TEN THOUSAND ABYSSINIANS KILLED.

London, Jan. 13.-A special dispatch eccieved from Rome says that 10,-000 Abyssinians were killed or wounded in the attack made upon Markale on Jan. 8. Later reports received here are to the effect that the heavy Abyssinian losses in the attack upon Markale, on Jan. 8, when 10,000 natives were killed, was due to the explosion of mines laid by the Italians outside of the fortifications.

BISMARCK'S HEALTH. Berlin, Jan. 13.-It is semi-officially announced that Prince Bismarck will not be able to come to Berlin upon the occasion of the celebration of the anniversary of the proclamation of the German empire, Jan. 18. Prince Bismarck has been compelled to ask his Majesty to excuse his absence on the ground that his health would not permit him to undertake the journey to Berlin.

KING OF COREA EVICTED. London, Jan. 13.-A dispatch from Seoul says: The Japanese have forced is king to leave the palace. Two Coreans implicated in the assassination of the queen have been hanged. A scheme is said to exist for placing the Tai Wan Kun, the favorite nephew of the king on the throne. Only the minimum number of troops required to guard the palace are maintained, the rest having been withdrawn.

Paris, Jan. 13.-Prime Minister Bourgeois attended a banquet at Lyons last evening and in the course of his speech said that changes at home never rendered France's policy abroad in the least degree uncertain. The whole policy of France could be summed up in the declarations that she was for the maintenance of peace and development of justice. France would maintain peace not only for herself, but as she has recently been helping to maintain it for all in the interest of civilization.

ADULTERATED GRAIN. Berlin, Jan. 13.-A new step has been taken in the agrarian campaign against foreign competition. The agrarians will exent powerful pressure in favor of excluding all foreign cereals containing an admixture of weeds or other substances, it being held that this makes them untit for food. Prof Heimsich, of Rostock University, and other experts have made a series of microscopic examinations of Russian, American and Roumanian cereals with results, it is claimed, which show a large admixture of deleterious foreign matter. THE WAR IN CUBA. London, Jan. 13.—An official dispatch received at Madrid from Havana says that after the defeat of the insurgents at Zella (Laceiba), under Maceo and Mirra (Miro), 142 corpses were picked up on the field. The civil war in Cuba attracts less attention here than the financial straits of the Madrid Government. The news from Havana is confusing, but indicates the ultimate failure of Marshal Campos, with his garrison of a hundred thousand men, to suppress the rehellion. The news from Havana has had a serious effect upon Spanish funds in every European exchange, the fall in London being two points in two days. GLADSTONE DECLINES DISCUS-SION.

London, Jan. 13 .- The Daily Chronicle telegraphed to Mr. Gladstone, who is at Biarritz, France, asking: "Can you, with reference to the pending controversies reaffirm your agreement with the House of Commons' resolution in favor of arbitration between the United States and Great Britain?' In his reply, which the Chronicle will publish today, Mr. Gladstone says: "My opinion on arbitration is unchanged, but I think that I cannot usefully appear in a public discussion at this moment."

RUSSIA'S LATEST ACQUISITION. . London, Jan. 13.-A sensation has been caused in Japan by Russia's action in acquiring the port of Kiaow, London, Jan. 13.-A steamer and China, as a naval station during the three sailing vessels were wrecked on winter. clude the Japanese from all positions on Chinnese soil. The threatened Cabinet crisis in Japan has passed.

GERMANY'S RELATIONS TO ENG-LAND.

Berlin, Jan. 13.-In view of the fact that the future of Germany's relations with England is involved in doubt, Chancellor Prince Von Hohenlohe has sent assuring communications to the Governments at Vienna and Rome, and pointing out that any diplomatic action which might be taken by the Berlin Government would not involve either the Triple Alliance or the individual interests of Austria or Italy. It is understood that the Chancellor's communications express pacific intentions on the part of Germany towards England, and also a belief that a good understanding between Germany and Great Britain would be restored at an early day.

AUSTRALIA LOYAL. London, Jan. 13 .- Hon. George H. Reid, Prime Minister of New South Wales, has sent the following cable dispatch to Lord Salisbury: "The Governments of Australia and Tasmania view with satisfaction prompt and fearless measures adopted by her Maejsty's Government in defense of the integrity of the empire. We desire to convey our united assurances of loyal support. The people of Australia are in full sympathy with the determination of the mother country to resent foreign interference in matters of British and colonial con-- request of the Governments of New South Wales, Victoria, South Australia, Queensland, Tasmania, a Western Australia) G. H. REID." and THE SLAUGHTER OF ARMENIANS. London, Jan. 13.-A Constantinople correspondent says that more complete tables of the persons killed and property destroyed in the Provinces of Kharput and Diarbekir, show that 176 towns and villages, containing 8,050 Armenian houses, were burned. The Armenians in those towns and villages numbered 92,000, and of these 15,845 were killed. This excludes the uncertain reports of killings. M. Cambon, the French ambassador, estimates the total number of Armenians killed in

bers of the anti-Parnellite section of wealthy young conscript who seems to have been hounded to death by blackmailers and others, really left his fortune to Mile. de Marsy, the actress of the Comedie Francaise. Although the the Comedie Francaise. Although the property is valued at from $7,000,000 to $10,000,000, Mile. de Marsy refused to accept the bequest. But it is understood the Le Baudy family will handsomely provide for her. The blackmail revelations are the sensation of the day in this city. The Vicomte Elric de Civry, editor of the Echo de L'Armeur who was arrested Jan. 9, L'Armeur, who was arrested Jan. 9, charged with blackmailing young Le Baudy, is a grandson of the eccentric Charles, Duke of Brunswick, and his English morganattic wife. De Civry was Le Baudy's pseudo friend and confidential secretary at a salary of £2,-000 ($10,000). Le Baudy's alleged friends seemed to have robbed him right and left, with the exception of Mile. de Marsy, who successfully used her influence to prevent him from deserting from the army, and kept him away from those who were attempting to accomplish his social as well as physical doom. It is said that Le Baudy was to marry Mile. de Marsy when his term of active service in the army

The arrest of Rosenthal, the journalist, otherwise known as "Jacques St. Cere," charged with being connected with the scandal growing out of the settlement of Le Baudy's estate, has caused a flutter among the journalists of this city. Documents are said to have been seized by the police showing that Rosenthal promised to secure Le Baudy's discharge from the army, with the assistance of the Russian embassy for 40,000 francs. Rosenthal appears to have received 25,000 francs of this amount. The Autorite says that Rosenthal has made confessions and that it is also stated that he is to be charged with espionage, this charge being based upon papers which were found by the police at his residence.

A correspondent at Rome says: Leo XIII. has formally expressed his dis-approval of the projected congress of religions to be held at Paris during the exposition of 1900. Great Britain has congratulated Portugal upon the capture of Gungumbana, the East African chief, who has been hostile to the Portuguese for a long time and upon the consolidation of Portuguese authority in the Province of Mozambique.

Admiral Rawson Sails at Once for Delagoa Bay-Rhodes Says His Career Has Only Just Begun.

Cape Town, Jan. 13.-Rear Admiral Harry S. Rawson, commanding the Cape and West Africa squadron, who was recently ordered to take his flagship, the St. George, to Delagoa Bay, at once proceeded for that place. The St. George is a twin-screw cruiser of the first-class. She mounts twelve tions are unknown. The report that the first and second naval reserves had been ordered to hold themselves in readiness for service is without foundation. Work was carried on all day yesterday (Sunday) at the Plymouth and Davenport ordnance yards, the men being engaged in completing the supply of shells for the use of the flying squadron.

THE PRISONERS.

Pretoria, Transvaal, Jan. 13.-Sixty members of the refom committee at Johannesburg are now under arrest. It is believed that only the five ringleaders will be detained. The rank and file of the Jameson expedition who were captured by the Boers and brought to this place have started for the Natal border. The officers of the expedition are expected to follow shortly. The customs officials have opened a large safe that was consigned to Far-rar, one of the leaders in the Rand raid, and found that it contained 100 revolvers and 7,000 rounds of cartridges. PRESIDENT KRUGER'S PROCLAM-

ATION.

President Kruger has issued a proclamation to the people of the Rand, saying he believes they have been deceived by a small number of designing men outside of the country. He urges the Rand residents to co-operate with the Government, and to make the Rand a country where all nationalities can live fraternally together. He promises that Johannesburg shall have a mayor and a municipal council, and concludes: "Let the inhabitants of Johannesburg make it possible for the Government to appear before the Volksraad with the words, Forget and forgive." RHODES. Kimberley, Jan. 13.-Right Hon. Cecil Rhodes, former Prime Minister of Cape Colony, arrived here yesterday and was cordially received. In a speech expressing his thanks for his reception he said that his political career was not at an end; it was only beginning. He firmly believed that, encouraged by his friends, he would like to do much good work in behalf of his country.

THE LATEST SITUATION. London, Jan. 13.—The political crisis has reached a stage when "further developments" must be awaited before the general public or the newspapers can form a definite idea of how the wind is blowing. For instance. the Times this morning remarks: "There is far to great a disposition in some quarters to assume that the Transvaal difficulty is ended. It can only be truly said that the immediate danger of bloodshed has been avented. But all the evils and terrors which made a disturbance in the Transvaal, with or without Dr. Jameson, merely a question of time, still remains unset-

The Guiana Boundary.

Arbitration by No Means Out of the Question.

Significant Inspired Article from the London Standard.

London, Jan. 13.—The Standard says it has authority for stating that the Foreign Office is busily engaged in completing the various papers dealing with the Venezuelan question. These papers will be published with as much dispatch as is consistent with the satisfactory execution of the laborious task. It adds: "Urged by friendly public opinion in the United States to place before the world as soon as may be the British case as regards the controversy with Venezuela, the Cabinet on Saturday decided to respond to this amicable invitation by publishing the material documents in its publishing the material documents of far possession bearing thereon. Of far more interest to the English people than the problems to be faced than the problems to be faced in South Africa are the relations of this country with the United States, and we gladly take the opportunity of bearing testimony to the magnanimous attitude of the American nation towards us at a moment when communities less generous thought apparently that a favorable opportunity had arisen for adopting towards us a tone of insult, if not of menace. Instead of taking advantage of the augmentation of our anxieties and the temporary multiplication of our assailants, the American people, with a spirit that does them honor, and which is appreciated by us, have not only abstained from endeavoring to add to our perplexities, but where they did not actually offer their sympathy they have maintained an honorable, courteous reserve. That is conduct worthy of them, and not unnaturally inspired the English Government with a desire to meet our kinsfolk across the Atlantic in a friendly spirit. Lord Salisbury, as we announce elsewhere, guns. Ex-Prime Minister Cecil Rhodes has decided to not wait for the meeting of has started for Kimberley. His inten- Parliament, but will publish as soon as they can be got ready, all the documents in his possession bearing on the disputed boundary the United States during the past week has materially influenced the Prime Minister's decision just as it has quickened the feeling of friendship entertained by Englishmen for those who speak their tongue and share their literature on the other side of the ocean. The maintenance of friendly relations with the United States must always be a consideration of the first importance for Great Britain. We say this to the American people with the absolute candor of deep-seated cordiality." The foregoing article is evidently inspired by the Government. The Daily News (Liberal) this morning says that Lord Salisbury has refused to agree to arbitration of the Guiana boundary dispute on the terms proposed by Venezuela, and has also declined to recognize the request of the United States to trace a boundary, but if the American commission define, what in their opinion the terms should be, and if a European will then act as arbitrator, all interests would be satisfied. The Times pours cold water on the scheme for permanent and general arbitration between Great Britain and United States. The paper admits that the object is a noble one, but says that it is Utopian and unat tainable. It is not without danger.

WOMAN CIGARETTE FIEND.

A Servant Girl Got to Smoking Six Packages a Day.

New York, Jan. 13.—The cigarette smoking habit grew on Annie Pzman, a pretty servant girl, until she smoked over half a dozen packages a day. The nicotine finally undermined her health and drove her crazy. She lived with a family at No. 195 Delancey street, and although she has been acting queerly for several days, no attempt was made to restrain her. Her behavior yesterday, however, was such that she was removed to the Bellevue Hospital.

Annie was in a pitiable condition last night. She pleaded with the nurses in the insane ward for cigarettes, but, of course, in vain. she worked herself into a towering rage and behaved like a maniac. The physicians fear that her mind is completely shattered and that she will be cured of the cigarette-smoknever ing habit.

You need not cough all night and disturb your friends; there is no occasion for you running the risk of contracting inflammation of the lungs or consumption, while you can get Bickle's Anti-Consumptive Syrup. This medicine cures coughs, colds, inflammation of the lungs and all throat and chest troubles. It promotes a free and easy expectoration, which immediately relieves the throat and lungs from viscid phlegm. Have you a house to let? You can m. sert an advertisement of ten words for one week for 35 cents.

They Also Desire a Two-Faced Position as to the Manitoba Schools.

The Ottawa correspondent of the Toronto Mail-Empire (Conservative) makes the following significant statement: "Sir Mackenzie Bowell has of- which they walked in the hope of capment: "Sir Mackenzie Bowen has been to resign the Premiership in favor of Sir Charles Tupper, sen., but tauring a solid Catholic vote, and so getting back to power without the condemnation that they well knew their he has coupled the proposition with fiscal policy would bring down upon a stipulation that the High Commistry, as they had divided the Cabinet, sioner is not prepared to accept. The Premier asks Sir Charles to come into the Cabinet for the present in a subordinate though important position, Mr. Hughes, M.P., who in his paper ing. Among other speakers Mr. D. Z. probably as Minister of Finance, and at Lindsay and by the Conservative Gibson, of Willow Grove, addressed the will agree that when the address has been passed through Parliament he will place his resignation in the hands of his Excellency, coupled with the suggestion, if advice is asked, that Lord Aberdeen invite Sir Charles to form a Cabinet. The Premier has also expressed a willingness to request four of the resigned Ministers to reconsider their resignations, namely, Mr. Ives, Sir Charles H. Tupper, Mr. Dickey, and Mr. John F. Wood. But he has determined not under any circumstances to become a colleague of Mr. Foster, Mr. Haggart, or Dr. Montague. To such an arrangement the High Commissioner has not agreed to be a party, At the outset, he will not pledge himself as to the personnel of his Administration, and furthermore, he realizes that any attempt to reconstruct a Government without the assistance and co-operation of all the ablest men in the Conservative party would be likely to fall very far short of a lasting success.

Under these circumstances, it is asserted that the prospects of a union between the two men is out of the question. It is understood, moreover, that the seven conspirators have re-solved to stand or fall together.

The Ottawa correspondent of the Toronto World, another Conservative journal, has this version of the har- leading Conservative, with an intimonious developments: "Tonight (Sun- mate knowledge of the situation, little girl; George Smart, best dressed day) the friends of the bolters are cock-a-hoop. This view being indorsed by a high official of the House, with the prospect of incarceration in the tower before him, the whip want-ed to get rid of the unclean thing, and Weldon's sugestion the document was promptly cremated. This will be the first and last of the kind that Taylor will circulate.

Sir Mackenzie, after the passage of the address, or if defeated on one of its clauses, would be entitled to ask one box of Dodd's Kidney Pills. The facts might take the ground that this is a lows: new Governmenn, never yet before dering power. The same may happen in the case of any other politician who succeeds the present Premier in the task of leading Parliament.

It is seen on all hands that whether the events of the next few days give us a new Bowell Administration or not, there is an uneasy feeling among the Conservatives generally, amounting almost to conviction, that the ship is so leaky, so dismasted and so much of a wreck, that she will never reach port. This conviction is so widespread that everyone is scudding to shelter. Nearreceived appointments of one kind or another, either to the Senate, or to offices throughout the country long va-cant, and another dozen are wearing out their shoes trying to get disposed of as favorably before the final crash somes. The following is the list of mem. bers of the House of Commons who have sought or are seeking shelter in office from the coming storm of defeat: Messrs, Girouard, White (Cardwell), Curran, Baker, J. C. Patterson, Mc-Kay, Boyle, Bain (Soulanges), Adams, Desaulniers, White (Shelburne), Wood (Westmoreland), Mr. Temple is anxiously awaiting his promised appointment to the Senate, but unless Mr. Foster is restored to favor the old gentleman will be left out in the cold, and perhaps compelled to run again for York and make Mr. Foster return to the county of King's and defeat.

The Premier's private secretary (Mr, I. L. Payne, formerly of London) is said to have obtained a permanent appointment as assistant clerk of the Privy Council, and the Premier's messenger is to be provided for in the Senate. All these signs are infallible. If there was any faith in the return of the party to power these appoint-ments would not be rushed through, nor would any of them be made if there was any idea that the Government would pull through the session, because certain votes would in that event be badly needed in the House of Commons. This dying Administration has made more appointments in two days than have been made for two

The story affoat is that the dissenting Ministers desired to enact this session a bill giving the Roman Catholics of Manitoba religious instruction in the public schools, and to refer the question as to the reestablishment of separate schools to a commission. A COREAN ROMANCE.

The Queen Still Lives - Remarkable Plotting Against Royalty.

New York, Jan. 13.-The Herald today prints the following: "Shanghai, Jan. 12, 1896.—A romance equalling anything which Rider Haggard ever wrote comes from Seoul, the capital of Corea, relating to the conspiracy which broke out there last November. It will be remembered that on Nov. 28 an unsuccessful plot culminated in an attack upon the palace by a number of Coreans belonging to the Queen's party. M. Waeber, the Russian Charge D'Affaires, Drs. Allen and Underwood and other Americans were accused, on apparently strong grounds, of being privy to the plot. They were, in fact, said to have been on the spot simultaneously with the abortive attempt. They, however, denied all complicity.

"The King and the Japanese being warned beforehand, posted extra guards and foiled the conspiracy. Information now shows that M. Waeber and the English consul shared the secret, the object being to seize the Ministers, expel the Japanese, free the King from the latter's influence and restore the Queen, who was re-puted to be dead, but who was in reality alive. The Russian secretary of legation was the leading spirit in the conspiracy, and was deputed to convey the Queen from her place of hiding to the palace. The failure of the attempt necessitated keeping the secret of the Queen's existence, which is now for the first time divulged. When, in October, the Coreans and Japanese broke into the palace, the Queen, scenting danger, hid hastily, without speaking to her women, in an obscure outhouse, saw the bodies of her ladies-in-waiting dragged to the pyre prepared for them outside, and watched the completion of the tragedy from her hiding place. The Queen was concealed for an hour and a half, every moment expecting discovery. She fled at last through a secret passage in the old palace, and thence, after changing her dress, made her escape outside the walls of the city, where she reached a place of When the Japanese and safety. Coreans examined the charred bodies of the women who had been burned, the king and some others shrewdly feigned that they had discovered the identity of the queen in one of the victims, lest a search should reveal her whereabouts, and lead to her murder. The Japanese accepted the account of the queen's death as true. MM. Waeber and Hilber, the latter be ing the German consul, must have been privy to the secret, which was, however, well kept. Three Coreans were strangled last week as the queen's murderers, while the trial of Viscount Mura and other Japanese officials is proceeding at Hiroshima for the mur-der of a woman who still lives. Li Han Shin, the leader of the last abortive plot, is in hiding here. An American friend, who came here on the Russian cruiser Otvajny, says that Russia is using the supposed murder of the queen as a weapon against the Japanese, although well knowing its falsity.

The Scrap Bag

If one cannot have lovely things, the next best thing is to read about them. At least to is so to me, and I hope with many of my readers. Beautiful things give pleasure when they are seen, and if by a strong effort of the imagination one can almost imagine one sees thee harming things described, why it's almost the same as having them isn't it? "Almost," but not quite, for, like Alice's beautiful scented ruches, which she found growing in dreamland, they "melt away so fast." But for a few brief moments, at least, one can cling fast to a lovely melting vision, and be very happy, at the smallest possible expense. For myself I could pore fore hours over the descriptions of beautifully furnishod houses, which appear every now and then in some of our most artistic magazines. Tastes differ to such an amazing extent, that it is not always wise to give one's preferences in such matters, but a scheme of coloring for a dining-room which I happened upon this morning gave me such a pang of pleasure, that I must tell about it, and ask you if you don't think it is perfectly lovely? It is a description of a dining-room recently completed at Newport, and if it were my room, which it never will be, or anything like it, for thest matter, I would have it all the same as it is now, except the walls. as I think I see it in my mind's eye

I would like a little delicate tracery of gold or silver to relieve the cold effect of the walls and octlings, which were, it is said, of immaculate whiteness, the dazzling effect softened by a thick surface of enamel. "The floor was carpeted in moss-green velvet, and hangings to match drape the doors and wide, deep windows with their inside curtains of embroidered Swiss muslin. The adecourds, center and side tables were of this same white enamel with hinges, locks and trimmings of silver. High-backed chairs built after an old French pattern, were white upholstered in green brocade, and the rare water-colors and etchings decorating the walls all framed in the prevailing silver and enow.

When at night the large crystal and argent lamps are lit up, the silk shades that look like big rosy blossoms and all the pyramids of wax candles wear they caps to match, this room i wear tiny caps to match, this room is a glimpse of fairyland. Under its influence every pretty woman is an individual Titania. Daffodils and violets give it an atmosphere of early springtime, Jacquiminot roses and palms transform it into a section of an Oriental retreat; it never appears twice alike and is the envy of every householder who passes under its cool subtle charm.

The lining of skirts through and through with silk is a sorry menace to economy, yet all swell dressmakers insist upon this proceeding. The peculiar "swish" of the silk lining against the silk petticoat has a fascination that is very "telling." A witty woman made us all laugh at a Christmas week luncheon, when the foggy muggy, treacherous weather was depressing us fearfully: "My new dress skirts are deplorably intemperate. As I walk in them across the room they sigh forth plaintively, 'whisky. whisky!'

Q.-When is a joke not a joke? A.-Usually!-Pick-Me-Up.

The Spectator in the Outlook tells a funny story of a baby toddling about in the sunshine, whose attention was suddenly attracted by a pretty iridescent beetle. He unsteadily advanced upon it, regarded it with interest for a moment, raised his foot, and, retaining his balance with difficulty. "squashed" it. It was not a pretty act, but it was nature unadorned. His little sister, 6 years old, was asked why he killed it. And she said: "Because the wasps stung him once." Not being a skilled entomologist, the baby declined to take any risks, but preferred the simple and easy method of the railway porter who declared. "Cats is dogs, and frogs is game, but turkles is insects," and charged them up accordingly. What are we to do with the caterpillars upon the vines? Are we to endow institutions for their benefit? or shall we ignore cool, subtle charm."

"Do you ever go to church?" asked a city missionary of a woman who had applied to him for assistance.

"No, I don't," was the raply. fact is, I ain't fit things to wear. My husband's been out c' work so long I've run out o' things; and, anyhow, me and my husband have such different views, I'd have to gr alone if I went at all."

"What are your views?" "Well, I'm a Methodist, and my husband, he's one o' these here Inights o' Pythias."-Youther Companion.

The seasen's dressing gown, too, has angel wings, as these big revers coming quite to the waist might be called. In some examples they are very wide at the shoulders, falling well over the sleeves; it is an interesting example of the use of materials that would once have seemed dissumant that the low neck of a dresing gown may be bordered with feathers quite as appropriately as with lace. Show gowns are also made with neck ruffles roses or violets anchored to the low bodices by straps of velvet, black usually, to show off the soft whiteness of the

Whoever has attempted the heart-breaking operation of stuffing this year's dress sleeves into last year's coat will not wender that the favorite cloak of the season has no sleeves at all, but gets there just the same by means of a generous cape covering the huge arm-holes. With such a garment length of skirt is a necessity; it may be trimmed or enlivened with a yoke-say of white satin upon dahlia velvet, and sparkling jet upon the satin-border with bands of fur which diverge all the way down its length to the ground. Such a cloak will have at the collar a roll of fur so high that the wearer can with difficulty look over it. The problem of wearing this year's doak ever next year's gown won't present itself, if one indulges in one of these perishable glories of satin and fur passementerie. It seems like a er piracy on the part of the milliners to bankrupt their patrons; but doubtless milliners have seemed always to be doing that since long before Napoleon locked up the Empress Josephine's most subtly successful modiste in a fit of desperation at her bills, bills, bills! The combintion of green and blue of not greatly dissimilar density of shade is one of the season's ways, which is rather trying to those of a dull color sense.

Fashions in Furs.

It was only a few years ago the fur capes came into vogue, and were nothing more than a mere shoulder covering, shapeless, and with what new seems to us a horribly dowdy air; yet they were received with open arms, and were considered the most fetching things ever worn. They were considered the acme of elegance and when a few daring women of fashion were them over a thin muslin gown when going for an afternoon drive the admiration of all the fair sex was excited, and then and there the fur cape, for summer and winter wear became the piece de resistance of the wardrobe.

every season saw something added to the fur cape. First came the little tilt as the shoulders, then the cosy high collar, then the added length, until the elbow was reached; new, last of all, we have the full sweep, with huge collars, perfectly flat at the shoulders, and ornamented in various ways with a contrasting fue, small heads of beasts, tails or rich lace.

There is no telling to what lengths this progressive garment may go; another season may find the entire figure enveloped in it. However, the cape of the present is as modish a wrap as a dainty woman can wear, and aside from its mere beauty, conderfully comfortable and proof against the winds, however chill.

In keeping with the richness of the outside the linings are exquisite. Brocades are used in abundance, in tints to harmonize with the fur. A rich chinchilla cape has a lining of pearl gray satin brocaded with scarlet in a straggling fashion. The linings for ermine canes are especially lovely, in delicate color, mostly in soft yellows, blues or rose pinks.

Grav Hair.

American women in this last generation have discovered that at twenty-five their soft, well-groomed, richly colored hair has a most distressing way of turning gray. Whether this is the result of too much higher education, or bothering feminine brains unduly over problems our sensible grandmothers left to time and an all-wise Providence to settle, or the multiplicity of duties, social, political, financial and domestic, the modern damsel and matron feel called upon to consider and fulfil, no one can say. For a time, indeed, these gray hairs have greatly treubled the feminine population, until lately the matter has been settled by gray hair becoming markedly the fashion, -not only the fashion but the rage; and the grayer one's head shows, the more acutely one is envied by one's sisters, who now, instead of dipping their locks in "veird syrops' to turn the natural hair to gold or red, use alcohol to bleach away nature's own dye of brown or black. Interesting, but indeed deplorable, is the sight of debutantes with hair nearly as white as dames of seventy. The opinion is that with beight eyes and very rosy cheeks these venerable tresses bring out a striking and effective contrast; and many girls, who don't quite like to bleach their heads past redemption, venture only to whiten the soft curls about the face by daily dabbing them with cologne. Others yet more prudent, but stout sticklers for fashion, powder the hair lightly about the temples when in evening dress, and arrange the front a la Pompadour letting fall in a pretty fashion on their bare shoulders two big eighteenth-centur curls of snow-white false hair.

A very pretty coliar is of black velvet in three horizontal pleats. At each side are wings of black velvet and ostrich tips, in front of which are embroidered points. A gathered chiffon collar has large resettes at the sides, from which depend scarf ends trimmed with deep lace. This collar is very effective with a plain bodice. Another black stock collar has tiny ostrich tips alternating in black and yellow around the top edge of the collar, which | 31 years of her life in Mitchell. black sating

A very important decision has been given in the Appeal Court at Toronto, connected with promissory notes. The case was between Postmaster Elford, of Essex, and S. Collison, banker, Leamington. The latter held a note for $7,000, indorsed by Elford, and Collison did not notify him of its maturity for six years and eleven months, but renewed negotiations with the giver. Had the note ran for another month it would have been outlawed. The Assize Court ruled against Elford, but the decision has been reversed by the higher court with costs on the defendant. The decision declares that if a man indorses a note and the giver of the note fails to pay it, the indorser is not responsible if negotiations on the note have been renewed without the indorser's knowledge between the holder and the giver of the note.

A CURIOUS CASE.

Mrs. Hawley Confesses She Got Her Baby in Toronto.

Flushing, Mich., Jan. 13.-There have been some new developments in the Hawley case since Thursday. Readers remember that Mrs. Marshall Hawley, of this place, claimed that a heavily veiled woman placed a child in her care for a short time when the train stopped at Port Huron, and that she never returned to claim the child. When the reporter visited Mrs. Hawley she told a straightforward story and the same story that she has told her neighbors and most intimate friends, and even when the supervisor asked her if she ever applied to the Children's Aid Society, of Tore to, for the adoption of a child she stated positively that she had not. Supervisor H. L. Freeman later reeived a letter from Toronto, which stated that Mrs. Hawley had applied there for the adoption of a child, and on account of the reputation of her husband, who is well and favorably known in that city, she was allowed to take the child. When the superto take the child. visor read the letter to Mrs. Hawley she still dended and declared that it was a "put up job," but when told that she would have to do something in the matter or the arm of the law would reach around her, she decided to coness, which she did.

Mrs. Hawley has dark hair and eyes. s about 23 years of age, and has showed herself to be a woman of iron nerve. She does not give any reason for the course she has taken in the matter, or why she took the child.

Momentous Meeting of the British Cabinet -- Its Members Unanimous on All Leading Questions -- The Transvaal Trouble Not Yet Settled.

Strong Anti-British Feeling Still Prevailing in German Circles-Full Information on the International Disputes to Be Laid Before the British Parliament-Discovery of a New Light-Burns' Last Direct Male Descendant Dead.

sembling of British fleets for active vaal, reasons outside of colonial polservice and the many clouds hovering over the horizon of politics, the Cabinet meeting held at Downing street bound to assure President Kruger of yesterday is entitled to rank as one of the most momentous in the history of Great Britain. The Ministers had to decide several questions of vital importance to the British Empire, including the Transvaal, Armenian and Venezuelan difficulties, and Great Brit ain's position towards the old European powers. It is a striking fact that although the present Cabinet is one of the largest on record, it is unanimous upon all the leading questions under discussion. The central figure among the Ministers is undoubtedly Mr. Joseph Chamberlain, formerly much-abused Radical leader, whose able treatment of the recent colonial difficulties has excited the admiration of even his most virudent opponents. It is impossible not to remark the wonderful change of feeling towards him in the Radical press, which was wont to couple every mention of his name with the epithet "Judas." Now the Radical editors have nothing but the warmest eulo-gies for the Secretary of State for the Colomes, and he might almost be described as a popular hero at the pres-

NOT SO HOPEFUL.

The latest advices from the Transvaal would seem on their face to indicate that the situation is in no way so hopeful as it was a couple of days ago, in spite of official statements to the Cabinet is considering most unlooked-for demands upon the part of President Kruger, demands which, it is intimated, Great Britain cannot rasibly concede.

DEADLOCK IN NEGOTIATIONS. The reports generally believed to be tions between Sir Hercules Robinson, Governor of Cape Colony, and President Kruger, at Pretoria, show the gravity of the situation there, and arations being made by Great Britain.

inquiry into the events which culminated in Dr. Jameson's raid into the Transvaal will lead to the startling revelation that the plot was hatched by a gross of financiers in London, including several parvenues with colossal fortunes but with unsavory reputations. In addition, the statement is ade by a financial paper that Barney Barnato, the so-called "Kaffir King," who has considerable holdings in Delagoa Bay, has offered to sell the same to the British Government, which is considering the matter. This may explain the reported purchase of Delagoa Bay from Portugal by the Government of Great Brtain.

GERMAN INTERFERENCE RE-SENTED.

There is strong feeling of resentment among the Dutch as well as the British here, at the so-called meddling of Germany in South African affairs. Intense excitement prevails here, and there is a renewal of wild rumors, including one that Great Britain has sent an ultimatum to the Government of the Transvaal.

President Kruger has issued another proclamation to the Rand people, ask-ing them to behave in the future in such a way as to admit of the introduction of reforms.

A REBUFF FOR WILLIAM. The war feeling against Germany as greatly subsided, and the issue of the trouble is freely described as a rebuff for Emperor William, inasmuch German newspapers have the their tone, and the papers printing what were regarded as inspired articles and what first threat ened Great Britain, are now distinctly climbing down. Another feature of the situation is the feeling that France, although she would perhaps like to see Great Britain seriously injured, would never allow Germany to win; but would seek pretext, while Germany was crippled, to secure a revanche for 1870-71. WILLIAM'S CORRESPONDENCE

WITH THE QUEEN. The report that letters have passed between Emperor William and Queen Victoria relative to the subject-matter of the Transvaal is confirmed here. It is now claimed that this correspondence has not been quite conciliatory in its nature, intimation being made that the Emperor has made the statement that while not intending to offend England in any way, he is still of the opinion that Dr. Jameson's raid was criminal and worthy of condem-Emperor William at noon reard the report of Premier Von Marschall, Secretary of Foreign Affairs, relative to the situation, and expressed confidence that peace would be pre The Tageblatt charges the English press with falsifying the news, and says that it is not true that Emperor William and the German Government asked for help of the European powers for the purpose of neu-tralizing the English influence in the Both, according to the ageblatt, insist that the arrangements of the 1884 convention shall be preserved. That paper also states that is not true that the liberation of Dr. Jameson and his associates has been made dependent upon the abrogation of that convention. Herr Liebknecht, backed by 46 Socialist deputies will, during the coming week, inter-pellate Prince Hohenlohe, the German Chancellor, upon the position of the Government in the Transvaal ques-should stop the British advance in South Africa. Emperor William felt Germany's sympathy, and, if necessary, support, and he deemed himself bound to take this step by the verbal appeal of President Kruger, during the latter's stay in Berlin, to the Emperor's grandfather, William I., and to Prince Bismarck in 1894, for help in the hour of trouble, to which appeal Emperor William I. made a half promise of support.

Letters from English firms addressed termanding orders for goods have been the adoption of retaliatory measures, and calls upon the merchants to unite may al duel. The Berlin press is already together and pledge themselves not to explaining away the Emperor's dispurchase British goods.

GERMAN INTERESTS IN THE TRANSVAAL.

Several of the newspapers point out that Germany has big commercial interests in the Transvaal. For instance, the National Zeitung recalls that the Delagoa Bay Railroad was mainly constructed by Dutch and German capital, while 50,000,000 marks are invested in the best Transvaal gold. In addition, it is pointed out that many important factories have been built in the Transvaal by Germans, and the Siemens Company has erected there the most important electric power transmission works in the world, it is claimed, producing 4,000 horse power. It is hinted that the Reichstag will shortly be asked to vote several million marks with which to subsidize a judgment with energy peculiarly line of steamers between Germany and Delagoa Bay.

The big German Colonial Society will hold a monster demonstration on Jan. 16, when a resolution bearing upon the Transvaal will probably be adopted. In the Reichstag, however, the Transvalal matter will not be ventilated, in consequence of a hint received from the Minister for Foreign Affairs, Baron Marschall von Bieberstein, that the Government does not want to show its hand and that it would be inconvenienced by a discussion of the subject.

The attacks made upon the Emperor The attacks made upon the Emperor by the London press are regarded here trol of the Crown's officials. Kruger's as being typical of British insolence, and the claim of suzerain rights upon the part of Great Britain is answered by quoting the wording of the convention of 1884, in which the British crown expressly waived all rights, save on one point. This is also the view taken of the situation by the German Government, and minute and frequent instructions have been sent he German ambassador at London. Count Von Hatzfeldt-Wildenburg, to act in strict accordance with it. An official of the German Foreign Office said today: "No serious trouble is expected. The main quarrel is one picked by the British press and not Office. by the British Government. Germany Chamberlain can now afford to praise insists simply on the statu quo, which him, for he has harassing and alby the British Government. Germany will suffice for the Transvaal to develop its independence and resources. All speculation beyond that is baseless. In insisting upon the independence of the Transvaal, Germany is backed by the whole of Europe, and Great Britain does not dare disregard this warning to keep her hands off the soil of that brave little nation."

BRITISH RAPPROCHEMENT WITH FRANCE.

According to the Gazette, Germany's recent attitude on the Armenian question has alienated Great Britain and led to the rapprochement of the latter country to France, and the Marquis of Salisbury, it assents, suggested to the powers an international agreement Goevrnment finds itself compelled to by which Russia was to be intrusted decide amounts to this: Shall England with the pacification of Armenia. Now, when Great Servers of the events of the past Breat is found to have been confrontpass an armed force through the neuthe purpose of establishing German troops in the Transvaal, which is unthe Queen's suzerainty, it became evident, according to the Westminster Gazette, that here must be a change in the direction of Great Britain's European leanings, and the immediate result had rapprochement with France. Continuing, the Westminster Gazette says there is absolutely no intention to the Franco-Russian alliance any more than the Driebund; but Great Britain has become, it is hoped, better friends with both France and

A CAUSE FOR PRIDE. London, Jan. 12.-The perfect facility with which the operation of calling out the North Sea fleet was performed has swelled every British bosom with pride, and the statement that three more such extra fleets can be got together in a week, if necessary, makes the whole island beam with self-satis-faction. The Emperor's illtimed dispatch to President Kruger, when the Colonial Office was doing its full duty in loyally supporting the treaty obligation in circumstances of extreme difficulty, irritated every Englishman. The Admirality orders were received everywhere with public re-joicing. "Its time to show the world we are not afraid of Germany, or any other power," they said. THE REAL CRISIS.

It is important not to confuse nor longed discussion at the meeting of the British Cabinet yesterday. Recent events in South Africa are important only in their bearing upon the greater European crisis which they have served to accentuate. It has been a diplomatic and commercial combination. It has used only diplomatic and com-mercial weapons. There has been nothing to indicate that it included war in its programme. If war comes, it will be because England herself bethe sword is the only weapon of defense she can use. She has indicated during the past week by acts which speak far louder than words that she is not only prepared, but willing to use this weapon, unless the campaign against her is abandoned. In fact, she is forcing the game more than her opponents desire. The evidence is overwhelming of the eisxtence of an anti-British entente Germany Accepting this, then, as the supreme factor in the situation, what be said of Emperor William's quarrel with England over the Trans-vaal. WAR PREPARATIONS GO ON.
In the meantime preparations for war are being actively pushed by Great Britain, although little is heard from Germany on the same subject. It may be that England's war preparations are already accepted as a defiant ensure of the same subject. and threats of force.

A German official informs a Berlin correspondent that the reports in Van Blokand is negotiating the neu-tralization of the Transvaal, and that President Kruger is exacting the renunciation by England of the convention of 1884 before giving up Dr. Jameson are all unfounded. Germany recognizes the convention of 1884, but denies England's suzerainty. The internal situation in the Transvaal is understood to be not critical RUSSIAN IDEAS. A St. Petersburg dispatch says: The strongest interest is developing itself here on the Transvalal question, which, as a diplomatist said, has become a duel between England and Germany. The Novoe Vremya, in a long article on the question, of course anti-English in tone, says it is assumed a very serious phase. The nowers which were on the side of England as against the United States in regard to the question of the Venezuelan boundary and against the position of President Cleveland in his interpretation of the Monroe doctrine, are against England's policy in Africa.

ROSEBERY'S VIEWS. Ex-Prime Minister Rosebery, replying to an inquiry addressed to him on the subject, has written that the position of Great Britain in respect to foreign affairs is one of some anxiety and demands the most concentrated, vigilant and sympathetic attention of all parties. He adds: "We shall sur-mount the difficulties easily enough if we face them unitedly. It will be time enough when the cloud has lifted a little to discuss domestic affairs.'

WILLIAM'S WAYS.

The Westminster Gazette, commenting on the relations between the Em peror and the British royal family, says that these relations are offensive. He uses the imperative in his intercourse with all his relations in England and Germany, and holds himself to be the head of the family next to the Queen. As the son of the British Princes Royal, he always contends that he is heir to the British throne. In connection with this subject the Frankfort Zeitung renews the story that Emperor William, in the event of the death of the Queen will claim the throne of the United Kingdom and prepare to enforce his rights by force of arms. As a believer in the divine right of kings, he would not regard an adverse decision on his claim by Parliament.

THE QUEEN AND THE PREMIER The Queen is in excellent health, although she has been closely occupied with public affairs this week. Messengers have been on the road every day between Osborne and the Colonial and Foreign Offices. Her Majesty is constantly consulted at every turn of affairs.

Mr. Chamberlain has returned to inches wide at oc. London to attend a Cabinet meeting, after a prolonged consultation over night with the Queen at Osborne. Probably no recent state of affairs has engrossed her attention so completely as her grandson's adventure in the politics of England.

Fast Approaching Havana - The City Arming for a Siege.

Tampa, Florida, Jan. 13.—Passengers arriving from Cuba last night report that band has passed over Puentes Grande (the big bridge near Havana). The Spaniards had stretched heavy chains across the bridge to prevent the passage of cavalry. This, however, did not deter the insurgents. The produce exchange is forming five bat talions for the defense of the city. A double guard now surrounds all the government buildings. Gen. Gomez has sent a proclamation to the chiefs of volunteers in Havana not to commit outrages on any citizens and threatens to blow up the city if the edict is disregarded. Aquelo Solona, chief of police of the Port of Havana, was sent to Spain under arrest on Jar. 10, and was rep aced by Trujillo Monago. Solano was removed for permitting ammuni-tion to enter Havana and over-looking the passage of several insurgent agents. Gen. Weyley is soon to arrive with 25,000 troops for Pinar Del Rio. Cruisers are guarding that coast. In a recent encounter reported to have taken place at Guanaji between Gomez, Zaayas and Bermudez, who were entrenched there, and Gen. Garcia Navarro, Gen. Campos' son is said to have been wounded. Ferdinando De Castro, who gave $1,000 for the killing of Manual Garcia, the bandit, offers more for the killing of Gomez.

Rev. A. C. Courtice Preaches a Missionary Sermon to His Old Congregation

At Dundas Center Church - The Open Hand the Emblem of the Christian Church—The Church of the Present Day and the Church of Corinth.

Rev. A. C. Courtice, editor of the Christian Guardian, the popular former pastor of the Dundas Center Church, occupied his old pulpit twice yesterday, and preached earnest and learned missionary sermons. The improvised church was crowded at both services. The cares of the editorial chair have not dimmed Mr. Courtice's pulpit powers, and he appeared to be in better form than ever. His morning sermon was based on "These things saith the Amen; the faithful and true witness, the beginning of the creation of God." (Revelations, iii., 14.) The subject, the speaker said, was Christ witnessing for the truth, and the truth witnessing for Christ. It was not always the most gifted church that was in the most healthy spiritual condition. The church might have many rich, influential or learned members; it might have many with gifts of utterance, and understanding of all sciences and philosophy; and yet that church might be in a most unhealthy condition spiritually. Such was the case with the church of Corinth, yet by the standard of nowadays it would be called a first-class church. The church of Corinth came behind in no League Clubs are rapidly making up gifts, and yet in spiritual health it their nines. President Powers ammounces these new contracts: With Greece. What South-African Germans Tell Kaiser William-Uneasy Feeling In Cape Colony.

Johannesburg, South Africa, Jan. 13 .-The Uitlanders are expecting the Boers to make a house to house search for arms, and it is stated that the Germans of that place have been holding meetings and passing resolutions, telling Emperor William to mind his own business. Dr. Jameson and his lieutenants, as far known, are still at Pretoria awaiting the time when negotiations be-tween Sir Hercules Robinson and President Kruger reach a point which will permit his being sent to Natal under escort in order to be delivered over to the British authorities for trial. The officials of the British South Africa Company deny that Dr. Jameson was deposed from the post of administrator of their territory on the recommendation of the company.

Among South African politicians it is felt that the crisis is by no means over, and it is held by them that the banishment and interdiction placed upon the property of the chief men of Johannesburg cannot be tolerated. This feeling grows out of the report that warrants are out for the arrest of over 200 persons, all leading men in the mines and principal companies of the stock exchange, and of the professional element, and that among those arrested were several Americans and Germans, including J. S. Curtis, an American engineer. It is generally admitted, also, that the new Cabinet of Cape Colony is weak, and it is not thought likely that it will last for any length of time.

Considerable feeling has also been caused by the dispatch from Cape Town, announcing be arrest, at Sea Point, a suburb of Cape Town, of Charles Leonard, chairman the Transvaal National Union, under severely, the question being asked why the Cape Government is doing President Kruger's work for him, and refusing Britons an asylum which has not been denied to political offenders of other nations.

London, Jan. 13.-Mr. Rhodes' statement that he is but beginning his political life seems to be the view held by many here and it is pointed out that although he has doubtless lost the support of Hofmeier, the Afrikander leader, and the dutch vote of the Cape, there is every reason to suppose that if he is defeated by his present constituency he will easily carry another where the Dutch acte is not important. Solly Joel, a member of the Rand reform committee, who, according to a dispatch from Cape Town, has just been arrested there on a charge of treason, also under extradition proceedings, is a nephew of Barney Barnato, the so-called "King of the Kaffirs."

BREAK IN THE CLOUDS. The Westminster Gazette this afternoon, touching upon the misunder-standing between Great Britain and the United States, says it sees a distinct break in the clouds, and hopes that a settlement satisfactory to Great Britain and the United States will be effected with Venezuela direct, and intimates that the Brazilian Minister is closely identified with the latest pro-posed solution of this controversy. Referring to the trouble between Great Britain and Germany, the Westmin-ster Gazette remarks: "The effects of the shifting of English Germany to France and Russia is already evident in the efforts making to explain Emperor William's telegram. Continuing, the Westminster Gazette adds: If our information is correct, the Marquis of Salisbury's desire to be etter friends with France has already brought forth some fruit."

Manchester Guardian, commenting on the British naval preparations, says that considerable credit is attached to the story that the flying squadron, which is to assemble at Portland early this week, is more likely to go to the Dardanelles than to Delagoa Bay, adding: "Emperor William's message came just at the right time to give the Ministers an excuse for making preparations really intended to back their new policy, which will end the Armenian horrors and bring the Sultan to his senses.'

Latest rumors point to a naval demonstration at Constantinople by Great Britain and France.

A dispatch to the Pall Mall Gazette from Cape Town, published today, says that the latest advices received there from Pretoria state that bail has been refused the ringleaders of the recent disturbances at Johannesburg, and that the other people arrested in the same their cure, but none to say that Dodd's connection have been liberated each in Kidney Pills have ever failed. is expected that severe measures will be taken against the leaders of the uprising, in spite of the fact that it is now apparent that they were receiv-ed and taken by surprise by Dr. Jameson's incursion. Sir Hercules Robinson, the Governor of Cape Colony, it appears, has made every effort to secure leniency for the prisoners, but, the extreme section of the Boers are much incensed, and very difficult to control. The new Ministry for Cape Colony is regarded as a device shield the ex-Premier, Mr. Cecil Rhodes, and Str Hercules Robinson. Mr. Rhodes, it is said, is in very bad health.

-At Osgoode Hall Saturday: Sterling vs. Grant—Appeal by defendants from judgment of Meredith, J., dismissed with costs. Gibbons, Q.C. (London), for plaintiffs; Wallace Nesbitt for defendants.

-No. 3 committee was photographed in a group this morning. A superficial examination of the camera by which the deed was done failed to reveal any injury. A more critical examination may yet be held, nowever.

-The machinery in the street railway power house was not in operation this morning, owing to the delay in receipt of some piping which however is expected today. The company expects to begin using their own power tomorrow.

-Rev. Wm. Graham, M.A., of St. Johns, preached in St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church yesterday morning in the interest of the church in that colony, his text being "David prospered and grew great," and his subject "Principles of Achievement." In the evening Mr. Bone, of the Welland Canal mission, delivered a short address on his work. Rev. Mr. Graham preached in Knox Church, South London, in the evening.

-The work of the secretary of Charity Organization Society would be greatly assisted could the names of citizens be procured who would like to render assistance to needy families in the city. If such would send their names, worthy cases could be placed in their care. Blank forms will be sent to persons applying for them. It is desirable these be kept at their homes, so that those asking help may be attended to on presenting the blank properly filled

-The aerial truck made for the local fire department by the Waterous Company, Brantford, arrived this morning, and was unloaded this afternoon at the G. T. R. freight depot. Chief Geo. D. Calder, of the Brantford brigade, Foreman Mc-Quillian and Mr. Waterous are in the city, and will remain until the structure is tested tomorrow. The truck carries, besides the 65 foot aerial ladder, a 45 foot Bangor extension, one 30 foot, two 25, one 20, one 18, one 16, a 12 foot extension, ceiling ladder and two Pompier ladders.

BONEYARD OF THE PACIFIC. Awful Experience of a Crew Off Vancouver Island-Seven Meet Death. Seattle, Wash., Jan. 13.—Ten days of suffering from cold and privation in a rocky bluff, during which time seven of the crew, including the captain and mate, met their death, the other mate and seaman meeting with terrible accidents, tells the tale of the wrecking of the big four-masted ship Jeanette Cowan, off Vancouver Island, otherwise known as the "Boneyard of the Pacific Ocean." This news was brought to the city by the says, and I'll just do what I likes, and tug Tyee, which yesterday morning landed founteen members of the ill-fated crew at Port Townsend. The vessel struck New Year's Day. tug Tyee sighted the wreck Saturday afternoon. The sea was running pret-ty high at the time the tug hove to. portion of the crew could be seen on top of a high bluff, on which a tent had been pitched. A sight met the gaze of the rescuers that will not be forgotten for years to come. Seated about a fire were thirteen men all wearing an expression of utter hopelessness and misery. First Mate Chas. Legall, who was lashed to the boatswain chair, suffering from a frac-tured leg, told Mate Hall of the Tyee the story of the disaster. He said the Cowan came from Cape Town, South Africa, for Royal Roads, B. C., and was eighteen days out when she (British), Smith (German), (Swede), Kerr (Scotch), Cox (native of Town), Chamberlain (London), Chamberliss (Greece), Cousin land), Heats (Russian), Roano (Man-Carpenter (England), Wilson illa), (Scotch). Capt. Thompson died three days before the arrival of the Tyee from exposure, and the three others on the Mrs. Ormiston Chant to ask her what she next day from the same cause. second mate and two apprentice boys met their death while trying to make landing in a small boat the night that the ship struck.

Very Hard Indeed.

COLIC AND KIDNEY DIFFICULTY

-Mr. J. W. Wilder, J.P., Lafargeville, N. Y., writes: "I am subject to severe attacks of Colic and Kidney difficulty, and find Parmelee's Pills afford me great relief, while all other remedies have failed. They are the best medicine I have ever used." In fact, so great is the power of this medicine to cleanse and purify, that diseases of almost every name and nature are driven from the coay.

THE WICKEDEST WOMAN

HER TWO HUNDRED AND EIGHTY-NINTH CONVICTION.

Jane Cakebread Has Acquired That Repu tation in London by an Unparalleled Record---Lady Henry Somerset's Vain Effort to Reclaim Her From Evil Ways.

Once more has Lady Henry Somerset unwittingly added to the gayety of London. This time she has done so vicariously. The vicar, if we may use a term which of late years has been monopolized and hallowed by the church, is that hope less old inebriate, Jane Cakebread.

Perhaps you don't remember the story of poor old Jane? She is one of the most notorious characters in London. She has spent some fifty-four years on this earth. The first eighteen were spent in the country in presumptive innocence and rustic purity. Then Jane came to London. In a short time she fell-a victim to the temptations of the great city. Then it was that she took her present name. What her real name is nobody knows. For the last thirty years she has divided her time between the houses of ill repute and the jails. She is known as the wickedest woman in London. Yet it is rather the quantity than the quality of her offenses that has earned her this unenviable fame. She has beaten the record. She had been arrested and convicted 288 times when Lady Somerset got hold of her. That good woman saw a chance to rescue a brand from the burning. Jane was not bad at heart, she was not cruel, she had never wilfully harmed a human being. She was merely drunken and immoral-drunken because she liked drunkenness, immoral because she lived by immorality. Take away the temptation to drunkenness, and the incentive to immorality, thought good Lady Henry, and there you are.

So she prepared for Jane a nice, comfortable little cottage and the gentlest of supervision down in the bracing air of Surrey. Jane was touched by the kindness of her would-be patroness, but she took time to revolve in her mind whether she should accept this scheme for her sobriety and comfort. Finally she yielded. At her urgent entreaty, however, she was granted a day to say good-by to her old friends before beginning her new life. The farewells were celebrated in the good old style to which she had long been accustomed, and the result was that by nightfall Jane Cakebread had achieved her 289th arrest, and gotten a month of hard labor in Cambridge Prison. Al London was amused when the story of the arrest was published next morning. Jane's portrait was in the illustrated papers. Reporters thronged to visit her in her cell. To them she denied that she had ever seriously contemplated accepting Lady Somerset's offer.

"I might 'ave been a little short at first," she said, "not knowing the hargument and what it all meant, but she was very kind, and has beautiful eyes. What is to happen to me now? Are we not told, 'Boast not thus of the morrow for thou knowest not what a day may bring forth?' I means no offence, but I'm not going to no 'ome-not I, at present, anyhow. 'Oh it's not an 'ome at all,' they perhaps that's so-but I'm going to my own friends, I am."

It will be seen that Jane can quote Scripture. Sir Havelock Ellis, in his book on the "Criminal" tells us that no class of the community has so large a per centage of Christian believers as the criminals. Rarely, if ever, do you find an avowed atheist among them, seldem a deist, but almost always a firm believer in some orthodox cult. Curiously enough, that is the very reason why criminals are so little subject to the spiritual influences of Christianity, Forms and creeds have so long received a lazy acquiescence as things of course that they have lost all power of stimulating the imagination or awakening the dormant conscience. The prison chaplains, the members of the Salvation Army, and reached Cape Flattery on Dec. 19. The now Lady Somerset, have all been baulksurvivors of the wrecked vessel are: ed in their efforts to reclaim this irre-Mate Legall Hunt (colored), Morgan sponsible, careless, abandoned old woman, sinning much, but sinning mostly against herself, believing in a heaven that rewards the good and a hell that punishes the wicked, but never taking serious thought whether she is on the road to one or the other. Boston, Oct. 14, 1895.—I went out to Chestnut Hill to-day, and called upon knew about Jane Cakebread. She says she never saw the woman, and has no personal knowledge of her history or the efforts to reform her. But she knows that Lady Henry Somerset has had her in charge for some time. In the course of the conversation, Mrs. Chant said: "I have never seen Jane Cakebread or her picture, but know from the type how she looks. She has a low, broad forehead, a nose wide at the nostrils and turned up at the end; she has black hair -I know this because she withstands the offect of liquor so well; she has a broad chin, or she never could have faced a that could give the tones of her voice I could strike it.

"Among women of her class we have three types-the light, divided into the fair and the ashen hued; the browns, divided into the dark brown and the red brown, the black, divided into those with gray eyes and those with black. I know the physical, mental, moral and social peculiarities of all of them."

American bacon, however, has sold down to 25s 6d and 26s Despite the depressed condition of the English market, shipments are going forward every week both from Montreal and Ontario shippers, who appear to be following the market, as there is now a regular demand for Canadian bacon in the principal centors of Great Britain. The late decline in values on the other side is due to the large shipments from Denmark, Ireland, the United States and Canada. Of course, if prices have declined in England, they have also dropped here, and shippers may therefore not be so badly off after all.-Trade Bulletin.

BY THE CHIEF JUSTICE.

Opened at the Court House.

Chief Justice W. R. Meredith's First Session in London-His Address to the Jury-Opposed to the Abolition of the Grand Jury-Refers to Many Changes in the Laws-One Affects the London Week ly High Court,

Mr. Chief Justice Meredith, of the Common Pleas Division of the High Court of Justice, opened the winter assizes for Middlesex at the court house at 1 o'clock this afternoon.

The opening proceedings were identically the same as attend every High Court sitting. The presiding judge was met on his arrival at the court house by the constables, and was escorted to his room by Mr. Sheriff Cameron. There is an unusual amount of interest manifested in the court from the fact that it is the first appearance of Mr. Justice Meredith in this city since his appointment to the bench. The local bar was considering the advisability of deliv-ering an address of congratulation to his lordship, but as he recently ex-pressed his disapproval of such a course, the idea was abandoned. On Friday night, however, Mr. Meredith will be tendered a banquet at the Tecumseh House, at which it is expected all the local bar and a number from outside western towns will be present.

The grand jury for the present court comprises: A. W. Augustine, lot 16, con. 8, West Williams; James Armitage, Lucan · Samuel Brown Wardsville: W H. Caverhill, lot 17, con, 7, Lobo; Geo. C. Jolly, 31 Ann street, London West; Henry Percival, lot 8, con. 2, Richard A. Powell, lot 7, con. 8, and Thomas W. Shoebottom, lot 9, con. 9, Jondon township; James J. Sutherland, lot 9, con. 3, Caradoc; Samuel Su-therland, lot 9, con D, Delaware; Thos Tapp, 404 Pall Mall street; and John Tanton, 379 Waterloo street, city; D. D. Wiley, lot 3, con. 1, Adelaide. James Armitage was chosen foreman.

Chief Justice Meredith's address to the grand jurors was very brief. In opening he congratulated them upon would be brought to their attention, that of an Oneida Indian, who is charged with criminally assaulting a young married squaw-and after relatting their duties in the case, spoke of the many changes which had been effected in the grand jury system. "the reduction of grand jurors from 24 to 13," said Mr. Meredith, "was probably due to an agitation started in the Province against the system by many who thought it unnecessary in the present day, when there were pre-liminary means of investigation, which did not exist in the country when the grand jury was created. They said the expense incurred by the maintenance of the system was large. There were others who thought it would be unwise to do away with the time-honored institution which occupied so important a part in the administration of justice. I am one of those who thought form or other be maintained, because it is not only of importance as an educaltive body, but because the public may feel that they have a part in the administration of justice. Not being able to comply with the demand for t' abolition of the system, the Ontario Legislature reduced the number of the jury to thirteen, which. I think, has has also been made in the petit jury system, whereby ten of the twelve can bring in a verdict. I think istration of justice in an endeavor to comply with the demand for the lessening of the cost of litigation. One of the changes referred to was that whereby regular daily sittings of the Divisional Court are to be held at Osgoode Hall, Toronto. Owing to these continuous sittings the judges found it somewhat difficult to make an arrangement whereby one of their number could attend weekly high courts in this city and Ottawa. Complaints were made that they consequently did not possess the many advantages intended, as county court judges, who would preside, were apt to be called upon to hear an appeal from a judgment given by themselves. This, of course, they could not do. Provision has been made under a new schedule, prepared by the judges, whereby all the weekly sittings (except one in March) will be conducted by high court justices. Other changes resulted in the compulsory transaction in Toronto of business which recently could have been brought before the single court. In conclusion the chief justice di-

CHAPTER XLI. Shortly after the events detailed in the last chapter, the Abbe Despard sent the following letter to Madame de Montarnaud:

'My Dear Daughter,-In reply to your last somewhat impatient letter, will simply say that I have done my best, and all that is possible, to carry out your wishes, and that I have failed, and the plan must be abandoned. As for your plan of kidnapping the boy, for it amounts to that, it is absolutely out of the question; and I rather wonder your suggesting it to one you profess to reverence as your spiritual father. of comparing their own sterile belief with the full and satisfying creed of the true church, as in the Italian countries, or in fear of death and poverty, as now in France, there would be hope; but to ask these smooth-faced, prosperous rogues to give up their worldly standing and sanctimentous public prayers, to risk sanctimonious public prayers, to risk life and goods, and the respect of men, for a faith which they have always known and deliberately abandoned, is, as you saw while here, an almost hopeless undertaking. I could hardly wonder at your abandoning the task, and cutting short your emulaion of Madame de la Petrie before reaching her gloricus and Remember, however her glorious end. CHAPTER XLII. It was the chill gloaming of a November day; a leaden sky hung low above the flat and lifeless sea, crushed by its weight, and reflecting its color; the skeleton trees shivered in the wind moaning fitfully out of the east, and slowly bringing in a great fog-bank to lie like a shroud over the face of dead Nature a chill, defying duffle mantle, or robe of fur, and sending a shiver through even the stoutest frame; while the old wives, comforting their frosty noses and withered fingers at the blaze snapping upon every hearth, cried: "Hark to the fire treading snow! It he a shrewd night on the coasic God keep the sailors!" "They signalled another brig off the heavy boot.

"Another? Oh, yes! The Messenger, from Boston, came in this morning," replied his wife. "Well, if the brig's Then nothing remains but to bid skipper is a prudent man, he'll stay you a fair good-day, and a long adieu, off the Gurnet till morning light, and off the Gurnet till morning light, and not risk Brown's Island and Dick's Flat in a night fog."

"Pity but he had thee to guide him, replied her husband with a piece on's shoulders than thee, Diggory, he needs me." Creeping in, and creeping up, the fog reached Burying Hill, and goes stealing along between the rows of stones marking the streets and alleys of this city of the dead, already more populous than the town below, hanging dankly upon the funereal evergreens set here and there about the graves, and seeming to wither away the last freshness of the grass crouching becrouches a woman clad in deepest showed a wild and woeful fale-a face gloomy eyes, once its charm, burned like the fires whereby upon a stricken field men seek the bodies of the slain. Quiet and impassive as the dead around her she crouched there; but it was not in the gentle resignation of hallowed grief; the volcanic throes were for the moment exhausted, yet only gathered strength for a new outburst. On that face, as on that of Milton's Satan, one read that so long as the deathless spirit endured, so long it was that of a rebel against God; never should it arrive at his peace. At a little distance, his back turned to the silent morner, stood a man, his hat pulled over his eyes, his arms folded, his face, gray as the sky and the sea and the fog, bent downward, his mind so lost in gloomy thought that the present scene and companionship were forgotten, and he did not hear the light tread of a woman, who, climbing the little footpath among the graves, passed close beside him, and approached the stone with the sable

DESCENDANT. By the death of Robert Burns, near Edinburgh, the direct male line of the Scotch poet is brought to an end. The last direct descendant was the poet's great-grandson. He was a schoolmaster's son, who served seven years in the army in the Fusilier Guards, drifted from one occupation to another, being alternately railway servant, gardener and keeper of a gunpowder magazine. For many years he was employed as assistant gardener at the Princess street gardens, in the Scotch capital.

IN CONGRESS.

A Warlike Proposal-Increasing the Naval Forces.

Washington, Jan. 13.-The most warlike proposition that has yet been presented in Congress is the bill introduced in the Senate authorizing the Secretary of the Navy to enlist additional men for service in the United States navy and for other purposes. The first section of the bill authorizes the Secretary of the Navy to enlist 1.000 additional men for the navy, and make a specific appropriation for that purpose. The second section authorizes the Secretary 'Whenever an expediency may exist which, in the judgment of President, renders their services necessary" to enlist for two years as much of the naval militia. "and other men" as he may leem necessary to man vessels not having full crews, and such other ships as the Presiden may decide to call into service under the fourth section of the bill. The fourth section giving the President and the Secretary authority to charter as many vessels as they please for the transportation of troops, "or for other purposes."

An Italian Woman Kills the Man Who Insulted Her.

Baltimore, Md., Jan. 13.-Mrs. Mattie V. Anglier, wife of Frank Anglier, a cigar dealer and poolroom proprietor shot Charles H. Parker, 33 years old, agent for Leavitt Machine Company, of Athol, Mass., in her husband's store, at 1,431 North Charles street, shortly after noon on Saturday, Parker was taken to the City Hospi, where he died at 2 o'clock. He had two bullet wounds in the back of his head, and another in his left breast.

Mrs. Anglier, when arrested, made the following statement: "This man came to our place several days ago and attempted to take liberties with me. My husband was not well and he knew it. He grabbed me about the walst; and after freeing myself I told him if he attempted such a thing again I would murder him. I was afraid of him and put a revolver in my pocket to defend myself. He came in the store today, and when he got near me attempted to catch hold of me. I drew the revolver and shot him. I do not regret it, because I did it in self-defense. He should have let me alone and I would not have shot him."

Castoria destroys Worms and allays feverishness. Castoria prevents vomiting Sour Curd, cures Diarrhœa and Wind Colic. Castoria relieves teething troubles, cures constipation and flatulency. Castoria assimilates the food, regulates the stomach and bowels, giving healthy and natural sleep. Case toria is the Children's Panacea—the Mother's Friend.

Castoria.

DR. G. C. OSGOOD, Lowell, Mass

"Castoria is the best remedy for children of which I am acquainted. I hope the day is not far distant when mothers will consider the real interest of their children, and use Castoria instead of the various quack nostrums which are destroying their loved ones, by forcing opium, morphine, soothing syrup and other hurtful ts down their throats, thereby sending them to premature graves." DR. J. F. KINCHELOE,

Castoria

"Castoria is so well adapted to children the I recommend it as superior to any prescription

H. A. ARCHER, M. D. 111 So. Oxford St., Brooklyn, N. Y.

"Our physicians in the children's department have spoken highly of their experience in their outside practice with Castoria, and although we only have among our medical supplies what is known as regular products, yet we are free to confess that the merits of Castoria has won us to look with favor upon it."

Bride, Corner Washington State and Summer avenue. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Wyllis Hall, rector of All Saints' Church, before only the contracting parties.

"The spacious house was artistically decorated in honor of the event by Chisholm, the hall, drawing room and dining room being profusely adorned with palms, smilax, white carnations and California poppies. In the corner of the drawing room where the ceremony took place, was suspended a lovely floral wishbone, made of white Roman hyacinths. The door where the bridal party entered was ornamented with a curtain of smilax edged with white carnations, with a white letter "F" overhead. The door of exit was likewise decorated, with a yellow letter "R" overhead. Over the dining table festoons of smilax and gold ribbon were hung, and the wedding cake occupied a position in an alcove of the drawing room, surrounded by palms and smilax. "The wedding gown of the bride was a dream of beauty, being made of ivory satin of exquisite texture, embroidered in California popples, the full Godet skirt being unadorned save by its own graceful folds falling from waist to end of train, finished at bottom with heavy satin cord. The Ballerese was of white net inserted with white satin ribbon edged and headed with Valenciennes The 'empressment' collar was made of the same material as the gown, embroidered in seed pearls, the whole finished with priceless Irish point lace, which was a gift from the bride's aunt, with a stock collar of tulle and orange blossoms. The veil falling to the edge of the train was held by a tiara of diamonds. The bride carried a prayer-book of ivory from Tiffany.

The going-away gown was a fine
Scotch tweed, a mixture of brown, made in the very latest vogue, trim-med with mink. The bridesmaid, Miss Fitzgerald, an old schoolmate of the bride, wore a gown of India muslin, trimmed with Valenciennes, lace

"The presents were numerous and stly, including a check from the bride's father, Mr. J. K. Fairbanks, of Petrolea, Canada; a diamond tiara from the bride's mother, a diamond necklace from the bride's brother, a star of pearls and diamonds from the groom, a silver toilet set, cut glass and silver. After the ceremony a sumptuous wedding feast was served by Christopher. At the close of the weding tour, through the northern part of the State, Mr. and Mrs. Rock will return to Pasadena, where they will

$2.00 PER DAY:

Yes, that's what we want, and you will make from $2 per day up by giving us your help. You see, it's like this. We have just completed our January stock taking, and find we have made some money, but we also find that we have bought too heavily of winter goods. This would not have been the case if the weather had been colder in October and November but it wasn't, and now we want your help in clearing out these goods to make room for our spring importations. We have reduced the prices on these goods just one-half. If you want to make $2 today there is no easier way than to come down to our store and buy your necessaries at half price.

100 Men Wanted

To help us Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday to clear out our store of winter goods. We would like to have carried them over, but can't do it. We have to have the money; necessity makes every business man mark down his prices sometimes. We are just in such a fix now. Here it is the middle of winter. and we've got several hundred suits of heavy underwear, several hundred heavy tweed suits and overcoats, and fifty or sixty dozens of winter gloves, which we have got to sell to get money to pay for our spring goods that are arriv	ving da	uily.

100 Housekeepers Wanted

To know that they can make more money in one hour than their husbands can in ten. You can do it in this way: Rise ten minutes earlier in the morning and prepare a tasty lunch for your husband to carry with him; in so doing you can save an hour or more which would be occupied in preparing a hot dinner. Take advantage of the hour so saved and come down to our store and purchase your household necessaries, when everything is marked down at half price, and you will find you can easily make from $2 83 in an hour.
