The Shops of London form one of the p-incipal attractions to vaitors, come from what part of the world they may Thomas it that the accence and industry of man have succeeded in producing at home one well as all that tenterprise and capital have colfected from every explicable district of the globe as well as all that tenterprise and capital have colfected from every explicable district of the globe as to be found in abundance, and to be bought for a price. Everything that man can require under any sireumstances of his life, and tau thousand things besides, tempt the vanity and cupidity of the passe ger, and teach in, if he be disp, see to fear, in one and the same lesson, both the value and worthlessness of easith. riches in gold, silver, and precious jeucus, such as the old Monarches the East might have dr. amt as but never any. In the squee of a single mile he may travel from the Nurth Pole to the Polynesian. I less—from Western Europe to J. p., and contempine and handler, if he knowe, the infinite productions of every taitude self every race. If he be an Englishman, he will probably feel some justifiable pride in the aniversal extent of that Commerce, the evidence of whose success is in all directions so abundantly manifest. Let him pause—there are two sides to every picture.

There are aching hearts and anxious bosoms behind many a gorgoous front, and wealth-crassmed window. The inemisable expenses efterndent upon a shop of any pretensions in London, are enormously large. A trader in search of a sh p to settle in, though he my find plenty to let, with rarely find one that holds out any prospect of success, for which a heavy premium is not demanded. For a house in one of the populous lines of road, hundreds must be paid down to liberty to go in, and when that liberty is purchased bundeds more must often be expended before the place is put in a habitable condition. We have heard of £300 premium b. i g asked for a fifthy don, the fee simple of which, independently of situation, was not worth £601; and asked for a filthy den, the fee simple of which, in-dependently of situation, was not worth £50; and it is often made a condition of entrance that the incoming te-ant shall, in addition to premium, expend some hundreds more in immediate repairs and fittings. Then if we take into counsi teration that the annual rent of such places, when the traffic is plentiful, may be reckoned l.w at £ 200, and is often much more—and that, at the lowest estimate of the annual second annual rent of the annual second annual rent of the annual second annual sec THE above HOUSE, being situated near the PARADE GROUND, DALHOUSIE soften much more—and that, at the lowest estimate, other expenses which cannot be avoided amount to at least as much, we shall see that every such retail stop must realize a gain of above £1 los. a day to defray standing expenses, to say nothing of housekeeping expenses, to say nothing of housekeep ustom—that is, single transactions with persons whom they never see agai.

This chance-cu tom, by the way, is one of the This chance-cu tom, by the way, is one of the most inexplicable things connected with shopkeeping. WEDNESDAY, DECEMBER 4, 1850.

Next to the No-Popery excitement in England the most interesting fea ure in the news from the Old World is the state of affairs in Germany. We first learnt by telegraph that a skirmish had taken place between the outposts of the Prussian and Austro Bavarian Armies in Hesse C.secl. The truth appears to be, that an Austrian picket, being pushed up to a Prussian outpost, was challenged by the latter, and the Austrians having replied to the challenge in an insulting manner, the Pruss sians fired on them; the file was returned, and few men killed and wounded on each side. The Prussians then retired, not In cousequence of a y apprehension of the enemy's strength, but because it was necessary to concentrate their forces.

It is said, ho vever, that the Prussian Ambasso der at Vienna is on the point of settling all matter in dispute ; that England, Russia, and France, have offered their med ation, and that the probability i that hostilities, however menacing things look at pres, nt, will n.t proceed further, it is said also that the military men and nobles immediately sur rounding the young Emperor of Austria are eager for war, and that the Emperor is particularly urged on by the Archduchess Sophia, who is a bigoted R man Catholie, and is anxious to have a conflict between the Southern Catholic and Northern Profestant Powers of Germany, the affir thus assuming a religious aspect. It seems difficult to decide what allies Prussia would have in a contest with Austria. That power is already joined by Bavaria, and probably would be also by Saxony and Wastemburg .-Hanover, a Protestant Power, and most of the smaller Northern States would perhaps find themselves compelled to side with the Prussians.

In the meantime Prussia is in a state of intens excitement; the Regular Army of Prussia is on the move, the first and second bans of the Landwehr have been called out; the fortresses are put went have been cased out; the locaresses are put in a state of distince; the Military Schools broken up, and the put in a state of distince; the Military Schools broken up, and the Lectures were delivered upon it in connecting of the Landwehr will bring back to the land. Dr. Haward furthermore, proposed to expense the land. Principal standard between three and four thousand officers and soldiers, now serving with General Willisen in Holstein. Large masses of these Provinces, the roads being covered with trains of satisfied, but derive both profit and advantage. cannon, postoons, and store waggons of all We strongly recommend this Course to the attenthe King's brother, is to take command of the Army.

It may not be uninteresting to give our readers an idea of what the Military power of Prassia really is. We collected the notes from which we give this information about six years ago, but we believe that there has been no alteration in the Prussian Military system since that time.

In the first place, every man in Prussia, n matter what his station in life, must serve in the Army as a private soldier for three years, provided he have the bodily capability to shoulder musket, or awing a sabre. There are a few ex emptions in favor of the Clergy, physicians, law yers, and so forth.

The period of service is from the 29th to the 23.d year of age. But any young man who is qualified to undergo an examination in the middle classes of the High Schools, or the upper classes of the Burgher Schools, may enter the Army at 17, and serve for one year only, provided he main tain himself and find his own clothing.

From the 24th to the 26th year the soldier on leave of absence, but liable at any moment to be called on to rejoin his standards. With his 25th year the period of regular service exaires, and the Prussian is then till his 32nd year numbered in the first ban of the Landwehr, this ban being liable to be called out for active service at home or abroad at any moment. From the 32nd to the 39th year the Prussia subject belongs to the second ban of the Land wehr; this ban being reserved mostly for home duties, such as garrisoning the fortresses, d.c.

All men above this age belong to the Landsturm, or levy en mone, and are never called on except in cases of great national emergency.

The first and second bun of the Landwehr are called out annually for drill and manouvre, and every second year are formed, with the Regular Army, into great camps of instruction. Thus, it will be seen, that the whole male population is drilled to the use of arms. The Regular Army of Prussia in time of peace consists of about 140,000 men, of whom 15,000 are artillery, and 18,000 cavalry, the Government wisely keeping these two arms of the Service i greater strength, on account of the longer period of training which they require.

LECTURES ON OPHTHALMIC AND AURAL SUR GERY .-- We were present on Saturday evening at Dr. Howard's Introductory Lecture to his Course on the above subject, and were highly gratified. There was a respectable and attentive class of students, who also appeared as much gratified as ourselves, as evidenced by their plaudits at the onclusion of the Lecture, in which the only fault we could find was, that it was too short. After expatiating at some length on the miseries of those born blind or deaf, or those rendered so by the culpable ignorance of Surgeons under whose care they had placed themselves, he dwelt upon the gratification experienced by those who were rendered providentially instrumental in restoring these lost or destroyed senses. He entered into the value of the study of these diseases a a part of medical education, and contended for the utility of at ention to this speciality, by the recital of a long list of illustrious names who have devoted themselves exclusively to its prosecution and from the fact that it was a necessary part of medical education on the Continent of Europe interest to the always in quiry, what will be the result of the next G Risction 3 A correct answer to this question would require the gift of prescience. We can only determine on the probabilities of a future event by a careful view of existing facts. Let us, for a mement, scan the political map of Western Canada, and try to accertain the temper and temdency of the public mind. The strength of political feeling in Western Canada is mainly anti-Ministerial. The predominant political principles, which have gradually gained an ascendancy over the public mind, do not accord with Ministerial views, policy, or professions. The blunders and the vices of the Administration have alienated all knapeacks and accountrements very light; in fact, the vices of the Administration have alienated at their more honest supporters. Of their once geal ous supporters, the number is now incomparably mounted, and has small. The offst of official patrogage, which,

The rifle is a good deal used in the Prussian Army, both in infinitry and existing the property of the discountry valzy, the rife troops wearing dark green unitorm. The whole of the regular infantry are untrust, then indifference, then opposition, then dislerstood to be now armed with the Zund-nadel, a gust, now irreconcilable antipathy. Such is a seculiar musket, leading rapidly at the breach, of true picture of the mental process which accomwhich a long description was given in the Courier panied the alienation from the Government of the party to whose votes it owes its position of power -now but nominal, and the continuance of which is owing to a pre-existing law which fixes the regular duration of Parliament at four years. The fate of a Government thus existing by conventional sufferance, when the people are called to ronounce upon its merits, can hardly be doubt ful. Cast an eye over the the constituencies, and what, according to present indications, will be the probable result of a General Election ? I shall not pretend to prophecy, but only to note present indications. In Essex, at the present time, Prince is more powerful than at any previous period. If there be a decidedly Annexation County in Western Canada, it is Essex. There are three classes whose votes Prince would secure—Asnexationists, his constant supporters under all circumstances, and many who held "Clear Grit" doctrines. Kent will return some one of a more progressive school than the present Government is found to be in practice, or even in in-office professions. For Middlesex, Notman cannot be returned again; notwithstanding his loud professions of a desire to effect a revolution in the legal profession and legal practices. The thing is well understood and appreciated, and his constituents have politely interesting the profession of purchase to Rome, and a still more decisive configuration of Pusy visitical mummeries. Henry of school than the present Government is found to chances are, that Hincks might be elected by a small majority. However, other candidates may make their appearance before a Gencral election. Merritt will most likely be re-elected, through Canal, and local, and personal influence. The town of Niagara is almost wholly ander the influence of Mr. Hearn, who goes the Riective Institutions ticket; and on that ticket, I am informed that a Mr. Simpson will be elected Of Wentworth I know nothing. Hamilton will again return Sir Allan McNab. In Halton, there are quite a number ambitious of Parliamentary honors. Caleb Hopkins, Lauspert, will be dropt, Spence, the Warden of the County, and late Edito of the Dundas Warder, will try to edge in side ways. He is not a decided Ministerialist-the Ministry de not go quite fast enough for him; but if elected, and the present Government were in, it think he would be as likely to become thoroughly devoted to their interests as to art an independen nert. There is a Mr. John White, who was in Mr. Wetenhall's interest in the last contest, but who is now decidedly opposed to the Government. who will likely be brought forward as candida County. He is an Orangement, and goes for Elective Institutions. Price will be opposed in the First Riding of York by Mr. Gamble, and what is more, he will be besten. Morrison has not the slightest chance of being returned for the Second Riding. Last time he was elected by having three candidates against him, dividing the Conservative interest. I believe, however, that the received a majority of all the voice cust. He will be concered by Mackanyls and bastismatics for which has fallen from searly 26 millions of pounds will be opposed by Mackenzie, and beaten, too, if no other candidate appears. I do not think Mackensie could be returned against any candidate though I have no doubt he would best Merison Baldwin-if he does not retire from public lifewill be opposed by Peter Perry, and beaten easily. No matter which of the Ridings he may run for, he will be opposed by Perry. The Third Riding will return a Clear Grit. W. B. Robinson may be regarded as safe for Simene. Smith may pos-sibly be returned again for Durham; but no without the influence of Simpson, of Bowman

EUROPEAN AFFAIRS.

(FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.) LORDON, November 15, 1850.

It is almost idle to write or talk about any other subject than the " Papal aggression." The nation has proclaimed by acclamation, that the Manifesto are the guiding principles of every Englishman who is true to the Protestant cause.
Every day brings such overwhelming proofs that the proper feeling pervades the whole community, that all doubts as to the result are at an end. The declarations of Lord John Russell and the Lord Chancellor, at the Lord Mayor's dimer, plainly discover the intentions of the Government. plainly discover the intentions of the Government, After a long Cabinet Council held on Monday, the Lord Chancellor repaired to Windsor to report the Lord Chancellor repaired to Windsor to report to the Queen the result of their deliberations. It is conjectured by some, that a Royal Proclamation will immediately issue, asserting the rights established by law in Queen Elizabeth's Parlisment of 1563; denouncing as traitors all those "who, by asserting twice by writing, word, or deed, the Pope's authority," may bring themselves within the several penalties of the Statute. Whether this course will be adopted, so as to tranquillisse the minds of all classes of Protestant religionists, I cannot positively state; certain it is, that some legislative action will be determined upon as soon as Parliament assembles. The Premier has referred to the days of Protestant Queen Elizabeth; as Parliament assembles. The Premier has referred to the days of Protestant Queen Elizabeth; and the memorable Statute passed in the early part of her reign will, no doubt, form the precedent for his Lordship's guidance. It bore the title of "Assurance of the Queen's Royal Power over all States and Subjects within her dominions," and without having recourse to those hards penaland states and subjects within her dominions," and without having recourse to those barsh penal-ties which were adopted in a semi-barbarous age, we must, nevertheless, take effectual guarantees that the Protestant authority within this Realm preciated, and his constituents have politely informed him that his services will be against the propose the election of any lawyer who may offer. The whole of the Landwehr of Prussia, a amounting to 400,000 men, was suddenly called out, and the mighty forces of the Kingdom are now in an open, if not avowed, state of hostlity against the troops of Austria, Bavaria, Wurtemburg and Saxony, backed by the secret support of Russia, if not France. Never, in fact, since 1815, has Europe exhibited such a military spectacle. An Austro-Bavarian corps, under Prince Thurn and Taxis, has occupied Fulda—the Prussians retiring from that city—and was marching Thurn and Taxis, has occupied Fulda—the Prussians retiring from that city—and was marching on the city of Cassel, likewise in the process of evacuation by the Prussians, who, however, still retained possession of the great military road leading to that place. The Bavarian corps d'armee has had an encounter with a Prussian detachment posted near Bronzell, and a few men have fallen on both sides. Unless orders arrive from head quarters to check the impetuosity of the soldiery on both sides, a general action must soon take place. Both Prussian and Austria are arming all their forces; in a few days, Prussia will have 450,000 men is the field, which will be joined by the troops of Nassau, and some others of the smaller German States. The chief interest is now attached to that portion of the Federal troops the troops of Nassau, and some others of the smaller German States. The chief interest is now attached to that portion of the Federal troops which has received orders, and seem determined to march northwards towards the Duchies. The King of Hanover, who has hitherto maintained a strict neutrality, has protested against the march of the Federal troops through his Kingdom, through which they are about to pass, in order to reach Holstein. Probably King Ernest will now make up his mind to join Prussia. There can be no doubt, however, that the present state of affairs have been mainly brought about by the aggressive ant intrigues, to obtain military supremery in Germany, and her general want of good faith. If as the does not quickly moderate her pretensions, the ignominy of a military defeat will perhaps be added to the mertification of a political discomfirst promoted hostilities in Schleswig-Holstein; and the very cause of the war is now the refusal of Prussia and the Duchies to obey the mandates issued from the Frankfort Diet, as now reconstructed—these mandales-having application to the occupation of Hesse Cassel, and the termination of the war in Holstein-Schleswig.

of the war in Holstein-Schleswig.

I refrain at present from speculating upon the course which it will be the duty of England to pursue in the actual state of things. The exertions of Lord Palmerston will probably be directed to preserve peace a tout prix, and I think that in such endeavors he may be successful, notwith-standing the present threatening position of the contending powers. But when a million of men are all armed, and have indeed already come to are all armed, and have indeed already come to blows, it makes the task of the advocates of peace a very difficult one. If Russia should invade Prussian Silesia, and the Emperor's forces at Warsaw take possession of Gallicia and Hungary in order to enable the Austrians to employ all their forces against Prussia, France would not be an inactive spectator of the quarrel, and she would assuredly advance towards the Rhine. At this point, England would become alarmed, and could not view with indifference either the enceoachments of France or Russia.

The latest letters from Vienna speak of the chances of war being more remote. Negociations

The shaking of hands, embracing, John Wilson to the next Parliament.—It is saud his will be again opposed by Mr. Dixan. Machine and Thompson will both stand a chance of being sent back. Fergusson's Parliamentary days appear to be numbered. Southwark in the whole of the last Season, and, at the close significant in the worth of the wor and kissing-for Frenchmen still kiss each other has been merely of a preliminary character; the struggle of parties will, however, soon commence. Trade in Paris seems tolerably brisk, as usual at the beginning of the fashionable season; but the shop-keepers place little reliance on its stability, owing to the storm which is evidently gathering in the political world.

Beyond the blowing up of a 90 gun-ship Constantinople, causing a fearful loss of life, no other event from any other part of Europe has hallenged attention.

ST. Andrew's Society.—Saturday being the 30th November, the St. Andrew's Society held their Annual Festival. From an early hour in the morning the streets were ornamented with the banners of the sitser Societies, and netwithstanding the dirty state of the streets, the Sons of Auld Scotia mustered in great force. About ten s'clock they formed in procession and marched to the old Scotch Kirk in St. Peter Street. Here they lustened to a Fermon from Dr. Mathieson.

the old Scotch Kirk in St. Peter Street. Here they listened to a Fermon from Dr. Mathiesen, from 1st Kings, 11th cap., 21, 22. "And Hadad said unto Pharaoh, let me go to mine own country." The Reverend gentleman concluded by an eloquent appeal, on behalf of the needy, to the liberality of his heasers, and we learn that the collection amounted to £16.

In the evening the Society met again in the spiendid new Hotel built by Mr. Corse in Great Saint James Street, kindly given by that gentlement down to an excellent dinner, prepared by Messrs. Balfour and Tetu. By the side of the President of the Society, Wm. Edmonstone, Eaq., we noticed His Worship the Mayor—President of the St. George's Society; and Mr. Meyer, Req.—President of the St. George's Society; and Mr. Meyer, Req.—President of the German Society. After the cloth had been removed, the following tosats, which we give below, were proposed and duly honored; the last one being given by Mr. W. G. Mack, by special request of the bachelors: ors:-- . Secretula and Secritious Affections of the Neck, Affections of the Spine. Moreurial Affections, &c., &c., &c.
It is now genically admitted, by the learned and scientific, that the mysterious power called Galeansmon of Magnetism is in fact the principle of Vitality or Life, and that disease in many of its most painful forms is entirely owing to the absence of this Galvanic or Magnetic power in its healthy proportions. If, then, we can readily eapply this wondrous power, when it is thus deficient, we can successfully combat disease; and this has been fully and perfectly attained by this most wonderful sciemific discovery, of combining Magnetism or Galvanism with a discovery, of combining Magnetism or Galvanism wi Fluid which has cost the inventor of this remedy year Third which has cost the inventor of this remedy years of study and labor.

There is not an intelligent Physician, who has kept pace with the progress of science, that does not readily approve of the use of the Magnetie power in various discusses, and there is scarcely a Medical Journal, either in this country or Europe, which makes its appearance, without the statement of various cases, showing some new-effects of these wonderful agents, or corroborating previous experience of their beneficial use. The inventor of the Galcanic Embrocation has great pleasure in being able to state; that a majority of the most distinguished Physicians of New York constantly recommend the Embrocation in their practice, and from many of them has regeived the kindest testimoniats of approval and commendation.

MOFFAT'S

These Medicines have now been before the public for a period of FIFTEEN YEARS, and that time have maintained a high character at every part of the globe for their $1/7aor. health to persons suffering under nearly every kind of disease to which the human frame is link in

IN MANY THOUSANDS ertificated instances, they have even rescue after all the deceptive nostrums of the day had tell terly failed; and to many thousands they have permanently secured that uniform enjoyment of terly failed; and to many thousands they have permanently secured that uniform enjoyment of health, without which life itself a but a pain of hissing. So great, indeed, has their efficacy way fably and infallibly proved, that it has appeared scarcely less than miraculous to those with were acquainted with the beautifully philosophical precipies upon which they are compounded, and use which they consequently act. It was to the manifest and sensible action in purifying the sweap and channels of life, and enduing their ways and channels of life, and enduing their ways agreed to one and vigor, that they were notice. newed tone and vigor, that they were indebted up their name.
