fitting is not perfect unless the frames or mountings are properly adjusted, and that requires the expert hand. The beneficial effect of a correct glass may be upset by an ill fitting frame. It has been my special work for over twenty years to correct troubles emanating from eyestrain, and placing the proper lenses in the most suitable and becoming frame or mountings. CHAPTER XV. Will's Marriage. (continued) By Bessie's side stood a slight young man, who, even at a distance, impressed an observer with the idea of gentlemanly good nature. He was holding Bessie's parasol and talking merrily to her.

and encouraging him to give them with the sweetest of smiles and the most kindly glances from her dark eyes. Will thought the walk from the pier to the hotel an absurdly short one. This delightful girl in a gendarme-blue Hensley suit, with its corn-coloured blouse, charmed him. Never before had he felt so much at his ease with a stranger.

Work While You Sleep

MILLIONS of people have CASCARETS do health work for them. If you have never tried this great health maker—Get a tin box—and you will never use any other bowel medicine—said, with a happy confidence, to Bessie. 'She has fine eyes,' answered Bessie. 'She has divine eyes! So soft and tender! It is a joy to look at them!'

But when evening came, and Louisa appeared at dinner in a gown of thin brown canvas, worn over an amber-silk petticoat, with sleeves of amber silk and plastrons to match, and amber combs in her black hair, Will suffered a fresh enchantment. He sat at the side of this goddess, and she charmed him anew every moment. If he ate anything, he was not aware of the act. His eyes and ears usurped his consciousness.

And yet Louisa spoke very little, only enough to set Will talking. Her role was to listen and look interested. She had only to smile and look in Will's face and lift her large, expressive eyes to his small gray ones, and Will was both pleased for what he had said and encouraged to go on.

he proudly told himself, and these ideas, fortunately, all fitted into his own. And then he compared her modest way of suggesting her opinions and listening to his opinions with the confident, airy satisfaction of the average clever girl of New York.

'Louisa has no self-consciousness,' he thought, 'and most of the brilliant women I have met seem to talk before their looking-glass. Bessie often gives me that impression—so does Ambrosia—so does every one but Louisa.'

In the presence of this unique and satisfactory companion, a month went away like a happy dream. The life led was regular and blissful. Mr. Madison went fishing every possible day and came home in the evening to his dinner, full of enthusiasm about the people and the country. Bessie and John's apparently endless letters to answer. She was a little vain of the quires and quires of adoration she received.

The EVENING TELEGRAM.

THE advertiser who puts his Advt. in the EVENING TELEGRAM never complains of results. It is read and believed by the people who buy goods. That is one reason why the TELEGRAM'S advertising columns Carry More Advertising Than Any Other Newspaper in Newfoundland.

That fact "speaks for itself," and it is not our intention just now to emphasize it further. What we want to do is to bring home to the business men (if there are any who have not availed of our columns in the past) the advantage to be gained through a liberal use of the TELEGRAM, in bringing before the people what they want the public—the great buying public—most to know:

The Kind of Goods They Have To Sell, the Quality of the Goods, Prices, &c.

If that is what the shopkeeper wants the public to learn, the TELEGRAM is the right medium through which it can be conveyed, because—

- 1st. It has the largest circulation, and
- 2nd. Consequently it is the most widely-read newspaper in Newfoundland;
- 3rd. Naturally, then, it must be THE BEST ADVERTISING MEDIUM in Newfoundland;
- 4th. Therefore, the advertiser has everything to gain, and nothing to lose, by availing of the services of the EVENING TELEGRAM during 1911.

The Evening Chit-Chat

By RUTH CAMERON

On Jan. 14, after a two weeks' trial, one of my friends gave over her New Year's resolution.

The resolution was to take every day, night and morning, a certain set of exercises, which a first doctor had promised would correct the ungainly stoop, broaden the narrow shoulders and improve the sallow complexion which keep my friend from being a pretty girl.

Incidentally, of course, the exercises would also vastly improve her health, but the young lady in question, being at an age when appearance is paramount, that was the bait which was used to lure her to make the resolution.

My friend gave up the exercises, she pointed out to me, when I expressed my regret, not because she hadn't the backbone to keep them up—not at all. If they had been doing her any good, she would gladly have kept them up until doomsday. But she couldn't see that they were. Her mirror told her as plainly as ever that she was still narrow shouldered and stooping and sallow.

And she had taken the exercises two weeks.

And she had been acquiring that narrow chest and stooping shoulders and sallow skin about eighteen years. Wasn't that logic for you?

And yet it's the logic that kills enough good resolutions and reforms to make us a world of healthy, wealthy wise men and women.

Rome was not built in a day. But it might quite as easily have been as a good complexion or a good figure or a sweet disposition.

I know a girl who by strictly adhering to certain facial treatment for a year has won for herself a good complexion. The change in the last few months was startling. But for the first few months she worked without any apparent results.

Because she had the common sense not to expect a miracle and the courage to keep on without one, she won out.

The bulldog tenacity to hang on during that time before apparent results make hanging on seem worth while—isn't that one of the characteristics that has conquered the world?

Seldom is a fortune made without it. Never is a character built, good health gained, or a reform put through without it.

The world is full of failures who failed just because they couldn't get along with apparent results in a day.

When you have reached the crest of the hill and are going down with the momentum of success behind you it's easy enough to keep on going.

It's climbing the hill with the back-pull of no apparent results that show a man's mettle.

Courage, comrade on the up-slope, think what fun it will be going down.

Ruth Cameron

WELCOME WORDS TO WOMEN

Women who suffer with disorders peculiar to their sex should write to Dr. Pierce and receive free the advice of a physician of over 40 years' experience—a skilled and successful specialist in the diseases of women. Every letter of this sort has the most careful consideration and is regarded as a sacredly confidential. Many sensitively modest women write fully to Dr. Pierce what they would shrink from telling to their local physician. The local physician is pretty sure to say that he cannot do anything without "an examination." Dr. Pierce holds that these distasteful examinations are generally needless, and that no woman, except in rare cases, should submit to them.

Dr. Pierce's treatment will cure you right in the privacy of your own home. His "Favorite Prescription," has cured hundreds of thousands of them the worst of cases.

It is the only medicine of its kind that is the product of a regularly graduated physician. The only one good enough that its makers dare to print its every ingredient on its outside wrapper. There's no secrecy. It will bear examination. No alcohol and no habit-forming drugs are found in it. Some unscrupulous medicine dealers may offer you a substitute. Don't take it. Don't trifle with your health. Write to World's Dispensary Medical Association, Dr. R. V. Pierce, President, Buffalo, N. Y.,—take the advice received and be well.

His Grace the Duke of Norfolk.

Extraordinary Man who is Planning the King's Coronation.

"The worst dressed man in all England!"

Yes, that's exactly what royalty, nobility, gentry and commoners say of His Grace, the Duke of Norfolk, premier nobleman of all the Empire, Hereditary Earl Marshal, one of the richest peers in all the kingdom, who of all the long list of nobility is privileged to walk, stand or sit next to royalty itself.

The only person in all the Empire who can give orders to the King and Queen, to say nothing of the princesses and princesses of the blood royal; the only one who enjoys the chief perquisites after a coronation; the only one who prescribes just what their Majesties shall wear when they are crowned—yes, this is the Duke of Norfolk, "the worst dressed man in England!" a country whence comes fashions for men the world over.

When George V., Emperor of India, Defender of the faith, etc., and his Queen, Mary, walked up the aisle at Westminster Abbey to have the royal crowns set upon their brows and to be saluted by the flower of the Empire as their rulers it will be the Duke of Norfolk who will be stage manager of the ceremonies, just as he was at the great tribute paid by the Empire to its late monarch, Edward VII. As Hereditary Earl Marshal, he has rights which not even a King or a Queen can dispute—even to the right of prescribing just what they shall wear—this man whose shabby, ill-fitting, worse-hanging clothes make him the laughing stock of all the tailors of Great Britain.

Who is the Duke of Norfolk?

Just this: Of all the twenty-eight Dukes of Great Britain he is No. 1. The Duke of Norfolk's title was granted to his ancestor, the first Duke, in 1483. He is the fifteenth of the line and is now sixty-three years old.

This is his whole title, omitting a few little military ones: "The Duke of Norfolk, Sir Henry Fitzalan-Howard, K.G., B.C., G.V.O.; Earl of Arundel, Surrey and Norfolk; Baron Fitz-Alan, Clun, Oswaldestre and Maitravers; Earl Marshal and Hereditary Marshal of England; Premier Duke and Premier Earl; Lord Lieutenant and Custos Rotulorum of Sussex; Knight, First Class Noble Order of Christ; Honorary Colonel Third West Riding Brigade, R.F.A.; Lieutenant-Colonel Fourth Battalion Royal Sussex Regiment, J.P. and C. C. for West Sussex."

But there is even more. This "worst dressed man in England," by right of being Earl Marshal, is also head of the Herald's College, and under him are the Garter King of Arms, Rouge Dragon, Blue Mantle, Rouge Croix, heralds, pursuivants, gold and silver sticks innumerable and all the rest of that quaint medieval company which is only mastered when a King

Indigestion & Dyspepsia

In all its Forms can be Cured.

It is quite a daily occurrence to hear persons say: "Oh, what a feeling of distress I have after meals, fullness of the stomach, heaviness and headache, I feel too tired to do anything, I have no heart to exert myself and at times I can't for nothing." I often have a pain in the pit of my stomach, no appetite, my heart beats rapidly on the slightest exertion, I feel just as tired when rising in the morning as when retiring to bed. My sleep is often disturbed, and I often awake with a sense of suffocation and a difficulty of again going to sleep. I have to be careful of what I eat, and my life seems a veritable burden.

Now, it seems a shame and a pity for persons to be suffering like that when it is in their power to get cured by taking a Bottle of Dr. Stafford's Prescription. A sure cure for all persons afflicted with stomach troubles. It can be obtained at

C. E. School Report.

We thank Mr. W. W. Blackall for a copy of his latest report on Church of England Schools.

"The money granted for this purpose by the Government has been well and carefully spent, and has been the means of doing a great deal of good throughout the Colony.

Mr. Blackall advocates the granting of considerable additional aid to sparsely populated localities and estimates that an addition of $14,000 for year will be required for the Church of England portion of this grant.

He also advocates the adoption of such simple and useful form of manual work as paper-cutting, card-board modelling and clay-moulding, even if woodwork is not possible.

He also sets forth what is being done under the direction of Mr. A. Barnes in the way of training teachers. He says: "The institution wants a home with a practising school attached, and I hope that the Legislature may at no distant date be able to vote the necessary funds for the establishment of such a home."

Mary Duff Strikes.

Mr. H. W. LeMessurier had a message to-day from Trepassy stating that the schooner Mary Duff, of Carbonear, while at Trepassy during the storm of Saturday night dragged her anchors, and the after part of the vessel struck the bottom, she having run into shoal water.

Evening Telegram Fashion Plates.

The Home Dressmaker should keep a Catalogue Scrap Book of our Pattern Cuts. These will be found very useful to refer to from time to time.

The front closing on this model will recommend it at once as practical and convenient. The design has a group of pockets over the shoulders which are stitched to the waist band in back, and to yoke depth in front.

Attempted Robbery.

While Mr. Edward Whiteway and family, of Dunford Street, were at church last night an attempt was made to rob their premises.

leicles a Danger.

In almost every street in the city icicles depending from the eaves of houses constitute a great danger to pedestrians, as they in most cases are large and must certainly weigh several pounds.

Lost His Overcoat.

Patrick Reardon was coming from Bell Island, Friday evening, when he got away from two friends who were with him. He had a difficult time to regain them, and later the men had to return to the Island.

A Remarkable Test!

Locally Made By Messrs. W. & G. RENDELL. To test Solignum as a preservative for Wood against the attacks of Worms, we tried a piece of 2 x 4 Spruce, about two feet in length, by painting one-third with Solignum, leaving the balance clear wood, this was suspended by a wire through the centre, in the water about one foot from the bottom, immediately over a pile of stones the remains of a sunken wharf (which is the place where our Wharf Shores are eaten off first) for Three Months. On taking it up at the end of that time we found some half-dozen small holes only a very short distance from the clear part of the wood, which shows the liquid had penetrated through the whole piece and the worms had hardly begun boring before coming in contact with it. Last year as a test of some brands of Copper Paint we handle, we had a similar piece of wood treated at both ends, leaving the centre third clear; this was in exactly the same place as the piece for the Solignum test; for Three Months and Three Days, when taken up the painted ends were perfect but the centre was riddled with worm holes. Both these pieces of wood are to be seen at our Office by those interested in the preservation of Wharf Shores or any other wood work. W. & G. RENDELL. P. C. Feat in Diving.

Diver Walter Squires went to Bell Island last week and donning his diving suit went down off the D. I. S. Co. pier in search of an anchor and chain lost by one of the ore boats last fall. He made several descents and eventually "picked up" the anchor in 20 fathoms of water. The pressure was terrible and Squires took a great risk in going into such a depth. There is always a great danger in going beyond 12 fathoms, and Mr. Squires took the utmost care in locating the anchor before he dove. When he had attached the rope to it and later permanently secured it by putting a wire hawser on it, so that the anchor can be taken from the bottom when necessary.

Interesting Debate.

The debate of the pupils of St. Bonaventure's College held Saturday afternoon in the College was of a very interesting character. Rev. Bro. The negative side was taken by P. O'Neill, B. White, H. Knight, W. McGrath and B. Costigan. The jury returned a verdict in favor of the affirmative.

Interesting Debate at Portugal Cove.

On Friday evening a very interesting debate took place at Portugal Cove, at Gladney's hotel, the participants being several well-known citizens of Bell Island, then blockaded at the Cove. The subject selected was a practical one and interested all concerned.

Resolved.—That all conditions being favourable it would be better to proceed to St. John's than to remain at the Cove awaiting an opportunity to cross.

Some excellent speeches containing some high flow, oratory were made, especially by the leaders of the affirmative, Messrs. Main and Siteman, and by the chiefs of the negative, Messrs. Murphy and Greene. The debate lasted a few hours, and the arguments were somewhat complicated by the fact that all were compelled to speak against their true convictions relative to the situation. On a vote being taken it was found that both sides were equal.

More Typhus.

The two men—Crew—who resided with Mrs. Rankin, at Hagerly's Lane, and who were removed to hospital for observation last Thursday, have developed the disease. J. Butt, of Alexander Street, was also taken to hospital for observation of typhus, Saturday last. Special to Evening Telegram. PEKING, Feb. 19.

That a secret agreement between Russia and Japan to strip China of a large portion of her territory is responsible for the ultimatum sent by the Czar's Government to Peking, is the belief of the Imperial Council. As a result of threats against the Russian Minister, the Russian Embassy here is under guard, and the officials are ready to leave the Empire at a moment's notice. China is now faced with the most serious era since the Chinese-Japanese war. It is obvious that China is seeking delay, in the hope that the intervention of Foreign Powers can be obtained. Russia has already secured from England concessions for railroad connections with British lines in India, following, of course, the construction of the trans-Persian, trans-Belochistan railroads by Russia.

Mr. George Main is the latest addition to the troupe; he also being blockaded here en route to Wabana, in the interests of the D. I. S.

On arising this morning it was our intention to proceed to Bell Island over the ice. On the eve of starting we noticed a crowd from the Island setting out for the Cove, hence we decided to wait till their arrival, which was a few hours later. After listening to their experience we decided it would be very foolhardy to do so, as they had a very unpleasant time, if not one had the misfortune to be compelled to bring his swimming powers into use, and we are still at Portugal Cove singing the famous song, "We're here because we're here."
Mr. John Power arrived from St. John's this morning, and after viewing the situation returned to town again.
On Wednesday the roads were in such a fearful condition that the mailman had to remain in the city all night. He returned Thursday afternoon taking three hours to cover the road.
We hope that before the present session of the House of Assembly terminates the Government will have provided a means whereby a repetition of this blockade between such an important place as Wabana, the mining capital of Newfoundland, and the mainland will be prevented, as this blockade has made a serious loss to the merchants, and an embarrassing situation to the Companies.

Budget of News from Newtown.

THE MISSIONARY CAMPAIGN.
The annual series of missionary services in this parish has just concluded. At the time the weather was most inclement and unsuitable, being bitterly cold with high winds and snow storms. In spite of this, however, the campaign was more successful than any previously held in the history of the parish. Congregations were, of course, somewhat small, but the monetary outcome of the campaign breaks all previous records.

On Friday, Jan. 27th, the campaign was opened at Newtown. After Evening prayer some 300 people were present, and the Rev. Mr. H. Humphries addressed the congregation on "Our Present Duty." He dealt principally with local affairs and made a strong plea for help to the few church families at Wesleyville, who have no house of God to attend, and are holding fast the faith of their fathers.

The next speaker was Mr. Geo. B. Carter, who dealt with the "Commission of the Church" as received from our Lord in his farewell command, "Go ye into all the world." He appealed for deeper faith in the Master's promises and commands and in the ultimate triumph of the Church of the living God over the forces of unbelief and heathenism.

Rev. J. A. Hiscock, B.A., followed with an historical sketch of how the faith of Christ reached England, and thence came to our own country. Before closing he earnestly thanked the children for the assistance they rendered the missionary cause through their missionary boxes.

On the following night the same deputation addressed an inspiring meeting at Pinchard's Island. Badger's Quay was next visited, and another successful service was held by the same speakers.
The next night a service was held at Pool's Island, and was similarly addressed. The following table shows the financial result of this year's campaign:

	Collection.	Boxes.
Newtown	$13.00	$79.00
Pinchard's Island	6.18	33.00
Badger's Quay	8.00	32.00
Pool's Island	4.35	11.00
Total	$31.53	$155.00

The total contribution of this parish for 1910, therefore, is over one hundred and eighty dollars.

Parade Rink Robbed.

Late Friday night or early Saturday morning some thief entered the Parade Rink through one of the windows, and after gaining admittance forced the door of the dressing room and ransacked the place. Four pairs of boots and skates, valued at $20, were stolen with an overcoat and pair of rubber overshoes. The police are now looking into the matter.

Shannahan Wants to Know Why They Can't Come Down.

"Everything seems to be going against us this winter," says Delaney, "but we have gates open of gates, storm signals never going up, but remaining up all the time, work scarce and no berth to the ice for a St. John's man, and now to cap the climax we find we can't get a hockey team to visit us."

"But," says Tucker, "the answers we get are not good enough; they should send away a delegation, just like the sent to The Hague, and invite them down in the proper manner. I feel sure if our men put a thing fairly and squarely before them that they'll strain a point to oblige us. Of course, we know they're pretty busy up there at this time of the year, but these people have obliged us before and 'tis likely they'll do so again."

Mrs. Tucker says we can't expect hockey teams to run at our beck and call, for we don't entertain them as well as we should. All she ever saw the hockeyists doing while they were around here was invading the Post Office looking for letters from home, look when you would see one or two of them on the P. O. steps or trying to get in a Fire Hall. No one seemed to take them off Water Street, even the dinner was held on Water Street. Mrs. Tucker says when she invites anyone to town she don't send them to a hotel, she makes up a bed for them in her own house, and she thinks people who invite hockeyists should bring them to their own homes and keep em.

"The better we treat 'em the better 'will be for the country," says Delaney, "for all these people have flakes of money and it might induce 'em to come back again and go in business and employ the men here, for they'll make it in the country, but because they know we are real nice people with beautiful manners. Our girls, says Delaney, do their best, for they promenade our principal street displaying the colors of the visiting team. If for no other reason, than the big sale of ribbon at this dull season, we should leave no stone unturned in getting 'em down."

Tucker says this hockey is only the old-fashioned game of "hurlley" that we played up a back of the Gas House in the days of old; the only difference being we hadn't any salmon net behind the goal, and there was no penalties except a couple of black eyes, and he's sure we can get just as good a crowd from one of the outposts as ever trod a pan of ice; but if they must be invited, then let us get 'em down quick, so as the sealers will be able to go up and give 'em a cheer before they go to the ice. The Government should be interviewed and asked to get in touch with that "Corny" man and arrange suitable weather for the series of matches. But here the Cute Man from Carter's Hill got in his work and said:—

"Ye needn't fear about the weather if these chaps are coming. I hope and pray they will come, for we have had a bitter winter and goodness knows we'd all welcome a mild spurt. Get the hurlley players to come and all the crowing birds will rejoice in one long cook-a-oodle-do. Dogs will come crying from the cellar, and the coat that was barred in a puncheon all winter will saunter forth once more on his annual rounds in search of the impounder; the wall paper jade will put on bonnet and shawl and go down with last spring's faded samples to be matched; the boy that hung out of the fannel of a foxey stove will be sent to look for a ladder to "take it down" when the whistle blows announcing the hockeyists are up opposite the graveyard. TIM SHANNAHAN.

Stole the Magistrate's Gloves.

One day last week a miner was before Magistrate Power at Bell Island and was fined $3 or 14 days for assaulting another man. After the trial concluded the man went into a room in the Court House to get the amount of his fine from the pocket of his coat left hanging there, and seeing a pair of gloves on the desk promptly appropriated them, and paying no heed to the magistrate, he took them to the magistrate, and when he missed them suspicious fell on his knees, who was arrested but denied the theft. The police, however, searched him and found the gloves in his pocket. He was again prosecuted, this time for larceny, and was fined. The Judge would not take back the gloves, which were grimy and soiled from the man's hands, and he was compelled to keep them and pay the magistrate the first coat of them $2.

Risking Their Lives.

During the past ten days the ice on the foreshore of Bell Island being broken up with the surf was dangerous for men to cross, but day after day men risked going over it and many got into the water. They "coped" over this to get to the solid ice out in the bay, which they tried to cross, and but for the presence of the Progress there several would have been drowned. She repeatedly had to run out from the shore and pick men up, bringing them back to the Island. There were some hairbreadth escapes from drowning, and in the mission which she was on in running to and from the solid ice the Progress broke a blade of her propeller and had to get a new one at the Island.

Damaraland Arrives.

The schr. Damaraland, Capt. Dave, arrived to Geo. Neal in ballast at noon to-day after a run of 44 days from Bahia. The vessel had fine weather until reaching the Gulf Stream, and then met it very stormy for days. Friday week a gale was experienced with mountainous seas, the vessel had to lay to and her canvas was pretty badly torn. She lost two foresails, they being torn out of the bolt ropes, and had to bend other canvas to replace them. For four days she tried to get to Louisburg for a coal cargo but could not succeed, and reached the longitude of 5 west but had to retreat. Captain and crew are well.

Beginning to Outfit.

The sealers Beothic, Neptune, Diana and Erik will haul over to Job Bros. north side premises during the week and will be made ready for the fishery. The engines of the Neptune which were thoroughly overhauled were tried at the Dock premises on Saturday and worked splendidly.

A FINE RUN.—The schr. Hispaniola, Capt. Wm. Lane, arrived at Halifax Saturday from Connaigre Bay after a very quick run of 4 days. The vessel had a load of herring for Job Bros. and will likely haul coal at Sydney for this port.

Placentia Notes.

Rev. J. J. St. John, Chancellor of the Archdiocese, and late P. P. Argenti, left for St. John's last week to perform the duties of his present position. For the past fifteen years he has laboured earnestly in the interests of the parish of Argenti, and during that time he never once murmured at a call whether near or far over water or over land, but cheerfully and willingly was at his post of duty. He is well-known to the Placentia parishioners for he never left this parish without Mass when our own priest was away. Upon his leaving he was presented with an address and a purse from his parishioners and also an address from his teachers and ex-teachers who held him in high esteem. The writer wishes the rev. gentleman every success in his new parish.

Messrs. J. Bindon, W. F. O'Reilly, T. P. Kemp and J. W. Collins went to St. John's by Monday's train to join the Knights of Columbus.

Since last writing the billiard cue presented to the Star members by Mr. W. R. Howley, has been won. On Tuesday, 15th, the play-off decided the lucky winner.

"A" CLASS. Winners. W. J. Walsh 350, A. Wyse 350, A. Wyse 350.

Losers. Fred. Collins 327, A. Collins 185, Mr. A. Wyse of "A" Class played A. Collins from "B" Class and had to make 350 while the latter made 250, and did so by beating him 85. J. Walsh 196.

"B" CLASS. Winners. J. Collins 250, J. Collins, J. S. 250, J. Collins 250.

Losers. J. Kerr 196, H. Verran 255, J. Collins, J. S. 255.

Mr. A. Wyse and J. Collins played on Tuesday, and ended with the former being the lucky winner. The game ended thus—A. Wyse, 350; J. Collins, 184. Thus Mr. Wyse is the winner of the cue, and we must congratulate him upon his winning such a valuable article. In all Mr. W. played 1,750 points, which is enough, and we may say he is the champion billiard player of Placentia.

Not the Writer.

Special to Evening Telegram. Dear Sir,—Some time ago I started to write to your paper thinking the people of this place who so kindly helped me in my Xmas entertainment. Through some mistake it failed and so was consigned to the waste paper basket. I trust this will be as I want it and so succeed where the other failed.

Quite recently I overheard part of a conversation not intended for my ears, although it concerned me. Although no names were mentioned, through it I found out I was suspected of having helped compose a letter sent to the Placindaeter, and which appeared in that paper not long since. This is just a sample of what I have had to put up with since I have been here.

In the past, Clareville has been noted for its treatment (?) of strangers, and I suppose I can expect no better. I beg to inform all those who imagine I helped in the composition of that letter that I knew nothing whatever about either the writing or sending of that letter until a friend asked me if I had seen the Placindaeter for that week; and on my replying that I had not, told me about what was in it, and secured a copy of the letter for me. I am going to pass no remarks on it. It did not concern me, and as I was in no way connected with it, I thought no more of it.

But I may say, when I compose a letter to the Placindaeter, this, or any other paper, I will do so only in self-defence or as the correspondent of some event. Also, it will be written in plain English, in words that will find the meaning of them; in language that will cast no reflection either on the home life or moral character of any one, and with my own name signed to, so that the blame, if a mistake be made, shall rest on no one but myself, and not on the innocent as in the above case. I haven't the least idea why I was suspected of having anything to do with it, as the injured ladies were friends whom I always respected.

I once saw in an autograph album the following lines: "The tongue is a very important member. It can in a moment of time annual years of friendship. Let other tongues do this: Guard well thine own."

If the people of this place were to apply this and a little more of the golden rule to their daily living, it would be better for themselves and all concerned. I give no clue as to likes of you that keeps the likes of us out of many a fine place?"

"It was the Duke of Norfolk and owner of the demense whom they were addressing. But his innate courtesy stood the nobleman in good stead.
"Why, certainly, ladies," he said, quietly. "I didn't mean to give offence. I'll stay on the path hereafter."
And stay on the path he did until he was out of sight, when he took a short cut to the castle across another lawn. But the two indignant visitors did not see him this time. Norfolk loves to tell this story on himself. As like as not he will next show the sixpence he wears on his watchchain.
"The first and only money I ever really earned," he says, as he displays it proudly.
One day he chanced to be standing outside a railway station in his shabby attire. A lady bustled out of the waiting room, apparently in a very great hurry. Casting an eye at the poorly clad figure in the ill-fitting clothes she promptly surmised that the man was hanging around for any odd job he might pick up.

"Here, you!" she called, "fetch me a cab, and be quick about it! I'm late now."
She didn't know that she was addressing the first of all the peers of England. The Duke didn't let her know, either. Instead, he meekly trotted off like a hard-up porter and brought a cab around quickly. He gratefully accepted the sixpenny bit the lady thrust at him, touched his cap, and carefully closed the cab door for her! That sixpence is one of the most cherished possessions to-day.
What might be an embarrassing situation for both parties is always saved by the Duke, who takes such little contrivances as part of the joy of living. He is so used to them now that he can get away with it without the quiver of an eyelash. He turns what might be a most uncomfortable moment into something amusing—for himself, at least.
In Rome once he was waiting for his train. There was a pile of luggage waiting to be assorted and an insistent crowd of passengers trying to unravel the tangle which is inevitable with an Italian railway journey. As the Duke was trying to pick out his own bags and boxes a lady from America bustled up.
"You are one of Cook's men, aren't you?" she began, and without waiting for an answer, "please help me with my luggage. I'm in a very great hurry."

The Duke helped. But this time he didn't get a tip. This was greatly to his displeasure, because he would have liked anything, no matter how small, to string on his watch-chain with the famous sixpence.
One of his own countrymen gave him a bit of a shock in Portsmouth. He chanced to enter a shop to buy some little thing he needed, when the proprietor strode toward him. That day the store had advertised for a floor walker, and the owner assumed that the shabby looking individual who had just come in was an applicant for the position.
"See here, you," sneered the tradesman, "it's no jolly use of you going to the office in those togs. No man can get a job here unless he dresses like a gentleman!"
"I'm not looking for a job, answered the Duke, meek as Moses, "I just wanted to buy a few trifles."
The storekeeper begged pardon and sent a clerk to attend to his customer's wishes, but with little grace. He rather fancied to have only smart folk's trade. But the Hereditary Earl Marshal of England didn't let him know that he had been quite sharp with a nobleman—and the premier of them all, at that.
"He might have had an apoplectic fit," explains the Duke, as he tells the story, "and that would have been, to say the least, just a bit annoying."
These are only a few of the Duke's experiences. He has been ordered, when acting as Earl Marshal in his unconventional garb, to get out of the way of his own carriage. He was mistaken for the chief undertaker at Queen Victoria's funeral. When he was Postmaster-General of England he could only secure attention from a very self-important young clerk at St. Martin's-le-Grand by addressing a telegram, signed "Norfolk, Postmaster-General." And another time, when he was signing a check, the smart clerk at the bank remarked, "My dear sir, we want your signature, not the place where you live!"
When the Boer War started Norfolk promptly went to South Africa and fought beside "Tommy Atkins." His uniform "wasn't a bit smart," declared certain other officers, but Norfolk fought just the same. But when it came to taking part in the great Roman Catholic procession in London in 1908 it was the Duke of Norfolk in all his robes of office who escorted Cardinal Vanutelli through the streets of London—he is England's foremost Roman Catholic peer. In fact, Norfolk's influence had much to do with the words "superstitious and idolatrous" being expunged from the coronation oath which George V. is to take, all of which refers to the Roman Catholic faith. In fact, he is the unofficial Ambassador of the Vatican at the Court of St. James's. The English followers of the Catholic Church think he is the finest peer in Christendom, even if he doesn't dress very well.

Some queer perquisites go with such an antiquated office as Earl Marshal. After the coronation, Norfolk will be entitled to claim the King's palfrey, with its saddle and bridle, as well as the Queen's mount. He also has the right to the cloth which covers the King's table as Hereditary Earl. But in England he is entitled to receive a goblet of solid gold as reward. Inasmuch as the King and Queen do not go to their coronation a-horse, there are no palfreys, but the Duke always demands, and receives, the drinking cup of gold. He has one now—that bestowed upon him by Edward when Norfolk staged-managed his coronation—and he will get another from George V. at the proper time and place.
He managed the funeral of Edward VII. with dignity, reverence and beauty. He was present in the balcony when King George was proclaimed. Afterward he received the royal thanks for the way in which the funeral was so impressively conducted. All the ceremonies of the coming coronation have already been left to his capable hands.
The Duke of Norfolk is one of the richest men in England. He has an income of $7,500,000 from his London holdings alone, which includes a large portion of the Strand, London's famous shopping street. From the city of Sheffield he gets $500,000 a year more. He owns 50,000 acres of the fairest countryside in all Great Britain: Arundel Castle, the great feudal estate, has been improved to the extent of $5,000,000 since he has held it—he inherited the title at the age of thirteen. The neighbourhood was once the home of Alfred the Great, and the castle has been the home of Norfolk's family since the Anglo-Saxon days, long before William the Conqueror's time.
The Duke has been married twice. His first wife, daughter of Lord Donington, died in 1887, leaving an heir who was deaf, dumb and blind, as well as an imbecile. The boy died at the age of twenty-three, so that the Duke's younger brother, Lord Edmund Talbot, was next in line for the Dukedom. The Duke married in 1904 the Honorable Gwendolyn Constable Maxwell, daughter of Lord Herries. He has now another son and a daughter. When the Duke was born, in June, 1908, the Duke shed tears of joy. The boy was christened the next day by Father Vaughan, brother of the Cardinal, and the name given to him was Bernard Marmaduke. He is now known as the Earl of Arundel.
And some day, if he lives, the boy will succeed to all his father's proud titles, even to the point of selling kings and queens what to do how to dress! and queens what to do and how to dress!

The Longevity of Birds
An instance was recorded in a German paper recently of the shooting of a crow with a ring on its leg bearing a date of over a hundred years ago. In the same week a resident in one of the English counties wrote to the ornithological press putting on record the coming of age of his skylark.
That letter brought to light the fact that if twenty-one years is not exactly a common age for a lark, it is by no means a unique one. The writer has owned canaries that exceeded the twenty-one years of the skylark, and one bullfinch he possessed reached the age of sixteen years.
Exhibition or "fancy" bred birds, on the other hand, are comparatively short-lived, and the variety known as the "Scotch Fancy," the canary with the half-moon shaped body, is decrepit when two or three years old, and is becoming extinct.—C. E. World.

Had Eczema In Both Legs
Remarkable cure of Chronic Eczema by use of DR. CHASE'S OINTMENT.
You could scarcely imagine a more severe test of this ointment than the cure of Mrs. Clark recorded here. For twenty years she suffered all the tortures of this terrible disease and tried in vain the prescriptions of doctors and the cures commonly recommended.
Mr. Fred W. Clark, Petworth, Gt. writes:—"My mother had Eczema in both legs for about 20 years and suffered from the dreadful itching, stinging sensations which can never be described. She doctored and tried everything for it but got no relief until she used Dr. Chase's Ointment which was recommended to her by a friend. She found that this brought relief and by continuing its use has been cured of Eczema. I do not think any one could have this horrible disease any worse than she did and can recommend Dr. Chase's Ointment as a thorough cure for Eczema."

Our Oysters

Have the Tang of the Sea

We receive our oysters under the regulations of the Sealship System which covers the growing, shucking, shipping, selling of Sealshipt Oysters

Protected by an Effective System.

At the seaside they are packed, solid into air-tight containers and then SEALED. The ice is on the OUTSIDE of the containers. The containers are in patent Sealshipt-ters.
We have the sole authority to break the seal of the Sealshipper. We transfer the oysters to our blue and white porcelain Sealshipt-cases. We hand you Sealshipt Oysters in the waxlined blue and white Sealshipt paper pack.
Shipment of "BLUE POINTS" received by Monday's Express.

Handled in this way, they retain all the freshness and flavor of oysters just taken from the beds. They are all solid meats—not a drop of water has ever been added—no ice has ever touched them.
They are economical—a pint is enough for family of five.
