BOUNDARY SURVEYORS GAVE EVIDENCE THIS MORNING

Before the International Commission—Are at Work Restoring Boundary According to Asburton Treaty—Most of Morning Spent Studying Maps and Charts

The International Commission on use of the waters of the St. John River met again this morning in the Equity Court rooms in the Pugsley Building. The entire morning was taken up with the evidence of Messrs. Rainboth and Baylor, who are engaged in restoring the boundary between the United States and Canada along the eastern province.

Their evidence was chiefly for the purpose of identifying certain charts of the boundary which they submitted and explaining them to the commissioners. They said that they were not locating a new boundary but merely restoring the location of the boundary according to the surveys of 1842 to 1846. The commission came to order at 10:45 with Hon. A. P. Barnhill presiding and the full commission and their counsel present.

Geo. C. Rainboth, the first witness, sworn, questioned by Mr. Fellows, deposed that he was a resident of Asbestos, Quebec, and was a Dominion land surveyor and civil engineer. For the past four years he had been engaged in the survey of the International boundary associated with Mr. Baylor, the American representative. They had surveyed the boundary from the Richelieu River to the head of the St. Croix, touching the boundary of Vermont, New Hampshire and Maine. After making the preliminary survey they went over the boundary again renewing the monuments from No. 1 to No. 11. They were now engaged on the boundary along the St. John River.

When they started this work they had the charts of the survey taken after the Treaty of 1842, which were completed in 1846. They located the line on the St. John River by these charts. Copies of the charts were produced and identified, and the witness explained that they were copies of the British charts made for the American Government. On the survey they used the British and American charts alternately. Maps No. 8 to 15, which were placed in evidence, showed the boundary as a result of the survey made by the State of Maine to the River St. Francis. The boundary along the St. John River shown on these charts, was located according to the deepest water found by soundings taken at the time the original survey was made.

Considerable time was taken up in submitting copies of a large number of maps and charts in connection with the surveys of the boundary along the St. John River. Cross examined by Mr. Gregory, Mr. Rainboth said that these were accurate photographic reproductions of the original maps, there might be a variation caused by the reproduction, but as the scale was put on afterwards the difference would be very slight. If any difference existed, that although the treaty called for a straight line from the source of the St. Croix River, they found that the survey made after the treaty showed some variations from a straight line where the boundary followed a former survey and in their survey the witness and Mr. Baylor followed the original line including the variations. They had field notes all along on this section, but for the section following the St. John River they had nothing but the treaty.

They are now making a very exact survey of the true survey and keeping a record of the distance of the line from the monuments. Mr. Gregory referred to the report submitted by the boundary commissioners at the end of their work in connection with the treaty of 1842 and asked that a copy be secured for the use of the present commission. The present survey has not progressed far enough to give the commission any information regarding the distance of the boundary line to the shores of the river on either side.

Mr. Fellows read an extract from the Asburton treaty showing that the surveys of 1842 followed previous surveys made in 1817 and 1818. Witness said that they were to establish reference monuments along the river to indicate the location of the original boundary. They did not make an effort to discover whether the boundary as laid down previously still followed the line of the deepest water in the river.

This concluded Mr. Rainboth's evidence. J. B. Baylor, the American engineer at work on the boundary survey, was next called. He said that his duty was to relocate the original boundary line and restore it to their charts on an enlarged scale.

After identifying the maps already submitted the witness said he understood that the original commission in some cases depended on evidence of land owners and the titles held to determine the possession of certain islands in the river.

He said that since the original surveys it was almost certain that some of the characteristics of the river had changed.

TAFT IS THE GUEST OF VERMONT TODAY

The Crowning Event of the Lake Champlain Show

Notables are Being Entertained at Burlington With a Mixed Programme—Will Return to Washington Tonight

BURLINGTON, Vt., July 8.—The Burlington Champlain Tercentenary celebration shifted today from the shores of New York, where it has been in progress at Crown Point, Fort Ticonderoga and Plattsburg to Vermont, with Burlington as the stage for the day's ceremonies. Vermont has been celebrating along with New York throughout the week, but today's visit of President Taft, the French and English Ambassadors, Governor Hughes, of New York, and the New York Commission and the members of the Legislature had long been eagerly anticipated as the crowning event of the city was gay with decorations for the occasion. When the steamer bearing the President and party from Bluff Point, arrived at the Kings street wharf early in the day, it was met by the Vermont Division of the National Guard, Col. J. Gray Estey commanding, and the visitors were escorted to City Hall Park, where literary exercises were held over which Governor Prouty, chairman of the Vermont Champlain Commission, presided.

The programme included a prayer by the Right Rev. Arthur C. A. Hall, Protestant Episcopal Bishop of the Diocese of Vermont, welcoming addresses by Governor Prouty and Mayor Jas. E. Burke, of Burlington, an original poem by Miss Caranah, read in dresses by President Taft, Ambassadors Bryce and Jusserand, Governor Hughes and Post Master General Louis Leitch, of Canada.

A parade at noon had been arranged for review by the witnesses given by Governor Prouty to the Presidential party and Ambassador and official guests at the Ethan Allen Club, and a luncheon to the New York State Legislature at the gymnasium building of the University of Vermont. The Indian pageants, which the President expected to witness, were a feature of the afternoon programme. The star examination was still on when court adjourned for dinner.

The Star endeavored to secure, from various stations along the line, further particulars of the destruction of the cottage. Mr. Prince at Westfield stated the story was evidently incorrect as his man had been over by the Currey place this morning and saw nothing wrong.

BANK OF NOVA SCOTIA TO USE POWELL BUILDING

Will Rent Quarters in Sackville Instead of Buying the Structure—The Ladies' College.

SACKVILLE, N. B., July 8.—The time for receiving tenders for the stone addition to Mount Allison Ladies' College expired yesterday. Several tenders were received. Announcement as to the awarding of contract will be forthcoming this week. Negotiations looking to the leasing of the lower portion of the Powell building by the Bank of Nova Scotia are now about completed. For some months past there have been rumors that the bank would take over the new station, which is owned by H. A. Powell, of St. John. Now it is stated that arrangements have been practically completed. The building will be changed somewhat to meet the wishes of the bank. An extension will be made to the rear among other changes. The bank will take possession of premises as soon as they can be made ready.

LONDON, July 8.—The rate of discount of the Bank of England remained unchanged today at 7 1/2 per cent.

LONDON, July 8.—The weekly statement of the Bank of England shows the following changes: Total reserve increased ... £ 55,000 Circulation decreased ... 18,000 Bullion increased ... 28,248 Other securities decreased ... 11,949,000 Other deposits decreased ... 8,624,000 Public deposits decreased ... 1,981,000 Notes reserve decreased ... 70,000 Government securities increased ... 1,500,000

The proportion of the bank's reserve to liabilities this week is 48.2 per cent. Last week it was 47.39 per cent. A Montreal gentleman, closely in touch with the C. P. R., says that the Company will build the new wing to the Algonquin Hotel this fall, and that it is their intention to make St. Andrews the leading summer resort of Canada. No expense will be spared to attain this result. The extensive preparations that the company are making for supplying light and power for their summer resort properties here very clearly indicate the company's intentions.—Beacon.

CLAIMS MRS. CUREY WAS NOT DISCREET

Dr. Currey Relates Incidents of Unhappy Married Life His Wife Collapses on Hearing Report That Her Cottage at Westfield Was Destroyed by Fire Last Night.

FREDERICTON, N. B., July 8.—Mr. Currey continued his testimony this morning in the divorce court. There were many interruptions. Mr. Teet claiming that the witness talked too much in answer to the questions put. Mr. Currey said that his wife used on several occasions to come home late at night and when he asked her where she had been and who came home with her she would answer in a loud voice, "None of your damn business."

The witness told over again the evidence wherein he claims that Mrs. Currey was always an intimate with the servants, and in support of his testimony gave a number of instances. He had over and over again complained to his wife of her familiarity with other people. On one occasion on a trip from John to Eastport she sat on deck with a man who was not a fit person for any decent woman to associate with. The witness was very angry and he went to his wife and said: "You must leave this man's company at once, or I will see to it myself." She said she paid no attention to him. When they arrived at Eastport she was told that her husband's wife had come to him and begged forgiveness. The only thing that prevented him carrying out his intention was the fact of the children. There were three then. This event happened in the year 1905.

Mr. Currey repeated in detail the evidence given on the former trial as to the rights of the children and how he tried to injure him about his clients and fellow lawyers, a thing which she direct evidence of her last night. Mrs. Currey, who was in court, was greatly shocked by the evidence. "I was a good woman," she cried, "in that house. His Honor expressed sympathy and the court took notice of my good character. Mrs. Currey said the house was vacant as she has all her family here. On the court re-examination, Mr. Teet continued his cross-examination, being very strict and thorough. The cross examination was still on when court adjourned for dinner.

WOMAN IN THE WORLD'S PROVERBS

Shakespeare somewhere says "Woman at best and worst as heaven and hell." A writer in the Paris Gaulois, who has been making a selection of proverbs from the literatures of various countries to illustrate the qualities of women, says to have found only those which treat of the darker or more superficial side of her nature, of the worst rather than of the best. On the whole the selections are far from complimentary.

Take, for instance, the Spanish maxim: "One of the least offensive is 'Women and mules obey better when caressed and coerced.'" Another is, "The man wins much who loses his wife." Here are a few more: "Man is to wife woman is fire, and the devil blows the bellows." "The tears of women are much more than they cost little."

"The fox is cunning but the woman who loves knows more than he." "The proverbs of the Arabs place a very low value on women. Here are some samples: "The beauty of man is in his spirit; and spirit of woman is in her beauty." "Always consult your wife, but do as you please."

"When you want to get square with a man, give him a handsome wife; when you want revenge on a woman, give her a handsome husband." "The Hindus are not much more respectful than the Arabs. They say: "The coquette is like your shadow; chase her and she chases you, flee from her, and she chases you."

"Do you want to test the fineness of gold? Use acid. The strength of an ox? Beat it. The nature of a man? Let him talk. The thoughts of a woman? There's no way." "Next comes the cynical Chinaman with a cutting maxim: "The tongue of a woman is a dagger and she never lets it go."

"The Persian says: "When you go to war, say a prayer when you go to sea, say two prayers; when you get married, pray all the time." "To a question, 'What is a woman?' the Turk answers, 'A prisoner'; the Albanian, 'a slave'; the Serbian, 'a servant'; the Bulgarian, 'a companion'; the Greek, 'a queen'."

The gallant French are among the most brutal in their folk sayings about women. "Where there are dogs," they say, "there are fleas; where there is bread, there are mice; where there is a woman, there's the devil." Another current saying is "Women and fools never forgive." "Also: "A woman laughs when she can and weeps when she will."

"What the devil can't do, woman accomplishes." "The man who beats his wife is like a man who beats a bag of flour. All that's good flies away; what's left is not worth having."

"Man can rely on the fidelity of his dog to the next temptation." "He who believes his wife deceives himself. He who doubts her is deceived all the same."

"Many interesting sidelights on the experiences of the Shackleton South Polar expedition continue to be given by the members of the company. For instance, Professor David, of Sydney University, on his return, related in the Melbourne Argus how the company kept entirely free from cold until two bales of clothing from London were unpacked. As soon as these were opened, all took very severe colds. "Must, he thinks, have been germs in the bales, as the atmosphere on the Arctic is free from noxious germs."

Professor David also states that during the winter they kept to the true day and night, although it was always dark except that at noon a faint twilight in the sky was visible. Of the magnetic pole Professor David says he gains to correct some mistaken popular impression. He said "The south magnetic pole is NOT AN ABSOLUTELY FIXED SPOT, but may be defined as a circular area about thirty miles in diameter, within which the absolute magnetic pole is, differently situated from time to time during different days and at different hours of the day. The pole moves round with a sort of waltzing movement. We made our determination with regard to the south magnetic pole by means of the Lloyd-Cretek Dip Circle, a very fine instrument. ONE OF THE BEST GAMES OF SERIES

Fans Witness a Fast Game on the Every Day Club Grounds MARATHONS, 3; CLIPPERS, 0. On the Victoria grounds last evening the Marathons once more defeated the Clippers, and this time the score was three to one. In an hour and ten minutes teams played eight innings of good fast ball and the game was well worth seeing. Only in one inning did either side get their runs. It was in the third that the Marathons got their three runs, and it was not until the seventh that the Clippers made their only run. Harley Howe was in the box for the Clippers and he pitched an excellent game, having nine strikeouts to his credit, and but three hits made off him. One of the hits was in the first by Bradbury. The second single was by Copeland in the third inning. He paced two men with bases on balls and but one man with a pitched ball. Nesbitt was equally even and his work was remarkable. For four innings he pitched a no hit, no run game, then in the fifth one a hit to Copeland at short. There was no hit or run in the sixth, but in the seventh Lynch got a single and Crosby by a double and with one run the Clippers finished their hits. Nesbitt was pitched a double and with one run the Clippers finished their hits. Nesbitt was pitched a double and with one run the Clippers finished their hits.

BOSTON NATIONALS CERTAINLY STARS

Lose a Double-Header to Brooklyn—Makes Four Out of Five OTHER GAMES. BROOKLYN, N. Y., July 7.—(National)—Brooklyn made it four out of five from Boston by winning today's double-header. Rucker went to sea-son's rescue in the first and then pitched the entire second, holding the visitors safe. The all-around playing of Rucker was the big feature. He saved the second game by a sensational catch off Beaman with the bases full, and ran bases daringly. Home run drives by Lemoore and Hummel to the club house in deep left made the first game interesting. Scores: R. H. B. MARTIN SHELDON LOSES 21 POUNDS

During the Time He Won the All Round National Championship NEW YORK, July 7.—Martin Sheridan lost twenty-one pounds weight during the two hours and a half in which he won the all-round national championship at the Scottish Club's games, Cetic Park, Monday, according to a story published here today. The Irish-American Athletic Club's champion weighed 205 pounds at the start of the 100 yards dash, the first event in the qualifying contest. He weighed 184 pounds immediately after he revived, after struggling over the line in the mile run, the tenth and last event in the fearful ordeal. He exhausted his strength and endurance. But he finished the mile run, in which alone he competitor Theodore Matzick, the giant Greek beat him. It is almost incredible that Sheridan burned up and sweat out 21 pounds of his fatty tissues in 100 minutes while rolling up 7,385 points and beating his own record for the all-round championship by 25 points, but it is remarkable that in an hour Sheridan regained ten pounds of the 21 he lost.

FAIRVILLE PLAYERS BADLY WALLOPED

It was an amusing game, but that was all. The St. Josephs pulled out a victory over the Ancient Order of Hibernians. The score at the conclusion of the performance stood 10 to 0. The Fairville team were defeated by the absence of several of their regulars. The "subs" were, however, brought into the game and they finished their hits. NEW TRIAL GRANTED ON MERE FLY SPECK, PROSECUTOR ASSERTS

Attorney General Assails the Tennessee Supreme Court for Night Rider Decision. NASHVILLE, Tenn., July 7.—In a statement published today, Attorney General Caldwell, who prosecuted and convicted eight night riders at Union City, Tenn., several months ago, and whose cases were reversed by the Supreme Court last Saturday, accuses the members of that tribunal for their decision. Caldwell says: "I would not complain if they had gone into the facts of the case and had not warranted a conviction, but for them to reverse so important a case on mere technicalities occurs to me as being a travesty on justice."

ANCIENT BELLS OF BRITAIN. Often Quadrangular and Made of Thin Plates. There are several old bells in Scotland, Ireland and Wales. The oldest are the quadrangular, being made of thin iron plates which have been hammered and riveted together, says The London Globe. At the monastery of St. Gall, in Switzerland, the four-sided bell of the Irish missionary, St. Columba, who lived in the seventh century, is still preserved, but more ancient still is the bell of St. Patrick in Belfast, which is ornamented with gold and silver filigree work. The curfew bell is that about which most has been written and said. It has been thought that it was only used in England, but it was quite common on the continent in the middle ages. The ringing of bells by rope is still very popular in England, especially in the country, where almost every hamlet, however small, has its church with its peal of bells. The first real peal of bells in England was sent by Pope Calixtus III to King's College, Cambridge, and was for 200 years the largest peal in England. About the beginning of the year 1500 sets of eight bells were hung in a few of the large churches.

LIBERALS WIN A BIG VICTORY CHARLOTTETOWN, P. E. I., July 7.—The Liberals tonight are jubilant over the result of the bye-election in the first district of Queens, where Cyrus Crosby defeated John Myers, Conservative, by 69. The seat was vacated by the death of Hon. Matthew Smith, speaker, whose majority at the general election in 1908 was 81. The Conservatives made a determined effort to capture the constituency. Had they succeeded the standing parties would have been 16 to 14, and as another bye-election has to be held in the fourth district, Trinity, where Hon. Joseph Reid returned at the general election by casting vote of sheriff resigned to run election over again. The Conservatives hoped to win that also and make parties 15 to 15. The total vote today was heavier than generally, every man being got out and both parties putting up a tremendous fight in this crucial contest which was virtually the general election in one district. The parties are now 16 to 12.

TORONTO HAS A FLAG INCIDENT TORONTO, July 7.—If there is a repetition of the trouble, the police will be armed with authority to make offenders respect the flag. This was the answer given by Mayor Oliver to a deputa-tion comprising Controller Hecken, Rev. John Coburn, W. H. Elliott and James Hales, who appeared this morning to enter a protest against the conduct of some American visitors who allowed the Canadian flag to trail behind their automobiles. It appears that on Monday last a party of Americans who came to Toronto to celebrate the national holiday fired a salvo and decorated the streets with American flags while the Canadian flag was tied to the back axle of the rig and allowed to drag in the mud. A sergeant and policeman had their attention called to the flag by some pedestrians, but they declined to act, as they did not think they had the authority to interfere in a case of the kind.

THE ST. JOHN STAR is published by THE SUN PRINTING COMPANY, (LTD.) at St. John, New Brunswick, every afternoon (except Sunday) at $2.00 a year.

ST. JOHN STAR, ST. JOHN, N. B., JULY 8, 1934.

TWO MOMENTS.

In view of the fact that the Tilley statue is to be placed on King Square, the decision reached regarding the site of the Champlain monument is the wisest that could have been made by the committee in charge of this work.

It is true the action of the committee is not final; the common council must first approve of the choice before the site is definitely fixed.

What the matter, little one? he asked, forgetting his own troubles at this point.

NEW INDUSTRIES. A gentleman named Durant, whose aims and objects are so enshrouded in mystery that it almost feels like sacrilege to mention his name, has been holding conferences with the aldermen during the past few days.

THE TALL SOLDIER. Bordenais—"My dear sir, here in our barracks we have the tallest soldier ever seen."

A MYSTERY TO FATHER. "So your daughter has gone to Europe after all?"

LIGHTING THE FIRE. A fire broke out one night in one of the smaller towns of Massachusetts, whereupon his newly equipped fire department, composed of volunteers, was called on to show what it could do.

Now do we remember or do we not, that about two or three years ago an immense industry was to have been established on the Cotnam Bay shore? Was there not an application for certain extensive lots along the shore? Did not the council hold several special meetings, and receive information from the promoter that unless the request was granted right away quick the great plant would go elsewhere? And are we astray in the belief that, shuddering from the fear of losing such a wonderful addition to the city's industries, a resolution was then and there adopted giving all that had been asked? Surely an agreement was prepared and signed, an agreement of strange and weird conditions such as never previously had appeared on paper, one which taxed the ingenuity of Recorder Skinner's versatile imagination in his endeavor to comprehend the meanderings of the aldermanic intellect.

St. John has very often been asked to help new industries. It has never secured any of those applying for assistance—as a matter of fact it has generally failed to catch them whether they ask aid or not.

If a party of Canadians in New York had insulted the Stars and Stripes at the British flag was insulted in Toronto on Monday, they would have been lynched on the spot.

SHE WANTED HER MONEY BACK. George Cohan, the player, tells of a theatrical combination that encountered much bad business in its tour of one-night stands in Ohio and Kentucky.

What the matter, little one? he asked, forgetting his own troubles at this point.

WHAT JOHN MEANT TO SAY. A Chinaman was called as a witness in the police court of Los Angeles in the case of a driver who had run over a dog.

DEFENDERS OF ALAMO MIGHT HAVE ESCAPED Secret Tunnel Led From Famous Old Fortress to Other Mission Posts.

Passageway Built Nearly Two Centuries Ago and Long Hidden Has Never Been Explored.

SAN ANTONIO, Texas, July 7.—If the defenders of the Alamo had known that the body of the tunnel which the old adobe fort had also dug a secret tunnel several miles long they might have saved their lives and the celebrated mission would have no place in history. Such a tunnel exists, but, strange to say, it has never been explored.

FOUND BY ACCIDENT. When the American garrison at Alamo was surrounded by the Mexican troops it knew of no way of escape.

Louis Teborah was digging a well at his home, on South Spring street, when he was digging the well descended into the opening and found that it was not a cave, as they supposed, but a tunnel.

THE SAD DEATH OF A CALAIS WOMAN. Clothing Caught Fire From Lamp But She Made No Outcry.

CALAIS, July 7.—The remains of Mrs. William Brown, whose tragic death was recorded in the telegraphic news of Monday, was taken to Ellsworth on Tuesday for interment.

CHATHAM WOMAN DEAD AS RESULT OF DEBAUCH. CHATHAM, N. that has heretofore been generally supposed. Instead of being alone in their cells, they were probably off on a visit to some of their brothers at one of the other missions without the outside world being any wiser.

AN exploration and rehabilitation of the ancient system of tunnels might lead to many interesting discoveries, it is held. In the imaginative minds of some of the treasure hunters of the Franciscan monks is situated at some point on this line of the underground passageway in or perhaps it may contain a store of great wealth.

RECORD AMOUNT RECEIVED FOR FOREIGN MISSIONS

The regular meeting of the Baptist Foreign Mission Board was held yesterday afternoon at 2:30 in their rooms on Prince William street.

Reports were received from different mission fields of India that most encouraging results had been attained.

In the early fall two missionaries will be sent from this district, Miss Lois Knowles of Upper Wood Harbor, N. S., and Miss Winifred Eaton of Lower Cunard, N. S.

Rev. Mr. Higgins, a returned missionary, will continue to act as field secretary for the present.

Rev. and Mrs. I. C. Archibald arrived at Rimouski Wednesday from Chicoutimi, India, on twelve months' furlough.

Reports were received from various committees, which showed splendid results. Contributions this year to date had exceeded all previous records by $2,000, an aid is hoped that at least $7,000 will be contributed during July to cover any deficit before the end of this month.

Miss Blackadar, a returned missionary, will attend the session of the New Brunswick Missionary Society to be held July 14th to 16th.

Rev. H. T. Cousins, who came out from England a few months ago, has accepted a unanimous call to Newcastle and will take up his pastoral work on July 13th.

ECONOMICAL

A lecturer, talking of economy, cited the case of a leading lady as told to him by her manager.

The manager one Monday night entered a leading lady's dressing room with a huge bouquet in his hand.

"The bouquet just sent this over, with the bill," he murmured, confidentially behind his hand. "I'll have it—er—thrown on at the end of the trial scene, eh?"

"No, don't throw it on," said the leading lady. "Let an usher hand it up. I want to use it all this week."

KANSAS WOULD TURN FLOODS INTO WEALTH

By Constructing a High Line Ditch Counties Would Irrigate—With the Careful.

KANSAS CITY, July 7.—The Syracuse, Kan., Commercial Club, says the state has taken up the matter of a "high line ditch" to care for the flood waters of the Arkansas.

The proposal is to have the general government take hold of the work and establish a canal which can carry all the superfluous water that comes down the river. The water will be distributed over the flat—the wide expanse of level upland—north of the river.

As contemplated, the ditch would leave the river, probably in Colorado, not far from the state line. It perhaps might be taken out above the railroad bridge at Granada. Trending in a northeasterly direction, the canal would cross the state line and turn east through Hamilton, Kearney, Finney, Gray and Ford counties, reaching the Arkansas again somewhere near Kinsley in Edwards county.

Such a diversion ditch would serve two great purposes. The first would be along the line of conversation. The floods of the Arkansas have been getting worse of late years, as the forests of Colorado have been cut away.

The ditch will be large enough to handle all the water that Colorado does not use for irrigation. In normal years water enough goes by to irrigate tens of thousands of acres. In times of great flood, or even the ordinary floods of December and June, the river runs nearly half a mile wide and ten feet deep. With a fall of seven feet a vast volume of water runs down that vast volume of water runs down to the Gulf.

All this water spread over the fertile uplands would be producing wealth, instead of destroying it as at present.

The ordinary flood water would be sufficient to winter-irrigate thoroughly a strip fifteen-miles wide from the state line to Kinsley. Government tests have proved that winter irrigation is of vastly greater benefit in a country like this than in summer watering. Having an average rainfall of nineteen inches, mostly in the growing season, by thoroughly soaking his ground in winter, the farmer would follow proper methods of cultivation, the farmer will be assured of good crops every year.

When this ditch is constructed and in operation, it will benefit not only the river counties, but also the tier counties, including Greeley, Wichita, and Scott. These counties will necessarily receive some of the water.

Judging by the effect of the heavy irrigation that has been practiced on the uplands in Colorado, just a few miles to the west of here, this plan will eventually have a great effect upon the physical conditions of the country. From the reservoirs north of Lamar to the Kansas river, the level of ground water in the uplands has been permanently raised.

Some plans it was estimated necessary to drill wells 150 to 200 feet for water. These same wells now stand nearly full. To get water now in the same localities it is only necessary to go to a depth of twenty-five to forty feet. Many low places have become lakes, one of these being nearly 2,000 acres in extent.

AGENTS HUNTING GROUNDS.

The hair which society women supplement their own can scarcely be termed false, however, for the simple reason that it comes from the heads of other women. In Belgium, Brittany, Holland, Germany, Austria, and even Japan a huge business is done in human hair. Agents are continually scouring Europe to obtain supplies of the same, Brittany being the happy hunting ground of most of them, for it is the Breton wig, furnished the greatest supply of hair for the use of hairdressers.

The buying and selling are conducted chiefly at fairs, although much bargaining is done privately in the villages. The agent or cutter takes up his quarters, and displays a highly-colored handkerchief tied to a walking stick or fastened from one window to another. Women who are willing to sell their hair are thus acquainted with the agent's whereabouts, and as payment for their tresses they receive a piece of cloth or a gaudy pocket watch, perhaps, about a dollar or thereabouts.

Agents get anything between $100 and $200—according to color texture, and general beauty—for a pound of hair thus obtained.

ADVISED NOT TO SELL.

It is thus that the Breton women are robbed by the wig hair agent.

The law cannot interfere because a woman may do what she likes with her own property.

BUYING AND SELLING OF THE HUMAN HAIR

A fashionable hairdresser is authority for stating that 75 per cent. of ladies of fashion wear almost as much artificial hair as they do of their own.

While in Paris practically all ladies, when they reach a certain age, say, forty or fifty years, use artificial hair.

The reason for this is not so much that women of today possess scanty tresses, but that nowadays coiffures are so large and elaborate that the severer woman finds it impossible to follow the dictates of fashion without the aid of false hair.

The majority have to depend on tresses, puffa pads and switches of artificial hair in order to transform their natural hair into an attractive head-dress.

The hair of children, too, is often sold by Breton mothers, and is greedily sought after by agents on account of its softness and it is pathetic to watch at country fairs an avaricious mother haggling with the agent about the price of the hair of her child, who stands meekly by with wondering eyes, and is shortly deprived of its beautiful curls.

SOCIETY WOMEN WILL PAY ANYTHING.

At one time hair agents were a feature of every country fair in Europe, and in many peasant families the hair was cultivated for the special purpose of sale, though the remuneration was usually a bit of gaudy finery.

In later days, however, the women of such countries as Holland, Belgium, Germany and Brittany have got to know more about the real value of their hair, and the agents find them loath to part with it except for a fair price; and there is no reason why they should not have it, for the society woman does not haggle over cost in such a matter, and hairdressers can demand practically their own price.

It is interesting to note, by the way, that the treasured golden hair, which is found in Charleston and Savannah, and the same preference for the old residents here, and the ladies of a household are apt to inquire as to the parentage and connections of a man or woman before either is admitted to an inner circle.

I noticed on the register of a southern hotel where we were stopping the names of Jones and that of Farrye Lou Barney, who, he said, were pupils at a school for young women up the country a little way, and they had come to town to do some shopping with one of their teachers.

"Most all the families down here give their children fool names, and when they do happen to be sensible people and happen to give their daughters sensible names, the girls are pretty sure to go silly and spell 'em in some romantic way like Babye Jones and Myrtle Baker." And to illustrate, he produced the catalog, two or three years old, of a girl school at Montevallo, Ala., and observed:

"There is a collection of names that will make you tired. Just think what fathers and mothers must be who will tack such fool names as you will see in this catalog on to human beings."

Together we went through the roll of students and checked off some of the most amusing, with the following consequences:

Sixteen Queenies, twelve Manyses, nine Maries, fourteen Dianas, eleven Nells, five Wylties, four Willets, thirteen Maes, five Mayas, four Mals, seven Mays, four Calhouns, six Rubys, two Rubies, five Aclies, three Alices, five Lulas, four Almas, four Bulas, four Bubbles, three Doves, two Lys, two Lindas, two Mynies, two Amys, two Amias, seven Pearls, two Mias, two Jewels.

And one each of the following names: Eza, Eolia, Lesta, Ineshore, Tuba, Nels, Adley, Ansey, Scotia, Almeda, Zena, Amma, Hellyn, Hylin, Eddyos, Susy, Wylfie, Dinos, Erna, Hatty, Ezell, Verna, Donniebon, Zella, Peri, Hycle, Hegen, Neddie, Mort, Rudy, Brooks, Willie, Marmabelle, Para, Elyvia, Sudie, Nona, Zuhritia, Letitia, Whinta, Wray, Whittie Zera, Pattye, Ina, Olna, Theressa, Orsley, Perie, Ludy, Johnnie, Mittie, Oma, Cherry.

Among those who participated in the lumpy reunion were Mr. and Mrs. William Sherd and family and Miss Eleanor Howard, all of Pittsburg, Pa.; Miss Sadie Howard, of Boston; and Mr. Alexander G. Howard, of Regina, Saskatchewan.

A noteworthy and interesting feature of the celebration was the presence of Mr. Joseph Wood, who was one of the invited guests who were present at the wedding fifty years ago.

Mr. Howard is a retired sea-captain, and is still in excellent health, and able to work around his farm, despite the fact that he has lived about four score years.

MOBILE IS PROUDEST OF SOUTHERN CITIES

Aristocracy Indifferent to Social Aspirations of Newly Rich.

Girls Silly Names—William E. Curtis

Writes of "Babyes," "Faryas" and "Dories" at One Seminary.

CHICAGO, July 7.—There is not as much improvement in the appearance at Mobile, says William E. Curtis, in the Record-Herald, as in several other cities of the South, although the residence section, and particularly Government street, where the aristocracy lives, is holding extended quite rapidly with stately houses, and downtown there are at least two new skyscrapers. Mobile has been the most exclusive and the proudest of all the cities of the South, and several of the most conspicuous families in New York city have come from here. Several northern millionaires have found their wives in Mobile with more or less happiness and satisfaction. The social statutes are still as rigid as they are in Charleston, and upperdom is still inclined to be self-satisfied and indifferent to the social aspirations of those who come from the acquired fortunes and have not been accustomed to wear crests. There is something admirable in the pride of ancestry. We have a right to be grateful for our fathers and mothers if we choose, and to be still more grateful if the characters and careers of our grandfathers and great-grandfathers do us credit. Ancestral distinction goes further in Mobile, however, than in most other towns. The mixture of Spanish and French blood has not entirely disappeared, and it may still be traced by names if not by faces. The same family vanity and loyalty that is found in Charleston and Savannah, and the same preference for the old residents here, and the ladies of a household are apt to inquire as to the parentage and connections of a man or woman before either is admitted to an inner circle.

I noticed on the register of a southern hotel where we were stopping the names of Jones and that of Farrye Lou Barney, who, he said, were pupils at a school for young women up the country a little way, and they had come to town to do some shopping with one of their teachers.

TO HOLD FIELD DAY ON SATURDAY NEXT

62nd Regiment to Go into the Country on That Day

The third march out of the 62nd regiment, St. John Fusiliers, was held last evening. The red coats presented a fine appearance on the march.

A great improvement over previous turnouts was noticed and many complimentary remarks were made by the hundreds of spectators who lined the route of march.

Headed by the regimental band the battalion left the Barrack Green about 8 o'clock and covered the following route: Carmenthan, Broad, Charlotte, King, Duck, Union, German, Queen, Charlotte, north side Queen Square, Sydney, Broad and Carmenthan to the drill hall.

Le Col. Edwards, who was in command, and Major Parlee, Capt. Angier and Adj. Miller were the mounted officers. Two hundred and seventy-four officers and men were in the column.

Upon returning to the barracks orders were read for the men to assemble Saturday, 10th inst., at 2 p. m., to participate in a field day.

The regiment will march into the country and go through various military tactics, including charges, defence, advance guard, outpost duty and sham battle movements.

This programme seems a popular one among the troops and no doubt they will parade at full strength on Saturday.

ANNUAL MEETING HELD YESTERDAY

Interesting Papers Read at Session of Woman's Missionary Society

Over fifty delegates met at Bloomsfield yesterday morning to attend the annual convention of the St. John district Women's Missionary Society of the Methodist Church.

The morning session opened at 9:30 with devotional services, after which papers were read and issues discussed. Mrs. B. C. Turner of Jacksonville, N. B., read a most interesting paper on "How a President planned the year's work." This was followed by Bible readings by Miss E. Fisher, of the French Protestant Home, Montreal, and Miss Paula Polkins, both of whom are doing missionary work in Montreal.

At the afternoon session papers were read by Miss Barker of St. John on Circles and Band Work; Miss Duke on Galicians; Mrs. Rodgers of Sussex, on the Silver Jubilee; and Mrs. Innes of the United States Board, who spoke on Africa. Mrs. Innes exhibited many curios of native work which were most interesting.

Mrs. E. C. Hickson of St. John presided at both meetings. The delegates were entertained at luncheon and dinner by Mrs. Wetmore of Bloomsfield, the tables being placed on the lawn.

A hearty vote of thanks to the Bloomsfield members brought the convention to a close.

BLIND MAN BUYS AUTO BY SELLING PENCILS

Must Go Peddling Again to Get Money for the Freight Charges.

BRIDGE, Pa., July 5.—A blind man who gave his name as Henry Ellsworth, and had been selling pencils and shoe strings about the city for the past morning and purchased a second hand automobile for $150.

The man says he lost his sight in a coal mine, and for the past dozen years has been making a living by begging and selling pencils on the street.

When he asked to see a second-hand machine he was taken to one for which the dealer asked $200, but after having a ride in the machine Ellsworth said he had only $150. He got the car, but asked the dealer to hold it until he could sell enough pencils to pay express charges on it to his home in Pittsburg.

FORTY BOYS ARE GIVEN FREE SWIM

Y. M. C. A. Places Swimming Tank at Disposal of Youngsters

Yesterday afternoon the management of the Y. M. C. A. gave about fifty non-members, between the ages of 12 and 18 years, the use of shower baths and swimming tank between 4 and 5 o'clock.

Forty-two lads stripped for the fray and had rare sport in the water. E. J. Robertson, assisted by Wm. Kenny and A. G. McLeod, gave elementary instructions in swimming to a few who needed it, but the majority took to the water like ducks. It is the intention of the Y. M. C. A. to issue fifty tickets twice a week to boys who do not belong. A record is being kept and until all who apply have had a swim none will be given a second ticket. Another class will be held on Friday afternoon, so that any boy between 12 and 18 years who wishes a ticket should apply early to A. W. Robb, in the building.

Yesterday afternoon the boys expressed themselves as having had a "bully time."

SOME EXPLORERS WHO HAVE NEVER RETURNED

Lieutenant Shackleton's return brought forth the most brilliant achievements of Arctic discovery. Too often, alas! explorers have perished in the regions of perpetual ice only themselves to pay the heaviest of penalties.

The first great tragedy of Arctic exploration was the mysterious disappearance of Sir John Franklin and more than 100 of his companions, after having made two successful voyages to the frozen North. Franklin left Greenhithe, in May, 1845. Just about two months later he was despatched home from Whalesfish Island, and then followed a silence which has never since been broken.

In 1871 there was another Arctic tragedy. Captain Hall, the commander of the U. S. ship Polaris, left New York in the June of that year, and was followed in the following September, and died in November. His crew, more fortunate than he, survived, and, after intense suffering, reached Newfoundland in May, 1872.

More disastrous was an expedition which left San Francisco a few years later—that of the Jeannette, commanded by Captain De Long. The steamer, after having a thousand perils, eventually sank during a terrific hurricane, previously having broken clear in two. The whole of her crew escaped, only, however, soon to meet with another disaster. While they were making for the Siberian coast, one of the three ships' boats foundered with all hands, and the other two, in charge of Dr. Long and Commodore Melville respectively, separated, the leader's boat drifting to the shores of the Lena delta, and Melville's reaching a Siberian settlement on the River Lena.

Melville and his companions—a party of ten in all—travelled inland, succeeded in procuring assistance, and returned to succour the leader and his party. After many hardships, they reached De Long's last camping place; but, unhappily, they were too late. Thirteen frozen bodies lay half buried in the snow.

Intensely tragic, again, was the Greeley expedition. Through the failure of a relief ship—which was fast in the ice far away to the south—Greeley and his comrades found themselves, at the beginning of the long Polar night, with only forty days' provisions, less than one-fifth the quantity required.

STARVING TO DEATH.

One man became so madly ravenous that he actually pliered from the slender store of rations, and, being condemned to death, "Private Henry" ultimately caught red-handed, will be executed today," wrote Greeley, and he was.

When the end was very near, a steamer's whistle was heard, and soon afterwards a relief party burst into the hut in which the survivors lay. Saved—saved from the very jaws of death!

Later, August Andree threw away his life in an attempt to reach the North Pole by balloon. He vanished completely. So, too, about fifteen years ago, did a small party which left St. John's under the command of the Swedish naturalists Björning and Kaltenius.

Such is in part—the light mist easily extended—the heavy toll which has been exacted from explorers by the frozen North. It illustrates as nothing else can the dangers of the Arctic regions, and emphasizes the credit due to Lieutenant Shackleton and his brave comrades.

TEARFULLY TOLD TALE OF DISGUSTING DEGENERACY

CHICAGO, Ill., July 7.—Ella Gingles, a young Irish immigrant, was on the witness stand in Judge Brennan's court room all day today matching her memory against the sharpest of the lawyers who were trying to confound her on cross-examination in her trial for stealing lace from Miss Agnes Barrette, her former employer.

All afternoon the girl was cross-examined by Assistant States Attorney B. J. Short on the story she related in the morning of how she was attacked by two women and a man in a bathroom of the Wellington Hotel on February 15. This story was similar in many details to the one she gave last Friday concerning another alleged attack on her on January 4 in a room of the same hotel. Miss Agnes Barrette, the late Mrs. Cecilia Kenyon and a "masked man" figured as the assailants in both cases.

Beyond a few tearful moments when she thought of the disgusting tale of degeneracy she reached, the girl did not hesitate in her answers. She told of the most impossible scenes, with a nervousness and frankness.

The court room was cleared today of all but those having a direct interest in the case, by order of the judge.

THEIR GOLDEN WEDDING.

At Gasperaux on Tuesday last Capt. J. K. Howard and wife celebrated the fiftieth anniversary of their wedding. All of their children and grandchildren from different parts of Canada and the United States were present.

During the day the happy couple were presented with a purse of gold and a handsome loving cup. Among those who participated in the lumpy reunion were Mr. and Mrs. William Sherd and family and Miss Eleanor Howard, all of Pittsburg, Pa.; Miss Sadie Howard, of Boston; and Mr. Alexander G. Howard, of Regina, Saskatchewan.

A noteworthy and interesting feature of the celebration was the presence of Mr. Joseph Wood, who was one of the invited guests who were present at the wedding fifty years ago.

Mr. Howard is a retired sea-captain, and is still in excellent health, and able to work around his farm, despite the fact that he has lived about four score years.

SCOTT ACT IN YORK COUNTY

FREDERICTON, N. B., July 7.—The York county council concluded its semi-annual session today. There was a lengthy discussion regarding Scott act in the county. It was brought out that the Scott act fund is being gradually depleted with an inspector employed and it was felt that there would be an improvement if the Scott act committee could be given power to superintend the work of the inspector. The committee reported that if the act was properly administered it would be self-sustaining and such as not now the case. The fund having been reduced since the inspector was appointed from over $1,000 to less than $500.

The committee felt the inspector should not incur the expense of securing convictions and then allow fines and costs to remain uncollected. No action could be taken, however, as the council has not authority under the act to carry out the recommendations of the committee.

A resolution was passed unanimously asking the provincial government to build the proposed bridge across the Saint John River at Marquisac, and Coun. Thos. Robison, M.P.P., said the government would no doubt build this bridge when the finances would allow.

A vote of thanks was passed and presented to Warden Hinches, who is retiring from municipal politics at the end of the present term in September, and felicitous speeches followed.

When the end was very near, a steamer's whistle was heard, and soon afterwards a relief party burst into the hut in which the survivors lay. Saved—saved from the very jaws of death!

Later, August Andree threw away his life in an attempt to reach the North Pole by balloon. He vanished completely. So, too, about fifteen years ago, did a small party which left St. John's under the command of the Swedish naturalists Björning and Kaltenius.

FIRST HAND GUNS RECORDED IN 1338

"Un Hand-Gone" Mentioned in English Inventory and Italian Papers Bear Evidence.

Live Coal or Red Hot Iron Bar Used to Fire Pistols and Cannon in Ancient Warfare.

Very early ordnance was small, some of it so many that it was of the gun blocks as cannon or attached to staves for use as hand guns, but it is impossible to say how early in the last named form of their application was put into practice, and this portion is due to the fact that the same nomenclature is freely employed to express both classes of weapons.

The first clear mention of hand guns that has descended to us occurs in Italian records, and "un hand-gone" is mentioned in an English inventory of 1338. The metal portions of very early hand guns are cylindrical in form and usually about a span long—4, 5, 6, 7, 8, 9, 10, 11, 12, 13, 14, 15, 16, 17, 18, 19, 20, 21, 22, 23, 24, 25, 26, 27, 28, 29, 30, 31, 32, 33, 34, 35, 36, 37, 38, 39, 40, 41, 42, 43, 44, 45, 46, 47, 48, 49, 50, 51, 52, 53, 54, 55, 56, 57, 58, 59, 60, 61, 62, 63, 64, 65, 66, 67, 68, 69, 70, 71, 72, 73, 74, 75, 76, 77, 78, 79, 80, 81, 82, 83, 84, 85, 86, 87, 88, 89, 90, 91, 92, 93, 94, 95, 96, 97, 98, 99, 100.

Through the use of iron, leaden and even brass bullets at a very early period in the history of firearms is recorded, says R. Colman Clappan, in the antiquary, the favorite projectile, as shown by illuminations in manuscripts, would seem to have been gavel—i. e., a brass bolt or arrow, fastened with brass (gros a feu), sometimes called quarrel, missile for the crossbow. Quarrel guns (quarrellen gonne) are mentioned in the treasury accounts of Henry IV. of England (1589-1593), and each missile was still being employed with firearms up to the end of the sixteenth century, as shown in a Tower inventory of 1599.

The early history of firearms in the sense of tubes from which missiles are thrown by the action of a detonating compound of the nature of gunpowder is wrapped in obscurity, though it may be safely inferred from the few early records that have come down to us that such weapons were used at the commencement of the fourteenth century, if not some time before. The origin of the word "gun" is uncertain, but we may gather that it was most probably Dutch, though the Flemings were early in the field.

A Byzantine record in the eleventh century and one of China in the thirteenth (1259), refers to tubes, respectively of bronze and bamboo, from which an inflammable compound was projected, with the object of setting fire to ships or buildings, and the material so employed was probably a mixture of which there were many varieties, some of which would seem to have been slightly detonating in character. But ordnance and hand guns require a mixture strong enough to propel a projectile from a tube with considerable momentum.

It will probably never be known when or where this epoch-making compound was invented. It is also stated that there is a reference in Chinese annals of 1232 to a fiery mixture having been employed in that country and year in what would seem to have been a battle, but the statement, resting as it does on the report of a copy of an older record, should be received with caution. Prior to the invention of the match both ordnance and hand guns were fired by a red hot iron bar or a live coal. Figures of guns shown in illuminated manuscripts or on the walls of late engravings are fanciful, and at the best give merely the outline of the pieces. But, fortunately, the muzzle strengthened with an outer sheathing of ring. This metal part is socketed into a staff to which it is firmly attached by iron rings through some of the stock it is cast or wrought iron.

Among these weapons, the wooden stocks of which have mostly rotted away, there is but a single example furnishing any reliable data as to the time it was used in warfare, and this piece was found in excavating among the debris of the fortress Vesta Tanenberg, a castle in Hess, taken by assault and dismantled in the year 1559. The weapon is now deposited in the Germanische National Museum at Nuremberg, where there is a large and comprehensive collection of arms and armor.

This example is a brass casting, octagonal in outward form and with a chamber. The staff fell to pieces on exposure to the air. Though found in a deposit at the end of the fourteenth century, the piece may have been some years in active service before that time. Most of these ancient weapons preserved are to be seen in the museums and arsenals of Germany, Austria and the Low Countries, and the great majority are made of wrought iron.

WOMAN'S GENTLE ART. "I often wonder," said a gentleman to a young mechanic, "how you ever plucked up courage enough to propose to your wife—you were always such a bashful young fellow." "Well," explained the husband, "she made it easy for me. You know I walked out with her frequently and she must have known I meant business. But I was always afraid to speak right out, till one night I said to her rather casually, 'Do you think you'll ever marry?' She said she thought she might, so I said, 'When?' 'Whenever you do,' was her answer, and I said 'All right.' So we settled the day there and then."

MADE HIS MARK. "Well, young Dr. Slicer has made his mark already, hasn't he?" "Yes, did it on his first case." "Great work! What did he do?" "Vaccinated him."

DIVERS FIND WRECK OF RAMLIES

After being at the bottom of the sea unaccounted for a century and a half, one of the guns of H. M. S. Ramlies, which was wrecked near Bolt Tail on the south coast of Devon, has been recovered.

In March last the French steamer traveler L'Algaie was wrecked in a gale close under Bolt Tail. Salvage operations are at present in progress upon her, and this week, while engaged in salvaging the boilers of L'Algaie, a diver of the salvage steamer Mallard discovered beneath the sunken traveler the remains of an older vessel. Investigation proved these remains to be undoubtedly those of the Ramlies, whose loss, with over 700 lives, was one of the greatest disasters in time of peace in the annals of the British navy.

Carefully exploring the sea bottom in the vicinity the diver found scores of guns and hundreds of round shot, partly embedded in sand and encrusted with rock and rust. It was decided to raise one of the guns, and this was successfully accomplished. The gun which has been brought to the surface is of iron, 3 feet long, with a 4-inch bore.

One side of the weapon has been worn away with the action of pebbles and shingle washed over it by the tide to such an extent that at the muzzle the thickness of iron is very little, and for its whole length the metal has the appearance of being gradually filed away. Ever the trunnions which originally protruded from the gun carriage have been worn to spikes. In contrast to this, the top part of the gun shows not the slightest sign of wear. Its perfect preservation is due to the fact that it was embedded in sand and shingle, which formed a complete protection. On this part of the gun is the touch-hole, and standing out in bold relief are the letters G. R., surmounted by a large crown. The touch-hole is quite clear, and the bands running round are well preserved. The remains of the Ramlies lie among huge boulders in six fathoms of water, but a gale desisted, which lies about in profusion has become encrusted in the rocks.

The families, a 74-gun ship, while making for Plymouth during a severe gale on February 15, 1760, mistook Bolt Tail for Hantsport, and ran aground on the entrance to Plymouth Sound. Getting too close in shore, she became embayed, and was obliged to anchor. Gradually she was driven ashore by the gale, and striking the rocks, was pounded to pieces by the fury of the waves.

Of 734 souls on board only twenty-two were saved, and a midshipman was saved. Tradition has it that one of the crew warned the captain that the ship was in Hantsport Bay, but was refused. The captain, who was regarded as an act of insubordination.

WOULD NOT CONFIRM CANADIAN

The Rev. F. W. Clarke, vicar of Caldicot, South Monmouthshire, England, has refused to allow a Church lad, a Canadian, to attend his confirmation class because the youngster is a member of the Boys' Brigade, which holds its meetings in the Wesleyan church-school. The lad has been brought up in the Church of England, his parents belong to the Church, it was at the invitation of the curate that he presented himself at the vicar's confirmation class, but the vicar asked him at the close of the class if he belonged to the Boys' Brigade, and when informed that he did, said, "We must draw the line somewhere."

The complaint seems to be that a church lad, though willing to claim full membership of the Church, should have been guilty of the grievous sin of "schism" by belonging to an unsectarian organization, and attending a Bible class in connection with the Boys' Brigade, in which simple Bible teaching is given. The vicar called upon the father of the lad, Mr. Arthur C. Luff, and said: "We must draw the line somewhere. Seeing he is in the brigade, we cannot very well confirm him." Mr. Luff said: "Very well, that finishes the matter." To an interviewer, Mr. Luff observed: "It is strange to me, after living for fifteen years in British Columbia, where things are so different." When invited to give his version of the matter, the Rev. F. W. Clarke said he hoped no newspaper would interfere in a matter of this kind, and that the vicar would be left to the clergy to deal with.

Mr. Alfred Kemp, the Wesleyan evangelist, who has charge of the Caldicot Boys' Brigade, said they were absolutely unsectarian, and told the vicar the exact what place of worship they pleased, but several members of the Boys' Brigade were asked to leave the church Sunday school because of their membership, and a lieutenant of the brigade left the church choir for the same reason. The vicar said that the brigade have attended Rotting Church, where the Archbishop of Monmouth preached to them. But Boys' Brigade members are not wanted in the parish church of Caldicot.

FRENCH PRIESTS HEAVILY FINED

Charged With Various Offenses Against the State—Impeded Bidding at Sales.

PARIS, July 7.—Within the last three months six Roman Catholic priests have been prosecuted for various offenses against the State, which were indirectly connected with the enforcement of the Law of Associations. The Bishops of Quimper and Montauban were prosecuted for impeding the liberty of bidding at sales of confiscated church property, but were acquitted. The Bishop of Cahors was found guilty of the charge of denouncing anti-religious education, and fined 25 francs. The Cardinal Archbishop of Bordeaux is now under prosecution for declaring that unjust laws should not be obeyed; the Archbishop of Auch is being proceeded against on the same charge for which the Bishop of Cahors was condemned to pay a fine of 25 francs, and the Bishop of Bayonne was today summoned to answer the charges of threatening to excommunicate municipal councilors, members of benevolent committees, and similar officials who seek to obtain the attribution of Church property. For this offense the Bayonne prelate was fined 500 francs.

EXPRESS HORROR AT THE WYLLIE MURDER

Indian Residents in London Pass a Resolution—Uproar Followed Pro'st.

LONDON, July 7.—A meeting of Indian residents in London passed a resolution at the Wyllie murder, which was read at the meeting of the Indian Association, presided by Sir Manjivji Bhambhani, merchant and author, and other prominent Indians, many of whom are Indian agents, were present.

A brother of the assassin, Dhingraj, went to the platform, and modestly expressed his abhorrence of the crime. At one time the meeting was thrown into an uproar when a young Indian, standing up in the body of the hall, and shouting his dissent to the denunciation of the murder, seemed to have a speaking of supporters. The vast majority of the audience, however, became incensed and excitedly shouted: "Furn him out!" "Fetch the police," etc. Many rushed toward the offender, who calmly proceeded to leave the hall, but before doing so struck an Indian on the head with a cane, making the blood flow. Then, brandishing a chair, the disturber kept his would-be assailants at bay until he had fled to the street. It is understood that the disturber is the London agent of Shyamaji Krishanayama, the head of the seditious Indian propaganda.

"DIAMOND MAKER" MUST GO TO JAIL

Six Years' Imprisonment and $600 Fine—Must Also Pay Damages.

PARIS, July 7.—The trial of Henri Lemoine, the so-called diamond maker, which began on May 17, came to a conclusion today, with a verdict of guilty, and a sentence of six years' imprisonment, a fine of $600, and payment of $500 damages to Sir Julius Wernher.

The intervention de sejour means that Lemoine, after the expiration of his sentence, must choose some town as his residence, which place he will not be allowed to leave without the permission of the police.

The charge on which Lemoine was convicted was seducing Sir Julius Wernher, of London, by pretending that he, Lemoine, had discovered a way of making diamonds.

Nothing is more easy than to deceive ourselves.—Demosthenes.

FIVE MURDERERS HOODWINK POLICE IN FIVE MONTHS

Men Known to be Guilty Find it Easy to Evade City Detectives.

Five "unsolved" murders within a few months, the record now standing against the police and detective departments of Montreal.

Here is a brief summary of the list: On the first Sunday morning of the year, the dead body of John Gersahby was found on Place Royale with his skull crushed. It was plainly a case of murder, as the coroner's inquest brought out. No arrests were made.

RANIERI STABBING.

Two weeks after, Dominico Ranieri was stabbed to death on Vite street. Last Saturday night, for help were heard on the corner of Vite and Cadieux streets. A passer-by reached the spot, but the murderer had already lapsed on the sidewalk, with blood gushing from his mouth. The police, attributing the flow of blood to hemorrhage, and it was not until the body was taken to the morgue that three deep lacerations were discovered on Ranieri's back. Four detectives were put on the case. The murderer was never found.

SIMILAR STABBING.

A somewhat similar case, reflecting no credit to the police, occurred about two weeks ago, when Donatello Fazio was found one Saturday night dying on the sidewalk in St. Agathe lane. The coroner's inquest disclosed the case said hemorrhage again. The man died on the way to the morgue. Next morning was discovered the cause: there were seven deadly stiletto stabs in the back of the victim, two of which had pierced the lungs. Honey had been bleeding from the mouth. The murderer is still at large.

THE LATEST CASE.

The latest case, which occurred on Wednesday last, was that of Antonio Bistone, who was stabbed in the stomach by a fellow-countryman, while standing outside the boarding-house kept by Salvatore Donofrio, 229 St. James street. The affair occurred about 9 o'clock, but it was an hour before the police of St. Henri station heard of it. The coroner's inquest showed that the proprietor of the boarding-house, Salvatore Donofrio, was the guilty man. There have been no arrests.

The reports of the detectives in the last case have been the same as in the others. At the coroner's inquest it was said: "We have been working on the case all evening, but have not been able to find the accused, without success."

GREAT FLOODS SWEEP KANSAS

KANSAS CITY, Mo., July 7.—Swollen by unprecedented rains, Missouri Valley rivers today left their banks and caused damaging floods in many parts of Missouri and Kansas.

The most spectacular accident due to the flood was the derailing in a flooded plain of the Atchison, Topeka and Santa Fe passenger train bound from Kansas City to Denver. The rails sprang near Pomona, Kas., and four of the coaches rolled in 18 feet of water. The four-year-old daughter of Miss Laura St. Clair of Boston suffered a fractured back, and Miss Nannie St. Clair, a sister, sustained bruises and lacerations.

In Kansas City the situation is threatening if not yet serious. Kansas City is almost inundated, the Marias des Cygnes River at that point being three miles wide. A relief train was sent from Ottawa tonight with food and other supplies for the sleeping car passengers, who were said to have clung to the tops of the cars for refuge from the rising water.

STOLE SHIP LOAD OF GOODS AND SAILED AWAY

VANCOUVER, July 7.—Today E. S. Kirkconnell, a farmer at Whinnock, B. C., appeared before Judge McInnes on extradition proceedings. He is wanted in New York City.

It is alleged that in the spring of 1903 Kirkconnell and his brother committed the most colossal theft in the history of the Atlantic Coast, boldly sailing away with a whole shipload of goods obtained under false pretenses from eastern merchants. The vessel sailed for Honduras and arrived safely from the pursuit with little misadventure. Then began the pursuit which finally ended in the capture of the alleged thief on the ship containing the stolen goods had landed them safely.

Both alleged thieves were apprehended in Honduras, and one of them, alleged to be the man captured here, escaped by risking his life at night by diving from the boat on which he was being brought to New York.

Since his escape search has never been given up. Several weeks ago Detective Wilmer got trace of Kirkconnell and finally located him in this city. Wilmer arrived quietly a few days ago and confirmed his suspicions and the arrest followed last night.

Kirkconnell is the owner of a splendid ranch at Whinnock and is reputed to be very wealthy.

Statistics of the port's export trade with the United States for the half year ending June 30 show a marked increase over those of the corresponding period of last year. The detailed report, which was only made public yesterday, proves interesting reading as a bearing of much thought.

The grand total for the first six months of 1904, represented in dollars is $11,774,913, which, compared with the amount of $91,038,30 for the corresponding period of 1903 mean an increase of nearly 100 per cent.

MEMBERS HEARTILY ENJOY THE OUTING

About sixty members of the Natural History Society took advantage of the invitation of Dr. and Mrs. Matthews and spent a very pleasant outing at Gondola Point yesterday.

The majority of the party left by the steamer Hampton in the morning, while others took the 1:15 train yesterday afternoon.

After partaking of refreshments the members tramped through the surrounding country in groups gathering specimens, etc. Upon returning they gathered on the verandah of Dr. Matthews' home, which overlooks the river and listened to an interesting address by their host on the specimens gathered.

Senator Ellis also made a few remarks, after which a luncheon was served, with strawberries and cream being a feature of the menu. When the guests had finished a heavy vote of thanks, moved by W. F. Burdett, Mrs. Matthews entertained the gathering with several well rendered recitations. The steamer Hampton landed the party at Indiantown last evening and all voted the outing the most enjoyable of the season.

Coroner's Jury Brings in a Verdict of Accidental Death

The inquest into the death of John Snyder, who was killed at Sand Point Monday, was continued by Coroner Kenney in City Hall, West Side, last night. After several witnesses had been examined, the jury returned the following verdict:

"We, the jurors, agree that John Snyder met his death between 3 and 4 p. m. on Monday, July the 5th, by receiving a blow on the head, causing compound fracture of the skull, caused by being struck by a handle of a winch. That there was no blame attached to anyone, and that every precaution had been taken."

At 8 p. m. the inquest was resumed at the City Hall, West End. Mr. F. Bedford was the first called upon to give evidence. He said that the deceased was working the winch alone. It was near him at the time. I saw him fall. I consider that he could have dodged the blow. I heard Mr. Lord tell him to keep clear of the handle. Mr. Lord was the foreman. He did not find any fault in the machinery. The winch was not loose, to my knowledge there was no other winch working."

George Sullivan, the second witness, stated: "There were three of us at No. 4 crib holding the turns at the time the accident occurred. I did not notice anything wrong with the winch. I told the deceased that the handle was off, thinking that he was in danger. I cannot say if he heard me. I could not say why or how he got struck. The winch was not loose, to my knowledge and could have come off at any moment."

Dr. Ellis briefly stated that the deceased had died from compound fracture of the skull.

G. W. Day said that he was a laborer and was working with the other two holding the wire. He had about seven years' experience. They had three turns around the post. He did not see Snyder when he met his death. He was not aware that the handle was off the winch. If we could have held the turns the handle would not have struck Snyder.

James Drake and Wellington Lord, foreman, also gave evidence similar to the others, after which Coroner Kenney briefly addressed the jury. At 11:15 the verdict was rendered.

On Sunday morning last the body of Sophie Hancy, one of the Italians who was drowned from a canoe while crossing from Pleasant Point to St. Andrews, nearly three months ago, was found on the beach almost in front of the home of his widow. Although badly decomposed it was easily identified by the clothing, and by letters which were found in the pockets. Two watches and $11 in money were found in the clothing. Corner Wade viewed the body and turned it over to the cemetery friends. On Sunday night it was taken over to Pleasant Point for burial. -Beacon.

One of the most disgraceful scenes for some time was witnessed in the centre walk of King Square last night. For about half an hour the actions of two youths and a young girl were witnessed by a number of persons. The boys were half drunk and the girl, who was attired in short dresses, seemed to like their company. About 10:30 o'clock the trio emerged from the darkest part of the old burying ground and took a seat on a bench on the centre walk of King Square between Sydney street and the fountain and for a half hour their actions were disgusting. The three then walked through the square and disappeared in an alley of Charlotte street.

Four of the inspectors have completed their tours. They have filed their reports with Secretary Burns. These owners will be summoned to attend the police court.

BUNDLE OF LAUNDRY WAS GIVEN TO WRONG MAN

Chinese Wash-Shop Proprietor Made a Mistake Which Cost Him $2.20.

In most cases with a Chinese laundryman it is, "No checks, no shirts," but in a civil suit this morning before Judge Ritchie the evidence in a laundry case showed that a slick young man and another "washer" without a "check." When the rightful owner of the shirts, collars and cuffs called for his laundry and presented his check, he was greeted with, "Don't want checks. 'Nother man get washes." There was considerable wrangling which resulted in the late suit. The plaintiff in the case was Murray Lewis and the defendant a stylishly dressed Chinese laundryman by the name of Sing Kee.

Mr. Lewis submitted a bill as follows: Two shirts at $1.50 each; five pairs of cuffs, $1.25; and one collar at 20 cents, making a total of $4.45. The plaintiff claimed that he left the amount of laundry with Sing Kee and when he returned for his wash on Monday last the Chinese said that another man had called, described the laundry, said he had lost his check, and was given the shirts and collars, but not the cuffs. Lewis demanded his laundry and produced the check, but getting no satisfaction from the Chinese he sought justice from the court.

Sing Kee admitted in the court that the check by Lewis was for the laundry, but another man had claimed the laundry and went away with it. While the five pair of cuffs were there all right he did not understand why he should pay for the shirts and collar.

The judge called on Constable Thomas to act as arbitrator and with the plaintiff and defendant before him the constable managed to convince the Chinik that he had made a mistake and that the plaintiff Lewis was the injured party.

It took about a quarter of an hour for the arbitrator to persuade the Chinese to give Lewis his five pairs of cuffs and pay him two dollars and twenty cents for the two shirts and collar. This was finally done and the case was settled.

Go Slow
If an accident should make necessary the amputation of your right hand you would submit to the operation only after the most expert advice procurable. Now a tooth is a much quieter thing than a good right hand, but the part it plays in the economy of health is great. The proper performance of its office means strength of that right hand and health for the whole body. Get the best advice before you submit to the extraction of a tooth. Take the easy, modern, painless Hale Method when you have it extracted.
