Motion to Reduce the British Naval Estimates Overwhelmingly Defeated-Steamer Lost in the Black Sea.

Late news from Nankin states that 10,000 Chinese rebels have crossed the Anhui borders into Honan, there joining the rebels, their combined forces numbering over 20,000. Thus combined but the Italian Government has disathey marched against and captured Shouchun, the second city of the Anhui province, badly defeating General Kuc and the imperial forces. They secured large quantities of arms, and have sent out a body of raiders into Honan to secure ammunition. The telegraph lines in North Anhui have been cut, and the imperial troops are gradually being hemmed in. Five hundred rebels and many soldiers were killed in the battle in North Kiangsu; between the rebels and the combined forces of Generals Kuo, Wo and Liu. BRITISH NAVAL ESTIMATES.

During the discussion of the naval estimates in the House of Commons, Mr. Henry Labouchere, Liberal member for Northampton, moved a reducbeggar my neighbor against the whole world," and declared it "foolish swagger to boast of ability to build more ships than any other country." Great Britain, he asserted, was not more rich than the United States, nor than France and Russia, combined. Mr. John Dillon, Nationalist member for East Mayo, in supporting the reduction, said: "British statesmen who attempt to induce the United States to abandon their traditions by embarking in a wild career of naval competition with Europe will bitterly regret it, for the day will come when England will be hard driven to maintain naval equality with the United States The first lord of the admiralty

(Mr. Goschen) is trying to compete with six powers." Mr. Arthur J. Balfour denied that either the first lord of the admiralty or the government had any such insane idea. The first lord of the admiralty. he declared, had deliberately based his policy upon the accepted principles that Great Britain's navy should be equal to the force of any two other powers. The house rejected the motion for a reduction in the estimates by 147 votes against 19.

RHODES SATISFIED. Berlin, March 14.-The plans of Cecil Rhodes, who is in this city, with the view of pressing upon the German Government the advisability of cooperating in the building of the Cape to-Cairo Railroad, which will pass through a portion of German African territory, will be submitted to colonial and commercial experts, on whose reports the government will act. Emperor William, it is said, has sent an aide-de-camp inviting Mr Rhodes to another conference. Mr. Cecil Mr. Rhodes has biven open expres sion to his satisfaction over the results of his visit. SERIOUS DIFFICULTY.

The opinion is expressed in reichstag circles that the conflict arising from the differences existing between the government and the budget committee regarding the military bill is more serious than at first thought. The emperor insists upon the full amount asked for. The imperial chancellor, Prince Hohealohe, conferred confidentially with Dr. Lieber, the Centrist leader, urging that the Centrists should yield. Dr. Lieber said that this was impossible, as it would destroy the Centrist influence with the electors. number of leading members of the reichstag of all parties are of the opinion that the reichstag will vote the It removed ten corns from one pair of budget committee's report by 200 feet without any pain. > ITALY A FRIEND OF BRITAIN. In the House of Commons, parliamentary secretary of the foreign office, Rt. Hon. Wm. St. John Broderick, defended the government's action in supporting Italian claims in China. In so doing, he said, Italy had been for many years the friend and ally of Great Britain, and so far as Great Britain was concerned, if by diplomacy Italy could persuade China to make concessions, her Majesty's government would welcome Italy's appearance in the far east as an ally of Great Britain. Mr. Broderick said the policy of her Majesty's government was to safe-

Advices from the Orient state that the Spanish avarice and misrule have again stirred up a rebellion. The insurgent Morros, of Palawan Island, north of Borneo, murdered the Spanish governor of Palawan, residing at Port Royalist, and killed his assistants. A church and other Spanish buildings were burned, after which the rebellious Morros retreated to the hills of Palawan, carrying with them several dozen men, women and children, all Spanish, as prisoners. Onerous taxes and other burdens imposed by the Spanish caused the natives to strike a blow for freedom.

SHARPSHOOTERS BUSY. Manila, March 14-Noon.-At 7 o'clock this morning, hearing the insurgents' bugles sounding, Scott's Battery dropped three shrapnel shells into the wood on the left of the Pasig Church. No reply was made, and at 7:45 the Twenty-second regular infantry advanced until they encountered a num-ber of volleys. This fire was returned with interest. The line then wheeled towards Pateros. The troops followed the roads, while the gunboats Oeste and Leguna de Bay assisted in suppressing the fire on the left flank. Three rebel canoes were captured on the river. The rebel sharpshooters at Caloocan continue active, but no casualties are reported. It rained heavily during the fight yesterday. The casualties on the Am-

"Manila is no place for women. This war, not a picnic." CABLE FROM GEN. OTIS. Washington, D. C., March 14.-The following cable from Gen. Otis reached the war department today:

Manila, March 14.—Adjutant General, Washington:-Until yesterday field operations here since capturing Caloocan have been of minor nature, consisting of driving back small bands of insurgents, with considerable loss to latter. Yesterday, Gen. Wheaton, with the Twentieth, Twenty-Second Infantry, the Oregon and Washington troops, a section of the Sixth Artillery, a sciadron of the Fourth Cavalry, attacked a large force of the enemy, drove them back and took the line of the Casig River, which he now holds. Two improvised gunboats in the lake have captured considerable property. The insurgent loss was heavy, our own killed and wounded slightly aggregating 35, mostly slightly wounded. Insurgents made

The Y. M. C. A. Incorporation Bill Is All Right.

Concession Wanted by the Street Rail: way Company-Col. Leys on the Qui Vive for the City's Interest.

[Special to The Advertiser.] Toronto, Ont., March 14.-Quite a number of Londoners were noticeable at the parliament buildings this forenoon, including Messrs. Hellmuth, Ivy, Carr, H. Cronyn and Ald. Winnett. The London Y. M. C. A. incorporation bill passed the private bills committee, which is equivalent to passing it in the house. Exemption of taxation will be mentioned on that part of the association's plant and property that have to do with the proper work, but any portion of the property used for general money-making purposes is to be liable

Before the private bills committee this forenoon the London Street Railway asked for confirmation of the Pottersburg bylaw and also the bylaw relating to Springbank. The first was approved, but on the second Col. Leys, the vigilant member for London, moved the following amendment: "Provided always, that in the event of any portion of the said township of Westminster, in which any part of the said property of the said company is situate, becoming in any way a part any way to the property of the said company, which shall come within the limits of the said city of London. The point at issue was this: The street railway company wanted an agreement that would keep the rate of taxation on the parts of their Springbank property now outside of London vides that whatever territory the city, may expropriate shall be removed from the effect of the aforesaid agreement. At the suggestion of Col. Gibson, the chairman, the clause was withdrawn. As this protects the city, at all events, for the present, Col. Leys is satisfied.

-At the regular meeting of the Medical Association last evening two able papers were presented by Drs. Ovens and Weekes, the subject treated by the former being "Tonsillar Enlargements, or Hidden Tonsils," and by Dr. Weekes "Whether or Not It Is Wise to Use Coal Tar Derivatives." Both papers were freely discussed. No discussion took place about the advisory committee, to act in conjunction with the hospital trust, although the matter was brought up. The association does not, by any means, represent the profession in London, and it was thought that no good would be gained by discussing the mayor's selection, with which several of the members subsequently expressed their satisfaction. Subscriptions were raised towards a medical section in the public library. As soon as $100 is raised the library board will advance $100 for the purpose of purchasing medical works for the proposed

A meeting of the St. Thomas doctors was held on Wednesday night to protest against the action of the city council in decling to place a physician on the hospital board. The grievance of the doctors was discussed at length, all those present expressing their disapproval of the action of the council. It was finally decided that all the doctors should resign from the hospital staff, to take effect on March 31. The action taken by the meeting was unanimous. A committee was instructed to send a report of the proceedings of the meeting to the hospital governors. The doctors have decided not to send patients to the institution.

by this grand medicine. Mr. Thomas L. Hubbs, owner and occupant of Section 28, Township 19, Range 11, met with a severe accident about a year ago. He was thrown out of his wagon, and among the injuries he sustained was a very severe strain of the kidneys. Soon after his mishap, his kidneys began to make manifest the fact that they were unable to do their work properly. Severe, stabbing pains darted across the small of his back, and a dull, terrible ache in his loins, kept him in continual agony.

Various remedies were used, but none gave any relief. The pains seemed to grow worse, and, hearing of the wonderful efficacy of Dodd's Kidney Pills, he decided to try what they would do for him. He bought a box, and began taking the pills, going strictly according to the directions. Judge of his delight, when, in a few days, he began to feel better. Day by day the improvement grew more marked, until when he had taken all the pills, he was "Sound as a bell," and not a trace of his old trouble remained.

Mr. Hubbs, in writing of his case, says: "I live in the municipality of Indian Head, and all who know me can vouch for the truth of this statement." Where Dodd's Kidney Pills are used, Kidney Disease cannot exist. It is driven out swiftly and promptly, never to return.

THE LAST OF A PUGILIST. "Johnny" Griffin, the "Braintree Lad," and in his day one of the cleverest feather-weight fighters in the world, died in a New York boarding house Sunday morning. His body is in the morgue, and unless some of his friends care for it, it is likely to find a resting place in Potter's field. About five years ago Griffin quit the prize ring, having made a considerable amount of money, and began to study dentistry. He spent some time in this occupation, but seems to have dropped from public sight during the past two or three years. As a matter of fact Griffin gave up dentistry and became very dissipated, losing most of his friends and all his money.

A CHEERFUL SPIRIT.

The shipwrecked people are warmly praising the conduct of Miss Maud Hendrie, of Hamilton, Ont., who was the life of the first cabin party, and by her merry entertaining sociability contributed a great deal to keeping the people in good cheer during the long hours spent on the unfortunate ship. Miss Hendrie filled in part of the time by taking photographs of scenes on the steamer and of Gannet One of the pictures shows a group of passengers wearing life-belts. REV. MR. MORRISON'S EXPERI-ENCE.

Rev. Mr. Morrison tells some of his experiences in the disaster, as follows: "I was in bed when the Castilian struck, having retired early, and, somewhat restless, slept rather lightly. felt the steamer grinding on the ledge when she met the rocks, and looking at my watch saw it was 3:30 a.m. went on deck, and on being told to keep cool, returned to my room, where soon we received word that everybody was to dress. It was said on board that the accident was due to the ship's compasses having been affected. There was no sign of a panic, but when the afternoon came and began to lengthen without any sign of help coming from shore, misgivings manifested them-selves. The order had just been given to lower the boats for the departure of the cabin passengers, when whistles were heard of steam tugs coming to the rescue. This ended whatever fears were beginning to rise, and it was only a matter of time before we were safely housed in Yarmouth."

NO CONFUSION.

It was 3:40 Sunday morning when the Castilian struck. There was no confusion, and all orders were obeyed with coolness and promptness. About 5 o'clock Chief Officer McAffrey and Purser Stewart were dispatched to convey the news to land. At Tusel Wedge they communicated with the local agents of the Allan line, and had tugs sent to the scene as quickly as

In this way every care was taken as to the safety of the passengers, and at the same time alarm allayed. Refreshments were served, and later on in the day we had luncheon. In the middle of the afternoon the tugs arrived. Coolness and discipline among officers and crew allayed fear. There was never anything approaching

OZONE-For Lung Trouble. "Advised By Three Doctors to Make His Will."

Dear Sirs,—I take much pleasure in recommending Ozone. I can truly say it saved my life I caught a severe cold which settled on my lungs. I was so run down that I had no hope of recovery. Three doctors told me to make my will. I tried everything recommended for consumption. I had taken nearly a dozen bottles of Cod Liver Oil, besides spending one hundred dollars in doctors' bills, until at last I was advised to try Ozone. Before I had taken two bottles my cough was entirely cured. Before I had taken Ozone two months I was as well as ever. I am, yours truly, William Paul, Orillia, Ont.

Getting Down to Business.

Mr. Sifton, speaking at Stratford, announced that the accounts of the Intercolonial Railway would show a handsome surplus at the end of the fiscal year. It is to be hoped so. Mr. Blair has worked hard to put the road on a businesslike basis in the face of vindictive opposition, and in some cases downright calumny. The management of the Intercolonial was a financial hoodoo and a political reproach for so many years that a Minister who can make it a permanently paying and useful concern will earn the gratitude of the country, and do much to vindicate the principle of public ownership. The financial record in the last years of the Conservative Government was something like this:

	Deficit.	Surplus.
1890	 $553,492
1891	 684,946
1892	 493,936
1893		$20,182
1894	 	5,839
1895	 	3,815
1896	 55,187	•••
	CONTRACTOR OF THE PARTY AND THE	4004

The extraordinary deficit in 1891 was due to the general election that year, when the Intercolonial was performing its best work as a political machine. The surpluses for three years were obtained at the expense of the rolling stock and other equipment, which were allowed to run down. In 1896 the road resumed its functions as the Conservative carry-all for the general elections, with the usual result-a deficit. Then the Intercolonial passed under set to work to replenish the rolling stock, repair the roadbed, secure proper terminals and connections, and generally to make a railroad of it. The effects of his policy began to appear last year, when the gross receipts jumped from $2,866,028 to $3,117,669. Owing to its run-down condition, however, he was compelled to make heavy expenditures for maintenance - some $861,000, as compared with $624,000 in 1897. The result was a deficit of $139,-978 in 1898. Had the road been maintained in proper shape by his predehas overtaken the task bequeath-

The Radical British.

In aristocratic Britain they are much we in Canada, or than our American cousins, who profess to own the only brand of real democracy.

Some of the measures already introduced into the British House of Commons this session would be regarded as socialistic on this side of the Atlantic. A Conservative Government have resolved to spend $10,000,000 in establishing a telephone system to be controlled by the state. The state has owned the telegraphs for many years. It is a branch of the postoffice administration, and yields a handsome profit. The telephone has been in the hands of a monopoly, and the service has never been popularized, but the Government purpose remedying that.

Mr. Chamberlain has introduced a bill to empower local authorities to advance money to enable occupiers to acquire ownership of small houses, on the principle of the Irish Land Act and Small Holdings Act. The social Kaiser. efficiency of municipal government in Great Britain is proverbial. The fixed conditions there are doubtless more favorable to collectivist experiment than in new countries like the United States and Canada, where things are in a state of flux, and private initiative has a wider range.

Another sign of the socialistic trend is the agitation for old age pensions, to which Mr. Chamberlain gave countenance. The present Government is indisposed to handle this question, sooner or later it will become an issue of practical politics. The Cottage Homes Bill, recently before the House, is on somewhat the same lines. Its object is to provide cottage homes for the aged deserving poor, so as to spare them the humiliation of living in the workhouse, where they have to mingle with the undeserving class. This bill was brought forward by Mr. Hutton, a Conservative member. In moving the second reading he said it was an appalling fact that one out of every three persons who reached the age of 75 was not in a position to maintain himself, but had to rely on the poor law for relief. He regarded as cruei the present system of poor law administration, in not making a difference between the treatment of aged persons who had lived respectable lives, and of those who had dissipated their substance away. Mr. Chaplin, speaking for the Government, criticised some of the details of the bill, but agreed with its principle, and offered no objection to its second reading, provided it was sent to a select committee to remedy its defects. This was accordingly done. Some Liberal members expressed the hope that this would not prevent the Government from dealing with the subject of old age pensions during the life of the present Parliament. The growing radicalism of British on the land laws by the Liberal leadcated a tax on land values as a means of raising more revenue.

The secession of Lord Claude Hamilton from the Conservative ranks, because of its "attacks on capital," is symptomatic of the unrest among the genuine Tory element, who resent Chamberlain's influence in the councils of the party. Salisbury is at heart a Tory of the old school, with a scarcelydisguised contempt for the democracy, but he is too astute a politician not to realize that his party must swim with the current of the times.

Compensation to Workmen. Premier Hardy's bill to amend the law with respect to compensation for workmen reconciles the interests of employers and employes in at least one particular-that of simplifying a 1 cheapening the legal procedure. This principle has been indorsed by both parties in the Legislature. Especially is the arbitration feature commended. The bill provides that a workman claiming compensation for injuries, if he desires to proceed by arbitration, shall serve notice to that effect upon | year. his employer within four months from the date upon which his injuries were sustained. If the employer objects to arbitration he shall notify the claimant within eight days that he will apply to a judge of the High Court in chambers, to have the proceedings carried on by action and not by arbitration. The judge, on hearing the application, may direct that proceedings are to be carried on by action if he finds that difficult questions of law or complicated questions of fact are likely to arise, or if the county judge is for any reason disqualified to conduct the arbitration and there is no junior judge to take his place. If the proceedings are to be by arbitration the county judge shall fix a time for the the vigorous control of Mr. Blair, who hearing. He may, if he thinks fit, submit any question of law for the decision of a judge of the High Court, and the decision of such judge shall be final. The costs of the arbitration shall be on the regular county court scale, the only extra fee being $10, paid to the county judge. Appeal may be had from the decision of the arbitrator to a divisional court of the High Court of Justice, whose judgment shall be final. In all cases under this act, Mr. Hardy's bill throws upon the employer the onus of proving that the machinery, buildings, etc., were in proper condition when the injury was sustained cessors Mr. Blair could have shown a by the claimant. This is regarded as substantial surplus. But now that he fair, because the employer has much more facility for getting expert testied to him by Mr. Haggart, the earning mony than the workman. Mr. Hardy's power of the Intercolonial is growing bill does not go so far as the English rapidly, and it is believed the era of act, which makes the employer absolutely responsible for injury sustained by an employe without regard to the circumstances of the accident. As we recently pointed out, this has had an effect contrary to that intended, many more radical in their legislation than firms declining to employ men who are over 50 years of age, or who have any physical disability whatever.

Close upon the announcement that Barnum's circus had become naturalized in Great Britain is the news that a great London daily will issue a Sunpleading financial stringency, but day edition. American institutions are getting popular over there.

Another Anglo-Russian crisis has been averted, but it is believed the correspondents are organizing another. There's a heap of raw material for crises lying around in China, and it must be worked up somehow.

Extra sessions of the private bills committee of the Legislature have become necessary, owing to the quantity of business. The Opposition once talked of biennial sessions, but that plank has evidently dropped out of their economy platform.

Some Conservative papers have been taking Mr. Whitney to task for his championship of the pernicious bonusing system. The censure is not wholly deserved, as Mr. Whitney is merely following his political creed, but it is more surprising to find a Liberal like James Conmee standing up for the same humbug.

Ogilvie, the Montreal miller threatens to remove his mills from that city if the tax on machinery is enforced. He says he cannot pay it, and compete with mills in other places that are entirely free from taxation or enjoy bonuses. It illustrates anew the gross politics is further seen by the attack injustice of the bonusing system to the majority of manufacturers, in EIR Bir Edward Grey, in a speech to placing them at a disadvantage in com-

The Hamilton Times fears the new Ontario tax on life insurance companies will come out of the pockets of widows and orphans. We cannot see that any widow or orphan will have to pay or lose a five-cent piece because of the proposed tax.-London Advertiser.

The tax will have to be paid out of the income of the insurance company. The portion of the income in excess of the expenditures is called profits. More than 90 per cent of the profits of some, if not most, of the companies added to the policies. The tax by reducing the profits will reduce the amount to be paid to widows and orphans. Now does The Advertiser see it, or shall we draw a diagram?-Hamilton Times.

"Logic is logic," as Oliver Wendell Holmes endeavored to show in his history of the One Hoss Shay; but our experienced contemporary ought to know by this time that the world is not exactly ruled by logic. With an average of one new life insurance company per month, more or less, starting up in Toronto, it looks as if competition would take care that the attractions to policyholders were not reduced. There are many other loppings off that would probably go before the result to the 13 dozen Ladies Hemstitched and widow or the orphan would be af-

Our Civil School Board. [Brantford Expositor.]

On a vote of 9 to 7, the public school board of London, Ont., filed an influential petition, asking for the introduction of domestic science in the schools of that city, without even the compliment of reference to a committee. This was rather summary, and somewhat uncivil treatment. Domestic science may not be immediately feasible in some places, because of the expense connected therewith, but it is at least deserving of careful consideration and of respectful treatment.

Britons Understand Business. [Montreal Herald.]

There is much business sense in the remark attributed by the London correspondent of a New York paper to Britishers who discuss the break in the Canadian-American negotiations.

What a difference there is in women The actual number of years they have lived seems to have little to do with their looks. women at 45 look and act younger there at 30. Their eyes are brighter, than others at 30. their complexions fairer, and there are not nearly so many wrinkles. Old Father Time deals gently with a healthy woman, but pains, displacements and weaknesses pecu-liar to her sex, she ages fast. The wrinkles ish, and an unwholesome pallor spreads over her features. She becomes nervous, petulant, fidgetty. She loses flesh, and drags about in a most miserable state of body and mind. Such a sick woman needs Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. This medicine will restore the looks of younger days by strengthening her in a womanly It will do what powders and paints way. It will do what powders and paints and "beautifiers" can never do. It is a non-alcoholic and non-narcotic preparation. The stimulation and strength it imparts are permanent. It cures all the distressing ailments commonly called "female troubles." There is no other remedy so good for this purpose. When a medicine dealer urges upon you something else as a sub-stitute for it, he is attempting a personal injury. Never take any substitute for Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription.

Pierce's Favorite Prescription.

"I have been in poor health more or less all my life," writes Mrs. M. F. Long, of Le Loup, Franklin Co., Kans.

"A specialist said I had ulceration of the womb and that an operation would have to be performed. At last I wrote to Dr. Pierce asking advice. I received an answer advising me to try his medicines, his 'Favorite Prescription,' Golden Medical Discovery,' and also his 'Pleasant Pellets.' In one month I gained eight pounds. After taking two bottles of each medicine, I began to look like a woman and not like a wasted skeleton. That weary, tired feeling has all left me,"

Suit at Stratford for $10,000 Damage

Stratford, March 14.-Byron Sylvester Parker, piano agent, was examined for discovery before Registrar Mc-Fadden in connection with a suit for $10,000 brought by him against Henry Devine for alleged alienation of his wife's affections.

The defendant Devine is a conductor in the employ of the Toronto Street Railway. The plaintiff also formerly lived in Toronto. Parker was married on Oct. 12, 1886, and lived with Mrs. Parker until Oct. 12, 1898. In his statement of claim he says that defendant came to board at his residence in 1894, and stayed there until 1897. During that period he claims Devine gave his wife a number of presents, took her to places of amusement, and that the pair were guilty of grave wrong. Defendant in his statement denies giving present or any wrong-doing.

According to a Klondike paper of Feb. 13, a man named Davie Evans shot and killed a woman named Libby White and then committed suicide. Evans came from Swansea, Wales, about thirty years ago.

A Doctor's Remedy

Shiloh's Consumption Cure is the prescription of a skillful physician, and has been used in successful professional practice for nearly half a century. All dectors who know its merits endorse it in the strongest terms. Dr. A. E. Salter, one of the leading physicians of Buffalo, N. Y., writes to the S. C. Wells Co., of Le the common run to give a testimonial of this sort, but the value of your remedy is so evident that I, for once, have waived professional considerations, and send this, hoping it may be received in the same spirit in which it is written."

Shiloh's Consumption Cure has effective tonic and expectorant powers. You can hasten and help its curative action by proper living, justas you can defeat it by injudicious living. By proper living is meant proper dressing, proper food, sufficient sleep, and having a pure atmosphere constantly about you, and this includes plenty of sunlit air. Persons suffering from consumption need good milk, plenty of cream, entire or whole wheat bread, fresh eggs and good fresh meat. Shiloh's Cure is sold by all druggists under a positive guarantee to refund the purchase money in case of failure. 25c., 50c. and $1 a bottle throughout the United States and Canada. This season Mr. Reed will offer for public consideration a new farcical play, written for him by Sydney Rosenfeld, with a title that suggests fun: "His Father's Boy."

It is needless to say that Mr. Reed, plays the father, and one can well imagine the numerous laughable situations and complications he manages to get himself into during the course of the play. Mr. Reed has surrounded himself with an exceptionally strong company, which includes Miss Isadore Rush, who will be seen in a most pleasing character, and one which gives her splendid opportunities. In addition to Miss Rush, Mary Myers, who has grown to be a fixture with Mr. Reed's company, Aleathea Luce, Lottie Alter and Sheridan Tupper are valued mem-

ROSENTHAL A MUSICAL HERO. Not since the days of Rubenstein have we had such a musical hero as Rosenthal. The sale of seats for his only concert here is quite big, and there are a large number yet to be sold for Wednesday night. No doubt these will go with a rush, when it is known that they can be had. The following is a York criticism:

"After an absence of several years Rosenthal is again playing in New York, fuller in knowledge, finer in technical equipment, more wholly the artist. Audiences which filled every nook and cranny in Carnegie Music Hall give him welcome nightly; it is a welcome that sets the roof-tree When Paderewski played anaemic girls fainted in their orchestra chairs; when Rosenthal played strong men stood and cheered him. It is the difference between nerve-ganglia and brain. And Moriz Rosenthal is distinctly a player who appeals to men and to those women who love men. He is immensely virile. His playing, almost overwhelming in its diabolical cleverness, is still essentially the playing of a man who thinks and feels. Paderewski plays like a cat; Rosenthal plays like an uncannily intelligent giant. Moriz Rosenthal looks like the young Heine, blonde and well formed. His face is handsome in its racial way and is biparted by a thick, yellow curl. A great air of determination sits upon this sturdy little person. He carries his shoulders well back, as one who values his digestion. He looks the man. His art is embroidered with no physical mannerisms. He is absolutely without affectation. If he takes himself seriously, it is because an artist owes a certain measure of respect to himself. He is not as other men are. His re-entree was made the occasion of a very hearty demonstration. There was burning enthusiasm, if not enthusiasm to burn. And yet what a virtuoso the man is! There is no one today, probably there has never been one, who has his prodigious and prestidgious command of the piano. Criticwrists and hands are inhuman in their skill. But with this, one has said only his first words, and in piano playing it is the last word the Rosenthal has said. He is the ultima thule beyond which technique cannot go-as long as the piano remains what it is."

Sayer presided, and highly commended the army for the and affectionate mother. Being one noble work it was doing, and said that great praise was due to the officers in charge of it. Mrs. Reid dwelt for an hour on the work achieved in the department of which she is head-of saving fallen women and girls. She also touched on some of the fundamental principles upon which the rescue work was founded. Kindness and making the unfortunate feel at home were two of the strong principles. The rescue work, she said, was retreating in no way. During the last two years 1,300 girls and women and 600 little children were cared for in the Canadian homes. New branches of the rescue work were being conducted in some places in the Eastern Provinces, and even far-off Dawson City had been reached, a home being about completed there, for there was great need In the last eight years in this city 389 girls and women and 117 children had been assisted and cared for in the home. One hundred and seventyone of the former were secured situations, 68 restored to their friends, and only 14 of the whole number were un-satisfactory. Mrs. Reid gave many touching stories in connection with the Lobo, March 13.-It becomes our painful duty to chronicle the death of one of the early pioneers of Lobo in the person of Flora Graham, widow of the late Archibald Graham, at her residence for a time at Chateauguay, Quebec, then removed to this township in the year 1833, where she resided till her death. In the year 1834 she was married, and her family consisted of seven boys and four girls, nine of whom survive her to mourn the loss of a kind of the early pioneers she necessarily experienced many hardships and privations incident to settling a new country. She was ever a kind neighbor, a prudent mother and a thoughtful friend, and will be greatly missed in the community. She was a consistent member of the old school Baptist Church, being converted under the preaching of the late Elder Dugald Campbell, while laboring in the gospel among the early settlers of the township of Lobo. She was a person possessing Christianity in its true sense, and one having great zeal for the cause of Christ. Her illness, though of short duration, was painful, yet it was borne with Christian fortitude and resignation, and she freely expressed her willingness to depart this life of care, and sorrow to be forever with the Lord. Her funeral, conducted on the 11th of March, to Ivan Cemetery, was largely attended by friends and relatives, showing the high esteem in which the deceased was held. The services were held at her late residence by Elder McColl, of Strathroy, Hugh preached from the 14th chapter of St.

Permanent Cure of An Itching Eruption.

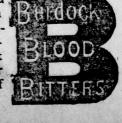

Burdock Blood bitters has long held the foremost position as a positive and permanent cure for rashes and eruptions of all descriptions.

It is wonderful the way it takes out the burning, smarting, itching and stinging when applied externally. It never fails to cure skin diseases-from the simplest to the severest. Eczema or Salt Rheum, Tetter, Psoriasis, Shingles, Scald Head, Ringworm, all yield to its beneficent action. The cure, too, is permanent, and the skin is left clear. soft and smooth as a babe's.

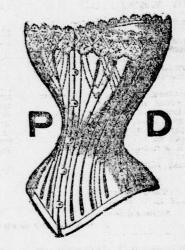

Miss Annie E. Rutter, Germania, Ont., writes as follows concerning her case:

"About a year ago I had an eruption on my face which was of a very itching and burning nature and greatly inclined to spread. I used two bottles of Burdock Blood Bitters, which cured me so completely and permanently that there has never been any sign of it returning."

Has, it seems, resulted in a sure cure for catarrh, a most offensive and insidious disease, until lately considered incurable. This remedy is called Catarrhozone, and is simply inhaled, being carried by the air directly to the diseased parts of the throat and nasal passages, thus superseding former disgusting and useless snuffs and oint-ments. Catarrh, bronchitis, irritable throat, etc., yield to Catarrhozone every time. Write for a free sample of Catarrhozone to N. C. POLSON & CO., Kingston, Ont.

UNITED STATES EXPANSION. The United States expansion policy was discussed in a capital address by Mr. H. B. Beal at the First Presbyterian Literary Society last night. The national and international advantages of such a new departure were fully dealt with, and the arguments chiefly used by those Americans who objected to the "forward" movement. On the whole the speaker thought that benefit would follow both to the world at large and particularly to the United States. He considered, however, that their success was uncertain, unless the "spoils" system in their civil service was abandoned. A service organized on the principles of appointment and promotion for merit alone, such as exists in the United Kingdom, and in the Indian civil service, could, he thought, overcome the difficulties of ruling the new dependent colonies. Rev. W. J. Clark and several other members took part in the discussion. A programme of readings and songs was as follows: Instrumental, "Rondo Capricioso," Miss Gibson; reading, "The Prayer," Mr. F. Screaton; song, "Happy Days," Miss McLeod; reading, "The Bishop and the Caterpillar," Miss Colquhoun; song, "Island of Dreams," Miss Jessie Howie; reading, "The Auld Kirk," Miss Munro. ARI

Proposal to Deepen and Straighten the Thames From the Forks to the Cove Bridge-City Hall Notes.

The break in the waterworks dam has led to a good deal of discussion about the best means of improving the condition of the river. One scheme which finds ardent supporters is to dredge the river from the forks to the cove bridge, and also at Woodland Cemetery. The sharp turns in the stream could in this way be rounded and the river deepen-The excavation would serve to build embankments. It is very import--At the police court this morning particularly just above the cove bridge, to admit of a free current at flood time and when the ice breaks up. The dredg-ing of the river would be an incalculable benefit to the city, it is argued. It would make boating on the river not only possible but pleasurable, and it would put West London beyond danger of being flooded. The scheme to build locks in the waterworks dam does not meet with general favor. They could not be worked in the time of a freshet, it is said, and would not lessen West London's danger, even if they were workable. Further, their cost would be such that it would be cheaper to abandon the hydraulic pumps at Springbank and use steam altogether than to build the locks, it is said. The dredging of the river to put it into proper shape could extend over three or four years, and would cost about $10,000. To repair the dam it would cost $4.000 or $5,000.

Call of Rev. Kenneth McLennan, of Tiverton, to Mosa Sustained.

The presbytery met in the lecture room of First Presbyterian Church, London, at 10 a.m. today. In the absence of the clerk, Dr. Sutherland, of Fingal, Mr. Courtenay, of Port Stanley, was appointed clerk pro tem. Rev. Norman Lindsay, Ivan, was appointed moderator for the ensuing six months. Mr. W. R. Ross presented a call from Mosa in favor of Rev. Kenneth Mc-Lennan, of Tiverton. The call was very unanimous, only the one name being mentioned. The call is signed by 130 members and 124 adherents. The stipend promised is $850, with use of manse and glebe. Messrs. McDougall. McAlpine and McNeil were heard in support of the call. The call was sustained and ordered to be forwarded to channel, Mr. Ross to act as representa-Preshytery of ive of the fore the Presbytery of Bruce. The assembly's remit in regard to statistical forms was taken up, and on motion adopted.

The assembly's remit in the matter of a uniform examination for students applying for license was also discuss-It was referred back to the presbytery's committee to report on at the afternooh session.

Mr. Henderson presented a remit from the synod in regard to meeting the expenses of members attending the synod, as follows:

1. The first recommendation was that a standing finance committee be appointed by the synod every year, and that the synod's treasurer act ex-officio as a member of such committee.

2. This committee shall make an estimate of the gross amount of traveling expenses of all the members of synod (both clerical and lay) to and from the place of meeting. This esti-mate should be made by the 1st of June in each year for the expenses of the synod meeting next following, and should include first-class railroad (or stage and railroad), return fare only.

3. From this estimate the committee shall strike an average rate per family and per communicant over the whole synod, and assess each presbytery for its proportion of the amount. Each presbytery shall be responsible for the collection of this from the congregations within its bounds, as well as the ordinary synod fund, and shall forward the whole to the synod's treasurer by the 31st of March.

4. This fund might be called the synod's mileage fund, and would be kept distinct from the ordinary synod's expense fund, and would be used strictly for traveling expenses of members only. Any balance left in any one year would, therefore, be taken into account in making the estimate of expenses the year following. If at any synod's meeting it was found that the committee's estimate had been too low, the finance committee would be authorized by synod to borrow sufficient to meet their current claims, and assess accordingly the year following. 5. Each member shall immediately on his arrival hand in to the finance committee, on a card provided for the purpose, a statement of the amount paid by him for single fare, first-class, coming to the synod, and the synod's treasurer shall, after the close of the synod, and under warrant of the convener of the finance committee, pay him the whole minimum amount of his passage both ways, as required by the railway companies in such cases. This payment shall be made to him, however, only in case the presbytery of which he is a member shall have previously forwarded to the synod treasurer their full proportion of the fund so

"Ch! I thought I told you. Dear me, what a lot of things one has to remember: Chicken broth, that's it! Ma must be kept up, you know; and she doesn't like codiiver oil, and she's tired of port wine and milk puddings, so Lin suggested chicken broth. She's read somewhere that it's good for invalids, and we want to try it; and cook has heard that there's some fine young fowls to be had at Sanson's farm; so I said I'd go and bargain for them, but nobody knows the way except

It's a lang walk, and I doubt whether the meadows are passable, for the waters have been out, or, in other words, the river has risen above its banks, and I fear there has not been time for the flood to subside."
"Cannot we try? I don't like mamma to be disappointed," said Flip, anxious-

"Of course we will try," was the cheerful response. "I will be ready in a quarter of an hour, and, if we cannot reach the farm, I will guide you to the cottage of an old man who will drive to Sanson's for you, and fetch the chickens."

The meadows were drier than Eden had anticipated, and the journey was safely accomplished. Flip proved herseif, as usual, an adept at bargaining, the fowls were procured, a promise given that they should be sent to The Beeches early in the morning, and then the girls started on their homeward The wide and lonely meadows lying between the river and the village looked somewhat dreary with the rays of the now sinking sun glittering across the pools of water that still lay in every hollow, but this did not discourage Flip and her friend from diverging from the path to visit a spot where the stream divided, and ran brawling around a pretty island, on which grew one stately and aged oak. To this spot Eden and her mother often brought their books and work on the tranquil summer evenings, for it was a pleasant walk from their cottage, and was shunned by the villagers who devoutedly believed that the island was haunted by the spirit of a young girl, who, in her grief at being deserted by her lover, had here thrown herself into the stream.

"What a jolly place for a picnic!" "We'll have one." cried Flip. 'At the end of February," queried

Eden.

"Well, of course, it can't be just yet; when the fine weather sets in, we'll bring ma, and baby, and a kettle, and invite some of the boys at Aldenby to join us. They can fish while we scramble about and enjoy ourselves." "I'm not sure whether there are any fish worth catching," said Eden, peering doubtfully at the dark waters that were whirling by at a great rate. "What signifies? Men always want an excuse for joining a gypsy party; anything or no. Can't we get on the island?" Yes; in the narrowest part of the stream a rude bridge had been built, and Eden led the way to it. At one time it had consisted of three or four planks, with a hand-rail, but the waters had carried all these away except one board, which looked so insecure that she hesitated to trust herself to it. However, Flip was so eager to explore the islet that, treading cautiously, one at a time, they made the passage of the ruined bridge; decided upon the best spot for building a fire when the picnic came off; and then, dilating on the pleasures they promised themselves, prepared to return to terra firma. Flip went first, and when she reached the middle of the plank paused, in her thoughtless glee, to sway it up and down. You see, it's firm enough, after all, Eden," she exclaimed. "Why, it would bear ma, and she is twice as heavy as

The words had searcely left her lips when there was a crack, a cry, and she was floundering in the stream, which was strong enough to have carried her away, if Eden had not contrived to grasp her floating hair, and assist her in her struggles to regain the island. When some of the wet had been wrung out of Flip's skirts, and she had congratulated herself on having escaped with a wetting, the two girls regarded each other rather ruefully. 'What are we going to do?" asked

"I'm sure I don't know. If the current were not very strong, and the waters unusually deep, we might wade across; as it is, we can only wait till help comes. "And when will that be?" Flip demanded, as she stepped about to warm her soaked feet. "Not, I fear, till six o'clock; then we must try and make the laborers hear us as they go home from work.' "That's an agreeable lookout, I must suggest something better? What lies the other side of yonder hedge? Not this low one nearest to us, but the tall one ever so far away?"

"The road to Aldenby; but there are so few people pass along it except on market days." "Still someone might come in sight,"

Flip persisted. "Possibly; but they would not notice us at this distance."

"I'd make them see me somehow or other. Look, Eden, are there not some horsemen now coming up the hill? Yes, am sure of it. There are two of them, and in a few minutes they will be in a direct line with us. We must contrive to attract their attention."

Flip had remarkably keen eyesight, and could discern the figures of the equestrians long before her companion distinguished them: but at last Eden exclaimed:

"Yes, I see them now., I could almost fancy'J---" She colored and paused so long that Flip finished the sentence for her.

That you recognize them? So you do. The nearest is little Vinson-I always know him by his stiff carriage of his head; and the other is-no, it isn't; yes, it is Frank Lyssendon. How are we to make them come to us?'

Tying her pocket handkerchief to the end of her umbrella, she waved it frantically again and again; but the horsemen gave no sign of having perceived her signals of distress, till Eden, recollecting something she had read respecting the distance sound is sometimes earried, took a deep inspiration, and then sent forth one long, clear note, that vibrated on the still air, and was echoed by a distant hill.

"They heard that!" asked Flip, joyfully. "They have stopped. They are standing up in their stirrups to look over the hedge. They see my flag. I'm sure they do-they must! No-no, that little wretch of a Vinson is riding on. I should like to stick pins into him! And if Frank follows his example-Call again, Eden-quick, before it is too late!

Eden obeyed, and they saw the young man leap his steed over a gap, and ride very leisurely towards the female figures by the river, pausing now and hen to reconnoiter. But presently he appeared to recognize Flip, who had never ceased to wave her handkerchief. and beckon to him; and spurring his horse over the sward, he soon reached the opposite bank of the stream, his eyes sparkling as Eden smiled shyly in reply to his salutation.

"In the name of all that's wonderfui, how came you there?" he exclaimed as he sat looking at the young girls. "If you flew over, who has clipped your wings, and made you captives on that enchanted island?"

"Don't talk bosh," said Flip, who was cold and cross, "but tell me how I'm to get across the river. There was a bridge, and it broke, and I fell in, and Eden dragged me out. Now you know all about it."

"Then you really are helpless, hopeless prisoners to that little spot of earth?"

"Of course, we are," snapped Flip. 'Why do you ask such a stupid question?

"Nay; I did not know but that there might be a boat or a punt somewhere near. What an adventure! Almost as exciting as a shipwreck. Which is Miss Robinson Crusoe and which the fair

"It's horribly provoking of you to sit there laughing at one's misfortunes!" and if they bring their fishing-rods it Flip retorted, displaying her drenched will give them one. It wouldn't be of much consequence whether they caught miserable as I am! Why don't you come and help us?"

So I will, with all the pleasure in life. I thought such sworn friends as you and I were privileged to laugh at each other; and, 'pon my word, I'm very sorry for what has befallen you. will have this scene painted by Millais," he added, as he guided his horse down the shelving bank and into the "What shall we call it? He nodded and, as the beautiful animal he bestrode entered the water unhesitatingly, in a very short space of time he was shaking hands with Eden, and feeling all his belief in Mrs. Merstham's tales vanish as he perused the lineaments of the fair young face that at his coming had brightened into such vivid yet soft coloring.

Toronto, March 14 .- Hon. George W. Ross led the house yesterday in the absence of the attorney-general, who, although improved in health, did not think it wise to undertake the task. A number of bills of a public and private character were advanced a stage, but many of the members were either absent or unprepared to go on with the bills. Before the house closed Mr. Whitney expressed his regret at the slow progress made, and acquitted the government of any responsibility in the matter. Col. Leys introduced an act respecting municipal and school elections. It provides that every person proposed an office, the holder of which is required to have a property qualification, shall on the day of the nomination or on the following day, or, when such lastnamed day is a holiday, then on the succeeding day, file in the office of the clerk of the municipality not later than 5 o'clock in the afternoon a statutory declaration that he possesses the necessary qualification, and in default of so doing such person shall be deemed to have retired, and his name shall be removed from the list of candidates, and shall not be printed on the bailot

The $5,000 fee is now to apply to breweries, where the amount invested exceeds $150,000, but is not more than $400,000, and a maximum fee of $6,500 is to be imposed when the investment exceeds $400,000 in amount.

A VALIANT SOLDIER. Dr. Munhall's address last night, in Dundas Center Church, was plentifully illustrated by military experiences and incidents. FIELD'S MINSTRELS.

Al G. Field's minstrels appeared at the Grand last night. They drew a crowded house, and made the same big hit as on previous appearances here. It was an evening of laughter, and the large audience were kept in thoroughly good humor for two hours and a half. Strictly speaking, it was more of a variety than a minstrel show, but most of the turns were remarkably good. The opening part, "The Gathering of the Nations," was a scene of splendor, and the singing was really far above the average. The soloists were all heartily encored. Everhardt, the wonder-worker, was a whole show in him-self. Arthur Rigby's monologue was original and amusing, while the bellringing of Lelliott, Busch and Lelliott took with the audience. The acrobatic feats of the Faust family were certainly clever. An absurdity entitled "In Cuba" was not appreciated, because there was no wit in it. The company carries some clever dancers.

EARLY CLOSING

Grocers' and Clerks' Associations Will Take Active Steps to Bring About This Reform.

At a meeting of the Retail Grocers' Association, held last night, it was decided to again test the early closing movement. The merchants and clerks have joined hands, and will try and gain the end in view. They will have to be assisted by the public, for without that aid the move will certainly not remedy matters. The Retail Clerks' Association sent a deputation last night to confer with the Grocers' Association. Mr. W. Corcoran spoke for the clerks, and laid of Chicago, have been brought to this the present status of the early closing

Mr. Wm. Gibson Presented With an Address and Gold Watch at the Empress Avenue Church Sunday School Anniversary Concert - An Excellent Programme.

The Sunday school concert in connection with the Empress Avenue Methodist Church, was fairly well attended last evening. The talent consisted of well-known people, and all rendered their parts most acceptably, and received hearty applause. The Y. M. C. A. Mr. Gibson was taken by surprise, but replied feelingly and in a humorous vein. He said that after being among them and working with them for 25 years they had decided to "watch" him. Following was the address, read by Mrs. James Elson: "Mr. Gibson.-Dear Sir,-We have asked you to come back to the platform tonight, not only to thank you for the beautiful solo you have just rendered, but also to thank you heartily for the many years you have given us in the service of song.' Owing to your goodness of heart we know these years have been a pleasure to yourself as well as to us, and we believe your popularity in this, your own church, is due, not only to the great pleasure it gives us

For Three Years. Nights Itohing and Burning Terrible. Wife Suggests CUTICURA. Uses it.

Presto! What a Change.

Feels Like Kicking Doctors for Three Years' Suffering.

The itching and burning I suffered in my feet and limbs for three years were terrible. At night they were worse, and would keep me awake a greater part of the night. I consulted doctor after doctor, as I was travelling on the road most of my time, also one of our city doctors. None of the doctors knew what the trouble was. I got a lot of the different samples of the medicines I had been using. I found them of so many different kinds, that I concluded I would have to go to a Cincinnati hospital before I would get relief. I had frequently been urged to try Cuticura Remedies, but I had no faith in them. My wife finally prevailed upon me to try them. Presto! What a change. I am now cured, and it is a permanent cure. I feel like kicking some doctor or myself for suffering three years when I could have used Cuticura remedies. Sept. 11, 1898. H. JENKINS, Middleboro, Ky.
