit great losses. Region occupied includes some of the most desirable sections of Transylvania, with cities and towns.

With relentless energy the French and British forces are driving back the enemy lines. Germans yield northern portion of Verdun Duvelles and give way at other points.

Berlin, Sept. 6.—The village of Clerly has been captured by the French, it was officially admitted this afternoon.

Amsterdam, Sept. 6.—British airmen bombed and destroyed a German submarine in Zeebrugge harbor, returning safely to their base at Dunkirk, according to reports received here today.

The Hague, Sept. 6.—A Zeppelin, very badly damaged, landed near Mons following the raid on London, and was disassembled and its parts shipped to Germany, according to advices received here today. Several of the crew were suffering from shrapnel wounds.

OBITUARY
The death of Mrs. Catherine McKay, an aged resident of Campbellton, took place Sunday morning. Deceased was about 70 years of age.

SERGT. MONTGOMERY PROMOTED

Advices from England state that Sergeant Lorne C. Montgomery, better known to the sporting fraternity as "Monty," member of senior McGill hockey, football and basketball teams, has received a commission as lieutenant. He has been serving with No. 3 Canadian General Hospital (McGill) and has risen in rank from private to sergeant.

Lieut. Montgomery was born at New Richmond, Que., 22 years ago, and was a student in Medicine at McGill University, Class 17. He first played football with the Montreal High School team and then went to St. Andrew's College, Toronto, and was considered one of the best all-round athletes the college ever possessed. In 1911 he played half-back and captained the St. Andrew's team. In 1912 he came to McGill, where he played scrimmage, playing quarterback with the university team in the following year. He was regarded as one of the best men who ever played in that position in the inter-collegiate union. In 1914, when McGill was defeated by Varsity, an injury to Montgomery so crippled the team that the result was largely due to the mishap to this player. He played goal for St. Andrew's and McGill hockey teams and was a good tennis player.—Montreal Gazette.

The morning of the third of September exceeds 1,000.

"Fighting in Ghinchi continues." "During the third of September hostile aircraft showed great activity and fighting in the air was continuous. The enemy's aircraft were forced to remain some miles east of the rear of their own lines and entirely failed to interrupt the work of our machines. On two separate occasions our aeroplanes opened fire on the enemy's troops on the ground.

"As the result of many combats three hostile machines were brought down and seemingly wrecked. Many others were driven down in a damaged condition. One of our aeroplanes destroyed a hostile kite balloon. Two of our machines are missing."

MONEY NEEDED FOR PIPE BAND

Scottish Societies to Provide Pipes for N. B. Kilties.—Restigouche to Contribute

The Scottish Societies throughout New Brunswick are appealed to, to raise funds to purchase pipes for Col. Guthrie's Kiltie Battalion. Last evening the "Caledonian Society of Restigouche" met in the Council Chamber, to discuss means of raising a fund in Restigouche. A Committee was appointed to wait on all members of the society. Any Scottish friends, not at present members, desirous of contributing to this worthy cause, could send their contribution to Mayor Andrew, H. R. Smith or A. D. MacKendrick, and would be thankfully received and acknowledged through the press. It is desired that no time be lost, as the pipes are needed at an early date to assist in recruiting. The fifty pipes are estimated to cost about two thousand dollars.

DISTRIBUTION OF SEED GRAIN AND POTATOES

Dominion Experimental Farms Making Arrangements for Next Season's Work

By instructions of the Hon. Minister of Agriculture a distribution of superior sorts of grain and potatoes will be made during the coming winter and spring to Canadian farmers. The samples for general distribution will consist of spring wheat (about 5 lbs.), white oats (about 4 lbs.), barley (about 5 lbs.), and field peas (about 5 lbs.). These will be sent out from Ottawa. A distribution of potatoes in samples of about 3 lbs. will be carried on from several of the experimental farms, the Central Farm at Ottawa supplying only the provinces of Ontario and Quebec. All samples will be sent free by mail.

Only one sample of grain and one of potatoes can be sent to each farm. As the supply of seed is limited, farmers are advised to apply early. Requests received after the end of December will probably be too late.

Anyone desiring a sample should write (post free) to the Dominion Cerealists, Experimental Farm, Ottawa, for an application blank.

CANADIANS ARE DEVILS AVERS HUN

Know No Fear. Says German Officer's Letter, Found by French

London, Sept. 6.—An echo of the Ypres salient comes to a Canadian now near the Somme from the famous French "Iron Division," which held the Canadian left when we first went into the salient, but were relieved the day before the gas attack by Colonial troops, and have just been in the terrific fighting which ended in a considerable gain to the right of our Somme position.

Coming back to a well earned rest, they heard the Canadians were somewhere near, and some French officers sought them out, bringing with them a letter they had captured from an officer of the 125th Prussian Battalion. He evidently never had a chance of posting it, and thus avoiding the German censorship, it described the terrific attack which resulted in the Canadians recapturing the last great crater on Hill Sixty early in August. He says:

"Devils Possessed of Mad Spirit."
"Half our regiment was wiped out by the frightful artillery fire. We thought we could never remain. Then still heavier guns concentrated on our makeshift trenches. We were getting ready to retreat when suddenly the Canadians sprang out of the very ground at our feet. They were devils possessed with a mad spirit that knew no fear. They bombed the few of our men who stood their ground, and then bayoneted many others as they fled through the barrage of the British artillery."

"So utterly demoralized were some of our men who came through that Hell they refused to march when we were ordered to a new position which we knew would be the Somme."

The bringing of the letter by their French comrades was a delicate commission that was appreciated by a certain Montreal regiment which occupied a liaison position just before Lange-marck, and which also happened made the particular attack described in the prisoner's unfinished missive.

WILL GO TO THE FRONT AS A UNIT

Last Report From 104th Battalion

The 104th Battalion is getting on splendidly in training as a unit, according to advice from Colonel Fowler to Mayor Hayes. Colonel Fowler wrote on August 23, thanking the citizens for the contribution of $500 towards the regimental fund and referred to the praise won by the 104th from officers in high command in England.

Since the above word was received in St. John, private advices here are to the effect that the 104th are now in France.

WHAT SOLDIERS WANT

Capt. Brooks, of No. 4 Company, 7th Battalion, writes from the front, says: "My men would be very grateful to anyone who will send them Zam-Buk."

It is in great demand for cuts, blistered heels, etc. Parcels should be addressed to Co. Sgt. Major, No. 4 Co., 7th Batt., B.E.F.

Be sure to include some Zam-Buk in your next parcel to the front. 50c box, 3 for $1.25, all druggists, or Zam-Buk Co., Toronto.

ZAM-BUK

A certain Bishop of the Methodist Church South was a very eloquent preacher. He told the following story on himself as an illustration of the fact that his sermons did not always have the effect he desired.

He had had what Methodist preachers were wont to call "a good time," preaching in one of the smaller southern cities, and as soon as the service was over many people went to him to express their appreciation of his sermon. One woman in particular was most outspoken in its praise.

"Why Bishop," she said, "you can never know what your sermon meant to me. It was just like water to a drowning man!"

GERMAN WRITER TELLS THE TRUTH

Says the Central Empires Are Like a Besieged Fortress, Stormed on All Sides

For the first time there has come from Berlin an admission of the truth as to the perilous situation of the central empires. It is not official, but it passes the censorship in the despatches of the wholly sympathetic Karl von Wiegand.

Mr. von Wiegand says the central empires are like a strong fortress stormed and assaulted on all sides by besiegers. The fact is obvious to the impartial observer. It is interesting that in Germany it should be recognized and confessed.

How different is this picture from that which was painted not long since in the columns of the German press and in the articles of Messrs. von Wiegand and Schutte, asks the Chicago Evening Post. Then we were told in graphic terms of the triumphant advance of Teuton arms. Russia, Serbia, France, at Verdun, and Italy, each in turn felt the crushing power of the Kaiser and his ally. Great Britain, we were told, had been robbed of her glory and strength as mistress of the seas. The plans of the entente for a co-ordinated offensive had been frustrated by German skill and German prowess. France was on the verge of collapse and England would never be ready. Russia staggered and Italy retreated.

Now the scene changes. Russia, Italy, France and Great Britain are hurling their strength against the thinning Teuton wall. They are doing what the central empires have never been able to do—pressing an offensive on three fronts at the same time. To those who have studied the progress of the war with intelligent and impartial interest it has been obvious that sooner or later this would happen. But it is not what the Kaiser expected when he launched his armies against Belgium, although it is what he has feared since the battle of the Marne. Every effort of the central empires since that time has been to prevent this co-operative attack on the part of their foes.

The failure to crush France was followed by an attempt to eliminate Russia as an effective factor in the military strategy of the entente. It also failed. Then the drive on Serbia was begun to hold Turkey in line as an ally and to enlist the aid, if possible, of Bulgaria, Roumania and Greece. It held Turkey, but to small purpose. It won Bulgaria, but failing to win the others, it left the situation no better than it was before. Hemmed in between the allied armies in Greece and the potential hostility of Roumania, Bulgaria can be of no real service. Turning again to the western front, Verdun was assailed, partly in hope of a moral victory and partly in order to demoralize the plans for an Anglo-French offensive. Verdun has proved another failure. It may be taken, but its occupation now will have no significant consequence for the fortunes of either side, and already troops from the Verdun front have appeared in the region of the Somme.

What will be the effect on the mind of the German public when the German press can no longer talk of victory? What will be the effect of labored explanations by Major Morhart and other military experts as to the reasons for withdrawal in France, in Galicia and on the Austrian front? After two years of advances here, there and everywhere, reverses will be harder to bear for the German people than they have been for the people of the allied countries. The process of disillusionment is ever painful and disturbing. How long will the central empires maintain the struggle once the hope of victory is abandoned?

SOLDIERS' VOTE, IF TAKEN NOW, WOULD END LIFE OF THE BORDEN GOVERNMENT

So Declares "Fighting Joe" Martin, Who Has Arrived in Canada From England. What They Think of Sir Sam

"Fighting Joe" Martin, M. P. for St. Pancras, London, and formerly of British Columbia, arrived at the King Edward and will leave for Ottawa to see Sir Wilfrid Laurier, and will later proceed to British Columbia.

Will Mr. Martin return to Dominion politics? He has not decided presumably but has the nomination for a federal British Columbia seat.

Mr. Martin has not lost sight of Canadian politics, he has followed even provincial matters. For example he remarked that H. H. Dewar's victory in Southwest Toronto, had followed Mr. Hay's success in North Perth. "I saw nothing in the London Times of the win in Perth," said Mr. Martin. "As a matter of fact, anything reflecting on the Canadian government appears to be suppressed. Regarding Sir Sam Hughes, I saw no comment on the Allison investigation merely that the commission would bring in a report and later that their report had been delivered."

Mr. Martin does not admit that the British people look upon Sir Sam Hughes as a "Cochranite Kitchen." "He represents Canada," said Mr. Martin, and the British people are entirely satisfied with the Canadian soldiers, but it is not true that the British Public is making a little god of Sir Sam. The soldiers of Canada do not follow Sir Sam. I have met a great many of the boys and if there were an election tomorrow four out of every five of the Canadian troops would vote against Sir Sam and his government.

"The war misarrangement has made a profound impression. Sir Sam insisted on a big review at Bramshott and many of the boys lost their leave and do not forget it. "The British Columbia will have provincial elections in September and the act under which the soldiers' vote is to be taken is the worst ever passed, declared Mr. Martin. It invites crookedness. One clause says that votes shall not be counted until four weeks after the elections, fortunately Sir Richard McBride, Agent General, has taken the necessary precautions, and there will be nothing wrong.

"Sir Richard is an old opponent of mine, but he is entitled to the tribute I am paying him. He has transferred the business to a firm of English solicitors and everything will be done honestly even if heebers are sent from British Columbia.

John received two birthday presents in which he was particularly interested—a diary and a peashooter. He wrote in the diary faithfully every day, and the peashooter he fired off on all occasions. One day his mother found the following terse record in the diary: "Mandy cold and sloppy. Toosdy cold and sloppy. Wensdy cold and sloppy, shot grandmother."

Patient—Doc, I owe you my life. Doctor—Yes, and that isn't all.

MRS. VANDERBILT VISITS FRONT UNDER HEAVY GERMAN FIRE

"Guardian Angel" of American A.F.S. Cared Nought for Danger

Details have just been learned here of a trip made to the French front a few days ago by Mrs. William K. Vanderbilt, through the special permission of the minister of war. She was accompanied by A. Platt Andrew, director of the field sections of the American Ambulance. Mrs. Vanderbilt is called "The Guardian Angel of the American Ambulance Field Service," and although she has been active in Red Cross work since the beginning of the war, the trip was arranged to give her her first glimpse of the Americans, whose activities she has so generously aided financially.

The schedule of the trip called for visits to headquarters, where five field ambulance units are now working. It was filled with more danger and genuine thrills than are usually the lot of visitors at the front.

Leaving Paris, she told Mr. Andrew, she hoped "to hear the cannon. He assured her her ears would ring before their return. They did. One night was passed at Pont a Mousson, where she declared she had the crowning experience of her rather inclusive career. There was a heavy German bombardment of the town, and she was quartered in a house where the American ambulance drivers were lodged. She was awakened by exploding shells and heard walls collapsing not far away as the shells loosened the foundations.

The din was terrific. All the Americans not on duty rushed for a reinforced cave, and Mrs. Vanderbilt was warned to seek the same refuge. With her hair down her back and a wrapper over her night robe, she ran downstairs, with a pair of flapping slippers over her bare feet.

"I was wondering whether anyone would call me," she said. "I heard those terrible explosions and buildings falling, but took it for granted that so long as I was not called I was safe."

Mr. Andrew said she was as cool as any of the crowd. Mrs. Vanderbilt returned to her room unafraid, when the bombardment was over. She visited a de section post, where ambulance men carried the wounded, and where they are within a thousand yards of the German trenches. At one place she was walking in an exposed position near the French machine guns. A soldier was shocked speechless by the sight of a woman where no woman had been since the battle lines were established. He sprang to her side and made signs to her to get away. She laughed. Then the soldier found his voice and explained that only a few minutes previously a man had been killed five feet from where she was standing.

Convinced then of her danger, she sought shelter. Later in her automobile she travelled a short distance over a road covered by German batteries. One shell fell in the road a hundred yards behind. The last place visited was Verdun, where she dined with the American ambulance drivers at their mess.

She was the first American woman to enter the city, the only other women being nurses. Mrs. Vanderbilt wore a white dress on the entire trip, white stockings, and white walking boots. The only marks of color were her blue veil and a Red Cross on her arm.

RUSSIA TO DICTATE TERMS AT BERLIN?

English and French Too Soft-Hearted, Says Novelist.

"Russia must go to Berlin," said Mrs. Gertrude Atherton, novelist, who was a passenger on board the Rochambeau, "and there dictate terms to Germany that will make her pay in full for the devastation she has caused. The settlement of terms should not be left to the softer-hearted English and French."

Mrs. Atherton said that during her visit to the war zone she had been allowed to approach to within a few miles of the front, although never actually under fire, and she remained for some time in the vicinity of Nancy, where she had an opportunity to study the destruction caused by the Prussians.

"The destruction was unnecessary," she said. "There was nothing but wanton lust of slaughter behind the minds that directed the sacking and burning of villages from which they had to retreat. No military advantages were gained."

"The Prussians are over-developed. They have cultivated militarism to such a state that it over-balances everything else with them."

"The atrocities of the Prussians are such that they cannot be described nor photographed. They are beyond the power of the human mind to grasp. The Prussian idea of Kultur is to destroy everything that is not Prussian in order to create a world Germany."

KODAK RECOVERED

By an adv. in the Graphic, Dr. Lunan recovered a valuable Kodak lost a short time ago.

AFTER THE COWS

Chief Mann has given orders that every cow going at large in the town be impounded, and even cows tethered on the public streets will not be exempt.

SMALL DROP IN PRICE

While the St. John papers some time ago published the statement that gasoline had gone down in price a cent and a half, local dealers have given a cut of only a half cent.

TRANSFERRED

Mr. W. R. Devenish, District Superintendent of this Division of the C. G. R. has been transferred to Moncton, and has already entered upon his new duties. The division here is under the charge of Assistant Supt. W. R. Fitzmaurice.

YOUR FALL PRINTING

There is often a shortage of printed matter for the fall and winter business. Now is the time to place your orders for such. We can attend to your orders promptly, and despite the fact that prices have risen in many lines, ours are but little affected by advances of raw material.

SEIZED GUNS

We are glad to learn that Chief Game Warden Robert Dawson has been quite active in the past two or three weeks and has visited the country out of the I. N. R., where he seized a number of rifles and shot guns being taken into the woods by woodsmen and others contrary to the big game laws.

PRIZE HERD

Harding Bros. of Welsford, exhibited their celebrated herd of Holsteins at the Valleyfield and Three Rivers exhibitions, where they took all the first and second class prizes. At Three Rivers they captured the gold medal offered by the Banque Nationale for the finest herd of any breed. Harding Bros. expect to exhibit at Quebec, Sherbrooke and Ottawa.

LARGE TAX RECEIPTS

Over five hundred ratepayers paid their taxes within the discount period and the total of $25,540.50 was paid into the treasury. This is about seventy per cent of the total assessment and is more than three thousand dollars over last year's payments in the same period. This is the largest payment during discount period in the history of the town.

MANY MOTOR PARTIES

The splendid condition of the Miramichi Road this summer has resulted in its use by large number of motorists. Every Sunday quite a number of cars pass each way, the Bathurst people visiting their Miramichi friends, and the Miramichi people spending the day here or further north. The distance to Chatham Ferry is said to be 45 miles, and this has been covered by one man in two hours and ten minutes, while ordinary parties easily do the trip in three hours.

These facts make their own comment on the condition of the highway.—Bathurst Light.

The good lady of the house informed him that they were well supplied with good reading, they had the bible and received the Graphic each week, and that filled their needs.

OFF THE ROCKS

With the aid of several wrecking tugs, the lumber steamer Matatus, which was stranded at Peter's River, was successfully refloated last evening. The ship proceeded to St. Mary's to take on board again her cargo of lumber, after which she will likely come on to St. John's under escort to be dry docked for repairs. Before the ship was refloated temporary repairs were made below the water line by Halifax divers. It will mean the leaving of many thousands of dollars in the country in the event of the ship being repaired here. The Matatus is a 5,000 tonner, steel screw and is fitted with a refrigerating plant.—St. John's, Nfld. Telegram.

(The Matatus has since been taken to Halifax for repairs.)

FAMILY REUNION AT CHATHAM

A family reunion of some note was held at the home of Mrs. Jos. Barry, Frost street, Chatham, on Friday, Sept. 1st, when all the members of the family of the late John Wallace assembled for the first time in fifteen years. Those present were Mrs. C. J. Wallace, Prof. J. W. M. Wallace, C. E., Quebec; Rev. E. P. Wallace, P.P., Campbellton; Rev. M. J. Wallace, M.A., Louisburg, C. B., Rev. S. S. Wallace, M.S.C., Waterbury, N. Y.; Dr. P. J. Wallace, Covedell, N. B.; L. F. Wallace, of the C. G. R. Mechanical Department, Moncton; P. A. Wallace of the C. G. R., Water Service Department, New Glasgow, Mrs. Wm. McDonald, Barnaby River, and Mrs. Jos. Barry, Chatham.

The event opened by attendance at Mass in the Cathedral, at which Rev. S. S. Wallace, M.S.C., the junior priest of the family, was the celebrant, after which a dainty breakfast was served. The day was very pleasantly spent in reviewing the history of the family, which is remarkable from an educational viewpoint, and having the distinguished honor of being one of the few, if not the only, family in the province with three priests. In the evening a sumptuous banquet was served to the family and immediate relatives, after which speeches, songs, music, refreshments, etc., were indulged in until a late hour when the different members of the family began to return to their respective homes.

On an occasion when a country church was being decorated with evergreens and flowers an old lady walked up the aisle to the chancel, and stood sniffing. "Don't it smell solemn?" she said to the sexton, as she turned away with evident reluctance. "I don't know as I ever realized just what the 'odor of sanctity' meant before today!"

An American visitor to England was discussing agricultural matters with a friend. "Why, in our country," said he, boastfully, "the soil is so rich that if you stick a nail into the ground the next morning it has grown into a crowbar!" "Yes, I know," said the Englishman, "but in this country we use a tack for that purpose!"

A humane society had secured a down-town show window and filled it with attractive pictures of wild animals in their native haunts. A placard in the middle of the exhibit read:—"We were skinned to provide women with fashionable furs." A man paused before the window, and his harassed expression for a moment gave place to one of sympathy. "I know just how you feel, old top," he muttered. "So was I!"

"Miserly offered the man who saved his life half a dollar." "Did the man accept it?" "Yes, but he handed miserly twenty cents change."

ENCOURAGE OUR PUPILS

The Graphic understands that a movement is on foot to provide a number of cash and other prizes to be awarded to pupils in our schools making the highest marks in certain specified subjects, or making the highest averages in the year.

This is a very commendable undertaking and we recommend it to the careful consideration of our citizens. In many other towns large numbers of prizes are offered in this way and these have a very stimulating effect upon the work of the school.

The Graphic will be pleased to further this object in any way and will publish the names of the donors of the proposed prizes.

Who will be the?

AN ABSURD VERDICT

(Chatham World)

Attorney General Baxter succeeded, the other day, in persuading an apparently not over intelligent jury to award Mr. Culligan, M. P. P., $500 damages because the Campbellton Graphic published a letter accusing Mr. Culligan of having had a man dismissed from a Government job because he didn't accept orders on the Culligan store in payment of his wages. A verdict of 500 cents would have been more in accordance with common sense and justice. The Graphic will appeal.

A newspaper publisher cannot ascertain just how much truth there may be in such accusations, and he has the right to publish them in the public interest. It is in the interest of the accused, if innocent, that such charges, instead of continuing to be current coin of local conversation, should be published, as such publication gives him a chance to contradict them. This backwoods verdict practically says that a publisher must not give any report, unpleasing to a public man, without having investigated it and obtained sworn evidence of its accuracy.

If Mr. Culligan had denied the statements of the letter, and invited the writer to make them over his own signature, he would have accomplished all he has gained by his lawsuit. A politician should not be so thin-skinned as to appeal to the courts when anybody throws a brickbat at him. Politicians are supposed to be able and willing to take and give hard knocks. A member of the Legislature should be big enough to consider his simple denial a sufficient answer to such assertions as the Graphic's anonymous letter writer made. A local paper, so edited as to render the publisher safe from verdicts for damages in suits by politicians, would be a tame, spiritless and useless publication. It is against the public interest that publishers should be cribbed, cabined and confined in this way. The verdict looks like the result of influential manipulation outside of the jury-room and political influence within it.

If washpotatoes on the part of the Attorney General, unless he acted as private counsel for a good fee—say $500—to take part in this petty persecution of the Graphic publisher.

WHO TOLD THE TRUTH?

Mr. Arthur Culligan, while on the witness stand and under oath, stated that never at any time did he make it a condition that men should deal at his store in return for a government job.

Adelard Berlin, also under oath, and very reluctantly, stated that he had interviewed Mr. Arthur Culligan for a job on the section, and Mr. Culligan asked him if he would deal at the company's store if he got the job. Upon assurance that he would so deal, he got it.

THAT $500.00 DOLLARS

That fated $500.00 seems to wish to cling to the skirts of the Hon. Attorney General. The original $500.00 sent by Gould hung for some months, and now the jury in a libel case so far forget themselves as to bring in a verdict of $500.00. Then the Hon. Attorney General's friend of the Chatham World suggests that it would be "small potatoes" on the part of the Honorable gentleman if he prosecuted this case unless he received a respectable fee—say $500.00, etc.—Oh what five hundred dollars.

Mr. J. K. Flemming used to tell a story, in his campaign speeches, of a juryman who justified his verdict of not guilty, in the case of a man charged with stealing a hog, by saying that he had received a piece of the pork. The applause that greeted Mr. Flemming at the Woodstock convention, and the eulogies the Gleaner passes on him, remind one forcibly of this story. But the Conservative party didn't get any of the pork and shouldn't be held responsible for the acts of Mr. Flemming and the applause of his admirers.—Chatham World.

SMALL POLITICIANS

The Chatham World says in reviewing the Graphic-Culligan libel case: "A member of the Legislature should be big enough to consider his simple denial a sufficient answer to such assertions as the Graphic's anonymous letter writer made."

Yes, but our friend of the Miramichi does not know to what depths the country store politicians of Durham have fallen. When a lawmaker of our province will stoop so low as to make it his business to personally interview the witnesses for the defence, after they have been served, he can safely be expected to use any means to win his case at the hands of a jury.

SAWDUST

The 132nd needs 100 men. Boys, eyes front—quick march to the recruiting station.

Your King and Country need you NOW.

It is said that the Hon. Attorney General's pet charity, "A home for Retired Political Colonels" is to be richly endowed by a Restigouche politician, who will also shortly be on the retired list.

They are buying potatoes by the dozen in Toronto now. That is the way we have been buying them for a whole year.

Now that Mr. Culligan, M.L.A., has cleared himself of the serious libel against his fair name, he will be eligible for a position on the forecastle of the local government ship of state.

Mr. Culligan, M. L. A. blames the Graphic for being turned down by his colleagues in the race for a portfolio. He must needs be whitewashed by a jury before he can expect so great a honor.

The Opposition leaders in the Carleton County contest are asking for an agreement that no money or rum be used to influence votes. The Government managers have not as yet assented to this proposal. We hope that this does not mean that money and rum are to be distributed by Government agents.—Chatham World.

Mr. J. K. Flemming has surely some gall. He is actually taking part in the campaign in Carleton County on behalf of the Minister of Public Works! We presume that Mr. Smith could not restrain him, after having voted for the resolution that declared his innocent. Mr. Flemming's gall is phenomenal.—Chatham World.

FOREIGN EXCHANGES TELL THE STORY

A check on Paris for 5.80 francs would buy a dollar in this country yesterday, whereas on Monday a check for 5.90 francs was needed to equal a dollar.

There was a like advance in the exchange on Petrograd, as a draft for a ruble which on Monday was worth but 31 1/2 cents yesterday commanded 33 cents.

While the exchanges with the countries of the Entente Allies are rising, those with the Teutonic countries continue to fall. A sight draft on Berlin for four reichsmarks could be bought here yesterday for 70 1/2 cents.

This is the lowest touched since the outbreak of the war. It is a fall of 1 1/2 cents in a week and places the German currency as measured in the international exchanges at a discount of 26 per cent.

The entrance of Roumania into the war has emphasized the rise in the exchanges with the Entente Allies and the fall in those with the Teutonic countries, but the rising tendency on the one side and the decline on the other has been in evidence for some time.

As the exchanges with the Entente Allies rise those with the Teutonic nations fall—plainly foreshadowing the exhaustion of German credit.

"I hear that Laura's engagement to the young minister is off." "Why, yes, she told me. He was horribly jealous, and so unfair." "In what way was he unfair?" "Every time she would make an engagement to go motoring with some other man he would pray for rain."

"Why don't you take the trouble to find out the way I like to have things done?" asked the mistress. "It's not worth while, mum," replied the new one. "I never stay in a place long."

ENGLISH AND SCOTCH CHARGE

Famous Prussian Guards Were Defeated.—The Taking of Guillemont

mont

WITH THE BRITISH ARMIES IN FRANCE, Sept. 3, via London, Sept. 4. It was "by the right flank" in the concerted Anglo-French attack on the Somme front Sunday with the great battle which never has ceased for two months, flaring up in a general conflict, Kitchener's new army charged the flower of the German army—the Prussian guards—four divisions of which were concentrated to stay the British offensive. In places the German Emperor's favorite troops were driven back, counter-attacked and again had to yield their crimsoned, shell-wrecked trenches to stubborn English and Scotch, most of whom two years ago did not know how to form fours and who fought all the harder because of the known prestige of their foe.

It hardly seemed possible that more artillery could be concentrated against given areas than already had been, but the Germans concentrated on Sunday both by British and Germans. Never had so many guns been in action.

The attack was not simultaneous nor was it along the whole line. Different sections were timed with clockwork regularity, each suiting the purpose of the commanders, while the French and English acted together as one army. By the roar of the guns in the early hours of the morning along the whole front, no observer could have told where the blows were to fall. Against Thiepval, that redoubtable position which the British have been gradually approaching, no effort was made. But just before dawn their infantry rushed the old first line of trenches at certain points both north and south of the Ancre.

The first stage of the infantry action was entirely on this flank and at Meuse where the Australians were at it again. They had been wanting that farm, these lean fellows from under the Southern Cross, and had taken and lost it once. This time they pushed through it and beyond it. Nothing more picturesque had happened in the battle which on Monday was won but 31 1/2 cents yesterday commanded 33 cents.

Later in the morning the big business of the day began from Devil's Wood southward through to the Somme. All the muzzled power on both sides, guns and machine guns, was exerted to the utmost. Guillemont was the prize the British sought. Two weeks ago the village was the most completely devastated of any on the front and the British had been pounding it day after day with every calibre of gun. Guillemont no longer is a village, but an iron and lead mine. Twice the British had carried their charges into it and even though it, only to be forced out. It is estimated that 200,000 shells were fired into it and that 3,000,000 of bullets traversed it.

Sapping forward and connecting up shell craters into trenches, the British worked their way aided by occasional charges to the villages, but the Germans established themselves in a small trench salient southwest of the village, where they were only 30 or 40 yards from the British and so near that the British guns did not fire on them for fear of hitting their own men. Here the Germans had a machine gun so placed that it swept the space between the trenches, but the British managed to get across and, about mid-day, swept through the village of Guillemont, cleaning up nests of machine guns and across the fields on the other side established themselves in a sunken road. But south of Guillemont one section of the Prussian Guard resisted

The death of Mrs. Hugh A. Marquis took place at the Hotel Dieu Hospital, Monday evening, and has cast a gloom over the entire community.

On Wednesday afternoon of last week, Mrs. Marquis was taken to the hospital, where an operation for appendicitis was performed, and was successful, but further complications arose which caused her death Monday.

The deceased lady, who was in her 38th year, was highly respected and much esteemed, and her passing away will be mourned by a large circle of friends. To the bereaved husband and six small children who have been called upon to bear the loss of a kind and affectionate wife and mother the heartfelt sympathy of the community is extended. The funeral, which was held Wednesday afternoon, was largely attended. The services at the house and grave were conducted by Rev. Hugh Miller. The floral tributes were beautiful and many. Interment was made in the Rural cemetery.

The many friends of Mrs. Ben Beatty, formerly Miss Rose Comier of this town, will regret to learn of her recent death, after a month's illness. She leaves a bereaved husband, mother, father, two sisters, Edith and Eveline, and one brother, Louis, to mourn her loss.

KARLSRUHE SUNK BY TORPEDO, NOV. 1914.

London, Sept. 6.—Captain Aust, second officer in command of the German cruiser Karlsruhe, has published a book entitled "War adventures of the Karlsruhe," stating that on November, 1914, when the Karlsruhe was lying in latitude 10.7 north, 55.25 west, she was torpedoed by an invisible craft. The ship broke in two and sank immediately with her commander and many of her crew.

The Karlsruhe was accompanied by the steamers Indriana and Rio Negro, as colliers, which rescued many of the crew. The Indriana reached Norway, and the Rio Negro arrived in a German harbor later.

desperately in Falemont Farm and Wedge Wood and nearly all the afternoon bombing and hand-to-hand fighting was proceeding. Here the Guards had high ground which they turned into a fortress and they evidently were determined to keep faith with their prestige.

No sooner had the British taken Guillemont and swept through it than the Germans turned on it a tornado of shell-fire from their immense concentration of guns in this section.

The French, between the Somme and the British right, under the protection of an amazing hurricane of shellfire, co-operated in a brilliant advance. From a hill, the blue of the soldiers and the khaki of the British could be seen side by side as they advanced and, as the trenches were taken, the green figures of the Germans flung back to the rear as prisoners completed the spectacle under an unbroken stream of shells overhead.

Prussian Guard prisoners taken said the German Emperor had let it be known to his troops that there would be no winter campaign. They believed the decision of the war was coming in this summer's fight.

Business is a world of motion.
Get into motion and the door of opportunity will open to you.
Stand still and it remains locked.
Start SOMEWHERE and SOMETHING, and presto, the way of opportunity is yours.
Preparation in the methods of business harmonizes your efforts with the movements of commerce and production. Your wagon becomes hitched to a Star and your destiny secure. You

WEST PASPEBIAC
A very charming entertainment was given at the Parish Hall, Paspebiac, on the evening of August 31st. Eight children took part, and no grown-ups were permitted to interfere, either in the performance, or the management.
It was got up altogether by the children, and the variety of entertainment supplied, with the smoothness of its presentation, gave a black eye to its pretentious adults who fancy ourselves in the role of stage fare and in stage management.

The dominant sex was represented by the Misses Ruth Kelly, Catherine Jardine and Lorna Seale. The weaker sex, by Master Linden Bouillon, S. de Wolfe Veiller, Arthur Seale, Selwyn
Bouillon and George Camiot.

The admission price was only 10 and 15 cents, but nevertheless $30.00 was gathered in.

Miss Florence Bisson presided at the organ and gave the needed accompaniments in a very effective manner.
The entertainment was provided for the benefit of the Red Cross Fund.

New York, Aug. 35.—An inebriated individual stood like the Leaning Tower of Pisa, swaying a bit in the wind, at the busiest corner in Dobbs Ferry, N. Y., last evening. Capt. Patrick Costello of the local police force took him by the arm.

"My friend, lemme read to you," said the illumined one. He drew from his pocket a Bible, and stammered through this quotation from I Timothy, 5:23:
"Drink no longer water, but use a little wine for thy stomach's sake and thine often infirmities."

"That sounds all right," said the Captain. "But what have you been drinking?"

"Beer," said the Scripture-quoter.
"Then you've got no alibi and you're pinched," retorted Costello. The prisoner said he was John Haisch of 250 in a cell with his Bible for a pillow.

WHEN live stock is tormented by vermin, lice, mites or flies, it cannot be profitable. You can prevent this annoyance and have more profitable stock by using Creonoid.
Think this over. It means money for you.

Creonoid stands alone as a lice killer and cattle spray. Economical too, because it is so strong that a little goes very far. Give your horses and cattle a fine, long distance spraying, so that they get the vapor. It will make them clean and vermin free. Put more Creonoid in the barnery and dairy.
The use of Creonoid means better stock, more milk, more good porkers, more milk.

LET US READ

"He that walketh with wise men shall be wise, but a companion of fools shall be destroyed." Prov. 13:20.

"In times like these," when the making of books there is literally no end, it seems fit that we should consider for a while the question of reading.

One admonition of St. Paul to his beloved young friend, Timothy, has come down to us, and has lost nothing of its force in the years which have intervened since it was given. "Pay attention to reading," is advice perhaps more needed now than then. If when books, as we knew them, were unknown, and reading matter must have been hard to obtain, it was thought by this master thinker advisable so to speak, how much more need is there for us to take heed to that word now, when books are printed by the million, and no home is complete without several newspapers and magazines, and when in all of our cities, and most of our towns public libraries give an easy access to books of all kinds.

Observe that in this advice St. Paul did not say, read a great deal, or, amuse yourself with reading; but pay attention. I think that one of the worst forms our modern carelessness takes is this of inattentive reading. The habit of taking up any form of printed matter and just using our eyes while perusing it, is fatal to memory. To prove this it is only necessary to notice how readily a student will master the contents of some volume with which it would take us weeks to become familiar.

No doubt Paul means for Timothy to read as it was possible, in order that he might be prepared for any controversy in which he might engage. At that time when so many of the learned of all nations were anxious to hear what the apostles had by way of argument in defence of the new faith, a knowledge of the Hebrew Scriptures was vitally necessary. Also some acquaintance with pagan literature. Paul was very well able to make a point with the Athenians by reference to their own writers. Peter, speaking to men who believed the prophecies of Isaiah, and that all Scripture was given by inspiration, was able to use these prophecies to great effect, on the day of Pentecost. Paul had the advantage of high education and culture, but Peter was just a plain fisherman; in all probability self-educated, having gained his knowledge by attentive reading. In all the history of the world, the years since those days, how many examples have we of great leaders of men, apostles of some great cause, who have been self-educated and God-made. They fitted themselves for being of use, and God made the opportunity. They paid attention to reading and this same attention was paid to the first clearings being made in the forest primeval, when by the light of the hearth fire, books were read aloud that kept the mind alert and vigorous, because even if it were that night after night the same books were read and reread, the mental food was well balanced. Robinson Crusoe, Shakespeare, Pilgrim's Progress, in many cases, forming the whole library, or Baxter's Saints' Rest, and Fox's Book of Martyrs, may have been added. Now the homes where these books were read could not be the homes of ignorant, or uncultured people, and the Bible was always there, they could not be godless, and so we see a race of men with sturdy intellects, grow up who were ready, when the time came, to grapple with the Empire problems of our early national life.

Conditions now are very different. Even as gardens of beauty are growing where the shadow fell in the wood, so has our national culture grown till on every hand can be found the means for self improvement; helps so easily obtained that no one need be anything but well informed, at least on current topics, and in the literature of yesterday, and to-day. All we need do is pay attention to reading. It would be well if we tried to make ourselves familiar with some particular line of thought. In other words, have a hobby, and know all about it. Hobbies fed in this way might become veritably the fabled Pegasus, endowed with the strength of knowledge, and the wings of imagination, lifting us out of the humdrum of our every day life into a realm of beautiful thought, and to the acquaintance with those whose endeavor and accomplishment have made the world better, and given to men a noble conception of life. How many of those who at this time are working out such beautiful effects with a crochet hook, have studied the life story of Irish lace, or knew anything of the conditions under which it is produced, or the tragical time in which the industry was born? All over our land thousands of knitting needles are industriously clicking in work for our boys at the front. How many of us who are expending our nervous energy in this way are acquainted with the part knitting has taken in the history of our great ally, when the French women of a century and a quarter ago knit their woes and wrongs, and the names of their oppressors into their apparently innocent and necessary work—work which bore such awful evidence in the day of judgment of the French Revolution.

MANITOBA'S JAILS

BECOMING EMPTY

Great Diminution of Crime and Drunkenness

Winnipeg, Sept. 1.—Statistics compiled by P. N. Maclean, chief of the license inspectors for Manitoba, have proved a revelation regarding the effect of the Manitoba Temperance Act on drunkenness and crime in the province.

Mr. Maclean announced yesterday that there had been a reduction of eighty per cent in drunkenness in Winnipeg since June, as compared with the three months previous, the percentage being based on the court statistics. In the province there has been a decrease of 90 per cent in drunkenness. For the city and province the reduction in the number of all crimes in Winnipeg during the first three months of prohibition was 161, as compared with 813 for the months of March, April and May. The jails of the province are becoming empty. The act is being vigorously enforced.

Mr. Meane—I have nothing but praise for the new minister. The Deacon—So I noticed when the plate was passed around.

Whatever interest we may have or work we may do, let us become familiar as possible with its history, so that we may become intelligent workers.

At the present time the women of Saskatchewan are in possession of the municipal franchise. Would it not be well if we were to read up on the subject of the growth of municipal government.

It may be that before you read this article, we will have been endowed with a much larger measure of citizenship. Let us take heed to our ways then, for to whom much is given, much shall be required, and we need to read widely and attentively, that we may attain to the full stature of an intelligent voter.

So much of the pure joy of life comes from the reading of good books. Fancy a world without books! Yet better this than the book-shelves of the world full of poor books.

I feel sure that it is to the habit of inattentive reading we can trace the existence of millions of doubtful books published every year. If every reader gave due thought and consideration to the volume in hand, would it be possible that so much that is actually vicious would be read, were these books not read—did the demand cease, the supply would soon cease too.

Ruskin tells us that there is an aristocracy among books as among people. He shows how we are all striving to gain an admittance to the best society our community affords, and all the while there is this concourse of the great men and women of all the ages with whom we can become familiar friends. He points out how books differ. How some are immortal, some short-lived; how some are good for a day, and others are good for all time—but how a bad book is bad for all time.

In the rush of our many duties we sometimes feel that we have little time for such relaxation, but the rest we obtain while enjoying a good book by the fire in winter, or in the open air in the summer, is of more value than we think. We can receive instruction with small effort once the habit of attentive reading is formed. If we be in a receptive mood we can be entertained by the highest literary achievements, or amused by the finest wit; we

HUSBAND OBJECTS TO OPERATION

Wife Cured by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Des Moines, Iowa.—"Four years ago I was very sick and my life was nearly spent. The doctors stated that I would never get well without an operation and that without it I would not live one year. My husband objected to any operation and got me some of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. I took it and commenced to get better and am now well, am stout and able to do my own housework. I can recommend the Vegetable Compound to any woman who is sick and run down as a wonderful strength and health restorer. My husband says I would have been in my grave ere this if it had not been for your Vegetable Compound."—Mrs. BLANCHIE JEFFERSON, 703 Lyon St., Des Moines, Iowa.

Before submitting to a surgical operation it is wise to try to build up the female system and cure its derangements with Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound; it has saved many women from surgical operations.

SNOW-MCDONALD

The residence of Mrs. James A. McDonald, Campbellton, was the scene of a very happy event Wednesday afternoon, Sept. 6th, when her eldest daughter Miss Stella Marion McDonald, was united in marriage with Dr. C. Montague Snow of Rexton, N. B. The bride, who entered the drawing room with her brother, Mr. J. C. McDonald, who gave her in marriage, looked charming in a beautiful costume of white taffeta with Georgette crepe and duchess lace trimmings, and the customary veil and orange blossoms. She carried a bouquet of white roses, lilies of the valley and sinlax and was attended by her sister, Miss Neita McDonald, who wore yellow taffeta with Georgette crepe, black picture hat, and carried a bouquet of crimson roses. The groom was supported by Mr. Gordon Black of the Bank of N. S. staff in St. John. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Wellington Camp, B. D., pastor of the Campbellton Baptist Church, under a floral arch, (pine and Hydrangea) with gates, in the presence of a large number of relatives of both bride and groom. The wedding march was played by Mrs. McAleese of New York City.

The grooms present to the bride was a wrist watch, to the bridesmaid a cameo ring, to the best man, a tie pin with pearl settings, and to the pianist a gold pin with pearl and ruby settings. The large number of beautiful presents testified to the popularity of the couple.

Among the out-of-town guests were Mrs. Stanley Goggin, Pettitodiac; Dr. and Mrs. Taylor, Moncton; Dr. H. W. Snow of Sackville; Mrs. Paul Doyle of Jacques River; Mrs. J. E. Dean of Inch Arran and Dr. and Mrs. McAleese of New York.

After a dainty repast in the dining room, which was beautifully decorated with cut flowers, Dr. and Mrs. Snow took the Ocean Limited for Montreal, Toronto, Niagara Falls and other Canadian cities. On their return they will reside in Rexton, where Dr. Snow has a large practice.

FALL PAINTING

The fall of the year is a good time for people to paint their houses, and for two reasons. First, because it is a time when men are not so busy with regular farm work as they are in the spring, and second, because in the cooler weather paint takes the proper length of time to dry. It is also a well-recognized fact nowadays that a house well painted in the fall will withstand the destructive effects of winter snow and ice much better than the house which has not been recently painted. And so it is that each year in Canada as well as in the United States, there is an increasing interest in fall as well as spring painting. More of it is being done, particularly in the country districts.

We were interested this week to see the fine stock of house paints being shown by the local agents of Brandram-Henderson, Limited, who make the famous Brandram's B. B. Genuine White Lead and B-H "English Paint."

J. & D. A. HARQUAL Co., Ltd.

We were interested to hear that the latter product is guaranteed to contain 70% of pure white lead and 30% of pure zinc, thus combining in the proper proportions the two pigments which assure the most serviceable paint. The consumption of this paint in Canada has increased enormously in recent years.

It may be news to some of our readers to learn that the Brandram firm has been in business in England since the latter part of the eighteenth century. The Brandrams were well known throughout the world for nearly a century before Canada had made any progress as a manufacturing country, and very early they established a Canadian connection. It was, in a great measure, from this connection that the necessity arose from the great lead works in Montreal operated by Brandram-Henderson, Limited. It is there, that the supply of B. B. Genuine White Lead for Canada is now corroded and it is there also that B-H "English" Paint is made. Any of our readers who will call at the local agents for B-H "English" Paint will be given full information regarding prices and also an estimate of the quantity required for each yard of surface he may wish to paint.
