Indian Swam for Nine Hours

With his daughter and her baby in his arms, Chief Charles James Squamish, an Indian, performed the remarkable feat of swimming for nine hours in the Gulf of Georgia last night. From 3 o'clock in the afternoon until midnight he held them, one by either arm, but by the time he reached shore at Point Grey, just west of Vancouver, both the young woman and her child succumbed.

Take off your coat

Don't be afraid of killing yourself with overwork, my son. Men seldom work so hard as this on the sunny side of thirty. They die sometimes, but it is because they quit work at six a.m., and don't get home until two a.m. It's the intervals that kill, my son. The work gives you appetite for your meals, it lends solidity to your slumber, it gives you a perfect and grateful appreciation of a holiday.

Odd Things Women are Doing

When Mary Magguffin of West Pittston, Pa., said she was 38, the clerk told her he could not give her a marriage license. Miss Elizabeth J. Roose, of St. Louis, has stipulated with her destined husband that her property, present and prospective, shall remain hers.

THE SEA SERPENT

Two Calais men and one from Boston became intimately acquainted with the Champlain sea serpent last Sunday. Edward Carver was at his cottage at DeMonto and with him were Henry Gillespie and a Boston man. The serpent was seen playing around a buoy near the Canadian shore and the trio put out to sea to investigate, carrying a loaded rifle stowed in the bow of the boat.

A High Price for Hake Sounds

What is said to be, with but one exception, the highest price for hake sounds ever received on Digby Neck and the island was reached last Wednesday when they sold for 99 1/2 cents per pound. Thirty cents was the regular market price up to Tuesday but on Wednesday the presence of three buyers in Tiverton started an upward movement, until the price reached 99 1/2 cents which was offered by the local buyer.

GREETINGS PUBLISHING COMPANY
WEDNESDAY, SEPT. 11, 1907

The portfolio of Minister of Railways and Canals has been filled by the appointment of Mr. Geo. P. Graham of Ontario. Mr. Graham is an anti-Unionist, and no doubt has the qualifications for a successful Minister or he would not have been appointed to such an important position.

As for ourselves we see no reason why Hon. Mr. Emmerson should not have recalled to the position, which he vacated until he had disproved the charges made against him. While the final settlement of the suit now in court cannot be reached until the decision of the judges has been given, we hold that Mr. Emmerson succeeded in placing before the public in the preliminary examination sufficient evidence to disprove the charges made against him, he should therefore have been reappointed to the position he so ably filled. Jealousy and slander have robbed the Dominion of the services of the strongest man in his department ever occupying the position of Minister of Railways and Canals. He took it when it was almost a forlorn hope and brought the J. C. R. up to a paying investment for the Dominion. He was master of the situation, so that his administration was above criticism. He evidently had a finer grasp of railway affairs than any other man in Canada.

We know nothing of his successor Mr. Graham, but at this important time when the question of transportation is such an important one in the development of our country, it seems to us that the Premier has taken upon himself a grave responsibility in setting aside such a man as Hon. Mr. Emmerson and placing in his stead a man who is yet to be known as a railway expert.

We will watch the movements of the new Minister with interest, and for our country's sake we wish him success in his department.

In the Hague Conference we have something that has never before been witnessed in the history of the world. For the first and only time every civilized country of the globe is represented under one roof.

This Congress of 239 envoys, representing 47 powers may not be very imposing but is of immense significance.

As yet little of practical import seems to have been done, but progress is being made along some definite lines and even if no more be achieved, we have two steps taken which are along the line for which the conference has been called, and will tend to lasting place, they are the declaration in plenary session in favor of resuming the serious study of the limitation of military expenditure, and the presentation of the proposal to establish a permanent court of arbitration. Disarmament and arbitration would assure the world's peace. If the representatives of the nations are not careful they will have some part in bringing about the fulfillment of the prophecy of the ancient seer, "and they shall beat their swords into ploughshares, and their spears into pruning-forks; nation shall not lift up sword against nation, neither shall they learn war any more."

The Joy of Home

Home is the source of exquisite blessing. There is nothing more attractive, refining and uplifting than its simple joys and fireside pleasures. The world has pleasures, gay and bright, but nothing exceeds the joy of home and bliss of our own fireside. It is the place of gladness where burns the firelight bright. We cross the door sill and enter its threshold to find the garden of paradise. We cannot be indifferent to the sweet attractions, simple pleasures, pleasant conversation and sweet songs of the family circle. None are more bright, more pure and more noble like the love of highest heaven. It is more like heaven than any spot on earth.

Some one has said, "It is a special creation of Christianity." There is no other spot on earth so dear. How many long for its quiet and repose. "I long to see home," feels the sailor lad as he climbs the mast amid the storms on the ocean wave. "I am going home," shouts the school boy when the day's studies are over. "I must hurry home," feels the son a mother as she passes along the crowded street thinking of the one who needs her watchful care.

"'Tis sweet to hear the watch dog's loudest bark; Bay deep-mouthed welcome as we draw near home."

"'Tis sweet to know there is an eye will mark Our coming, and look brighter when we come."

Don't Wobble

There is one sort of man that there is no place in the universe, and that is the wobbler—the man on the fence, who never knows where he stands, and who is always slipping about, dreaming, apologeting, never daring to take a firm stand on anything. Everybody despises him. He is a weakling. Better a thousand times have the reputation of being eccentric, peculiar and cranky even, than never to stand for anything.

Saturday evening Arthur Morris and a young lady while driving from Pennfield, in a rig owned by S. Boyd & Sons, had a narrow escape from serious injury. Communication Ever since that piece about lickings in schools was printed in Greetings I have been going to write you about it, but I have been so busy saying "I'll get around to it, and it is no easy matter for me to write either, for I am not one of the natural spellers you read about, and my wife has to look up words in the dictionary while I write. But I do like your paper and I generally like the mail on the head, pretty slick too, but I have just got to take exceptions to the lickings being good for the children. Gosh, darn it, I don't think they are so mighty good for the youngsters but I do think they do the teachers an awful lot of good. Say, to lick a kid when you get mad is just as good for what ails you as Peruna or Pink Pills. I have lived nigh on to sixty years and never once did I see a man or woman lick a young one without a cussed lot of old Adam showing out of their eyes. My wife was one of them high strung women that would slam a door so hard the dishes would rattle every time she got mad, but after the kids got big enough to bang the doors got a rest and she got over her nervous spells. There are lots of others would tell you the same if they dared. Mr. Editor, like that Roosevelt fellow, I like a square deal and I think it would be squarer for a man or woman to like some one their own size when they want to scrap. It looks mean to take a little shaver, and he is cripplingly to know that he is not beneficiary in the deal. Bless his little heart, he knows who that licking is good for. I would like to have some man or woman come right out and say that they had licked a child without their angry passions rising, for I would like to know for sure who is the biggest liar in St. George.

HAIR PLAY

THE PITH OF OPINION

The increased number of visitors this summer is evidence of the growing popularity of the town as a summer resort.

We would respectfully submit to the business men of the town the organization of a Board of Trade. It would do much toward the development of the town, and could probably solve the problem of a new hotel.

Another street management is often times responsible for serious consequences.

October days will soon be here. It is the month of exhilarating air, brilliant foliage and when game matures, and is worthy of the quest. It is surprising how far and how sturdily one can tramp on an October day. More good shooting stories begin. "Once in Oct. 19—" than with reference to all of the other eleven months of the year put together.

Putting down a sidewalk where the people don't want it, is a matter for righteous indignation. The battle of street improvement's promises to be hot not to say pungent.

The aldermen find the criticism of the people increasing more rapidly than their compensation. This form of appreciation, for services rendered, seems to be epidemic.

Ordinary streets will continue to be the correct thing in "South Boston."

Never mind, Ald. Gillmor, go on asking for improvements. The discussion at the last meeting of the Council was wholesome, and clearly demonstrated that obliquity, in some localities, may be productive of good in others—perhaps a sidewalk on Wetmore's Hill.

TOWN COUNCIL

The regular monthly meeting of the Town Council was held Monday night. In the absence of the Mayor, Ald. Dewar was in the chair, and the following aldermen were present:—Messrs. Grant, Johnson, Craig, Bogue, Murphy, Goodill and Gillmor.

The minutes of last meeting, and of special meeting, were read and approved. The following bills were referred to the Finance Com., who recommended payment:—

F. Cavley	4.00
Greetings Pub. Co.	1.50
James S. McKay	6.00
Special police, Aug. 3th	6.00

The Marshall's salary was also recommended for payment.

Tenders for Town Hall were opened and on motion of Ald. Craig the tender of Isaih Newman was accepted at $965.00, subject to an agreement with the Mayor and Building Com. as to time of completion.

It was moved by Ald. Goodill, seconded by Ald. Grant, that an arbitrator be appointed, satisfactory to the Contractor and Building Com. On motion of Ald. Johnson the same Building Com. will continue to act.—Mayor Lawrence, Ald. Bogue, Craig, Grant and Goodill.

Memo. of agreement with H. McGrattan & Sons for furnishing granite curbing, delivered as directed by Street Com., was approved.

Ald. Craig and Murphy said that all contracts entered into by the street, or any Com. should be with the consent and approval of the Council. There was considerable discussion over this and at times the debate was interesting. Ald. Gillmor contributed to the discussion and said if the Street Com. decided to build sidewalks, they should go ahead and do so, regardless of objections from any one. Referring to the sidewalk in "South Boston," which had been put down and taken up, he opposed the idea of making improvements where not required, and said the condition of the street from Doyle's corner to J. S. Clark's was disgraceful. If sidewalks were to be built there was a grand chance here, and he felt safe in saying there would be no opposition from residents in that locality. In reply to a question from Ald. Gillmor, Ald. Grant said no objection had been made to stone curbing along Main Street, so far as he knew.

Moved by Ald. Grant that the street com. be authorized by the Council to proceed with the work on Main street, and finish it as they thought best—carried.

On motion of Ald. Johnson, Wm. Garnett was relieved of his road tax this year.

The Street Commissioner was instructed to furnish the Council with figures of persons who had tapped the sewers.—Adjourned.
