SCHOONER LOST ON WAY TO GASPE

James A Gray Goes to Bottom with Cargo of Coal for Gaspe

HAD CLOSE CALL

North Sydney, Aug. 31.—A telegram received by Joseph Salter Sons
report the loss of the schooner Jas.
A. Gray, owned by Mr. Cruickshanks, of Sydney. The vessel left here several days ago bound for Gaspe, Que., and had on board a cargo of coal from the Scotia Company. Off the Magdalen Islands
she sprang a leak, and so quickly did she go to the bottom that the captain and crew had barely time to escape with their lives. Capt. Mc-Innis with his men rowed to Amherst Island, from which place he sent word of the disaster. The Gray had something of a hard streak of luck during the past year, having been pined up all winter on the shore near International Pier, and later met a similar fate this spring. Later she was towed over to this side of the water and for several weeks was on the marine railway undergoing repairs. Then she took a charter for coal to the Quebec town,
and on the way Monday met with disaster. The cargo was insured, but it is understood Capt. Cruickshanks was not protected.

RUSSIANS CHEERED KING OF ENGLAND

Band Played British National
as Crimean Relic Was Retained.

An interesting ceremony took place at Arkangle, Russia, on August 12, when the church bell taken by a British naval force from the famous Solovetzi monastery during the war of 1854 was formally returned. The bell had been brought from England in the steamer Kennet, and on the landing stage to which she was moored were assembled the civil and military authorities, the foreign Consuls, and Commander Grenfell,
the British Naval Attaché in St.
Petersburg.

The document attesting the handing over the bell was signed by Commander Grenfell and M.
Brautshansoff, the Governor, who after receiving the bell, proposed the health of King George, saying that the return of the bell was a mark of the mutual friendship and sympathy existing between Great Britain and Russia. He called for cheers for the King, which were given with enthusiasm, while the band played the British National Anthem. Commander Grenfell then drank to the health of the Czar, and expressed the hope that with to-day's ceremony past events might be consigned to oblivion.

This was the signal for another outburst of enthusiastic cheering, and the Russian National Anthem was played.

SCHOOL BOOKS COM- PLAINTS LOOKED INTO

A number of complaints having been registered at different times regarding the inability of parents to secure school books, Mr. D.
A. Stewart took up the matter himself with the department, who claim it to be entirely the fault of the vendors. The following is a copy of the letter received from the department.

School Book Room
Fredericton, N. B. Aug. 31st 1912.
D. A. Stewart, Esq., M. L. A.,
Campbellton, N. B.

Dear Sir:—
In reply to your favor of August 30th, I would say that McKenzie & Trueman's order although received at a very late date, went forward by freight this morning.

I received a telegram last night from a Mr.
Carr, stating that the schools were hung up for want of books. I find it hard to educate the vendors to the necessity of sending in their orders in proper time. Notwithstanding the fact that I sent out over 300 circular letters to the vendors on the 20th May, asking them to send in their orders early, less than 100 complied with my request. The result has been that from one week previous to the school opening to the present time nearly 130 orders have come in and I have had to increase my staff of help in order to give them quick dispatch, whereas had they been sent in early, my ordinary help would have been sufficient.

Yours respectfully,
A. D. THOMAS.

RECORD FOR CUSTOMS

Third Time This Year Previous Figures Eclipsed.

All previous records have been eclipsed by the Customs returns for the port of Montreal during the month of August, 1912. Last March was a record month for the port, but it was beaten when the returns for July were published and these returns have again been surpassed by those for the past month.

The total amount of revenue for August was $2,318,871.76, as against $1,656,858.47 for August, 1911, an increase of $662,008.29, and an increase also of $67,213.14 over the returns for the previous record month of July, 1912.

Few, if any, medicines have met with the uniform success that has attended the use of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. The remarkable cures of colic and diarrhoea which it has effected in almost every neighborhood have given it a wide reputation.

FROM AUTOMOBILE TOUR

S. W. Dimock and Party have Enjoyable Run Through
New Brunswick

GOOD TRIP

Mr. S. W. Dimock and party returned last Wednesday from an extended tour through New Brus-wick and Nova Scotia. The tour occupied 22 days and over 1400 miles was covered. Starting on the 7th of August they made Bathurst
and next day went on to Caraquet, Tracadie and Chatham. The going was very heavy, the roads being rough and muddy, two places about 25 miles east of Chatham being almost impassable. Since returning however Mr. Dimock is pleased to say that a rumor has reached him of the government intention to provide block and tackle at these two points to lift the cars over the bad spots. Richibucto was the next calling place, then Rexton and Buctouche, passing through Shediac and on to Moncton. From Moncton to Dorchester, Sackville and Amherst good roads dry and clear of mud were the rule. Springhill was next reached then River Philip, over the Westchester mountains to Londonderry, the mountain road being the only rough part of the journey. The run to Truro was over splendid roads and a trip was made across the Schubenacadie river in a small gasoline ferry to South Maitland thence on to Windsor where the roads were rough and dirty. From Windsor the route lay along the famous Annapolis valley
touching at Wolfville, Evangeline,
Grand Preau, Kentville, Middleton,
Annapolis, Bear River and then Digby, where the roads were in splendid condition. An interesting feature of the tour was the fact that all the towns from Windsor on were in gala attire for the visit of the Duke of Connaught, and in Digby
the party saw the presentation of the address of welcome. A sixty-eight mile run from Digby to Yarmouth was then made on perfect roads, and was considered the best bit of the whole tour. After spending Sunday at the Grand one of the summer resorts of Yarmouth the party returned to Digby and crossed the bay to St. John. From St.
John the route lay along the valley of the River St. John to Fredericton, where the party were once more able to participate in the festivities
attendant on the Duke's visit.
Stanley was the next point touched then Boistown, Doaktown and Newcastle. The route home was then as the outward journey via Chatham and Bathurst, the party which included Mrs. Dimock, Mrs. A. E.
Alexander and Miss Edna Alexander arriving in town on Wednesday
well pleased with their trip.

The run was made in an E. M. F.
30 1912 better known in other states as the "Studebaker". The car behaved splendidly all the way and notwithstanding the heavy going in places arrived back in town in perfect condition.
Seen by our reporter after his return Mr. Dimock stated that out of all the places visited he could not find one moving picture show with the exception of the Nickel in St.
John to come up to our own Opera House, and is convinced that in all the Maritime Provinces there are many worse places than Campbellton.

PRISON REFORM

The Parole System and the Education of Criminals Working Out Well

Mr. W. P. Archibald, Dominion parole officer, in an address on Prison Reform said that there were crimes whose very enormity and atrocity made it an impossibility for man to do other than wreak vengeance upon the criminal. If a crime was atrocious enough man will not forgive; from God alone was there any hope of forgiveness.

Students of criminology, he continued, said, "Once a criminal, always a criminal." This, averred Mr. Archibald, was not so. The criminal mind could be reclaimed by communiting with its Maker. Illustrating this, he cited an instance of an old man, murderer, who had been spared the agony of hanging fears and the reproaches of a guilty conscience when he believed that God had pardoned him and answered his prayers.

The speaker then stated that there were 1,500 men in the penitentiaries and jails of Canada. These men, he declared, were being given a chance; they were being taught industries and trades and given a common school education. The old idea of vengeance was gone; nowadays the prisons were readjusting the mental balance of the criminal by subjecting him to new environments and giving him new ideas so that the best of crime was a forgotten memory. Many criminals were the result of heredity, and in cases like this there was little hope for them.

The perpetrators of crimes that were the result of temptation or impulse were the easiest subjects for reform; upon them the exercise of reformatory elements met with much success. It was the criminal who had been moulded from childhood into a career of crime, whose whole life had been spent in daily contemplation of criminal acts until his conception of right and wrong had become as nothing, that presented the big problem. There were a few of these criminals in Canada, but in older countries they abounded.

From long observation Mr. Archibald said he had found the criminal highly responsive to kindness. Criminals could be reformed by kindness alone, in the penitentiaries, by manual labor was giving way to high reformatory training. Many prisoners were given the chance to reform through the parole system. By this system the men were freed and placed on parole with the chance to become once more useful and respectable citizens. In 12 years 2,713 men had been released on parole; of these, only 79 had gone back to crime. These facts, he affirmed, knocked the theory held by criminologists, "Once a criminal, always a criminal," on the head and showed that the way to reform society was not to wreak vengeance on the offender but to purify his mind and restore him to the community a changed man.

OLD PUBLIC SERVANT

Mr. Hillier Closely Connected With Ontario's Legal Affairs For Years

After 42 years spent in the service of the Ontario Government, Mr. George Hillier resigned his position as housekeeper of the middle wing of Osgoode Hall, Toronto. The resignation is the result of the understanding of the Government to appoint a single superintendent over the whole building.

Mr. Hillier entered the service of the Government as messenger at the Government House in 1869. He served there as head messenger, or butler, under four Lieutenant-Governors, and was then made housekeeper at Osgoode Hall, where he remained for 30 years. Skill and personal attention to the conveniences of the judges made him invaluable to the dispensers of justice in Ontario. One of the marvels of his work was the way he handled some two or three hundred keys without tags.

Mr. Hillier is 65 years old and an Englishman by birth. He has many tales to tell concerning his experiences with the grand ladies and gentlemen he met during his service in Government House. He was chosen by the Lieutenant-Governor to be one of the personal servants of the present Duke of Connaught when he visited Canada as Prince Arthur years ago, and toured the province in the Prince's special train. His recollections of that visit are vivid and interesting.

ANTQUITY OF HYMNS

While hymns as we know them today are a comparatively recent innovation in church services, they are a very ancient institution, and existed long before the Christian era. Many important collections of hymns date back to about five hundred years before Christ, though, of course, hymns existed long before that period. Among the collections which have come down to us from then are the Sanskrit "Rig Veda," a Chinese "Book of Odes," the "Buddhist Hymns," the Grecian "Homeric Hymns," and the "Luthera Choralis" of the sixteenth century. The hymns which play so prominent a part in the services of the modern Protestant churches were not in wide general use until about 1800.

BEER IN CHINA

The attempt of a corporation organized in Hongkong with foreign capital, largely from Honolulu, to establish a brewing business on the South Asiatic coast was unsuccessful. The concern erected a modern brewery on a portion of the mainland opposite Hongkong in 1909, but no money from the beginning and went into voluntary liquidation.

For a time there was some reason to expect the successful introduction of beer among the Chinese of Hongkong. Sales of the company's output increased considerably, and growing popularity gave some practical groups for participating a change in Chinese tastes. The fact finally became plain, however, that for the time being the Chinese do not take to beer.

IT GROWS HAIR

Every Man or Woman can Have an Abundance of hair Full of Life and Beauty

Mrs. J. Harris, Wappella, Sask., writes, "I have found PARISIAN Sage to be the best scalp and hair tonic I have ever known. After using two bottles the itching and dandruff disappeared and my hair ceased to fall out."

PARISIAN Sage does not contain Sarsaparilla, a poison that often causes blood poisoning and sometimes death. Ask your dealer if he can guarantee some other hair preparer does not contain Lead or Nitrate of Silver.

PARISIAN Sage is not a dye. Most dyes are poisonous. It is a hair beautifying and conditioning agent which stimulates naturally, keeps hair from falling, and keeps each hair growing to its full length.

TORONTO WOMAN WELL AGAIN

Freed From Bearing Down Pains, Backache and Pain in Side by Lydia E. Pinkham's Compound.

Toronto, Ont. — "Last October, I wrote to you for advice as I was completely run down, had bearing down sensation in the lower part of bowels, backache, and pain in the side. I also suffered terribly from gas. I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound and am now entirely free from pain in back and bowels and am stronger in every way. I recommend Lydia E. Pinkham's Compound highly to all expectant mothers." — Mrs. E. WANDY, 22 Logan Avenue, Toronto, Ontario.

Consider Well This Advice.

No woman suffering from any form of female troubles should lose hope until she has given Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound a fair trial.

This famous remedy, the medicinal ingredients of which are derived from native roots and herbs, has for nearly forty years proved to be a most valuable tonic and invigorator of the female organism. Women residing in almost every city and town in the United States bear willing testimony to the wonderful virtue of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

If you have the slightest doubt that Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound will help you, write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (conditional) Lynn, Mass., for advice. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman and held in strict confidence.

Among the vocations open to members of the European countries farming in Canada is assuming a foremost position. British Peers have entered into farming near Pickering, and now Count Hugh De Mauduit, director of the staff of the Ministry of the Interior, Paris, has left his native country to take up a fruit farm at Forest, Ont. His intention is to purchase a farm in the vicinity of Forest at $25,000.

The idea of farming was brought before him while he was living in London, England, by the Comptroller of the Ontario Government in the Metropolis.

A SNAKE LEAPS FROM MILK BOTTLE

Montreal Woman is Scared and Sends Word to Health Department.

Montreal, Aug. 31—After opening a bottle of milk this morning Mrs. Rosario Lamothe, Workman St., was horrified when a small snake sprang to the ground and lay there hissing. Having recovered from her fright, Mrs. Lamothe telegraphed the health department which sent an inspector to the house to kill the reptile.

The snake was of the harmless variety, and it is supposed that it either fell into a milk pail or was in the water with which the bottle was washed.

THE DEATH ORCHID

Explorer's Weird Story of Mysterious Flower of Venezuela

The death orchid of the Venezuelan Indians has been proved to be no mere campfire yarn. Three years ago an orchid hunter, Grayson, set out to find "El Lagar de las Flores Venenosas," that is, "The Place of the Poisonous Flowers," which was said to be located in the dense and pestilential wilderness occupying the vast stretches between the head waters of the Orinoco and the Andes.

Two weeks passed without any incident out of the ordinary. But one morning there was a perceptible smell of flowers in the air. When the orchid hunter and his Indians camped that night the jungle smells had been entirely lost in the cloying scent. Many of the band refused to go further.

As Grayson and the others proceeded the rankly sweet and oppressive odor became stronger, attacking the senses like a narcotic. One after another of the remaining Indians collapsed, till only Grayson and the guide were left pushing forward.

The orchid hunter felt as if he were being attacked by the insidious power of opium, but retained enough consciousness to become aware that, gleaming through the trees ahead, he saw flowers of huge size and vivid colors, many hued clusters of them hanging in trails. It was the death orchid.

When he recovered his senses he found himself being carried back to camp, where the rest of his porters had remained. Many of the band were severely sick, and many half-witted with the continued effect of the scent.

PTOMAIN POISONING

Bolting Does Not Kill The Deadly Germ in Food

The outbreaks often known as "ptomaine poisoning" are divided by Dr. J. Burger of Berlin into three classes. In the first, minute bacteria resembling the typhus bacillus are the cause of poisoning, and may have been brought by rats, mice, flies or impure water to meat, fish, bread, cake, vegetables and other food.

Eating the infected food sometimes gives rise to symptoms of intestinal catarrh, sometimes to those of typhus or cholera.

The second class of poisoning results from eating decayed meat and other foods, and is quite rare, because warning is usually given by a foul odor. In neither of these classes is the poisonous principle destroyed by boiling.

The third kind of meat poisoning, which has been called "sausage poisoning" in a recent Berlin epidemic, is due to a specific rod-shaped organism, the bacillus botulinus, and may come from infected ham, salt fish, tinned meat, etc.

This bacillus does not grow in living flesh, so only the poison it has developed in dead meat is to be feared. This is very fatal, however, and forty per cent. of the poisonings result in death.

Said the Home Owner—"I told the contractor I wanted a first class job on the inside of my house. He insisted on his using BRANDRAM-HENDERSON, Limited, 'ENGLISH' Paint. I know that the perfect formula for color, spread, durability and economy was 70% B. B. White Lead and 30% Zinc White, and I knew too that I could get this formula only in BRANDRAM-HENDERSON, Limited, 'ENGLISH' Paint. So I paid a fair price and I believe in B. B. BANK CHEQUES HERE AND ABROAD

In Europe the Banker is Relieved of Responsibility in the Matter of Cashing Them

The bank cheque, as known to the modern world, had its origin among the London goldsmiths, who received money for safe keeping, and permitted its transfer by means of written orders. But it wasn't until the middle of the nineteenth century that the use of cheques became general.

Their use in Europe is constantly increasing, but its extension has been hampered by certain conditions. One of these that in Europe a bank paying a cheque is not responsible for identification of the holder. When cheques came into general use in England they were almost invariably made payable to bearer. When drawers began to make them payable to order, the bankers got a section into the Stamp Act of 1883 which specifically relieved them from responsibility for wrongful payment, except as regards the signature of the drawer.

From the standpoint of the banker, this system has much advantage over the Canadian system, since it relieves him of responsibility. It results in giving to cheques, however, so great a degree of negotiability that, when lost or stolen, they have practically the character of currency, and can be cashed without difficulty by the holder. There is strong opposition among the European banks to adopting our system of requiring the personal identification of each holder of a cheque presenting it for payment. But a solution of this difficulty was found at an early date in England, by the adoption of what is called the crossed cheque. This means that two parallel lines "about three-eighths of an inch apart" are drawn across the face of a cheque, to indicate that it differs from the ordinary cheque. The original purpose of this so-called crossing was to prevent the holder from cashing it at any bank except the one named in the name of a bank. When such a crossing appeared, it meant that the cheque was payable only by the bank named in the crossing. In other words, only a man who had an account with that bank could cash such a cheque; and he could only have it put to his credit and not paid in cash directly.

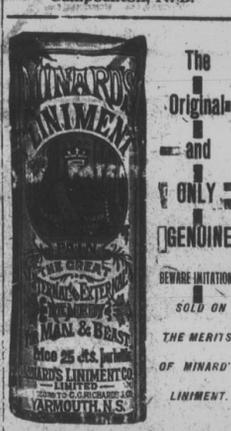

So well established has the system become in England that where the crossings lines appear with only the name of a bank across the face of a cheque, it is taken to mean that the cheque is payable only through any bank to the institution through which the cheque is to be paid. In other words, the crossings are drawn across the face of a cheque, to indicate that it differs from the ordinary cheque. The original purpose of this so-called crossing was to prevent the holder from cashing it at any bank except the one named in the name of a bank. When such a crossing appeared, it meant that the cheque was payable only by the bank named in the crossing. In other words, only a man who had an account with that bank could cash such a cheque; and he could only have it put to his credit and not paid in cash directly.

A NOTE OF WARNING

There has been issued, by direction of the Minister of Agriculture at Ottawa, a conspicuous poster calling the attention of potato growers to the importance of examining their crop to ascertain whether or not it is infected with "Potato Canker." The hanger shows in natural colors a potato plant the whole yield of which is affected by the disease. It also shows the appearance of individual tubers in which the Canker has started to work. Growers who discover suspicious symptoms of the disease in their crop are requested to send affected specimens to the Dominion Botanist, Experimental Farm, Ottawa. The poster is issued as Farmers' Circular No. 3, of the Division of Botany and is being distributed by the Publications Branch of the Department of Agriculture.

BOY KILLED HIS FATHER

Was Defending His Mother.

Vineland, N. J., Aug. 31.—E. R. Garton, a liverman, of this place, was stabbed to death in a fight in his home. Four hours afterward the man's son, Henry Garton, surrendered to the police.

Garton had been drinking heavily and when he reached home he started to quarrel with his wife. Finally, according to the story told by mother and son, he went into the kitchen. He returned with a knife and attacked his wife. The son ran into the room, grappled with his father and disarmed him. The father caught the boy about his neck and forced him backward across the edge of a table. The youth struck at his father's face and neck with both hands and not having released the hold on the knife the weapon was driven into the throat of the elder man. He died in a few minutes.

"But Peter, you should be grateful if you were saved from drowning and not cry like that." "Yes, but there comes my aunts and now I'll be kissed all a t'noon."

DRENCHED HIM WAS INTRODUCED, WEDDING FOLLOWS

Prescott, Ont., Aug. 31.—A month ago Miss Nellie Theresa Carroll accidentally drenched William Joseph Coress while she was spraying the front lawn of her house.

She apologized very prettily, and a mutual friend passing, the two were introduced to one another.

A week later their engagement was announced, and yesterday they were married at St. Mary's church, Dundalk, N. Y.

An article that has real merit should in time become popular. That such is the case with Chamberlain's Cough Remedy has been attested by many dealers. Here is one of them. H. W. Hendrickson, Ohio Falls, Ind., writes, "Chamberlain's Cough Remedy is the best for coughs, colds and croup, and is my best seller." For sale by all dealers.

A Chicago judge has ruled that kissing is not sufficient basis for a charge of disorderly conduct unless the female in the case objects. Still, it is well to perform the deed in private. The sight exasperates some men and pairs of teeth, especially those who have no one to kiss.

CANADA TRADE WITH FRANCE

Is Likely to be Increased.

Ottawa, Aug. 29.—It is expected that as a result of the recent visit of Right Hon. K. L. Borden, Hon. L. P. Pelletier, and other Canadian Ministers to Paris, French merchants and commercial organization in France will seek to bring about a substantial increase in the trade now being carried on between that country and Canada. With the object in view Canada likely will be visited within the next fortnight by H. F. Fletcher, Chairman of the Canadian section of the British Chamber of Commerce in Paris.

Running up and down stairs, sweeping and bending over making beds will not make a woman healthy or beautiful. She must get out of doors, walk a mile or two every day and take Chamberlain's Tablets to improve her digestion and regulate her bowels. For sale by all dealers.

What kind of a silo will yours be?
Wood—or Concrete?
If you were to build two silos—one of wood, the other of concrete—side by side, and then could see them as they will look after five years of service, you wouldn't have to think twice to decide which is the best material. In a few years more there wouldn't be much of the original wooden silo left—the repairing you'd have to do would be as troublesome and cost as much as the building of an entirely new one. But the passage of five, ten, fifteen or even twenty years will make no difference to the hard-as-rock wall of the concrete silo.
CONCRETE SILOS LAST FOREVER
WIND, rain, fire and lightning are alike defied by concrete. You need no insurance against its destruction, because it cannot be destroyed. Concrete silos are best for another reason. The concrete keeps the ensilage at an even temperature, so that it "cures" better, and therefore contains more food-value for your stock.
YOU CAN BUILD ONE YOURSELF
No matter whether you have ever used concrete or not, you can build a concrete silo. Our book, "What the Farmer Can Do With Concrete" gives all the information you will need, not only about silos, but about scores of other uses for concrete on the farm. It isn't a catalogue, nor an advertising circular. A handsome book of 160 pages, well illustrated, and written for farmers. It is free. Just send your name and address on a postcard or in a letter and the book will be sent free by return mail.

PARCEL POST COMING

On January 1st, the United States Government will begin to give something in the way of a parcel post service. It will not be a great deal, but it will be a step in the right direction. The important thing is to get the parcel post service once established; in the nature of things, it must develop, extend and improve.

The compromise measure finally agreed upon by congress and approved by the president, bears the name of Senator Bourne. It materially reduces the domestic rates upon fourth class matter. Today in the United States, as in Canada, there is a flat rate of sixteen cents per pound; the Bourne amendment substitutes therefor a sliding scale of rates, based upon distance, rising from five cents to twelve cents per pound. The weight limit, now four pounds, is increased to eleven pounds.

We think the zone system of rates is a poor device and that the flat rate which has made the postal service so generally successful, should apply to the parcel post. The weight limit of eleven pounds is absurdly low, and should be increased tenfold.

But, as we have said, the Bourne bill is a beginning and we believe that the parcel post system will rapidly develop in the United States. It may involve expropriating at high prices a good deal of junk now owned by the express companies, but the people of the country will not rest until they get as good a service as that which is found in Great Britain and Germany.

Canada must not lag behind the United States in this matter, we should rather go ahead, because we are in a position to have a service organized at once by British officials with expert knowledge and long experience. Postmaster-General Pelletier should at once reduce the rate on fourth class matter from sixteen cents to twelve cents a pound and increase the weight limit from four pounds to eleven pounds, thus putting the domestic service upon an equality with the international service.—Exchange.

MARITIME

PECULIARITIES

In writing in the The Canadian Magazine about peculiarities of the Maritime Provinces, F. A. Wightman makes some interesting observations respecting the fauna of these Provinces. He writes that no members of the deer family have ever inhabited this Province (Prince Edward Island). Neither has it ever been the abode, so far as known of the wolf, racoon, hedge-hog, skunk or porcupine, all of which are numerous across the narrow strait, both in New Brunswick and Nova Scotia, except the first which is now everywhere: extinct in the east. These omissions from the fauna of Prince Edward Island, since the fox and the bear have both been numerous and the former still plentiful, are also striking. One would suppose, that even the haphazard means of transportation available to the fox and bear would have been discovered by the others, but by some means they seem to have failed to make connections, even at the "Capes." It is claimed by some that the members of the wild-cat family, numerous on the mainland, should be included in the list of exceptions but this is a disputed point. If either members of the wild-cat tribe ever existed on the Island the occurrence must have been rare and beautiful black fox has been relatively more numerous than on the mainland. The habit which governs these animals and the laws which determine stand, but are of interest to the student of nature. The contrast here presented affords an inviting field for research.

BASEBALL NOTES AND JOTTINGS

The game at the ball yard last Friday was a trifle late in starting but once set a going things went like clockwork, and play was of the snappy order. In the first innings Mechanics batted first and went out one, two three. For the Fireman, Cady came home on a passed ball. May was out to a beautiful one handed catch by Shaddick leaving Woods on second base. In the second innings Mow: laying aside his usual assortment of foul flies got a nice hit and latterly reached home on a passed ball. Pond followed shortly after stealing a march on Shaddick who dropped the ball.

Mechanic gained their only run in the third. S. Moores was started on his journey by a free ticket, and after meandering around the bases came home on a passed ball. This was the only error recorded against the Firemen.

In the fourth McCallum was passed, and stole second, but with two men out and our old friend darkness spreading himself was left there. The game was called after the first half of the fourth.

LARGE PARTY BADE THEM GODSPEED AT THE STATION

London, Aug. 30.—The Momentous visit of the Canadian visitors come to a conclusion to-day when Premier Borden and Postmaster-General Pelletier and their wives took their departure from the Euston station on a special train for Liverpool to sail this evening on board the Victorian.

A large and representative party bade them hearty farewell on the platform. The party included Lord Strathcona, Mr. W. L. Griffith, Sir Hartman Just, representing the Colonial Office; Col. Sam Hughes, Col. Morrison, Major Robertson, and other members of the military contingent just arrived; William Taylor and his wife, and other members of the Canadian colony in London.

Before their departure the platform was cleared, in order that a photograph of Premier Borden and Lord Strathcona might be taken.

Mr. Borden, in his final message, expressed the highest appreciation to those who had contributed to make the visit of the ministers such a happy one. The question of naval defence and Canada's share in it would be considered by the Cabinet almost immediately after his return.

"The most delightful experience I have ever had," was Mrs. Borden's description of her stay in England. "I am leaving with a heart full of gratitude to the people of your country, and especially to the English women. The suffragettes thanked Mrs. Borden, who included the suffragettes in her thanks. "They are your women folks" and because

The organization with which they are said to be connected is believed to have widespread ramifications. All the arrested men protested they were innocent, but they have been incarcerated in jail.

Nature's Barometers

There are two kinds of cloud-wood clouds and rain clouds, the former in summer being as black as night. Clouds banked together in the west mean coming rain. The walls of houses are usually damp before rain. Cows and sheep are in order to keep a dry spot for themselves. Swallows are good weather prophets. If, when flying low, they suddenly congregate and fly very high it is a sure sign of a coming storm. When geese clamor and squawk scream, rain is pretty sure to be near. Flowers are highly sensitive to rain. The pimpernel has been called the "poor man's weather glass," its prophesies being so true: "Closed is the pink-eyed pimpernel, 'Twill surely rain; I see, with sorrow, Our aunt must be put off till to-morrow."

The crocus forecasts rain by shutting up its leaves in a most determined way; so also do the dandelion, wood-sorrel, and anemone. The heads of wild oats curl up in dry weather, and contract in damp. Frogs are good weather indicators, croaking for wet weather and open for fine. They retain this power even after they are gathered so long as they have any seeds in them to protect. In villages round the coast seaweed is the homely weather-glass, becoming moist and clammy when rain is near. They have a curious method of forecasting the weather in some parts of Germany and Switzerland. A small green frog is kept in a bottle half full of water with a slit of wooden stave leading down from the top of the bottle into the water. If the frog stays below the water, they say the weather will be fine, but if it comes up and sits down on the stave it will be dull, and rain and cold may be expected.

FACED PROBLEM OF EMPIRE WITH COURAGE

London, August 30—The Daily Mail writing of the departure for Canada today of the Right Hon. R. L. Borden says:

"Whatever may be the decision of the Dominion Cabinet we shall always remember that Premier Borden and his colleagues have approached the vital problems of Imperial defense with courage and determination.

"No craven fear of responsibility has clouded their vision and foredoomed failure such as has been the case on some other occasions when efforts were made to unite the scattered forces of the Empire. We leave the decision with complete confidence to the people of the Dominion.

"Nobody will dispute Sir Wilfrid Laurier's statement that arbitration is better than war," adds the Daily Mail "but as President Taft could tell him arbitration cannot yet be applied to vital issues affecting the nations. Some nations never do think until it is too late, but Canadians have thought, and they know that the most potent factor for peace is the British Navy."

YOUTHFUL, WRINKLESS SKIN EASY TO HAVE

You who desire to gain a youthful appearance, will go well to make the acquaintance of the two simple but valuable prescriptions given here.

To make an effective wrinkle-chaser, mix an ounce of saxolite and a half pint witch-hazel. Bathe the face in the solution—immediately every wrinkle is affected. It acts wonderfully on sagging facial muscles the lotion possessing remarkable astringent and tonic properties.

To get rid of an aged, faded or discolored complexion, buy an ounce of common mercerized wax at any drug store and apply nightly as you would cold cream, erasing in the morning with soap and water. This will slowly absorb the undesirable surface skin, revealing the younger, brighter, healthier skin underneath. I know of nothing to equal this treatment as a facial rejuvenator.

INSIDE HISTORY OF BUNKER HILL GUN

It Was Taken to Quebec by Major Tapp Whose Grandfather Got It From British Government.

Col. J. L. Herbert Nelson, president of the Quebec Literary and Historical Society, tells the story of the Bunker Hill gun as follows: "The real story of this piece of cannon appears to be unknown. I am of the few remaining who do know its history, and therefore feel justified in making the following statement concerning it: "On the 4th of November, 1871, Capt. C. E. Montisambert, Quebec Garrison Artillery, and I were commissioned to re-examine B Battery C.A. (the first of the permanent corps) and at the same time to take charge of all the military buildings and stores, transferred to the militia department when the last of the Imperial garrison sailed from Quebec on 6th of November. Among a multitude of obsolete materials we noted this strange bronze gun in the sheds in rear of the present R.C.R. quarters on Louis street. A few days later Major W. B. Tapp, a retired British officer, whom we had known, came to us, claiming that this bronze gun was his personal property, that it had been a heirloom in his family for about a century; that being determined to fix himself permanently in Quebec he had caused the gun to be brought from his home in England, and that pending the creation of a new home here he had requested one of the military storekeepers to house it, where we found it. He asked us to take charge of it until such time as he would claim it. He further volunteered the statement that the gun had formed part of the armament of an American troop of war or privateer captured off the harbor of Boston in the early days of the Revolutionary war by his grandfather, then an officer in the Royal navy. This officer had either received the gun as a reward or kept it as a legitimate loot.

"During the summer of 1873, our new commandant, Lt.-Col. T. B. Strange, R.A., caused the gun to be mounted on an improvised carriage in the centre of the Citadel square, in the exact position it now occupies. "In May, 1875, being on leave of absence, I visited the United States and among other cities Boston, and among its sights, the Bunker Hill monument. At the summit of this monument, mounted by a long flight of stairs, in a quadrangular chamber, to my surprise I found affixed to the walls two bronze guns of the exact size and appearance of our Citadel gun. A third but similar gun was in several fragments also affixed to the walls. On one of these was an inscription to the effect that in the year 1728 four bronze guns were cast by order of the Commonwealth of Massachusetts, that all were used during the war of independence, two of these were intact at the close of the war—the third exploded, (hence the fragments) and that the fourth had completely disappeared.

"There could be no doubt that Major Tapp's gun was the fourth gun referred to in this inscription. It exactly corresponds to its fellows in size and above all by the embossed oval escutcheon with the arms of Massachusetts—an Indian holding a bow above a lone star.

"I mentioned these facts to my brother officers after my return and I think gave the information to at least one of the Quebec papers of that year, 1875. Up to 1877 there was no inscription whatever on the gun itself. That year and the year following I was on service in England. After my return I noticed for the first time that the inscription, which still exists, had been deeply cut into the metal of the gun. I observed to Colonel Strange that there was no proof that this gun had ever been used and captured at the battle of Bunker's Hill, in fact the inscription was at variance with Major Tapp's first statement to Montisambert and I replied laughing, "What does it matter? No one will be the wiser, but it will tickle the fancy of our American visitors."

"Whether Major Tapp gave his consent to this inscription I never heard. In 1880—when B Battery C.A. was transferred to Kingston, we left the custody of the gun to the incoming garrison.

"Major William Hotaro Tapp never created for himself a home in Quebec, he resided in a private family at Mount Pleasant. Probably for that reason he never claimed the gun."

WAS A CONFIRMED DYSPEPTIC

Now Finds It a Pleasure to Enjoy Meals

Here is a case which seemed as bad and as hopeless as yours can possibly be. This is the experience of Mr. H. J. Brown, 324 Bathurst St., Toronto, in his own words: "Gentlemen—I have much pleasure in mentioning to you the benefits received from your Na-Dru-Co Dyspepsia Tablets and can cheerfully recommend them. I simply had confirmed dyspepsia with all its wretched symptoms, and tried about all the advertised cures with no success. You have in Na-Dru-Co Dyspepsia Tablets the best curative agent I could find. It is now such a pleasure to enjoy meals with their consequent nourishment that I want to mention this for the benefit of others."

The fact that a lot of prescriptions or so-called "cures" have failed to help you is no sign that you have got to go on suffering. Try Na-Dru-Co, Dyspepsia Tablets and see how quickly this sterling remedy will give you relief and start your stomach working properly. If it doesn't help you, you get your money back. SENATOR POIRIER IN ANOTHER SCREED

Says Real Savages are Found at St. John., N. B.

Montreal, Aug. 30.—The Acadicians are rejoicing all through New Brunswick because justice has been done them at last, by Rome in giving them Mgr. LeBlanc for Bishop, and in so doing he has chosen an excellent priest, French Canadian in sympathy. They rejoice because of the help that this will give to their religion and to their national sentiment. They expect renewed attacks from the Irish people but they do not fear them, so writes Senator Poirier of Shediac, N. B., in a letter today to Le Canada, Senator Poirier is holidaying at Manoulin, "I am at the end of the world among the Obidjays" he writes, "perhaps you believe that they are savages. Not at all. It is at St. John, N. B., that the real savages are found."

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven Catarrh to be a constitutional disease and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hill's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from two drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly on the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials. Address: F. J. TWO CHILDREN DEAD ATE MUSHROOMS

There Mother also in Serious Danger—Father Has Recovered.

Listowel, Aug. 28.—As the result of eating poisonous mushrooms, both of Hector Sutherland's children have died and his wife is in serious danger.

Mr. Sutherland who is a clerk in a hardware store here, gathered a basket of mushrooms in the fields last Sunday morning, and all of the family, which included himself, his wife and two children, ate of them at noon. About midnight all took ill, except Mr. Sutherland, with vomiting, and physicians were called. The boy named Richard, aged two years and two months, died on Tuesday afternoon, and the girl named Marguerite, a year and four months, died at seven o'clock this morning. Mr. Sutherland himself took sick on Monday night, but seemed to have entirely recovered.

The wife is very ill and will have a hard struggle at the best.

Mr. Sutherland has frequently gathered and eaten mushrooms and thought these were all right. From his description, however, at least two of those eaten were of the deadly amanita variety, which, resembling outwardly the edible mushrooms grows out of a cup-like root and is virulently poisonous. The town is deeply stirred at the terrible character of the fatalities, which it is hoped will not be further deepened by the loss of the mother.

The Gurney-Oxford Enthusiast

The housewife who owns a Gurney-Oxford—who has daily experience with it—who knows the way it works—the economy and efficiency of it—is a Gurney-Oxford Enthusiast.

The Gurney-Oxford Range is the sum total of 70 years experience in stove construction. It is a big, up-standing, handsome stove, that works constantly and unfailingly for its owner's satisfaction. It stands guard over her interests, conserving her time and energy, effecting a daily saving in coal, adding to the household economy and increasing the pleasure which comes from a smooth-running and well-ordered household.

That's why she enthusiastically recommends the Gurney-Oxford whenever the question comes up.

She wants her friends to learn, what she knows to be a fact, that a Gurney-Oxford Range is a good housewife's most valuable and cherished possession.
