DOMINION GOVERNMENT WILL SPEND $220,000 TO $250,000 ON PORT STANLEY HARBOR

Tenders Are Being Called For a New Breakwater Which Will Be 1,200 Feet Long, and Will Give Ample Protection to Vessels.

HARBOR ENTRANCE OF 1,200 FT. PROMISED

The Improvements Are of Vital Interest to London as Well as to St. Thomas and the Entire District—Breakwater To Be Completed in 1913.

Tenders are now being called by the Dominion Government for improvements to the Port Stanley harbor that will cost between $220,000 and $250,000 and which when completed will make the harbor one of the largest and finest on the Great Lakes.

All bids must be in by Sept. 13th next. The successful contractors will it is understood, commence getting their materials ready as soon as possible so that they may be ready to start on actual construction work in the early spring.

The improvements will be completed in 1913.

This work is of vital importance to London, St. Thomas, and the residents of the whole western district. It was at their suggestion that the Government decided to undertake the improvements, and now that the matter is under way it is the intention to construct a harbor of refuge on the north shore of Lake Erie that will be second to none on the lake.

The Work.

A very substantial breakwater, extending in a southeasterly direction for a distance of 1,200 feet, will be built south of the present breakwater.

It is the intention to do away with the east pier, and instead of an entrance channel about 80 feet wide for vessels, such as there is at present, there will be a harbor about 1,200 feet wide, and with a depth of 22 feet.

Already this summer the Government dredges have been at work and deepened the harbor until there is now 20 feet of water for the boats between the piers, and in inner harbor, and 23 feet outside the entrance.

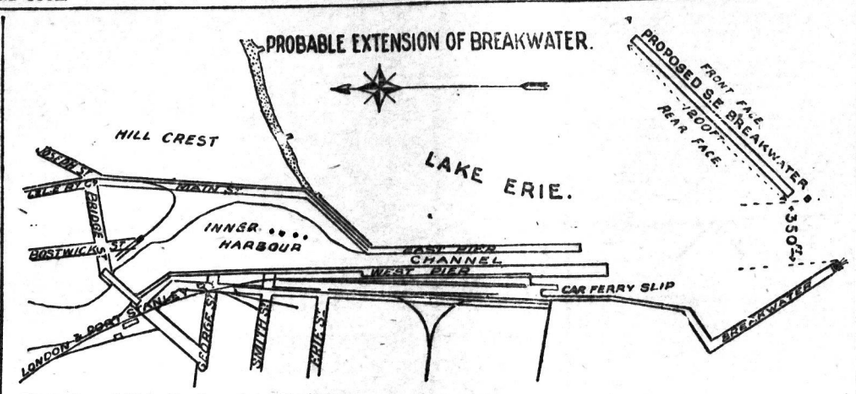

When the improvements are completed there will be the very finest facilities for the railways, both steam and electric, to get right down to the shipping.

This is a most important feature from a business standpoint, and has been given particular attention, and a number of berths will be constructed so that the boats can come right up to the railways and load and unload quickly.

A Solid Job.

The new crib work, which will protect the harbor, will be most solid, and thoroughly capable of withstanding all storms, and of making the inner harbor calm no matter what sort of weather may prevail outside. The substructure will be of timber crib work with stone ballast. The superstructure will reach from twelve inches below the low water level to eight feet above the same level, and will be of mass concrete. The cribs go down to 25 feet below the low water level.

"When this work is completed," said Major Lamb to The Advertiser, "Port Stanley will be an excellent harbor of refuge, and will be one of the finest harbors on Lake Erie."

By courtesy of Major Lamb, engineer in charge.

THE IMPROVEMENTS TO POR T STANLEY HARBOR.

In the above cut is shown the proposed new breakwater to be erected by the Dominion Government at Port Stanley, and which will cost between $220,000 and $250,000. When the work is completed the harbor will be one of the best on the lakes.

WELSH RIOTERS STILL WRECKING

English and Jewish Stores at Glamorgan Looted.

HEBREWS TAKING FLIGHT

Two Days' Railway Strike Cost the Companies Half-Million Pounds.

[Canadian Press.]

Newport, England, Aug. 24.—Rioting occurred last night at Bargoed, on the Glamorgan border. A dozen English and Jewish shops were wrecked and looted. The troops were called to the assistance of the police and dispersed the wreckers.

No further rioting has occurred in the Monmouthshire Valley towns, but the threatening attitude of the mobs at Tredegar and Rhymney necessitates the constant presence there of soldiers.

In an interview today Rabbi Lelbowitz, of Ebbw Vale said:

"I cannot explain the attacks upon the Jews. I know no reason why these attacks should be made. Some of the Jewish shopkeepers have lived here for fifteen or twenty years and are much respected. It is some consolation to feel that the attacks are not shared in by the community in general, but merely led by the hooligan section."

It is reported that Jewish families in other parts of South Wales are taking flight in fear of the extension of the outrages.

Not Race Prejudice.

London, Aug. 24.—Sir Philip Magnus, speaking of the anti-Jewish riots in Wales, said that he did not believe the outrages were inspired by either religious or racial prejudice, but were rather the outcome of the general spirit of unrest and discontent which is moving through all the civilized nations. In his opinion the Jews suffered in this case, not because they were Jews, but because they happened to be property-owners and prosperous.

A Costly Strike.

London, Aug. 24.—British railways lost considerably more than £500,000 as a result of the two days' strike last week. The traffic returns published last night show an aggregate decrease of £465,000, while under normal conditions an increase of £60,000 might have been looked for.

On the London and Northwestern the falling off was £11,000, on the Great Western £91,000, on the Midland Line £54,000, and on the Lancashire and Yorkshire and Northeastern about £50,000 in each case.

Of course some of the traffic, on the big lines especially, is merely delayed, and there ought to be unusually good returns for the next week or two, but much of the revenue is irretrievably lost.

PICKPOCKETS WORKED THE CITY REAPED ANOTHER RICH HARVEST

Tidy Sums Lost by Several People—City Employee Robbed of $32—The Police Have No Clues.

That pickpockets had a busy and rather successful day in and around London yesterday on the occasion of the grocers' picnic is indicated by the various reports that are being made.

Mr. James Stuart, of Port Huron, was the first to report to the police last night that his purse containing $31 had been abstracted from his pocket.

A little later, at the Grand Trunk station, a commercial traveller from Montreal, named W. Marshall, reported to the depot officials that a wallet containing transportation from Montreal to Windsor, had been taken from him.

Mr. Marshall stated that his wallet contained no money.

A city employee yesterday afternoon lost $32 that he was carrying in his pocket, and thinks that pickpockets took it.

The police have no clues.

FIFTEEN-FOOT FALL DOWN STAIRS RESULTS IN NEWS AGENT'S DEATH

Mr. Charles Norman Succumbed to Injuries Received in the Tecumseh House Last Night—Well-Known to Ball Fans Through Selling Score Cards at Grounds.

Charles Norman, a well-known newsagent in the city, fell fifteen feet down the stairs leading to the lavatory at the Tecumseh House last night, shortly before 10 o'clock, receiving injuries that resulted in his death at Victoria Hospital at 3 o'clock this morning. Coroner Maclaren took charge of the remains, but decided that an inquest was unnecessary.

Mr. Norman had been about the hotel and was noticed going into the hallway, and in a moment a crash was heard. Several of the employees of the place rushed to the stairway and found him lying at the bottom, with blood spurting from his nose and ears. He had fallen apparently clear from the top, and had crashed through a plate glass door at the bottom.

Dr. Geo. H. Wilson was summoned, and at once ordered the man to Victoria Hospital.

Skull Fractured.

It was found that he had sustained a very bad fracture of the skull. There was one cut across the front of the skull and another at the back, and he was suffering from a very severe concussion of the brain.

Mr. Norman never regained consciousness, but gradually sank until death came at 3 o'clock. He was about 55 years of age, and for nearly forty years had been a news-agent on the Grand Trunk Railway system.

Of late he had been a familiar figure at Tecumseh Park, where he had been selling score cards.

No One Saw Accident.

"No person saw the man fall, so far as I can learn," said Mr. Geo. H. O'Neil, the proprietor of the hotel. "I have questioned my employees, and they tell me that he was not intoxicated. He must have stumbled on the top step and fallen all the way down."

Family of Five.

Mr. Norman leaves two sons and three daughters, Charles T., who resides on Grey street; Albert, who works at Southam's; Mrs. E. Palmby, of 382 Hamilton road; Mrs. G. McBroom, of Toledo, and Mrs. H. Westhead, of Grey street. His wife died eighteen years ago.

The deceased was 54 years of age. In his younger days he was a well-known ball player, and his brother, the late Mr. H. Norman, had considerable reputation as a pitcher.

The funeral will be held on Saturday afternoon to Mount Pleasant Cemetery.

BIG THOUSAND ISLES HOTEL FALLS A PREY TO FLAMES

Half-Clad Guests of the Frontenac at Clayton Rush From the Burning Building Just in Time.

[Canadian Press.]

Clayton, N. Y., Aug. 24.—The Hotel Frontenac, the largest in the Thousand Islands, was laid waste by fire last night. It is owned by Charles Goodwin Emery, the wealthy New York tobacco man. The structure was built about twelve years ago at a cost of $350,000. It is situated one mile from Clayton, and is the most fashionable hotel in the islands. The hotel, soon after the discovery of the fire, was alive with half-clad guests—hysterical women and men in bathrobes.

The river was alive with craft of all descriptions from all parts of the islands as soon as it was learned that the hotel was in flames. Many of the boats, putting off in haste and running without lights, crashed into one another, but no fatalities were reported.

Several of the guests, it is said, were restrained by force from leaping from upper windows, and were whisked down the stairs in safety. Guests who fled half clad from the burning hotel wrapped themselves in coats and bathrobes and went to other parts of the islands.

The main section of the hotel was destroyed. The loss is heavy.

LOOKS LIKE SOLID LIBERAL IN THE MARITIME PROVINCES

Reciprocity Has Galvanized People Into Fresh Hope and Life —Conservatives at Best Can Win But Few Seats.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Ottawa, Aug. 24.—A competent observer of political conditions who has just been through the three Maritime Provinces, has forwarded to Ottawa the following opinion of the chances of the two political parties in the east: "There seems to be a greater interest taken in this election throughout the provinces than in any election since confederation. It is simply marvellous how reciprocity has galvanized the people into hope and life. I do not think that Nova Scotia will return a single Conservative. I have spoken to men who were Tory voters, but who plainly tell me that while they are still Tory, they will vote for reciprocity, and will increase their business at once. It is the same everywhere. The Americans are erecting large fish-curing plants at various points, and everybody is full of hope. A Montreal financier is to run against Fielding here, but the finance minister will have 300 to 400 majority. In new Brunswick it is the same. I give the Tories one seat only in that province. From what I can gather there will be no more than three maritime seats out of the whole thirty-five. To understand the feeling and the enthusiasm one must be on the spot."

MAJOR BEATTIE IS CHALLENGED TO DEBATE BY MR. J. M. M'EVOY

But the Conservative Candidate Refuses to Accept—Liberal Nominee Anxious to Discuss Issues With Opponent From the Same Platform.

Mr. J. M. McEvoy, the Liberal standard-bearer in London, has addressed a challenge to Major Beattie, the Conservative candidate, to hold a series of joint debates on the issues of the campaign.

Some criticism has been made of Mr. McEvoy by the Conservative press regarding his knowledge of economic questions, and he has decided that the Conservative candidate here shall have the opportunity of discussing the issues on the same platform with himself.

"I am particularly anxious that Major Beattie and myself shall hold a series of meetings to jointly discuss the issues of the campaign," said Mr. McEvoy. "I think such a debate would be in the best interests of the public, and I should like Major Beattie to accept my offer. I am willing at any time to meet him, and make the arrangements for the series."

Major Beattie has refused to accept the challenge.

"I never did approve of joint meetings," said the major to The Advertiser. "I do not intend to hold any during this campaign. I do not think they are at all necessary."

FARM LABORER HELD ON A SERIOUS CHARGE

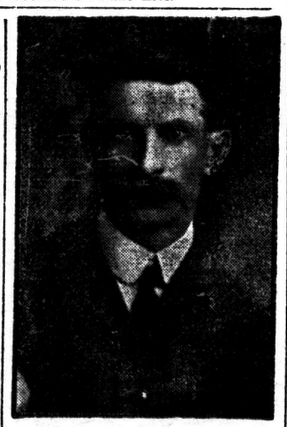

David Wilson, of Grand Bend, Is Accused by a Fifteen-Year-Old Girl.

David Wilson, a farm laborer, of Grand Bend, was arrested this week on a charge of indecent assault preferred by Miss Anna Smith, a 15-year-old girl, living at the Bend. He will come up for trial before Police Magistrate Geo. Petty, of Hensall, probably on Friday.

Wilson met the girl in Grand Bend, it is alleged, and asked her to go for a drive. She consented, and he then took her to a stable about half a mile outside the village, where the horse was supposed to be. There, it is claimed, he attacked the girl. She put up a plucky fight, and for some minutes they wrestled in the building. The young woman was nearly overcome, when a man who happened to pass the stable heard the struggle and investigated. He seized Wilson and held him, and Constable Oliver was immediately summoned, and the man arrested. Constable Whitesides, of Hensall, took him in charge, and preferred a very serious charge against him.

The first charge against the prisoner was withdrawn, and later another that of indecent assault, was preferred. He will be tried on the latter charge, probably on Friday next.

Wilson is 24 years of age, and well known about the village of Grand Bend. He has sailed considerably, having acted as cook on several boats. Of late he has been employed as a farm laborer in the neighborhood of Grand Bend.

TUG AT THE PORT GOES TO THE BOTTOM

Hook Broke When Craft Was Being Placed on the Ways.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Port Stanley, Aug. 24.—The fishing tug Scotia was sunk in the harbor today while being lifted into the ways for repairing purposes. The breaking of a hook caused the craft to careen with the consequence that she filled rapidly, going to the bottom. There were no casualties and it is expected that the damage will be slight. The boat can be raised without much trouble. The accident prevented the usual highdiving exhibition of the horses, as the tug lies just beneath the platform from which the animals leap.

SECOND CHARGE FOR ALLEGED PICKPOCKET

[Special to The Advertiser.]

THE VOTERS' LISTS NEARLY ALL READY

Preparations for the Dominion Elections Are Well Advanced

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Ottawa, Aug. 24.—Preparations for the election are well advanced. The voters' lists are largely printed, and the copy for all of them is at the government printing bureau. The last of the lists will be out next week with the exception of the Brandon and Winnipeg lists, and the six constituencies of New Ontario, where the lists have to be prepared by revising judges. There will be no definite election in Kootenay. Instead of having the polling late, the returning officer is putting the nominations ten days ahead of the regular date, fixing them for Sept. 4. No decision has yet been made as to dates in Gaspe, Chicoutimi, Prince Albert, Comox, Atlin or Yale-Cariboo.

COUNCIL TO NAME SEVERAL DELEGATES

A Deputation to Attend a Meeting in Toronto.

There will be a special meeting of the city council this afternoon to name delegates for the convention of Ontario Municipalities to be held in Toronto Labor Day and the following days.

This matter was overlooked some time ago. It is expected that three or four delegates will be named. The aldermen have not yet decided who will go.

It was the intention to bring up the bylaws providing for the paving of Waterloo, Colborne and Maitland streets, but the impossibility of securing the necessary two-thirds vote of the members will mean that this matter will have to lay over until the September meeting of the council.

There is little excitement in municipal circles these days, the aldermen having practically nothing to do.

POLICE WILL PROSECUTE RAILWAY TRESPASSERS

Penalty for Offenders Will Be $10 and Costs.

As a result of a letter received today from the attorney-general's department, the police will rigidly enforce the law against all persons found trespassing on the property of railways.

The letter is as follows:

"Attention has been called to the numerous accidents caused by persons trespassing on the railway tracks. During the year ending March 31, 1911, 140 persons were killed and 69 injured while so trespassing. The Dominion railway act, R. S. O., chapter 37, section 403, provides that 'every person not connected with the railway or employed by the company who walks along the track thereof, except where the same is laid on or across a highway, is liable on summary conviction to a penalty not exceeding $10,' and a like provision is made by the Ontario railway act, 6, Edward VII., cap. 30, section 240. It is important that the law should be strictly enforced in all proper cases, the matter being of importance not merely as it affects the railway companies, but from the public point of view as well. Yours truly,

"EDWARD BAYLY,
"Acting Attorney-General."

WRIT FOR DAMAGES AGAINST THE C. P. R.

Mrs. Cameron McIntyre Seeks Compensation for the Death of Her Husband.

A writ for unstated damages has been issued by Mr. J. M. McEvoy, on behalf of Mrs. Cameron McIntyre and family, of Lobo, for the death of Mr. McIntyre, who was killed at the C. P. R. crossing on the third concession of Lobo last spring. The case will come up at the autumn assizes.

Mr. McIntyre was driving across the track when he was run down and killed. The plaintiffs allege in their claim that the company was negligent.

AGED AND FRIENDLESS.

Ottawa, Aug. 24.—Robert Ray, an aged man, who through infirmity was found in a helpless condition in the street, and was taken in charge by the police, died in a local hospital today. The cause is given as pneumonia, but there will be an investigation.

The man spent a night in jail, and upon examination by the jail authorities was later removed to a hospital. He was badly cut about the head. The police say they could not locate any friends to take care of him.

EVIDENCE HEARD IN LIQUOR CASE

Witnesses Did Not Appear to Satisfy the Prosecution Today.

KERWOOD MAN IN COURT

Is Charged With Having Liquor on His Premises in a Local Option Town.

The prosecution of Samuel P. Morgan, the eKrwood man whose residence was raided by License Inspector Galpin, of this city, a couple of weeks ago, when a large quantity of liquor was seized, was commenced in the council chamber at the county buildings before Magistrate E. B. Smith, of Ailsa Craig, this morning.

Four witnesses were examined before the adjournment for luncheon, what both the crown attorney and the magistrate termed as "hedging" by two of thew itnesses, delaying the proceedings materially.

Inspector's Evidence.

Mr. Galpin was first called, and told what he and the county constables, who assisted him, found on the Morgan premises. There were about 1,000 empty bottles, over eight cases of lager beer, four or five bottles of gin, one partly filled, and a quantity of whiskey. Samples of the goods were produced.

George Paterson, a farmer who resides about three miles and a half from Kerwood, was then called and testified that he got two cases from Morgan in July, paying $1 25, and 25 cents additional for delivery to his own home. He told a straightforward story and was held up as an example to the two succeeding witnesses by Mr. McKillop.

Contradictory Evidence.

George Kallem, another farmer who resides near Paterson's, next appeared, and before he terminated his story, was told his evidence, which was very contradictory, could not be believed by any person.

"You persist in offering what you think is best for Mr. Morgan, and by so doing you are damaging your own evidence and making it a great deal worse for your friend," said Mr. McKillop.

Despite the fact that he was warned by the prosecuting attorney and the magistrate to tellonly what he actually knew, Kellem continued to bring out points concerning orders" for beer, and before the conclusion of his testimony, became entangled in his own story and was forced to contradict statements which he made most emphatically a moment before.

Memory Rather Poor.

He stated that he had not seen Morgan for several weeks past, after obtaining the beer, but when questioned directly he said that he had met the defendant and Robert Paterson at the latter's farm on Sunday last. Although the three were together for some ten or fifteen minutes he could not remember one word spoken by

TO RAISE STANDARD FOR VETERINARIES

A Four-Year Course To Be Required After 1914.

[Canadian Press.]

Toronto, Aug. 24—By a unanimous vote, the members of the Association of Veterinary Faculties and Examining Boards of North America as their eighteenth annual meeting this morning, decided to raise the educational standard of all North American veterinaries. They will also endeavor to have all anatomical names made uniform by all the different colleges.

The educational resolution was introduced by Dr. George H. Glover, of the Colorado State College, Fort Collins, and was seconded by Dr. B. F. Kaupp, of the same college. Dr. Higgins, of Ottawa, Ont., and Dr. H. Jensen, of Kansas City, supported it.

The resolution passed was to the effect that most college standards only require a three-year course, and after the session of 1913 and 1914 they will be required to have a four-year course. A better educational standard is also demanded of students before their applications will be accepted. After the session of 1914 and 1915, they must have at least one year in a Canadian high school, graduate from the tenth form in an American school, or have its equivalent in mental training.

The association is also working for a uniform degree. At present there are at least eight different degrees given by the colleges of North America. A resolution was adopted advocating a uniform degree, and D.V.M., "Doctor of Veterinary Medicine," was recommended to be the best for uniformity purposes.

BAKERS FINED

Magistrate Judd Gives His Ruling in Local Prosecutions.

Magistrate Judd handed out an important judgment today when in fining Messrs. Joseph Johnston and Edwin Leavens, two local bakers, for breaking the bread bylaw, he discussed the question of the constitutionality of the act which the bakers were considering testing.

He cited the case of Keenan vs. McLennan, which occurred in Nova Scotia some time ago, and in which the decision was given that the Government has a perfect right to legislate and make regulations in regard to matters that affect the lives, health and morals of the people. The Government, the magistrate pointed out, has the right to set a standard to say what weights shall be legal. The bread statute, he said, was simply a standard set by the Provincial Government, which had a perfect right to set such a standard and say what weight loaves shall be. As a result of the magistrate's ruling, it is understood that all likelihood of any action to test the constitutionality of the act is at an end. Mr. Johnston paid his fine of $5 after pleading guilty to having offered for sale, as small bread, loaves exceeding twelve ounces in weight, and Mr. Leavens also paid $5 for having offered for sale loaves less than 24 ounces in weight.

BORDEN DODGES THE REAL ISSUE

At Toronto Meeting Leaves Economical Side of Pact Alone.

USES SAME OLD BOGY

Declares Reciprocity Means Political Absorption by the United States.

Toronto, Aug. 24.—Tory enthusiasm bubbled over last night. Aroused to wild outbursts by appeals which, if short on logic, were not lacking in effectiveness, four thousand Conservatives cheered themselves hoarse at the great rally held in Massey Hall to hear Mr. R. L. Borden. The immense auditorium was crowded by an audience that sat ready to break into cheers at any time, and the Conservative leader was greeted by a demonstration that continued for several minutes.

Mr. Borden was supported upon the platform by Sir James Whitney, Hon. A. J. Matheson, Hon. Frank Cochrane, all the local Conservative candidates, and scores of men prominent in the party. Mayor Geary presided. The party leader was preceded by several speakers whose successive appeals to sentiment brought the audience to a mood properly responsive to a message and an argument based upon the "higher national considerations" rather than mere economic ones.

Dodges the Issue.

Mr. Borden in his recent tour of Western Ontario made some attempt to justify his opposition to the trade agreement by discussing the pact upon its merits. He had to, for the farmers who went to hear him wanted cold facts. Last night, however, he left the economical aspect of the issue severely alone and stirred his hearers by predicting commercial and political absorption into the United States should reciprocity go into effect. Ridiculed by sober-thinking men on both sides of the border as it has been, the annexation cry is apparently believed in by some, and Mr. Borden made the most of it. So did his lieutenants, and, although eight speakers addressed the audience, only two—Mr. T. W. White, one of the "noble eighteen," and, to a lesser extent, Hon. George E. Foster—attempted to discuss reciprocity as a business question.

The Conservative leader has given Hon. George E. Foster a certificate of character—written by someone else. At the close of his address he took up the request by the Globe of yesterday for a statement respecting his attitude toward the candidature of the ex-finance minister. From the start he resorted to ridicule, declaring that there were no "serfs" in the Conservative party, and that no one had a right to dictate to the men who had nominated Mr. Foster. He thought the Globe should send one of its editorial men to oppose the ex-minister.

Mr. Borden made no comment upon the party's verdict stamping the serious charges made against Mr. Foster by the editor of The Globe as justified. He did not state his own faith in that gentleman. But he had the word of a deputy minister who had served under Mr. Foster while he was a minister of the crown, to the effect that Mr. Foster had shown a "scrupulous regard for duty, a scrupulous regard for public interests in his department, and that no man had a keener or more delicate sense of honor in connection with public matters."

He let it go at that, and Mr. Foster was in turn content, for when his turn came to address the meeting he made no reference to The Globe's article.

Mr. White emphasized the importance of the British market, and drew in contrast a somewhat gloomy picture of trade depression in the United States, and warned his hearers that only Canada's fiscal independence of the country to the south had prevented similar depression here. He declared that Canadian farmers would be placed at a disadvantage by free entry, to their home market, and expressed his sympathy with legislation framed to prevent the export of raw materials, such as pulpwood.

Mr. White backed up his argument that closer trade relations with the United States would make the Dominion susceptible to trade depression across the line by quoting from an editorial article in The Globe while the last reciprocity treaty was in force, in which it was declared that the trade of Canada was so linked up with that of the United States there could not be a calamity in one country without affecting the prosperity of the other.

This, he said, was like a voice from the dead warning the people against the agreement.

When Mayor Geary rose to introduce Hon. Mr. oFster a number of people, headed for the exits, but the ex-minister of finance was given a warm welcome.

Mr. Foster began his attack on the trade agreement by expressing the conviction that Uncle Sam had allowed himself to be a victim of misplaced confidence and had put himself in a position to receive a rebuff by the rejection of the agreement. He added his tribute to the "immortal eighteen," as he called them, and professed to have found evidence that hundreds and thousands were going to follow in their footsteps.

Mr. Foster spoke of the importance of the home and British markets. The home market took 80 per cent of the whole and the British market 20 per cent of the remainder. He endeavored to make an argument against the agreement by pointing out that the United States took less than four per cent of the Dominion's output.

FELL BETWEEN CARS

Grand Trunk Man Run Over and Injured at Toronto.

[Canadian Press.]

Toronto, Aug. 24.—About 5 o'clock this morning, Samuel Curtis, a Grand Trunk Railway brakeman, was run over at the Pape avenue crossing and so badly injured that he died about 9 o'clock at the General Hospital. He fell between the cars of the train he was working on, and the wheels of the following cars ran over his body, mangling him badly. He was married and leaves a widow and two children.

ELEVATOR BURNED.

Buffalo, Aug. 24.—For two hours last night practically the entire fire department fought what threatened to be a serious fire among the elevators on the waterfront. The fire started in the Wilkinson elevator at the foot of Washington street. Of old-style construction, the timbered interior offered ready prey to the flames and sent up clouds of sparks which started several smaller fires. The Wilkinson, however, was the only building destroyed. Its original cost was about $150,000.

GROCERS' SPORTS AT SPRINGBANK

Big Programme Afforded Large Crowd Plenty of Fun.

A CARNIVAL AT NIGHT

Masqueraders Paraded Streets With a Band—Names of the Prize-Winners at Springbank.

The Retail Grocers' Association yesterday entertained a large delegation from Port Huron, and the executive of the Toronto Retail Grocers' Association at Springbank Park. Fully three thousand people were at the park.

Mayor Bell, of Port Huron, and the Port Huron executive went down early and were busy all afternoon in assisting the local committee in running off the sports. The Toronto delegation composed of Messrs. W. C. Miller, R. Davies, R. Matthews and D. W. Clark, acted as judges, and helped the local committee in every possible way.

Plenty of Fun.

There was plenty of fun for all. There were funny races, some of them extremely funny, and other features worth mentioning. The burlesque duel between Uncle Sam and Johnny Bull was a laughable feature, and kept the crowds in roars of laughter. The game of rounders was funny, some of the girls (?) having particularly good make ups.

The baseball game between the Port Huron and London grocers was a splendid feature. The visitors had the better of the play, their hitting being particularly timely. Harry Ranahan started to twirl for the local grocers, but "Big Six" was not ready for a long game, and retired in favor of Tom Janes. There were many near plays in the game, a double play by Ecclestone being good. Pirie caught well for the locals and hit hard. Parker and Kanlen formed a fine battery for Port Huron, and to them most of the credit (as the victory belongs.

Port Huron Won.

The score was 7 to 5. The Port Huron team was composed of Messrs. Kanlen, Parker, Silver, Schubert, M. Smith, Churchill, W. Smith, Colfver and Schuck. The local team was made up of the following: Jack May, Pirie, Ecclestone, Young, Langford, Ranahan, Paul, Janes and McKenzie.

The score by innings—

Port Huron ..... 0 4 2 1 *—7
London ..... 1 0 1 1 2—5

Batteries—Parker and Kansen, Ranahan, Janes and Pirie.

In the evening there was a carnival, and the visitors had a night of fun.

The music was furnished by the London City band. The floats of which were made up in the most grotesque costumes. There were a large number masked.

Prize-Winners.

Prizes were awarded for fancy costumes, George Wright, as the Golden Girl, being awarded one prize for the best-dressed in the parade, and Ernie Shaw, as a Parisian belle, being given the other. For funny costumes, Bert McNamara, as the dairyman, was awarded first prize, and Norman Jackson, of St. Thomas, was given second prize. He was dressed as a bob.

The fun continued until about 11 o'clock, when the crowds dispersed.

The Sports.

The results of the sports were as follows:

Boys under 10—P. McGann, D. Wanless, J. George.

Girls under 10—Dorothy Williams, Beulah Taylor, Doris Rowntree.

Boys under 15—Al Brill, Al Dunn, W. Lightfoot.

ALL SHARE GUILT IN NEGRO'S DEATH

Every Member of the Lynching Mob May Face Murder Trial, Says Judge.

Coatesville, Pa., Aug. 23.—Under a ruling of Judge Butler in Westchester today, "that anyone who was in the mob and knew for what purpose the mob was gathered is guilty of murder," another arrest was made this afternoon in the case of Zack Walker, the negro who was lynched here ten days ago. The prisoner, Clyde Woodward, 21 years old, who is charged with murder, was taken to the county jail at Westchester.

The ruling created a sensation. It was made in the case of George Stahl, 16 years old, whose parents sought his release on a writ of habeas corpus. In refusing the application the judge said: "One is responsible for his actions if he associates himself with a mob, even if he gives no physical assistance, but merely sanctions violence. Then he is just as guilty of murder under the law as though he helped to commit murder. Stahl sympathized with a turbulent mob. He cannot complain now of the justice that he receives."

It is said that a number of persons who are known to have been in the mob, but who took no actual part in the lynching will be arrested.

GATES LEFT $30,000,000.

New York, Aug. 23.—John W. Gates, who died in Paris on Aug. 9, and was buried today in Woodland Cemetery, left a fortune of about $30,000,000, according to the estimate of his personal counsel, ex-Justice Hy Hilderseeve, who drew the will, in May, 1910. Mr. Gates began his business life as a farmer's boy, husking corn for his neighbors in Illinois.

LOST IN STORM ON GEORGIAN BAY

The Albatross Goes Down During Terrific Gale

A THRILLING EXPERIENCE

The Crew of Seven Suffer Terribly, But Escape—Midland Tug May Be Lost.

Byng Inlet, Aug 23. — The barge Albatross of Midland, Capt. Dean, foundered in the Georgian Bay, off French Rivers, on Monday night, and it is feared that the tug C. C. Martin of Midland, Capt. Vent, which ha the barge in tow, has gone to the bottom also. The tug carried, besides the captain and his wife, a crew of eight. What gives ground for the apprehension that the Martin has become a prey to the waves, is the story brought by those on board the barge, who reached Byng Inlet safe this morning after enduring the hardships of a night and a day adrift on the bay in small boats during one of the worst gales that ever blew.

Saved From Sea.

The shipwrecked party include Capt. Dean, his wife, his niece, Mrs. Alex. Buchanan, of Moose Jaw, her two children, a 2-year-old girl, and a 2-months-old baby boy; Miss Clementine Labelle, another niece, of Ottawa, and one sailor named Joseph St. Peter. They were brought up the river by Capt. Louis Lamondie, lighthouse-keeper, whose wharf they were able to make last night in an exhausted condition, and at whose hands they received all possible care. They had not had a bite to eat for thirty-six hours. The thirteen-foot yawls in which they had been buffeted about in a raging sea were more than half-full of water, and the condition of the party was most pitiable.

The story of the shipwreck in brief is that the barge sprang a leak and was fast sinking, when all on board managed to pile into the small yawl before the vessel sank. She was in tow of the tug as she settled, and this circumstance leads Capt. Dean to believe that in foundering she drew the tug down with her.

"I could not get the tug to notice our signals," the captain says, "otherwise she might have altered her course and pulled us out of the trough, in which our timbers were being pounded in. She did not know, I fear, the sinking state of the barge in time to cut adrift and save herself."

Gale Was Bad.

A harrowing tale is told by Capt. Dean. "We left Penetang on Sunday morning, bound for French River, to take on lumber for Mr. Poilman, of Midland," he says. "Reaching Point au Baril we tied up for a time, and then proceeded, but put about, for a storm was on and it looked too dangerous to run into it. At midnight, however, we again cleared, although we were advised not to go out in the teeth of the fierce gale then blowing. For many hours we encountered the worst blow I ever experienced in all my sailing life of forty-three years. I gave up hope of ever weathering it. Hearing some noise from a spaniel and her litter that I had aboard, I went below, and was horrified to find four feet of water in the hold and the vessel leaking fast. Our pumps were of no avail. I then decided that we must take to the yawl, for I knew the barge was doomed. We men helped the women and children into the yawl, then jumped for it ourselves, to find it half full of water and the seas breaking over it, so that we expected every moment to be swamped. It was pitch black, and the wind howled frightfully. Miss Labelle was the only one who could bail. I had to row, and my man sat in the bow and directed me how to steer my course so as to avoid the combers. We were tossed about for a long time. Suddenly an empty yawl hove in sight. It was a God-send. We managed to lay hold of it, and so ease our boat of some of its occupants. The yawl belonged to the tug Martin, and had part of the davits attached. All that night and next day we drifted helplessly. I took an observation when the sun appeared for a while, and found that we were off Byng Inlet lighthouse, which finally we made.

"Four times have I been shipwrecked. This is my worst experience. I don't know how the women and children ever survived the terrible experience."

The barge was 165 feet over all and 37 feet beam, carrying a cargo of three hundred and fifty thousand feet. She was uninsured. Not one of those aboard saved anything but the clothes they wore. Miss Labelle had two hundred dollars in cash in her trunk. She was coming to Toronto to pursue a course of study. She and her married sister were sailing as a matter of holiday recreation.

The tug C. C. Martin was new and insured. What adds to the fear of her foundering is that, although 36 hours have elapsed since the barge was abandoned, no word has been received of the tug, which hardly could be supposed to immediately put out to find her tow, if she had weathered the storm and made a port.

FREEDOM OF CITY HANDED TO MOOSE

The Big Convention Is Now in Full Swing at St. Thomas.

St. Thomas, Aug. 23.—The Railroad City is now in the possession of the Social Order of Moose, herds being present from all the principal cities of the United States and Canada. Among the features of the convention was the presentation of a golden key by his worship Mayor Guest to the Grand Order, when they were given the freedom of the city. A procession, including several bands and the different herds of the Social Moose, proceeded to Pinafore Park, where a fine programme of sports took place in the afternoon. The principal feature was a ball game, when the St. Thomas team of the Canadian League played a team of minor players taken from the Social Order of Moose, and five thousand fans saw the Saints defeat the Moose team by 13 to 6.

In the evening a band concert and a splendid display of fireworks took place in the presence of several thousand citizens.

Tomorrow the entertainment features of the convention will be held at Port Stanley.

Several committees were appointed.

Great Activity in the Receiving Room These Days

Every department is receiving its share of new things from the foreign markets. Our buyers are on their way home and almost every steamer from Liverpool during the past few weeks has carried more or less merchandise billed for Smallman & Ingram, London, which is making a great transformation in all departments. A unique touch that gives distinction and daintiness to our merchandise is the mark our buyers aim at in choosing the materials and finished garments for our trade.

You will not find a starved stock of goods if you visit our establishment, but each and every department brimming full of becutiful things.

Buying in big quantities enables us to get little prices and give little prices, and the rule works both ways, as the small dealer who buys in short lengths has to pay the big price, and the consumer pays the profit. We do not buy inferior, second quality or defective goods that we may make "startling reductions." We buy first quality goods in such large lots that we can put low prices on the goods. A hundred cases of fall merchandise have passed through the receiving room during the past few days.

Inspect Our New Black Dress Goods

In no department in the store is quality a more important factor than in the Black Dress Goods, and by no otther department can you so accurately judge the standard of a store as by the standard of goods carried in the Black Dress Goods Department. Our standard is well known, and our reputation for high-class goods and moderate prices is long established. But we are not satisfied to leave well enough alone. We are reaching for greater business, but right along the same lines which have proven so successful in the past—good goods, moderate prices and courteous treatment to all, with largely increased assortments. We can enumerate but a few of the many new fabrics already received for fall and winter, 1911-12, but invite your inspection. You will not be importuned to buy. Out-of-town customers write for samples.

MAN RATHER HASTY MAKING ACCUSATION

A Port Huron Visitor Accused Another Man From Same Town of Robbing Him.

Quite a lot of excitement was caused on Richmond street, near King, shortly after 7 o'clock last night, when James S. Stuart, a wholesale liquor dealer of Port Huron, on getting out of a taxi in front of a cafe, missed his purse, containing $31, and at once accused Robert Nicholls, also of Port Huron, of having taken it.

Mr. Nicholls at once protested his innocence, and asked somebody to go and get a police officer to search him on the spot. His wife got a policeman and both Mr. Stuart and Mrs. Nicholls went to the police station with him.

No charge was laid against anybody, and Mr. Stuart gave the detectives a description of the missing purse and left.

Mr. and Mrs. Nicholls were very indignant over the accusation that had been made.

GAVE HIS ALL.

Hinsdale, Ill., Aug. 23.—Dr. H. K. Pearson, the philanthropist, who has distributed a fortune of $7,000,000 in benefices, has made his last gift. He gave the town of Hinsdale his residence and five acres of ground, valued at $35,000.

With the bestowing of the residence and grounds, to be maintained as a public library, art gallery and park, Dr. Pearson's act accomplishes his purpose, the distribution of all his wealth for the benefit of humanity.

Entering upon his 92nd year with failing health, Dr. Pearson will leave to spend his last days at the Hinsdale Sanatorium, to which he goes almost penniless.

LAURIER-TAFT PLOT CLIFFORD SIFTON SEES

An Awful Conspiracy To Rob Ontario and Quebec of Fiscal Rights.

Tillsonburg, Aug. 23.—The opening meeting of the South Oxford campaign in the interests of the Conservative candidate was held in the Electric Rink tonight, when Hon. Clifford Sifton was the star speaker. The rink was crowded, a large number of the farmers of the surrounding country turning out to listen to the address by the ex-minister of the Laurier Government.

Mayor Joseph Thompson occupied the chair, and in a brief speech introduced the Conservative candidate, Mr. Donald Sutherland. His remarks were brief, his appeal being to sink party prejudices and vote in the best interests of the country. This, of course, could only be done by casting their ballots in favor of Donald Sutherland, and against reciprocity.

Dr. Coleridge, of Ingersoll, was the next speaker, and he also confined his remarks within a brief compass.

Denounces the Pact.

The speaker of the evening was then introduced, and was received with applause. His speech was practically the same as that delivered in Ingersoll last night. He charged the Liberal Government with having gone back on its whole policy, and that the Government of Canada had plotted with the United States Government to compel the provinces of Ontario and Quebec to depart from their fiscal policy to manufacture their own forest wealth in these provinces. It was further charged that in adopting reciprocity Canada would turn down England for the United States. He traced the history of the Government during the past few years to show that at no time had reciprocity been an issue, and declared that the contention that the Canadian farmer was merely gaining a new market was a fallacy, and the agreement was in reality opening up to foreign competition a market that, exclusive of the hard wheat, was consuming 85 per cent of our products at high prices. Mr. Sifton referred to the speech of Sir Wilfrid Laurier at Simcoe, and said that in the whole course of his remarks he had thrown no light on the great question before the people, merely stating that the benefits of reciprocity were so obvious that they need not be reiterated. The speaker closed by urging upon the electors who had te welfare of the country at heart to reject the reciprocity pact.

The meeting closed with the usual cheers.

CHAIN OF ROBBERIES AT CHESTERVILLE, ONT.

Four Stores Looted, Thieves Getting Away With Cash.

[Canadian rPess.]

Chesterville, Ont., Aug. 23.—A sensational was caused in this little town today, when it became known that burglars had visited the place during the night, and perpetrated a chain of the most daring robberies. No less than four stores were entered and looted, the thieves getting away with upwards of $800.

From the jewelry store of W. Lauchien alone one hundred rings, twenty watches and other jewelry, amounting to almost $400 was taken. In store of Sauler & Casselman they smashed all the cash registers, but secured very little cash. They fitted themselves out with clothing, however, and clothing, boots and shoes were considerably tossed about. Razors and knives were also taken in large quantities.

In Joseph Fisher's meat shop they secured some cash.

In Joseph Pelletier's they also secured some loose change and other goods. In one of the stores they coolly stopped and lunched from meat and salmon cans. The provincial police have been notified, and are working upon the case.

FIVE THOUSAND HEAR PREMIER AT SOREL

Great Enthusiasm Marks the Gathering of Quebec Electors.

Sorel, Que., Aug. 23. — Sir Wilfrid Laurier, at his meeting here today made it quite clear that the Liberal candidate, Mr. Arthur Cardin, had the unequivocal support of the Government. Five thousand people attended the meeting, which was marked by great enthusiasm, the Prime Minister being cheered frequently. Hon. Mr. Lemieux outlined the programme he would follow as minister of marine and fisheries and naval affairs. He would deepen the St. Lawrence channel to 35 feet and improve the light and buoy service. He aimed at making Montreal the "New York of Canada," not only the outlet for Canada's west, but the outlet for the grain of the whole American continent.

LONDON, THURSDAY, AUG. 24.

CONSERVATIVE WITNESSES FOR RECIPROCITY—NO. 7.

Major John Herron, for the past seven years M. P. for Macleod, Alberta, is again the Conservative candidate in that riding. In accepting the nomination last week he announced himself in favor of reciprocity, as follows:

"Farmers' unions have voted in favor of the agreement practically unanimously, town councils and boards of trade have indorsed it, influential farmers and businessmen have expressed themselves as being in favor of it. I received a few letters opposing it, as was natural, and some who did not favor reciprocity at first wrote me subsequently saying that they had changed their views, but I decided that it was my bounden duty to support what I believed my constituents desired.

"I never made secret of it, I have concealed it from no man. I have written hundreds of letters stating my position, and I have repeated it in conversation hundreds, yes, thousands of times. These are my reasons for taking this stand. I cannot recede from that stand no matter whether I get votes or not.

"I see a good many dangers in reciprocity, but I see enough in it to influence my choice and to give the advantage in its favor. The greatest advantage, in my opinion, is that if the people do not find it to work to their advantage it can be cancelled by a stroke of a pen."

SIFTON THEN AND NOW.

The lost leader is, like the poor, always with us, a human type that is permanent and universal. He has always been one of the crosses of Liberalism. Sometimes as a man grows older, sometimes as he grows rich and climbs into circles of privilege, he turns his back on "the van of the freemen," becoming their most bitter enemy and most tyrannous oppressor if he can. Especially at great crises, when men's principles are searchingly tested and they have to take stock of themselves on fundamentals, then it is that the chilled liquid is suddenly shaken into frost and the recreant is shown up.

For some time it has been suspected that Hon. Clifford Sifton was out with Laurier, and only waiting a favorable moment for open rupture. He has followed at least an ancient precept of friendship, that if a personal tie has to be broken it ought to be done gently and without public sensation. There has been no excitement, no surprise in any quarter at Mr. Sifton's action on the reciprocity issue, which provided for him the awaited opportunity of final severance from Sir Wilfrid Laurier, and fully revealed to himself and to others the revolution of sympathies that had been going on within him not altogether unseen. He has simply followed a thousand other lost leaders of Liberalism, deserting the people and ranging himself with privilege.

He charged at Ingersoll that the Government had gone back on its whole policy! it is easy to see who has gone back on his policy. He said that Canada would by reciprocity turn her back on England and set her face to the United States! And this at the moment when Britain has just signed an arbitration treaty with the United States and the United States with her. Shall we or shall we not show an equal confidence in our neighbor? If we turn our backs on the United States, we turn against England too. But it was Mr. Sifton who began to turn his back on England when in his speech of Feb. 28 in the House of Commons he expressed himself as opposed to any increase of the British preference. Once upon a time Mr. Sifton was the head and front of the low tariff wing of the Liberal party, eager for reduction and for reciprocity. It is he who has "gone back" on both low tariff and closer ties with Britain. He has gone back on the generosity of true loyalty, and joined the fife and drum band of the lip loyalists.

Once Mr. Sifton was a giant in the promotion of Canadian expansion, in the upbuilding of the West and in a strong, intelligent immigration policy. Now, in spite of the fact that Canada's wheat production increases faster than her population, and in spite of the other fact that some of her products languish for want of a market, this ex-low tariff renegade puts up the argument that the Canadian home market consumes 85 per cent of our products, and objects that under the pact our markets will be open to the whole British Empire. What a loyal position to take up. And how the great expansionist has dwindled into a restrictionist! The Mr. Sifton of 1911 needs to be reintroduced to audiences that used to know the Sifton of 1904. He is politically so completely metamorphosed that the West shuts the door against him, and his own brother in Alberta does not know him.

Yet this man told the Ingersoll audience that the Laurier Government had gone back on its policy. He has himself fallen off the Government train of progress, and is seemingly unaware that it is he and not the train that has miscarried. Mr. Sifton has lost his way in the world.

AS TO HOGS.

In connection with the matter of hog prices, it is important to remember that we used to be told our packers could make the business very profitable for us because they were catering to the British demand for choice Wiltshire sides of breakfast bacon, which was supposed to command a larger price than the thick fat sides of the American hog.

And for a time hog prices did rule higher in Canada than across the line, but the last two or three years Buffalo prices for thick fat hogs have been often higher than Toronto prices for selects.

We take it that this indicates a rapidly developing hog market across the line, which seems likely to become more and more tempting to Canadian farmers as time goes on. Give us reciprocity in hogs.

A NEW CRY.

Mr. Barnard, the Conservative candidate for Victoria, B. C., starts a new cry on the navy question. One would have thought that the Opposition had about exhausted the possible attitudes in this matter, but as the chameleon has a color to suit each background, so the Borden-Bourassa naval policy is distinct for each locality. It is safe to say that Mr. Barnard's programme will not be duplicated by the Conservatives in the Maritime Provinces.

He blames Laurier for not building a navy large and costly enough, for placing half the navy on the eastern coast, for spending more money there than in the west on defences, and for arranging at present that all the building and docking shall be done in the east. Quoting Sir Wilfrid's statement that it was our western rather than our eastern coast that needed protection, "as a statesman," said Mr Barnard, "he should have looked at the broader scope of the naval policy —should have looked at it in the light of the greater imperial needs."

It will be observed that here Mr. Barnard shuffles two considerations together, the national Canadian and the imperial, but according to the Colonist's report he at once dropped the latter, feeling no doubt that it would not help his particular appeal. Bidding for British Columbian votes, he is for a larger and costlier Canadian navy, built and stationed on the Pacific Coast. Even if this were more to Canada's particular interest, what help to the imperial navy in a sudden emergency on the Atlantic would our cruisers on the Pacific lend? Great Britain's recent naval concentration in the home waters shows that in the Atlantic rather than in the Pacific a great struggle is to be provided against. As for Canada's own interest, most easterners whether Liberal or Conservative will think one building station enough to start on, and that the populous east, where are both workmen and materials in plenty, should have it.

The contrast between this attitude of Mr. Barnard, on whose platform Mr. McBride spoke indorsing him, and Mr. Borden's pandering to Bourassaism is as remarkable as the rapid changes in the programme of the Conservative leader himself. And it is the same way with the other positions of the anti-reciprocity party. In the West Mr. Lake opposes the pact because it does not go far enough towards free trade. A small flock of western newspapers back him up in his absurd contention; while Mr. Herron turns tail before the low-tariff wrath of his constituents and runs for the reciprocity shelter. In the east men like Major Beattie demand an increase of duties all round by 20 per cent., while Mr. Borden tries to sit tight above his warring factions and say "Tariff Commission."

Worst of all is the contradiction of the Mail and Empire Borden with Evenement Borden, the one for commercial and political amalgamation of Canada with Great Britain, the other a denouncer of imperialism. There is no policy in all these contradictions. It is simply a transparent game of savages, any way to get there. Catch votes is the watchword for each district, in a sort of cynical confirmation of Goldwin Smith's theory that Canada cannot be one country, but is by nature four countries. Laurier, however, has a settled faith in one Canada undivided, harmonious and national.

NOT A TREATY.

The anti-reciprocity press everywhere in Ontario keeps reiterating the assertion that the pact is a treaty or in effect a treaty. One might as well keep asserting that a business partnership between a man and a woman is in effect a marriage. Nothing indeed could be more distinct and explicit than the understanding arrived at by the Canadian and American negotiators. Voters should read the agreement and not the false descriptions of it or its "effect" given by anti-reciprocity journals.

The entire agreement consists of two letters, one from Hon. Messrs. Fielding and Paterson, and the reply by United States Secretary Knox. Here is the communication addressed by Messrs. Fielding and Paterson to Secretary Knox:

"We desire to set forth what we understand to be the contemplated arrangement, and to ask you to confirm it. It is agreed that the desired tariff changes shall not take the formal shape of a treaty, but that the Governments of the two countries will use their utmost efforts to bring about such changes by concurrent legislation at Washington and Ottawa.

"The Governments of the two countries having made this agreement from the conviction that, if confirmed by the necessary legislative authorities, it will benefit the people on both sides of the border line we may reasonably hope and expect that the arrangements, if so confirmed, will remain in operation for a considerable period. Only this expectation on the part of both Governments would justify the time and labor that have been employed in the maturing of the proposed measures. Nevertheless, it is distinctly understood that WE DO NOT ATTEMPT TO BIND FOR THE FUTURE THE ACTION OF THE UNITED STATES CONGRESS OR THE PARLIAMENT OF CANADA, BUT THAT EACH OF THESE AUTHORITIES SHALL BE ABSOLUTELY FREE TO MAKE ANY CHANGE OF TARIFF POLICY OR OF ANY OTHER MATTER COVERED BY THE PRESENT ARRANGEMENT THAT MAY BE DEEMED EXPEDIENT. We look for the continuance of the arrangement, not because either party is bound to it, but because of our conviction that the more liberal trade policy thus to be established will be viewed by the people of the United States and Canada as one which will strengthen the friendly relations now happily prevailing, and promote the commercial interests of both countries."

Mr. Knox's reply:

"I take great pleasure in replying that your statement of the proposed agreement is entirely in accord with my understanding of it."

"THE RAKE'S PROGRESS."

Mr Borden in March, 1909—I am in favor of a Canadian-built navy. The alternative of money contributions to Great Britain has not worked satisfactorily in Australia and has been abandoned.

Mr. Borden in November, 1910—I am against a Canadian navy and for one imperial fleet. As an emergency measure, I would present the mother country with two Dreadnoughts or the cash equivalent.

Mr. Bordon in August, 1912—I WAS in favor of an emergency contribution, but I have no plans for the future. (Loud cheers from Mr. Bourassa.)

Beattie and Bourassa.

McEvoy and More Markets.

Mr. Sifton says he may speak in London. The plan is to send him to constituencies where the Conservative candidate is in danger.

"Mr. Borden does not venture to formulate any naval programme whatever for the future," says Le Devoir, Bourassa's organ, gleefully.

"Was there any idea that a reciprocity treaty with the United States would in any way interfere with self-government in Canada? No.—Mr. R. L. Borden at Montreal, July 22, 1904."

Mr. Borden said not a word to the Toronto lip-loyalists at his Massey Hall meeting about imperial defence and the navy. He doesn't want to offend Bourassa at this juncture.

A Toronto Conservative crowd naturally cheered Mr. Borden. It has no chance to cheer on election nights when the returns from the country come in.

Arthur Hawkes, who is being paid by the Big Interests to try to round up the English newcomers and brand them, is to speak in this city. In England electors have a habit of asking questions. It is to be hoped someone will ask Hawkes who his paymaster is.

It is to be hoped Mr. McEvoy and Mr. Beattie will get together on the same platform before nomination day. Our local contemporary sneers at Mr. McEvoy's platform ability, but his friends have a notion he can hold his own even against a giant like Mr. Beattie.

THE UNHOLY ALLIANCE

(From the Montreal Witness.)

It would be impossible to invent a meaner or more spiteful charge against Great Britain than that given utterance to by the celebrated Jean Prevost at St. Jerome. Jean Prevost quite outdoes Mr. Bourassa in his malice. Mr. Bourassa is in the habit of denouncing Sir Wilfrid for having "found it right and good to cause fifty thousand men to be massacred, millions of farms to be ravaged, homes to be pillaged, women to be outraged, and little children to be shut up in pestilential camps, where they die like flies." Worse phrases than these does he pour forth on every platform—phrases that we cannot print, to inflame his hearers against the British Government and the British connection. It remained for Jean Prevost to declare that Great Britain, being afraid of Germany, had found it necessary to look to the United States for support, and in order to obtain her treaty of arbitration with the United States had coerced Sir Wilfrid Laurier into the reciprocity agreement. Satanic hatred never inspired any slander more ingeniously fiendish. It is because we know there are people, both French-speaking and English-speaking, ignorant enough and stupid enough to believe a story like this that we regard the man who utters it and so stirs up horror and malignity between peoples as a traitor to the human race, and escpecially to his own country—a malefactor of the highest quality. These things were uttered in support of Mr. Nantel, the Conservative candidate for Terrebonne, and received no rebuke from him. This, indeed, is the spirit in which the whole Conservative campaign is being carried on in this province. The chief Conservative organ keeps shouting "Vive Monk! Vive Autonomy! Down with the Navy! Down with Laurier and his party! The Catholics of the West and French of the East will soon be revenged." According to it, it is Mr. R. L. Borden who is "safeguarding the best traditions of the Conservative party and is working for the best interests of Canada."

This is the crowd, strange to say, that the Orange Sentinel, of Toronto, violently supports. "Two reasons why Sir Wilfrid Laurier should be defeated," is the heading of a partisan manifesto aggressively displayed in the Sentinel. The first of these reasons is: "Sir Wilfrid has shown himself a friend of the Ultramontanes. He has offered up as a sacrifice the educational rights of the West upon the altar of the papacy." Is it not then a little curious that among his own people it is the Ultramontanes, and almost they only, who oppose Sir Wilfrid Laurier? Is it not strange that the newspaper that maligns him at the rate of six columns a day is the one exclusively taken in the Ultramontane colleges? Is it not strange that the principal charge of these, his enemies, against him is that of betraying their educational rights in the West?.

Huron and Bruce combined gave a Liberal majority of 220 in the last general election, and elected three Conservatives and two Liberals. There are many arguments of this kind for the juster system of representation advocated by Sir Richard Cartwright.

What nonsense is this talk of the United States annexing Canada against her will. Does the arbitration treaty, in which the partnership of the dominions with the mother country is expressly recognized, mean nothing but waste paper? And is Canada a nation to be easily swallowed against her will by any power?

B. J. Case, president of the New York State Fruit Growers' Association, who addressed the Ontario Fruit Growers last fall, assured the Farmer's Advocate privately that there wasn't any doubt he had made $50,000 at fruit growing in the past ten years. Surely his market is good enough for our fruit growers to share.

The Toronto Newsblubbers at the sad plight American tourists will be in once Canada is annexed. They do so prefer to tour in a foreign country, you know, and would be sorry for the Americanization of this north country, poor things; and we should miss their money! So they won't annex us after all, then. Let us all feel better, and O, News, dry those tears.

The Toronto World compares Canada to Mexico. The London Free Press compares her to the Southern States before the war. Mexico is half-civilized and the Southern States before the war were controlled by a slave-holding oligarchy. It is surprising what a contemptuous opinion of Canada some alleged Canadians have. It would be a pity if outsiders judged Canada by this craven crew.

The immediate benefit of reciprocity, though considerable, is far from being the full measure of its value to Canadian agriculture. Across the line is a population of ninety million people who but yesterday were exporting foodstuffs; today they are importing several lines, and with the tremendous increase in urban population, the American market is bound to prove more and more valuable as time goes on.

The German Socialists polled 47 per cent. of the total vote in the numerous by-elections since the last general election. They expect to poll 50 per cent. of it in the next general election. In Germany the Liberal party is merely a wing of the Conservative party, and progressive men have no alternative to socialism. In Great Britain, because the Liberal party has been true to its principles, the ground has been cut from beneath the feet of socialism.

"The days of the Laurier Government are numbered. The Catholics of the West and the French of the East will soon be revenged."

So cries L'Evenement, the French-Canadian Conservative organ of Quebec, whose editor, Mr. L'Esperance, is the joint candidate of the Nationalists and Conservatives in Montmagny. In London at the last election between a Liberal and Conservative, the London Free Press assured us that a vote for Hyman was a vote for Laurier, Sbaretti, and the Hierarchy. But, of course, that was before the Borden-Bourassa alliance.

Mr. Russell Gore, chief editorial writer for the Evening Press, Grand Rapids, Mich., says in a letter to a member of The Advertiser staff:

"Your copy containing the speech of Premier Laurier arrived all right, and I read it through with particular interest. I was born and lived in London until the age of 12. Mr. Joseph R. Taylor, our business manager, and Mr. C. M. Greenway, our former business manger, now manager of our Saginaw paper, the News, also are natives of the 'Forest City.' Mr. George G., Edmund W. and Ralph H. Booth, controlling the Detroit News, the Grand Rapids Press, the Saginaw News, the Flint Journal, the Jackson Citizen Press, the Bay City Times, and the Muskegon News-Chronicle, are Canadians. You can see, therefore, that we have more than a passing interest in the Dominion.

"We hope over here that reciprocity will pass. I am privately advised by the managing editor of one of the leading Conservative papers in Canada, that, while he is opposing the agreement, he expects it to be successful."

A countryman who had been henpecked all his life was about to die. His wife felt it her duty to offer him such consolation as she might, and said: "John, you are about to go, but I will follow you."

A COMING POEM.

[Toronto Star.]

Mr. Arthur Hawkes, who has publicly expressed his admiration for Gray's Elegy, is said to be preparing one for Sept. 21 on Mr. Borden's behalf. Advance notices indicate that Mr. Borden is represented as saying, as the results become known, that:

"The ballots toll the knell of tax on hay.
The lowing herd will enter duty free,
The plowman homeward plods his weary way.
He voted Grit and disappointed me."

A more comprehensive review will appear when the complete manuscript is available.

Which is the better way to build up a United Canada? To give the farmer, the backbone of the country, every chance to develop his industry, or to prevent him from selling his products in the United States when he has the opportunity?

VOTE DOWN THE CAUSE.

[Toronto Star.]

Says the World: "Hon. G. P. Graham again declares that annexation talk is rubbish. He does not add that the way to dispose of such rubbish is to vote down the cause of it." That is a sensible suggeston. The whole cause of annexation talk in Canada is the Ottawa Opposition. Vote it down.

FLAG IN THE CAMPAIGN.

[St. John Telegraph.]

The Union Jack is not a Liberal flag nor a Conservative flag, but the flag of the whole empire. The whole population honors it in time of peace and is ready to defend it in time of war. But the great mass of Canadians resent Tory attempts to make the glorious flag of our country the political campaign label of any one party.

BEATTIE'S TRIAL OPENS

Uncle of Alleged Murderer First Witness for Prosecution.

[Canadian Press.]

Chesterfield Courthouse, Va., Aug. 24. —With the jury selected and witnesses for both sides present, the trial of Henry Clay Beattie, jun., of Richmond, indicted for wife murder, began in earnest today with the opening of the prosecution's case.

For the first time since his arrest, more than a month ago, Beattie slept away from Richmond last night. Held for weeks in the Henrico county jail, he was brought here yesterday and placed in the little red brick lockup, fifty yards from the old courthouse.

The first witness to be called for the Commonwealth today was Thomas Owen, uncle of the murdered young woman, summoned to testify how Beattie brought the body to the Owen home, with his story of a man in the roadway firing into his automobile and killing Mrs. Beattie. Dr. W. F. Mercer, a physician, who examined the body on the lawn of the Owen home, will further establish the death of the victim. The prosecution has ready its list of more than seventy other witnesses, most of whom will be used in sketching Beattie's past life and in an effort to build up a motive for the crime.

Beulah Binford, the 17-year-old girl, said to have come between Beattie and his wife, remains in jail at Richmond as a material witness. Her testimony probably will not be introduced until tomorrow or next day.

Bloodstained Auto.

The bloodstained auto in which Mrs. Beattie met her death was driven into the yard of the Chesterfield court house early today, just before the trial of Henry Clay Beattie, jun., indicted for wife-murder, was resumed. The prisoner was on the lawn when the machine arrived, and calmly inspected it. His father raised the cushion of the front seat, revealing a mass of coagulated blood on the wooden work.

The court convened at 10:30 o'clock and the prisoner took his seat promptly. Today was the first anniversary of his marriage to the woman he is accused of having killed.

Beattie's blood-soaked clothes were unrolled before the jury and the witness identified them. The single-barrelled shotgun with which the state says the shot was fired was then exhibited.

MISSIONARY HERO FROM ARCTIC WILDS

Rev. John Hawksley, of Yukon, Coming to London Synod.

Winnipeg, Man., Aug. 24.—A party of friends assembled at the depot last night to welcome Rev. John Hawksley, of Yukon diocese, who is on his way to the general Anglican Synod of Huron, but who is staying for a few days in Winnipeg with his wife and family. He has made what is believed to be a record trip from the Yukon to Winnipeg in nine days. He spent two hours in Vancouver and three hours at Skagway, and an hour at Dawson City. Mr Hawksley has labored among the Indians and Esquimaux, and on the Peace, Athabasca, Mackenzie and Yukon rivers since 1886. During this time, he and his family have undergone many privations. At Fort Macpherson, 68 miles inside the Arctic circle, they had only one mail a year. In recounting his interesting experiences, he told of the fight he has with the liquor traffic among the Indians, and also recounted many experiences of hardships suffered by prospectors in the Klondike rush of a few years ago.

WHAT WOMEN ADMIRE IN MEN

In the rude old days of barbarism women were won by capture; they were caught and held by the strong arm of the men. They are still won by capture and they still worship strength.

In face of the fact that almost any man can get some woman to love him, it would be absurd to say that women are to be won only by strength, either of mind or body, for we know that many men who are weaklings in both respects have gained and held the affection of women. But is it not as true as ever that the woman's ideal of manhood is strength, and that where she does not find it she imagines it? A wife will not often confess that her husband is a weak man; even if she knows it in her heart, she tries to disguise it from herself. It may be true that women, like men, love to have their own way; yet at the bottom, a woman loves to be mastered by the man, to be confronted. She does not mind his giving way in the small things, but she likes to feel that in the big things he is master. She loves his dominance. She can rely and lean upon it.

The Modest Man.

An old English proverb says: "Woman commend a modest man, but like him not." When a woman is asked to name her favorite characteristic in a man she does not often name modesty, unless she names it as an accompaniment of strength. Courage, strength—these are the attributes that ninety women out of a hundred would mention first; perhaps in still larger proportion would name them. The gentler features would generally fare badly in a feminine list of masculine virtues. And a woman will at times mistake hardness for force, till she has learned the difference to her own cost. "Women," says another old proverb, "are ships and must be manned." They admire even while they resent the dominating qualities. It is said that in some countries, and in some packs of life wives expect to be beaten at times, or they would lose respect for their husbands. It is a survival of the old institution of marriage by capture. In more enlightened times, in society pervaded with culture, the women still expect to be beaten occasionally—not physically, but in will and purpose.

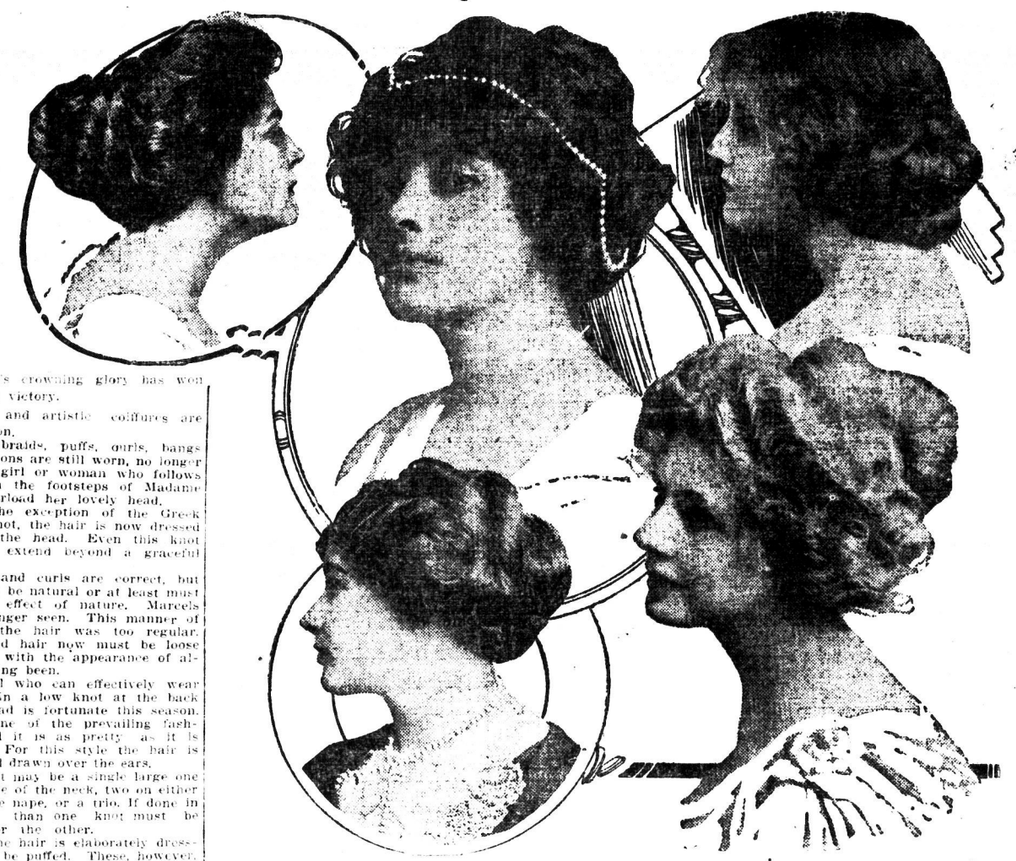

Likes To Be Conquered.

I am not speaking of the exceptionally noble women, whose desire in marriage is to be absolutely at one with her husband, the woman high in intent and purpose, who has strength to give as well as reliance; in the ideal union there will never be struggle, never a call for the man's mastery. We are thinking of the average woman, and we know that the strong, masterful man is her hero. We know that even while she resists him, she esteems him the more highly when she feels him conquering her; we know also that her ideal is one of utter surrender. Sometimes she will surrender to the point of subjection and yet be happy.

It may not be good for the man—very often the man is not worthy of it; there are men who will exploit this tenderness, take advantage of it for their own selfishness; even delight in trampling on the heart that loves them. To do so is merely to display contemptible weakness, but it does not always lose the woman's love. Perhaps she still mistakes the weakness for strength, the cowardliness for courage; doing so or not, we all know that there are women whose love can survive even cruelty.

IF YOU FOLLOW MADAME MODE YOU FAVOR NATURAL LOOKS

The Fashionable Woman No Longer Overloads Her Head With False Hair.

Woman's crowning glory has won a belated victory.

Simple and artistic coiffures are the fashion.

While braids, puffs, curls, bangs and chignons are still worn, no longer does the girl or woman who follows closely in the footsteps of Madame Mode overload her lovely head.

With the exception of the Greek Psyche knot, the hair is now dressed close to the head. Even this knot does not extend beyond a graceful line.

Waves and curls are correct, but both must be natural or at least must have the effect of nature. Marcels are no longer seen. This manner of dressing the hair was too regular. The waved hair now must be loose and easy, with the appearance of always having been.

The girl who can effectively wear her hair in a low knot at the back of her head is fortunate this season. This is one of the prevailing fashions, and it is as pretty as it is graceful. For this style the hair is parted and drawn over the ears.

The knot may be a single large one in the nape of the neck, two on either side of the nape, or a trio. If done in the latter than one knot must be close after the other.

When the hair is elaborately dressed it may be puffed. These, however, are no longer stiff and set in regular rotation. Rather are puffs soft, irregular as to form, with here and there an end escaping as a ringlet. Hair done in this fashion may have a chaplet of curls wound in and out among it. Or a narrow satin ribbon may be used in a similar manner.

The Psyche knot is now placed midway the back of the head. With this mode the front hair may be worn in either of two ways. It may be brushed up well over a small roll or brought down over the forehead with coquettish small curls.

CHAPTER XXI.

Facing the Sun.

When he came downstairs he found her dressed in white, and looking like a nun. Her hair was brushed back from her forehead and the silk-figured Japanese shawl was over her shoulders. He recalled the shawl, and with it the picture she made that first night.

At the door he called her name and she looked up quickly, swiftly scanning his face. He crossed to her side.

"You shouldn't stay in here," he said. "Come outdoors a moment before breakfast. It's bright and warm out there."

She arose, and they went out together to the lawn. Each blade of grass was wearing its morning jewels. The sun petted them and bestowed opals, amethysts and rubies upon them. The hedge was as fresh as if newly created; the neighboring houses appeared as though a Dutch housewife had washed them down and sanded them; the sky was a perfect jewel cut by the Master Hand. The peeping and chattering of the swallows was music, while a robin or two added a longer note to the sharp staccatos.

They stood in the deep porch looking out at it, while the sun showered them with warmth.

"You've seen Ben?" he asked.

"Yes," she answered, turning her face up to his with momentary brightness. "Yes. And he was like this out here! The change is wonderful! It is as though he had risen from the dead!"

Donaldson lifted his head toward the stark blue of the sky.

"The dead? There are no dead," he exclaimed passionately. "Even those we bury are ever ready to open their silent lips to us if we only give them life again. We owe it to them to do that, through our own lives to continue as best we can their lives here on earth. But we can't do that as long as we have them dead, can we? And that is true of dead hopes, of dead loves. We have to face the sun with all those things and through it breathe into them a new spirit. Do you see, Miss Arsdale?"

He did not look at her, but as her voice answered him it seemed to be stronger.

"I think—I think I do."

"Nothing can die unless we let it die," he ran on, paving the way for what he realized she must in the end know. "Some of it can disappear from our sight. But not much. We can bury our dead, but we needn't bury their gay smiles, we needn't bury the feet of their hands, or the hush of their lips, we needn't bury their songs or the brave spirit of them. We can keep all that, the living part of them, so long as our own spirit lives. It is when that dies in us that we truly bury them. And this is even truer of our love—intangible spirit things as they are at best."

He did not with that part of him to die utterly in her with his doomed frame.

"But," she shivered; "all this talk of graves and the dead!"

"It is all of the sun and the living," he replied earnestly. "You must face the sun with me today. Will you?"

"Yes! Yes! But last night you made me afraid. Was it the dark—did you get afraid of the dark?— I know what that means."

"Perhaps," he answered gently. "But if so, it was because I was foolish enough to let it be dark. And you yourself must never do it again. If things get bad at night you must wait until morning, and then come out here. So, if you remember what I have said, it will get light again. Will you promise to do that?"

"Yes."

"I'd like to make this day one that we'll both remember forever. I'd like to make it one that we can always turn back to."

"Yes."

"Perhaps after dark we'll neither of us be afraid of the dark again."

"I'm not afraid now."

"Nor I," he smiled.

The voice of Arsdale came to them.

"Oh, Elaine! Oh, Donaldson!"

She led the way into the house with a lighter step, and Arsdale met them with a beaming face, which covered a broad grin.

"I suppose you two can do without food," he exclaimed, "but I can't. Breakfast has been waiting for ten minutes."

"It's my fault," apologized Donaldson.

"You can't see stars in the morning, can you?" chuckled Arsdale.

"Maybe," answered Donaldson.

Elaine checked the boy's further comments with a frightened pressure, as she took his arm and passed into the white and green breakfast room.

There stood the table by the big warm window again, and as she took her place it seemed as though they were stepping into the same picture framed by the hedge. She caught Donaldson's eye with a little smile, and saw that he understood.

Arsdale broke in with renewed enthusiasm for his philanthropic project and outlined his ambitions to Elaine.

"You see," he concluded, "some day, little sister, you may see the law sign, 'Donaldson & Arsdale, Counsellors-at-Law.' Not a bad sounding firm name, eh?"

"I think it is great—just great, Ben," she exclaimed enthusiastically. "It's almost worth being a man to make you. Be count for something like that."

"I want you to make out a list of the books for me to get, and I'll go downtown this afternoon. I suppose you've a pretty good law library yourself?"

"I had the beginning of one. I sold it."

"What did you do that for?"

"My practice wasn't big enough to support it. But you—you'll not be bothered with lack of clients."

With schoolboy eagerness Arsdale was anxious to plunge into the scheme at once.

"And, say," he ran on, "I'm going to look up good offices. I'll stake the firm to some good imposing rooms in one of the big law buildings. Nothing like looking pro-perous at the start. Guess I'll drop down-town right after breakfast, and see what can be had."

Donaldson did not have the heart to speech. They sat down a moment in the check him. Later on he would write him orchard, and he was very tender of her, a letter sustaining him in his project and very careful in what trend he let their recommending him to a classmate of his. thoughts run. let him rattle on.

As soon as they had finished breakfast Arsdale was off.

"I'll leave you two to hunt out new stairs as long as that occupation doesn't seem to bore you. I'll be back for dinner."

Miss Arsdale looked a bit worried and questioned Donaldson with her eyes.

"He'll be all right," the latter assured her. "Good Lord, a man with an idea like that is safe anywhere. It's the best thing in the world for him."

A little later Donaldson went upstairs to his room. He took out his wallet and counted his money. He had over four hundred dollars. At noon forty-eight hours would be remaining to him. He still had the ample means of a millionaire for his few needs.

He was as cool as a man computing what he could spend on a summer vacation. He was not affected in the slightest by the details of death or by the mere act of dying itself. He was of the stuff which in a righteous cause leads a man to face a rifle with a smile. He would have made a good soldier. The end meant nothing horrible in itself. It meant only the relinquishing of this bright day and that still cholcer gift below.

He rose abruptly and came downstairs again to the girl, impatient at being away from her a minute. She was waiting for him.

"This," he said, "is to be our holiday. I think we had better go into the country. I should like to go back to Cranton. Is it too far?"

"Not too far," she answered. "But the memories of the bungalow—"

"I had forgotten about that. It doesn't count with the green fields, does it? We can avoid the house, but I should like to visit the orchard and ride behind the old white horse again."

"I am willing," she replied.

"Then you will have to get ready quickly."

They had just time to catch the train, and before they knew it they were there.

The old white horse was at the little land office station to meet them, for all the world as though he had been expecting them; and so, for that matter, were the winding white road, the stile by the lane, and the orchard itself. It was as though they had been waiting for them ever since their last visit and were out ready to greet them.

The driver nodded to them as if they were old friends.

"Guess ye didn't find no spooks there, after all," he remarked.

"Not a spook. Any more been seen there since?"

"Hain't heern of none. Maybe ye took off the hoss."

"I hope so."

They dismissed the driver at the lane and then went back a little way so as to avoid the bungalow. Donaldson was in the best of spirits, for at the end of the first hour he had silenced himself with the belief that Arsdale had been mistaken in his statement. She was nothing but a glad-hearted companion in look and

Prepare one cupful of white sauce, using one tablespoonful of butter, one heaping tablespoonful of flour, one-half of a teaspoonful of salt, one-quarter of a teaspoonful of white pepper and one cupful of milk. Drain the onions, turn them into a buttered baking dish, pour over them the white sauce and cover them with one-third of a cupful of the fine dried bread crumbs mixed with one teaspoonful of melted butter and a dash of salt. Bake in a hot oven until the crumbs are browned.

HELPFUL HINTS FOR THRIFTY HOUSEWIVES

Coarse sandpaper should be kept in the kitchen and used for scrubbing kettles that are burned and for removing anything that has stuck to the pan in the process of cooking.

Always keep alum in the house. It checks bleeding wounds, and for bleeding of the mouth or tongue a wash in cold water in which alum has been dissolved is very effective.

Paint must not be scrubbed with sandsoap, or it will be worn off. Wipe off with a cloth dipped in thick suds of white soap and rinse with a clean cloth wrung from hot water.

Mahogany can be given a good lustre by wiping off with a cloth wrung from cold water and rubbing to a high polish with a dry cloth. It should be rubbed at least half an hour.

In sprinkling table linen use a large salt shaker and in the water put a little cold starch—about a tablespoonful to a quart of water. The linen will iron about the same stiffness as when new.

Glass is an ideal shelfing for a kitchen closet, as it can be kept clean so easily. If this is too costly, paint the shelves white and give a coat of enamel. This is easily scrubbed and does away with the necessity of papers.

Three Ways to Cook Peaches

Peach and Cocoanut Cream.—Remove the milk from the interior of a large cocoanut and place where it will become cold; meanwhile press through a fruit sieve a quart of peaches that have been pared and sliced (reserve a few bits for garnishing); add to these a cup of confectioner's sugar and place directly on ice. At serving time add to the fruit a pinch of powdered cinnamon, one pint of stiffly-whipped cream, add sufficient iced milk to the cocoanut milk to form two quarts; mix and serve from pitcher in which has been placed a pint of cracked ice, dusting the top thickly with grated nutmeg garnish with sliced peaches.

Peach Pie.—For two pies use eight halves of peaches, three eggs beaten well, one teaspoon of cinnamon, one-half teaspoon of nutmeg, one-fourth teaspoon of cloves, one-fourth teaspoon of allspice, one pint of milk or one cup of milk and one cup of peach juice, one-half cup syrup or three-fourths cup broken sugar. Mix well together. Bake in moderate oven, crust and mixture together.

Peach Roll.—Make a rich biscuit dough, cut it into pieces of even size and roll each piece out thin. Spread with thinly-sliced ripe peaches, sprinkle well with sugar, add several small bits of butter to each portion, then roll up and pinch the ends together. Place in a deep pan, add one cup of sugar and one-half cup of butter to every four rolls, pour in hot water enough to just cover the dough and bake in a hot oven one-half hour.

PASTEUR METHOD CURES RABIES

Treatment Highly Recommended by Vets' Convention.

FOOT DISEASE DISCUSSED

Contracted From the Dew on Grass By Horses Grazing.

Toronto, Aug. 24.—Many encomiums were expressed yesterday at the convention of the American Veterinary Medicine Association in Convocation Hall regarding the Pasteur treatment of rabies. There were several references to its effectiveness made among the speakers, one veterinary saying that this institute had "saved the situation." Regarding the prevention of rabies, the treatment of horses consists of 21 doses, which is just double the quantity given a human being. Dogs are given 21 doses, but each dose is only half strength. The Pasteur method came into existence about two years ago, and experiments thus far have been practically at all times successful, speaking well for the treatment.

Whether all the work mapped out by the convention will be finished by Friday night, the scheduled time of closing, is doubtful. At present several papers that were to be read have been left untouched. In order to rush matters yesterday each speaker was allowed 20 minutes and no more for his discourse. In the afternoon both the Convocation Hall and the Physics Building were scenes of large gatherings, the officials deciding to divide the convention so as to make more speed and to give the hearers an opportunity to listen to addresses on both surgery and medicine.

Some Popular Topics.

The most interesting addresses to the general public and municipal officials will be heard on Friday afternoon, when timely topics will be dealt with. Dr. E. G. Cook, city meat and milk inspector of Paris, Texas, will speak on "Municipal Meat Inspection. "State Daily Inspection" will be the subject of an address by Dr. M. E. Knowles, state veterinarian of Montana, Helena, Montana, and Dr. Wm. S. Gimper, supervising dairy inspector of Philadelphia, will also discuss this question. "The Sanitary Production and Handling of Commercial Milk" will be dealt with by Dr. Cassius Way, of Harvard, Ill.

Foot diseases among horses were discussed yesterday morning. "Foot disease is commonly known as 'dew poison,'" said Dr. W. H. Dalrymple. He said that it was contracted from the dew on the grass by horses grazing. It was also surmised that it was contracted from poisonous plants. Only horses and asses were victims of the malady.

The cause of sore mouth disease, which is mainly among dogs, said the speaker, was in all probability due to eating decayed animal matter or any other substances of that nature. The disease was not often detected until it had advanced to such a stage as to make it difficult to effect a cure. This malady was prevalent principally among country dogs. A light muzzle on hunting canines was a good thing, in the opinion of Dr. Dalrymple.

Last night the large body of veterinarians enjoyed a moonlight excursion on the steamer Cayuga, which left for a few hours' cruise on the lake at 8:30 o'clock.

KEPT MARRIAGE A SECRET 33 YEARS

Contest Over Estate Informs Children That They Have a Stepmother.

New York, Aug. 23.—Through a contest brought by William McQuire, of No. 312 West One Hundred and Eighteenth street, before Surrogate Fowler, against the granting of letters of administration on the estate of John McQuire to Mrs. Mary Hulz, of Beliport, L. I., and her brother, Thos. McQuire, these two persons learned they had a step-brother and a step-mother living and that their father had taken a second wife 33 years before his death without their knowledge. He died Dec. 17, 1910.

After Mrs. Hulz and her brother had applied for the letters of administraton, William McQuire made a similar application, asserting that he and his mother, Mrs. Katherine McQuire, now an inmate of the Manhattan State Hospital, were the next of kin.

Surrogate Fowler brought the three applicants together. The conference resulted in the revelation by the Long Island McQuires that on Nov. 25, 1877, four years after his first wife's death, their father had married the woman now in the Manhattan State Hospital. He never informed his first wife's children of their marriage, although he continued to visit them frequently and to provide for their support.

To his second wife and to William, their child, he was equally uncommunicative. They were not aware he had ever married before or had children.

At the hearing, William's counsel produced witnesses who were present at his father's marriage to his mother. Holding that the young man's claim was valid, the surrogate awarded to his mother one-third the personal property of McQuire, and a dower interest in his real estate, and divided the rest of the property among the three children.

The elder McQuire was a boss trucker, with a stand near Fifteenth street and Broadway. The business since his death has been conducted by William.

BEATTIE SHOWS NERVE IN PICKING JURORS

Weighs Men in the Box and Approves or Disapproves.

Chesterfield Court House, Va., Aug. 23.—Young Henry Clay Beattie, jun., took charge of his own affairs this afternoon, when the first vital moment arrived in his trial for his life.

He, not his lawyers, decided which jurors should listen to the evidence against him and which should not. He analyzed man after man, staring steadily at each, weighing him carefully in a mental balance. And it was his pencil, not his lawyers', that crossed off those he didn't want.

Virginia law has it that sixteen men shall be seated in the box, and that the defence shall strike out four, leaving the customary twelve. It was when matters progressed to the striking-out point that the rich youth accused of slaying his wife asserted his amazing nerve and self-confidence.

Analyzes Jurors.

"I'll do this myself," he whispered to Harry Smith, his chief counsellor, and he rose calmly and looked over the sixteen men sitting in the corner of the room. The little old court out here in the wilderness was hammed to the doors, and every eye was upon the boy. But apparently he was neither embarrassed nor frightened. He held in his hand a list of names, with notes he had previously made beside each. He narrowed his eyes and gazed for minutes at one juror after another. There was absolute silence. It was not possible to tell from the actions of Beattie's gaze just which man in the box he was analyzing.

He came to a man in his forties—a heavy-browed individual who from all appearance would be stern, severe.

"That one goes," he whispered to his attorney, and a stroke of the pencil wiped one name off the list.

Then he came to a young man, little more than his own age, 23. This man had seemed a trifle too easy of manner, with a constant smile on his rather weak face, and an air almost of pride about having been chosen as a possible actor in the great drama.

"I can't stand for him for a minute," said the boy defendant. "Here he goes off."

The two others he struck out were farmers, of no profounced characteristic, favorable or unfavorable. Why he dismissed them was not apparent. When he was asked later, he said:

"Oh, I just got a hunch. Somebody had to go, and they might as well be the ones."

He then handed over his list of names to Attorney Smith, and remained standing beside his lawyer as the latter read off the names of those "scratched." There was a trace of a smile on Beattie's face as he saw the four victims of his judgment take their hats, and—rather regretfully, it seemed—depart.

THAW WILL GET NO FAVORS FROM MAY

New Matteawan Superintendent to Treat Him Like all Other Patients.

New York, Aug. 23.—Dr. James V. May, the new superintendent of Matteawan, announced yesterday that Harry K. Thaw, whose family bitterly opposed the administrations of former Superintendents Baker and Lamb, would receive no liberties not accorded other patients confined in the institution.

This public statement was made in answer to the published interview with Mrs. Mary C. Thaw that the resignations of Drs. Baker and Lamb had been forced as part of the plan to liberate her son. Superintendent May said he had not yet met Mrs. Thaw, and had not had time to study Harry K. Thaw's case, except from the records left by his predecessors. He declared that Thaw's mother had no reason to believe, so far as he knew, that his appointment as superintendent would result in a change favorable to her son. Here is Dr. May's statement:

Knows Only His Record.

"Until I came to Matteawan, I had never seen any of the Thaws or met anyone who represented them. I have met Harry Thaw since coming here, but have not had a chance to personally observe his case. There is nothing I can say about Thaw's mental condition, because I know nothing about him except his record as I got it from the hospital authorities who were at Matteawan before me.

"They need not expect any liberties while I am here that are not accorded other patients. All inmates of the institution will be alike to me in that respect.

"Just how much Mrs. Thaw had to do with the resignations of Drs. Baker and Lamb I do not know. I have not met Mrs. Thaw.

"My aim will be to treat all patients here with a view to improving their mental condition, and there are a number of changes which I have under contemplation. I desire it understood that I will endeavor to conduct the institution strictly as an asylum for the insane. Thaw will be given attention along with the rest. The Thaw family will not enter into the case at all."

May Appointment Criticised.

The possibility that Thaw may be released at an early date has caused a stir among the most prominent alienists of New York city, and some criticism has been directed at the superintendent of state prisons for appointing Dr. May to head the medical staff at Matteawan, due to his limited experience in dealing with insane persons classed as criminals.

Mrs. Stanford White, the widow of Harry Thaw's victim, was called by telephone at her home at Smithtown, Long Island, and asked if she would comment on Mrs. Thaw's statement. She said:

"I have absolutely nothing to say—no comment to make."

A moment later Mrs. White added, "I am not interested."

It is believed that Mrs. White's added statement was meant to imply that she did not wish to be drawn into the controversy which recalled the roof garden tragedy in Madison Square.

TECUMSEHS NEED POLICE PROTECTION

A Squad of Berlin Roughs Mauled Our Hopes Most Dreadfully.

RICH, SILCOX AND WILTSE

Use Best Spellbinders Without Effect, While Chaput Goes Easily—Score 16 to 2.

Berlin 16, London 2.

And in the presence of our Port Huron guests. Eleven of our hirelings, captained by a real honest to goodness citizen, Joseph J. Keenan, and led into ambush by one Unhappy Rich, who later yielded his position to Silcox, brought the great old fighting name of Tecumseh lower than a snake's vest buttons at the ball yard yesterday afternoon, and before the tragic occurrences were concluded the league leaders had so completely demonstrated their superiority over those who receive substantial remuneration for bearing our name in the Canadian League conflicts that there were few fans in the cushions or bleachers who would not have traded the whole outfit for a restaurant egg, and strangled it.

The exhibition which, it may be stated opened in a very satisfactory manner, was wholly devoid of interest after the second session in which the visitors piled up six counts, distancing their pursuers and rapping the pill until the smacking resembled the sound of a lath in a cart wheel.

Rich's Arm Bad.

Rich, however, may have some excuse, as it is claimed by his friends, that he has had his salary arm examined by a person of a medical turn who gave it as his opinion that the necessary lubrication was lacking at the heaving joint. If this is the case he should take a prolonged rest, as he is doing the double damage of injuring his reputation and spoiling our chances in the pennant race. He was wild and ineffective yesterday afternoon, and when he had demonstrated that he could not get them across, Silcox was sent to the rescue. There were then seven hits and nine runs on the score sheet, so the task of redeeming the battle was not one to which any well-regulated person would take a notion.

Wiltse's First Efforts.

While not as bad as his predecessor Silcox showed that he was not the man to stop the smashing of Deneau's Dubs, and when the matter was absolutely beyond control Keenan responded to the call of the bugs and sent Wiltse, the latest addition to the twirling staff, to the mound for a try-out. The first couple of balls he heaved across the pan were rapped for further orders, but through a little bucking in the outfield his record shows but two safe hits in the pair of sessions in which he figured.

He used practically no curves and devoted his attention to slow stuff. He had ridden a train practically all night, and was in no position to show his best, but upon his next appearance when he will start with a clean sheet he may be able to prove his worth.

No, Not Yesterday.

The fans were anxious for the blood of Chaput, Deneau's star heaver, but as one suggested, a scrub nine should have been sent out to draw the claret. While an exposition of the stuff offered will be offensive to most nasal organs, a sample of the punk should be given for the benefit of lovers of Limburger.

Cameron opened the second with a double, Miller followed with a single, and Dunn, who sacrificed, jumped into Bill Lane's vest as the big fellow reached for Rich's bad heave. Chaput fouled out to Lane, who made a beautiful running one-hand catch, one of the few features of the local efforts. Ernie Dinsmore, a London boy singled, counting Cameron and Miller, and Burns repeated for Dunn and Dinsmore. Templin dumped one down in front of Rich, but Happy let it fall behind him as he threw back his arm for the assist to first. Burns started home from third a moment later, and was boxed on the line between Reske and Keenan. He appeared to be all in when the catcher hurled the pill at the score board, and Dunn and Templin went across. This was the result of but four hits, and the kindly assistance of three errors.

Cancella Punk, Indeed.

While the work of the arbiter did not rob London of the game by any means, almost any person could have made as good a showing as Mr. Cancella. His most flagrant deviation from the rules was in the fourth, when Silcox lifted the sphere into deep right field for a three-sack run. The ball, as it bounced, raised a cloud of dust off the chalk mark, but he was called back to try again.

This afternoon they will try their luck against the Dutchmen again, and promise to show the fans a reversal of form such as was displayed at Hamilton on Tuesday.

LEFTY SMITH FANS 18 SETTING LEAGUE RECORD

Brantford Twirler Wins From Hamilton by 10 to 1 Score.

Brantford, Aug. 23.—Lefty Smith struck out eighteen Hamilton batters here today and established a Canadian League record. Smith had seventeen to his credit at the end of the eighth inning, and although Killilea endeavored to stop the record-making stunt in the ninth by bunting, Smith finished him. The fans cheered the performance lustily. Brantford batted two Hamilton pitchers very freely, and won easily by ten to one. Kane and Orcutt featured the game by home run drives. AL. STANLEY IS WINNER

Cops 2:12 Trot in Straight Heats—Two-Year-Old Trot to Buck Leyburn.

Goshen, N.Y., Aug. 23.—The 2:15 pace proved the most interesting feature of the programme for the second day of the Grand Circuit meeting here today. Excellent weather brought out a large crowd. The 2:12 trot went to Al Stanley in three straight heats, while Buck Leyburn captured the two-year-old trot, best two in three, in successive heats.

In the 2:15 pace, which had eleven starters, great interest developed from the first, a sharp contest being set up between Foote Prince, Charley Miller and Babe. Foote Prince and Babe alone started in the sixth and final heat, which was taken by Foote Prince, giving him first, third and fourth money.

During the afternoon, Willie, the champion half-mile trotting stallion, went an exhibition mile in 2:08. Summaries:

COLT KILLED WHEN RACE HORSES MEET

Spellbound Collided With Two-Year-Old at Windsor Track.

Detroit, Aug. 23.—Spellbound, 4-year-old, owned by M. C. Pritchard, while working out at the Windsor racecourse this morning, collided with a two-year-old colt that was being schooled to the barrier, and killed it instantly. Spellbound was badly bruised.

The Pritchard thoroughbred was being worked a full mile by a stable boy, in preparation for the Belle Isle Windsor Ferry Company handicap event, the feature of the opening day card of the final summer meeting at Windsor, which starts on Monday.

As Spellbound came rushing down the homestretch the colt left the barrier and ran directly into Spellbound's path. Spellbound and the colt collided. The colt's neck was broken and destroyed instantly. Both riders were thrown, but neither injured. Spellbound walked back to its stable, but the extent of the injuries received will not be known until some time today or tomorrow.

Buy it now. Now is the time to buy a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. It is almost certain to be needed before the summer is over. This remedy has no superior. For sale by all dealers. 6

CUBS AGAIN TAKE LEAD IN NATIONAL

Chicago Defeats New York 4 to 2, and Trades Position.

PHILLIES BEAT PIRATES

Errors in Ninth by Boston Give Reds Game—Superbas Trounce the Cardinals.

New York, Aug. 23.—By defeating New York in the final game of the series here today, Chicago resumed first place in the National League. Richie, who occupied the box when his club lost by a close score on Monday, was sent back against the Giants. He pitchd a strong game and was well supported. Chicago took the lead by finding Wiltse for four singles in the first inning, which, with a base on balls and a wild pitch, netted them three runs. Wiltse steadied down then, but was rapped for four more hits and three more runs in the ninth. Score:

BROOKLYN MAKES IT PAIR FROM CARDINALS

Superbas Play Snappy Ball and Beat St. Louis Easily.

Brooklyn, Aug. 23.—St. Louis lost its farewell game here today, being unable to hit Rucker, who was at his best. Twice the visitors had the bases full with one out, but were unable to score. The Brooklyns hit Harmon freely during the four innings he officiated, gaining a safe lead. Stark's batting was the feature. Score:

BIG CARS OUT ON ELGIN COURSE IN TRIAL SPINS

De Palma, Mulford, Aitken, Grant, and Other Prominent Drivers Appear.

Elgin, Ill., Aug. 23. — Today's practice on the Elgin course for Friday and Saturday's races brought out all the contestants, and large crowds witnessed thrilling brushes down the broad homestretch, and at the different turns. Chairman Butler, of the contest board, Starter Fred Wagner and all the local officers were on the ground looking after various details of the coming contest.

Ralph DePalma had his Simplex in shape again and made 75 miles at an average speed of 62 miles per hour. Ralph Mulford and the big white Lozier, one of the favorites with the practice crowd, was, contrary to his custom, out early, and made 65 miles at an average of 61½ miles per hour, doing one fast turn in 7:18.

Johnny Aiken, in the National, also made one circuit at the same speed, the two fastest laps of the day. Wishart's Simplex met with an accident at the close of a 40-mile try-out, in which he was averaging 68 miles an hour. The flywheel broke into fragments, doing considerable damage to the motor, but it was thought that the car might be ready for the start Saturday.

The Alcos Are Out.

All three Alcos were out and ran in good form, Grant making the fastest team lap at a speed of 67¼ miles per hour. Zengel, the section National driver, did two turns in 7:19 and 7:29, making the fastest time next to Mulford and his teammate, Aiken. Buck, in a Pope-Hartford, made only one round and has done little in practice so far.

The Mercer, Cole, Staver, Abbott-Detroit, Colby, Velie and National cars entered for Friday's light car races were all out in practice with the big cars. One of the Cole drivers ran into a mail box on the Udina turn and was taken to the field hospital. He was only slightly injured and will be out for practice tomorrow.

Fred Wagner, after seeing today's work-out, predicted the speed of the winner of the high race would exceed 66 miles an hour.

Electric Beats Gordon in 2:14 Trot—Longworth Is Victor.

Columbus, O., Aug. 23.—There was no stake race carded here this afternoon at the local driving park, the 2:08 trot being the feature race, and this furnished a big upset, although as a race it was nothing to enthuse over. In the other two events on the card, the favorites made good; one of them easily, the other having some trouble, but finally landing. Rain fell during the latter part of the afternoon, but not hard enough to put an end to the racing, although it kept the small crowd of spectators under cover.

MISSING PICTURE STILL IN LOUVRE

Officials Decide Masterpiece Is Hidden in Recesses.

Paris, Aug. 24.—The mystery of the disappearance from the Louvre of Leonardo Da Vinci's great painting, "Mona Lisa," popularly called by the French "La Giaconda," appears more impenetrable than ever tonight. The only thing definitely established by today's investigations is that the picture disappeared between the hours of 7 and 8:30 o'clock Monday morning. Whether it is still in the Louvre or has been taken away it is impossible at present to determine.

The concensus of opinion, however, is that the picture has not left the building, but is hidden in one of the innumerable recesses. All the gatekeepers are positive that no such package as the picture would have made, was taken out of the museum.

Not the faintest clue has been discovered in spite of the united efforts of sixty of the most expert detectives in Paris and all the museum staff. Whether the picture was abstracted by one of several persons also remains in doubt, and M. Lepine, the prefect of police, admits that he is completely baffled. It is one of the hardest cases in the annals of criminal investigation, and the search is being continued with unremitted zeal. To facilitate this the museum will be closed for three days. No one will be admitted on any pretext whatever, except the police and officials.

A council was held in the Louvre this afternoon, those in attendance including M. Steeg, minister of public instruction, M. Dujardin-Beaumetz, under secretary of public instruction and fine arts, M. Lepine, M. Homolle, director of the Louvre Examining Magistrate Drioux, who is charged with the judicial investigation, and the different chiefs of the museum.

Various theories were advanced, weighed and finally rejected for lack of evidence.

LONDON'S GOOD SUPPORT.

Toronto Globe: London is said to be the biggest winner financially in the Canadian League. Hamilton has also done well. Brantford and Guelph have been disappointing, but all of the cities have done exceedingly well for the first year.

The Saginaw team of the South Michigan League has recalled three players from Berlin, of the Canadian League. The check for the players was sent to Berlin yesterday, and if the men are wanted at once the Dutchmen may not have the anticipated cinch in winning the pennant in the new league.

NEW ROAD MARK.

Chicago, Aug. 23.—The record of the Elgin national race course is now 7:10 today, as a result of the marvelous driving of Ralph Mulford in a Lozier in a practice spin. Mulford is one of the army of drivers who is taking preliminary training for the races Friday and Saturday. He lowered the record by two seconds.

SKEETERS TWICE BEATEN BY LEAFS

Jersey City Given a Double Trouncing by Kellyites.

4 TO 1 THE LUCKY SCORE

Providence Easy Picking For the Hustlers—Baltimore Drops a Peg.

Toronto, Aug. 24.—The Kelleyites stung the Skeeters twice in the same place yesterday, and passed Baltimore in the league race. Four to one was the verdict in each case, with Lush and Bachman the winning heavers, and this pair had a little on their opponents in each encounter.

Frill and Lush worked the initial game, but, as usual, the former was gifted with "charities" at different stages, and some of these came home to roost. On the other hand, Lush was invincible after the first inning, and had the visitors eating out of his hand.

Jack Thoney, the former Toronto favorite, received a great ovation from the spectators on his first appearance at the bat, and "The Bullet" showed that he has still a good eye, even if possessing a lame wing, by pounding out a single. Breen dropped a Texas Leaguer over second, and Roach sacrificed. Deininger bounced a bad one down to Bradley, and was thrown out at first, Thoney scoring. This was the Skeeters' only run in the first game.

FURIOSA A WINNER AT TORONTO RACES

Nettie Ethon and Jennie Price Put Up Stiff Battle for 2:13 Pace.

Toronto, Aug. 24.—Both the crowd and the racing were better than the opening day of the Toronto Driving Club races at Dufferin Park yesterday, some stirring finishes being witnessed in the 2.13 pace, especially in the last heat, when Furiosa, winner of the two previous heats, just lasted long enough to beat home Jennie Price by an eyelash. Had Jennie Price won this heat and split up the race, it is doubtful if Furiosa could have won the race, as she tired very badly the last heat, after being chased hard the first three-quarters by Sylvia T., but McCall could not hold his horse steady owing to being out where the footing was bad, and Sylvia T. went to a break just before entering the stretch, while Jennie Price came strong and all but landed. THE TECUMSEHS PLAYED IN THE OLDEN TIMES

"Them Was the Days" When London Won Championship and Beat "Pop" Anson's Chicago Crew.

An account of the old Tecumsehs, who made baseball history in London, has been given by C. Moorhead. He writes:

The old original Tecumsehs won the international championship in 1877. In fact they were considered at that time world-champions. In 1876 the grounds of the old exhibition grounds were used as ball grounds. It was here that professional ball was first introduced in the city.

Guelph and London were always strong rivals in baseball, London generally losing in those days to Guelph. This was owing to the fact that Guelph had secured players to come to that city and work, who were above the ordinary.

Well, London, to combat this, took the matter up to secure players, with the result that, with Powers, Goldsmith, Latham, Ledwith and Horning, along with some local players, the Tecumsehs defeated the Guelph team in a ten-innings game, 8 to 7, before the largest crowd that ever attended a ball game in London. It was estimated that between ten and twelve thousand people saw this game. Excursions came in from all the adjoining places; in fact, from all along the line. It was not an unusual thing to go to Guelph to see a game for $1 and return. Carloads used to go.

Tecumseh Park.

The present Tecumseh Park in London was opened nearly 34 years ago in a game between the Tecumsehs (professionals) and the Atlantics, of this city, who were the amateur champions of Canada. This team comprised Thompson, catcher; Ross, pitcher; J. Smith, first base; Reid, second base; Steeds, third base; Pirie, shortstop; McLean, Welch and Eldridge, field. The game was won by the Tecumsehs, 4 to 1. Mr. T. H. Brunton was the umpire.

On these grounds the home plate was on the east side, instead of the west as it is at present, the grandstand on the north, and the bleachers on the south side; in the centre, behind the catcher, was a two-story stand, the bottom floor being used for dressing-rooms; above were the scorers, newspapermen and telegraph operators, who were dispatching the score every inning all over the country. Between the scorers' stand and the grandstand was the directors' stand, another two-story building, with a steeple top; in fact, the appointments of the grounds could not be improved upon.

Some of London's most prominent businessmen at that time were among the directors. Mr. J. L. Englehart was president; Mr. Harry Gorman, secretary; W. H. Birrell, E. R. Robinson, Golden Lion, Dundas street; the late John Plummer, Ed. Moore, and many others.

In the Old Days.

The Tecumsehs of those days were: Powers, catcher; Goldsmith, pitcher; Doscher, third base; Hull, centre fielder; Quinton, Bradley first base; Burke, shortstop; Smith, right field; Knowdell, Dinceen, second base; Horning, left field; Dunnigan, first base.

Eddie Somerville was shortstop and captain, but while away playing he contracted pneumonia and died here.

The Tecumsehs defeated the Chicago team here that year two games. Capt. Anson was playing third base for Chicago at that time. The St. Louis Browns went down to defeat here; also Boston Nationals played here on Dominion Day of that year. The Tecumsehs lost in a ten-inning game, 7 to 6. Mr. T. Gillean was the umpire during many of their games. Mr. Charles Moorhead officiated as scorer, also in 1878, when Ross Barnes was manager. The year the team disbanded the Tecumsehs won the championship from the Alleghanys, of Pittsburg. The game was played here and resulted in a score of 5 to 2. Galvin and Dolan were the battery for the Alleghanys.

While baseball has become more of a science, it is safe to say that no better fielding could be seen than that given by the old Tecumsehs.

JOE JEANNETTE MAKES QUICKWORK OF MAXSON

Boston Negro Floors Brooklyn Heavy in Two Minutes of Boxing.

[Canadian Press.]

New York, Aug. 24.—Joe Jeannette practically knocked out "Dummy" Maxson, of Brooklyn, in the first two minutes of their fight at the Fairmont Athletic Club here last night. The Boston negro started like a whirlwind at the tap of the gong. Twice he floored the Brooklyn heavyweight, and the last time Maxson went down he was unable to get up alone, and had to be assisted to his corner after the referee had stopped the bout.

AGAINST RECIPROCITY

Are the Michigan Farmers—But Canadian Border Counties Want It.

Mr. Poole, of Sarnia, who is visiting his brother at the corner of Rectory and King streets, thinks that reciprocity is certain to carry in all counties close to the border.

"I was talking to a farmer from Michigan in Sarnia the other day," said Mr. Poole. "I asked him how the farmers on his side of the river liked the idea of reciprocity, and he answered that if the farmers of Michigan had been given a chance to vote on the question they would never have agreed to allow Canadian products to come across the line."

KILLED WHILE ASLEEP AND HOUSE FIRED

Dreadful Triple Murder in Small Indiana Town.

[Canadian Press.]

Boonville, Ind., Aug. 24.—A triple murder was committed in Boonville this morning. Richard Lee, Mrs. Lee and their 11-year-old son Clarence, were killed in their beds with a hammer, and the house set on fire.

By the time firemen reached the house it was blazing from all sides. Trying to enter they found all the doors and windows were locked. Breaking down the doors the firemen found the incinerated bodies of Lee, his wife and his son. Robbery, it is believed, was the motive.

It is known that the Lee family, consisting of the mother, father and two children, had sold a small piece of property and divided up the money between them.

The older son, William Lee, who is 21 years of age, was arrested by the sheriff this morning on the charge of murdering the other members of the family.

FINANCIAL

[From Chas. Head & Co., by private wire to J. J. Tearney.]

NEW YORK, Aug. 24.—Noon.—In comparison with the first hour yesterday the market was more active today, although the aggregate was light. The London selling of Americans in both markets was a feature and stocks appeared to come in from all around the room. There was an absence of support and professional speculators said that they expected continued pressure on recoveries. Indications at the opening were that the attack on the market was now being conducted by more powerful and abler tacticians. Before the end of the first hour a number of leaders, including Reading, Union Pacific, Northern Pacific, etc., showed losses.

DR. AMYOT INSPECTED CARLING'S CREEK

Complaints Are Made That the Stream Is Polluted.

Dr. Amyot, of the provincial board of health, Toronto, is in the city today, investigating Carling's Creek, and the claim that Hyman's Tannery is dumping insanitary material into the creek, which later finds its way into the river.

City Engineer Wright took Dr. Amyot over the ground and they made a thorough inspection of the whole property. He will make a report to the provincial board, and then an order will be issued in reference to it. Dr. Amyot would not discuss the nature of his report at this time.

For many years Carling's Creek has been the cause of much discussion at the sessions of the board of health. Every year there are complaints regarding it, but no permanent improvement has ever been made.

It was proposed at one time to tile the creek, but the city council could not do the work as the stream ran entirely through private property. It is now expected that the Government will order some action to be taken.

A LONG CHASE

Wife Rounds Up Runaway Spouse and Then Forgives Him.

Montreal, Aug. 23.—Travelling 12,000 miles to intercept her husband, who had deserted her, having him arrested in Montreal three hours after taking the warrant out, and leaving the courthouse this morning agreeing to forgive and forget and live life anew, is the startling story of Mrs. Hemicus Van Rooy, of Antwerp. As soon as she saw her runaway husband she relented, and withdrew the charge of desertion, and is now willing to pardon.

About four months ago Hemicus Van Rooy left Antwerp and his wife, taking with him another woman, whose husband had been buried on the morning of their departure, and set sail for America, where he found employment for a few weeks, and finally landed in Montreal, where he has been for about three weeks, living at 181 Cadieux street with the woman in the case.

Yesterday, after a long search from Antwerp to New York, then to Boston and Chicago, the wife made her appearance at the detective bureau, and Chief Carpenter, after hearing her story, put Detectives Gorman and Liepege on the case, and in the short space of three hours was able to place the man and actually present him to his wife at detective headquarters.

When leaving the court this morning, apparently reconciled, the couple were going to Paterson, N. J., but later decided that Montreal was good enough, as the husband is working and doing well. He is a blacksmith by profession.

WESTMINSTER.

The many friends of Mrs. Adam Nichol will be pleased to know there is a littlei mprovement in her condition. Dr. George Routledge is in attendance.

Rev. E. H. and Mrs. Sawers, of Brucefield a,re renewing old acquaintances this week. All are glad to welcome them back.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Nichol, Hubrey, are taking the Mackinac trip this week.

The Presbyterian choir garden party was an unqualified success. There was a very large attendance, good supper and stirring music, and good cheer everywhere on the grounds. The programme in the church was particularly good. Dr. McCrae was chairman, and Miss Robson, soloist, and Miss Carmichael, reciter, were both very pleasing, and may be sure of a warm welcome back. The feature of the evening was the address of Hon. Adam Beck, Ontario's minister of power. For the first time Mr. Beck told an audience of farmers, with their wives and daughters, the polity and scheme of the Government to develop and utilize hydro-electric power for the people of Ontario in rural districts as well as in cities and towns. Every one was delighted with the interesting, instructive and highly practical address. Mr. John C. Nichol and his faithful helpers deserve the congratulations of all on the success of the whole affair.

The boxes for the new R. M. M. No. 9, London, are being put in place, and the contractor, Mr. Winflow, of Chelsea Green, will open the route on Monday, the 28th.

When he reaches New York he will have flown 1,265 miles, or 101 miles more than the present world's record. The present record will be broken by 15 miles, as Atwood passes over Rhine Cliff.

"New York or bust," said Atwood before his departure.

OLD LADY PLEADED WITH THE OFFICIALS

Asked G. T. R. to Make Good Loss of Cows Killed at Ingersoll.

A pathetic case occurred at the Grand Trunk depot this morning, when a decrepit old lady, 85 years of age, came in from Ingersoll to ask the officials to make some compensation to herself and aged husband for three cows that had recently been killed by trains. The old lady stated that the three cows and the little farm on which they live near Ingersoll are all that she and her husband have to live on. She pleaded most emphatically for something to be done to help them in their difficulty. The matter will be looked into by the G. T. R. authorities.

GERMAN UNIONISTS ARE DISCONTENTED

Success of British Railway Strike Arouses Teuton Workers.

[Canadian Press.]

Berlin, Aug. 24.—Labor troubles are making their appearance at many points in Germany and the general belief is that men have become discontented with their present conditions since the success of the British railway strike. The cigarmakers are discussing what they call the inadequate rate of wages paid to them. They hope to secure some concessions from the employers without the necessity of a strike.

The dockers of Bremen today decided to refuse to unload British vessels in which strike-breakers are employed.

SPLENDID RALLY AT BERLIN FOR WEST KENT NOMINEE

Merlin, Aug. 23.—A splendid rally in the interests of Mr. Archie McCoig, candidate for West Kent, was held here last night on the lawn of Dr. Bell's residence, over five hundred people being present. The Liberal standard-bearer was given an enthusiastic reception. He explained the provisions of the reciprocity agreement, particularly with regard to tobacco, beans, hay and barley, and proved conclusively that it would be in the interst of the fearmers of West Kent.

Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King was present, and delivered a rousing address in defence of reciprocity. He showed that the agreement would benefit not only the farmers, but the workmen in the cities.

EVIDENCE HEARD

himself or either Morgan or Paterson. Although he had heard of the raid he did not bring up the subject, as he claimed he was not interested in the slightest.

"I may tell you," said the magistrate, "that you have told anything but a straightforward story. I do not believe your story, especially concerning the conference on Sunday last. I formerly had a great regard for the men of Adelaide Township, but since hearing you speak as you have under oath, I have altered my opinion. Unless you answer what is asked of you in a truthful manner, I will have to take steps to make you do so."

Cross-examined by Mr. Morgan, who conducted his own defence, Kallem retracted several statements made to Mr. McKillop.

"That evidence has been taken," said the magistrate.

"Yes," replied Mr. Morgan, "but he has not signed his evidence."

The ire of the court was drawn down in thorough style, the defendant being warned not to suggest any such course to the witnesses. When Kallem quibbled about affixing his signature to the document the question was revived, but upon being informed that he would sign all right or take a very unpleasant alternative, the witness placed his name on the sheet.

Kissing the Book.

"I am sorry to say that you did not kiss that Book," remarked Mr. McKillop, as Robert aPterson took the stand. The witness denied any intent to avoid being sworn and placed his lips firmly against the page, gave vent to a resounding smack.

"Just like that," he said, returning the Bible to the court.

He stated that he is a cousin of the defendant, and that he ordered three cases of lager from him. At first he declared that he had given the written order himself, but when questioned as to whether he had signed with pen or pencil he corrected himself, and stated that he had told his wife to give the order when she saw Morgan. He had never paid over the money himself, but thought that was because Morgan owed him money for oats, more than suffiicent to balance the account.

A Warning.

Mr. Paterson was also warned repeatedly to tell his story with regard to facts, and when asked whether or not he had rehearsed the matter with any person, said that he had not. He was not sure whether Morgan delivered the lager with a team o ra single horse, but if he had a team, one of the horses was a gray.

The case is still in progress, and will probably be further adjourned, as the crown will call Mrs. Robert aPterson.

Provincial License Inspector George Morrison is in the city in connection with the case.

STICKS TO TRAIL OF JAP MURDERER

After Four Years' Chase the Avenging Sleuth Lands His Man in New York.

New York, Aug. 23.—Arrested on complaint of a fellow-countryman, who declares he has been following his trail for four years, Frank Maurats, a Japanese, was taken from the Long Island city prison this afternoon and placed on board a train, a prisoner, by the sheriff of Weld County, Colorado.

The Japanese was arrested several weeks ago at Rockaway Beach, where he was conducting a Japanese bazaar, on the complaint of Kirkeukina Idusuki, who declared he was wanted to give testimony in Colorado in connection with a murder committed there four years ago.

According to Idusuki's story, in July, 1907, Maurats and Gikoyan Uyucht were two of a Japanese colony in Greeley, Col., Uyucht being the banker and steward for the rest. One day Uyuchi was found murdered and the savings of the colony gone. Maurats was missing, and Idusuki was delegated to find him.

Idusuki tracked Maurats through a dozen states for four years, and only recently located him at Rockaway. The avenging sleuth accompanied the sheriff and the prisoner when they left for the west this afternoon.

TOWN SUES ORDER

Quebec Municipality and Religious Organization in Courts.

[Canadian Press.]

Montreal, Aug. 24.—A long-standing dispute between the citizens of St. Genevive and the fathers of the Holy Cross concerning the ownership of a college at present in the possession of the fathers, is the basis of a suit taken out against the fathers in the name of the ratepayers.

Difficulty arises over a misunderstanding as to the obligations assumed by the religious community in securing possession of the land in question. At present the buildings are utilized as a novitiate, whereas when the initial act of transfer was passed in 1887 it was specifically stated that the fathers should conduct a commercial college, and it was on this understanding that the land and buildings were conveyed to them.

A clause was inserted in the deed of transfer to the effect that in the event of the fathers ceasing to conduct the institution as a college for the training of youth, the property should pass out of their hands and again come under the control of the municipality. It is this clause which the municipalty now cites, in favor of having the fathers despoiled of the land and buildings.

The latter, however, while admitting that the land and buildings originally came into their possession as a result of the deed mentioned by the plaintiffs, cite another and subsequent act, whereby the conditions of the former deed were over-ridden and the property definitely turned over to the religious community to be used as a novitiate.

A Bold Hold-Up in the Rail-Yard at Erie, P.A.

[Canadian Press.]

Erie, Pa., Aug. 24.—Five highwaymen, at least two of whom are believed to be members of the gang which held up the Philadelphia and Erie express near Erie the night of June 30, early today robbed H. Steadman attempted to escape, and was seriously wounded. The highwaymen, after taking all the money the victims had, compelled them to exchange clothes with them.

EXETER CONSTABLE IN A HOT CHASE

Follows Prisoner Across Country and Lands Him at Centrallia.

[Special to The Advertiser.]

Exeter, Aug. 24.—A constable of this town had an exciting chase after a prisoner yesterday, the run being from here to Centralia. The man had been arrested on a charge of procuring liquor for a woman who is on the Indian list, and was being held by the constable on the depot just as the train for London pulled in in the morning. The prisoner broke away from the officer, and started over the fields and cross fences with the sleuth close at his heels. At Centralia he was caught and taken back to Exeter. His trial comes up later.

FOUND DRUGGED GIRL ON A STREET CAR

Police of Montreal Have Mystery on Their Hands.

[Canadian Press.]

Montreal, Aug. 24.—In an unconscious condition, apparently from the effects of a drug, a well-dressed girl between 16 and 18 years of age, was brought to the Western Hospital at 1 o'clock this morning from the St. Henri car barns of the Montreal Street Railway Company. She was found unconscious on a car of the St. Catharine street line when it pulled into the barn, and as it was impossible to arouse her, an ambulance was called. The physician that accompanied the ambulance from the hospital said there was no sign of liquor about the girl, but she had every appearance of having been drugged.

So far as the conductor of the car could remember, the girl got on with a crowd at Dominion Park on the last trip, but whether or not any person was with her he could not say.

It is thought the girl's condition is serious.

DOUBLE MURDER AT NEW YORK

Italians Who Wouldn't Surrender Wages Fatally Shot.

[Canadian Press.]

New York, Aug. 24.—Ten men set upon John Pinto and Thomas Keno, two Italian workmen, as they were hurrying homeward along a downtown street, early this morning. When Pinto and Keno declined to give up their month's wages to their assailants one of the gang standing beside Pinto pulled the trigger of his revolver. The bullet went through Pinto's body an inch beneath his heart and buried itself in Keno's body. Both men will die. Their assailants escaped.

CAMORRA MURDERERS IN STANDARDO'S HOME

Damaging Evidence Brought Out Against the Band.

[Canadian Press.]

Viterbo, Italy, Aug. 24.—Pellecci, owner of the house occupied by Maria Standardo, and alleged by the state to have been the resort of criminals, testified today at the Camorra trial, that the home was of the worst type. Pellecci's lawyer, Mazza, corroborated his client, and added that when he had advised the landlord to turn the woman out and seize her household effects, a mob of ruffians had gathered at the place and Maria threatened to have the lawyer assassinated if she was disturbed.

Mazza caused a sensation by asserting that in June, 1906, a short time before the murder of Genarro Cuoccolo and his wife, and long before a confession had been made by Genarro Abbatemaggio, the porter had told him that Maria's home was frequented by Nicolo Morra, one of the alleged assassins. The porter further confided that he had seen Morra enter the place on the night of the crime, carrying a bundle. The witness said that he believed that the porter knew all about the murders, but was restrained from giving evidence against the accused Camorrists through fear of the criminal organization.

HOUSEBREAKERS AND POLICE IN WINNIPEG STREET DUEL

Three Desperadoes Captured After Fierce Fight In Which a Constable Is Shot, Probably Fatally.

Winnipeg, Aug. 23.—Constable Trainor was shot in the lung, and Constable Brown was fired at fifteen times, but not hit, by three housebreakers whom the officers were arresting in Elmwood and North Winnipeg this afternoon. Trainor is in a serious condition. Two men are now in the cells. The police were notified that the housebreakers were at work about 3 o'clock, and Constable Trainor, on his motorcycle, started for Elmwood unarmed. He was informed that the men had gone to the segregated district, and located them at a house on Rachael street. He was refused admission, and on going to the rear door was shot in the hip and laid out. Constable Brown, who had been sent to his assistance, set off after the men as they left the house, and all of them opened fire on him in the street, and of fifteen shots sent in his direction only one came near hitting him, cutting a hole in the leg of his trousers. He followed them persistently, and with another officer, succeeded in cornering the trio in Euclid street, a few blocks from the segregated area. The entire neighborhood was terrorized and the streets cleared of foot and vehicular traffic in a twinkling after the shooting was first heard.

Civilian Helps.

The arrest of the desperadoes was due to the presence of mind and courage of a youthful civilian.

The fugitives held up a trolley car on Euclid avenue, but the civilian, hearing the police whistle, and seeing the fugitives urging the motorman to hasten, pulled off the trolley. The men then backed out of the car, covering the passengers and crew, and commandeered a horse and buggy driivng by. The same youthful civilian grabbed the horse's head and ducked a fusillae of bullets from the two desperadoes, thus delaying them until the police arrived and effected their capture. Two of the men arrested gave their names as Harry Kelley and Frank Jones, both of Minneapolis.

WEST ELGIN KEEN FOR RECIPROCITY

Seventeen Conservative Farmers in One Subdivision on Record.

McNISH'S GREAT CHANCE

Rural Sections of Riding Will Give Him Big Majority—St. Thomas Will Do Better Than Before.

[By Our Own Man.]

St. Thomas, Aug. 23.—In one subdivision of West Elgin seventeen Conservative farmers have come out boldly in favor of reciprocity. In another an even dozen are doing everything in their power to throw open the gate to the American market. A prominent horseman, who has been one of the most effective opponents the Liberals found in past contests in the city of St. Thomas, proclaims openly that he will do all he can to elect Donald McNish. He says the opening of the American market means $1,000 every year to him, and when the "standpatters" of his party slapped him on the shoulder, and asked him to get in line, he laughed at them.

Liberal gains all through the rural sections and a great onslaught on the Crothers majority in the city of St. Thomas are the basis of a prophecy made by those who know West Elgin too well to bolster up with thin enthusiasm.

Mr. Crothers in Trouble.

Mr. Crothers finds himself much in the position of J. E. Armstrong, in East Lambton. The St. Thomas lawyer's position is scarcely less inconsistent than that of the creamery magnate who could see "no reasonable objections to reciprocity in natural products" at Christmastime. Mr. Armstrong's sentiment of Yuletide cheer, which he is holding slightly in reserve at the present time, is of a kind with Mr. Crothers' statement last February. It was then the spellbinder of Kettle Creek declared at an Aylmer meeting that he did not think reciprocity would do any harm to counties such as Elgin. He was "thinking in terms of continents" at that moment, and talked of a national scourge, from which his own county was immune, apparently, because of its proximity to the American market.

The farmers of West Elgin have wrapped their memories on these few smooth words of pacification. They have also read the "flip-flap" by Mr. Armstrong, and they are inclined to think of the pair as "Joe and Tom, the Flop-Over Twins."

A Solid Liberal Vote.

Donald McNish is a plain, industrious farmer, and the yeomanry that will vote for him was probably never before united for a candidate and his principles. Something that has not been known for years in West Elgin is expected to be realized on Sept. 21. The Liberal voters will mark their ballots to a man. It is some time since the party made anything like the showing of which it is capable, but a full muster is assured in this campaign.

Mr. McNish, than whom no one is more capable of feeling the beats of the rural pulse, may well feel proud of the hopes his friends carry to him—that he will sweep the riding with the greatest majority it has known.

This prediction is confidently made in the face of Mr. Crothers' past advantage in the city of St. Thomas. Several of the largest manufacturers have taken a stand with the farmers.

What the Railroaders Know.

The hundreds of railroad men know that while higher prices for hogs prevail in Buffalo than in their home city, they have to pay 18 to 25 cents a pound for bacon in St. Thomas, as compared to 12½ and 15 cents a pound in Buffalo. They appreciate that the fact that the farmer may get higher prices while the consumer pays less is not such an amazing paradox after all.

The battle in the east riding has its echoes in the discussion heard in the western section. City dweller and farmer wonder how David Marshall can be the champion of the farmer, the protector of the consumer and the head of the canning trust, that keeps a standard set of prices by which all factories, independent or trust-owned, must abide.

The Prize Elgin Cow.

The announcement that the Elgin cow is supreme, contained in recent reports, brings home to those master dairymen who are responsible for the high honor, that the American market has the highest price on the continent for the very product in which the county excels particularly.

HIGHWAYMAN KILLED BY INTENDED VICTIM

Man Who Attacked Girl and Companion Choked to Death.

[Canadian Press.]

Mansfield, Ohio, Aug. 24.—An unidentified man was choked to death here last night as the result of an attack upon the girl companion of the man who killed him.

Walter Clover, a florist, residing near Belleville, and Miss Hortense Schafer, daughter of Albert Schafer, an undertaker of Belleville, were seated in the Sherman-Heinman Park when the unknown man confronted them with a revolver and ordered them to accompany him across the adjacent railroad tracks. Under threat of death they complied, fearing to make an outcry, but when their assailant was momentarily off his guard, young Clover seized a clod of earth, and struck the man in the face partially blinding him, and he then seized him around the neck with both hands and choked him to death. The dead man carried a dark lantern. He was about thirty years of age.

MR. MULKERN PROMOTED

Is Now Division Superintendent of the C. P. R.

FINED THREE DOLLARS

Delaware Man Convicted of Cruelty to a Horse.

A fine of $3 and costs was yesterday afternoon imposed on Fred Fonger, the Delaware farmer, found guilty by Squires W. H. Chittick and A. M. McEvoy, of cruelty to his horse, which, according to P. C. Noonan and Mr. Dan. Joyce, operator of the merry-go-round at Springbank Park, he belabored unmercifully. It is understood that Mr. Fonger will appeal the case in the division court.

In his own evidence he stated that he had owned horses all his life and that at times he had found it necessary to use the whip. He claimed that he struck the animal but once after starting away, the horse having backed into a flower bed, but according to the policeman and Joyce he continued the beating for some time, until he attracted attention.

ANOTHER CHATHAM

Chamberlain the Only One to Stir Imperial Spirit Says Post.

[Canadian Press.]

London, Aug 24.—Joseph Chamberlain has contributed a notable preface to Archdeacon Cunningham's book, "The Case Against Free Trade." The veteran statesman says:

"The future of the empire lies henceforward, not in the power to annex new territories but in the capacity to unite and to develop the resources of the existing dominions. To it all our efforts should be directors while the empire is still plastic.

In another part of the preface he writes:

"The great dominions are willing. We alone refuse. They open the door to us. In return we slam it in their faces."

The article calls forth the admiration of the Morning Post, which describes Mr. Chamberlain as the successor of Chatham, the only living man who has the power to stir the British people to the depth of their imperial instinct.

HOW CANADIAN DAIRY INDUSTRY WILL PROFIT BY RECIPROCITY

Farmers' Advocate Says There Will Be Less Chance of Cornering Prices—Butter Business Will Receive Impetus.

The Farmers' Advocate, the leading agricultural journal of Canada, eschews party politics, but has felt impelled to discuss the reciprocity pact, because it touches directly the interests of its readers. In a recent number, under the head, "In the Dairyman's Interest," the Advocate said:

A Western Ontario creamery man and dairy farmer of long experience, looking at the subject from that dual standpoint, has no hesitation in expressing to the Farmer's Advocate his strong approbation of the reciprocity arrangement. The vastly-increased demand will prove stimulative to the trade in dairy products, and, in his judgment, tend to a levelling up of prices.

It is a well-known face that, notwithstanding the tremendous organized efforts, both by governments and private individuals, in Europe, America, and the Antipodes production is not keeping pace with the increasing demand for milk and its products, as has often been predicted in years gone by. One need only consider the economy of milk as a food, the teaching of modern medical science in support of its more general use, and the enormous growth of urban population, daily crying out for milk and cream and butter, to understand how difficult it is with a highly-organized and skill-demanding industry like dairying, to keep up a sufficient supply. If markets could be restricted to one or two milk products and be kept by "the trade" in certain limited channels, it might be possible to corner prices down a notch or two sometimes; but, with lessened tariff restrictions, thus becomes more and more difficult. One might suppose that, with the characteristic enterprise of United States dairymen, they would keep pace with, if not overdo, the industry; but not so. A recent study of the situation in New York State, where so many conditions favor dairy cattle, proved that, even with greatly advanced prices, the requisite dairy cows are not forthcoming. In Ontario we have a similar state of affairs, and reciprocity will probably send buyers abroad in this Province to recruit the big dairy herds of the Empire State, and add emphasis to the counsel given in these columns, to make more of a specialty of raising dairy heifers. A decided impetus to the butter business may be looked for as one of the sequences of reciprocity.

Butter and Cream.

The inability of United States dairymen to keep up sufficient supplies of butter, even at enhanced prices, led to the reduction of their tariff on cream, which is estimated as having gone across the border to the amount of some $3,000,000 worth for the year ending March 31, 1911, thus constituting a raw material for the American creameries. It was a necessary and sagacious move, and could only have been checkmated by imposing a heavy export Canadian duty on cream, which nobody in this country seriously thought of proposing. Other things being equal, and butter now being on the free list, it will be decidedly better to have that cream converted into butter in Canadian factories already equipped for the purpose, retaining, also, the manufacture of boxes and other dairy supplies. Last year's prices for cheese were not altogether satisfactory to our factory patrons, and to this branch of the industry, access to the near-by big American trade, where the superiority of Canadian cheese will doubtless make a place for itself, as it has in the British market, will assuredly have a wholesome effect. Canada has a great deal now at stake in the dairy industry, and when the increased cost of cows, feed and labor are concerned, all tending to advance the outlay of production, it would surely prove a boom to permit those engaged in the business to enjoy the privilege of selling in an additional market.

MACVEAGH UNCOVERS HUGE TARIFF FRAUDS

On a "Tip" From Marshall Field & Co., $500,000 Is Saved United States.

Washington, Aug. 22.—Remarkable revelations of the work of Secretary of the Treasury MacVeagh in eradicating gigantic frauds from the United States customs service, and of assistance given him by Chicago firms and citizens, are contained in a document made public today.

The document is a stenographic record of a hearing in which Mr. MacVeagh testified before the house committee on expenditures in the treasury department, of which Representative Cox, of Indiana, is chairman. This is the first time publicity has been given the secretary's statement.

More than $500,000 in fines and penalties were collected from English woollen manufacturers and American importers.

Marshall Field & Co. Aided.

The Panama hat frauds were discovered through information given Mr. MacVeagh by Marshall Field & Co. This firm imported its first lot of Panama hats a year and a half ago. They were passed through the Chicago customs house on the consular invoice.

Shortly afterward the firm received a second invoice, showing a 50 per cent higher valuation. A cabled inquiry to Peru brought the information that the firm was to pay for the hats on the second invoice, the first being for customs duty purposes solely, and the message added: "What everybody does."

The Chicago firm then presented the second invoice at the custom house and paid the full duty.

"Marshall Field & Co. came to me, they being my neighbors in Chicago, to clear their skirts," said Mr. MacVeagh. "That is the way we learned about it, and from that we took the general matter up. In about two weeks a firm made overtures and wanted to come into camp. A lawyer came down to see me, and we took them into camp. They paid us $25,000 and told us all about the system.

Chicagoan to Lose Job.

The secretary said the Chicago inspector who allowed the hats to go through on the low valuation "is going to lose his job."

The secretary said that hitherto not only sugar but every other kind of merchandise had been under-weighed at New York, and the "Government heavily defrauded right and left."

"There was a tremendous amount of corruption there," he said, "and on the passenger docks. That is the reason we had to take up the question of passenger baggage. I do not care much about passenger baggage—I get abused for it all over the country. But the real reason why we reformed the passenger luggage abuse was that if you should let the outrageous conditions on the passenger docks remain it would be hopeless to try to rehabilitate the rest of the service.

"Of course, that passenger smuggling was the most conspicuous thing among the customs frauds. It was notoriously bad, dishonest and corrupt. Numerous persons bought their way right across the docks, and our men stood with their hands behind their backs. It was the foulest mess you could imagine."

Dreadful Triple Murder in Small Indiana Town.

[Canadian Press.]

Boonville, Ind., Aug. 24.—A triple murder was committed in Boonville this morning. Richard Lee, Mrs. Lee and their 17-year-old son Clarence, were killed in their beds with a hammer, and the house set on fire.

By the time firemen reached the house it was blazing from all sides. Trying to enter they found all the doors and windows were locked. Breaking down the doors the firemen found the incinerated bodies of Lee, his wife and his son. Robbery, it is believed, was the motive.

It is known that the Lee family, consisting of the mother, father and two children, had sold a small piece of property and divided up the money between them.

The older son, William Lee, who is 21 years of age, was arrested by the sheriff this morning on the charge of murdering the other members of the family.

THUGS AT WINNIPEG CLOSE TO A LYNCHING

Constable They Shot Cannot Live More Than a Few Hours.

[Canadian Press.]

Winnipeg, Aug. 24.—Harry A. Kelly and Frank Jones, the young bandits who participated in a street duel and hold-up on a street car last night, were arraigned in the police court today, and again locked up pending the death of their victim, Constable Traynor. Surgeons declare the officer cannot live more than a few hours, as a heavy bullet penetrated his bowels. Restrictions have been taken off the immigration ports of entry in the west to aid the farmers in securing harvest help, and as a result the country is being overrun with desperate young men. Traynor, who was fatally shot last night, was fired upon repeatedly only a week ago by a young highwayman from the United States. He was unarmed. The police commissioner is contemplating changing the traditional policy of sending officers on patrol without other arms than a night stick or a billy. The battle in the streets, the hold-up of a car and a buggy, and a battle extending over a mile through a thickly-settled portion of the city, has created a tremendous sensation. A great crowd talked of lynching the thugs when they found an officer had been fatally shot.

A PRINCETON MYSTERY

An Aged Man Has Disappeared From His Home.

Woodstock, Aug. 23.—Mr. Perrin, about 70 years of age, disappeared from the village of Princeton in an unaccountable way. His wife says that on Monday morning about 2 o'clock he arose, as she thought, to go into the next room to sleep. In the morning he was nowhere to be found, and no trace of him has yet been discovered. No reason for his going away is known, and it would be difficult for him to go far without being seen by acquaintances.

FINANCIAL.

[From Chas. Head & Co., by private wire to J. J. Tearney.]

NEW YORK, Aug. 24.—Noon.—In comparison with the first hour yesterday the market was more active today, although the aggregate was light. The London selling of Americans in both markets was a feature and stocks appeared to come in from all around the room. There was an absence of support and professional speculators said that they expected continued pressure on recoveries. Indications at the opening were that the attack on the market was now being conducted by more powerful and abler tacticians. Before the end of the first hour a number of leaders, including Reading, Union Pacific, Northern Pacific, etc., showed losses.

DR. AMYOT INSPECTED CARLING'S CREEK

Complaints Are Made That the Stream Is Polluted.

Dr. Amyot, of the provincial board of health, Toronto, is in the city today, investigating Carling's Creek, and the claim that Hyman's Tannery is dumping insanitary material into the creek, which later finds its way into the river.

City Engineer Wright took Dr. Amyot over the ground, and they made a thorough inspection of the whole property. He will make a report to the provincial board, and then an order will be issued in reference to it. Dr. Amyot would not discuss the nature of his report at this time.

For many years Carling's Creek has been the cause of much discussion at the sessions of the board of health. Every year there are complaints regarding it, but no permanent improvement has ever been made.

It was proposed at one time to tile the creek, but the city council could not do the work as the stream ran entirely through private property. It is now expected that the Government will order some action to be taken.

A LONG CHASE

Wife Rounds Up Runaway Spouse and Then Forgives Him.

Montreal, Aug. 23.—Travelling 12,000 miles to intercept her husband, who had deserted her, having him arrested in Montreal three hours after taking the warrant out, and leaving the courthouse this morning agreeing to forgive and forget and live life anew, is the startling story of Mrs. Hemicus Van Rooy, of Antwerp. As soon as she saw her runaway husband she relented, and withdrew the charge of desertion, and is now willing to pardon.

About four months ago Hemicus Van Rooy left Antwerp and his wife, taking with him another woman whose husband had been buried on the morning of their departure, and set sail for America, where he found employment for a few weeks, and finally landed in Montreal, where he has been for about three weeks, living at 181 Cadieux street with the woman in the case.

Yesterday, after a long search from Antwerp to New York, then to Boston and Chicago, the wife made her appearance at the detective bureau, and Chief Carpenter, after hearing her story, put Detectives Gorman and Liepege on the case, and in the short space of three hours was able to place the man and actually present him to his wife at detective headquarters.

When leaving the court this morning, apparently reconciled, the couple were going to Paterson, N. J., but later decided that Montreal was good enough, as the husband is working and doing well. He is a blacksmith by profession.

WESTMINSTER.

The many friends of Mrs. Adam Nichol will be pleased to know there is a littlei mprovement in her condition. Dr. George Routledge is in attendance.

Rev. E. H. and Mrs. Sawers, of Brucefield a,re renewing old acquaintances this week. All are glad to welcome them back.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Nichol, Hubrey, are taking the Mackinac trip this week.

The Presbyterian choir garden party was an unqualified success. There was a very large attendance, good supper and stirring music, and good cheer everywhere on the grounds. The programme in the church was particularly good. Dr. McCrae was chairman, and Miss Robson, soloist, and Miss Carmichael, reciter, were both very pleasing, and may be sure of a warm welcome back. The feature of the evening was the address of Hon. Adam Beck, Ontario's minister of power. For the first time Mr. Beck told an audience of farmers, with their wives and daughters, the polity and scheme of the Government to develop and utilize hydro-electric power for the people of Ontario in rural districts as well as in cities and towns. Every one was delighted with the interesting, instructive and highly practical address. Mr. John C. Nichol and his faithful helpers deserve the congratulations of all on the success of the whole affair.

The boxes for the new R. M. M. No. 9, London, are being put in place, and the contractor, Mr. Winflow, of Chelsea Green, will open the route on Monday, the 28th.

OLD LADY PLEADED WITH THE OFFICIALS

Asked G. T. R. to Make Good Loss of Cows Killed at Ingersoll.

A pathetic case occurred at the Grand Trunk depot this morning, when a decrepit old lady, 85 years of age, came in from Ingersoll to ask the officials to make some compensation to herself and aged husband for three cows that had recently been killed by trains. The old lady stated that the three cows and the little farm on which they live near Ingersoll are all that she and her husband have to live on. She pleaded most emphatically for something to be done to help them in their difficulty. The matter will be looked into by the G. T. R. authorities.

The Wedding March was played by Mrs. W. Chamberlain. Mr. and Mrs. Hoyles left on the 4:25 p.m. train for Montreal, en route for Nottingham, England, where Mr. Hoyles' parents reside. Many beautiful and useful gifts were received.

Success of British Railway Strike Arouses Teuton Workers.

[Canadian Press.]

The cigarmakers are discussing what they call the inadequate rate of wages paid to them. They hope to secure some concessions from the employers without the necessity of a strike.

The dockers of Bremen today decided to refuse to unload British vessels in which strike-breakers are employed.

The Liberal standard-bearer was given an enthusiastic reception. He explained the provisions of the reciprocity agreement, particularly with regard to tobacco, beans, hay and barley, and proved conclusively that it would be in the interst of the fearmers of West Kent.

EVIDENCE HEARD

himself or either Morgan or Paterson. Although he had heard of the raid he did not bring up the subject, as he claimed he was not interested in the slightest.

"I may tell you," said the magistrate, "that you have told anything but a straightforward story. I do not believe your story, especially concerning the conference on Sunday last. I formerly had a great regard for the men of Adelaide Township, but since hearing you speak as you have under oath, I have altered my opinion. Unless you answer what is asked of you in a truthful manner, I will have to take steps to make you do so."

Cross-examined by Mr. Morgan, who conducted his own defence, Kallem retracted several statements made to Mr. McKillop.

"That evidence has been taken," said the magistrate.

"Yes," replied Mr. Morgan, "but he has not signed his evidence."

The ire of the court was drawn down in thorough style, the defendant being warned not to suggest any such course to the witnesses. When Kallem quibbled about affixing his signature to the document the question was revived, but upon being informed that he would sign all right or take a very unpleasant alternative, the witness placed his name on the sheet.

Kissing the Book.

"I am sorry to say that you did not kiss that Book," remarked Mr. McKillop, as Robert aPterson took the stand. The witness denied any intent to avoid being sworn and placed his lips firmly against the page, gave vent to a resounding smack.

"Just like that," he said, returning the Bible to the court.

He stated that he is a cousin of the defendant, and that he ordered three cases of lager from him. At first he declared that he had given the written order himself, but when questioned as to whether he had signed with pen or pencil he corrected himself, and stated that he had told his wife to give the order when she saw Morgan. He had never paid over the money himself, but thought that was because Morgan owed him money for oats, more than sufficient to balance the account.

A Warning.

Mr. Paterson was also warned repeatedly to tell his story with regard to facts, and when asked whether or not he had rehearsed the matter with any person, said that he had not. He was not sure whether Morgan delivered the lager with a team o ra single horse, but if he had a team, one of the horses was a gray.

The case is still in progress, and will probably be further adjourned, as the crown will call Mrs. Robert aPterson.

Provincial License Inspector George Morrison is in the city in connection with the case.

STICKS TO TRAIL OF JAP MURDERER

After Four Years' Chase the Avenging Sleuth Lands His Man in New York.

New York, Aug. 23.—Arrested on complaint of a fellow-countryman, who declares he has been following his trail for four years, Frank Maurats, a Japanese, was taken from the Long Island city prison this afternoon and placed on board a train, a prisoner, by the sheriff of Weld County, Colorado.

The Japanese was arrested several weeks ago at Rockaway Beach, where he was conducting a Japanese bazaar, on the complaint of Kirkeukina Idusuki, who declared he was wanted to give testimony in Colorado in connection with a murder committed there four years ago.

According to Idusuki's story, in July, 1907, Maurats and Gikoyan Uyuchi were two of a Japanese colony in Greeley, Col., Uyuchi being the banker and steward for the rest. One day Uyuchi was found murdered and the savings of the colony gone. Maurats was missing, and Idusuki was delegated to find him.

Idusuki tracked Maurats through a dozen states for four years, and only recently located him at Rockaway. The avenging sleuth accompanied the sheriff and the prisoner when they left for the west this afternoon.

TOWN SUES ORDER

Quebec Municipality and Religious Organization in Courts.

[Canadian Press.]

Montreal, Aug. 24.—A long-standing dispute between the citizens of St. Genevive and the fathers of the Holy Cross concerning the ownership of a college at present in the possession of the fathers, is the basis of a suit taken out against the fathers in the name of the ratepayers.

Difficulty arises over a misunderstanding as to the obligations assumed by the religious community in securing possession of the land in question. At present the buildings are utilized as a novitiate, whereas when the initial act of transfer was passed in 1887 it was specifically stated that the fathers should conduct a commercial college, and it was on this understanding that the land and buildings were conveyed to them.

A clause was inserted in the deed of transfer to the effect that in the event of the fathers ceasing to conduct the institution as a college for the training of youth, the property should pass out of their hands and again come under the control of the municipality. It is this clause which the municipalty now cites, in favor of having the fathers despoiled of the land and buildings.

The latter, however, while admitting that the land and buildings originally came into their possession as a result of the deed mentioned by the plaintiffs, cite another and subsequent act, whereby the conditions of the former deed were over-ridden and the property definitely turned over to the religious community to be used as a novitiate.

A Pretty Wedding.

A pretty wedding took place at St. Peter's Cathedral this morning when Miss Mary Loguidice was married to Mr. John Fraumeni. The ceremony was performed by Father Odrowsky. Mr. Tony Loguidice, brother of the bride, was groomsman, and Miss M. Fraumeni bridesmaid. Mr. and Mrs. Fraumeni left at noon for eastern points, and on their return will reside at 290 Dundas street.

Scott—Blackwell.

A quiet wedding took place on Wednesday afternoon at 3 o'clock at Rev. Dr. Nixon's home, of Miss Margaret Blackwell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Henry Blackwell, of 177 Clarence street, to Mr. Melville H. Scott, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Scott, of Vanneck. The groomsman and bridesmaid were Mr. George McIntoch and Miss Ethel Scott, of Vanneck, sister of the groom.

A Former Londoner.

The following item is taken from a recent issue of a Buffalo paper: "A letter from Lieut. Gardner has been received by Capt. Parker, of "G" Company of the Seventy-fourth Regiment, complimenting him on his staff of non-commissioned officers. Lieut. Gardner had conducted a school of instruction for non-commissioned officers, and among those who received commendation was Corporal Hugh A. Omond, whose work was classed as absolutely perfect. On the strength of this report Corp. Omond was promoted to the rank of sergeant." Corp. Omond is a son of Mr. Hugh Omond, of Oxford street, and was well known in London before he removed to Buffalo. The Seventh Regiment were entertained in the armories of the Seventy-fourth on the occasion of their visit to Buffalo in the summer of 1907.

CORRESPONDENCE

THE LONDON SPECTATOR ON RECIPROCITY.

To the Editor of The Advertiser:

In the present electoral contest efforts are being made to show that if reciprocity in natural products with the United States goes into force, the bonds between Canada and the Mother Country may become loosened.

A number of high-toned gentlemen in Toronto, who are all the time engaged in "financial reciprocity" with the States, have looked down from their lofty pedestal and delivered themselves solemnly to the effect that they think it would be injurious to the loyalty of he common people to do the same in their line of business.

Then we have Mr. Hawkes' racial sentimental appeals to the British-born, the beating of the imperialistic drum and flag-waving in general.

With regard to these sinister tactics, I wish to call the attention of your readers to an article on the reciprocity measure which appears in the Spectator, of London, England, issue July 29, 1911. This paper, as you know, is one of the most high-class Conservative organs in Great Britain, and is a strong supporter of the House of Lords, Mr. Balfour and Lord Lansdowne. Conversely it hates the new Parliament bill, and believes that Mr. Asquith has dragged the constitution in the dust. I mention this to show how its utterances should carry weight with the gentlemen on the lofty pedestal and the flag-wavers and beaters of the imperialistic drum.

The article in question deals with reciprocity from the standpoint of the relations between Canada and Great Britain, and is a direct rebuke to all who set up the cry of "sundering the ties which bind us." With your permission I will give a few extracts from the Spectator, which not only prove this but actually show that this out-and-out Conservative and imperialistic paper favors reciprocity and hopes it will be carried. To quote:

"Mr. Borden, the leader of the Opposition, has bravely, but, we trust, vainly, carried war into the heart of the enemy's country, and has lately undertaken the task of converting the western farmers, who are the most convinced supporters of reciprocity. The farmers want new markets for their grain, and the removal of the barrier of tariffs along the frontier would give a tremendous impetus to their business. They must be difficult men to convince.

"The desire to make Canada a permanent tied-house comes from the delusion that two countries cannot be prosperous at the same time.

"It is childish to say to Canada that if they and the Americans both become richer through new opportunities of trading with each other Canada will be guilty of a disloyal act to Great Britain."

(What say Mr. Hawkes and gentlemen on the lofty pedestal?)

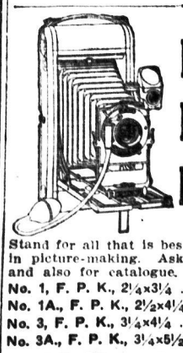

"Along the three thousand miles of frontier between Canada and the United States it is impossible to maintain a Chinese wall. The reciprocal pressure of human convenience and human wants between two peoples speaking the same language would require the removal of the wall sooner or later."

The Spectator concludes with the hope that: "If Canadians desire to adopt the reciprocity bill there will be no suggestion whatever that they are doing anything injurous to the imperial connection. Such a suggestion would be nothing less than an anti-imperial act."

These passages are quoted, word for word, from the article in the Spectator, and are representative of its entire tenor and spirit, but I strongly recommend any person interested in the matter to read it for themselves. It is on file in the Public Library. Page 166, issue July 29, 1911. I am, yours obediently,

ENGLISHMAN.

GREAT ACTIVITY NOW AT THE FAIR GROUNDS

Grounds Are Being Staked Out for the Concessions and Privileges.

There is great activity at Queen's Park every day now, making preparations for the exhibition, which opens in a few weeks' time. The secretary of the exhibition and Caretaker McLeod were busy staking out the ground for the concessions and privileges yesterday, a plan of same having been carefully kept at the general offices. There are still a few good locations, but the grounds are fast filling up.

The hydro people are busy placing poles and wires, and the grounds will certainly present a very fine appearance with the strings of lights up and down in front of the avenues and midways. The old Midway, as well as the new one will be crowded with shows, and there will be something doing every minute. A large number of the exhibitors in the Main Building are spending considerable time and money in beautifying their spaces, and along with the changes made by the management, visitors to this building will have a surprise awaiting them.

The ladies' work will be all displayed in glass cases and covers. Additions were made to the prize list in this department this year, and a large entry is expected. There will be a large exhibit of fine arts this year, and more room had to be provided. A very interesting exhibit is promised in the Old Curiosities, in the gallery of this building.

The "Made in London" exhibit will be in the old art annex, one feature of which will be an exhibit of the work of the school children of the city and the manual training department will be demonstrated each day of the exhibition. All exhibitors are requested to have their exhibits in place not later than Saturday, Sept. 9. There will be a band concert Saturday night, when the grounds and all buildings will be open for visitors, and it is expected the citizens will make a grand rally to the park, as it will afford a good opportunity to see the exhibits early.

HYDE PARK FARM WILL GO UP $1,000

What the Reciprocity Agreement Carries —A Conservative View.

A London dentist tells of a conversation he recently had with a Conservative farmer, who, with his sons, has several hundred acres near Hyde Park.

"How do you like reciprocity?" the dentist asked.

"Well," replied the farmer, "I'm a great Conservative, but I am not a fool, and the moment the agreement is ratified I will add $1,000 to the price of the farm."

WARNING WHISTLE TOO LATE SAYS JURY

Inquest Into Death of Sectionman Kanneman at Parkhill.

Parkhill, Aug. 23.—The coroner's jury inquiring into the death of Fred Kanneman, sectionman, who was killed on the G. T. R. track east of Parkhill on Sunday, brought in the following verdict, after 45 minutes' deliberation:

"We find that Frederick Kanneman came to his death by being struck by G. T. R. engine No. 1309, on Sunday, Aug. 20, at 6:10 a.m., while performing his duties inspecting the tracks east of Parkhill. We are of the opinion that warning had not been given by the engineer in time to allow the deceased to leave the track."

Coroner Dr. Caw presided, assisted by Coroner J. R. Anderson, of Ailsa Craig. The crown attorney was represented by Hume Elliott, K. C., of London, and the Grand Trunk by D. F. McGraw, first assistant claims agent, Toronto.

The witnesses heard were James Luice, section foreman; Dr. D. C. Wilson, who performed the autopsy; C. H. Smith, engineer; W. E. Langdon, conductor; F. Baker, brakeman, and R. West, fireman, all of Stratford.

Engineer Smith said he applied the emergency brake about three telegraph poles west of the crossing 2½ miles east of Parkhill, about 50 feet from the man on the jigger. The track was wet and the engine skidded. Witness saw the man and machine struck and hurled down the embankment of five or six feet. He backed up. He then ran into Parkhill and brought back the coroner, Dr. Wilson and others.

CLOWNS MAKE MERRY WITH BARNUM & BAILEY

Big Regiment of Fun-Makers With the Circus Next Saturday.

Speaking of the clown, Victor Hugo said: "He could make them laugh, and as we have said before, to make people laugh is to make them forget. What a benefactor to humanity is he who can bestow forgetfulness."

Realizing the potency of humor, as a factor in entertaining the public, the Barnum & Bailey Greatest Show on Earth management are making a feature of pantomimic clown work this season, and to that end will introduce a regiment of fun-makers in the arenic performances to be given here next Saturday.

Sixty merry mummers constitute the clown quota, giving promise that there will be something doing all the while in the way of joyous merriment.

No longer can the clown depend on song and sally, for he can't be heard, but the almanac and the funny man in vaudeville keep his jokes in circulation while he cudgels his brains for things to take their place. The three rings and a platform have made clowning a complicated business for him.

Now that he can no longer talk he has to be everything except a talker. He has to be an artist in makeup, an acrobat, an equestrian, a pantomimist, a musician, a gymnast, a lightning-change artist.

Now that fun-making appeals almost entirely to the eye, each of the fifty clowns with the Barnum & Bailey circus has to work fifty times as hard, at the very least, as the old-timer of the one ring circu and the one makeup.

The London Advertiser
Ermaline Paper Bag Cookery

These Cooking Bags are now available by mail or at The London Advertiser Office in quantity and at cost, as stated on coupon, which must be clipped out and presented or sent with order. A Paper Bag Cooking Coupon will be found in every issue of The London Advertiser as long as the bags are on sale.

Directions---How to Use Cooking Bags:

1. Select one that "fits" the food intended to be cooked.

2. Grease slightly the inside of the bag, except in the case of vegetables, or when water is to be added.

3. When the food has been prepared for the bag, place the same on the table, and lift the uppermost edge of the bag while you insert the contents.

4. Fold the mouth of the bag two or three times and fasten with a clip, or pins, or in any other way that will secure as nearly as possible a hermetical closing.

Should it ever happen that a bag leaks, simply transfer it with contents undisturbed to another bag.

5. The oven, any kind of which will do, should be kept clean, and if properly heated, as with the old style of cooking, results should satisfactorily follow. Average oven heat should be about 200 degrees, Fahr., and when the bag is put into the oven this heat should be reduced by about 30 degrees. In the case of ovens with solid shelves, a wire grid should be placed on the shelf with a space between and the bag with contents on the grid. Experience will soon teach the cook when the oven is hot enough without the use of a thermometer.

6. The oven door will not require to be opened every now and then "to see how the roast is doing." The whole force of the heat is playing upon the bag and from within it cannot escape.

7. Exercise care in taking the bag out of the oven, and if gas is used the bag should be kept out of danger of contact with the flame.

A plate inserted under the bag will best remove it from the oven.

8. When taken out for use the bag should be ripped open from the top and the fragments thrown away.
