BRITISH DESTROYER EDEN, 555 TONS, COMPLEMENT 70 MEN, SUNK BY COLLISION; 31 SAVED

Major P. P. Ballachey, of 58th. is Reported to Have Been Killed in Action

CARRANZA ISSUES ULTIMATUM; AMERICAN TROOPS MUST NOT MOVE, OR IT WILL BE WAR

Mexican General Serves Notice Upon General Pershing That if His Army Moves South, East or West it Would be Considered a Hostile Act - Americans in El Paso Ready For Developments.

By Special Wire to the Courier. NEW YORK, June 17.—An Associated Press despatch from Chihuahua City, Mexico, last night, said:

General Jacinto Trevino, commanding the Carranza army of the north, to-day advised General J. J. Pershing, American expeditionary commander, that any movement of American troops from their present lines to the south, east or west would be considered a hostile act and a signal to commence warfare.

General Trevino acted upon specific instructions from Carranza. AMERICANS GETTING READY. A despatch from El Paso, Texas, to the Tribune says: News of the Carranza ultimatum reached El Paso late yesterday afternoon in the form of a telegraph despatch, which was permitted to pass uncensored over the Carranza military wires between Chihuahua City and Juarez. With apparent eagerness Carranza officials in Juarez forwarded the despatch across the river.

General Bell, commanding at Fort Bliss, issued orders at 4 p.m. to the commanders of the various troop detachments which are encamped about the city, instructing them to hold all officers and men in camp in readiness for any development.

GETTING OUT OF MEXICO. LAREDO, Texas, June 17.—Philip G. Hanna, United States consul general at Matamoros, said that two remaining American consuls in Mexico, accompanied by half a dozen other Americans, arrived here to-day. He was reticent as to the object of his visit.

Washington, June 17.—Although the United States reply to General Carranza's last note is virtually completed, its despatch is being delayed while administration officials seek detailed information on these developments. Carranza's threat reported from Chihuahua yesterday, as having been transmitted to General Pershing through General Trevino, to start active warfare if American troops in Mexico are moved in any direction except northward toward the border; another bandit raid on Texas territory, north of Brownsville last night; the attack on American troops by Mexicans at San Ignacio Wednesday; and reports of warnings by the Carranza commander opposite San Ignacio that American troops would be attacked if they crossed the Rio Grande, regardless of their purpose. Additions to the note dealing with here to-day, are being considerably strengthened and extended as a result of the anti-Entente demonstrations which broke out in Athens last Monday. The demands were ready for presentation to the Greek government when the disorders occurred, but the note probably will not be delivered until next week. Meanwhile the Entente blockade against Greek ports is continuing in full force.

Austrian Offensive in The Trentino Stopped

Sudden Drive of the Russians Causing Much Pessimism Among Austro-Hungarian People—Von Hindenburg Hastening to the Front to Stop the Rush.

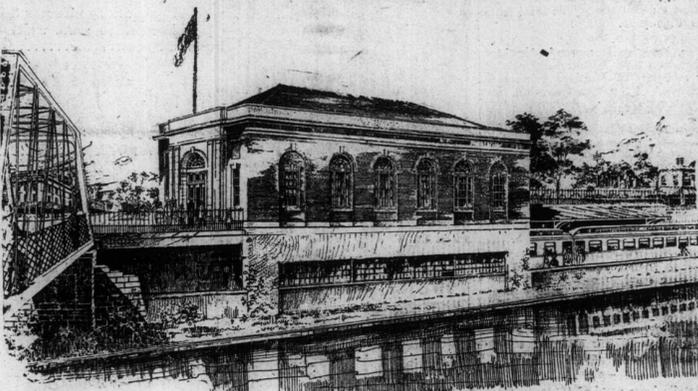

London, June 17.—(New York Sun cable)—Swiss Italian and Roumanian reports dwell upon the great effect of the Russian offensive on public opinion in Austria-Hungary where general pessimism prevails. The principal newspapers of Vienna make no comment upon the situation. It is reported that the offensive on the Trentino front has suddenly ceased. Austrian troop trains are hastening to the east both from the Trentino front and from Albania. Thirty-six trains loaded with soldiers are reported to have passed Pressburg in one day. A despatch from Bucharest confirms the astonishing efficiency of the Russian artillery and armoured automobiles. The latter have in one sector of the front replaced the cavalry, pursuing the Austrians and creating terrible havoc with their machine guns. Petrograd advices state that the first German reinforcements sent to help arrest the Russian advance from Lutsk were a division of Guards, which failed, however, to check the advance and was obliged to retire, suffering serious losses. Field Marshal Von Hindenburg also sent his chief of staff, General Ludendorff, to help Archduke Friedrich. Both came too late, however. According to Russian accounts the operations around Baronovichi were merely those of a reconnaissance in force to ascertain the German strength. German newspaper reports represent it as an attack by 30,000 Russians, which failed because the troops advanced too far from their artillery supports. The German accounts admit, however, that the Russian artillery destroyed strong German fortifications.

Premier of Greece is Playing Underhand Game

Paris, June 17.—Premier Skouloudis of Greece is sending out confidential instructions to government officials and army officers in order to counteract the effects of the order for the demobilization of the army, according to The Matin. The paper adds that the Allies will present shortly a complete list of their grievances to the Greek Government and that their demands will be couched in such a fashion as to prevent any trickery on the part of King Constantine.

THE NEW LAKE ERIE AND NORTHERN STATION

The plans as shown in the above illustration, provide for a one-storey building, located over the tracks at the southwest corner of Colborne and Water Streets, with 33 ft. frontage on Colborne St., and 76 on Water St., and tracks to pass beneath the main floor of the building, with platforms, express and baggage accommodation at the lower level. The design is New England, Colonial style; red brick, with limestone trimmings and green slate roof. The main floor at street level, with entrance from Colborne street, is to contain a main waiting room 35 x 50 feet, women's retiring room and lavatory, men's lavatory, and ticket and telegraph offices. Two stairways will lead from the main floor to the track platforms. Baggage and express rooms and steam heating equipment will be located in a separate extension 14 x 76 ft. on the lower or track level. This extension will abut the retaining wall of Water St., and will be accessible for teams at the lower end of the street. The interior of the building will be finished in Canada ash; the walls and ceilings of main waiting room to be plastered and finished with plastered cornice. The floors will be concrete. The lavatories will have a marble wainscot 6 3/4 ft. high.

PRESSURE ON GREECE IS NOW MUCH STRONGER

Blockade is Still Continued in Full Force—Stand No Nonsense.

Athens, June 16.—Via Paris, June 17.—The demands of the Entente allied nations on Greece, it was learned here to-day, are being considerably strengthened and extended as a result of the anti-Entente demonstrations which broke out in Athens last Monday. The demands were ready for presentation to the Greek government when the disorders occurred, but the note probably will not be delivered until next week. Meanwhile the Entente blockade against Greek ports is continuing in full force.

SENATOR BURLEIGH DEAD

Augusta, Me., June 17.—United States Senator Edwin C. Burleigh died last night at his residence here aged 73 years. He served two terms as governor of Maine and was one of the proprietors of "The Kennebec Journal."

NEW PASTOR

The Congregational church of this city is fortunate in securing a young and aggressive man as its pastor. The Rev. W. J. Thompson of Niagara Falls, N. Y., has accepted the call to this church. The Rev. Mr. Thompson will be remembered by many Old Country people as the "Yorkshire Boy Preacher." Many eminent men bear testimony to his sterling worth. He will assume his charge on or about the first of August.

DESTROYER EDEN SUNK IN CHANNEL BY COLLISION

Was Small Boat Carrying Four 3-inch Guns and 70 Men.

London, June 17.—The British destroyer Eden has been sunk. Thirty-one members of the crew were saved. Three officers are missing. The Eden was sunk in the English Channel last night after a collision. This announcement was made this afternoon by the official press bureau. The British destroyer Eden displaced 555 tons and carried a complement of 70. She was 220 feet long, 23 feet beam and 8 feet deep. She was built in 1903 and had a speed of 26 knots. The Eden carried four 3-inch guns and was equipped with two 18-inch torpedo tubes.

Gallant Rescue

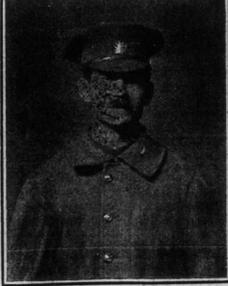

Fortunate it was that Fireman Buckborough, of the Central Fire Station, on his way to dinner at 11 o'clock this morning, decided to ride his bicycle along the canal bank. Near the corner of Greenwith and Port streets, he caught sight of something in the water which resembled the body of a child, which disappeared almost immediately. Fireman Buckborough dismounted from his wheel and plunged waist deep into the water where he groped about until he recovered the child, who proved to be the 4-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Linn, 23 Rose Ave. Immediate and energetic application of first aid restored the child to consciousness, so that to Fireman Buckborough's prompt action her life is owing.

IS STILL SICK

Roosevelt Passed a Comfortable Night; and His Voice is Now Stronger.

New York, June 17.—Theodore Roosevelt passed a comfortable night, coughing a little, but not violently, and to-day his voice was stronger and he hoped to return to his Oyster Bay home in the afternoon. The Colonel, his physicians announced last night, has suffered a slight attack of pleurisy. They consider his condition satisfactory on or about the first of August.

MOHAWK ST., city, wounded and in hospital at Etaples. He is married and has five children. The account of his hurt appeared in the Courier a few days ago.

NEW BATTLES STARTING ON WHOLE FRONT IN VOLHYNIA

Austria Trying to Give out Impression that Russian Forces are Checked, Also that Italian Counter-attacks Have Fallen Down.

Berlin, June 17 (by wireless to Sayville)—Austro-Hungarian troops south of the Dniester River, in Galicia, defeated a Russian cavalry force on Thursday, according to an official statement given out by the Austro-Hungarian army headquarters under date of June 16. The statement also announces that new battles have started on the whole front in Volhynia. The text of the Austrian statement follows: "South of the Dniester, our troops repulsed the enemy's cavalry. Further to the east there were only small engagements in this district. "West of Visovozzyk, Russian attacks against our positions are in progress. Two officers and 400 Russians remained in the hands of our troops. Near Tarnopol there were no special events. "On the whole Volhynian front new combats have been started. On the Stokhod and the Styr several Hungarian army headquarters under date of June 16. The enemy, as usual, suffered heavy losses. "Italian front— "Enemy attacks on the southern part of Dobrodo plateau were repulsed. Repeated Italian attacks against several of our positions on the Dolomites likewise failed. "On the Asiago plateau there were spirited artillery duels. "In the Orler district our troops conquered the top of Takat and the summit of the hindmost Madatsch."

Major Ballachey is Killed

Major P. P. Ballachey, of the 58th Battalion, is reported killed in the latest casualty list. Major Ballachey was formerly adjutant of the Dufferin Rifles and was a dentist by occupation. He lived on Brant avenue, and it was his home which was occupied by the headquarters staff of the 84th Battalion. He was a married man, with three children. Major Ballachey is the first officer from Brantford city to be killed in the war. The casualty list gives Major Ballachey's address as Toronto, but it is the Brantford officer who is meant.

German Sailors Were Taken With Casement

Dublin, June 17.—The prosecutor in the court martial trials in Dublin yesterday revealed that three German officers and twenty blue jackets were captured at Cork when they tried to land from a German gun runner, which accompanied the submarine on which Sir Roger Casement came to Ireland. The men, the prosecutor said, had been interned. A despatch from London on April 26, the day following the capture of Sir Roger Casement said that 22 Germans, picked men from the navy, had been captured in connection with the filibustering expedition to Ireland. The arrest took place at Tralee, which is 59 miles west, northwest of Cork.

PORTUGUESE AND HUNS FIGHT

Surprise Attack of Enemy in East Africa Beaten Off.

Lourenco, Fargues, Portuguese East Africa, via London, June 17.—An official statement on the fighting in northern Portuguese East Africa says: "The Germans on Tuesday made a surprise attack against the Portuguese post of Namaka. The fighting lasted an hour, the Germans using explosive bullets. The Germans crossed the river (Aovuma) in boats, but were forced to retire into the bush on the left bank. "The Portuguese troops lost five killed and two wounded. The German losses are unknown."

Mrs. Douglas Hammond, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Kohl of this city and wife of Lieutenant Douglas Hammond of the 7th Battalion, is a very clever poetess. A recent poem of hers, "There's a Battle, to Fight, Will You Fight It," is considered by critics to be one of the best reciting poems yet published. It has a tremendously fine ring and swing to it.

The Ladies Guild of St. Paul's Church, Holmdale, gave an enjoyable musical programme on Thursday evening. Quite the feature of the evening was the piano duet, "Zampa," rendered by Miss Standing and Mr. Brown, two talented pupils of Mrs. A. T. Adams. The piano was played by Miss Peasant, both numbers being greatly enjoyed. After the programme, dainty refreshments were served by members of the Ladies' Guild.

Details have reached Toronto from England of the marriage, already announced, of Ione Hunter Heintzman, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. G. C. Heintzman, well known in Brantford, and Goodwin Gibson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Goodwin Gibson, one of the officers now at Witley Camp and aide to Col. Verdon Eton of the 3rd Artillery Division. The ceremony took place in St. Vivian's Presbyterian church, Golden's Green, London, the groom's uncle, Dr. John Monro Gibson, officiating. Mr. George Hope, cousin of the bridegroom, gave away the bride who wore black tulle with facings of pink satin and her black tulle hat was trimmed with roses. Miss Christian Hope, the youthful bridemaid, was in a lingerie frock trimmed with sweet peas. Mr. Monro Gibson, 3rd Canadian Pioneer, on leave from France for the ceremony, was groomsmen. Mr. Gibson took his bride back to Millford, a strong force of mounted rifles meeting them at the station with an old English stage coach drawn by six black gun-horses, the riders being six lieutenants from the 8th Brigade, and trumpeters sounding a welcome. Then they were received by Col. and Mrs. Eaton, and they and about 100 guests sat down to a wedding breakfast in the officers' mess.

A very pretty compliment was recently paid to Lady Irene Curzon by her father, Lord Curzon, who says he owes very much to her companionship. Lady Irene has all her late mother's sympathy and charm of manner and is very brilliant. Lady Alexandra, Lord Curzon's third daughter resembles most in appearance Lady Curzon, who was Miss Mary Leiter, an American, and one of the most beautiful women of her day.

The conferring of the legion of Honor decoration on Mrs. Edith Wharton, who has been conspicuously active in extending aid to French women since the start of the war, is in line with the policy to bestow the honor only on those women notable for works of charity and beneficence. Among other women whose activities along these lines were similarly recognized were Sister Candide, who founded homes for consumptive children, and Mlle. Bottard, formerly of Salsprière, the great Paris hospital for aged and insane women. There have been many departures from the rule, however. Three queens have received the ribbon of the Legion of Honor, which has also been given to Rose Bonheur, Mlle. Dodier, postmistress at Pitiviers during the Franco-Prussian war, who performed acts of heroism, and Mme. Dieulafay and Mme. Massieu, explorers. Among American women so honored are Mrs. Potter Palmer, who was the only woman member of the American commission of the Paris exposition of 1900, and Cecile de Wentworth, the artist.

Victory is certainly with the Allies in the big bazaar now going on in New York. The million dollars originally hoped for has been reached and a further half million is already in sight. Sir Cecil Spring-Rice, the British Ambassador, and Lady Spring-Rice, were present on Wednesday with a party and received special attention at the British booths. Fifteen thousand dollars clear was added to Thursday's receipts when Mrs. Robert Bacon of the American Ambulance both announced that she had sold for that sum the emerald and diamond ring which was presented to the bazaar through her by a woman who said she had no money but she would give what she had for the suffering soldiers. The ring, which was of great beauty, two pear-shaped stones, an emerald and a diamond of fine quality, with small diamonds in the setting, was bought by a business man, whose name Mrs. Bacon refused to give. He bought the ring without having seen it and forwarded his cheque for the figure named by Mrs. Bacon.

Mrs. Able Says:
PEOPLE ask me why my tea tastes so good. First, I use freshly drawn water. When boiling briskly I pour it over the leaves, allowing the tea to steep, not boil, five minutes. Next, I pour the tea off the leaves into another pot. In that way you get the flavor of Red Rose Tea in all its fullness and richness. Try it. In sealed packages only.

STIFF FINE IS HANDED OUT FOR KILLING A DOG

Paris Magistrate Comes Down Heavily on the Guilty Party.

CASUALTY LIST IS MOUNTING

Several Names Appear, and It is Feared Some Soldiers Are Killed

From Our Own Correspondent)
Paris, June 17.—A case was decided in the police court yesterday morning that would be well for farmers to take note of. It was charged that on Sunday, June 4th, a farmer by the name of C. W. Lee, who resides on the old Ferries Farm, shot a valuable hound that had wandered off the road while out with its owner, Charles Shaughnessy. A companion named Charles Wood, was with the owner of the dog, and they both heard a shot fired, and later saw Lee coming out of the swamp carrying a gun. They asked permission to enter the swamp that they might look for the dog. This request Lee was said to have refused. The men later entered the swamp near the farm, and found the hound dead. Yesterday, Lee swore that he had not been off his verandah all morning of the day in question. This both Shaughnessy and Wood denied and swore they saw him go towards his home carrying a gun. Several witnesses swore as to the quiet behaviour of the dog, and also to its value in hunting. Lee was assessed $40, $25 and costs of court, as also witness fees. Mr. Frank Alexander, Lord Curzon's solicitor, while Mr. McEwen of Brantford acted for the defendant.

REAL ESTATE TRANSFERS
Business in town seems to be booming. Among the sales of real estate are reported the Fawkes residence on the corner of St. George and Charles Streets, sold to Mr. Charles Meggs; a 9-roomed house on River St. belonging to the Key estate, sold to Mr. James McBride; a building lot on Warwick St., purchased by Mr. James B. Fisher, and the former purpose building right away.

CASUALTIES.
Word was received in town yesterday by Mr. C. B. Robinson that his son, Albert, in the Princess Patricia's, was reported missing. The papers in the casualty list also contains the name of James Henkelwood, as being killed. He was formerly of Paris. The number borne by Percy James of Paris, opposite which was another name, was also reported killed. Mr. J. H. Fisher at once telegraphed the militia department at Ottawa to cable and ascertain full particulars as to whether a mistake in name had been made.

This morning's papers contain the names of two young men known to many in Paris, and whose father, Mr. John Patton, was educated in the Paris high school, and was at one time in business here. His oldest son, Norman, was reported killed and the second son, Corporal Harold Patton, well known in Y. M. C. A. circles, had been seriously wounded in the arm.

Mr. Clifford Barker's book store has been sold to Mr. C. Sheppard of Goderich, who takes possession of the store on Sunday. Barker was enlisted with the 25th Battalion here.

GARDEN PARTY
Last evening the 125th Battalion held a very successful garden party on the Agricultural Show Grounds. Good music was furnished by the 125th Band of Brantford, which was much enjoyed by all present. It is estimated that over 1000 people were in attendance.

The services in the Baptist Church on Sunday will be conducted by Rev. Wm. Morrow of Bracebridge. Mr. Morrow is an old Paris boy, who graduated from the Paris High School. The Daughters of the Empire have

GETTING THROUGH TO PORT DOVER

L. E. & N. Hope to Reach Lake Erie by July First.

NEARLY ALL ASKED FOR
Chas. Culver got $115 and costs from the G. T. F. for a horse killed on the railway, for which he asked $150.

BOARD OF EDUCATION.
The Board of Education spent a three hour session over draft plans for the new schools. The building committee will visit Toronto before the plans are passed upon. Tenders will not likely be called for till about July 5th at the earliest, at the rate matters are moving.

COUNCIL MEETING.
At a special meeting of the council this evening the town engineer was instructed to prepare plans for sewer extensions, some of which had been petitioned for, and the clerk was instructed to submit the same to the Provincial Health Department for endorsement.

TRAFFIC RULES.
The Council has decided to enforce the rule of the road so far as street traffic is concerned and will request the local papers to assist in securing an observance of the keep-to-the-right rule. In future horse vehicles or motor car owners will be required to have their conveyances facing the proper way when standing. Many near accidents have prompted the action.

Mayor Williamson expressed his desire to get the Market Square cleaned up before leaving the chair. Alderman Misner said he wanted some shelter for the town's street machinery now left standing out all the year.

THROUGH TO DOVER.
The L. E. and N. cable poles are erected to within two miles of Dover. Arrangements are being completed today for the use of the G. T. F. depot at Dover and a temporary terminal, till the government's plans for harbor development at Dover are in evidence. The management expect to have passenger traffic open to Dover for the big celebration there on July 1st.

The local L. E. and N. depot, is already quite evidently too small for the traffic. The management expect to be compelled to enlarge in the near future.

THE ROUGHNER PICNIC.
The Roughner picnic committee are already beginning to form plans for this annual August function which has been in vogue for over quarter of a century. Simcoe, Waterford and Dover are mentioned as possible places for this year's meet.

John Jackson of Teeterville, is building a concrete block auto repair shop and garage, dimension 30x48 ft. Anson Show-to-day accepted the offer of the Board of Education for its property in the North Ward school site. The arbitrators, Geo. Doughty, E. E. Gunton and A. A. Culver, were about to begin formalities when the shadow of possible costs, and some persuasion from Mr. Doughty brought Anson to his senses, with the result recorded.

Mr. Harry Brooks took his seat at the Board of Education rooms for the first time this evening. All the members except T. Agar were present and at the council board only the chairs of Major Innes and George McKie were vacant. Both these have excessive demands upon their time in public service.

The projected $250,000.00 auto merger, taking in the Willys-Overland, the Hudson, the Chalmers and the Auto-Lite companies, has been abandoned.

Of the 20,000,000 children now attending the Public schools of the U. S. at least 15,000,000 of them are in tubercular, says S. A. Knopf, famous bacteriologist authority of New York.

DO NOT CROSS BREEDS

Influence of a Pure-bred Sire on a Herd

With the first cross of a pure bred sire with an ordinary herd of cows the resulting heifers will have 50 per cent. of the blood of the sire. The second cross brings heifers with 75 per cent. of the third cross gives 87 1/2 per cent. a warning of two crosses nearly 94 per cent. Fourth generation females when bred to a pure bred sire of agreeing blood have only about six per cent. of the scrub blood to contend against the blood of the sire.

But some farmers are unwise in their subsequent breeding. They are quite apt to change breeds, thinking wrongly that they are going to get the best qualities of both the breeds. Almost invariably the result is one of disappointment for these sires, at once a warning of two crosses nearly that of the sire and that of the dam. Very much better cows will be produced by keeping the herd steady in line with the blood of the original sire.

But the farther on this road we go the more careful a breeder should be always to select bulls of strong propensity. When we change sires it is best to select one that has a fairly close family relationship. In this way we take advantage for a progeny of agreeing and not contending tendencies.

By making a close study of this matter a farmer can build up in a few years a splendid herd of grade cows which will command a big price whenever offered for sale. But very rigid selection should be maintained by selling off the older cows as well as the poorer cows, keeping the heifers to prove correctness of the breeding theories that have been followed.

INSECT TRAVELLERS

Ship cargoes are often responsible for the introduction of quite new species of insects in different lands. Banana bunches often hide poisonous reptiles and insects which travel long distances only to bite or sting the land of some receiver of fruit. Often they escape alive and breed their kind. Many venomous snakes have thus been introduced into lands where none existed before. Stray creatures have been imported on the blooms of orchids, and West Indian insects have travelled in Easter lily blossoms. Destroying moths migrate in fruit ships. Flying insects often follow ships. One curious case was that of a vessel from the tropics followed by a swarm of butterflies. Out of sight of the shore, they hid in the cabins and holds, emerging forty days later when the ship reached England. Thus originated quite new species of butterfly in the British Isles.

CULTURE IN SASKATCHEWAN

President Murray, in a Report, Says it is Broadening

Gratifying it is to read the annual report of President Murray, of Saskatchewan, on the new spirit in that province. Referring to the broadening out and general culture he says: "We are all greatly gratified to find that the university is appealing to students of the different nationalities in the province and that these students are attaining such high distinction. Most cordially are they welcomed to the university. The life of this province is being greatly enriched by the artistic, literary and musical gifts which they and their people are bringing to us. We of Canadian birth do not realize to the full how much Saskatchewan owes to European culture. Every musical festival, each convention, be it grain growers, home-makers of municipalities, but deepens the conviction that the high character due to the training and culture of Britain and the continent of Europe. Unless we exert ourselves to the utmost for the next generation will fall far behind the present in intellectual and artistic attainments."

Big English Foxes A dog fox was killed at Upwood, near Kitchikley, Yorkshire, weighing 28 pounds 14 ounces. That weight is most unusual. The average weight of a dog fox is about 15 pounds or 16 pounds and a vixen 12 pounds or 13 pounds. The heaviest which we can remember to have heard of was one of 23 pounds, which was killed by the Ullswater Foxhounds on the Cross Fell Range. The huntsman, Joe Bowman, who reported it in 1900, stated that he had weighed hundreds, and this was the largest he has ever killed. It measured 4 feet 4 inches from tip of nose to tip of brush, and about 4 inches of the brush was white. He added that the majority of foxes on Cross Fell weigh about 18 pounds to 20 pounds, which is considerably above the average elsewhere.

Lord Fisher's Family

Hearty congratulations Lord Fisher, "the modern Nelson," as he has so often been termed, who was married on April 4th, 1866, to Miss Frances Broughton, a parson's daughter. There have been four children of the marriage, three daughters and a son. The son is the Hon. Cecil Vavasour Fisher, the owner of Kilverstone Hall, whom his father takes his title, which, it is feared, may not continue after his son; for Mr. Fisher, who was married in 1910, has no children. His wife is one of the few women who fall far behind the men in the world to take a license as a master mariner.

CLEVERNESS OF BEES SHOWN BY INCIDENT

Tireless Industry of Little Colonies Mystified Their Owner—Farmer Learned a Lesson

A farmer possessed a few swarms of bees which he kept in what are called box-hives. Inside these were small boxes which would hold about two or three pounds of honey each. About eight of these were placed on the top of the hive, and as at least one side of each box was of glass the keeper could easily look into the hive and see when the boxes were filled with honey. The farmer usually chose to do this early in the morning, before the bees came out to begin the labors of the day, or at night when they had finished them. Bees do not like to have their dwelling places molested, and usually try to sting the intruder.

Stung For His Mistake

One day some friends were at the farmer's house, and as they wanted honey the farmer thought he would venture to take it out in the afternoon. He knew that some of the boxes were quite full. The hives stood a few rods from the house, and on that side of the house were large doors leading into the cellar. While the boxes were partly of glass, the bottom of each was made of little slats so that the bees could go in and out as they liked.

The farmer took out several boxes, carried them into the cellar, shut the cellar doors nearly together and hurried away. He put the boxes into the cellar in order to allow any bees which might be in them to fly out and return to the hive. But in his haste to avoid being stung the farmer left the doors open too much, so that the cellar was quite light, whereas it should have been nearly dark.

What Were They At?

The bees were so excited and enraged that they flew in all directions, attacking everyone who came in their way. When supper time came there were so many bees flying about the cellar doors that no one cared to go near them. Early the next morning the farmer looked out of the dining room window and observed that the air was still full of bees.

At about 10 o'clock he looked again and not a bee could be seen. He went down and brought up the boxes. But instead of being heavy with honey, as they were the day before when taken from the hive, they were almost as light as air, being filled only with empty comb. The bees had worked with a will and had carried all the honey back to the hives.

BRITISH TRADE-MARKS

How Merchants Gradually Got Protection in Law

The recognition of trade-marks by English law may be said to date only from the beginning of the nineteenth century, but the use of trade-marks was, of course, of far earlier date. So far back as the reign of James I. a certain clothier applied the mark of another clothier to his own inferior goods, but the reports of the law suit which ensued leave it doubtful whether the action was brought by the owner of the mark or by an indignant customer, in which latter case it would simply be an ordinary action for fraud.

In 1742 Lord Hardwicke declared that "every particular trader has some particular mark or stamp." At the same time his lordship refused to grant the protection of the law to the "great Mogul" stamps on cards. He was apparently under the impression that the legal recognition of trade-marks meant the creation of a new kind of monopoly, and he made up his mind to obviate such possibility. Lord Eldon, on the other hand, repeatedly granted injunctions to restrain one trader from fraudulently "passing off" his goods as those of another, and thus helped to lay a foundation on which the present trademark has been built up in successive stages.

Bows to the People

At the main entrance doors of the House of Commons is still enacted a scene that recalls stern ceremonies of Elizabethan days. When the King's messenger, the Black Rod, approaches the House of Commons, the doors are closed and locked in his face. He must knock three times and bow three times with true humility of the common people—then and only then will the King's message be heard by the people's representatives in Commons assembled. In such customs is indicated the inherent purpose of the House of Commons to insist upon its full prerogative as the direct representative of the common people from which the creation of republics and democracies is made possible.

It is best to feed green cut bone separately. Feed it not more than three times a week, allowing a pound of bone for each sixteen head of stock.

BANTAMS HAVE OPENED NEW HEADQUARTERS

Now in Office Occupied Formerly by C.M.R.—List of Recruits.

So great progress has the local recruiting depot of the Bantam battalion made during its brief sojourn in the city that a second office has now been opened at 108 Colborne street, the quarters formerly used by the mounted Rifles. Here a most attractive window has been fitted up, several Bantams of the feathered species being on exhibition, their coops surrounded by a mass of green foliage, making a most novel and attractive scene. The office has been fully equipped, and for the next few days recruits will be accepted either there or at the Bantams' old quarters, Room Commercial Chambers.

Capt. Elton, paymaster of the 216th arrived in the city from Toronto this morning in order to pay off the local quota of the Bantams. It is a noteworthy fact that the great majority of these are married men, there being only four or five exceptions. The age of the small man is very deceptive, in very many cases they appear much younger than they really are. The total strength of the local Bantam quota to date is 22 of all ranks. The full muster roll is as follows: Lt. P. K. McKissock, Sergt. Benning, Lance Corp. Gwyn, Pte. J. Aley, Pte. J. Fotheringham, Pte. So. Abbott, Pte. Jas. Sands, Pte. D. Greer, Pte. H. Rogers, Pte. T. Move- nce of

A BUDGET OF NEWS FOR THOSE INTERESTED IN LABOR IN THE WORLD OF LABOR GLEANED FROM THE EXCHANGES AND OTHER SOURCES

Carpenters in New London, Conn., have advanced the wage rate from 43c. to 48c. per hour.

The Toledo, Ohio, Waitresses' Union has prepared a new wages scale which includes the nine-hour day, a weekly increase of $1, and a minimum rate of $8.00 per week.

Boilermakers in New York City have succeeded in securing an increase of 75 cents per day. This is for outside workers, whose former wage of $4.75 per day is now advanced to $5.50.

There are now some four hundred local unions affiliated with the Iron Molders' International Union of North America, with a combined membership now exceeding fifty thousand.

The state board of arbitration has ruled that striking shoemakers employed by contractors in Springfield, Mass., shall be paid 30 cents per hour for a 48-hour work-week.

Civic employees of New Westminster, B. C., have organized a labor union with a large charter list. They see the light.

The annual convention of the International Steel and Copper Plate Printers' Union, of North America, will be held in Ottawa, Ont., this year, convening in the Capital on July 17th.

Machinists in Montreal are arranging for a renewal of existing agreements with the railway companies, and in cases are looking for higher wages and insisting on an eight-hour day.

The Furriers' District Council of New York City reports that 900 furriers have received an increase in wages of 25 cents per day, as the result of a peaceful settlement under an agreement with the furriers' association.

Carpenters in Greenville, Pa., have increased wages from $3.28 to $3.60 per day and secured union conditions. The Union men in New York City will demand hereafter that their milk shall be delivered by men who wear the union buttons.

The International Brotherhood of Electrical Workers is making splendid headway in all parts of Canada at the present time; in nearly every industrial centre from coast to coast, five locals have organized and wages in many localities have been materially advanced.

At the last meeting of the Winnipeg Bartenders' Union, when the members met to dissolve the organization through the advent of prohibition in the Prairie Province, there was a neat little sum in the local treasury, and it was decided to vote a part in support of the teamsters who were out on strike.

The business of the Canadian Consolidated Rubber Company, with headquarters in Montreal, was never brisker than at present. The export trade has grown steadily, and the Granby footwear factory, which has been idle for more than two years, is now in operation again. The business transacted in 1915 was nearly one-quarter larger than in 1914.

The United States Supreme Court has upheld the Michigan law which requires employment agencies to take out licenses to conduct their business. Through the efforts of the United Garment Workers' Union cutters employed in Utica, N. Y., reduced hours to 48 per week and increased wages 10 per cent.

The machinists, boilermakers, and blacksmiths on the Ontario Division of the Pere Marquette Railway, recently made a demand on the management for an increase in wages. They were offered an advance of one cent per hour, which they refused to accept, and negotiations are now on with the road officials for a larger increase.

The C. N. R. freight handlers of Winnipeg, who recently formed a federal labor union, have since received their charter from the local Trades and Labor Council. The majority of the employees have already joined the union, and it is expected that in a very short time it will be organized up to the one hundred per cent mark.

The Trail (B.C.) local of the United Brotherhood of Carpenters and Joiners, with hardly a dissenting vote, has placed itself on record as being opposed to conscription and willing, if the workers so decided, to go to the length of a general strike to prevent such a measure being put in operation by the Federal Government.

Canada is sure going some these days. The trade for the fiscal year just closed reached the enormous total of nearly a billion and a half dollars, namely $1,424,000,000, this being an increase of $246,000,000 over the record total of the previous year. Sure this is not the reason why so many employers manifest such an insistent inclination to cut down wages when they get a chance.

The members of the various locals of the International Association of machinists in Winnipeg met in joint session recently for the purpose of discussing matters in regard to a new schedule on the C. P. R. Jim Somerville, Canadian representative of the executive board was present. Local 122 has decided to open negotiations with the company seeking a wage increase to meet the higher cost of living.

Last week Organizer John Bruce of the United Association of Plumbers and Steamfitters was successful in organizing a new local union of railroad pipelitters in North Bay, composed of employees of the C. P. R. and T. N. O. systems. The organization is a one hundred per cent, and will exercise jurisdiction over the Lake Superior district. It will also be affiliated with the C. P. R. shopmen's system federation.

Boys and Japs in the employ of the Brunet Mills of New Westminster, B. C., went on strike after having their request for an increase in wages turned down by the management. The latter immediately tried to secure other boys in their place, but without success, and eventually had to come to terms in order to secure the return of the workers, as things had just about come to a standstill in the meantime.

The trouble existing between the management of the Silver Springs Brewery of Victoria, B. C., and the United Brewery Workers' Union, had not been settled when last reports from that city were received, but a committee from the Trades and Labor Council, was acting in conjunction with representatives of the union in order to, if possible, arrive at an amicable adjustment of the difficulty.

The flint glass workers who are employed in the new plant at Redcliffe, Alta., say it is one of the best on the continent. The six shops making chimneys has been increased to eight; business is good and everybody working full time. Wages and conditions are strictly union, and there is a good run of work ahead in sight. The management finds that it pays to have union men on the job.

Because of failure to secure any satisfaction at the hands of the management of the Coal Creek Mines of the Crow's Nest Pass Coal Company, in regard to a schedule of wages applicable to the territory, the men stopped work recently. As the officials intimated that they would meet a committee of the employees, the drivers held a mass meeting and decided to return to work temporarily and refer the matter to the district representative of the union to negotiate with the company.

The destitution that is almost chronic in Montreal is startling when reliable statistics are quoted. During the first three months of 1916 over 21,000 homeless men were sheltered in the Meulding Refuge alone. Appalling as these figures may seem, they are better by 65 per cent, than was the case during the same period of 1915 when the number succored totalled 60,167. In the month ending April 15, of the present year, the charity organization society, after thorough enquiries into all applications received, found that 1,268 families were in actual want, and this at a time when it is claimed that every man, no matter how old, who wants a job, can get one.

In all parts of Ontario the locals of the United Brewery Workers have manifested a determination to maintain their organization after the new prohibition legislation comes into effect in September. Many of the breweries engage extensively in the manufacture of soft drinks, and light grade beer that is permissible to sell under the act. It is pointed out that this beer, which is in Toronto during the National Exhibition and at other fairs throughout the country, had a greater demand than any other drink on the grounds, and it is expected that beer drinkers, to a large extent, will adapt themselves to the new beverage. The members of the brewery workers, while they expect that many men will be displaced as a result of the new conditions, believe that a considerable trade will be done, and a considerable number of workers still be employed in the industry.

It is claimed that the industrial situation in St. John, N.B., is better than it was a year ago, although throughout the Maritime Provinces employment was more stable at that time than in other parts of Canada, although of course, the standard of wages was, and is, lower than in Ontario and the Western Provinces. The building trades, which have been dull, have picked up considerably during the past few weeks, and many additional hands are now employed in the saw mills that was the case a month ago.

The teamsters of the Dominion Transport Company and the Shelden Forwarding Company, in Montreal, after being out on strike for nearly two weeks, have returned to work on the company's terms. The strikers were unorganized and were not in a financial position to carry on a long drawn out struggle. There is hardly a doubt, however, that they would have won out had they been affiliated with the International organization and entitled to receive strike benefits. This is a lesson that should make the fellow-teamsters think up in other cities in Canada, in Montreal all the organized trades that have been forced to strike for higher wages and better conditions have invariably won out. There's a reason.

The new workmen's compensation act in British Columbia, one of the last acts of the Provincial Legislature before the House was dissolved, marks the successful culmination of an agitation carried on for nearly twelve years for its passage. The new act will become operative on January 1st, 1917, and is closely modelled upon the measure now in force in the Province of Ontario. The laborites are now interested in the personnel of the House compensation board, and hope to have a direct working class representative upon it.

It is claimed that Organizer McCallum of the I. A. M., who is now out on the Pacific coast, has been meeting with continued success in his efforts to throughout the unionize the craft in that section of the country. "Mac" is one of the most successful organizers that has ever worked in the interest of the organization. He will be remembered for the splendid work that he was able to accomplish in Toronto and the Province of Ontario, and his friends in the movement will be pleased to know that he continues to make good. It's a way he's got, but he certainly brings over some results.

NO MORE SHORTAGE OF CITY GAS NOW

Report From Hamilton That Gas Company Has Struck a Flowing Well.

Hamilton, June 17.—Gas consumers in Brantford who contended with the shortage in the supply last winter will be interested in an announcement that the Southern Ontario Gas company, has encountered the biggest well ever struck in the Tilbury field. It is on recently acquired property in Raleigh Township and has a flow of 13,500,000 feet of gas a day. Wells in the adjoining district have been producing from 200,000 to 5,000,000 feet daily but few have exceeded the latter flow.

Medical Association Endorses The Hospital By-Law

At the regular meeting of the Brant County Medical Association, held on Thursday, June 15th, it was moved by Dr. Robinson, seconded by Dr. Wiley,

"That this Society hereby expresses its desire to go on record as entirely approving the action of the Board of Governors of the Brantford General Hospital, in proceeding with the construction and equipment of the additional wings and operating rooms at the Hospital, and to express the wish that the ratepayers of the city may see their way clear to pass by an unanimous vote the money by-law to be placed before them for their approval on the 26th inst., and thus relieve the institution of its large outstanding debt.

"The work of draughting the plans and supervising the construction was carried out by a special Building Committee, of which our representative on the Board, Dr. Bell, was a very active member, and we feel that the present high state of efficiency and usefulness of the institution is, in no small measure, directly the result of his energy, foresight and enthusiasm while on that committee. We know that the necessary expenditures were large, but we feel that good value was received for every dollar of outlay, and are confident that it was the part of wisdom to properly equip the institution for the work it had to do, thereby enabling us as a profession to thoroughly and efficiently carry out our duties in the care of the sick and attention to the injured of the community.

"The Hospital, as it stands to-day, is a public building of which every citizen can be justly proud, and to which he can turn, should the necessity arise, secure in the knowledge that within its walls he or his will be cared for by as competent a staff of nurses, and in as commodious and well-equipped surroundings as may be found in any similar building in the Dominion."

The above resolution was carried unanimously, and constitutes still another reason for hearty support of the by-law by citizens.

WIRELESS TELEGRAPHY SAVES LIVES AT SEA EVEN IN WAR TIME

History of Marconi's Great Discovery is Short, but Dramatic—How the Plight of the Republic, in 1909, Resulted in the Equipping of all Big Ocean Vessels With the Apparatus For Sending Out "S. O. S." to Other Ships.

(From Answers, London) There is one man whose name stands out amid the conflict of the European war for what he has done to save life. While others destroy, he preserves. And this man is Chevalier Marconi, who invented and perfected the wonderful "wireless" telegraphy. To him belongs the credit of saving life all over the world, since to his great invention thousands of people owe their rescue from maritime disaster. The history of wireless telegraphy is till short. As recently as 1899 messages were first sent from England to France, while in 1902 the "waves" he had mastered carried the greetings between Canada and England. The first case on record of "wireless" being employed by a ship in distress occurred on March 3, 1899. On this date the R. F. Matthews ran into the East Goodwin lightship during a heavy fog. The weather conditions would, in the old days, have rendered the work of rescue very difficult, if not impossible. But the R. F. Matthews was equipped with what was then a novelty—Marconi's system of wireless telegraphy. Messages were sent ashore, and speedily brought lifeboats to the rescue. During the next ten years instances are recorded of wireless aiding ships in difficulties, but not until 1909 was public interest really aroused in this matter. JACK BINN'S HEROISM RECALLED. On January 23, 1909, just ten years after the case of the R. F. Matthews, the Florida rammed and sank the great White Star liner, the Republic, off the Nantucket Lightship, some thirty miles from the American coast. The story of the loss of the Republic is the story of the pluck of Jack Binn's, the wireless operator. Binn's at once began to send out urgent calls for help, "C. Q. D." Through the boundless air the magic letters sped, being recorded by every wireless receiver sent ashore, and in answer ships changed their courses and hurried to the scene of the disaster. Sixty miles away was the Baltic, separated from the sinking liner, with its two thousand human souls, by a dense fog. And from half past seven in the morning till half past six at night the Baltic scoured the surface of the ocean on its errand of mercy. All through the long hours Binn sat at his instrument sending out messages and directions to the ship coming to the aid of the Republic. And then, at night, after a day of zigzagging two hundred miles on the ocean, the Republic sent the welcome word to the Baltic that they were close together. The lookouts on the

TURKS CLAIM BRITISH ARE WITHDRAWING

Getting Further Away Than Ever from Kut, Reports Constantinople

Constantinople, June 16.—Via London 2.50 p.m.—Further withdrawal by the British below Kut-el-Amara on the Tigris after the recent repulse by the Turks of an attempt to advance is reported in a statement to-day by the Turkish war office which follows: "Mesopotamian front.—Disturbed by an artillery fire, the enemy removed his camp from Felahie (on the Tigris below Kut-el-Amara) far beyond the reach of our guns. "Russian troops which we met near Kilan, southwest of Kaserin, were driven off. "Caucasus front.—On the right wing, a surprise attack by an enemy force failed. "In the waters near Smyrna, an enemy monitor, assisted by two airmen fired without result some twenty shells against the beach south of Fotscha and then withdrew. "Another monitor near the Island of Keesten, was driven off by our artillery fire."

MURDER TRIAL IS PROCEEDING

Defence of W. H. Orpet Expected to Make Some Fine Points.

By Special Wire to the Courier. Chicago, Ill., June 16.—Development of one of the strongest points in the state's evidence against Will H. Orpet was continued to-day in his trial for the murder of his former sweetheart, Marion Lambert, with Dr. Ralph W. Webster, noted toxicologist, on the stand. Through Dr. Webster the state expects to show the poison swallowed by the girl was in liquid form, and in the spot in the woods where the girl's body was found by Orpet. Dr. Webster testified yesterday he believed from examination of portions of the fat dose on the girl's clothing and hands, that the poison was in solution. The defense seeks to show the crystals found in Marion's hand show she brought the poison herself. Whether the crystals of the girl's frozen body would cause crystals of the poison to dissolve and later re-crystallize in her hand and on her cheek were points the defense expects to bring out as indicated by yesterday's examination of Dr. Webster. The bottle in which Orpet is alleged to have brought the poison never has been found, although witnesses followed the ill-fated vessel leading away from the girl's body told of finding a yellow spot in the snow where a liquid had been poured. Dr. Webster testified a poisonous cyanide poison, such as caused the girl's death, would make such a yellow spot.

ALDERMAN IS COMMITTED ON BRIBERY CHARGE

Montreal Has a Nice Little Scandal in Municipal Circles

By Special Wire to the Courier. Montreal, June 16.—Ald. Alphonse Gervais was committed yesterday at St. Hyacinthe by Judge Martin to stand trial before the term of the King's Bench which opens there next Monday on a charge of having solicited and accepted a bribe of fifty dollars for his vote and influence in the council of St. Hyacinthe. A dictaphone figured in the case and evidence was produced to prove that Alderman Gervais made a demand for money and that fifty dollars was paid to him in room 205 of the Place Viger Hotel here, following a dinner that the accused had there with a couple of messengers of the Burns detective agency, who posed as representatives of the National Box and Package Company, who desired to start a plant in St. Hyacinthe.

CUTTING OUT THE MIDDLEMAN

Or As the Polite French Say, the "Unqualified Intermediary"

By Special Wire to the Courier. Paris, June 17.—At a meeting yesterday of the senate committee on army contracts, the president of the committee read correspondence with Premier Briand announcing that the cabinet had taken measures to prevent in the future the intrusion of unqualified intermediaries in war contracts. The president of the committee informed his fellow members that Minister of Finance Ribot had placed himself at the disposition of the committee for a hearing in regard to the contract with J. P. Morgan. The papers concerning this contract were turned over to the committee, and after an examination of these it will be decided what further action is to be taken. The French senate committee on army contracts decided on May 19th to protest to the government against the abuses arising from the persistent intrusion of unqualified intermediaries in war contracts. A sub-committee was appointed to study the contract with the J. P. Morgan Company, but no information was vouchsafed as to the exact purpose of the inquiry. The British Columbia Minister of Mines, entertained the Press Gallery members at luncheon in Victoria. Premier Bowers addressed the gathering. The Maritime Express was directed near Red Pine; no one was injured. Pte. Percy Gough, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Gough, Fredericton, has died of his wounds.

NINE "VANGUARDS" HAVE DONE NOBLE SERVICE IN HISTORY OF SHIPS OF BRITISH NAVY

First of that Name Fought Against the Spaniards in the Great Armada—Another Was With Wolfe at Quebec—The Last of the List a Powerful Super-Dreadnought in the Grand Fleet of Britain.

The praiseworthy conservatism in the nomenclature of the British Navy by which its heritage and honor is preserved, and fires the imagination of our sailor boys, is magnificently demonstrated by the name "Vanguard." Since the days of Queen Elizabeth there have been nine fighting ships christened by that daring appellation, the ninth now being stationed "somewhere on the high seas," sustaining the traditions that will ever be associated with the word. For among those whose flagships bore the proud title were, the immortal Blake and Nelson. In brief, here is a bare record of the Vanguards: No. 1—Got its baptism of fire in the great Armada. No. 2—Almost killed Charles VIII. No. 3—Played a prominent part in the first Dutch war. No. 4—Had a brief existence and sunk in a violent storm in the Mediterranean. No. 5—Served under the gallant Hawke, and assisted in the expedition that captured Quebec. No. 6—Captured the French Perle in 1795, and had the honor of carrying Nelson's flag in the battle of the Nile. Nos. 7 and 8—Saw no active service. No. 9—Is a super-dreadnought whose guns swallow more ammunition in an hour than Nelson's flagship would in a week. The list does not, of course, exhaust the glories that have enriched our naval story. Take the first: When Drake was preparing to attack the Armada in its own ports, Queen Elizabeth gave him four ships, and London found them five times as many as the Queen had done, on the understanding usual at the time that there would be profit as well as glory in the adventure. And from a business point of view it regulated quite satisfactorily. The Vanguard carried the flag of Sir William Winster in the historic battle, the officer in the historic battle, the officer who sent fireships against the Spanish "sea castles" whilst they were sheltering in Calais and caused them to flee in disorder towards Dunkirk. CORNISH COAST RAIDED. The second Vanguard was next: Sir Martin Frobisher's flagship when he recovered Brest for the King of France from Philip of Spain. Thence she went to join the fleet attacking Cadiz. This occurred in 1594. A CHILDREN CRY FOR FLETCHER'S CASTORIA. In November, of the same year, Van Tromp caught Blake by surprise off Dungeness, and a hard, bitterly fought action ensued. During this the Vanguard saved the admiral's life. (Continued on Page 15.)

wireless call ended in the saving of 453 lives. But the instances are endless. And the modern usages of war have multiplied them. Of this period nothing is yet written, we must wait till the coming days of peace.

SAVED 746 FROM LUSITANIA

But brief mention may be made of the Lusitania, when 746 lives were saved. A word here as to the call used: "S. O. S." is not out of place. "C. Q. D." the original call for danger, was adapted from the old "call stations," or general call of line telegraphy. But at the first International Wireless Congress it was suggested and approved that a better call was "S. O. S.," which by its arrangement of dots and dashes, is different from any other call. "S. O. S." has no special meaning. It is not intended to express "Save our souls" or anything else equally dramatic. This call is an international one, and has the same meaning in all languages. Nowadays the Atlantic is peppered with vessels carrying wireless, more than 2000 ships being equipped. And as the number of these increases so the peril of the sea grows less. Marconi has robbed the ocean of much of its terror. Old Neptune is slowly being muzzled.

NO WHITE MICE IN SUBMARINES

No Longer Are They Necessary to Give Warning of Poisonous Fumes. A "SUBMARINER" IS UNCOMFORTABLE Men in Conning Tower Must be Thickly Clad to Keep Warm.

Many people are under the impression that the crew of a British submarine is composed of a certain number of sailors and a cage of white mice. Such used to be the case, but long ago, in the early days of submarines, mice were carried in them as a kind of danger gauge.

Now the skill of designers has given submarines that require neither white mice nor "poisoned air" to ensure the safety of their crews. It has also given us under-water craft capable of doing things undreamed of a few years back, but it has not yet succeeded in making these pleasant to live in.

NO "MOTHERING" NOW During their infancy submarines enjoyed the fostering care of a "mother ship" when they went cruising.

A submarine lying snugly alongside a dock yard jetties gives one no adequate idea of what the same boat looks like when scudding through the waves. Watch her setting off on a trip and you will see only a few hands on deck. There will be, perhaps, a couple of officers in the conning-tower, and one or two men at the base. All are clad in thick clothing and wear heavy sea boots.

Lesson XII.—Second Quarter, For June 18, 1916.

THE INTERNATIONAL SERIES.

Text of the Lesson, Acts xvi, 19-34. Memory Verses, 33, 34—Golden Text, Acts xvi, 31—Commentary Prepared by Rev. D. M. Stearns.

In verses 16-18 of our lesson chapter we read of an evil spirit possessing a woman who, as she followed Paul and his friends, cried out, "These men are the servants of the Most High God, who show unto us the way of salvation." She continued to do this many days, but Paul, being grieved by even so good and true a testimony from such a source and knowing her to be controlled by an evil spirit, commanded the spirit to come out of her in the name of Jesus Christ, and he did. It was certainly strange to hear such a testimony from such a source, but an evil spirit in the synagogue at Capernaum one day when Jesus was present cried out, "I know thee who thou art, the Holy One of God!" And Jesus commanded the spirit to come out of the man (Mark 1, 23-26).

Truth may be faked without being known in the heart, but the Lord knows the heart and does not want testimony from His enemies. Knowing the truth about the Lord Jesus does not save any one, yet it may be that many think they are saved because they believe that Jesus lived and died and rose again and that He is the Son of God. But it is He that hath the Son of God that hath life, and he that hath not the Son of God hath not life. Only such as receive Him become children of God (1 John v, 12; John 1, 12).

When those who employed this woman and made money by her saw that this source of income was taken from them they incited a riot against Paul and Silas and had them beaten and cast into prison, and the jailer, having received a charge to keep them safely, put them in the inner prison and made their feet fast in the stocks (verses 19-24). There are some things right on the surface of this record, and one is that people are apt to grow very angry if they are making money wrongfully and their business is interfered with. Compare the riot of the silversmiths at Ephesus in chapter six, and then think of the opposition of the liquor dealers and all who dishonor Jesus Christ to the work and teaching of Rev. William Sunday and all true evangelists; also the opposition of those who profit by graft to those who desire righteousness.

Nine "Vanguards" Have Done Duty

(Continued from Page 13.) ship from capture, and at one time tackled nearly a core of the enemy. Van Tromp won, and victory made him boastful. Hoisting a broom at the head he declared his intention of sweeping the British from the seas. Blake's answer was to hoist a whip, the origin of the present day masthead pennant, and he soon showed which was the superior. On June 2nd, 1653, Monk, whose flag flew in the Vanguard, defeated Van Tromp after two days of fighting.

The fourth Vanguard had a very brief life, as stated. In 1759, the year of Nelson's birth, a Vanguard was serving under Hawke. She was the only one of his fleet that sighted the French going towards Brest, and for a while his many other ships were unable to accomplish much.

Britain being at war with Spain the Vanguard proceeded to the West Indies and fought at the capture of Martinique. Spain an enemy meant wealth for the British tar at that period, as it always had, and was consequently welcomed by him. About this time the Vanguard returned to Portsmouth with some prize money taken from the Don amongst the crew that the men did not know what to do with. First they bought up all the matches in the town and fried them over the galley fire. Then they decided that every sailor should wear a gold laced hat—there was no strict uniform in those days—and did many other absurd things until all their money was gone, whereupon they went back to sea to get more.

The fifth Vanguard had the honor of carrying Nelson's flag during his fight with the French which ended in the epoch-making battle of the Nile. Much hampered by lack of scouting ships, Nelson declared that if he did not win the capture of the Nile, he would resign his command. Nelson's FAST AND FEAST. The enemy was eventually found in Aboukir Bay where he believed himself secure and impregnable.

When the fight had been two hours in progress Nelson was struck on the forehead by a piece of shot which cut to the bone and caused a piece of flesh to fall over his remaining eye. Whilst he was in the doctor's hands news reached him that the French flagship L'Orient was on fire and he hurried on deck to give orders for the saving of her crew. Resulting as it did in the utter destruction of the French fleet, the victory was due to the boldness and courage of the British Navy.

A romance of school days has been brought to a happy climax in the case of Gunner T. H. Armstrong, Australian Artillery, and Miss Deane of Ealing, London, who were wedded at St. Margaret's, Westminster. In early life they attended school together and were great chums. After losing sight of each other for many years they met by chance at a railway station and the sequel was a match. As they left the church a guard of honor was formed composed of winners of the V.C. and D.C.M.

Unmarried women in England to the number of 500,000, it was suggested by Sir J. A. Baines at a recent meeting of the Royal Statistical Society, should be sent to the colonies after the war. "It is a solution," he declared "more palatable than one more recently proposed for Germany after the war by one of her numerous learned professors—namely, to let loose from the army a select, certified body of eligible polygamists, who would be respectively provided with equally numerous harems."

INVALID'S GARDEN IS WELL DESCRIBED

Cold-frame With Pantries and Some Hardy Annuals is Very Acceptable—How to Build

If there is a delicate person who needs some interest to draw him out of doors, try a small cold frame in a sheltered, yet sunny spot. The frame can be of the professional type, or it can be an ordinary home-made affair, of four sides, and a storm window for lights. Take out the soil within the square for a foot, or even two feet, and fill in the hole with rich friable soil, to which has been added a quantity of rotted manure. The invalid may not be the only member of the family who desires such a garden, especially if they patronize the seat put beside it, or a comfortable bag of hay, or other kneler put there for the invalid to work upon. A good steel trowel is a necessity, while a garden box fitted with tools, and a watering can add to the pleasure. A set of children's garden tools is also useful, especially for working at the back of the frame, where it is difficult to reach with the short handles.

DAMAGE TO SHADE TREES Municipality Penalized by Court for Injuring Trees.

A case of much interest to the property owners of Ontario was recently decided at Ormeau, Ont., relating to the rights of property owners in the trees on the highway adjoining their premises. The tree in question was an example showed the residence of Mrs. Edward, mother of Mr. James Edward, divisional freight agent of the G. T. R. at Ottawa. A neighbor complained to the town council that the tree, Mrs. Edward sued the municipality for damages. The case was heard by Judge McMillan who awarded the plaintiff $15 and costs, by the terms of the Municipal Act, Section 487. The judge contended that ten days notice should have been given to the plaintiff.

Another instructive case came before the Ottawa Police Magistrate recently. A teamster damaged a city wagon against it. It was one of the first cases of the sort to be heard in Ottawa. The Magistrate decided that an example should be made and he sentenced the driver to pay a fine of $5 and $2 costs or one week in jail. These decisions are interesting to those who are suffering from damage done to trees by corporation employees, linemen and others.

Marriage ban continued service with the County Council of London, is the latest evidence of a city changes that are taking place among all corporations throughout London, owing to the claims of the war. Before the war if a lady teacher or stenographer in the employ of the Corporation married she either immediately cancelled her appointment or received notice to leave. Now the officials of the Council are only too eager to retain the service of their servants, married or single. Whole Departments of the Council are virtually run by ladies.

ART TREASURES OF NORTHERN ITALY THREATENED BY WAR

Venice, Verona, Padua and Vicenza are Among the Beautiful Cities Which May Come in the Range of Big Guns During the War in the Province of Venetia.

(From National Society Bulletin)
The territorial division of Northern Italy, known as Venetia, whose eastern, northern and western boundaries have been the fighting line of Austria and Italy since the latter nation entered the European struggle, is the rear "boot strap" of the Italian Peninsula. It juts far up into Austro-Hungarian territory, at the head of the Adriatic Sea. Its area equals that of Vermont, but its population is ten times as great.

Among the noted cities whose literary shrines, historic buildings, wonderful art galleries are endangered by the far reaching iron fingers of the war are the great mistress of the Adriatic, Venice, once the seat of the most powerful republic in the world; Verona, treasured in the hearts of the English reading world as the home of literature's greatest lovers, Romeo and Juliet; Padua, also a familiar name to the Shakespearean student; Udine, the military base for Italian operations on the Isonzo during the long attempted drive toward the Austrian port of Trieste, and that delight of artists, Chioggia, the chief fishing port of Italy.

A RICH, FERTILE LAND
Venetia is largely delta land, having been formed by the alluvial deposits brought down from the Tyrolean Alps by numerous rivers, including the two largest watercourses of the kingdom, the Po and the Adige. The lower reaches of these rivers flow through extensive plains where levees are necessary to prevent frequent inundations. In this section the Po has a fall of not more than half an inch to the mile. Naturally this silt soil is extremely fertile, producing large crops of wheat, oats, rice, tobacco and chestnuts, together with mulberry leaves for silk worms.

Many of the towns of Venetia are manufacturing centres, the chief products being glassware, woolen, silk and cotton goods, paper and candles. Venetian lace has become so widely known as almost to have the geographic significance of its name.

The territory derives its name from the Veneti, the tribes which inhabited this region during the early Roman days.

VENICE ROSE IN FIFTH CENTURY
When the barbarians poured over the Alps and Atilia sacked Lombardy the people of the interior fled to the Adriatic Coast taking refuge on the low islands which cluster around the mouths of numerous rivers. It is to this heritage that Venice owed the initial impetus for its rapid rise to power, beginning in the Fifth Century. Her fortunes finally waned with the discovery of the Cape of Good Hope route to the Far East, in 1486, this ocean lane to the Orient striking a fatal blow at the island city's supremacy as a trade center. A large part of the Mediterranean traffic was quickly diverted to the Atlantic seaboard, establishing England's dominance as the world's greatest commerce carrying nation.

CHURCH ADVERTISING

"I believe," says Dr. Talcott Williams, "that if churches spent as much for advertising as they do for music, they would have larger congregations and better worship."
"If great causes were to spend more money in the public press instead of depending on begging for their support, they would undoubtedly come much nearer to success."

Thought is moving in this direction. The churches are using more and better advertising, while many public movements have been successfully carried on through the advertising columns of the daily newspapers.

BRITISH HELD POST AGAINST STRONG ATTACKS

Fight in North African Desert Maintained With Traditional Valor

150 MEN BEAT OFF 990

Wonderful March of Soldiers to Relieve Attacked Forces

The defence of the military post at Dueidar, in the North African desert, by a band of British soldiers is a story to stir the blood of Britons everywhere. A gallant little company of Ayrshire Territorials, attacked at dawn in a thick mist, held an important oasis against the overwhelming odds of six to one, when all the conditions favorable to a surprise attack were with the enemy.

For four hours a garrison of 150 combatants, which included an officer and a few men of the Bikanir Camel Corps, resisted the violent attempts of more than 900 regular Turkish soldiers and Arabs to break through the defence and though suffering considerable losses they had taken the heart out of the attack, and the oasis was effectively denied to the enemy, before reinforcements could reach them.

It was another four hours before the Turks were finally beaten off, with losses which must be at least one-third of the strength of their column, but the chief honours of the day were earned between dawn and 8.30, when the garrison unaided kept the enemy at bay, refusing him an inch of ground he did not gain under cover of the mist.

SEVEN MILES THROUGH DEEP MUD.
Two more excellent companies of the Royal Scots Fusiliers, with a troop of Yeomanry, marched seven miles through ankle-deep sand and scrub, without breakfast and with heavy equipment, in two hours, to the relief of the garrison, while a squadron of Australian Light Horse moving to a station were diverted and covered nearly thirty miles to Dueidar and beyond before the condition of their horses compelled pursuit of the defeated enemy to end.

Dueidar is a plain grove a quarter of a mile beyond, which is held wide in a depression in the desert about fourteen miles east of Kantara. It is quite hidden from view until you rise into it, also the track made centuries ago by caravans moving between Egypt and Syria. Nine hundred yards eastwards is a ridge of great value if the post was being held in force, and nearer are several lower ridges, from a portion of which there is a field of fire covering practically the whole of the oasis.

At 5.17 a.m. there were heavy firing and a tremendous burst of shelling in front of the redoubt on the crest to the south-east of the oasis. The enemy had clearly been hiding in a grove of palms about half a mile beyond, which is the more refreshing to the eye in the sunlight because it has as a background the golden sands of Katib Abu Asab, a blazing hill which shifts its position and alters its shape every time the kamseen blows.

EVERY MAN HIT
To the attack there was an instant reply. Veterans who had done their duty before, stopped the rush with a rapid burst of fire, and every Turk seen to approach the wire entanglements paid the penalty.
At the sound of the first shot every man in the oasis was lowered and the men in reserve went out to reinforce the eastern and southern posts, but the first few minutes it was not possible to give aid to the south-eastern post, because the approach to it was under machine-gun fire. Every officer and man who attempted to get to that hot corner was hit. The main attack was made against this post, which was only partly protected by wire, and the frequent violent rushes against it were only broken by the superb steadiness of the handful of men holding it. There was a machine-gun in this post. It was hit in five places, and three men of the gun team were killed and one wounded, but the other men fought the gun to the crest of the ridge. The Turkish dead were found in front of them, the nearest body being twenty-two yards away.

EIGHT HOURS HOT FIGHTING.
The Bikanir officer doubled his men up the ridge to the right of the south-eastern post, where there was a danger of the enemy getting through. They had no sandbag shelter, and simply took what cover the crest afforded, and throughout the eight hours fighting the Bikanirs, with their officer wounded, kept their position and were well forward in the counter-attack at one o'clock.

The southern post was held by eight men, three of whom were killed. To the left of the south-eastern post a small party was holding an entrenched position on rising ground above one end of the oasis. Not far in front of them a machine-gun was in action, and its position was so frequently changed that it could not be located. It became necessary to strengthen this position, and Captain Roberts sent Captain Bruce, Army Service Corps (Territorials) with a few men to lengthen the line.

At nine o'clock a first corps of reinforcements were sent to ascertain the spot Capt. Bruce had been holding so strongly, but in crossing an open space Lieutenant Crawford fell wounded, and lay exposed to a murderous fire, the nature of which Capt. Bruce had experienced for at least three hours.

It did not deter him from setting out on an errand of mercy, and he left the sandbag which had been his protection and ran to carry in his comrades.

He fell mortally wounded and died in a few minutes. His noble example was followed, and fortunately with success, by Corporal Clifford. The corporal carried to safety Lieutenant Crawford's body, though the fire did not slacken and the hazards were known to him. The signallers had to lie flat on their stomachs to keep open telephonic communication. The bullets to shreds the matting put up as a protection from the sun's rays, but every message was safely and rapidly delivered.

The dressing station was under continuous fire, but every wounded man brought to it was treated with a care which could not have been exceeded if the temporary shelter had been miles away from whistling bullets, some of which inflicted grievous wounds.

With the arrival of reinforcements the clearing up took several hours. The Australians were sent forward, and they added to the triumph of the day by taking the prisoners. It was a magnificent defence and in the pell mell retreat of the Turks a victory of some importance.

NORTH AND SOUTH GERMANY ARE AT LOGGERHEADS

Food Conservation, Too Long Delayed, Starts Up Old Trouble

MILITARY AND CIVIL POWERS CLASH

People Think Berlin Getting Too Many of the Luxuries.

A well informed writer in England writes on the question of the new organization in Germany for the regularization of food supplies. He says that his information leads him to the conclusion that it is almost too late to begin any such effort. A political question has sprung up in the Fatherland as a result of past mismanagement that nothing that can now be done will successfully allay. It is nothing short of a revival of the old antipathy between the north and south.

The new policy will deepen the feeling, inasmuch as the demands of Berlin are so loudly heard in Government circles, and Berlin is so much the centre of news that is circulated broadcast throughout the world, that supplies for that city will continue to be imported at the expense of the needs of the country.

Many of the large cities in the south and south-east have passed by-laws prohibiting the export of food-stuffs to Berlin. Small towns followed their example—in fact, some towns in Prussia, seeing how cattle, flour, sugar, oil, lard, and other essentials of existence, were being sent away, on the plea of meeting the needs of the soldiers at the front, to Berlin to retail and wholesale houses, rose up and refused to export anything until provision was made for local necessities. There have been some bitter conflicts between the military and civil powers as a result.

Hanover, in particular, is in a very critical mood. The stock of the farm-ers is in a shocking state owing to the impoverishment in the winter, and has resulted in many being killed that, otherwise, would have fetched good prices. One authority says: "We have the money to meet the rise in prices, but not the goods. We eat our potatoes with a sauce like water, and since private slaughtering is forbidden, we in the country see meat and bacon pass away from us, and are left to speculate as to what will be done when the new organization comes into effect to equalize supplies. However, unprepared for such contingency, has been looked upon as one of the emporiums of the Empire, and now we are on the verge of a collapse from the lack of food for cattle and edibles for the poor. The poor will die like bees in a cyclone. It is all very well to tell us that the harvest will be great. That was said last year when the authorities at Berlin knew all the time that the harvest was unprecedentedly poor."

CANNOT GET BAIL

Once Again Court Orders Thomas Kelly to Await Trial in Prison.

By Special Wire to the Courier.
Winnipeg, June 17.—Another attempt to secure admission to bail for Thomas Kelly, the parliament buildings contractor, now in jail awaiting trial, was made this morning without success. Justice Haggart, who yesterday granted permission to T. K. Dewar, counsel for Kelly "in all matters relating to this appointment," to make application for bail, announced after further consideration, and in view of the opposition of the Crown, he thought it improper that he should consider what he thought was an appeal from the ruling of the court.

The Great Failure is Cause For Satisfaction to the Allies and Means Success

By Robert Donald, Editor of The London Chronicle.

"Never has there been a more lamentable or colossal failure of the ambitions of a military autocrat than the failure of the strategy and dreams of the Kaiser. After years of hidden preparation, during which time the Kaiser, with audacious duplicity, held out the olive branch to England, France and other powers, he decided, at the end of July, 1914, that the opportune moment to strike had arrived. Never was any man so afraid that peace might be preserved. He was hurriedly that he did not wait for such a hurry that he did not wait for negotiations with Russia, but rushed the ultimatum out against Russia. When he plunged Europe into bloodshed the Kaiser expected the end of the war in six months, leaving Europe at the feet and mercy of triumphant Germany. What has happened? Hopeless, ignominious failure of every war plan, and every object at which he aimed. The Kaiser promised his people Paris. Paris still flings defiance at him. He promised them Calais. He has failed to deliver the goods. He promised them Petrograd. Petrograd is as Russian as ever. He was, and is likely to remain so, counted on Italy's help, or at least her benevolent neutrality. He bungled his diplomacy so badly that Italy joined the Allies. He boasted that his submarine blockade of Great Britain would reduce the country to terms.

BRITISH ROADS GIVE 20 PER CENT OF MEN TO WAR

W. M. Acworth, Railway Authority, Tells of Heavy Drain on Employees.

(New York Times) W. M. Acworth, the distinguished British railway authority, is visiting the United States and inspecting several of the railway systems of the Eastern States. He is keenly interested in the wage controversy now going on between the railways and the train service employees, which he avers is similar in its general aspects to that which led up to the great British railway strike of 1911. Mr. Acworth is a director of the Underground railway of London, and has written a number of books on railway development and regulation. He is a stranger to the United States, having made several trips to this side of the Atlantic, and having been for many years in touch with the railway situation here. He is a close personal friend of leading railway officials of the country.

German Official Report Claims Repulse of French at Verdun

Berlin, June 16, via London 4.14 p. m.—Two attacks delivered by the French yesterday and last night on the German line along, the southern slope of Dead Man Hill (Verdun front) were unsuccessful, the war office announced to-day. In the first attack the French temporarily gained some ground, but a counter-attack drove them back.

FE'LL WHILE EXHIBITING AEROPLANE

American Aviator Has Bad Accident on Him in Japan

Sapporo, Hokkaido, Japan, June 16.—Arthur Smith, an American aviator fell from a height of 500 feet while giving an exhibition flight here this afternoon before a great crowd. The right leg of the aviator was broken and he was taken from the demolition machine in an unconscious condition.

Smith had just completed looping the loop when the aeroplane crashed to the ground. The accident is believed to have been due to a defect in the machine.

Smith reached Hokkaido after making a circuit of the natural history of the house fly. Then you'll go home and put screens on your windows and doors and make the good man build a manure box at the back of the lot. No manure no flies.

"A repetition of the enemy attack during the late evening and operations against German positions adjoining on both sides were completely unsuccessful. The enemy suffered heavy sanguinary losses.

"On the right bank of the Meuse, apart from minor infantry engagements in the Thiaumont ravine, which were favorable to us, the activity was limited chiefly to violent artillery actions on both sides.

"Eastern front: "The Russians continued their efforts yesterday against General Von Bothmer's front north of Przewloka. During the repulse of the enemy more than 400 men were taken prisoner by our defenders.

"Balkan front: "The situation is unchanged."

MARKET DEPRESSED

Decline of Freight Rates Not Increasing Shipments from United States

By Special Wire to the Courier. Chicago, June 16.—Bearish views on the export situation tended to-day to depress the wheat market here. The fact was pointed out that the decline in ocean rates had not caused any increase of shipments from the United States. Predictions were current that the outcome would be a diversion of vessel tonnage to South American and Australian.

Opening prices, which ranged from 1-4 cents to 3-4 and 7-8 lower with July 102 1-4 to 702 5-8 and September 104 1-4 to 104 5-8 were followed by a good rally, but then a fresh down turn.

ation of the British workers and that of the men who are asking a wage advance from your companies. That difference is in the pay received. The average wages of British engine drivers were certainly not more than $10.50 a week. Conductors received not more than $9.00, while firemen and brakemen received $7.00 a week or less. The average pay of all railway workers was not more than $6.00 a week. These rates of pay I believe, are rather less than one-third what train service men here receive and there was a general feeling that the pay of railway employees was too low."

"I note that your railway companies are facing demands from their train service employees for an increase of wages, and that if the controversy is not adjusted in the course of the conference now going on between the managers and the employees, the country may be confronted by the possibility of a strike that will tie up all the transportation lines. That is a consequence that should be avoided, if possible.

"In England we had a brief experience of such a condition in 1911, when a general strike of railway workers was called. The strike itself lasted a little less than a week and while it was on traffic was not entirely suspended, but during that brief period it inflicted a tremendous loss, not only upon the workers, but upon themselves and upon their employers, but chiefly upon the industry of the country as a whole.

"DISCUSSES ENGLISH WAGES "The situation leading up to the strike in a way was similar to what I understand your present situation to be. The sum involved in the demands of the employees was a very large one in the aggregate, amounting to many millions of dollars. The managers claimed, as I understand your managers do, that they could not meet these heavy increases out of the income of the lines. In one respect, however, there was an important difference between the situation here and in England.

By Special Wire to the Courier. Chicago, June 16.—The jury in the $100,000 libel suit brought by the Chattanooga Medicine Company against the American Medical Association to-day began its deliberations after listening to testimony and arguments for fifty seven days. The action was brought by the medicine company to obtain damages against the medical association, for alleged libel and grew out of articles published in the association's journal, which characterized swine of cadu, a preparation manufactured by the Chattanooga company, as a nostrum.

The case is said to have been one of the costliest civil cases ever tried in this court.

OLD WORLD NOTES

Through many wrecks a well-known Liverpool seaman, Charlie Gunn, has seen many thrilling sea disasters. He was on board the Titanic when it sank in mid-Atlantic; he was a seaman on board the ill-fated Empress of Ireland; and he was rescued from the torpedoed Lusitania, to mention three of the biggest disasters at sea within recent years. Altogether he has been 28 years at sea, and during that time has been shipwrecked seven times. His first shipwreck was when on the sailing-ship St. Kilda, which had a mast torn out of her off Cape Horn some twenty years ago. Recently he was appointed to an Admiralty transport, but the other seamen refused to let him stay, for they asserted that something would happen to the ship if this modern Jonah was on board. So the Admiralty had nothing to do but discharge Charlie Gunn, and send him back to the merchant marine.

The Squid dived in his pot of ink to write a curt denial; He wrote about the spawm of men who'd died without a smile; The tiny human babes who lay within the chambered pile.

The Shark had just begun to weep, when shadows crept o'erhead, And down there came a Submarine to nestle 'midst the dead; A snaky thing so fearsome built; its fang was dripping red.

The Cuttlefish, the Adder-snake, the squinting-squid, the Killer-whale, they all recoiled in fright.

For deep within the Submarine, whose picric fang has slit At two-mile range this fast mail-boat; so drink to me: "Prosit!"

The tiny little Pilot-fish, he made a crown of green, To place it on the periscope to cap his snake-ship leech;

And king of all the viper tribe they crowned the submarine.

HOW TO KEEP WELL

BY JOHN W. S. McCULLOUGH, M.D., D.P.H., CHIEF OFFICER OF THE PROVINCIAL BOARD OF HEALTH.

THE BOARD comprises a chairman and six other members, of whom the Chief Officer is executive officer and who in the absence of the other members of the Board carries on with his assistants the work of the Board. There is a Chief Inspector, and the Province is divided into seven districts, to each of which there is assigned a District Officer especially trained to give advice and assistance to the Medical Officers of Health in the various municipalities in the Province. As Ontario comprises some 400,000 square miles it will be seen that each officer has a large territory to cover. He cannot be every place at once, but every call on his services that seems necessary is cheerfully responded to at the earliest possible date. In addition to the measure of publicity through the press the Board maintains a public health and moving picture exhibit which is pretty well-known throughout the country since it has been shown one or more times in nearly every town of importance throughout the Province. The demand for the exhibit is very great, and it is impossible to cover the entire territory every season. However, requests for the use of the exhibit are responded to in turn.

In addition to the exhibit as a method of public health education the Board issues pamphlets upon various subjects, for example: upon all the different communicable diseases, sewage disposal in country homes and schools, the care of the baby, mosquitoes and flies, etc., etc. The writer will be glad to send copies free upon application. This is perhaps the most contagious of all the so-called diseases of childhood. It comes on like a common cold with watering eyes and running nose, and four days after the onset of these symptoms there is usually a profuse dark red rash, beginning usually on the face and extending all over the body. The most contagious period is probably just before and during the continuance of the rash. The quarantine period is three weeks, and a person from a family where the disease exists should not return to school for sixteen days after the last exposure.

The Medical Officer of Health may allow persons from the quarantined house not attending school or engaged in the manufacture of food or clothing to leave their homes for business providing they carry out his directions. Measles is looked upon by the majority of people as a simple children's disease carrying little danger, and for this reason these cases are treated in the home, and no doctor is called in. Many cases too are very mild, and many recover promptly. Some people seem to look upon quarantine for a disease like measles, scarlet fever, or diphtheria as a disgrace or an inconvenience, and hide the facts of its existence in their homes instead of, as they are required by law to do, at once notifying the Medical Officer of Health, and send their children back to school before they are well. In this way they do an injustice to their neighbor's children, and often as the result of what is criminal negligence spread disease broadcast. Not only this, but in frequent instances they do their own children a lifelong injury by exposing them to the danger of bronchitis or pneumonia, ear and eye troubles, from which they may never recover. But is the disease a simple one? By no means. More deaths occur from measles as a rule than from diphtheria and scarlet fever combined. Physicians who know what they are talking about tell us that measles lays the foundation of many cases of pulmonary tuberculosis, which is known and dreaded by most people.

The spring brings back our old friend—or rather enemy—the house fly. The house fly breeds in manure, especially fresh manure, and takes about eleven days to attain full growth. Each fly lays 777 eggs, so if this insect is given fair play she thrives immensely. There is no use in any civilized, or heathen, or any community for the fly. All should unite and make eternal war against her. All sorts of diseases are carried by the fly, why not? She travels directly from filth of all kinds to one's food. How could she help but carry disease. Have you ever seen the "Movie" illustrating the growth and habits of this enterprising insect? If not, you should look up the Ontario Health Exhibit in the Dominion Building of the Canadian National Exhibition, Toronto, and learn at first hand the natural history of the house fly. Then you'll go home and put screens on your windows and doors and make the good man build a manure box at the back of the lot. No manure no flies.

By ANNIE LAURIE

Sometimes a promising young man plays. What cordite is to a bullet enthusiasm is to a man. Some people are always in hot water or being roasted. A man who loses his head hardly ever lands on his feet. We all know that silence is golden—but we keep on talking. Don't forget that a pretty girl likes to be told she is clever, too. A lot of men like warm weather—especially when it's too warm to work. It is difficult to believe that high ideals and a dirty collar can go together. The glass insurance firm would starve in a month if only the people without sin threw the stones.

REVELATIONS OF A WIFE

By ADELE GARRISON

Why Dr. Braithwaite and Dicky's Sister Refused Margaret's Invitation to Stay at Her Home.

Do you know that clock is not too fast? Ask Central. My mother-in-law, a red spot on either cheek, walked anxiously as I turned obediently to the phone, took down the receiver, and asked the correct time. "Eleven twenty," I reported. "One minute slow," she exclaimed dependently. "What can be keeping them? Are you sure they said the train was on time?" turning to Miss Samot. "Not only on time, but arrived," returned the nurse. "Call them up again, Margaret," the elder Mrs. Graham commanded abruptly. "They must have made a mistake. The train must be late. Nothing else would keep Harriet from coming straight to me unless there has been an accident."

Kindly advise a remedy for oily hair with large amounts of dandruff in it. A. Kindly advise what to do for hairs split on the ends. A. The scalp discs of dandruff may be removed by washing the scalp either with soap and water or Castile soap and water. Then the surface may be treated with the following lotion: Precipitated sulphur is combined with distilled water, Rub in gently, after a thorough shaking, with a little brush, and see that the brush reaches the scalp. On account of the odor of the sulphur it is advisable to use it at bedtime. Q. Smoking and cutting the hair too much or washing it in soaps that have too much alkali in them often causes the hair to split at the ends. The ends should be waxed and the scalp massaged.

ANNIE LAURIE: Can you tell me what to say when a young man you have just met tells you he is glad he met you? I do not know just what to say. ANNIE LAURIE: I have an olive green satin dress trimmed in narrow black velvet ribbon. It has a real low neck and short sleeves. Could I wear it when I have company in the evening? PHILLIPA: When a young man tells you he is glad to have met you just say that you're glad, too, or something natural, but yet dignified. If you like him, or think you are going to like him, just tell him you hope that this may not be the last time you will have such a pleasant evening. Do not wear the low-cut dress when you have company, dear, for it is entirely out of place. Wear a simple dress when entertaining in your own home. A hostess must always make her guests feel comfortable, and so the tulle-trimmed dress is quite appropriate for home wear. A simple little dress and a cordial manner make people want to come again, you know.

DR. HIRSBERG is linked to labor by a series of indefinable nothings.

Of course, work is a thing of which every one tires at times, and the hour when you can stop working is always an enjoyable one. Holidays are generally happily looked forward to. Few persons like to get up in the morning. You wish some one would leave you a fortune so you wouldn't have to work any more, yet your own good "horse sense" tells you that work is really best for you. Every day you see the evil consequences that follow when men and women—even those who have plenty of money to amuse themselves—have no work to do.

"Idleness is the worstest kind of ailment," said an old dandy. He was not wrong. There are two classes of people with money—those who find work for themselves, in spite of their money, and those who make their money an excuse for doing nothing. Those who find no work to do are always the worse for their money.

Human beings must have occupations and purposes in life. Man is made in every bone and cell and impulse to do things, to form purposes, and to carry them out. When a man who has worked all his life retires and is so unlucky as not to find some good hobby to work at instead of his ordinary work, and so has nothing to do, he soon discovers that all play and no work is just as bad as all work and no play.

In order to know your possibilities of work your body must be kept in top-notch condition. It does not pay to overwork the human body. Your body can do so much and no more on the nourishment it is given. Regular hours, good food, the proper amount of sleep, fresh air and exercise keep the body in such a condition that it is far better to work like clockwork than only to work infrequently.

Do you think my love for a certain young man is "puppy love," as a girl friend says, or do you think it is real? I think my love for both is sincere. What do you think? ANNIE LAURIE: Can you tell me what to say when a young man you have just met tells you he is glad he met you? I do not know just what to say. ANNIE LAURIE: I have an olive green satin dress trimmed in narrow black velvet ribbon. It has a real low neck and short sleeves. Could I wear it when I have company in the evening? PHILLIPA: When a young man tells you he is glad to have met you just say that you're glad, too, or something natural, but yet dignified. If you like him, or think you are going to like him, just tell him you hope that this may not be the last time you will have such a pleasant evening. Do not wear the low-cut dress when you have company, dear, for it is entirely out of place. Wear a simple dress when entertaining in your own home. A hostess must always make her guests feel comfortable, and so the tulle-trimmed dress is quite appropriate for home wear. A simple little dress and a cordial manner make people want to come again, you know.

Sometimes a promising young man plays. What cordite is to a bullet enthusiasm is to a man. Some people are always in hot water or being roasted. A man who loses his head hardly ever lands on his feet. We all know that silence is golden—but we keep on talking. Don't forget that a pretty girl likes to be told she is clever, too. A lot of men like warm weather—especially when it's too warm to work. It is difficult to believe that high ideals and a dirty collar can go together. The glass insurance firm would starve in a month if only the people without sin threw the stones.

Secrets of Health Regular Work Actually Needed To Keep You Well

By DR. L. K. HIRSHBERG

A. B., M. A., M. D. (Johns Hopkins)

It has been said that idlers are the busiest, and the least of men. Men of pleasure never find time for anything. No lawyer, statesman, no killing rascally to eternally offend as a fountain of town.

He has been said that idlers are the busiest, and the least of men. Men of pleasure never find time for anything. No lawyer, statesman, no killing rascally to eternally offend as a fountain of town.

course, work is a thing of which you can stop working is always enjoyable one. Handys are generally happy looking forward to. Few men like to get up in the morning, wish some one would leave you a line so you wouldn't have to work more, yet your own good "horas" tells you that work is really best you. Every day you see the evil sequences that follow when men and women—even those who have plenty of money to amuse themselves—have no work to do.

It is the worst kind of sin, an old darkey. He was not wrong, he was two classes of people with eyes—those who find work for themselves, in spite of their money, and those who make their money an excuse for idleness. The first class is probably happy because their money does them no harm and offers them the opportunity to do much good. Those who find no work to do are always the worse for money.

Human beings must have occupations purposes in life. Man is made in body and cell and mind, and he has to do, to form purposes, and to carry out.

When a man who has worked all his life and is so unlucky as not to get a good hobby to work at in his old age, he soon discovers that all and no work is just as bad as all and no play.

Order to know your possibilities of your body must be kept in top condition. It does not pay to work the human body. Your body does so much and no more on the moment it is given. Regular hours, food, the proper amount of sleep, air and exercise keep the body in a condition that is far better work like clockwork than only infrequently.

Answers to Health Questions B. A. Q.—My son has a bald spot on his head about the size of a silver dollar. What will grow hair on this bald spot?

There is nothing that will grow on a bald spot.

INSTANT READER. Q.—Kindly advise a remedy for oily hair with large amounts of dandruff in it. Kindly advise what to do for hair on the ends.

The scaly discs of dandruff may be removed by washing the scalp either with ocean salt and water or Castile soap and water. Then the surface may be treated with the following lotion: Sulfur, 1/2 ounce to 4 ounces water. Rub gently, after a wash shaking, with a little brush, so that the bristles reach the scalp. The amount of the color of the sulphur is visible to use it at bedtime.

Impregnate and tuff the hair too or washing it in soaps that have much alkali in them often causes the scalp to split at the ends. The ends should be cut and the scalp massaged.

Today's Fashion

Worn Hat Trimmed with Gauze Roses in Pastel Tones.

NOTE: the prettiest hat to wear with the afternoon frock of sheer materials is of natural leghorn. Its wide, soft rolls gracefully down the sides. Usually the hat boasts of a veil of lace, and in this particular instance it is of opaque blue tulle.

Following towers high in the front of the frock are three large gauze roses of the palest tones of mauve, blue and pink.

Travel from one to two years free in your Ford on your saving in one year's depreciation

Other cars in the $1000 or less class, after one year of service, are worth from $250 to $400 less than their purchase price. That's THEIR depreciation.

Ford cars, after a year's hard work, sell on an average for only $125 less than they cost brand new. That's FORD depreciation.

The difference in depreciation of these year-old cars ranges from $125 in the one case to $275 in the other—both considerable savings for Ford owners.

Thousands of owners tell us that it costs .024 per mile on an average to drive a Ford—paying for gasoline, oil, tires and repairs. So, if your saving in depreciation for a year is $125 you pay all your expenses for 5,208 miles—while if it is $275, you have kept enough money in your pocket to pay for driving your Ford 11,458 miles.

Buying a Ford in preference to other less than $1,000 cars, lets you save in one year's time a difference in depreciation that pays all your motoring bills for from one to two years. Think it over.

WATER FOR HEALTH

Water drinking is one of the simple laws of health that is neglected because of its simplicity. The human body, says Health Culture, is practically a sack of water. The body of the average man contains over half a barrel of water. This water, in the form of twenty different fluids, is constantly fluctuating back and forth among the tissues, doing the work of the body, and if there be any deficiency of water in the body this work will suffer. The excretions of the body especially can be promptly carried off only when the supply of water is sufficient. Two quarts daily of pure water, preferably distilled, is little enough for the average person in ordinary weather. In hot weather this may be increased somewhat, not only without danger, but with positive relief. The greatly accelerated action of the kidneys and skin is the best assurance of the safety of the individual.

"HANDSOME HENRY" Nearly Fifty Years an M.P. in Record of Henry Chaplin

Mr. Henry Chaplin has had a seat at St. Stephen's for a longer period than any of his present colleagues in the Lower House, although he is not actually the "Father" of the Commons, because his term of membership has not been quite continuous. That position belongs to Mr. Thomas Burt, who was first elected for Morpeth in 1874, a respectable term. Mr. Chaplin was first returned for the Mid (afterwards the Stafford) Division of Lincolnshire in 1882, so that, with a break of some eighteen months, his career as a legislator extends over some forty-eight years.

Mr. Chaplin has been a central figure in some stirring Parliamentary incidents. It was while he was addressing the House on April 27th, 1875, that Mr. Biggar called the Speaker's attention to the presence of "strangers," and thereby was instrumental in compelling the Prince of Wales (afterwards King Edward) to withdraw from the gallery. As it happened, Mr. Biggar did not know that the Prince was present at the time, but he declined to give way none the less, and the incident resulted in the suspension of the Standing Orders then governing the matter that the Prince was able to resume his place.

Another episode in which Mr. Chaplin figured was more amusing. This was in August, 1892, on the evening of the division on Mr. Asquith's amendment which brought about the defeat of the Salisbury Government, when Mr. Chaplin was put up to speak against time from the Treasury Bench, amid the riotous and interruptions of the Opposition, all of which Mr. Chaplin bore with imperturbable good humor. Matters reached a climax when Dr. Tanner, one of the unprincipled of the Irish members of the day, rushed up the floor of the House with a glass of water, which he placed on the desk of Mr. Chaplin, and then proceeded to thump. For the moment there were lively apprehensions of a "scene," but Mr. Chaplin, still preserving his splendor of self-control, took notice of the incident and continued his speech with unimpeded sang-froid to the end.

EASILY MADE COUNTER From unruled paper cut a piece, as shown at A in the sketch, and make slits parallel and evenly spaced with a sharp knife. Also cut six strips similar to the one shown at B, to fit the slits cut in A. The strips are numbered as shown and inserted on the under side of A, and by pulling the strips as shown, one can count the number of parts or keep tally on any game. By making more slits and using more strips very large numbers can be recorded.—Popular Mechanics.

THE COUNTRY CHURCH Newness in Everything Demands Modernized Rural Church

Garland A. Bricker, Professor of Agricultural Education in Syracuse University, writes: Anyone with sight and sense can readily see that a new civilization is rapidly developing in rural North America. New systems and standards, new methods and processes, new aims and ideals, and a new agriculture and a farmer have ushered in the new age and are building a new structure upon the firm foundation which the pioneers hewed out of the wilderness. The chief factors in the building of the new rural civilization are: (1) The modern industrial system; (2) The new agriculture; (3) The new farmer; (4) New transportation facilities; (5) New transmitters of intelligence; (6) A new country; (7) A new country people; (8) A new spirit of cooperation; (9) A new rural government; (10) A new rural education; (11) Reorganized rural institutions, including a new country church.

Motors in Africa In recommending a further supply of motor vehicles to the Gold Coast Colony, the Acting Colonial Secretary at Accra mentioned that in 1915 there were in that colony twenty-two motor cars, seventy-eight motor lorries, 128 motor cycles, and 1,600 bicycles in use. The "manumotive" machine is evidently in very high favor on the Gold Coast, and if motors increase, the bicycle may be depended upon to do the same.

Old World Notes

An old seafaring figure at Liverpool has passed away in the death of Captain J. Tenery at the age of eighty-two. One of his experiences was exceptionally thrilling. It was on October 27, 1899, that his ship left the port of Baltimore with a crew of fifty-six hands, including twenty-one cabinmen and two stewards, and with a cargo consisting principally of cotton and 979 head of cattle. All went well until November 4, when a fire was found to be raging. The fire gained rapidly and master, officers, and men fought desperately with the flames. The following day the captain of the Arizona offered to take all hands off, but Captain Tenery decided to hold by his ship in the hope of ultimately saving her. By November 8 the decks and sides were red hot in places, the plates warping, and the seams on the starboard side opening. The fire had reached the upper deck forward, and the cattle on it had to be driven into the sea. The whole ship was simply a floating furnace. Eventually the "Queensmore" sank, but the crew were landed all of them suffering more or less from burns, scalds and the effects of blinding smoke.

Dunlop Tires have no friends other than those quality has made and the reputation of that quality has retained. When you see that countless number of cars, large and small, equipped with either "Tractions" or "Specials" remember those motorists—every one of them—bought those tires on merit—not because they did not have a measure of satisfaction with their original equipment, but because something told them they would not settle the tire question definitely until they got "Dunlop Traction Tread" or "Dunlop Special."

HOW TO POT PLANTS

Many Wrong Ways and Hints About Right Method

Though it may seem a simple matter enough on the surface, there is a good deal in potting plants properly. The pots should be well drained, using for this purpose pieces of broken pots, and placing on a large piece over the hole in the bottom of your pot. A little sphagnum or rough material of some kind should next be placed over the cracks to keep the soil from being washed down and blocking the drainage. Then put an inch or so of the soil in the pot, and then, pressing this down rather firmly with the fingers until the pot is nearly but not quite full.

The pot is over-filled, insufficient room is left for watering, while, if not filled full enough, not only does the pot contain enough soil, but the plant is liable to become "drowned" when water is given. There ought always to be enough space left between the top of the pot and the soil to permit giving sufficient water to saturate the whole of the soil and moisten all the roots. Some people seem to fill the pots to the top almost anyhow, and still they grow and do well—just a large piece of cork over the drainage hole (sometimes not even that) and then perhaps a few of the rough lumps of the compost being considered quite sufficient.

This plan may answer well enough in a country garden where plants seem to thrive under any condition, but too much care cannot be taken in the town garden. Something always depends upon the state of the soil or compost. If it is sufficiently coarse or porous, comparatively little drainage will be necessary, but if at all fine, plenty should be given. Plants that require much water such as spiraeas, etc., should also have plenty of drainage. In fact, this should be done in all cases, as if a little too much water is given at any time, no harm is done. Most plants, especially those of the "hard-wooded" type, require to be potted very firmly—that is, to have the soil made almost hard in the pots—but in the case of soft-wooded plants, the soil should be loosely for rapid growth, and more firmly for early bloom.

For drainage one large piece of cork is inserted with the hollow side downwards. This should always be sufficiently large to well cover the drainage hole at the bottom of the pot, and any other material for drainage such as smaller corks, should surround it, while a little sphagnum (moss) should be placed over it, so that the compost may not be washed through. This latter, if of proper constituents, that is, containing a certain amount of sand, fibrous loam, and peat, can be made too firm by fair means, but a soil composed solely of heavy garden loam will have its porous drainage of fibrous material, and its vigor. In all potting operations, see that the roots of the plants are laid out in the soil, the soil should not be too dry, but have the soil thrown on them, but among them. It is wise also, generally, to finish off with a surfacing of sand, while, in the case of plants that are slightly lower at the rim of the pot than at the collar of the plant.

BUDDHA'S GREAT TOOTH

Held in High Reverence in Shrine in Ceylon

At all times of the year, in Kandy, Ceylon, may be seen "tooth" of the Buddha, which is held in high reverence in the shrine of the "Palace of the Sacred Tooth," in order to lay offerings and flowers at the shrine of the founder of their religion. Entering the temple, they pass into a small room, some 12 feet square, in which is kept the famous "tooth" of the Buddha. This is a small, white, pointed object, which is kept in a silver case, and is surrounded by a massive silver table amidst a gorgeous array of jewels and other valuable articles. The "tooth" is a silver dome, studded with gems, and under this is a dome of gold, beautifully carved and literally encrusted with precious stones. Two similar coverings lie below them, and beneath these is a small case of gold in which, on a bed of lotus, reposes the tooth itself. This relic, carefully guarded, is seldom seen by others than priests. So much in reverence is the tooth held that to lay an offering to Buddha on the table bearing it is an ambition which every Buddhist would not fail to gratify if circumstances permitted.

King George's Letter

His Majesty the King wrote a letter at Windsor "Castle" when he was six years old, and it realized $30 at a Red Cross auction sale at Slough. It was penned in long, clear, upright characters, and read as follows: "I am writing with your lovely ink, and thank you so much for bringing it down last night; it was so very kind. We went yesterday to see grandmamma's swords, pistols, guns, the bullet in a locker that killed Nelson, the sword full of arrows, tigers, peacocks and stars. We will write with this ink to mamma to-morrow. We were photographed yesterday and the day before. The man took a long time—George."

Curzon's Many Titles

Owing to the death of Lord Curzon, Lord Curzon possesses a more miscellaneous collection of titles than ever, and it was misapprehension enough before his father's death. The barony of Scarsdale, to which he succeeded, is of Great Britain; the baronetcy merged in it is of Scotland; his title of Kedleston is of England, and his barony of Ravensdale of Ravensdale is of Ireland. Being a widower with no sons, Lord Curzon's titles will descend to his eldest daughter, who will be known as Baroness Ravensdale.

IF SETTLERS KNEW

All Canada Depends on Husbanding Natural Resources

A New Ontario settler wrote: "Just for the sake of hustling the timber into the bonfire and getting the land clear for crops, wouldn't it be better to do the burning with some thought for the future woodlot and some decent care for the big rocky territory nearby that can grow trees and nothing but trees? If I could bring a few of my neighbor settlers down to townships in old Ontario where woodlots no longer exist, I think the farmer occupying that land could tell them 'rough in ten minutes to persuade them to save a piece of their homesteads for the wood supply."
