The next day the premier was stricken with the illness that eventually proved fatal. TORNADO CARRIED PAPERS 100 MILES Remarkable Example of the Carrying-Powers of Recent Big Windstorm.

Waldo, Ark., May 16.—A remarkable example of the carrying powers of a tornado was evidenced when a number of papers dated Gilliam, La., 100 miles south of Waldo, were picked up on the street here. Gilliam was visited by a tornado on Wednesday which virtually wiped the town off the map, wrecking all buildings of any consequence and on the evening of the tornado, a shower of leaves, mulch and rubbish fell at Waldo. The following morning, amidst the rubbish, papers from Gilliam, consisting of a check dated at Gilliam which had been paid and an invoice of goods that had been received at Gilliam by a merchant, were found, and there is no doubt that the storm which visited the little village in Louisiana, passed over this place, though so high as to do no damage.

One Placed on a Street Car Track in Calcutta--Explosion and Four Natives are Hurt.

Calcutta, May 16.—A bomb which had been placed on the rail of a street car track in Calcutta, was exploded yesterday by the wheel of a cart passing over it and four natives were injured by the explosion. It was evidently the intention of the perpetrators of the outrage to wreck a street car containing white persons, as notices in warning natives not to ride in first class cars. Apparently the bomb was charged with picric acid, and not dynamite. This was the fifth attempt within five months to blow up street cars with bombs, much uneasiness has resulted.

PROVINCIAL SECRETARY PROPOSES PROGRESSIVE ECONOMIC POLICY

Hon. J. K. Flemming in His Budget Speech Foreshadows a Period of Real Reform in Provincial Administration.

Fredricton, May 15.—Provincial Secretary Flemming finished his budget speech in the legislature today. He promised that the government would inaugurate reforms in every department and would endeavor to keep ordinary expenditures within income. His speech made a fine impression and he is receiving many congratulations. Mr. Flemming called attention to the nature of some of the increase in expenditures—$30,000 more for education including the University and the teachers' salaries, which he strongly commended, and $80,000 more for interest charges and bridges, this last amount being incurred by the late government. Ex-premier Robinson will reply on Monday.

A very pleasant incident took place in the legislative assembly chamber just before adjournment this afternoon when the veteran Urban Johnston, for many years a representative for Kent, was called to the bar and presented with an address and a purse of $150.

Speaker Morrison made the presentation on behalf of members of both sides of the house, and read the address which referred in flattering terms to Mr. Johnston's long public career as a member of the legislature.

He made reference to the fact that he served in the legislature under eleven premiers and nine lieutenant governors, a record which is scarcely paralleled in the history of the province.

Mr. Johnston returned his thanks in a vigorous speech which was frequently applauded. At conclusion of his remarks he received three rousing cheers and a tiger.

Fredricton, N. B., May 15.—The legislature met at 3 p. m. Hon. Mr. McLeod presented the report of the committee on standing rules.

Hon. Mr. Hazen presented the report of the committee on law practice and procedure.

Mr. Clarke presented the report of the committee on municipalities.

Hon. Dr. Landry, in reply to Mr. Sprout, said the bonds were required from other side of the account left a balance to the debit of the province of $3,590,897.72. He had shown yesterday that this balance would be very much larger if all the liabilities of the province had been charged.

In connection with these liabilities he had, he said, a statement prepared by a chartered accountant of the highest standing, who had examined all the payments and made a statement in full, giving day and date and authority. The schedules prepared by the auditor would be laid on the table of the house for investigation.

Even very large bills were coming in. In one county of over $2,000. No doubt other outstanding accounts would turn up. A record was kept within the province for five years from the date of purchase and the bonds sold to go outside the province.

High Court of Foresters Closes Annual Session

Geo. W. Mersereau of Doaktown, N. B., is Chosen High Chief Ranger—The Supreme Chief Ranger Says New Brunswick Has Adopted Do Nothing Policy in Reference to the Increased Rates.

The High Court I. O. F. brought its meeting to a close last evening. Supreme Chief Ranger Stevenson, in the course of an address to the members said that their decision against increased rates was a "do-nothing policy."

George W. Mersereau was elected High Chief Ranger and it was decided to hold the next annual meeting in Fredericton. The High Court resumed a little before 3 o'clock. H. A. W. McRae moved as upon the safety clause as it stands in the constitution relating to extra assessments. The safety clause as it stands was declared by the royal commission to be useless, and he therefore suggested this amendment. This motion was seconded by Mr. Mersereau and adopted without discussion.

Mr. Stevenson went on to say that he was opposed to extra assessments because it was against the interests of old members, and would be to pay disproportionately. When the heat engendered by this controversy had calmed down and the members were able to see things differently. He regretted that the High Court of New Brunswick, which prided itself upon its intelligence, had declared for the do-nothing policy. He could say to them that twenty able men would meet in Toronto some days before the supreme court met to consider the same thing, and if the delegates from this high court, or any member had a plan, properly prepared, they would be very glad to give it the most careful consideration.

He thanked the high court for the courtesy with which it had heard him, and expressed the hope that he might meet the members again under happier auspices, after this controversy had been settled. The supreme chief was heartily applauded.

W. E. Skillen, Geo. W. Jones and W. J. Ingram were appointed scrutineers. The following officers were elected:— H. C. R.—Geo. W. Mersereau, of Doaktown.

H. V. C. R.—Columbus Craig. H. Sec.—J. V. Russell (re-elected). H. Phys.—Dr. W. H. Welling. H. Coun.—R. A. Borden.

High Auditors—Thos. Murray and S. H. Fiewelling (both re-elected). Delegates to Supreme Court—H. W. Woods, M. N. Coakburn, W. B. Jones, D. G. Lingley, R. B. Hansen.

Fredericton was chosen as the next place of meeting of the High Court. On motion of High Sec. Emmerson, a recommendation of the high standing committee to the effect that the government should appoint an inspector of fraternal life insurance, to devote his whole attention to it, was endorsed.

A resolution was adopted instructing the delegates to the supreme court to urge that if an increase in the rates is determined on those old members who desire to do so should be permitted to take out a paid-up policy for the amount paid into the mortuary fund; also one that the high court recommend that the constitution be amended so that any members having the expectation of life benefit and let the payment of same lapse for a month have a chance to be reinstated on like terms as ordinary members.

R. B. Hansen reported for the finance committee approving of the policy of issuing cash prizes for securing members, and recommending that the supreme court be asked to continue the policy for the ensuing year; also that the high court continue to pay the expenses of the deputies as heretofore. The report contemplated the high court upon the excellent financial showing of the past ten months, showing an increase of $983.87 in assets, and recommended the following payments—High Chief Ranger, $100; High Secretary, and assistant, $600; H. Sec., $50; High Auditors, $25 each; High Journal Secretary, $20; Mileage Committee, $24; Press Committee, $35; total, $939.

The report also recommended that the balances due from the subordinate courts to the high court and that all payments for high court dues and supplies be forwarded to the high secretary before the meeting of the high court, which would facilitate greatly the work of the high secretary.

This report was adopted. On motion of High Sec. Emmerson, Past High Chief Ranger Lingley was recommended for the grand cross of merit. Mr. Emmerson and Mr. Woods paid warm tributes to the merit of Mr. Lingley, who expressed his appreciation.

Dr. A. W. MacLac advised criticism of the method of having appointed officers in the supreme court, and urged a resolution to the effect that past executive officers and appointed officers should not be permitted to be active members of the supreme court.

After some discussion the first section of the resolution was withdrawn and the second section adopted.

A committee reported on the hall of Court Interval at Penobscot, recommending that efforts be made to get contributions from subordinate courts to the hall to the order. The mortgage is $800. The report was adopted.

A. A. Wilton, for the committee on constitution and law, submitted a report expressing the opinion that under the circumstances the change of officers should be permitted to be active members of the supreme court.

The minutes were then read and approved and the court adjourned to meet next year in Fredericton.

The following is the proposition made by Dr. Manning in the High Court yesterday as a solution of the rate question in the I. O. F.:

If old members pay same rate as the new members at the age of their initiation it will bring in about $1,000,000 additional annually.

In a period of twenty years the results would be:— ADDITIONAL FEES FROM OLD MEMBERS. $1,000,000 for 20 years $20,000,000 Int. at 4 p. c. com. int. 20 yrs. 11,000,000 Present surplus of I. O. F. 12,000,000 Int. at 4 p. c. com. int. 20 yrs. 5,000,000 Amt. improperly diverted from mortuary funds and int. at 4 per cent. com. int. about 1,000,000 $48,000,000 limited by actuary.

The brief period since the government came into power prevented formulating such a policy this year. The estimate for the agent general in London was placed at $1,000, because the amount had already been paid. It was not the intention of the government to ask the legislature to continue this vote. Contingencies, which cost last year $10,582, were estimated at $17,000. This was a controllable item, and the government was determined to effect savings in it wherever possible. Already some savings had been made in the stationary item alone. Beginning with the first of May exactly the same quality of supplies were obtained by a contract thirty-five per cent lower than the prices paid by the late government. For a full year this would mean a saving of about $1,000 in this item alone. The Royal Gazette under the new contract was produced for $1200 against $1,800 under the late government, a saving of fifty per cent. This policy would be followed in all the contingencies and the best possible value obtained for the expenditure.

The estimate for education was about $30,000 larger than last year, due to the greater aid to the University and the increased salaries to teachers. He felt that no expenditure would give greater satisfaction to the country than this increase to education, and he invited the newspapers criticizing the government for its extravagant estimates to criticize this item.

He was sorry that this grant could not be larger, but the policy was to put up with no stinted hand, realizing that upon the intelligence and education of its citizens largely rested the future welfare and prosperity of the province.

The election expenditure of $11,400 most of the members of the house would be wise one. Emmerson vs. Maddison—$500—was an old friend to which good bye must now be said. It was likely to appear again. Factory inspection $1,000, an estimate of inspector's salary of $600 and an estimate of $400 to cover his expenses. (Continued on page 8.)

The aggregate of the assets as set down taken from the liabilities as stated on the other side of the account left a balance to the debit of the province of $3,590,897.72. He had shown yesterday that this balance would be very much larger if all the liabilities of the province had been charged.

In connection with these liabilities he had, he said, a statement prepared by a chartered accountant of the highest standing, who had examined all the payments and made a statement in full, giving day and date and authority. The schedules prepared by the auditor would be laid on the table of the house for investigation.

Even very large bills were coming in. In one county of over $2,000. No doubt other outstanding accounts would turn up. A record was kept within the province for five years from the date of purchase and the bonds sold to go outside the province.

Mr. Hazen, in reply to Mr. LaBilios' enquiries, "What is the date of the latest report made by Gilmore Brown, C. E. re International Railway?" Ans.—January 8, 1908.

"What value did Mr. Brown in his last report place on sections 1 and 2 to end of twenty miles completed and accepted by the Dominion government?" Ans.—$80,222.52.

"Also value of 4 section, 30th to 40th mile?" Ans.—$399,600.

Value of engine house in Campbellton yard and value of siding? Ans.—$8,600.

"Value of rolling stock, including engine, passenger cars, flat cars, hand cars, velocipede cars?" Ans.—$51,725.

Mr. Smith gave notice of enquiry as to whether the province had any unsettled accounts with John A. Bowes and if so what are the particulars.

Mr. LaBilios for Mr. Lowell gave notice of enquiry with reference to the suspension bridge, St. John.

Hon. Mr. McLeod presented the petition of B. M. Mullin in favor of a bill to incorporate the Alexander Lodge of Free Masons.

Mr. Smith presented the petition of B. E. Smith in favor of the bill relating to the Free Baptist Women's Missionary Society.

Mr. Tweeddale presented the petition of Hans Hansen and others in favor of the bill to incorporate St. Peter's Lutheran church, New Denmark.

Hon. Mr. Grimmer presented the petition of C. C. Upham and others in favor of the St. Stephen Electric Street Railway bill.

Mr. Byrne presented the petition of N. A. Landry in support of a bill to enable the municipality of Gloucester to issue debentures.

Mr. Murray introduced a bill to amend the act incorporating the Sussex Mfg. Co. Mr. Byrne introduced a bill to fix the valuation of certain property in Gloucester county.

Hon. Mr. Hazen introduced a bill to amend the act to provide for the establishment of an almshouse in Kings county. Mr. Sprout said that this bill was for the purpose of removing an apparent conflict of authority or rather a duality of authority under various acts vested in the overseers of the poor. Under section 3 of cap. 102, of the consolidated statutes, there seems to be some conflict of authority between the overseers of the poor and the board of almshouse commissioners and the bill just introduced is intended to make it clear that the overseers of the poor might request the issue of a warrant without obtaining the consent thereto of such boards.

Hon. Mr. Flemming, in resuming his budget debate, said he had an announcement to make to the house which was that no further claims in regard to the N. B. Coal & R'y or other matters had been presented against the province since yesterday. Hon. members no doubt would be glad to have this assurance.

Continuing he said in closing yesterday he had referred to the liabilities of the province, both those mentioned in the auditor general's report and those which were contingent by reason of the audit and over-expenditure. Now he would deal with the assets.

First there was the balance at the credit of the province of $239,290.30. Then there was the sinking fund investment amounting to $1,061,612.12, two items which did not require discussion.

A note held by the agricultural department for $330.18 was, he presumed, collectible and paid by the gentleman who owed the bill.

The item of $2,202.25 due the crown land department by the Transcontinental railway commission would, he presumed, be recognized and paid by the gentleman who owed the bill.

The item of $24,500.52 said to be due the provincial hospital from the municipalities was one of uncertainty. While it might all be due and payable, at least several of the municipalities were protesting against the same, claiming that the government would try and get a settlement on a fair basis, and when the act containing was presented to the house the actual amount properly collected or due would be known.

THE HARBOR The city council has decided that, pending the taking over of the harbor by the federal government, all its energies should be devoted to the extension of harbor facilities, where they are most needed—on the west side. There is much to be said in favor of this view, although in connection with the G. T. P. it may also be argued that the city should be in a position to state just what facilities it has to offer. There is something to be said in favor of the city knowing exactly what it has in harbor value, before it transfers that harbor to the federal government. Opinions differ concerning Courtenay Bay, and if for a reasonable expenditure the question could be settled it might be well for the city to agree to bear some portion of the necessary expense. But there is no question of the importance of pressing forward along the line of further development on the west side of the harbor. There for years to come the harbor must do its chief export business, and ample provision must be made to handle it without delay.

THE FORESTERS The Hon. W. S. Fielding, minister of Canada, stands behind an insurance bill which, based on the report and recommendations of the Royal Commission, proposes more drastic changes in regard to the I. O. F. rates than those suggested by Supreme Chief Ranger Stevenson. The New Brunswick high court has very sharply criticized the supreme chief ranger, but has apparently overlooked the statement which he made on Thursday evening that when in Ottawa recently Mr. Fielding told him he still stood behind the insurance bill. It is true that Mr. Fielding said he would be glad to consider all representations made on behalf of the fraternal insurance organizations, but it must not be forgotten that behind Mr. Fielding is the report of the Royal Commission. Action on the insurance bill has been postponed, but sooner or later the question must be taken up by parliament, and its action will be based very largely on the report of the Royal Commission. Therefore, says Mr. Stevenson, something must be done. He makes one suggestion and invites others. He points out that the order should be in a position to offer something as a basis of parliamentary action as far as the order is concerned. The High Court of New Brunswick has declared that no action whatever should be taken by the order for at least five years, no matter what parliament may do. But if parliament acts the order will be bound by its action. There is no escape from this fact. Every Forester would be very glad if it could be shown that no change is necessary, but the Royal Commission calls for a change, and the government has taken the preliminary steps to that end. Neither the government nor parliament will wait five years. The supreme chief ranger was stating a simple and obvious fact when he said that something must be done and that the I. O. F. should face the whole question and be prepared to deal with the conditions as they are now presented. He had no difficulty yesterday in making it clear that the late Dr. Ormohatyakha recognized and declared that an adjustment of rates must come. Mr. Stevenson says that something must be done. Behind his statement is the report of the Royal Commission, the insurance bill and the statement made recently by the finance minister of Canada.

When the supreme court of the order meets in Toronto the delegates from New Brunswick, favoring a do-nothing policy, will probably find themselves in a very small minority. The problem confronting fraternal insurance societies undoubtedly has its sentimental aspect in connection with the effect of any change upon the older members, but this must be offset by consideration of the future interests of the whole membership. It is one thing to erode the feelings of a group of men and women; it is quite another thing to solve a grave financial question involving the safety of insurance investment.

THE BUDGET Hon. Mr. Fleming is to be congratulated upon the clearness and fulness of the statement contained in his first budget speech, although the province cannot congratulate itself upon the state of affairs so forcibly revealed. Mr. Fleming was compelled to make disagreeable revelations concerning the loose methods and the incompetent and reckless methods of administration pursued by the late government. When in opposition he had time and again made charges against the government of the day, and now the facts show that these charges, grave as they were, fell short of the actual state of affairs.

But Mr. Fleming has shown that he is competent to deal with the situation, and the manner and matter of his report to the remarks of uneasy gentlemen opposite indicate that he is quite able to pursue his course without being at all worried by them. This paper, prior to the elections, remarked upon the singular clearness of Mr. Fleming's statements from the public platform, and as provincial secretary he has more than fulfilled the expectations of his friends, in the ability with which he has mastered the situation and placed the facts before the house.

But it is not a pleasant task to stand in his place in the house and tell of conditions which reflect so much discredit upon former administrations. The affairs of this province have been grossly mismanaged. The present government is compelled to face conditions which never should have existed. It must rectify past blunders and provide for the payment of obligations which should have been met long ago or should never have been incurred. The policy of concealment which Mr. Fleming denounced when in opposition has heaped unfair burdens upon him now that he is in office. His grim joke yesterday, when he observed that the house would be glad to learn that no more old claims had been presented for payment since he spoke on the previous day, was suggested by a situation unparalleled in the political history of the province. It is said that nearly every mail brings in some new item of floating indebtedness, and it will be necessary to issue more bonds to cover the whole of this debt, when all of it has been discovered. In all the departments the most reckless methods have prevailed, and there was no attempt to apply business principles. The task of the new government is a very serious one, and the province has reason to rejoice that capable men, who are determined to inaugurate a better system, are now at the head of its affairs. No New Brunswick leader of the opposition in the legislature ever had a more shameless task than falls to the lot of ex-Premier Robinson.

UNIVERSAL RELIGION Even in Victoria they play golf. While the ardent devotees in St. John are worshipping behind Fort Howe, he may reflect that on the Oak Bay links at Victoria other worshippers are doing the like with equal zeal. On the occasion of a recent tournament on the Pacific coast the Victoria Colonist, with due humility, but some degree of enthusiasm, made these discriminating observations:—"Only fear of being regarded as sacrilegious restrains the Colonist from venturing some remarks about golf. Golf we have been assured is not a game. It is a cult, a mystery, a religion—at least there are some people who go out to the links at the time when they are presumed to go to church. There was once a preacher of whom it was said that he went into the pulpit so as to be at liberty to indulge his passion for strong language. Perish the thought that this can be true, or that any man ever played golf for that reason, but the situation shows another reason for regarding golf as a serious thing. If we may judge from a somewhat limited experience, golf has a language of its own. Its devotees speak with tongues, that is they say things that are unintelligible to the uninitiated, and it is told of a certain gentleman of the cloth, who shall be nameless, that there are times when his silence on the links is more eloquent than he can ever hope to be in the pulpit. In view of these things we forbear making the observations which otherwise would seem appropriate. Instead of doing so we bid the golfers welcome. They cannot all go home champions, but they ought to all go home happy. They are participating in an excellent pastime. It takes people out of doors. It affords wholesome exercise. It is a million times better than the card table. It ought to develop sound manhood and womanhood, for it calls for the exercise of good judgment and much skill. It helps comradeship, and if the truth must be told, it has on a very few occasions, and in foreign lands of course, been understood that a little god with bow and arrows has followed a youth and maiden round the course and made the best score of the day."

ENOUGH (Toronto News.) I have had enough of women, and enough of love. But the land waits, and the sea waits, and Give me a long white road, and the grey wide path of the sea, And the wind's will and the bird's will, and the heartache still in me. Why should I seek out sorrow, and give gold for strife? I have loved much and wept much, but tears and love are not life. The grass calls to my heart, and the foam to my blood cries up. And the sun shines and the road shines, and the wine's in the cup. I have had enough of wisdom and enough of mirth. For the way's one and the end's one, and it's soon to the end of the earth. And it's then good-night and to bed, and it's then good-night and to bed, and it's then good-night and to bed, and it's then good-night and to bed. Well—it's sound sleep and long sleep, and sleep too deep to wake.

THE SCOTSMAN'S ANSWER. A gentleman prominent in the local harbor union is responsible for the following: "When recently in Glasgow, he was telling a venerable Scot of the magnitude of the St. Lawrence River in comparison with the Clyde. COURTENAY BAY BORING PLAN REJECTED City Council Decides Against the Report of the Special Committee.

The common council, at a special meeting yesterday, struck out the first section of the report of the special committee recommending that borings should be made in Courtenay Bay. The opinion was expressed that there was no pressing need for the work, that the expense of providing facilities in that section would be very large and that it was more in the interests of the city to develop the west side. Sections in the report recommending that negotiations be opened with the C. P. R. to obtain the land to the south of Sand Point, that the minister of public works be asked to extend the dredging there, and that the Negro Head breakwater be extended to Partridge Island were adopted with slight discussion. Ald. Scully gave notice of motion to appoint a committee to take up with the Dominion government the C. P. R. and the St. John Railway Company the matter of building a bridge across the harbor. The issue of $68,000 debentures was ordered and other business was transacted. The report of the very committee recommending that the tender of the Union Foundry for repairs to the Western Extension be accepted, that authority be given for calling for tenders to paint the Western Extension and that the committee should be authorized to purchase uniform coats for the captains and mates was adopted.

On motion of Ald. Willet the attention of the I. C. R. will be called to the condition of the Mill street crossing and a reminder of promises made by Hon. H. R. Emmerson, Deputy Minister, Butler and the present minister of railways sent in. It was decided that the common clerk should inform the board of trade of the action taken on the special committee's report. Several communications were referred to the boards.

MARATHONS VS. PORTLANDS, MAY 23

That is the Program for the Amateur League Opening—Greeks Play at Moncton May 25.

The Amateur league will open their season on Saturday, May 23, on the Victoria grounds, the Marathons and Portland Y.M.A. being the opposing teams. As the Greeks are last year's league winners and the Portlanders their most dangerous rival the game should be a rattler. Neither team has as yet announced their line-up, but it is safe to predict that both will have strong nines and will be in the best of shape for the hardest kind of a struggle. Both will appear in brand new uniforms, which will, of course, add to the interest of the contest. The Marathons go to Moncton on Monday, the 25th, to play two games with the Moncton A. A. team, so that taken all round there will be all kinds of A ball as an opener.

Baseball Notes.
Ty. Cobb's average is being boosted at a great rate.
Fitcher Manning of the Highlanders looks like the best youngster who has broken into major league ball as a twirler for some time.
Poor coaching has cost the Red Sox more than one run this season. The men on the lines need to be a great deal more alert than they have been up to date.

Summers, the Detroit pitcher who is making good with the Jennings tribe, is suffering with a lame ankle. According to all concerned he is going to be heard of in the big show.
The Cincinnati club has called off all negotiations for Dave Brain.

ROGER CUTLER CAPTAIN HARVARD FRESHMEN CREW.
Boston, May 16.—At the freshman crew training table last night Roger Cutler, brother of J. W. and E. C. Cutler of the Harvard crew squad, was unanimously elected captain of the freshman crew, which he is to lead.

WONDERFULLY MADE.
A school teacher, after spending forty-five strenuous moments explaining the mysteries of physiology to the primary class, sounded their intelligent attention by asking the definition of "vertebrae." A small and anxious boy on the back seat arose, and delivered the following: "The vertebrae is a long, wavy bone. My head sits on the end of it, and I sit on the other."

No More Dandruff No More Falling Hair No More Itching Scalp IF YOU USE NEWBRO'S HERPICIDE

An Army Officer's Report.
"For some time past I have been troubled with dandruff, and with hair falling out. My head itched continually while my hair appeared rusty and brittle and dead. I tried several remedies without any permanent result. I had about received myself to premature baldness. After using a bottle of your Herpicide, I have been greatly benefited. The hair has stopped falling out, and the itching has ceased and no more dandruff forms in the scalp. My hair is coming in thick, and has a fine glossy appearance."

A "Square Deal" Doctor.
"I beg to state that I have used a bottle of Herpicide and your report is quite correct. I have seen through the eyes of my family and have had the very best of results. I am now free from dandruff, and my hair is growing in thick, and has a fine glossy appearance. I give a testimonial for an advertised remedy, but yours is of such merit that it is only fair that I should do so in this case."

ANOTHER OFFER FOR BIG "MILL"

Syndicate of Goldfield Miners Will Hang Up $35,000 for Burns and Johnson.

New York, May 15.—Another big offer has just been made for a fight between Tommy Burns, the heavyweight champion, and Jack Johnson, the colored pugilist. Jack Curley, the fight promoter of Chicago, who brought off the battle between Joe Gans and "Kid" Herman at Tonopah, Nev., on Jan. 1, 1907, has been authorized by a syndicate of miners at Goldfield, Nev., to offer the men a purse of $35,000 to fight either 45 rounds or to a finish on Labor day afternoon. Curley has already cabled his offer to both men.

RING NOTES.
The proposed boxing match between Jack O'Brien and Jack Blackburn, the colored lightweight, is declared so far as the National Athletic Club of Philadelphia is concerned. Harry Edwards, treasurer of the club, has been negotiating with O'Brien and the managers of Blackburn for several weeks with a view to the men meeting in a six-round bout at his club.
Sailor Burke and Fred Bradley will meet at New York on Monday night in a six-round bout.

Willie Schumaker and Johnny Costa, New York's rival bantams, will meet at New York, June 6.
Battling Hurley and Les's Cross will meet at New York on May 22.
Harry Falko, the former manager of "Young Corbett," is expected here from England in a few days with Charlie Griffin, the featherweight champion of Australia, who knocked out Joe Bowyer, the English boxer, in eight rounds at the National Sporting Club of London a few weeks ago. Falko expects to match him against Abe Attell for the featherweight title.

Willie Lewis, the American middleweight, now in Paris, writes that he got $1,700 for knocking out Walter Stanton in five rounds, $100 for training expenses and also a $500 side bet. Lewis expects to fight Young Joseph, the middle-weight champion of England, for twenty rounds at the National Sporting Club of London in about ten days.
Jimmy Briggs of Chelsea is not afraid to tackle even those whom the A. A. A. considers headliners. He is to box Willie Fitzgerald at Bridgeport, Conn., May 21, and there is no doubt that he will give the clever Philadelphia right-winger all he wants to tackle to win a decision in 15 minutes.

Stanley Ketchel, who knocked out Jack Twin Sullivan in the 20th round of his scheduled 35-round fight on Saturday, received $12,000 for his trouble. The gate receipts amounted to $18,000. As the men got 50 per cent. of it, the winner got 60 and the loser 40, Ketchel also getting an extra ten per cent. of the receipts, he got the above-mentioned sum, while Sullivan was handed $2,600.20.
The youngster has the call in this fighting game. Tommy Ryan is still alive, and at a glance no one would suspect that he is an inmate of the pugilistic graveyard. But Tommy died, pugilistically, years ago. He will yap a few times when Papke and Ketchel meet. He may even get into the ring and challenge the winner, Ryan, in his day, was a marvel. He would have given Papke or Ketchel, or anyone else a fight. But when he began to go back he went so far that he wouldn't enter the ring without having the other fellow framed up. He couldn't endure bodily punishment, and that finally forced him to retire. Tommy still claims the middleweight title, but he has failed to defend it for several years. He has lost all right to it. Either Ketchel or Papke will soon be in the place that Ryan held secure until he was annihilated while his health and strength lasted.

Stanley Ketchel has left San Francisco for Chicago to complete arrangements for a match with Papke.
Philadelphia Jack O'Brien has asked Ketchel's star rises bright on the pugilistic horizon.
When Stanley Ketchel knocked Jack Twin Sullivan out last Saturday night at Colma, in 20 rounds, he became in an instant the most prominent middleweight in the world, says Bob Edgren of the New York Evening World.
It was something of a feat to beat the fighting Twin. Although only a middleweight, Sullivan has a great record. He holds a 20 round decision over Tommy Burns. He fought 25 rounds with Al Kaufmann only last November, and although he lost the decision he was never in danger of being knocked out. Kaufmann outwitted Jack Twin by 40 pounds or more. Sullivan has beaten heavyweight Mike Schrock. He has beaten heavyweight Jim Flynn. He has fought 20 round draws with Hugo Kelly and Jack O'Brien and Kid McCoy. Many other famous middleweights and heavyweights have been unable to do anything with the foxy Twin. He has fought hundreds of fights. This is only the third time he has taken the count. The other two knockouts scored against him years ago were more or less the result of chance blows early in the fight.
Ketchel surely has "class." He will fight Billy Papke soon, and when that battle is over there will be no disputing the right of the winner to the title of world champion. Papke is something of a slambang fighter himself. He is a fearful wallop, in which respect he is very like Ketchel. They will fight from start to finish. It will be one of the greatest middleweight battles on record.

The New York promoters for a bout against Jim Barry, Joe Jeanette or Sam Langford.
Terry Martin, who has been laid up for some time with typhoid fever, is reported fully recovered and ready to get back into the game again.
Fighting Dick Hyland is anxious to meet Matty Baldwin and is training every day in expectation of securing a date at the Army Club.
Battling Nelson denies that he ever asked to have his match with McFarland declared a draw if both men were on their feet at the end.
Sam Langford displayed much wisdom in ignoring the threats made by a New York promoter, who tried to have him call off his match with Sandy Ferguson.
At Dover, N. H., next Monday night Belvidere Wolcott of Boston and Arthur Cote, the Maine lightweight, meet for a 10-round bout. This is the best match the Dover club has arranged and should result in a fast and rugged bout.

THREW MAN INTO CROWD

Scottish Wrestler Didn't Like Decision and a Free Fight Resulted on the Stage.

An English exchange says:
A wrestling match at the Birmingham Hippodrome on Wednesday was followed by a stand-up fight between the combatants.
The match was between Zhysoo, the Galician, who is to wrestle Hackenschmidt at Olympia in June, and "Jimmy" Eason, of Aberdeen, who recently won a tournament at the Albanian. The conditions of the contest were that the Scotsman should stand up for fifteen minutes, and should receive a sovereign for every minute over ten.

At the outset Eason adopted defensive methods and displayed great skill in circumventing his opponent. As minutes after minute passed, the spectators became more and more excited, and there was a regular furor when it was announced that the ten minutes had expired. To the surprise of the audience, Zhysoo held his own. Then Zhysoo gradually gained the upper hand, and finally getting a grip on the mat, forced his opponent off, bringing him to the floor and getting both shoulders fairly down.
At once Mr. C. B. Cochrane, Zhysoo's manager, stepped forward and declared that he was the winner. Eason sprang to his feet, and was so much displeased at the decision, he gestulated wildly for a few seconds and then, picking up the referee, threw him bodily into the arms of the timekeeper. Zhysoo interposed, and endeavored to hustle Eason off the stage. Eason, however, dealt Zhysoo a terrific "header," following it with furious blows left and right. Zhysoo at first contented himself with warding off the blows, but as the fight quickly developed into a stand-up fight between the two men, lasting for a few minutes. At the end of that time, Zhysoo, with both eyes badly blacked, carried Eason, who was also much bruised, bodily off the stage.

The huge audience meanwhile were in a state of wild excitement, and considerable disorder broke out, cries arising of, "You're not in America now!"
Quiet being restored, Mr. Cochrane explained that under Graco-Roman rules a throw was legitimate off the mat, if a hold was gained on it and continued. He stated that Zhysoo was willing to proceed, and to pay Eason £1 for every minute he successfully combated his efforts.
Eason approached the footlights and stated that he was quite willing to go on, provided that an independent referee was appointed. Mr. Cochrane at once asked any one understanding Graco-Roman style to come forward and officiate, and the incident closed.

KETCHEL'S STAR RISES BRIGHT ON THE PUGILISTIC HORIZON.

A SURE REMEDY.
A young man who experienced much trouble in managing a head of hair, which manifested an unpleasant inclination to stand on end, wrote to a weekly paper for a plan by which his troubles would be at least lessened.
He was given the following recipe: "One part molasses, three parts beeswax, four parts India rubber, four parts glycerine, boil on a slow fire for two hours and fifteen minutes, and when boiling is over, add one part of castor oil."
No Fake About This
We guarantee to cure catarrh, asthma and bronchitis—guarantee to do it quickly. If you lack faith, get it—go to any dealer and purchase "Catarrhose," the remedy that never fails. See what it did for A. J. Kemp of St. John, N. B. "You do not praise Catarrhose highly enough," it is worthy to be written in letters of gold. One small bottle has done more for me than all the doctors' medicines I have ever taken in the last three years. I have been troubled with bronchitis asthma, but by using Catarrhose I have been entirely cured. Do you wonder that I am the enthusiastic friend of "Catarrhose"?

LARGEST CLOCKS IN NEW YORK NOW

"Big Ben" of London Over-topped by the Gigantic Time-piece in Metropolitan Tower—Its Dials Are to be 27 Feet in Diameter.

New York, May 14.—When the contract for the construction of the four clocks in the lofty tower of the Metropolitan Life Building at Twenty-fourth street and Madison avenue is awarded, the clock and time-vitality will have six of the largest time-keeping movements in the world, one of them exceeding in size of dial and mechanism the famous clock in the House of Parliament in London, where "Big Ben" has tolled out the hours for more than a century.
The Metropolitan clock will have four dials, three on the outside and one on the inside of the tower. The clock will be 27 feet in diameter, and each run independently of the other because of the elevators, which are to make the forty-story tower through the middle of the tower. This will require the installation of four separate movements. In this respect the clock tower will be without parallel, all clock towers with two or four faces are controlled by one master movement. The clock in the tower is 27 feet in diameter, and each run independently of the other because of the elevators, which are to make the forty-story tower through the middle of the tower. HELPFUL HINTS FOR THE HOUSEWIFE

It is advisable to put the clothes to soak the night before, but if this is not convenient, they should at least be allowed to soak a couple of hours before washing. The articles that are very soiled should be rubbed over with a piece of soap before being placed to soak. After the clothes have been thoroughly soaked and the dirt becomes softened let the water run from the tub, wringing out the clothes lightly, place them in tubs half filled with hot water, and use the washboard and soap. The clothes are then put through the wringer into a second tub and washed again. Put them through the wringer again and place them in a boiler of cold water set on the fire. Soap water made from soap shavings may be placed in the boiler before the clothes are put in, or one of the many washing preparations placed on the market. If a piece of each garment may be rubbed over with the soap as it comes through the wringer to be placed in the boiler. Let the clothes come to a good hot boil, pressing them down into the water with a wooden clothes stick. The first boiler should be used for table linen, and while these are coming to a boil you can start to work on the second lot. Always refill the boiler with fresh cold water when a new lot of clothes is to be placed in it. After the clothes have been taken from the boiler put them in a tub of clear, cold water, and rinse thoroughly at least twice to remove all possibility of a yellow tinge from the soap. After the clothes have been rinsed put them in a tub of clear water and see that they are thoroughly wet and see that they are thoroughly immersed. Wring them out as dry as possible, roll them up in bundles and put in the clothes basket. They are now ready to be put on the line and dried.

A very good way of shrinking cloth of heavy weight is to hang it on the clothes line, with the fold on the line, and sprinkle it with the garden hose. This method is not good for light or loosely woven cloth, as the weight of the water absorbed by the cloth will make it stretch and lose its shape, but it is perfectly safe and a very easy and rapid method of shrinking such cloth. Scotch tweeds and heavy broadcloths.

A most effective covering for oak book shelves can be found in a pair of good curtains. If they are shirred on two rods, one at the top, the other at the bottom of the case, the protection the books is quite as efficient as if the case had glass doors. The curtains should have enough fulness to run easily on the rods, as otherwise access to the books would be difficult.

It is not such a difficult task to clean a soiled oil painting as it would seem. The value of the painting and the average householder's ignorance of paints is the determining factor. To clean an oil painting remove the painting from the frame and wipe off all dust with a soft, damp cloth. Examine the canvas for fly specks, and moisten all such with a few drops of clear water. They will probably soften in a few moments, but if they remain obstinate use fat ber instead of the water and you will find that they will quickly soften. If, after this operation, the picture appears dull and clear replace it in the frame, but if the colors seem dull and faded it is desired to freshen them proceed thus: Having removed all dust and fly specks take a soft sponge moistened with slightly warm water, and hold the picture at an angle with the surface of it. The surface becomes slimy or sticky from this treatment, you will have found the secret of the picture's dull appearance, as it will have been coated with singlass, sugar, white of egg or gum arabic - processes very common among artists before varnishing. This glaze must be removed by sponging with water and the painting then being allowed to thoroughly dry, after which it is ready for varnishing. This is done with French retouching varnish laid on with a small, flat bristle brush of firm, soft texture. These may be obtained from a first-class dealer in artists' supplies. Do not use a cheap, coarse brush, as it will leave lines and shag hairs in the varnish, and do not experiment with furniture varnish. Place the picture on the table between yourself and the light, and draw the brush straight across its surface from side to side, taking care not to go over the same place twice, as the double layer of varnish would show when dry, nor to leave any bare spots. Always use the side of the brush in varnishing, and do not dip the brush into the varnish, but dry thoroughly in a dry place free from dust and then return to the frame. If the frame is a gilt one it would be wise to retouch the bare places with gilt and finish with the retouching varnish. NEW AND ATTRACTIVE KITCHEN UTENSILS

The difference between the old and the new kitchen is so startling as to be revolutionary, but it is a revolution to be encouraged by the housekeeper who likes a clean kitchen, smooth service and tastefully served dishes. The coming of the clear glass rolling pin, which holds cracked ice to chill the pastry, of the unshrinkable aluminum frying pan instead of the old, greasy, black, iron one has changed our kitchen from a hot and unhygienic oven to a cool sanitary and attractive place. The kitchen table is covered with a sheet of plate glass, a perfect surface for mixing dough, and so easily kept clean. With a table top of this sort there is no need of the scraping or scrubbing to remove the marks of labor or the scraps of dough.

The Useful Blouse--Practical Models for the Home Dressmaker

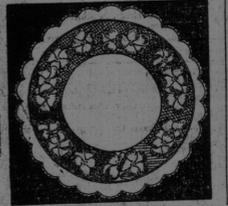

The separate blouse is too useful a garment to lose its place in popular approval, and every season shows new models and ideas among the approved designs. This season one is struck by the vogue of the note of color introduced on the white blouses, and although the blouses made of colored fabrics are not especially fashionable, a great many desirable models are of white material, hand embroidered in color, or else of white fabric striped with a fine color line, this color showing more markedly on the applied hems or hand scalloping. Another novelty is the blouse of handkerchief linen, made in rather severe style to button up the front, with long sleeves and a high, shaped collar. One model seen was somewhat on the order of the blouse pictured in the group cut, which shows a military effect in the embroidery across the fronts. The difference, however, between this blouse and the one pictured in the fact of the collar, which had no yoke or giunipe, but the linen was cut to the throat, with a high collar, carrying out a button-and-tongue design.

Effective White Centrepiece

The cut shows a most effective white centerpiece, the design being suitable for a fine table cover. The effect is somewhat that of applique work, but the design is not at all difficult to carry out if the proper method of working is adopted. White flannel net is fastened under the design, which was that of conventional floral form, in coarse cotton in button-hole stitch. The work is done so that the net is firmly caught under each leaf of the design, and after the design is embroidered in the linen, outside of the flower forms and within the circle, is cut away. The outer edge of the center piece is of the linen, button-holed, the circles and scallops being heavily padded.

Tom, The Giant and the Fairy

By HELENA DAVIS.
Tom was a poor orphan boy who lived with his uncle and aunt and cousin. The uncle's name was Andrew, the aunt's name was Jane, and the cousin's name was August. The uncle was a cross, dominating man without affection for any save his wife and son. The aunt was a lazy, selfish, envious woman, hating the little orphan boy who was left to her charge by the dying sister. The cousin was a boy after meals? Now, what's the matter that you stand there looking as though you had stolen a sheep and been caught in the act? Speak up!"

"But, Good Giant," said Tom, struggling to his knees. "When I returned to the kitchen all the plates and cups were missing; nor can I find them anywhere!"

The aunt was on her feet in a moment, and striding with a very healthy stride into the kitchen. "If you've broken a single dish, young beggar, I'll give you six lashes with the strap for each dish," she said. "Ah, the dishes could take out themselves legs and walk away, could they? Well, we'll see about that." And the irate woman began searching everywhere for the missing plates and cups, hating in vain. During her search she stood trembling in every limb, for she knew what punishment at his aunt's hands meant. Her arm seemed to hold the strength of a giant when she wielded the lash.

"Ah, ha, just as I thought," cried the aunt, turning on Tom. "You've broken the dishes that you may not have them to wash. Go and fetch the strap from the cellar and remove your jacket and water. On his return he found to his amazement that every dish had disappeared from the tray. At first he supposed his aunt had come in and wiped them dry and put them in the cupboard. But when he went to the cupboard to look if such were the case he was dumfounded to see no plates nor cups there. With many misgivings he went to his aunt, who was winking and will be here to give me orders for dinner."

"And after she has returned to her lazy pastime, I'll come back and we'll finish our conversation," whispered the giant. Then he betook himself quickly behind a high, thick hedge which grew around the garden. No sooner had he disappeared than Tom's aunt came stalking heavily into the kitchen, kicking Tom, who still sat upon the floor, the weakness of his beating not yet having passed off. "Come, you beggar, and start the dinner," commanded the aunt. "Go into the garden and gather some parsnips and beans. Make a nice pot of soup for your uncle and cousin. And don't forget to put my name in the pot. And want a nice piece of mutton, broiled to a turn before a break fire. See that the drippings are not wasted. And put the fresh loaf on the table and keep the table set for yourself. It ought to keep you supplied for a week, if you are not gluttonous."

Tom dragged himself to the garden where the giant, seeing him, came also. "You rest and I'll gather the vegetables," said the giant to Tom. "You look ill, and should not have to work as you do."

"Say, look through the hedge," whispered Tom, pointing in the direction of the house. The giant did as bidden and saw August, the adored son of the house, creeping stealthily toward the kitchen, keeping an eye toward the garden, keeping where he no doubt knew Tom would be at this time of day. He entered the kitchen and came forward again, carrying in his arms a great pot (the soup pot in which Tom was to make the dinner broth), a new pewter pitcher and a dough bowl. He made off towards the mountain side with an easy, looking cautiously behind him at every few steps. "Ah, ha, didn't I smell right?" asked the giant, who had stretched himself full length on the ground that he might peer under the hedge without being seen by August. "And he it was that got the dishes," said Tom. "I shall go this instant and tell Aunt Jane about Cousin August. She must know that it was not I who broke her cups and threw away the dishes. And now when she misses the pot she'll beat me again. So, I shall run and tell her about the having seen August going off with the cooking utensils."

"And get a harder beating for your news," said the great giant. "Ah, lad,

Biographical Sketch of Elizabeth Browning

Elizabeth Barrett Browning, poetess, was born at Coxhoe Hill, Durham, England, in the year 1806.

Little but the interests of her childhood can be obtained save from her own letters to friends and to Mr. Browning, who became her adored and adoring husband and with whom she spent the happiest years of her life. Her father was a stern-almost despot--man, insisting upon the strictest obedience from all in his household, and even after his several children were grown to manhood and womanhood they felt the restraining hand of the too-dominating father, whose word remained law in all things. If one of the children dared to assert the least independence of action a strained feeling at once existed between the father and the child, and he would not tolerate opposition in one of his own. Owing to this trait of character on the part of the head of the Barrett household, the members of the family must have spent many an unhappy and discontented hour, and it has been said by an autobiographer Elizabeth Browning that her mother, cried in her ear. The angered woman sat up and stared at him: "What's all this stuff you're saying, you fool? And how dared you to wake me before the dinner is ready?"

Then Tom, stammering and trembling with fear, related what he had seen from the garden, declaring that it was August who had taken the dishes in the morning also, and that he was trading them off to a shepherd in the mountain.

"You dare to accuse my darling child of this theft?" cried the aunt, leaping from her chair, her eyes ablaze with rage. "Why, the beating I gave you awhile ago was only a scratch to what I'll give you for this lie, you young beggar!"

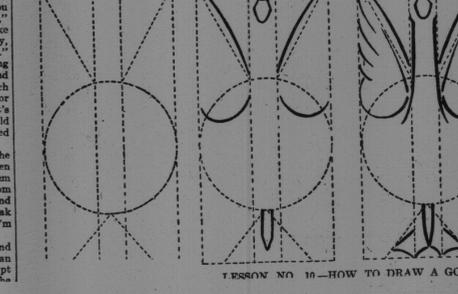

And then she raised her arm to give Tom a blow in the face, when of a sudden a huge form appeared at the corner, a long and mighty arm reached out and gathered Tom up before her very nose. With a cry of horror and fright the wicked woman sank helpless into her chair, for she had heard of this giant, but had not believed that he existed. Before she could open her mouth to say a word the giant had gone off up the mountainside with Tom sitting on his arm. He covered all roads at every step, and at such a rate was soon lost to the frightened woman's gaze.

And Tom was happy in the protecting embrace of the good giant who carried him to the spot where the fairies were to be called from their wood. Giving the signal the giant put Tom down and said: "Now, lad, you'll be careful for without my services the fairies will be here soon. I shall go back to my home in the mountains--beyond the mountain on which we stand--and continue to hunt for the unhappy boys and girls whom I may succor. I found you through a little dwarf's help. He goes about like a bird and peeps into all the houses. Then he comes to me and I rescue the unhappy one, turning him over to my friends, the fairies."

At this instant the fairies arrived, and before Tom could thank the good giant for his kindness the great fellow had stalked far away. And the fairies took Tom into a beautiful land, where they gave him a nice home and plenty to live on till he should be old enough to work and earn money for himself. And there all grease and dirt. I have not yet seen one of those sinks used in a kitchen. A porcelain-lined sink would answer the purpose as well as the glass one and would be more proof against angraz blows. Among the newest things for kitchen use, and one that is a great labor saver, is the sieve or colander that stands by itself. It is a very difficult thing to pour hot soup or jelly into a wobbly sieve or bag. The new sieve has wire supports that fit on the pan beneath and support the sieve perfectly, leaving both hands free to pour the liquid from the kettle. There is also a new scraper sold in the shops that is most useful in scraping pots and pans, for in spite of the greatest care things will burn and stick to the pans now and then, and the ordinary kitchen knife is of hardly any use in this case. The scraper is broad at the edge, slanting slightly toward the handle, something like an exaggerated inverted wedge; this shape enables it to get into all corners. There is also a small scraper with a strip of rubber set in the edge that is most handy in scraping plates before washing or similar work.

Helpful Hints for Our Young Artists

Now that strawberry shortcake time is here, every housewife whose family is fond of this delicious dish will supply herself with a whipped cream beater, and the plan of a small churn, this size, of course, is for household use. It is made of block tin, and the wire paddle wheel inside is turned by an ordinary rotary handle without. Those who have slowly and laboriously whipped cream with an egg-beater will appreciate the time and labor saved by this little patting beater.

With all these, and many other new things for making kitchen toil easy, there is no need for anyone to make her own. You will find that the women who consider household work a drudgery are using the modern means to make it easy and attractive.

For the family which has the proverbial New England pie appetite there is a high metal rack which holds six pies, one above the other, at a distance of several inches apart.

HE WAS A NATIVE OF NOVA SCOTIA

Captain R. E. McKiel Who Died at Victoria Had Sailed the Pacific Over Twenty Years.

(Victoria Colonist.)

The passing of Capt. R. E. McKiel yesterday morning removes one of the best known of the former sealing captains of Victoria. Capt. McKiel, who had been lying ill for some months at his residence at 709 Craigflower road, followed the sealing business from the time he brought the sealing schooner, Mary Taylor Sea fleet in 1888, until he was recently appointed pilot for the newformed Claycoot company. It was expected that the operation of the mills at Mosquito harbor would result in bringing many ships to Claycoot Sound, but during the year the late Capt. McKiel had but one steamer, the Earl of Douglas, which took lumber from Claycoot.

When he came from Mainland, Nova Scotia, in 1888, to throw in his lot with Captain J. G. Cox, Captain W. Cox and others who came here from Mainland, Captain McKiel took the schooner Mary Taylor, north. The first year he went to Bering Sea the U. S. revenue cutters began making seizures and he had some trying experiences while dodging the revenue cutters. He sailed the Mary Taylor on the B. coast in the spring of 1888, and was afterward engaged on the Western Slope. He was then sent to Japan from where he brought the schooner McKiel, afterward sold to the Anglo-American expedition of Capt. Mikkelson and renamed Duchess of Bedford, and while in Japan he met and associated with Captain Payne, Captain Johnny Keran and others, hearing from them the story they went so fond of telling of the raid on Robben bank, the incident upon which Rudyard Kipling based his poem "The Rhymers of the Three Sealers." In 1890 Captain McKiel took the E. B. Marvin and after a cruise in Bering Sea that vessel, went to Halifax to bring out the schooner Maud S., in which he was engaged in Bering Sea and off Copper Islands until 1893.

A claim against the Russian government is still pending on account of the deceased sealing captain for the ordering of his vessel, the Maud S., from the Copper Island, sealing grounds to Yokohama under seizure. The schooner was delivered to the British consul at Yokohama and on being tried before him was found not guilty of infringing any regulations and was released. Like some other Canadian vessels, the Russian government this is not being pressed by the government.

In 1895 the schooner Maud S., was wrecked off the north end of Queen Charlotte islands and Captain McKiel and his crew except one over the bowsprit to safety. Returning to Victoria he took charge of the schooner Annie E. Paitt, and later the De Seward, leaving the latter to enter upon his duties as a pilot for the west coast of Vancouver island.

He was born at Seabrook, Nova Scotia, in 1877, and followed the sea since boyhood. A wife and four children survive. A brother, Andrew McKiel, and two sisters, Mrs. White and Mrs. Pratt, all of Boston, Mass., also survive.
