PARLIAMENT OPENS WITH GREAT POMP

enabling the dominion to co-operate with the provinces in the accomplishment of this desirable object.
It is essential to recognize that in a country possessing so great an area of fertile land as this, the development of the industry is happily endeavored with the greatest industry. My advisers are convinced that the time has come when greater aid and encouragement should be given to those who are engaged in the cultivation of the land. To this end a measure will be introduced under which it is hoped that there may be co-operation between the dominion and the various provinces, for the purpose of assisting and encouraging our farmers to secure the best results in production and, at the same time, preserve the fertility of the soil.
A measure will be introduced relating to consolidating the acts relating to the inspection of grain and the providing the means by which the government can secure through a commission, the control and operation of the terminal elevators upon the great lakes.
A bill will be introduced to establish a permanent tariff commission whose duty it shall be to ascertain, by investigation and inquiry, such information as will furnish a more stable and satisfactory basis for tariff legislation than has heretofore been available.
Bills will also be laid before you with respect to the department of external affairs, the archives and other subjects. The selection of the best route for the Hudson Bay railway, and an announcement will be made to you of the result of their inquiry.
Gentlemen of the house of commons—The accounts of the last year will be laid before you.
The balance of the estimates for the current fiscal year as well as the estimates for the coming year, will be submitted for your approval at an early date.
Hon. gentlemen of the senate:
I commend the subjects which I have mentioned, to your best consideration and trust your deliberations, under the blessings of divine Providence, may tend to the welfare and good government of this dominion.
On returning to the commons, Hon. Mr. Borden formally moved the appointment of the select committee to strike the standing committee. In so doing he threw out the suggestion that the business of the house would be benefited by their numerical decrease. Sir Wilfrid Laurier approved the suggestion and urged that it be borne in mind by the committee in their deliberations.
On motion of the premier, Hon. Messrs. Monk, Reid, Parley, Rodie and the speaker were appointed as a committee on external economy, and the house adjourned till Monday when the debate upon the address from the throne will be taken up.
Following the adjournment, Hon. T. S. Sproule, the speaker, entertained the members and their ladies and friends in the speaker's chambers.

FLEMING AFTER CEMENT MERGER

Sir Sandford Insists That Borden Government Probe Deeply
Special to The Telegraph.
Ottawa, Nov. 20.—The debate on the address was started today, and started with a fight. Sir Wilfrid Laurier followed up the declaration of war which he made on the election of the speaker Wednesday, with a frontal attack today, and drove it home with a vigor and keenness which surprised friends and opponents alike. The galleries were crowded with people who had almost approaching battle, and they were not disappointed.
Mr. Bennett, of Dorchester (Que.), speaking in French, made an address which was far more loyal than some he is credited with having made on the platform. He was disappointed, however, that Sir Wilfrid Laurier dealt with the reciprocity agreement and its defeat, with the absence of a Conservative naval policy and with the presence in the Borden government of Toronto Imperialists and Quebec Nationalists who had denounced imperialism throughout the campaign. He concluded with a want of confidence motion.
Mr. Borden was more vigorous than usual. He said that he had not formed his cabinet for the purpose of pleasing Sir Wilfrid Laurier, and was not surprised that he was disappointed. He stated that the Laurier naval programme would be dropped, and that there would be substituted for it a well considered scheme, after consultation with the navy department, and that the plan was prepared to be submitted to the Canadian people for their ratification.
Ovation to Sir Wilfrid.
Sir Wilfrid Laurier received a remarkable ovation from his followers when he began to speak. For several minutes applause was continued until the Liberal chief minister raised his hand eventually to secure a cessation.
Sir Wilfrid expressed the delight of all Canadians, at the fact that their royal highnesses had come to represent the crown in Canada. They had already won Canadian hearts by their simplicity of manner, their deep love of maintaining British connection never intended to preserve it by admitting British products into the markets of Canada on more equal terms.
"Our British friends will learn, by and by, that if they are to reach the goal of their ambition they will have to come to the aid of the party who first introduced the British preference."
Won on False Pretences.
"Thus," continued Sir Wilfrid, "I make bold to say that the recent elections were carried under false pretences. I know there are men on the other side of the house who imagined that in rejecting the Laurier programme they were doing a great service to Britain, they have done an injury to Britain and to the British Empire."
"We, sir, are in a state of transition. The old civilization is passing away and a new civilization is coming. The period of conquest, of domination and of aggression, is passing away. We have as far as regards the general configuration of the world, the conflict of Italy and Turkey, of France and Germany in Morocco, in the new condition of the future—a condition not of war but of peace—the friendship of the United States would be the best asset that England could possess."
"I do not believe that any Canadian was influenced by hostility to the American people, but I regret that the language of certain newspapers and public men during the campaign was not such as to promote the friendliest relations with the neighboring republic."
"The American people can find no fault with us if we took the attitude of rejecting the reciprocity convention. It was our right and privilege. Nevertheless, I believe we have lost an opportunity, both an opportunity of trade and an opportunity of increasing the friendship of the Canadian and the American people."
Arbitration Treaty in Danger.
Sir Wilfrid went on to quote the New York Times, a very conservative publication, in which it was intimated that the first instance, chiefly from the West, ing when he pointed out that the first duty of the christian church in New Brunswick was to aid the material development of this province.

"Here we have been one hundred years," he said, "and our population is poor and sparse, our villages mean and unattractive, our resources neglected, our magnificent water powers not utilized while steadily the tide of immigration flows past our doors."
His lordship also made a strong plea that the manhood and character, inherited from loyal ancestors should not be sullied by the spectre of political corruption, the weakening of the marriage tie or the growing indifference to the word of God.
"I hope one result of this convention will be," he said, "that in some form or other, the bible will be taught in our public schools. I appreciate the difficulties of this very thoroughly and realize the only way is for Non-Roman churches to get together, decide what they want, then go to the government and get it."
Powerful addresses were also given at the two sessions by Rev. Canon Gould on the Central Place of Missions in the Life of the Church and by Sir Andrew Fraser, B. C. E. L., on The Unfinished Task in Non-Christian Lands, the speaker testifying to the good work done by the missionaries in India and the necessity of completing the task.
Students Here.
Among the 800 registered at the convention yesterday were five students representing the Y. M. C. A. of the U. N. B. as follows: Gilbert Princes, J. M. Nasson, Carl Oulton, Emerson Rice and J. J. Andrews.
Another college delegation is expected from Mount Allison today. Messengers of greeting were received yesterday from the executive of the Hamilton convention, one of the most successful held, and from the committees at Halifax and Sydney, which are to have conventions within the next week.
The formally registered commissioners occupied the body of the church last evening, but the galleries were nearly empty and the committee wish to have it known that all men are welcome to attend from the city or province, whether or not they have paid any fees.
A choir was organized last evening from the delegates and will sing at the evening meetings during the convention. C. A. Munro assisted last evening with a solo.
Afternoon Session.
When the convention opened in the afternoon the body of the church was well filled, a remarkably good showing for the opening session. T. H. Bullock presided and those on the platform included Rev. Canon Gould, the speaker of the afternoon, Rev. C. R. Flanders, D. D., chairman of the executive committee, H. K. Caskey and Rev. J. T. Tucker.
After the devotional exercises, the chair-

SPENCER TRIAL NEARING A CLOSE

Alienist Concludes He Was "Mentally Responsible" at Time of Tragedy
FATHER TESTIFIES
Tells of Punishing Boy in Various Ways Since He Was a Year Old—Says He Was Incurable and He Was Afraid of Him at Times.
Canadian Press.
Springfield, Mass., Nov. 20.—"In my opinion Bertrand G. Spencer was mentally responsible at the time he murdered Miss Martha B. Blackstone," was the testimony given late today in Spencer's trial by Dr. John A. Houston, superintendent of the State Insane Hospital at Northampton, called by the defence as an alienist, and immediately qualified by the declaration that he used the words "mentally responsible" in a medical sense and that he did not consider Spencer to have been necessarily legally responsible.
Spencer's mother was recalled briefly today and, together with a man whom Spencer had robbed, told of some of the troubling articles which had been stolen.
A deposition from Dr. N. L. Drake, of Little Falls (N. Y.), introduced today, told of Spencer's attempt at suicide.
In another deposition from Mrs. Anita A. Marchant, of Oakland (Cal.), wife of a cousin of Spencer, alleged "queer" acts of Spencer when he was living in Oakland in 1904 and 1905, were described.
Dr. Henry La Motte, of Seattle (Wash.), testified that he had observed under observation for a time when the defendant was the master of the ship, the "Mansfield" (R. I.). The boy, he said, had been acting strangely.
Spencer's Father Testifies.
In an effort to prevent his son, Bertrand G. Spencer, from being sent to the electric chair for the murder of Miss Martha B. Blackstone William L. Spencer, of Little Falls (N. Y.), Saturday, told the stand for the defence and testified that he had repeatedly beaten his son and had often threatened to shoot and behead him. It was a remarkable bit of testimony that the prisoner's father advanced.
From the time the boy was a year old until he grew to manhood the father received guests in the boy's life, telling of passionate outbursts, during which the boy swore and made attempts to assault him and other persons, and of peculiar attacks of frenzy. The father was under direct examination about an hour, and the district attorney used only a few minutes in cross-examination.
The prisoner made only one outburst, and that not a violent one, this morning. It came when Joseph, Steadman, of Little Falls, was testifying about the prisoner's actions when he was a boy. Steadman had told about attacks made on school children in Lebanon, and described his appearance as furious, wild, ferocious. District Attorney Callahan brought from the witness the statement that he had left Lebanon as a permanent resident place in 1884 or 1885.
"Then this boy whom you declare as having such a ferocious expression on his face was then no less than three or more than five years old when you saw him running about that play field?" the district attorney demanded.
The witness attempted to argue with the district attorney, but Mr. Callahan pinned him to the question. When Mr. Callahan was grilling Steadman a haunted, desperate look came into the prisoner's eyes and he struggled to escape. "I have," he said, "grasped him by the arm and shoulder and Spencer's wife put her hand through the bars to hold his other hand."
"Now he makes me so mad," Spencer mumbled when Mr. Callahan was questioning Steadman about the youth of the prisoner as the witness said he saw him playing in Lebanon.
When his wife tried to hold his hand he snatched it away from her and put it against his face.
"Let me alone!" he growled snappily, and fell back uttering incoherently.
When the father was testifying he made no demonstration, however. There were times when he appeared to be weeping, and his mother and sister cried as the father told of the beatings he gave the prisoner in his attempt to keep him in the paths of righteousness. The father testified that some of his antecedents were of mixed blood, and were of the race of the Indian, and he said that he did not feel very good himself. His testimony regarding the beatings he gave the prisoner was unimpaired, for Mrs. Spencer, the prisoner's mother, previously had told of them.

STEEL COMPANY TO ENLARGE PLANT

CHINESE QUEEN MOTHER ELOPES

Important Meeting at Montreal
New Scheme of Financing Extensions Approved by Directors
Will Issue Preferred Stock and Retain Bonds in the Treasury—Plan 20 Collieries Instead of 14 as at Present—Hope to Get Capital Abroad.
Canadian Press.
Montreal, Nov. 20.—One of the most important meetings ever held by the directors of the Dominion Steel Corporation was held this afternoon at the Bank of Commerce. The president, J. H. Plummer, occupied the chair, and the directors present were: Sir William Mackenzie, Sir Montague Allan, William McMaster, George Caverhill, Sir Henry Pellatt, Senator Cox, Senator MacKeen, W. G. Ross, Mark Workman, E. R. Wood, Colonel Mason, Senator MacKay, Senator Dandurand, J. R. Wilson, W. D. Matthews, F. L. Wanklyn.
After the meeting the following official statement was given out:
"The chief subject considered by the board of the Steel Corporation today was the recommendation of the president, that the Steel Corporation should not continue to provide for the expenditure on its new plant by the sale of the bonds, which were authorized in 1906, but that the capital should be obtained by the issue of preferred stock of the corporation."
"The steel company has also secured an important extension, which will increase its fourteen producing collieries to twenty, and require greater facilities for transportation, etc. The capital required by that company can also be best obtained through the corporation."
"The advantage of the mode of financing is that it avoids the decrease of fixed charges and leaves the Steel Company with a large reserve of unissued bonds of established market value. No change in its was done with regard to making the issue, but the board decided that, under proper conditions, this would be the wisest method of obtaining capital for the extension of the various plants. Its ultimate effect would be to interest people in London, and probably in Paris also, in the stocks of the corporation, and it would benefit the present holders."
"The company has been asked to give certain rights as to common stock in connection with the sale of the new preferred stock of the corporation, and it is not unlikely that this may lead to considerable investment in the common stock abroad. In any case, it is the interests of the common stock holders which the board have in mind. The whole object of the policy of extension, which is being vigorously pursued, is to increase output, decrease cost, and enlarge profits. The benefit of such a policy, instead of interest on the new capital, necessarily accrues to the common stock holder."
"Whether it is better to get the capital needed to extend the works by continuing to sell bonds, or to initiate a finance policy which will serve for future growth, as well as for present needs, and make those who supply the capital partners, instead of creditors is purely a question of judgment. The object is to get capital for the new works on the most favorable terms."
"The new policy is most strongly supported by those who have the largest interest in the common stock, and was adopted by the board without a dissenting voice."

WIFE OF PRINCE REGENT NOW LIVING IN MUKDEN WITH HER "AFFINITY"—TOOK A FORTUNE IN JEWELS WITH HER.

San Francisco, Cal., Nov. 20.—Princess Lai, mother of the baby emperor of China and wife of the prince regent, has eloped with an actor, Yung Shu Lu, according to Chinese newspapers received today. A number of newspapers published in China refer to the "disgrace" that has come to the royal family, but only "one, the 'Min Li Po,' the largest newspaper published in China, gives the princess' name and an account of the elopement."
The mother of the emperor, the paper says, fell in love with the actor and corresponded with him for some time before the rebellion began.
The paper draws the conclusion that the princess believes that the Manchus came to power and decided to flee. The princess is said to have taken a fortune in jewels with her and to be living with Yung in Mukden.
An actor and a barber are classed with the lowest of castes in China, and Chinese here said today that the elopement of the princess was the greatest disgrace that could come to the Manchus Dynasty.

HOW THEY TARRIED THE TEACHER

Culprit in Kansas Outrage Admits His Complicity
Lonely Woman Was Denegated to Lonely Spot, Dragged from Carriage, Disrobed and the "Tar Party" Wreaked Their Vengeance.
Canadian Press.
Lincoln Centre, Kansas, Nov. 20.—How the Shady Bent "Tar Party" met at the mill of E. G. Clark, one of the wealthiest citizens of the community, and arranged the details of the plot to tar Miss Mary Chamberlain, the school teacher whose experience at the hands of a band of men and boys last August aroused all Kansas, was told on the witness stand by Chester Anderson, one of the "Tar Party," at the beginning of the trial today.
The three men on trial were Sherill Clark, brother of E. G. Clark, the merry who pleaded guilty, and John Schmidt and A. N. Simms, farmers.
Anderson testified that they were not members of the band who actually "spread the tar," as they came to the rendezvous on foot and were unable to keep up with the others who rode motor cycles.
County Attorney McClesland made the opening statement for the prosecution. He told how the plot was laid in Shady Bend Aug. 7; how Edward Rice, the Beverly barber, was hired to take Miss Chamberlain out in a buggy, on the pretence of escorting her to a country dance, and then to deliver her over to the men with the tar hidden behind the fence. He told how Chester Anderson and Delbert Kinderparker had played the highwaymen to the barber and the girl.
"They held up their buggy at the point of pistols," McClesland declared. "They took the young woman from the buggy and threw her to the ground; they tore off her clothing and while one poured the other rubbed the tar upon her naked body. All of the men were masks."
While the three men had not been at the actual "tarring," McClesland said, their own boast they were absent only because they were unable to keep pace with the motor cycles. They were equally to blame with the others, he said.

London, Nov. 1—Frank Magee, special photographic correspondent of the Daily Mirror, has just returned from Tripoli and gives the following account of his experiences of the fighting there last week: "I was a somewhat curious fact that I drove to the front in a cab, yet it is literally true, as the cab took me to the very trenches where the Italian soldiers were repulsing the Arab attacks."

The driver was an Arab, and he could have given points to a London cabbie. His legal fare was 5s. He demanded £2. He accepted 8s. "It was a three mile ride. I was on my way back to breakfast after a fruitless expedition to see a scouting aeroplane start. I heard firing, so my place was at the front."

Of Interest to Women

Tall, slender vases filled with flowers sometimes topple over with the unevenness of the water. This can be avoided by using a little of Priestley's. It is a good plan to use a teaspoonful of fine shot into the bottom of the vase before filling it. Pebbles will answer the purpose equally well.

Aluminum utensils, such as kettles, are becoming daily more popular on account of their light weight and cleanliness. They never become soiled with soda, soap and water being all that is required. A little powder and paraffin, and several washings will restore to its original brilliancy.

When light soap is used, it is difficult to get a simple remedy to pull out a few threads on either side of the neck. Two level tablespoonfuls of butter and two level tablespoonfuls of flour to a cup of liquid is the proper measure for thickening a sauce.

The Range Items

The Range, Nov. 15—Elton Barton, Boston, spent the last two weeks visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Barton.

Miss Susan Snell, accompanied by her son John, left on Thursday for the town, where she will visit her daughter, Mrs. Geo. Brown. Mr. Snell is employed in that place.

Miss Pearl Brancome is visiting friends in Chipman.

Rev. Edwin Smith, Chipman, will conduct service in Coal Branch Hall Sunday evening, Nov. 18.

Mr. and Mrs. Conrad McNamara are being congratulated on the arrival of a baby boy at their home.

Miss Brancome is going to Coal Branch, where he is employed with his uncle, J. R. Lunney, who is making preparations for another season's lumbering.

Every Woman Who Has Ever Worn A Priestley's Gown or Skirt

knows that thorough satisfaction she had out of every yard of Priestley's cloth.

Whether it was soft, delicately tinted Silk, Wool Cloth for house or evening wear—a fine Twill or Coating Serge—Priestley's "Craverette"—the service was equally satisfactory.

Ask your dealer to show you the new weaves and colors in "Priestley's" Gown, Suit and Skirt fabrics.

"Priestley's Limited" has every yard of the craverette.

White of egg poured over a burn will give quick relief.

Perfumery and toilet articles can be removed by rubbing with soap and laying the garments in the hot sun.

To soften the hands: After washing with soap and water, rub them with oatmeal.

When one dilicates the taste of bought salad dressing it can often be improved by adding sour cream.

Kerosene wick holders make excellent screens. First paint the top and lower part of the legs with enamel to match the wall paper. Then cover the remaining part with some pretty art muslin or silk and secure to the wall with dainty ribbons.

To clean a copper kettle which has been blackened by fire wash with soap and water, then make a paste of kum powder and paraffin, and several washings will restore to its original brilliancy.

INTERESTING AGRICULTURAL FEATURES FOR OUR COUNTRY READERS

STOCK FEEDING FARM HORSES

Conclusions Drawn from Investigation at Illinois Experiment Station.

- 1. Where a mixed grain ration of corn, oats, oil meal and bran is fed, clover hay is equally as efficient if not a little superior to timothy for horses at hard work.
2. There was no observable difference in the effect of clover and timothy upon the spirit of the horses or their ability to endure hot weather.
3. When clover is used as a horse feed the quality should be good and the quantity fed limited.
4. A slight saving in grain may be made by mixing it with timothy, but the saving in this test did not appear to be enough to justify the expense.
5. There may be a benefit not shown in weight of gain, but in the horse's health, by mingling the grain with timothy.
6. When the grain was ground and mingled with chaffed clover and with chaffed alfalfa, the latter proved to be a little more efficient in preventing loss in weight of horses at hard work.
7. The mixing of timothy with chaffed timothy hay did not prove satisfactory.
8. Where alfalfa hay is fed as the roughage part of a ration for farm horses at hard work, less grain is necessary to prevent them from losing weight than where timothy hay is fed.
9. Though too short to be conclusive, these tests indicate that mature horses at hard work can be maintained quite satisfactorily for a short time, at least, on corn fed in conjunction with alfalfa hay, and at a saving in cost.
10. A saving of about ten per cent may be made by grinding the grain for farm work horses when at hard labor.
11. It requires twice as long for horses to consume ground grain fed dry, as when the same quantity is fed through a feeder.
12. Farm work horses at hard labor should receive from one and one-half to two and one-third pounds of grain, and from one to one and one-fourth pounds of hay, per 100 pounds of live weight per day, in order that their weight may be maintained.
13. Satisfactory results have been secured by feeding the grain in three equal feedings, and giving one-half the hay at night, the other half being divided between the morning and noon feedings.
14. The grain feed should be reduced one-half on idle days until four days have elapsed, or until they are again put to work, when they may be again increased as desired.
15. The results of the experiment indicate that the general impression is correct, that horses may very properly be given a more bulky ration when idle or doing light work than when at heavy work.
16. It is believed that the practice of restricting work horses to corn themselves with hay is all too common.

BREEDING HEIFERS

If a heifer is to make the best dairy cow, she should freshen when she is from two years to thirty months old. Some dairymen are of the opinion that heifers do not make quite so good growth when milking is begun at an early age; however, they make surer breeders, and the milk flow is more enduring.
It is a high degree of fertility that is desired. Much of the heifer's future value depends upon her ability to give a large flow of milk throughout the entire period of her life.

THE SUCKING HEIFER

A common trouble in the dairy herd occurs when young heifers or cows are not properly suckled. This is especially true when the heifer is not properly suckled during the first few months of her life.

YOUNG CALVES

The size and growth of a cow depends very materially upon the care and attention given to her when she is a calf. It is a well known fact among live stock feeders that a stunted calf rarely, if ever, becomes a good cow.
The greatest mistake made by farmers is usually made when they are allowed to range in the fall until long after the time they should have been put up in the barn. It is a common error to raise and grow our calves at all, it certainly pays to keep them growing from the time they are dropped until they are old enough to breed.
Young or two-year-old calves can stand lack of feed far better than the younger ones, and the grain which a calf will eat during the first winter will do more good for it than any amount of grain it will eat during the next winter.

HORSE BLANKETS

There are horse blankets and horse blankets, all classes of horse and every kind of weather and condition in which to use them, but so often are horses forced to suffer through their use, or rather through their neglect.
The common practice of blanketing horses along in the fall, when their coat begins to come in, is to keep the animal in a warm state, and to keep the animal in a warm state, and to keep the animal in a warm state.

INJURY FROM RUSTY NAILS

Rusty nails protruding from old scraps of boards lying about the barnyard or farm buildings do not often cause injury to stock or cavaliers, but they are a source of trouble to the farmer.
A common trouble in the dairy herd occurs when young heifers or cows are not properly suckled. This is especially true when the heifer is not properly suckled during the first few months of her life.

SANITARY MILK PRODUCTION

The great problem in the production of sanitary milk is to exclude bacteria. It is commonly understood that the prevention of contamination of the milk by cow stables, milk utensils and the milk must be kept clean as possible.
In making cider, the apples are ground or crushed and the pulp reduced to a fine state of division, in order that the cells may give up the saccharine juice. This juice is called pomace, and the remaining pulp is called pomace.

FALL CARE OF ROSES

Bush roses should have a banking of earth placed around them toward the end of the month, or early in November before the frosts set in. The earth should be banked up in a conical form eight to ten inches high around the plant and patted down firmly with a spade, so as to pitch off the moisture.
The shape and setting of the hind limbs is very important in the horse intended for heavy work. It is poor policy to let the colts run with their mothers in the field or on the road.

FORCING RHUBARB

The forcing of rhubarb has been much practiced within the last few years. Special houses have been constructed for this purpose by many growers.
A family supply of rhubarb may be had by forcing the roots in the cellar. Dig the roots late in the fall and allow them to freeze before placing them in a frost-proof cellar. Bury them to a depth of four inches in moist earth. The plants should be kept in total darkness, and if the compartment in which they are growing is comparatively small, a lighted lantern kept in the bed will give best results.

DAIRY DAIRYING AND ORCHARDING

A Combination That Has Proved Successful in Annapolis Valley.
At no time in the history of our province have the prospects for these two industries been so bright as at the present. It is a well known fact among live stock feeders that a stunted calf rarely, if ever, becomes a good cow.

CURE OF COWPOX

Dairymen are frequently troubled with cowpox on the cow's teats in the fall of the year. It is a disease which frequently spreads from cow to cow and from herd to herd.
The herd was gradually increased until at present he is milking seventeen cows, the butter being made on the farm, and the milk being sold to the city. A large number of these animals are finished for market annually. Right here is where dairying fits into orcharding.

NIOBE COMMANDER HELD BLAMELESS

Sword Returned to Capt. MacDonald
Court Martial Honorably Acquitted the Accused Officer
Inquiry Was Held as Result of Request of Commander MacDonald to the British Admiralty—The Squadron Sailed for Bermuda.

Halifax, N. S., Nov. 18.—"Not proven and honorably acquitted." Such was the decision this afternoon of the court martial which tried Commander W. B. MacDonald of the Niobe, who was charged with negligently, or by default, stranding or causing to be stranded the cruiser Niobe off the Cape Sable ledge in July last.

The funeral of David Harris, an officer of the police force, who died on Wednesday, was held today. The pall bearers were Chief Police Officer Hughes, Officers Brown and Savoie, Chief of Fire Brigade Christie, and Messrs. Goss and Connell, representing the order of Foresters, of which the deceased was a member.

With the departure of the government tug Canada today, the shipping season of Campbellton is practically over. The steamer Canada has yet one run to make to Gaspe and intermediate points, and the dredge St. Lawrence will remain here and have repairs made during the winter. Up to Nov. 18 there cleared from here fifty ocean going vessels, representing an export of $2,500,000 of lumber, and 111 vessels for coastwise traffic with an export tonnage of 22,157 tons, a total for the season of 84,487 tons of lumber.

A distressing accident happened at the L. O. R. yards yesterday morning when a young man named Jeffrey Burke, aged 23, of Salmon Lake (P. Q.), was killed while engaged in shunting operations. It is thought he was knocked off the van by a disused switch, the train passing over his arm. He was taken to the hospital, where Dr. F. P. Smith amputated the limb.

It is felt in business circles here that the L. O. R. are greatly at fault in not providing lighting facilities on this part of the road, and at Victoria street crossing, which is really most dangerous at the present time.

The grand lodge of New Brunswick will be entertained by the local Masons next Thursday, when they will dedicate the new Masonic hall erected here on the site of the old building.

Commander MacDonald.
 In handing back his sword to Commander MacDonald, Captain Baker, who was president of the court martial, said it gave him great pleasure to do this. It came out in the defense of Commander MacDonald, in a document put in at the conclusion of the trial, that the court martial was the result of a request made by the commander himself. He handed in the following copy of a cablegram which he sent to the admiralty in London on October 19:

MONTREAL SHIP-ABANDONERS STRIKE

FARMERS NOW SORRY FOR IT
Kicking Themselves About Failure of Reciprocity, Dr. Currey Says

STEAMERS OFF ROUTE
Elaine Returned Saturday from Fredericton Without Landing Passengers or Freight on Account of the Ice Jam—Navigation Closing Early.

Monday, Nov. 20.—When the steamer Elaine returned from Fredericton Saturday morning with passengers and freight which could not be landed on account of ice jammed between the bridges, she made her last trip of the season, and will be laid up along with the Victoria and Hampton, and the other steamers of the St. John River Steamship Co., Ltd., which has taken all its boats off the route. This is much earlier than usual, as the Elaine was not laid up last year until Nov. 26, and the Majestic ran until the 28th, but Dr. Currey said last evening that his advice were that there was little prospect of getting through the ice jam, and having once disappointed passengers by bringing them back, he did not care to take chances again. The Elaine's freight was shipped to Fredericton by rail.

The Majestic, owned by the rival line, also returned on Saturday morning, having failed to get to her wharf at Fredericton, but she will leave again this morning, and will go up the river as long as the weather permits. The May Queen left for river on Saturday and got as far as Lower Janss, but will not attempt to go up into Grand Lake, and will return to the city today. There is no ice in the river, following Saturday's warm rain, but Fredericton so far as could be learned last night, and the steamers on the lower reaches of the river may continue to run for several days yet, although the closing of navigation is generally figured as commencing on the failure of steamers to reach Fredericton.

Asked last evening as to the business done during the last season, Dr. Currey said that it had been an average one, with the tourist traffic not quite so heavy as usual, owing to the large number who had taken the trip to the coronation instead of coming east. With regard to freight, the reviving of the scowping method of bringing down potatoes had cost the steamer boat men many thousands of dollars.

Dr. Currey said the steamboat men had failed the deficit of reciprocity very heavily. They had been looking forward to rating large quantities of farm and garden produce through to Boston, and many farmers who had themselves voted against the government were now counting their barrels of potatoes and turpins shipped through under the heavy duty. High prices for these products tempted reciprocity, but a large slice of the profit was taken off in the payment of duty.

"They were kicking about reciprocity," said Dr. Currey, "and now they are kicking themselves."

Mrs. Hebert's Marriage Will Be Declared Legal as a Result, and Her Child Legitimate.

Montreal, Que., Nov. 18.—As a result of the action of Eugene Hebert in withdrawing from the Hebert-Courtois marriage suit case yesterday afternoon, the principle at stake in the litigation will not be decided upon by the civil tribunal, involving the ne temere decree, unless new developments are forthcoming within a short time.

Lack of funds to finance his side of the proceedings is given by Hebert's attorney as the reason which forced him to withdraw his opposition to Dame Courtois's action in seeking to have the judgment annulling the marriage set aside. The parties are now in the same position as they were prior to the judgment by which the marriage was declared null in the eyes of the civil law. Hebert renounces the rights conferred upon him by that judgment though seeking to maintain his right to take recourse, if at any future time he desires to do so.

It is likely that when the case comes up on Monday, judgment will be rendered in default and the civil status of the marriage contracted before Rev. Mr. Timberlake established. As a result, though in the eyes of the civil law the woman will be regarded as the legal wife of Mr. Hebert and their child legitimate, in the eyes of the Catholic Church and of her co-religionists she will be held as unmarried.

Mrs. Melrose gave an address on the National Convention, which took place in Fort William, J. King Kelley, K. C., gave an address on Detention Homes for Children, and also on the Children's Protection Act.

Mrs. T. H. Bullock is to attend the executive of the National Convention of Women's Council to be held in Toronto on Nov. 22.

A weak solution of salt and water will brighten mittings.

SAYS IT MAY BE A SUBJECT OF INQUIRY. Capt. Smith of Schooner Willena Gertrude Accuses Light-house Crew of Negligence in Connection With Witch Hazel Tragedy—Tells of Difficulty in Saving Men.

Friday, Nov. 18. Bringing the news that the failure of the crew at the southwest breakwater light at New Haven to rescue Capt. Britt, Andrew Miller and Thomas Masten, of the schooner Witch Hazel, may be the subject of inquiry, Capt. W. H. Smith, of the three masted schooner Willena Gertrude, who succeeded in saving the lives of two of the crew, arrived at the light house at the city with his vessel, Thursday night. The schooner will discharge a cargo of coal here and will load again for the West Indies. Capt. Smith had been night for Parrabarro to recuperate, he having contracted a heavy cold in the brave rescue of the Miller brothers on Sunday night last. Captain Smith said yesterday that his vessel was safely anchored in the side of the breakwater on which the ill-fated Witch Hazel struck, and he could see the survivors struggling in the rigging. At the end of the breakwater not more than 100 yards from the schooner, is a light house with a keeper and assistant, always on watch and at this time, Captain Smith says a crew of six men had landed and were engaged in house during the storm with a yawl drawn up on the breakwater. Seeing that the life-saving crew were taking no action, Captain Smith sent his mate, Walter Elliott, the second mate, to set off from his vessel in a 15-foot boat lowered from the deck, as the large ship's boat was out of repair.

SYDNEY GIRL BURNED TO DEATH. THE CRITIC ON THE HEARTH.

Sydney, Nov. 17.—A shocking factory was the death of Miss Mary Ann Fraser, whose clothing caught fire, and before assistance reached she was so terribly burned that she died an hour later. The girl was about 12 years of age, an orphan, she was residing with the Gillies family at Aberdeen. The girl went to a neighbor's house to assist in the house work, while the woman of the house was absent. Her clothing caught fire at the kitchen stove. A similar accident occurred at Dominica a few days ago when the fourteen months old child of Mr. and Mrs. Angus McMillan was burned to death while its parents were absent. They put their tempers out of gear. Yet still pursue their riling way. Each to the other still is dear. But six months out of every year. They do it every day. Yet by so deadly sin they're racked. And need to such undying fire. Nay, they are proud of this one act. Which is the futile way, in fact. That each will poke the fire!
