Only a plunge, a quiver, a plash; A circling eddy, a little elash Of the troubled waves, and I'll be free From this cruel world and its misery. Here there is nothing for me but contempt; Nothing but scorr on my poor head is heaped. Clasp me so close in your kind arms, oh! sea! Bear my tired soul to eternity.

Out 'neath your waves I know there's a bed Softer than earth's for my own weary head, There are fair shells, and the sea-grass will twine, take. Every morning the birds, With mosses, shroud for this body of mine. awakened me with their songs, and The wild birds song will my requiem be,
As I lie 'neath your crystal depths, oh! sea!
Bright coral sprays I will have for my bier,

The Marquis of Lorne in Chatham. [From our Special Correspondent.]

About 11 o'clock on Monday night strains of music that the people of Chat-ham had seldom, if ever, heard before, began to stream in through their open casements. The music was the wild, sweet melody of the bag-pipe, and the tune the historic "The Campbells are Coming." Those who knew the Marquis never stirs abroad without the "Pipers o' the Mountains," easily guessed that the Druid, with the Governor, had arrived. Late as it was, the arrival preduced a stir in Chatham.

This morning the sun rose bright and strong, and through the town and in the places of industry in the suburbs, a selfsupplies than upon any active demand imposed holiday was generally observed. imposed holiday was generally observed.

The stores were open in Chatham, but the proprietors had put on their best attire, since they had "culled out the trade in the course of a very short time would become more profitable."

We have carefully looked into the matter and we challenge our opponmatter and we challenge our opponents to prove their assertious, and we defy them to do it; and until they do so it is cowardly to repeat these assertions at every corner of the streets, as some of them do daily. In the matter of ships' material we can appeal to Messrs. Chesley, Harris, Jones & Emery, Allans, Young, Smith, Wales, Lewis, Wills & Rubins, McAfee, McArie, McGarden, Toothache, Neuragia, Rheumatism, Cold Chills, Ague Chills, Chilblains, Emery, Wills & Rubins, McAfee, McArie, McAfee, McArie, McAfee, McArie, McAfee, McArie, and a host of others, who will Avity, and a host of others, who will not soon forget the insulting manner in which they and their manufactures have been treated in the columns of the Telegraph and other papers. In some cases prices may be higher, in consequence of the advance in the raw material of cotton, wool, iron, wood, etc., but the securing of the large market within ourselves enables the manufacturer to make a greater quantity than he did before, under the same rate of expense. He can afford to sell cheaper, and he does sell cheaper, even while paying higher wages to his work people, which he is doing.

A few drops in water will prevent sickness or pain from change of water. It is better than French Brandy or Bitters as a stimulant. Miners and Lumbermen should always be provided with it. er, even while paying higher wages to his work people, which he is doing. Competition among the manufac-turers keeps down prices, our own people being employed in our own workshops, instead of being forced away into the factories of other nations, and thus lost to us. A suggestive remark on this point was made at a meeting a short time since, where one of the speakers said that in three factories, where 180 hands were employed a year ago, there are now 570. Surely the baker, butcher, tailor, shoemaker, draper, grocer, landlord, parson, doctor, bookseller, printer, all are so much the better off with 570 to provide for than 180, and these, the statistics of three factories, might be greatly multiplied if the speaker had extended his sange of observation.

We are just entered upon this policy which has built up the United States and enabled that country to become the manufactory of fifty, millious of people at home and tens of millions abroad, with a prospect of becoming ultimately, with its cheap food, the manufactory of the world—a policy which her leading statesmen on all which her leading statesmen on all occasions aver will not be changed. They have learned that the working men in their stipyards, factories and machine shops are the bone and sinew of the nation, and that their labor must have fair protection; and we are learning from their example, and, as we stated before, without any cost to the consumer.

This same cry was got up in Toronic where the Globe charged that higher prices were being paid for stoves under the new policy. The largest stove manufacturer in Canada was visited, and here is the result. The price list of 1878 under the Grit tariff was placed against that of 1880 under the present tariff:—

THE HENRY F. MILLER PIANOS Now that the long evenings are approaching it is advisable that the children should be provided with useful recreation. The following Games are both instructive and Are used in the ublic Schools of Boston. THE HENRY MILLER PIANOS anusing, and are very fascinating.

The first two are quite an assistance to the School course, the first exercising the young in the correct spelling of words, the second teaching them to count quic and Are used in the State Normal Schools

THE HENRY F. MILLER PIANOS Are used to the exclusion of all others at the New England Conservatory of Music. THE HENRY F. MILLER PIANOS Are the favorites in the Concert Hall. CHAS. R. ADAMS, the world-renowned tenor, says: "They have no superior in America."

H. MAPLESON, the world-renowned concert and operatic manager, says: "Madame Roze and the other artists of my company are delighted with the Miller Piano." This Game is easily learned being accom-panied with concise directions; and in a short-time not only the young folks, but also the old folks are equally interested in it GEO. A. CONLY, world-renowned basso of the Strakosch Opera Company, says: "I cannot but praise very highly your very ex-MRS. E. ALINE OSGOOD, one of the most popular American Artists in Europe, says: "I consider the Miller Piano superior to all others."

THE HENRY F. MILLER PIANOS have exclusively received the most flattering notices in the musical criticisms of the Bos-

BGSTON JOURNAL: "Distinguished for purity and firmness of tone, and at same time for delicacy of touch and nicety." A first rate round game which is highly interesting and amusing. Price 60 cents. A few sets for sale at this office. BOSTON POST: 'Possessed depth of tone and marked resonant power. . . A valuable aid to other portions of the concert." THE HENRY F. MILLER PIANOS were the only ones, with one exception, which re-ceived two awards at World's Exhibition, 1876. Before purchasing any Piano the public are invited to make full enquiries as to this manufacture. On WEDNESDAY 16th inst., and every alternate Wednesday thereafter during the present season, the favorite Steamer Catalogues sent on application.
