DAMAGE BY SUFFS REACHES FIVE MILLIONS

Insurance Companies Are Reaping a Golden Harvest as Result of Suffragette Depredations — Women's Organization Shattered by Arrests of Leaders.

Special Cable to The World. LONDON, May 8.—(Copyright.)—Enquiries instituted by The Toronto World at Lloyd's today developed that the insurance companies are reaping a golden harvest as a result of the suffragette depredations. Business has received great impetus both from the insurance of golf links as well as from fire risks.

Numerous golf clubs have insured against revenue losses as the result of militant interference, while others have taken out policies insuring golf greens against damage by suffragettes. The premiums charged are $5 per green per annum, the limit of the underwriters' liability being $250 on each green.

These insurances, however, were mostly for three months, because it is developed that troubling question will be settled in that time either by a triumph of the militants or by the suppression of their campaign.

Insurance against fire has been equally brisk, but owing to the great competition in the business rates have not been affected.

Five Millions Damage.

Estimates of the financial loss caused by suffragettes' outrages prepared for the home secretary put the amount at $5,000,000. This sum does not include the expense of employing large numbers of extra police, detectives and watchmen to protect ministers, public buildings and meetings.

Three detectives have been assigned to protect each cabinet minister at all times. All suspected persons are shadowed by plainclothes men and all public buildings are under special guard.

Since the defeat of the woman suffrage bill large numbers of former constitutional suffragettes have joined the militant movement. An attack on the house of lords is one of the new plans, and this is being accomplished by means of a suffragette typist who could get a position on the reporting staff of the upper house.

In spite of the sensational outrages of the past two weeks and altho the militants are keeping up a strong bluff, their organization has been shaken by recent arrests of leaders. The militant acts now being committed are the handwork of suffragettes working independently, and the authorities believe that the removing of the central controlling influence will soon break up the campaign of destruction.

This optimistic view is not shared by politicians generally, who believe that as long as money is forthcoming, crimes will be committed.

Young Hot Bloods.

The most ominous development, tho the effort is being made to treat it humorously, is the organization of the Y. H. B., or Young Hot Blood party. They are a band of dare-devil young women, all spinsters, who use a fast motor car, which they drive and manage without any male chauffeur. They are suspected of having committed the recent outrages, tho only four of them have been caught. No married woman is eligible for enrollment in Y. H. B.

Canada's Glory Yet to Come

LONDON, May 8.—(C. A. P.)—Sir Charles Tupper arrived at Liverpool last night aboard the Empress of Ireland. Speaking of the future of Canada, Sir Charles said that during his long life there had seen great and wonderful developments, but after carefully considering all the essentials that go to make up a great nation, he verily believed Canada's growth in the past would prove as nothing to the glory of her future. He spoke with gratification of Woodrow Wilson's tariff changes.

JUST PLAIN "MAMA" AFTER JULY FIRST

After Same Date "e" Comes Out of Whiskey and Plough is Plow.

Special to The Toronto World. CHICAGO, May 8.—All is "wo." Mama has lost an "m," and it will do her no good to look for it, because the university council of Northwestern University has decreed that after July 1 she will be just plain mama.

The council made public its latest list of words of simplified spelling. Continuing its wave of reform, the council has forever removed the intoxicating "e" from whiskey. It may make the Illinois farmers' boys feel a little easier to know that the "plough" will be known this summer and henceforth as plain "plow."

The good old "ae" has been simplified to plain "e," as noticed in such words as anesthesia; "on" had met a similar fate, and the famous old bird is now known as the phoenix. Another new one is subpena. The reformers have removed the "ough" from hiccough, and made it just plain hiccup. The "ue" has been lost from catalog, prolog and pedagogue. As a tip to poets, rhyme hereafter is to be simply rhyme.

"IT'S A BOY, ANOTHER AND STILL ANOTHER"

Proud Father Slapped Physician on the Chest and Joy Knew No Bounds.

Special to The Toronto World. NEW YORK, March 8.—Mr. and Mrs. Louis Isler, in January, 1913, lived with their four children at No. 51 Rogers avenue, Brooklyn. The explosion of a kerosene lamp ignited a lace curtain and in a few minutes their apartment was ablaze. Mr. and Mrs. Isler escaped, but could not rescue any of the little ones.

The mother pleaded with her husband to leave the home that had brought such a catastrophe, and they moved. They didn't seem to recover from their loss and their friends feared a decline.

Isler was in bed this morning when Sarah Kebock, who had been caring for Mrs. Isler, called him. After Dr. Harold Rabinowitz, on Isler's return to the house he was met by Miss Kebock.

"It's a boy," she said.

Isler began prancing up and down the parlor. Half an hour later Dr. Rabinowitz put his head in the door and exclaimed:

"Another boy."

The father slapped the physician on the chest. A few minutes later the doctor came back:

"Still another," he said, smiling.

The news almost overcame Isler. His joy knew no bounds. "They were sent to us to take the place of the four that were taken away," he said.

A VAIN SEARCH

Charged with stealing $1500, E. W. Findus, a good-looking middle-aged man, was arrested at a boarding-house on Elm street at 9 o'clock last night by Detectives Taylor and Young.

When arrested Findus stated that he was willing to go back to the United States and would not fight extradition.

BOY WILL RECOVER

The authorities at the Western Hospital report that Edward Pike, the boy who was seriously injured by the runaway automobile on Tuesday evening, has greatly improved since he was taken to the hospital, and that there are now bright hopes of his recovery.

For the first day the boy's condition was so critical that the physicians were afraid to set his broken limbs. Dr. Perfect, however, noticed that he was stronger yesterday, so the lad was taken to the operating room, where the physician set his arm and leg. The boy stood the operation very well, but was rather uncomfy in the chloroform. The broken limbs are the worst injuries that he received, and it is now thought that there will be a continual improvement.

CONSULTING COUNCIL WANTED TO CONTROL TORONTO SCHOOLS

Proposal Made to Have Board of Five Instead of Director of Education to Take Over the Direct Management of All Schools in the City.

"Consulting council" is the designation of the expedient which is to be substituted for a director of education for Toronto. It was approved by the management committee yesterday afternoon. Dr. Conboy, who worked actively to secure the power for Toronto to place the schools under one head, voted against the projected council system.

The proposal will go to the board next Thursday night for ratification.

The scheme was outlined in the following motion by Trustee Jackson:

"That a consulting council of five members be appointed by the board of education for the purpose of advising on educational matters in the City of Toronto.

"That the consulting council consist of the following: The principal of the technical high school, senior principal of the high schools, principal of the high school of commerce and finance, chief inspector of public schools and the chairman of the board of education.

"That the consulting council shall be appointed annually, or at the dis-

SOME HARD RAPS FOR DOCTOR FRIEDMANN

Dr. W. J. Beattie, Who Has Another "Cure" for Consumption, "Knocks" German Physician and Says He Has Arrived at a Dangerous Position.

Special Cable to The World. LONDON, May 8.—(Copyright.)—"Dr. Friedmann has arrived at a dangerous stage, when he is satisfied with himself," said Dr. W. J. Beattie of Littleton, N.H., to The Toronto World correspondent today.

Dr. Beattie is on his way home with curative preparations for consumption discovered by Plorkowski, in whose laboratory at Berlin he has been studying for three months.

"Friedmann is perfectly satisfied with the stuff he is using," Dr. Beattie continued. "He is a pretty courageous chap to continue along those lines, I guess, from the record of the thing. I don't think he has a record of any case he ever had in his life. In all that's been printed I don't see any place where they say he has cured anyone, altho, to be perfectly fair, there are cases which have been greatly improved from his treatment, but there is no question about that. When persons have tuberculosis it affects the nervous system. They get apprehensive about themselves, and any treatment does them good."

Dr. Beattie said he had seen cases completely cured in Berlin by Plorkowski's improved preparation, including one case of a man taken from an abscess in the pleural cavity and placed on a slide. There was a thousand tubercular bacilli on this slide. An injection of Plorkowski's preparation was given the patient. In two weeks there were only one hundred bacilli on the slide, when the patient's pus was again examined. In four weeks more the bacilli had entirely disappeared. That man was cured.

"It's Doing Good."

"This preparation is something we hope is going to do a lot of good. I think it is better not to tell of miraculous cures. I think that with the better class of people such tales hurt one's cause."

"We always inject the preparation into the gluteal muscle. Plorkowski talks about giving it intravenously, but I would not do so. I don't believe in giving remedies intravenously, except in cases of emergency. The danger of embolism is too great."

"This tubercle bacillus cure in the near future is going to be largely used in connection with pneumothorax operations. In apparently hopeless cases fifteen per cent. are absolutely cured by this operation and fifty to seventy per cent. are ameliorated. The percentage of cases saved will be larger than ever before under the new conditions."

DELEGATES TO PEACE CONVENTION

Representatives From Canada, Great Britain, Australia, Belgium and United States Are Confering in New York on the Celebration of Hundred Years of Peace.

Special Cable to The World. LONDON, May 8.—(Copyright.)—The new accusations of ministerial corruption in connection with contracts for oil fuel for the navy are discounted by the failure of the Marconi charges. Enquiries by The Toronto World correspondent today show that the allegations are based on the published fact that Lord Murray, formerly the master of Eltham and the chief Liberal whip, had bid for a contract a year ago, signed a contract a few days ago in his capacity as a special representative and partner in the Westman-Irwin firm with the Colombian Government for certain oil concessions in Colombia, and the fact that the firm had bid for a contract to furnish the navy with this oil.

The Times, which printed these rumors today, also published an editorial today, admitting that no charge of corruption had been sustained against the ministers in regard to the Marconi transactions, but saying that they were guilty of grave indiscretion and declaring it the duty of the house of commons to record its opinion to the effect, unless stock exchange speculation is to become a recognized right of ministers.

As such a resolution would mean the resignation of the ministers concerned and would break up the cabinet, there is no likelihood that the majority of the house of commons will do anything of the kind.

PSYCHE KNOT SAVED THIS WOMAN'S LIFE

Hair Impeded Bullet Fired by Husband Because Door Was Closed.

Special to The Toronto World. BOSTON, May 8.—William Mahoney shot his wife twice this morning in their home at No. 24 Spring st., Cambridge, and then ended his own life.

Returning home at 7 a.m. Mahoney found the door locked, and when his spouse did not open it promptly he broke it down. Then he entered and fired at his wife.

The bullet struck Mrs. Mahoney in the back of the head, but was impeded by her hair, which had been done up in a tight knot behind her. The shot penetrated her scalp, but her psyche knot is believed to have saved her life. At the hospital tonight it was said she would probably recover.

DECISIVE VOTE ON NAVAL BILL EARLY ON SATURDAY MORNING

Still They Come

Nearly four thousand immigrants passed thru the Toronto Union Station yesterday, when eleven special immigrant trains came in from Montreal. About three-fourths of the newcomers were for western points, and it was found necessary to run the trains for the west in several sections last night in order to carry them. The immigration officials kept their offices open all last night in order to handle the new arrivals. About 60 per cent. of those who came in were British.

STATE CABLE TO BE DISCUSSED BY SAMUEL

Britain's Postmaster-General, When Visiting Canada, Will Also Attend Subsidiary Conference on Imperial Defence—Problem of Pacific Protection to Be Taken Up in Autumn.

LONDON, May 8.—(C.A.P.)—Altho no official confirmation has been obtained here it is reported that the forthcoming visit of Postmaster-General Samuel to Canada will be connected with the subject of a state owned Atlantic cable to link up with the Pacific cable. He will also attend a subsidiary conference in the Dominion, at which other questions of imperial interest will be discussed, the most important being the problem of defence in its later developments. Ministers from other dominions will also attend the conference.

Mr. Fisher, premier of the Australian commonwealth, has already informed Hon. Lewis Harcourt, the British government's minister in Australia, that he desires him to come to a proper understanding with the home government on the question of the adequate protection of British interests in the Pacific, and Hon. Mr. Harcourt, after consulting the admiralty, has replied that consideration of the question must be deferred until the conference in the autumn.

Mr. Harcourt has also stated that owing to the present uncertainty as to what form of naval policy Canada will eventually adopt.

It is pointed out that the original proposal of the Dominion contemplated cooperation with Australia in the defence of the Pacific, but Premier Borden's policy has altered. Still the commonwealth and New Zealand governments intend to be represented, and they hope that Winston Churchill and Harcourt will attend its meetings as well as Mr. Samuel.

No Demonstration Created by Premier's Announcement Following Evening of Meandering Discussion — New Rules Worked Very Smoothly in Cutting Off Time-Wasting Debates on Clauses of Measure.

OTTAWA, May 8.—(Special.)—At an early hour this morning the prime minister gave formal notice of closure. This means that the debate in committee on the naval bill will terminate upon the various clauses and the proposed amendments thereto at 2 o'clock Saturday morning, when the decisive vote will be taken, terminating the committee stage.

After an afternoon devoted to parliamentary tactics and partisan wrangles the house became apathetic and the evening sitting was devoid of interest. The formal notice of closure evoked no demonstration and the house immediately thereafter adjourned.

From this decision Mr. Knowles appealed to the house and the chairman was sustained, Yeas 93, nays 51.

Appealed to Premier.

The house got promptly into committee on the naval bill and Deputy Speaker Blondin called clause 4. Thereupon Mr. Irving, the liberal member for Shefford, who is one of the most promising of the younger members of the opposition, appealed to the prime minister.

"Is it fair," he said, "to ask us to debate clause 4 of this bill when we do not know what will ultimately be the contents of clauses 2 and 3? Two amendments are pending to the contents of clauses 2 and 3? Can we not dispose of one clause at a time?"

Borden is Impressed.

Mr. Borden said he was somewhat impressed by Mr. Irving's argument. It seemed a hardship to compel the house to vote in committee upon all the clauses at one time and to shut off possible amendments. The government had no objection to doing this, and would go back to clause 2 and proceed clause by clause, if the opposition would state how much time they wanted on each clause, and would agree to a final vote, at some definite time, however distant.

Hon. Geo. F. Grahame said that until the fortnight sitting the opposition had agreed to accept the motion as to the vote upon each stage of the bill.

Closure Again.

He moved the closure, but it was not considered, but that the committee take up clause 2. This motion was declared non-debatable by the chairman, but Mr. Grahame insisted that the committee must go back to clause 2, even without a motion. Clause 2 and 3, he said, had been postponed upon the motion of the prime minister, but only for that sitting of the committee.

The chairman thereupon repeated his ruling that the motion was non-debatable. Upon appeal to the house there was a division and the ruling of the chair was sustained. Yeas 94, nays 52.

The house then went back to committee and Mr. Grahame's motion was defeated: Yeas 54, nays 95.

Stevens in Critic's Role.

The house then went back to committee upon clause 4, which reads as follows: "The said ships, when constructed and equipped, shall be placed by the governor in council at the disposal of his majesty for the common defence of the empire."

Mr. Stevens, the Conservative member for Vancouver, created a mild sensation by criticizing the bill. He said the ships should not be loaned to Great Britain, but should be given outright; he also complained that there was no provision for the speedy construction of the ships. The ships under this bill might be constructed this year, next year or any old time.

In conclusion, Mr. Stevens said that shipbuilding could not be carried on in British Columbia to advantage until the great iron deposits of that province were developed.

Again the Guillotine.

Mr. German of Welland then moved to amend clause 4 so that the $25,000,000 would be expended under the Naval Service Act of 1910. The amendment was supported by Mr. McCraney (Saskatoon), Mr. Marcell and others on the liberal side of the chamber.

At 10:30 p.m. the prime minister moved that further discussion of clause 4 be postponed and the motion was carried on a rising vote: Yeas 80, nays 38.

The committee then proceeded to consideration of the fifth and last clause of the bill, as printed, which reads as follows: "The said sum shall be paid, used and applied and the said ships shall be constructed and placed at the disposal of his majesty, subject to such terms, conditions and arrangements as may be agreed upon between the governor in council and his majesty's government."

More Postponements.

Mr. German moved an amendment to the effect that said ships should be placed under imperial control only when the same could be done under the provisions of the Laurier Naval Act of 1910.

Speeches in support of the amendment were made by Mr. McCraney (Saskatoon), Mr. Turgeon (Gloucester, N.B.) and Mr. Tobin (Richmond and Wolfe).

At 12:30 a.m., on motion of Mr. Borden, further consideration of clause 5 was postponed.

Mr. Borden then moved a new clause, clause 6, providing for an annual return to parliament of money spent under the act.

Mr. Carvell moved an amendment that all contracts be awarded by public tender.

At 1 a.m. consideration of clause 6 was also postponed.

Proposal Made to Have Board of Five Instead of Director of Education to Take Over the Direct Management of All Schools in the City.

"Consulting council" is the designation of the expedient which is to be substituted for a director of education for Toronto. It was approved by the management committee yesterday afternoon. Dr. Conboy, who worked actively to secure the power for Toronto to place the schools under one head, voted against the projected council system.

The proposal will go to the board next Thursday night for ratification.

The scheme was outlined in the following motion by Trustee Jackson:

"That a consulting council of five members be appointed by the board of education for the purpose of advising on educational matters in the City of Toronto.

"That the consulting council consist of the following: The principal of the technical high school, senior principal of the high schools, principal of the high school of commerce and finance, chief inspector of public schools and the chairman of the board of education.

"That the consulting council shall be appointed annually, or at the dis-

Nearly four thousand immigrants passed thru the Toronto Union Station yesterday, when eleven special immigrant trains came in from Montreal. About three-fourths of the newcomers were for western points, and it was found necessary to run the trains for the west in several sections last night in order to carry them. The immigration officials kept their offices open all last night in order to handle the new arrivals. About 60 per cent. of those who came in were British.

STATE CABLE TO BE DISCUSSED BY SAMUEL

Britain's Postmaster-General, When Visiting Canada, Will Also Attend Subsidiary Conference on Imperial Defence—Problem of Pacific Protection to Be Taken Up in Autumn.

LONDON, May 8.—(C.A.P.)—Altho no official confirmation has been obtained here it is reported that the forthcoming visit of Postmaster-General Samuel to Canada will be connected with the subject of a state owned Atlantic cable to link up with the Pacific cable. He will also attend a subsidiary conference in the Dominion, at which other questions of imperial interest will be discussed, the most important being the problem of defence in its later developments. Ministers from other dominions will also attend the conference.

Mr. Fisher, premier of the Australian commonwealth, has already informed Hon. Lewis Harcourt, the British government's minister in Australia, that he desires him to come to a proper understanding with the home government on the question of the adequate protection of British interests in the Pacific, and Hon. Mr. Harcourt, after consulting the admiralty, has replied that consideration of the question must be deferred until the conference in the autumn.

Mr. Harcourt has also stated that owing to the present uncertainty as to what form of naval policy Canada will eventually adopt.

It is pointed out that the original proposal of the Dominion contemplated cooperation with Australia in the defence of the Pacific, but Premier Borden's policy has altered. Still the commonwealth and New Zealand governments intend to be represented, and they hope that Winston Churchill and Harcourt will attend its meetings as well as Mr. Samuel.

No Demonstration Created by Premier's Announcement Following Evening of Meandering Discussion — New Rules Worked Very Smoothly in Cutting Off Time-Wasting Debates on Clauses of Measure.

OTTAWA, May 8.—(Special.)—At an early hour this morning the prime minister gave formal notice of closure. This means that the debate in committee on the naval bill will terminate upon the various clauses and the proposed amendments thereto at 2 o'clock Saturday morning, when the decisive vote will be taken, terminating the committee stage.

After an afternoon devoted to parliamentary tactics and partisan wrangles the house became apathetic and the evening sitting was devoid of interest. The formal notice of closure evoked no demonstration and the house immediately thereafter adjourned.

From this decision Mr. Knowles appealed to the house and the chairman was sustained, Yeas 93, nays 51.

Appealed to Premier.

The house got promptly into committee on the naval bill and Deputy Speaker Blondin called clause 4. Thereupon Mr. Irving, the liberal member for Shefford, who is one of the most promising of the younger members of the opposition, appealed to the prime minister.

"Is it fair," he said, "to ask us to debate clause 4 of this bill when we do not know what will ultimately be the contents of clauses 2 and 3? Two amendments are pending to the contents of clauses 2 and 3? Can we not dispose of one clause at a time?"

Borden is Impressed.

Mr. Borden said he was somewhat impressed by Mr. Irving's argument. It seemed a hardship to compel the house to vote in committee upon all the clauses at one time and to shut off possible amendments. The government had no objection to doing this, and would go back to clause 2 and proceed clause by clause, if the opposition would state how much time they wanted on each clause, and would agree to a final vote, at some definite time, however distant.

Hon. Geo. F. Grahame said that until the fortnight sitting the opposition had agreed to accept the motion as to the vote upon each stage of the bill.

Closure Again.

He moved the closure, but it was not considered, but that the committee take up clause 2. This motion was declared non-debatable by the chairman, but Mr. Grahame insisted that the committee must go back to clause 2, even without a motion. Clause 2 and 3, he said, had been postponed upon the motion of the prime minister, but only for that sitting of the committee.

The chairman thereupon repeated his ruling that the motion was non-debatable. Upon appeal to the house there was a division and the ruling of the chair was sustained. Yeas 94, nays 52.

The house then went back to committee and Mr. Grahame's motion was defeated: Yeas 54, nays 95.

Stevens in Critic's Role.

The house then went back to committee upon clause 4, which reads as follows: "The said ships, when constructed and equipped, shall be placed by the governor in council at the disposal of his majesty for the common defence of the empire."

Mr. Stevens, the Conservative member for Vancouver, created a mild sensation by criticizing the bill. He said the ships should not be loaned to Great Britain, but should be given outright; he also complained that there was no provision for the speedy construction of the ships. The ships under this bill might be constructed this year, next year or any old time.

In conclusion, Mr. Stevens said that shipbuilding could not be carried on in British Columbia to advantage until the great iron deposits of that province were developed.

Again the Guillotine.

Mr. German of Welland then moved to amend clause 4 so that the $25,000,000 would be expended under the Naval Service Act of 1910. The amendment was supported by Mr. McCraney (Saskatoon), Mr. Marcell and others on the liberal side of the chamber.

At 10:30 p.m. the prime minister moved that further discussion of clause 4 be postponed and the motion was carried on a rising vote: Yeas 80, nays 38.

The committee then proceeded to consideration of the fifth and last clause of the bill, as printed, which reads as follows: "The said sum shall be paid, used and applied and the said ships shall be constructed and placed at the disposal of his majesty, subject to such terms, conditions and arrangements as may be agreed upon between the governor in council and his majesty's government."

More Postponements.

Mr. German moved an amendment to the effect that said ships should be placed under imperial control only when the same could be done under the provisions of the Laurier Naval Act of 1910.

Speeches in support of the amendment were made by Mr. McCraney (Saskatoon), Mr. Turgeon (Gloucester, N.B.) and Mr. Tobin (Richmond and Wolfe).

At 12:30 a.m., on motion of Mr. Borden, further consideration of clause 5 was postponed.

Mr. Borden then moved a new clause, clause 6, providing for an annual return to parliament of money spent under the act.

Mr. Carvell moved an amendment that all contracts be awarded by public tender.

At 1 a.m. consideration of clause 6 was also postponed.

SLIT SKIRTS AND CUTAWAY EFFECTS FOR NEXT AUTUMN

High Buttoning and Low Belt Features and Other Fashions Decided Upon by Makers of Women's Clothes at Annual Convention in Toledo.

TOLEDO, May 8.—(Special.)—The 155 members of the National Cloak, Suit and Skirt Manufacturers' Association, in convention here, approved today the report of the committee fixing the styles for the coming autumn. Coat suits for fall will embody a greater variety of features than they have in several seasons. These features will consist of high buttoning, cutaway and blouse effects, mandarin sleeves, drapings, vests or waistcoats, fur band collars, Russian effects with belts and sashes, sleeves shirred at the wrists and the combination of one material for the coat and another for the skirt.

The principal feature of the suit-coat will be the cutaway effect, the back of the coat being cut markedly longer than the front. The slope of the cutaway is the element which determines the length of the back, which will vary to an unusual degree. Suit-coats measuring from finger tips to bend-of-the-knee length will predominate.

In addition to the tailored skirt, the slightly draped skirt will be predominant, particularly in the smarter suits. The high waist line, a slash at the skirt bottom, pleating and shirring at the belt, and a narrowing effect toward the hem of the skirt will be in high favor.

Coats are to be forty-eight and fifty inches long, and emphasis on high buttoning collars and a tendency toward stopping back seams. The cut will be irregular at the bottom—longer in back than at the front. In novelty coats shorter lengths will be shown. The combination of pile fabrics, the use of wide belt effects below the waist line, and, in fancier coats, mandarin sleeves and draped effects will be favored treatments.

REAL ESTATE NEWS

CENTRAL FACTORY BOUGHT FOR CASH

One Hundred Thousand Dollars Paid For National Cash Register Place.

BY MONTREAL BUYERS

Four-Storey Building With Frontage on Richmond and Lombard Streets.

The four storey brick factory of the National Cash Register Co., Lombard and Richmond streets, has been sold by Frank McLaughlin, Imperial Life building, for $100,000 cash.

The identity of the buyer is not announced, but it is said to be a Montreal manufacturing concern.

The National Cash Register Co. will give up possession in a year, at which time their big factory on Christie street will be completed.

The Lombard street frontage of the property, which is between Church and Jarvis streets, is 52 feet, and the Richmond street side is 60 feet. The thru depth is 180 feet.

SHERBOURNE STREET RESIDENCE IS SOLD

T. Y. Egan From T. M. Mallord at Twenty-Eight Thousand.

T. Y. Egan has purchased from T. M. Mallord, Commander Law's former residence at 504 Sherbourne street. About $28,000 was paid. The frontage is 81 feet and the depth 125 feet.

DEAL AT CROSSING

Elias Rogers Coal Co. have announced a deal closed three months ago for their property at the northeast corner of Yonge street and the C. P. R. tracks. The C. P. R. was the buyer, and the price $150,000. The frontage is 113 feet, depth 180 feet. It was understood and announced a year ago that the railway would capture this property, which will be used in grade separation and track widening.

IMPROVEMENTS TO YONGE-ADELAIDE

Southeast Corner Will Not Be Sold—Store Will Be Remodeled.

Rumors that the buildings on the southeast corner of Yonge and Adelaide streets would be torn down in about a year's time to permit of a big building were set at rest yesterday by R. C. Davison, one of the executors of the owning estate. "We have not been approached by any one to sell. There are no negotiations on; and we do not intend to remove the present building. What we will do as soon as existing leases expire in a year's time, is to remodel the ground floor stores. On the Adelaide street side we will put in a row of real estate offices, 40 feet deep, and as we get possession of the Yonge street stores, we'll modernize them. The upstairs will not be touched," said Mr. Davison. Hennessey's drug store will move into their new leasehold at 117 Yonge, the old Slater shoe store, in about three weeks' time. Mr. Hennessey's occupancy of his store in the Davison block does not terminate until March next year. No decision as to what will be done with the store the balance of the term, has been reached.

EIGHT STORES ON QUEEN EAST SOLD

Hundred and Ten Feet Near Sumach to W. F. A. Clubine.

Paying $21,000, Wm. F. A. Clubine has purchased eight stores at 503 to 517 East Queen street from Mrs. Catherine Shaw.

PALESTINE IN TORONTO.

A truly great and wonderful exhibition awaits the thousands of Toronto visitors to the transportation building at the Exhibition grounds during the next three weeks. No one should fail to see this remarkable representation of eastern life, put on by "a Master in Israel," Rev. Samuel Schor, the Rev. E. B. Muller and a veritable host of auxiliary helpers and experts in the customs of the east. The great raised map of Palestine, the modern Jerusalem, the gigantic tabernacle, the street bazaar, the home in Bethany, and the realistic scenes of modern life and hosts of other attractions will all delight and instruct. Several visits will be necessary to take in even partially all of "Palestine in Toronto."

SHAREHOLDERS TO CHOOSE AUDITORS

Banking Committee Adopts Plan as Alternative to Government Inspection.

BILL GOES TO THE HOUSE

Committee Makes But Few Changes After Long Series of Deliberations.

OTTAWA, May 8.—The banking and commerce committee of the house has finished its labors, and the new Bank Act goes back to the house with few changes. Some of the more outstanding are: 1. Requirement of detailed statements of profits and loss. 2. Public registration of secret liens by the banks. 3. Amendment of the interest clause by providing that banks may contract for whatever rate they choose to charge, but where action at law is necessary, not more than seven per cent. can be secured. 4. No government inspection, but the selection of a rota of auditors by the Bankers' Association, approved by the minister, and from which list shareholders' auditors are to be selected. 5. The right of a minority to have an auditor appointed. Keep Officials Off Directorates. At today's session F. B. McCurdy proposed an amendment that no paid executive official of a bank be elected a director. He held that a board of directors could not be expected to discipline a general manager if he were one of themselves. Hon. Mr. Kemp held the motion to be radical. The banks more than ever now required men of experience, and this proposal would inflict an indignity upon many of the best bank directors. The result would be their retirement. The committee rejected the amendment by 20 to 5. Major Sharpe announced that, in view of the attitude of the government and the committee, he would withdraw his amendment to provide for government inspection. Board of Inspectors. Hon. Mr. White said he believed a proper inspection could be carried out by the Bankers' Association. He added that he had adopted the idea of Mr. McLeod, formerly general manager of the Bank of Nova Scotia, that a board of inspectors should be appointed by the general managers of the banks. "If the government undertake any work it must do it thoroughly. We are not in a position to do it as thoroughly as the banks do now. The question comes down largely to the qualifications of auditors. I propose for the consideration of the committee, that the members of the Bankers' Association shall select by ballot persons competent to act as auditors.

These selections should be limited to 40. The list of persons so selected shall be submitted to the minister for his approval within ten days after Sept. 30 this year, and within 60 days in subsequent years. If one-third of the shareholders are dissatisfied with the selection made of any auditor, they shall have the right to appeal to the minister for the appointment of another. The minister is to have the right to name any outside auditors he pleases for special reports on any bank or banks.

The committee accepted the amendment subject to the right of discussion in the house. The bill was then reported finally and goes to the house as amended during the 'six weeks' hearing in committee.

THE LEGISLATURE WILL END TODAY

Sir John Gibson Will Prorogue Proceedings This Afternoon.

SIGNS OF ADVANCEMENT

Speech From the Throne Will Deal With Finances and Legislation.

The Ontario Legislature prorogues today for the year 1913. At the hour of three this afternoon Lieutenant-Governor Sir John Gibson, in habitments of state, and conducted by military escort, will ascend the speaker's dais in the chamber and pronounce the formal termination of the session. The occasion, it is expected, will be of an unostentatious nature, and no extensive preparations have been made for the accommodation of a social gathering. Undoubtedly the extension of the session, due to the consideration of the Proudfoot charges, will operate towards as brief and speedy a conclusion as possible. The majority of the members spent Thursday in bidding farewell to their colleagues for the year and not many, with the exception of the city representatives, will appear today. Several of those from rural districts have voiced their impatience before this, in view of the demands of the farm in the spring season. The fact that the lieutenant-governor departed from the usual custom to grant royal assent to the bills upon adjournment instead of at prorogation as usual, will also abbreviate today's ceremony. His address will contain comments upon the satisfactory condition of provincial finances, the work of the Hydro-Electric and statute revision commissions, and other matters attaining prominence during the session and showing material signs of advancement or promise. It is thought that the Assessment Act amendments will call for some mention, and a general reference to the outstanding bills will follow. His thanks to the members for their fidelity to duty will be in conclusion, and on the motion of Hon. Dr. Pyne, the house will stand prorogued.

Pennants for Everybody

Collection of gorgeously colored pennants is now the rage. The World inaugurated the delivery yesterday, and judging from the steady stream of people who are taking advantage of The World's popular coupon plan, the distribution will be a record one. Today the delivery will be continued, and all that is necessary is to present the attached coupon, together with 22c to The World Office, 40 West Richmond street, Toronto, or at the Hamilton Branch Office, 15 East Main Street, Hamilton, and carry away with you one of these very handsome pennants.

nants. They are lettered on purple felt, 12 by 30 inches, and are fitted with two pair of straps, which will permit of them being tied to a staff or other fitting. Pennants are all the rage now for decorative purposes for living-rooms, summer resorts, cottages, sail boats, gasoline launches. The first pennant represents the arms of Canada emblazoned in colors on a purple background, together with the word CANADA. If the pennant is to be mailed, please enclose 2c extra postage.

Mildew is a destructive grayish white film that appears on the leaves, buds, blossoms, and even roots, usually of the rose, but also has been found on other plants.

Nothing is more disheartening than to see a favorite bush show signs of this malady, for it is very hard to combat. It must be watched night and morning, constantly, until all signs of it has utterly disappeared.

It may be held in check by a copious application of sulphur powder or sulphur lotion. A lotion known as the Bordeaux mixture is one of the very best sprays to use.

The following is the official formula for the Bordeaux mixture: Quicklime, four pounds; copper sulphate crystals (bluestone), four pounds; water, fifty gallons.

These forms what is known as the standard mixture. But, of course, most people need not make up such a large quantity, since when using the mixture it must be further diluted.

DUKE DEFENDER OF BOY SCOUTS

Refers to Detractors of Movement in Canada—Duchess Much Better.

LONDON, May 8.—The Duke of Connaught, who has been appointed by the King president of the Boy Scouts, took the chair for the first time at a general meeting as chief scout of Canada. He said: "I have been among nearly all the boys of that country. Now, either serving or served, there are 30,000 boy scouts in the Dominion of Canada. As in England, we have had our detractors. There were people who did not believe in it, who imagined that there was militarism back of it. I have done my utmost to point out that if militarism means making the boys respectful, moral and manly, then there is militarism back of it. But that's not my idea of militarism. I do not think I can give you any idea of it, because probably all of you who know foreign countries where they have large armies, know that the whole administration of the country is subservient to the military condition. The new recruits that come, neither is nor will be anything on those lines here."

SUMMER BARGAINS IN PIANOS

An Opportunity to Secure a Piano for the Summer Cottage. The greatly reduced prices at which Ye Olde Firm of Heintzman & Co. FIRST FINE UNDER NEW SPEEDING ACT

The first fine for motor car speeding under the new act was imposed by Magistrate Cohen on P. C. Daniels in the afternoon police court yesterday. The new act provides a fine not exceeding $10 for the first offence, not exceeding $20 for the second offence, and not exceeding $50 for any subsequent offence.

By Gordon Holmes

"At any rate, that is where the chase begins," said his colleague. "Just at the moment I don't see why Mr. Waverton is the most likely man to give reliable data as to Mrs. Delamar's whereabouts during the last month."

"Well, I don't know," said Clancy, looking a broken cigar from his waistcoat pocket, and sniffed it. He did not smoke; but he enjoyed the fragrance of good tobacco, and Steingall, who was partial to cigars of the best brands, kept him supplied with the wherewithal to gratify a peculiar taste—his it cut the confirmed smoker to the quick every time he saw a fine Havana ruthlessly crushed in Clancy's wiry fingers.

"I can do little in Atlantic City or Aberdeen till Wednesday," said Clancy, cracking the dried leaves as he passed them to and fro beneath his nostrils. "The New Jersey men will have destroyed every particle of evidence. Clancy had only been in the city for three brothers when that yacht was picked up. If I had been given one glimpse of that man's body before it was buried, I could have identified it. What they might have told!"

"You will be able to smell them, anyhow." "Clancy than you could do, Steingall. Your olfactory nerves are poisoned and atrophied by clouds of smoke." "Well, have another cigar! Sunday afternoon, you know." "No, thank you. I must be off now. When I reach Providence I must be primed with Claude G. Waverton's history, and hardly give an eye to the sun, while it is before the courts."

The two shook hands, and Clancy jerked himself out of the house and into a street car. It was certainly nature's love of opposites that not only brought Steingall and Clancy together in the Detective Bureau, but united them in the bonds of a great friendship. The chief inspector weighed exactly twice as Clancy was small and excitable. Steingall was small and excitable. Steingall was half Anglo-Saxon, half Teuton; Clancy, tho' his name seemed to be of Celtic descent, was really more than half a Frenchman; the one had a genius for analyzing evidence, the other possessed an almost uncanny power of finding and following each twist and turn of a criminal's intelligence. Apart they were highly dangerous to the undiscovered felon; when they worked together the evil-doer was indeed in a perilous state. And more than one head would have tumbled on a sleepless pillow that night were it known that the "Big Fellow" and the "Little Fellow" of the bureau were already leagued in enquiry into the seemingly trivial complexities of the Waverton divorce.

Clancy reached Providence soon after breakfast, so he leaved about till his hour grew reasonable. Then he breakfasted at the hotel, and he was in the city by ten o'clock. He had a long drive to the office, and he was there by eleven o'clock. He was in the office by eleven o'clock. He was in the office by eleven o'clock.

"I have come from New York to have a word or two with Mr. Waverton," he explained affably. "I don't wish to disturb him at too early an hour, but I sent up my card now, or wait a little?" "Well, sir, it all depends," began Rice. "Clancy opened his cardcase. 'Now you will understand,' he said confidently, yet without overdoing the display of candor. 'Of course, being Mr. Waverton's constant companion in his travels, you will have followed recent events with interest, and I may tell you that Mrs. Delamar's husband was found dead on Saturday night somewhat suspicious circumstances.'"

The chief inspector weighed exactly twice as Clancy was small and excitable. Steingall was small and excitable. Steingall was half Anglo-Saxon, half Teuton; Clancy, tho' his name seemed to be of Celtic descent, was really more than half a Frenchman; the one had a genius for analyzing evidence, the other possessed an almost uncanny power of finding and following each twist and turn of a criminal's intelligence. Apart they were highly dangerous to the undiscovered felon; when they worked together the evil-doer was indeed in a perilous state. And more than one head would have tumbled on a sleepless pillow that night were it known that the "Big Fellow" and the "Little Fellow" of the bureau were already leagued in enquiry into the seemingly trivial complexities of the Waverton divorce.

Clancy reached Providence soon after breakfast, so he leaved about till his hour grew reasonable. Then he breakfasted at the hotel, and he was in the city by ten o'clock. He had a long drive to the office, and he was there by eleven o'clock. He was in the office by eleven o'clock. He was in the office by eleven o'clock.

"I have come from New York to have a word or two with Mr. Waverton," he explained affably. "I don't wish to disturb him at too early an hour, but I sent up my card now, or wait a little?" "Well, sir, it all depends," began Rice. "Clancy opened his cardcase. 'Now you will understand,' he said confidently, yet without overdoing the display of candor. 'Of course, being Mr. Waverton's constant companion in his travels, you will have followed recent events with interest, and I may tell you that Mrs. Delamar's husband was found dead on Saturday night somewhat suspicious circumstances.'"

NO OTHER WAY

By Gordon Holmes

"At any rate, that is where the chase begins," said his colleague. "Just at the moment I don't see why Mr. Waverton is the most likely man to give reliable data as to Mrs. Delamar's whereabouts during the last month."

"Well, I don't know," said Clancy, looking a broken cigar from his waistcoat pocket, and sniffed it. He did not smoke; but he enjoyed the fragrance of good tobacco, and Steingall, who was partial to cigars of the best brands, kept him supplied with the wherewithal to gratify a peculiar taste—his it cut the confirmed smoker to the quick every time he saw a fine Havana ruthlessly crushed in Clancy's wiry fingers.

"I can do little in Atlantic City or Aberdeen till Wednesday," said Clancy, cracking the dried leaves as he passed them to and fro beneath his nostrils. "The New Jersey men will have destroyed every particle of evidence. Clancy had only been in the city for three brothers when that yacht was picked up. If I had been given one glimpse of that man's body before it was buried, I could have identified it. What they might have told!"

"You will be able to smell them, anyhow." "Clancy than you could do, Steingall. Your olfactory nerves are poisoned and atrophied by clouds of smoke." "Well, have another cigar! Sunday afternoon, you know." "No, thank you. I must be off now. When I reach Providence I must be primed with Claude G. Waverton's history, and hardly give an eye to the sun, while it is before the courts."

The two shook hands, and Clancy jerked himself out of the house and into a street car. It was certainly nature's love of opposites that not only brought Steingall and Clancy together in the Detective Bureau, but united them in the bonds of a great friendship. The chief inspector weighed exactly twice as Clancy was small and excitable. Steingall was small and excitable. Steingall was half Anglo-Saxon, half Teuton; Clancy, tho' his name seemed to be of Celtic descent, was really more than half a Frenchman; the one had a genius for analyzing evidence, the other possessed an almost uncanny power of finding and following each twist and turn of a criminal's intelligence. Apart they were highly dangerous to the undiscovered felon; when they worked together the evil-doer was indeed in a perilous state. FRIDAY MORNING, MAY 9.

OUR BABY MUNICIPALITY.

It is not officially known whether a welcome or something less pleasant is extended to the new little sister municipality which has come into existence alongside Toronto.

At the same time, the city should keep an eye on the northeast and take care that the young and irresponsible municipality does not get away with too many city privileges.

HELP THE BOYS' DOMINION.

Responses to the appeal for the Boys' Dominion are not coming in so freely as was anticipated, and we desire to call attention to the comparatively small sum required, as well as to the extraordinary value of the work done among the boys and its unquestionable necessity.

It is distinctly a cause for which those who did so valiantly in the campaign of the Y. M. C. A. might again labor with renewed credit to themselves, and at a mere fraction of the effort formerly exerted.

The case for the boys is one that should distinctly appeal to the big-hearted men who stood so nobly by the young men not so long ago.

LLOYD GEORGE FINANCE.

Some features of the British budget for the current financial year deserve attention on account of their bearing on present conditions in the United Kingdom.

C. P. R. PLANS FOR DOUBLE-TRACKING

Four Additional Bridges Over Don Valleys and Ravines.

CUT WEXFORD GRADE

Eight Miles of New Tracks From North Toronto to Agincourt.

The Canadian Pacific are getting more than busy on double-tracking their line from North Toronto (Yonge street) to Agincourt Junction, where their new waterfront line breaks away from the present line, a distance of about eight miles.

At the same time, the city should keep an eye on the northeast and take care that the young and irresponsible municipality does not get away with too many city privileges.

PLEASED WITH HIS TRIP

C. N. R. President Not Loquacious as to Financial Mission.

Sir William Mackenzie was busy with the reporters yesterday on his arrival home from London. His most important statement, from a national point of view, was that he had as usual been able to finance in Europe large sums for carrying on the transcontinental undertakings of the Canadian Northern, and that the work would continue to be rushed between Montreal, Subury and Port Arthur, and from Edmonton to Vancouver.

CRUSHED UNDER LOG.

BROCKVILLE, May 8.—(Special)—A load of logs upon which he was riding shifted and Edward Hawkins was crushed under the weight of one of the heaviest. When found he was unable to extricate himself and almost in a state of collapse. His internal injuries are so severe that it is feared he cannot recover.

Remanded for a Week.

Following the suspicious fire that occurred Wednesday night at 111 Sherbourne street, Andrew Thomas and Lizzie Thompson, the couple concerned in the affair, appeared in the police and women's courts yesterday to explain the cause of the destruction of the property in question, which had been directed to the partial destruction of three houses. The result of the investigation made by the police is that the couple will be charged with keeping a disorderly house, and will come up again on the 15th.

DEMMITT'S HOMER TURNED THE TIDE

Gilhooly Had Singled Ahead of Him and the Circuit Clout Gave Royals the Game.

REISGL WAS STEADY In Every Other Session—Grays Had a Great Chance But Fell Down.

Let us review yesterday's battle at the ice Palace—beg pardon, Island Stadium—and let us review it from every angle.

MONTREAL, May 8.—Demmitt's home run drove over the right field fence today after Gilhooly had opened the inning with a single, won today's game for Montreal.

Two singles and an out netted the other run in the same session. Apart from this inning Reisgl was effective. Madden's error was responsible for Providence's only run.

With the bases full and Popell and got Shean on an easy fly to Demmitt. Score: Providence, A. B. R. H. O. A. E.

Totals: Providence, 30 1 7 24 11 1 0. Montreal, 11 4 1 11 1 0 0.

ELECTRIC SIGNALING DEVICE FOR BUILDERS.

An electrical signaling apparatus, recently tried out on the new municipal building in New York City, has demonstrated that it is no longer necessary for workmen on high buildings to use ropes as a means of sending signals down to the engineer in charge of the hoisting machinery.

NEW-STYLE MOTOR OMNIBUS.

The motor omnibus has reached its greatest development in London, partly because the people were long accustomed to the horse buses, partly because there are no street cars, partly because the smooth streets make the bus a London bus far more comfortable than our own street cars.

STEEL SLEEPING CARS WELL TITATED.

Travelers notice the absence of upper windows and decks in the rounded roofs of some modern steel sleeping cars. Recent tests show these cars are more and more allowed for the assembling of each motor.

LOOK IN BRITAIN FOR WILD DISORDER

Militant Suffragettes Expected to Begin Veritable Reign of Terror.

LONDON, May 8.—(Can. Press.)—The militant section of the British Suffragettes intends to inaugurate a campaign of even greater violence than has hitherto been used, in order to avenge the defeat of the woman's suffrage bill in the commons on Tuesday night, and the prosecution of the officials of the Women's Social and Political Union, the central militant organization of the militant members of the fighting suffrage movement.

Another Bomb Found. The police authorities are greatly concerned about the increase in violence and bomb attacks on buildings, another of which occurred at Tottenham, in the northeast of London, this morning. Like that deposited yesterday in St. Paul's Cathedral, the bomb was discovered before it had time to explode. It was found by a caretaker outside the door of a pawnbroker's shop.

Damage Exceeds $50,000. The damage done by the militant suffragettes during the past three months amounts to upwards of $50,000, according to an estimate made by the British Home Office.

TRUANT OFFICERS FOR EACH SECTION KINGSTON, May 8.—(Special.)—Truancy among children in the county is so great that the Children's Aid Society has petitioned township council to appoint truant officers for each school section.

Do You Get More Than the Other Girls? AND if not, why not? Is the fault with yourself or with your employer.

If you do more than other girls, the fault is with your employer. Get out. If you do only as much as the other girls, the fault is with yourself.

We are rapidly passing the time, when there is a standard wage for anybody. Efficiency makes its own wages.

If one girl can take twice as much dictation as another girl, it actually pays an employer to pay her twice as much salary. The more efficient any organization is, the more rapidly it succeeds.

An organization that has poor help has poor success no matter what starvation wages they pay that help. Employers are learning that it pays to pay. Get up your efficiency. Increase your speed. Give all of your energy, and if the returns are not forthcoming, then seek another position. Remember that the right men recognize efficiency. The Want Ads in this paper have opportunities for better pay. They have opportunities for advancement. No man can succeed without an efficient organization. No man, no matter how big he is, can win alone. Read over these Help Wanted Ads every day. Look for some of the men who are looking for you. When you find them and give them the efficient help they are asking for, there will be no trouble about the salary. Answer some of these Want Ads every day, all of you young women and young men, until you find the opportunity that is waiting for you. And mention this paper please each time you answer an Ad.

CATTLE MARKET

PRICES FIRMER

Calves Were Higher—Sheep and Lambs Strong—Hogs Steady.

Receipts of live stock at the Union Yards were 53 carloads, comprising 463 cattle, 2293 hogs, 298 sheep and lambs, and 142 calves.

Receipts of cattle being light, caused the market to be firm, and in some classes prices were 10c per cwt. higher than on Wednesday.

The calf market was again very firm in all classes of veal.

Sheep, lambs, both yearling and in Royal, and spring lambs at $7 to $8 each; 12 sheep at $6.50 to $7.50 calves at $7.50 to $9 per cwt.
