BUDGET SPEECH OF T. W. CALDWELL

The Following Delivered on May 16 Will Interest Every Observer Reader

Thomas W. Caldwell (Victoria and Carleton, N. B.). Mr. Speaker, I have followed with a great deal of interest the different speeches that have been delivered during this debate. I must say, however, that I was rather disappointed in the speech the Prime Minister delivered on Friday last. I think the members of this House, and the people of the country, expected the Prime Minister to deal with the very serious problems that face the country today—the railway situation, the unemployment situation, and the other serious issues that confront the country. But what we were treated to on the part of the right hon. gentleman was one of the greatest exhibitions of rhetoric and abuse that this House ever witnessed. The Prime Minister accused our little group, in this part of the chamber, of not supporting their platform in Parliament. Mr. Speaker, it reminds me of a passage in a book that hon. gentlemen are more or less familiar with: Cast not your pearls before swine.

Some hon. MEMBERS: Oh, oh.
Mr. CALDWELL: We have moved this platform before a tribunal that is possibly less prejudiced than this House, a tribunal higher than Parliament itself—the electors of Canada. That platform has been endorsed in a large number of cases where it was tried out before the people on its merits, and if it is endorsed to as great an extent as the next general election as it has been in the recent by-elections we will have no cause to complain.

I think it was very small politics for the Prime Minister to try and make out that we were an "inner" to the Federal party simply because we propose to vote for the amendment before the House, in view of the fact that we have perhaps supported the Government with our votes. I think, Mr. Speaker, I cannot do better than quote what I said last year on the Budget because what I said at that time is quite applicable to our position to-day. Speaking on May 27, 1920, I expressed myself as follows: "We do not propose to support either of the old parties in this House. When a question arises such as the present question before the House we intend to take a stand on it that will be in the best interests of Canada. We may err, but if we do we shall err in favor of the people. We shall not be whipped into line to support this party or that against our convictions,—do not make any mistake about that. I think that we have proved our independence in this House during the present session. We have voted with the Government as often as against them. I am only sorry that we were not able to vote with them often, because if we had been able to vote with them it would have meant that they were bringing down good legislation, legislation for the good of Canada and which we would have been pleased to support."

I do not wish to take up a great deal of time in this debate, because the discussion has run at some length now, and after matters of this kind have been discussed for three or four days there is not very much new left to be said with respect to them. I do, however, wish to give a concrete example or two of how a protective tariff affects the business of the country. I will take the case of collecting a revenue, and I wish to take in illustration some articles that are used in my own province very largely.

One thing I wish to speak on is the duty on fertilizers. At the present time, as you all know, there is a duty of 10 per cent on mixed fertilizers, whilst chemicals, with the exception of acid phosphates, are admitted to the country free. I have here the imports of fertilizers for the last ten years, giving the amount imported that was dutiable and the amount that was free. Some of the recent speakers have referred to the Canadian tariff as inducing American manufacturers to locate in Canada. I want to show you why that is the case—because while they are able to import into Canada their raw materials free they are able to charge a duty on the manufactured article, collect it from the people of Canada and put it into their pockets instead of that duty going into the revenues of the country. For instance, in 1912 we imported $413,338 worth of fertilizers that were dutiable, and on those imports collected $41,333 in duty. The same year there were imported, duty free, fertilizer materials to the value of $725,053. Had these materials been dutiable the duty collected would have been $72,505. But that went into the manufacturer's pocket, not into the revenue of the country. Therefore, for every dollar that we collect in duty that year the manufacturer put nearly two dollars in his pocket. I will trouble the House to give the figures for each year separately. I wish to state, however, that in the ten years we collected in duty on fertilizers imported into Canada $785,585, and we imported, duty free, fertilized materials to the value of $7,250,530. It is just possible that some hon. member will say: Well, the fertilizer manufacturers do not take advantage of this. Very well, I want to disabuse the minds of hon. gentlemen in that particular. I have here the price lists of a firm—an American firm by the way—who have a factory in Canada, a mixing plant. They import their chemicals free of duty and sell the finished product in Canada as well as in the United States. Living as I do only six miles from the American boundary I know whereof I speak in regard to this matter. I have here the lists of this company giving the prices at which they sell in the state of Maine and in the provinces of New Brunswick. Now, the fertilizers which they sell in Maine for $63.50 they sold in New Brunswick this year for $77.50, a difference of $15 a ton. Yet the chemicals were brought from the same source and it was the same company doing business in both instances. Another fertilizer that they sold in Maine for $77.75, they sold in New Brunswick for $92.75. Another brand, of a higher grade, they sold in Maine for $75.75 and in New Brunswick for $90.75. Owing to this fact our farmers' organizations have taken to buying their own chemicals and importing them themselves. Accordingly this year we are able to lay down at the farmer's local railway station, chemicals such as used in the brand that our dealer charged $77.50 for at $48.15, a difference of $29.35. The farmers, of course, have the remedy in their own hands, and I feel they are going to avail themselves of it—they will simply import their own chemicals and mix their own fertilizers.

I now wish, very briefly, to illustrate how a heavy duty affects our exports. I will give you a list of large quantities of potatoes; that is the reason we use so much fertilizer. The latter part of this past season the prices have been very poor in New Brunswick, and we are not realizing a very good price for potatoes at the present time. However, I notice that the potatoes exported during the present year, that is up to the end of March last, have brought higher average prices than those exported last year when the prices were quite so high. The high price of last year has caused different members to file the accusation at the farmers that they were profiteers, that they were selling potatoes at $12 a barrel. Potatoes did go to that price in April last year for the simple reason that there was no potato crop in Canada and past season on the whole, sold at a higher price than the year before. Prices are very low at the present time, for the reason that there is an over-supply on hand and the demand is not equal to the supply. I have here figures of potatoes exported from Canada to the United States from 1912 to 1921. Of course, during the few war years prices and conditions were abnormal and therefore I shall also give you a list of potatoes exported to the United States during the two years before the war there was a duty against our potatoes going to the United States which made the export business rather unprofitable for us. In 1912 we exported 57,229 bushels at a price of 70 cents a bushel; in 1913 153,557 bushels, at a price of 84 cents a bushel; in 1914—when there was no duty—5,490,764 bushels at a price of $1.26 a bushel; and in 1921, 4,204,484 bushels at a price of $1.93 a bushel. It will be seen that in 1920 we exported over 5,000,000 as compared with only 27,000 bushels in 1912.

When the Fordney Tariff Bill was proposed I took it upon myself to write to the Prime Minister to know if our Government could not take some steps to overcome this Bill. Of course, I realized, as our Prime Minister informed me, that the United States Government have full authority to legislate for themselves, and would resist any interference. At the same time in view of the fact that Canada has practically a monopoly of the pulpwood supply of North America, it seemed to me that the United States Government that if they discriminated against our farm products it might be necessary for Canada to impose a heavy export duty on pulpwood. I think if this had been done the United States would have thought twice before passing an Act discriminating against our farm products. I do not know whether such representations were made or not by our Government to the Government of the United States, but at any rate this country had no intimation of any such action having been taken.

In view of the fact that the Young Emergency Tariff measure will affect the potato growers of Eastern Canada very severely, I should like to urge upon the Government the necessity for providing facilities at the port of St. John for the shipping of potatoes during the winter season. If we are practically shut out of the United States, Cuba is our next best market. During the past winter season I received several communications from potato shippers in New Brunswick urging me to see if the Government would provide some means for shipping potatoes through the port of St. John during the winter season. I believe it would not be a costly matter—merely the provision of a coal-pit warehouse. These shippers advised me that during last winter they were compelled to ship via Boston, which meant, according to the ruling of the Railway Commission, that they had to pay freight in American funds from the shipping point in Canada to Boston, and from Boston to Cuba. Had they

POTATO SITUATION FULLY DISCUSSED

H. H. Hatfield Says That Immense Quantities Still in Storage or Being Dumped

H. H. Hatfield, of the firm of Hatfield & Co., Ltd., Hartland, N. B., was in the city last night and discussed the potato situation in the northern part of the province at some length with a representative of The Standard. He stated that immense quantities of potatoes were still in the cellars of the growers and some had been dumped. These farmers living near shipping points were hauling their surplus stock to starch factories at the magnificent price of fifteen cents a barrel, where the best stock is being made into potato flour.

A shipment of 12,000 bags of potatoes will leave this port on Monday next by the steamship "Lover." Another shipment will leave here on the fifth of June. This consignment is slightly smaller than the one leaving next week and will be the last shipment to be made this season on account of the stock having deteriorated since the warm weather set in.

Mr. Hatfield stated that the farmers in the northern section of the province or those who depend largely on the growing of potatoes are dumping the results of a great expenditure yet are again plating heavily with a very poor prospect of having a good market next year on account of Virginia potatoes being shipped into the country as early as the middle of April.

The demand for the new stock at any price prevents the further sale of the old and consequently there is no hope for a late market. To make matters worse the middle and western provinces stock up with the American potatoes and prevent our having a brisk fall market. So general is this that in Montreal after the first of June the produce dealers there refuse to handle our stock, the whole potato business in that city being done by the fruit men who will not look at anything but new stock and it comes from the States. The same is true of Toronto.

In justice to those interested, Mr. Hatfield suggests that, now that the American market is threatened to be closed to our produce, retaliation potatoes coming into this country and in that way at least we could save our own market for ourselves. With that purpose in view the firm has lately wired the Hon. Mr. Wigmore placing the case before him and asking that he make a full inquiry into the matter and if possible a sufficiently high tariff on American potatoes to warrant their non-interference with our own in the Canadian markets.

Fully forty per cent of last year's crop is still on the hands of the growers and is consequently a total loss. Mr. Hatfield attributes this misfortune to the high freight rates at present prevailing in this country and in the United States. To prevent the loss that the farmers of this province have already sustained, but it may remove some of the uneasiness now existing over the disposal of that of next year.

NO RETURN OF THE TROUBLE SINCE TAKING FRUIT-A-TIVES

MR. JOHN E. GULDERSON
P. O. Box 124, Parrboro, N. S.

"I suffered with Rheumatism for five years, having it so badly at times I was unable to get up without assistance. I tried different medicines I saw advertised and was treated by doctors in Amherst, also in my home town, but the Rheumatism came back. In 1916, I saw in an advertisement that 'Fruit-a-tives' would stop Rheumatism, and took one box and got relief; then I took them right along for about six months and the Rheumatism was all gone and I have never felt it since.

Anyone who would care to write me as regards 'Fruit-a-tives' I would be glad to tell them what 'Fruit-a-tives' did for me."

been able to ship by the port of St. John the difference in the rate of exchange on the freight and in the short rail haul and the longer water haul would have meant practically a dollar a barrel difference in favor of the farmers. I sincerely hope that the Government will take this into consideration and provide the necessary facilities at the port of St. John for handling what is the big export crop from the province of New Brunswick. There are already facilities at the port for handling our western grain, facilities that the whole Dominion has helped to provide, and I think it is no more than fair that the province in which this port is situated should have the facilities required for handling its potatoes.

In speaking of how a high tariff affects imports and exports, I would crave the indulgence of the House while I read an extract from the Montreal Gazette as to what the minority members of the House of Representatives think of the Fordney Tariff Bill.

"In the minority report the Republicans are accused of tossing into the lap of 'three great trusts, the packers, the sugar trust and the woolen trusts $775,000,000 a year,' and of seeking to alter any future trade with the Central Powers and smaller states in Europe through a subtle and dangerous joker," in directing the Secretary of the Treasury to fix the value of foreign money as a basis for levying duties on imports.

The present bill is characterized as even worse than its predecessor, the Fordney measure, by the report which asserts that "if any advantage will apply anywhere from the new proposal, it will be to the trusts, speculators and profiteers." It also calls attention to provisions of the Republican national platform—

"[By the way, that platform provided for a decrease in the cost of living.]"—and inquires whether "any honest Republican can sincerely vote for this bill in the belief that it will reduce the cost of living."

"We note that the bill has been changed since the last session of Congress," the report adds, "from the Fordney Emergency Tariff Bill to the Young Emergency Tariff Bill. Whether the ways and means committee through the name of its chairman, Mr. Fordney, attached to the bill would discredit it or believed that by attaching the name of Young from the agricultural state of North Dakota, it would more easily fool the farmers, we cannot undertake to say. But there must be some political significance in it."

"Figures were presented to show that the actual increase in living costs resulting from enacting of such law would be about $2,000,000,000 a year. The statement says that the bill would hand a gratuity of $125,000,000 annually to the sugar trust $550,000,000 annually to the meat and beef trust, and more than $100,000,000 a year to the income of the woolen trust."

There is no doubt in my mind, Mr. Speaker, that a high tariff has had an effect in any country. I realize, however, that in view of the Young Emergency Tariff Bill going into effect our Administration will have to be governed in their tariff legislation accordingly, but I hope they will not increase the duty, for instance, on fertilizers, with which we grow potatoes, because we have to pay that import duty, and also the duty of our potatoes going into the United States. Somebody will say: "That is not logical; if we pay the duty on the fertilizer coming in, why will we pay the duty on the potatoes going out?" The explanation is simply this, that our export trade in potatoes to the United States compared with the quantity of potatoes they grow is a very small factor in fixing the price in that country. For that reason, we being the little fellow, the price is practically set by the big fellow. In that connection a duty of 25 cents a bushel is being imposed on our potatoes entering the United States, while their potatoes enter Canada free to-day. I think under these circumstances our home market for potatoes should be reserved to Canadian growers. In the next two months we will have a large quantity of potatoes on our hands, and they certainly will not be all disposed of in Eastern Canada, as the new potatoes coming in from the United States will take the place of our own product. Our shippers tell me that if retaliation is proposed by this Government it should be in such a form as will offset the duty that the United States has imposed on articles imported from this country. Of course, you will hear the old cry: "Where will you get the revenue from?" Well, Mr. Speaker, I cannot help thinking that there is as much in the spending of the revenue of the country as there is in collecting it. It seems to me that if our Government had not seen fit to loan $23,000,000 to Rumania in 1919 we would not have needed so much revenue. The very fact of our immense debt makes it clear that Canada had no money to lend, at least of all to a bankrupt country from which there is very little prospect of ever getting either the principal or interest. That interest was to have been paid twice a year, but already nearly a million and a half is overdue, and I doubt very much if it ever will be paid. Not only have we thrown this $23,000,000 away; but the people of Canada will have to pay interest on it until the Victory bonds through which we obtained this money to squander are redeemed. I think it would have been a good thing for this country if the revenue in the past few years had not been quite so large; the Government would not have been quite so ready to squander it in loans to bankrupt countries, nor to apply the closure in this House very recently in order to vote $8,000,000 to build ships for the Canadian Government Merchant Marine at exorbitant prices. If I am not mistaken—the Minister of Marine (Mr. Ballantyne) will correct me if I am wrong—the price paid for the building of vessels in Canada recently has been $191 a ton. I believe that a firm in Montreal bought a couple of vessels very recently for somewhere in the neighborhood of $50 a ton. Of course, we realize that that does not represent the cost of building the vessels, but there are numberless ships idle today and no doubt the owners of these were in difficult financial circumstances and were glad to realize money on them at any price. I believe that a number of this firm made the statement that very soon it would be possible to buy ships in Canada at $25 a ton, because large numbers of vessels are at present tied up and unable to get surplus freight to enable them to get operating expenses.

I have spoken of the loan to Roumania. At the time it was made we all wondered why the Government was so willing to lend money to anybody at that time, to say nothing of lending it to a bankrupt country. The answer to question put on the Order Paper last year by the member for Chambly-Verchères (Mr. Archambault) throws some light on why the Government authorized this loan. If I remember rightly the hon. member inquired who were the firms who supplied the goods to Roumania and Greece and what were the prices. It is my memory that the names of a number of firms were not given but that the prices were not stated. It was with more or less amazement that members of the House read the answers to those replies, and that they found that a large quantity of goods furnished to Roumania and Greece on this credit of loan was furnished by firms of which supporters of the Government were members, of which some hon. members of this House were presidents and managing directors. If an individual member of Parliament had sold any goods in this way and for this purpose, he would have to resign his seat; but the supporters of the Government were able to get away with it, due to the fact that they were members of these companies. I think, however, we will all admit, that they got very close to the edge.

In dealing with the question where the revenue was to come from I pointed out last year, when speaking on the Budget, a source of revenue that this Government had not only failed to take advantage of but had made it impossible for any succeeding government to take advantage of, namely, Victory bonds exempt from taxation, amounting in all to $1,358,000,000. More than that, it cost the country nearly $14,000,000 to float those loans, in the payment of commissions to agents who canvassed for the sale of the bonds and to the banks for handling the amounts as they were turned over. We have never been able and never will be able to collect one cent by way of tax on the income derived by the holders of these bonds amounting to $1,358,000,000. I said at the time it was proposed, to make this loan free from taxation that I could hardly find language strong enough to express my disapproval of that course. The Financial Minister pointed out that if the Government did not exempt the bonds from taxation they would not be able to float the loan. Well, it is a fact that the latter loan in 1919, which was made taxable, was over-subscribed just as readily as the non-taxable loans; therefore the theory of the Minister of Finance was disproved. Certainly it is harder to sell a taxable bond, once you set the precedent of not taxing, than to sell a non-taxable bond, but, as I say, the loan in 1919, which was not exempt from taxation, was largely over-subscribed. I have made an estimate of what the income would be by way of income tax if these loans had not been exempt from taxation. The income on $1,358,000,000 at 5 1/2 per cent would be $74,690,000. It is fair to suppose that $37,345,000, or half this amount, would be taxable as income at the rate of 4 per cent, because, I think, it is true that these moneys were not all subscribed by the poorer people; it is fair to assume that half the people who subscribed to the loans would have incomes taxable at the rate of 4 per cent. This would add $1,493,800 to the revenue of the country. I think it may be assumed also that the other half of the $74,690,000 would be taxable at the rate of 8 per cent, which would yield a revenue of $2,987,100. I also believe that half of this revenue from interest of Victory Bonds would be received by persons whose incomes were large enough to pay surtax when the bonds were issued, so that $1,120,350 to the revenue of the country, or a total of $5,201,750 yearly. But due to the fact that this exemption was made as part of the agreement when the bonds were issued, no government will ever be able to make these bonds taxable which I consider is very unfortunate in view of the fact that we must raise such a very large revenue, a revenue double per capita that raised in the United States. I think it has been stated that the amount which we must raise per capita in order to obtain the necessary revenue will amount to $70 per capita or $350 for each family of five in this country. The expenditure per capita in the United States is $35 per head, or just half of what ours is. The Secretary of the Treasury of the United States Government that they must retrench, that the country cannot stand the present extravagant rate of expenditure. When you compare the revenue which they raise per capita with ours, you will see that they spend one dollar per head for every two dollars per head that we spend in Canada. I do not think any member of this House, and I am sure that no elector in this country will contend that tax has been paid twice the amount of taxes per head that the citizens of the United States could pay.

I think it was a very unwise thing to abolish the luxury tax, having regard to the facts concerning our expenditure. The sound way to raise revenue is by taxing a man on what he is worth, not on what he consumes. The fact that the luxury tax was a good revenue getter was another reason why it should not have been abolished. During the six months that it was in operation it produced somewhere in the neighborhood of $4,000,000 more than the sales tax has produced in ten months. The luxury tax fell upon people who were better able to pay than the majority of those who will be called upon to contribute to the revenue through the medium of the sales tax which is to take the place of the luxury tax. In my opinion the business profits tax should also have been continued. The people would be interested to know, I am sure, just what was behind the abolition of the luxury tax and the business profits tax, and I propose, before I conclude my remarks, to give them just a little information in regard to this matter.

Mr. Speaker, when the House rose at six o'clock, I was just arriving at that point in my remarks where I was saying that I believed that the consuming public of Canada would be anxious to know what influences were behind the Government to induce them to abolish the luxury and business profits taxes which were such good revenue getters. I said that I hoped to be able to enlighten the House and possibly the country as to just what these influences were that induced the Government to do this very unbusinesslike act. I wish to quote from an article that was printed in the Montreal Gazette of May 12, 1921. There were very big headlines on this article: "A million dollar fund for propaganda." Then in somewhat smaller headlines were the words, "Canadian Manufacturers' Association Insistent Upon Tariff Commission of Specialists." The article goes on:

"A million dollar fund for the propaganda of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association was foreshadowed tonight at the annual dinner of the Montreal Branch. Among the guests were Col. W. Grant Morden, Sir James MacKechnie, head of the Vickers firm of England, and many of the business leaders of the province."

"T. P. Howard, as President of the Dominion Manufacturers' Association, said that they had approached the Government on the necessity for a scientific tariff board for Canada and stated that it would be considered with the support of 1,600 labor unions of Canada as well as the manufacturers, and in a sense of great industrial mergers both here and in England."

With regard to this demand of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association for a scientific tariff board for Canada, I understand that their wishes was to have a tariff commission appointed that would deal with the tariff in the same way that the present Board of Railway Commissioners deals with freight and passenger rates—a board that would have absolute control over what the tariff on all imports should be, and a board that would not be responsible to the electors. I wish to congratulate the Government on withdrawing the Canadian Manufacturers' Association in this demand. To appoint such a board would be very unconstitutional, and I am pleased that that the Government did not do it. The Canadian Manufacturers' Association, not being able to accomplish this object, evidently turned their attention to the matter of outlining a plan of taxation for Canada, for in the Montreal Gazette of a later date, I find the following:

"March 29, 1921.—The question of Federal taxation will be discussed here this week by representatives of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association, the Retail Merchants' Association of Canada, and the Wholesale Merchants' Association, as a result of an intimation from Sir Henry Drayton, Minister of Finance, that he wishes to obtain the collective judgment of the business interests in Canada as to the most desirable plan for raising revenue for Federal requirements."

It is quite evident that these people had raised their million dollar fund, and had assured the Government that they could deliver them the support of 1,600 labor unions. Here we find the Minister of Finance telling them: "All right, if you can deliver me this support, get together and tell us what you want, and we will see if we can meet your requirements." I think most people will agree on looking over the Budget that all of the requests made by the big interests of Canada have been granted except one. I believe they wanted in addition to the abolition of the business profits tax and the balance of the luxury tax, the income tax on corporations abolished. I want to congratulate the Minister of Finance on not acceding to this last request, but it is just possible that he is coming to that by easy stages, and that that tax may be the next thing to go; I hope not, however.

During the war, the slogan in Canada was: "The last man and the last dollar." We got the required men all right, but I am sorry to say that the Government did not begin to get the first dollar of big profits made on war contracts during the war. I think the Government and the Minister of Finance were about two, if not three years too late in starting to tax the excess profits of the business interests of Canada. I think it would be unwise to abolish the tax at the present time.

I wish to quote a few extracts from the Montreal Star of May 12, 1921, which prove conclusively, if proof were needed, that the Canadian Manufacturers' Association and the other interests allied with them were the instigators of the present taxation scheme for Canada:

"It appears to me that the Finance Minister has worked out the matter in a very clear and concise way," said F. W. Stewart, Chairman of the Montreal Branch of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association. "It appears to have been very carefully designed, and the changes made are in the best interests of business. The sales tax is really the basis on which taxation will affect the consumer the least. The manufacturer does not absorb it, and by showing it separately on his invoice no advance is added to it. The sales tax was working very satisfactorily indeed, and its continuation will be satisfactory to wholesalers and manufacturers."

The Meaning of Frequent Pressing---

The Heated Iron is one of the most important elements in making clothes. The haste with which inferior clothes are made does not permit the gradual pressing process. A final surface pressing is made so that the garment looks well to the purchaser—but the "tale of the iron" is soon told, and more surface pressing is needed—only to wear off again in a few days.

"I have actually gained sixteen pounds since I began taking Tanlac," she said, "and never felt better in my life. For five years I suffered with a bad case of chronic indigestion that made life a burden. Gas would form on my stomach after eating and bloated me up something awful. When I lay down at night gas would come in my chest and throat until I felt like my breath would stop. I had no appetite at all, and there were days when I would go all day long with no more nourishment than a cup of tea. I was troubled a lot with severe sick headaches and spells of nausea that left me as weak as a baby. In all the five years I was sick I don't think I got a single good night's sleep, and in the morning I felt as tired as when I went to bed. I fell off twenty-five pounds and was nothing but a shadow of what I used to be."

"I had just about lost hope of ever getting well, when one friend advised me to try Tanlac. I found it different from any medicine I had ever taken. I kept getting better until today I am as well as I have ever been and feeling just fine all the time. My appetite is great, I can eat anything I want and digest everything perfectly and am not bothered with gas on my stomach or with sick headaches. I sleep at night like a child and get up in the morning refreshed and ready for any duties that come to my hand. All my strength and energy have returned and I am only too glad to recommend Tanlac to anyone suffering as I did."

The death occurred on May 22 of Herbert, 9 months old child of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Worth of Ludlow, Me., after a short illness of measles. Funeral was held from Herbert Lorum's, conducted by Rev. H. V. Bragdon. Burial at Monticello cemetery.

"I HAVE PROVED"

Zam-Buk invaluable for eczema, both in the case of my baby and myself," says Mrs. L. Bonin of West Arichat, N.S. She adds: "Baby's skin was badly broken out, but repeated applications of Zam-Buk entirely cured it."

"In my own case, I had eczema on my hands, which made it very inconvenient for me to do my housework. Particularly was this so, as it aggravated the trouble so to put my hands in water. By using Zam-Buk, however, I soon got relief, and it was not very long before every trace of the trouble had disappeared. I really think no home should be without Zam-Buk."

Zam-Buk is equally good for all skin injuries. All dealers 50c. box.

The bride who is a graduate of the Fisher Memorial Hospital, and also of a hospital in Brookline, Mass., entered the parlor on the arm of her brother to the strains of a wedding march, played by Miss Alta Anderson of Good Corner. The ceremony was performed under an arch of evergreen and apple blossoms.

BUDGET SPEECH OF T. W. CALDWELL

Mr. Stewart comes to the conclusion that the sales tax will affect the consumer least, because it is the consumer who pays the tax. Mr. Stewart admits that the wholesaler does not absorb it, so he must pass it on to the consumer. I quote again:

"The new budget provisions bring a welcome relief to the ardent card player, to whom the high cost of cards has been a source of frequent complaint. The tax on cards not exceeding $24 a gross, is reduced from 15 cents a pack to 8 cents, and that on cards costing over $24 a gross, drops from 25 cents a pack to 15 cents."

"I suppose that the ardent card player, the people who have leisure to indulge in card playing, and the card sharper who fleeces the innocent victim out of his money at cards, will no doubt be benefited by the Budget provision. In this respect, but I do not know whether it is in the best interests of the country or not. I leave that for the House to judge. Another quotation:

"The Retail Merchants' Association of Canada is well pleased with the budget, and is glad its work has resulted in what it has been aiming at."

So if we needed any further proof that the Budget was the work of the Retail and Wholesale Merchants' Association. I think we have it here in the avowal that the Retail Merchants' Association have accomplished what they were aiming at. Again:

"So far as we can judge, Sir Henry Drayton has taken the best possible course in his budget," said T. P. Howard, ex-President of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association, and President of the Howard Smith Paper Mills, Ltd. "The abolition of the business profits tax is good. We realize that Sir Henry had to get revenue, and he has done it in the way that presses least heavily on the taxpayers and on business."

When you take out the taxpayer and the business man, who is left to pay the taxes? It is evidently the consumer who owns no property, according to this man, because it is the non-taxpayer and not the business man. It is the poor laboring man who is working in a mill or on the railroads for $2 or $3 a day, trying to support a large family, who is raising the revenue by paying a tax on everything that he and his family eat and wear. If that is a sound method of taxation, I will admit that I do not know very much about economics. My idea of equitable taxation is to raise the revenue by taxing the man able to bear it, the man who owns property, or who makes big profits out of business. It has been said that the reason why the business profits tax was abolished was because there were no profits. If that were the case no harm would be done by leaving the tax in force. To abolish the tax is simply saying to the business man: Go ahead and make all the profits you like, and we will not touch you. That is not sound, in my opinion. I have another quotation to make from the Montreal Star:

"I think the increase in the sales tax will meet with little opposition," states W. M. Birks, President of the Board of Trade. "It is not so general or uniform a tax as the turnover tax advocated by the Board of Trade, but still it is quite good, as is the abolition of the business profits tax and the last of the luxury taxes, for which the council of the board has been pressing for some time."

Why are these people so jubilant over this tax? To my mind the reason can be summoned up in a word: They are able through this new measure of taxation to shift their load on to the other fellow's back.

LOCAL AND PERSONAL ITEMS

The latest social event which we observe in town now is an "army worm" party. Strolling forth every evening you may see neighbors hobnobbing the while they carry lighted brands and carry murder and arson to the home of the aforesaid pest. On Monday evening we observed a gigantic looking person stalking among the trees on a lawn, but on approaching we found the elongated personage was really a twin, one on the others shoulder. Some stroller! The army worm is really a pest this spring, and unless something radical is done soon the fruit trees will be bare and bare. Every evidence in our neighborhood this spring speaks of poor work on hunter, and seems to show that they didn't earn their salary very sternously. Much more could be accomplished by giving the school kids a couple of half-holidays and let them go bug-hunting, even if they got a little buggy.

W. H. Hoyt and J. J. Ball of the Soldiers' Settlement, Woodstock spent Friday and Saturday here on business.

Miss Pearl Irvine of Mass. 2119 and Miss Jardine of Fort Fairfield spent the week-end with the Misses Faye and Dansey Part.

G. E. Wilson Co. have made a decided improvement in that part of their store facing Main street by removing a useless attached store-house.

F. H. Staines of Woodstock and L. Lamont of Glasville were both here last week working insurance prospects.

On June 5 Rev. H. R. Bell will preach as follows: Centreville, 11 a. m. Laborville, 3 p. m. Good Corner, 7:30 p. m. All are cordially invited.

G. W. Bishop of Grand Falls spent part of last week in town.

Mr. and Mrs. H. E. Hagerman and family spent Sunday in Hartland.

Mr. and Mrs. George Packard of Bridgewater were here on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. R. W. Balloch and Miss Pauline Balloch left on Tuesday for Woodstock where they will in future make their home. Friends and neighbors looked upon their going with a great deal of regret, but will cherish the memory of many bright and happy visits together. Mr. Balloch came here when the town was young and established a general merchandise business, which he successfully conducted until about twenty years ago when he retired from active merchandising. For a number of years subsequently he was the general customs officer at this port, retiring from that a year ago. The family will be very much missed from the community life, and best wishes followed them to their new home.

Welch's Novelty Orchestra played another engagement in the Opera House on Friday evening last. Large delegations of light steppers from outside points made the attendance a very large one, but though it was crowded just a bit at times, everyone had a jolly evening. They play here again on Thursday evening, June 16.

Mr. and Mrs. Paul Sweeney of Fredrickton were the guests on Saturday and Sunday of Mrs. J. E. Alexander. Mr. and Mrs. Sweeney were married in New York in mid-May.

Mr. and Mrs. B. Cougall of Knoxport spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. G. G. London.

E. W. Woods, P. O. Inspector, was here on Tuesday in the local office.

B. A. Hoyt spent the week-end in Debec and Moulton with relatives.

Miss Jennie Pierce of Woodstock spent Sunday with Miss Jessie Reid at her home here.

Dr. H. M. Martell of Woodstock spent Tuesday in town on professional business.

Mr. and Mrs. G. F. West of Presque Isle spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Mrs. E. L. West.

John Smith of Florenceville is boring an artesian well for W. B. Webb.

Important!

Farmers buy a WATSON TRIPLEX
SPRAYER to protect your potato crop.
This sprayer will do it.

I also call your attention to the
JOHN DEERE RIDING CULTIVATOR.
This cultivator was especially designed for the Aroostook County trade, as it works better than any other machine
when the plants get big.

If you want anything in our line makes your wants known.

A Big Shortage in Potato Crop

is caused by the Farmers not spraying. The BROWN SPRAYOR is the favorite with the potato growers for the reason that it has a 100 gallon tank made of cypress wood that resists the liquid better than any other wood known. It sprays six rows at a time and is fitted with a whirl spray nozzle, that gets the liquid over every part of the plant. The pressure is got by double cylinder displacement pump fitted with brass plungers and packed with graphite packing, also large air pump fitted with brass check valves that can be ground. Rests on the axle, doing away with all strain on the frame giving an overcast balance when tank is full of liquid. Revolving twin paddles in tank to give a perfect mixture of bordeaux. Has hickory sarvin wheels 3 in. tire wheels and 1 1/2 in. cold rolled steel axle that does not break. Also fitted with steel frame that does not sag sideways. As we can only produce a limited number of these for 1921 Farmers will do well to place their order with us early, or with one of the following Agents:

- BELL MOTOR SALES CO. Woodstock, N. B.
- WM. GAUNCE Upper Kent, N. B.
- BISHOP GRAHAM Perth, N. B.
- WM. PIRIE & SON Grand Falls, N. B.
