Militia Contracts Aired in the House.

Supplies for the Camp at London and Kindred Questions Discussed.

Why Contracts for Clothing Were Not Allowed to Stand.

Ottawa, Sept. 12.-In the House yesterday, Hon. Mr. Laurier stated that it had been decided to lay before the House the letter of Gen. Gascoigne to Gen. Cameron, but as the former is an imperial officer, the consent of the Home Government must first be ob-

CAMP SUPPLIES. Mr. Reattie complained that the sun-

plies for the London camp had not been given out by tender. Mr. Gibson referred to the camp at Niagara as having been supplied for years on this principle, only Conser vatives getting contracts. Besides Mr. McCleary, member for Welland, had in times past got fat contracts without competition. He defied Major Beat-tie to name one Liberal who had a military contract in London. Mr. Beattie retorted that Johnston Bros.-"bitter Grits," he called themsupplied bread to the permanent corps. Mr. McCleary asserted that his firm had never obtained a contract except in public competition

Mr. Ingram and Sir Adolphe Caron defended militia management in the past. The latter said the lowest tenderer always got the contract.

Mr. Mulock replied that in the matter of clothing contracts large sums were lost to the country by the work being given by the late Government to favorites by private offer. "Why," he went on, "what have I had to do every day? Why, my work day by day is canceling frauds committed by my predecessors in office."
At this Mr. Foster jumped up and called the Postmaster-General to or-Sir Adolphe Caron indignantly demanded if the Postmaster-General charged him with fraud.

The Speaker ruled that if Mr. Mulock charged fraud he must specify the honorable member against whom to charge the fraud. Mr. Mulock said he did not charge personal corruption against Mr. Caron. He pointed out, as an instance of what he contended, that in Cape Breton a mail contract for $9,000 was continued while an offer to do the work for $2,700 was before the Government. The Minister of Militia complained that the discussion has been sprung without notice. He declared the contracts had all gone to the lowest tender, "but," he said, "my hon. friends must not be disappointed if under the new regime the Liberals of Canada get a fair show. I'll make it my business to see that they do." (Loud Ministerial cheers.) He added that would not, however, get any more than fair play. Sir Charles Tupper said the promist that the militia supplies would be let by tender and contract had been broken.

Col. Domville reminded Mr. Foster that the late Administration had purchased land for a drill hall as Sussex, N. B., without public competition, at a cost of $7,000, and then leased it without tender. Mr. Fraser gave illustrations from Nova Scotia along the same line. Mr. Calvert brought up the case of a contract for carrying mails between Melbourne and Middlemiss, given by the late Government, which he said had not been let by contract. The Speaker suggested that, instead of springing questions like this before would best serve the public interest by asking for the papers. THE MILITIA CLOTHING. Col. Tisdale asked what about the canceled clothing contracts. The Minister of the Interior said that on looking into the clothing contracts he found one had awarded for three years, from July 1, 1896, and another com-mencing July 1, 1897, for two years. These contracts were let without tenders being asked for by public advertisement. He had referred the papers to the Department of Justice and received a carefuly prepared opinion from that department stating that the Militia Department had no year, subject to the will of Parlia-OFFENSIVE PARTISANS. The estimates were then taken out. It came out that five sessional clerks had been dismissed for offensive political partisanship Sir Hibbert Tupper condemned the authority whatever to make these contracts. He proposed, therefore, to annul the contract commencing July 1

1897. In regard to the three years'

contract, he would accept that for one

Speaker for so acting. The Speaker warmly resented this, and said he had acted perfectly fair. He could have refused to reappoint every sessional clerk if he chose. Mr. Fielding quoted from a newspaper report of a speech by Sir Chas. Tupper in 1887, wherein he gave as the reason of the dismissal of a sessional clerk the taking of an offensive part in the election. Sir Charles Tupper said he stood by every word of that speech. He would

THE HIGH COMMISSIONERSHIP. Mr. Oliver gives notice of a resolution to the effect that the country is not receiving a corresponding benefit for the $30,000 paid for the mainten-ance of the High Commissioner's office in London. The resolution alleges that during the tenure of office of the late High Commissioner, Sir Charles Tupper, the cattle trade with Great Britain decreased and immigration fell off; also that by reason of his business connection the present High Commissioner is not a suitable person to hold

Blood Purifier and nerve tonic To the ratepayers of the City of London,—As you are about to spend about a quarter of a million of dollars upon your sewerage system, the question for the ratepayers to decide is whether the sewer pipes required shall be manufactured in the city of London or brought in from other places. E. North will exhibit his Portland cement, concrete stone sewer pipes, at the southwest corner of the Exhibition grounds, and respectively invites the citizens of London and experts and visitors to the Western Fair to this exhibit of 12 different sizes from 4 inches within to 43 inches, with Y, T and elbow. Please note their smoothness, thickness of wall and depth of socket, and their great strength, and when properly placed and the right size for the work they have to do, they are there for all time, as they are practically indestructible. E. North, manufacturer, London, opposite Carling's Brewery, has testimonials from the leading men of the city of London and the leading men of House without notice, members Western Ontario as to their great merits, and at the Western Fair of 1892 was awarded the silver medal. They are the only class of sewer pipes made from the materials that improve with age in the ground and in the water, and positively there are no superior sewer pipes in the market. Should the city authorities decide to have their sewer pipe made in the city of London for the sewerage system, it would give employment to a number of hands, besides building up a permanent industry in our midst and besides about half the cost of production would remain in the city of London. Yours respectfully.

HORGAN A WINNER Horgan, of New York, was the winmer in the 300-point pool game with Haight, of Port Huron, which was finished last night at the Grigg House parlors. Haight lost by 16 points. Both men did clever work, but Horgan played a safer game than Haight, who took the most difficult shots. In addition to the purse of $50, the winner takes half of the admission fees, making the total amount $80. The score at the close of the 21st rack Thursday night was Horgan 153, and Haight 144. At the conclusion Mr. Haight challenged his opponent to a return match, to be played at the challenger's establishment in Port Huron, offering to put up $25 forfeit to play for $100 or $500. Horgan refused on the ground that Haight would be in better form on his own tables. Haight says he was at a disadvantage here, as Horgan had been practicing for a week at the Grigg House.

It has been decided to wind up the Hamilton Bicycle Track Company, and to divide the money on hand a little over $2,000 — among the stockholders. The capital stock of the company was $6,000, but only about $5,000 was paid. The stock-holders will realize about 40 cents on the dollar, the secretary-treasurer says.

Messrs. E. C. Already Stearns bicycles have found a ready market abroad, and large shipments have recently been made to England, France, Germany, Holland, Sweden, Spain and other countries. This firm employs a large number of Canadian workmen, and every Canadian will rejoice at their success.

Any sarsaparilla is sarsaparilla. True. So any tea is tea. So any flour is flour. But grades differ. You want the best. It's so with sarsaparilla. There are grades. You want the best. If you understood sarsaparilla as well as you do tea and flour it would be easy to determine. But you don't. How should you? When you are going to buy a commodity whose value you don't know, you pick out an old established house to trade with, and trust their experience and reputation. Do so when buying sarsaparilla. Ayer's Sarsaparilla has been on the market 50 years. Your grandfather used Ayer's. It is a reputable medicine. There are many Sarsaparillas -but only one Ayer's. It cures.

Mr. John Norris, of Wingham, the well-known G. T. R. engineer, died at the home of his father-in-law at Windsor yesterday after an illness of several months, caused by a cancerous growth in the neck. He formerly resided in London, and was past president of the London division of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers. He was also a prominent member of the Masonic fraternity, being a Companion of St. John's Royal Arch Chapter, No. 3, and a Past Preceptor of Richard Coeur de Lion Preceptory No. 4, Knights Templar, both of this city. In 1894 he was grand sword bearer of the Great Priory of Canada. Mr. Norris formerly ran on the Western Division of the G. T. R., but latterly on the London, Huron, and Bruce. He leaves a widow. At the regular meeting of the Lon-don Knights Templar last night, feeling references were made to the great loss the order had sustained in the death of Sir Knight Norris. It was and George L. McKay, Galt, are declared amateurs.

Toronto, Sept. 12.—Yesterday was review day at the Fair, and all departments were open until 10 p.m. The weather was fine and warm. tendance was large. All the prize horses and cattle were paraded in front of the grand stand, and the usual performances given both afternoon and evening. The evening entertainment was concluded by a magnificent display of fireworks. The exhibition has been a decided success, the receipts being greatly in excess of last year. Prominent among the exhibits was:

TYPEWRITER SPEED CONTEST. The well known firm of Creelman Bros.' Typewriter Company made the finest display of up-to-date writing machines ever made at Toronto's great Industrial Exhibition. Fifteen machines were shown, among which was the "Duplex," the fastest type-writer in the world; the "Jewett," the favorite universal double keyboard, and the wonderful little "Bickensderfer," with visible writing and visible

Miss Hunter, of Buffalo, and Mr. J. J. Seitz, manager of the firm, at the request of Mr. Creelman, entertained the immense crowd of intensely interested spectators with a speed contest, Miss Hunter operating on the "Duplex," and Mr. Seitz on the "Jewett," with the extraordinary result and speed of 212 words a minute for Miss Hunter, and 129 for Mr. Seitz, thereby not only confirming, but exceeding the wonderful speed of 200 words a minute claimed for the "Du-

The "Duplex" is certainly the writing machine par excellence, fully entitled to the claim of being the fastest in the world.

The extraordinary speed of 250 words a minute has been attained by Mr. H. Baldwin, of Philadelphia, and other experts, which places the "Duplex" not only up to date, but half a century in advance of the old-timers. In connection with this exhibit was s fine display of power and hand knit-ting machines, made by Creekman ting machines, made by Creelman Bros., of Georgetown, Ont.

Two Rivers, N. S. ROBERT ROSS.

London, Sept. 12.-The orders issued to the British squadron under Admiral Seymour to rendezvous at Salonica in October are distinctly connected with the change in British policy towards the Porte, which marked the arrival of Sir Philip Currie, the British ambassador, in Constantinople. Sir Philip, without ostentatiously declaring a more active and isolate English policy, has conveyed the impression to other European diplomats at Constantinople that henceforth the European concert will be adhered to by England only so far as it agrees with a purely English policy. There must be no more massacres of Chris-tians nor Moslem mob rioting, nor inciting to general murder, without practical intervention by England with or without the approval of the other powers. The game which Russian diplomacy has played under Prince Lobanoff's artful hand of paralyzing all interference in the Sultan's misdoings until the time became ripe for the utter ruin of Turkey to the aggrandizement of Russia, seems about to end. The question is asked here why

Lord Salisbury so long followed a merely tentative policy, and what caused the change to a more pronounced and independent tone. There is no doubt that the Queen's indignation over the Constantinople massacres had much to do with it. Her Majesty rarely interferes, but when she does the interference is effective.

Lord Rosebery, the Liberal leader and former Premier, has written a letter condemning in strong terms the recent massacres at Constantinople. In this communication he says: "It is far above a party question but one is far above a party question, but one of common Christianity, humanity and civilization. I do not doubt that her Majesty's present advisers share with the rest of us in detestation of the Government under which such things are possible, and I think more can be accomplished by diplomacy than by public meetings. I found hopes in the natural sentiment of the young Emperor soon to be among us, who has such power and such re-sponsibility for well-doing."

Attention, Investors

To those who intend becoming shareholders in the Colorado Gold Mining and Development Company notice is given that the shares will be advanced to 15 cents Sept. 15 and a further advance of 20 cents will be made Oct. 1, and under no circumstances will shares be allotted at less than the advertised price. All orders by mail at the original price must show a postmark not later than the 15th inst.

The Colorado Gold Mining and Development Company has taken up as a business the handling and working of such properties as have been developed and have disclosed to view positive profits on our original investment. As we work collectively an unlimited number of these claims it gives us much greater chances for success than though we confined our attention to developing one, or even a half dozen "prospects." It is a well known fact that a great many mines have been worked and large quantities of ore brought to sight, but continued development was impossible owing to a lack of necessary funds.

These properties can be bought at prices much below their commercial value, so that profit on the investment is assured at the outset, and as your product is money as soon as produced, gold mining, it properly managed, may be looked upon as bringing in the surest and quickest returns of any business which is engaged in, and it is this class of properties only we handle.

Our plan is purely mutual, as all stand on an equal basis, and every stockholder is entitled to his share of the profits from all properties now belonging to the Company or that we may acquire, and his proportion will be in just such ratio as the amount invested, as no stock is set aside for an officer or director, except as it is paid for the same as by any other shareholder, and all are equal participants in the profits as their interests may appear.

This is worthy of your serious consideration, for never b fore did the small shareholder have an equal chance with the promoters of the company.

We should be pleased to have you carefully consider our plan and to receive your subscription for as many or 'as Dr. Agnew's Liver Pills Cure few" shares of the above company as may be agreeable to you. Price 10 cents per share until date advertised. Par value of shares $1, full paid and non-assessable and subject to no further call.

> Subscription books are now open at the office of Lownsborough & Co., 22 King street east, Toronto, Ont., where J. Grant Lyman, Managing Director, will be pleased to receive your subscription. Send for prospectus.

Crabbe, a well known and highly respected farmer living near Chambers Postoffice, not far from this place, has for a long time been an acute sufferer from kidney disease and weakness peculiar to her sex. Some time ago, de-spairing of cure, as a last resort, she procured a single box of Dodd's Kidney Pills. She now says that every woman who suffers as she has suffered should know that she experienced re-lief from the first few doses, and that the second box was all that was required to make her as strong and well as ever before in her life.

are valued at £5,000. The Empero of China's gifts comprised an old white porcelain vase adorned with red dragons, an antique bronze goblet, two antique bronze incense-burners, two antique blue-green porcelain plates, a magnificent white jade vase, decorated with crysanthemums and fir trees, and a rare, yellow plaque, decorated with flowers.

The gifts of Li Hung Chang to her Majesty are almost as valuable as those of the Emperor. They include exquisitely embroidered satins, an enamelled bowl on a dragon stand, a massive blue and gold vase, a red porcelain fish bowl of the seventeenth century, a green porcelain flower vase and an enamelled portrait of the fairy Ma Kov.

SPORTING PARLANCE. Football has succeeded cricket as the popular sport of the season, and it arouses almost as much public interest. The new international rules for association matches have been enforced for the first time. The principal changes are a return to the old rule. If the bar is displaced the referee may award a goal if, in his opinion, the ball would have gone under it if the bar had remained fixed. If the player has any part of both feet on the touch-line at the moment he throws the ball, he will have complied with the laws. Charg-ing from behind within the 12-yard line entails the penalty of a kick, and the referee can award the penalty of a kick without appeal of any kind. Finally, metal projections on shoes and shin guards are illegal. The Gaudaur-Stanbury race hardly caused the sensation expected, so far as general interest is concerned, and much comment passed when, after the race, Gaudaur went to everybody on board the umpire's boat, cap in hand collecting money as any mounte-bank might have done after having gone through a performance.

Chinamen Not Wanted in Canada.

Rev. Mr. Maxwell, a new member of Parliament from British Columbia has precipitated the discussion of the propriety of further restricting the immigration of Chinamen into Can-The honorable gentleman will be backed, in the near future, by well-of these petitions lie before one, it is pointed out that the a head on Chinese laborers ace to the prosperity and material welfare of the country in general and of British Columbia in particular.

strongest point in support of this contention is that the Chinese do not assimilate with the white race, and have no intention to be settled chizens of Canada. They are in moral, social and sanitary status usually below the most inferior standard of western life, and being usually single men, imported as coolies by labor contracting organizations, accept less than the lowest living wage of white labor, yet expend but little of their scanty earnings in the land of their temporary adoption. It is further pointed out that the United States, recognizing the great harm wrought to its citizens by the importation of cheap Chinese labor, have enacted legislation to totally prohibit the immigration of Chinese laborers, while the Australian colonies now collect a tax of $500 a head on all Chinamen have thus checked the influx which threatened to overwhelm white

The petition against the immigration of Japanese proceeds on somewhat similar grounds. It asserts that white men cannot maintain themselves and families on the wages offered them in competition with Japanese labor, and that even now the Japs threaten, with the Chinese, to monopolize the work connected with the fisheries, market gardening, the canneries and other industries. Unlike the Chinese, the Japs are anxfous to be naturalized, and to have power to vote, and the British Columbians say that the country is in danger of being Orientalized. This, with the ignorance of the Japanese of the English language, and of British constitutional methods, is a serious menace to the progress of the Province. and it is proposed to change the term of residence required for naturalization, in the case of Japanese, from three to six years. The amended term would not be too long.

Some people assert that this is a western question, and that Eastern Canada has little interest in it. The matter concerns us all. A population which will not assimilate with the English-speaking people of Canada. which is loose in morals and in regard for the family institutions, which has introduced leprosy into Western Canada, and by its habits has on two occasion spread smallpox broadcast. should be discouraged from entering Canada by every reasonable means.

As a man's first duty is to his household, so a nation's first duty is to see to it that newcomers are desirable additions to our population. We do not desire to see a Chinese matority in Canada, nor in any Province of Canada. Cheap labor they may supply, but it is dearly bought if its results are to produce conditions which impair the ability of our own workingmen to make a decent living, and force them down to Chinese conditions. A Japanese population is in some respects less objectionable than a Chinese influx; nevertheless it has Its obnoxious side.

Our rulers should seriously consider whether it is desirable to encourage the settlement of any non-assimilating race. Those who favor the untrammelled admission of these Mongolian types of humanity are in the habit of asserting that if we discourage their entrance by restrictive laws, we are inconsistent if we do not extend the system to workmen from European countries who may come to our shores, be willing to work for less money than Canadians, and have some bad habits.

There is a wide difference between a British, German, French or Swedish | and hope to forever escape immunity immigrant and the types of humanity from disease. cept a low rate of remuneration at the start, but it is not long before he acquires tastes and demands conditions that place him on a par with the native Canadian. In the second generation, the European is merged into the Canadian. How different with the almond-eyed laborers from the East! They have little or nothing in common with us, and no interest would suffer if they refrained from coming to the country.

We should take warning by the experience in other lands, and decline to run the risks incident to the building up of any alien, half-starved, nonassimilative race within our borders. There should be further restriction.

Had the late Government remained in power through another Parliament all the signs indicate that the bench and the list of Queen's counsel would have been crowded with the most objectionable and unscrupulous politiians.-Toronto Star.

And the public would have been called on to respect the appointments, and to regard them as beyond criticism, no matter how objectionable

Cause of Depression.

President Fysche, of the Canadian Bankers' Association, in his address at the annual conference in Ottawa, discussed very frankly the causes of depression of business in Canada. He attributed not a little of it to the slow growth of the population in the ast fifteen years, to the increase in the taxation of the people, and to the innecessary augmentation of the public debt. From 1880 to 1890 our nationimportation and naturalization of the al debt increased from $35 25 per head to $47 51. "These figures," said this expert financier, "are very significant: and, taken in connection with a corresponding growth in our public expenditure, the burden of a high proective tariff, they must have caused considerable increase in the cost of iving to the people; or, what is the same thing, lessened that reduction in the cost of living which has been brought about by the inventions and discoveries of the time."

The change of managers did come any too soon.

The most astonished men in the county of Elgin today are the six great and valiant Conservative aldermen in St. Thomas who refused to participate in the reception to the Governor-General on his recent visit there. They thought that by ignoring the visit of the representative of her Majesty, it would be a colossal fizzle. Today they wonder where all the people came from who did honor to Lord and Lady Aberdeen at St. Thomas and Dutton.

Collapse of an Eccentric Sect. We have a number of odd religious sects in the western world, but scarcely any who are so original in their eccentricities as the Jezreeliteswho have existed in England for some time, but are now disbanded. An enthusiast named White founded this organization at Chatham some years ago. Wealthy women put up money to keep it running on the assurance of White that if they trusted him they would never die. He adopted the alliterative name of James Jershom Jezreel, and with the funds he built a big church near Chatham. This edifice was peculiar for a flat roof, from which the members of the sect were supposed to start for paradise when their time came to shuffle off this mortal coil. As might be supposed, owing to the maturity of James Jershom's paying flock, his followers began to die in the usual way, and the celestial platform proved to be a failure. For a few years, however, the Jezreelites enjoyed some popularity and gathered in some adherents, but the final blow was given when the founder himself gave up the ghost on the great square roof, and his body remained there as peacefully as any ordinary mortal's remains would do under the same circumstances. Then Jershom's wife went the same way, and as several other ancient dames had likewise failed to ascend on schedule time. these falsifications of prophecy dampened the faith of the sect past reclaim. Strange as it may seem to enlightened minds, a great temple, to rival Solomon's, was begun at Chatham, and a training college and a school also formed part of the scheme. n which youths might be reared in the tenets of the millennium. Many thousands of dollars have been spent on these schools and the assembly hall, but now the temple is in the hands of a contractor, and the Jezreelites have all gone. This is another buble burst. But its pricking will not prevent like adventurers making headway in the future, finding dupes, and living on the fat of the land because of their credulity. It has been so from time immemorial.

Kincardine Review: Dr. Martyn had a letter from Dr. Pew the other day, saying that Mr. Moore, contractor of the Huron-Ontario Electric Railroad, will be ready to begin work in two weeks. He will build 50 miles this fall, probably from Goderich, Teeswater, Lucknow to Kincardine, or from Kincardine, through Walkerton and Hanover, to Durham.

On Tuesday Dr. Fred Parker, of Bruce Mines, was united in marriage to Miss Linnie Kastner at her father's residence, Sebringville. Miss B. Tilley, of Stratford, and Miss Young, of Detroit, were the bridesmaids, and Miss Jennie Young, from Arizona,, appeared as a maid of Dr. Parker lwas supported by Dr. George Elliott, of Toronto, one of his college friends when at Trinity Medical College.

At Petrolea on Thursday afternoon masked man entered the house of Mr. Aaron Loudon, and demanded from the boy, with a pointed revolver in his hand, the money that was in the house. Fortunately $12 was all that was on hand. This amount the burglar got, and made good his escape. Early Tuesday morning the residences of Mr. John Kerr and Mr. J. J. Bell were broken into. The rob bers secured a silver watch and a few dollars in cash.

Two calls recently made by congregations presided over by the Stratford Presbytery have been sustained by that body. One was from the congregations of Avonton and Carling-ford to Rev. J. H. Moore, of "Willowdale Farm," main road, Warwick, was solemnized on Wednesday evening, Sept. 9. The bride was attended by her cousin, Miss Mattie Moore, of St. Thomas, while the groom was ably supported by his brother, Mr. Wm. Bradstreet's weekly review says: Monthly gross earnings of railroads begin to show results of the extreme business depression of the past summer. August earnings on 104 roads aggregate $36,622,639-a decrease of 2.4 per cent from a year ago; for eight months the total earnings aggregated $279,855,463—a gain of 5.3 per cent over 1895, in which year earnings of leading roads increased 4.2 per cent over Sarnia Canadian: "The employes" car, which used to carry the G. T. R. employes from Point Edward to the tunnel in the morning and home in the evening, has been discontinued. Most of the men have conveyances of their own, and for the convenience of those who have not, the street railway company will run a special service. The discontinuance of the 'employes' car' is a part of the rigid retrenchment on which the company has entered. Save every dollar that can be saved without endangering the efficiency of the service,' is a standing order.

An electrical engineer has been exhibiting in London the model of his proposed single-rail electric line for speeds of 150 miles an hour. The rail is fixed on a V-shaped trestle, and runs up into the body of the car, which, as it were, runs astride of it. The car runs on twelve bearing wheels, and seats 135 passengers, with space for heir baggage. One of the difficulties met with in schemes of excessively high speed travel, is the tendency of the car to run off the track. By running the rail within the car the latter tendency of the train is overcome. But in this late scheme the great difficulty seems to be the passenger. What would happen to the passenger when the train took a sharp curve while going at 150 miles an hour is not explained.

Great Care Necessary to Avoid Trolley Accidents.

Fifty-Seven Cars on Dundas Street. With a Capacity of 4,000 People Per Hour-Other Changes.

With the approaching crowd of visitors in the city, and the increased street car service on Dundas street. the greatest care is necessary to avoid accidents. One habit that people especially need to guard against is trying to get on and off the cars while they are in motion. The company's men have received special orders to exerkise the greatest precaution, and if accidents happen, the company feel that the fault will not be theirs. "The service to Springbank will be a twenty-minute one," said Manager Carr this morning. "They will leave the Fair grounds and go direct to Springbank."
The Dundas street and Mount Hope cars will run as at present. The Oxford street and Hamilton road cars, instead of being run to-gether as at present, will be run separately and direct to the Fair grounds. That is to say:

Cars from Hamilton road and those from Oxford street will run direct to the Fair grounds instead of going all the way round.

The belt line and Wellington street south line will remain as at present. The great increase will be added to the Dundas and Market line. There will be a one-minute service on Dundas street. Fifty-seven cars will be run, giving a capacity of 4,000 people Should this not meet the per hour. Should this not meet the demand other changes will be made. The changes take effect on Monday.

CITY POLICE COURTTODAY

John Watson Sent Down for Two Months for Theft-Two Beats Go Down.

John Davis and William Gardiner are a pair of tough-looking individuals who went from Detroit to Toronto to sell song books at the Fair, They were on their way home and got drunk. They strolled on to the market and were arrested. They were remanded for a week.

John Wilson pleaded guilty to stealing a piece of cloth from Joseph Dambra's tailor shop on Dundas street, which was valued at $4. His excuse was that he had been out of work, got drunk and stole the cloth, thinking the price of it would keep him for a day or so. Mr. McKillop stated that Wilson had been convicted a short time ago and served a term. Wilson said he had been out about three months. For stealing the cloth the police magistrate gave him two months at hard

Wm. Peel was up on a charge of being drunk and disorderly. He pleaded guilty to being drunk and asked to be let off, as he had been in Jail since Sept. 4.

The Magistrate-I have let you off many times before on account of your promises to reform. I'll have to punish you this time.

Peel said he had refrained from drink for a year previous to the election. The police magistrate fined him $20 or 20 days in jail.

A neighbor advised me to try Dr. Thomas' Eclectric Oil, stating that his wife had used it for a throat trouble with the best results. Acting on this advice, I procured the medi-cine and less than half a bottle cured me; I certainly believed it saved my lie. It was with reluctance that I consented to a trial, as I was reduced to such a state that I doubted the power of any remedy to do me any good."

A. L. A. CONVENTION. Librarian Blackwell returned last night from the American Librarians' convention, Sept. 1 to Sept. 4, at Cleveland, and the post-conference trip to Mackinac. About three hundred attended the convention, coming from all parts of the United States. The papers read by prominent librarians were very interesting and instructive, and called forth lively discussion. One exceptionally good paper was read by Mr. George Iles, of Montreal, on "Expert (Annotation of Books." Other subjects dealt with were on "Traveling Libraries," "Advertising of Libraries," selection of books, library pictures and furniture, the reading room, and what periodicals to get, preparing books for circulation, reference books and room. At the close of the convention the annual A. L. A. dinner was held. Judge Hutchins, of Cleveland, presided. W. P. Brett, of Cleveland, succeeds J. C. Dana, of Denver, as president. The next place of meeting will be decided by the executive but Philadelphia will probecutive, but Philadelphia will probably be the place. About half of the members took in the trip to Mackinac, and had a very enjoyable trip. On their way they visited the Detroit Public Library, and were entertained royally by the Detroit board. At Mackinac a very fine paper was read by Reuben G. Thwaites, secretary of the Wisconsin State Historical Society, on "The Story of the Mackinac," historic of the French and English settlement. Many of his points were taken from "Parkman's." the study of which he strongly urged.

Mrs. Seleste Coon, Syracuse, N. Y., writes: "For years I could not eat many kinds of food without producing a burning, excruciating pain in my stomach. I took Parmelee's Pills according to directions under the head of 'Dyspepsia or Indigestion.' One box entirely cured me. I can now eat anything I choose without distressing me in the least." These pills do not cause pain or griping, and should be used when a cathartic is required.

CAUGHT AT LAST.

J. E. Gilbert the Piano Tuner, Arrest ed at Wallaceburg-His Wife's Complaint.

Joseph Edward Gilbert has at last been caught. About a week ago his wife came to the police authorities and laid an information against her husband, whom, she claimed, deserted her about three months ago. Since that time Mrs. Gilbert has been compelled to work, with her little son, to keep the wolf from the door, as her husband left her destitute. Gilbert is a piano tuner and repairer and lived at 182 1-2 William street.

Mrs. Gilbert told the police a pitiful story, and word was sent to the different police authorities to be on the lookout for her husband. This morning Chief Williams received a teleing Chief Williams received a telegram from Wallaceburg to the effect that Gilbert had been arrested there last night. It asked for instructions. The chief wired back to bring the prisoner as far as the St. Clair tunnel, to which place Detective Rider was dispatched by the first train. Gilbert will come up at the police court on Monday morning to answer to the serious charge of deserting his wife and family and for non-support.

LAMBETH

Lambeth, Sept. 12.-Mrs. Poole is very low. No hopes are entertained for her recovery.
The condition of Mrs. James is slightly improved. Mrs. J. C. Stoneman and family, of Hensall, are visiting Mr. and Mrs.

Your New Fall Dress

WHAT WILL IT BE? WHERE WILL YOU GET IT?

By all means see that it is of some fashionable material, and if you will remember who keeps the most fashionable English and German Dress Goods we know you will come to us for it. Our stock is now nearly complete, and those who are wise enough to secure first choice secure an advantage over late comers—they get just what they want.

For this season we have imported the finest and largest assortment of plaids ever brought to London-in fact, as large as will be found in any drygoods house in Canada.

AT 20c we are selling a large choice of beautiful colorings—just the correct style for children's wear. Worth a great deal more.

one requiring a fancy Waist should inspect stock at earliest opportunity.

AT 350 we have a line that will please the moment you see them.
You will be putting your time to good use if you spend a short time looking through the assortment.

AT 45c we are showing handsome Silk and Wool Plaids in beautiful colors. They will make up to look as handsome as Silk and be very serviceable. On these the prices run from 45c, 50c, 65c

How to Save Money.

That problem comforts every prudent purchaser. One or the best answers to it may be found here in the unequaled bargains now being offered in our many departments. Urgent necessity compels sacrifice. We must have room at once for the very large fall importations now arriving. Therefore, from now on, all odds and ends and surplus stock go out on our bargain tables at prices that bear no relationship to their actual value. New attractions will be added each day. This week we make a special effort in the tollowing: One of the first to mention is our Grab Basket. Bring the children in with you and let them have a grab. We had a great number of odd Toys; these we have made up in packages, each package containing from two to five different articles and are worth up to 25c. Not one of them could be bought regularly for nearly the price we ask for them, only 5c each. TOILET SETS-We have about 25 handsomely decorated China Toilet Sets. rerth, Ont., Sept. 11. - About 600 cheese were in today; part of them sold at 9 1-2c to 9 9-16c; balance shipped. Two buyers present.

CHEESE BOOMING. As we go to press the situation on cheese is strong, both from a statistical and actual standpoint, sales having been made on this market of 4,-000 boxes first half of August at 9 1-8c, and 20,000 boxes of last half of August at 9 1-2c, and September and at 9 5-8c, and not taken. To give some idea of the value of the Liverpool public cable to the trade here, we may mention that a line of August cheese was sold over the cable last week at 43s 9d, c. i. f., Liverpool, while the public cable was marked on the Board of Trade blackboard 39s 6d. There can be no question that the market on this side is brisk, and that there is quite a scramble for balance of season's goods. That is the state of affairs today, whatever may turn up in the future. Some already talk of 10c cheese as the coming rate .-Montreal Trade Bulletin.

The Special Attractions in the Ring

hibits.

This is Children's Day at the Western Fair, and they are making the best of it. Since early morning the turnstiles have been clicking. Hunlunches with them and dined in the shade of the pine trees. They flocked through the main building in openeyed amazement, snatched business cards by the thousands, flocked round the honey and the flowers like bees, sat enraptured while the merry-goround ground out "Mollie and I and the Baby," and followed prize pigs to the cattle sheds.

NOTEWORTHY EXHIBITS.

A MAGNIFICENT DISPLAY. display that attracts and holds their attention is the magnificent array gleaming with the fine finish, characteristic of the firm's products. In these stoves the useful and the ornamental are happily combined. Any one of them would embellish a queen's drawing-room. The exhibit is unusually large and handsome, and is as thoroughly representative of Buck's celebrated stoves as the space will permit. Their fame long ago became established through the noted "Happy Thought" range, which has been a household joy in thousands of homes from the Atlantic to the Pacific. So great is its popularity that it is made in 72 styles and sizes, adaptable to families large or small. But the reputation of Buck's stoves is not due to one make alone. One needs only to mention the "Radiant Home" and "Crown Brilliant" baseburners, the "Honor Bright" wood cook stoves (in many varieties), to say nothing of the wide range of furnaces, to evoke the grateful recommendation of thou-sands of housekeepers, who would not be without them. Their success has Albani, Miss Ellen Beach Yaw and others found it necessary to secure grand pianos of foreign manufacture, they now invariably select the Heintz-man & Co. piano. Madame Albani, before leaving Toronto last February, wrote Messrs. Heintzman & Co., tanking them for the piano supplied for her concerts, and adding: "It is really an excellent instrument, and the tone and quality is unusually satisfactory in every way." There is one of these grand pianos displayed in this firm's exhibit at the Western Fair. Musicians and all others interested in music should not fail to see and hear this magnificent

SOMETHING NEW IN STOVES. A display that has been surrounded by an admiring throng all day is that of the Moffatt Stove Company, of Weston. It is their first exhibit at the Western Fair, but judging by its complete success, and the impression it has made, it will not be the last. In these days when mechanical ingenuity has apparently exhausted the possibilities of stove improvements, it is a pleasant surprise to see something absolutely new, and that is shown in the great silver steel line, of which the Moffatt Company have made a They bake more quickly and more Short ribs—Sepa. $5 05, Oct., $6 15, Oct., $7 15, Oct., $ The moveable water reservoir attached is also a marvel of convenience. > BELL PIANOS. One of the Most Artistic Exhibits in the Palace. The display of the Bell Organ and Piano Company (Ltd.) is really some-thing exceptional. Rarely, if ever, has the pianomaker's art been exhib-ited to such rare advantage. Exteriorly the instruments are marvels of me-chanical skill, the carving on some of the cases being really exquisite art creations in every sense of the word. One beautiful example (style H) is acknowledged by both the trade and profession to be without exception, the most elegant instrument ever manufactured in Canada. These splendid creations-to use an old expressionmust be seen to be appreciated. Con spicuous announcements to the effect that "every instrument shown is the standard model of the company and not something manufactured for exnot something manufactured for exhibition purposes only," are conspicuous to the eye, and in this respect, as in many others, the Bell Company score pretty heavily over their competitors. We shall have more to say later of this firm's creations, and of the artistic manner in which they are

Something More About the Granton Watchmaker.

A Mysterious Box Which May Contain the Timepieces.

The missing Granton jeweler, whose disappearance The Advertiser lately chronicled, about a year ago lived in Toronto, where he boarded with Mrs. run into the thousands. Bastien, of Trinity street. He was in hard luck while there, and did not get much work, but he managed to fall in love with Miss Haney, of that city. Her family objected to her companiondreds of the little ones brought their ship with the young man, because he letters from him at her home, and had to get them through a private source. Before Campbell went he left a letter asking those he owed not to believe him dishonest, and stating that him dishonest, and stating that he would return to Granton before long and square everything up. He also wrote from Granton to Miss Haney, telling her of the continued hard luck and saying that he was despondent.

He seemed to be afraid that the young lady did not care for him, and to be depressed by the fact that her relatives had not proper confidence in him. There was also a card from the young lady asking him to wait for her young lady asking him to wait for her, as he would hear from her soon, and telling her to expect a box he would send her.

He went as far as London, and shipped by the Canadian Express Company a box, the contents of which are unknown. He sent it to her through the private source by which he wrote her, and owing to this fact the box is still lying undelivered in the warehouse of When people enter the main building at the west end, the very first display that attracts and holds their street, Toronto, and has heard nothof stoves, sparkling with nickel and abouts. It is not believed, however, that he committed suicide, as his communications did not indicate such an intention on his part. He has probably gone to the United States.

NOT GUILTY.

Hattie Notan Acquitted of the Charge of Murder.

(Special to The Advertiser.) Windsor, Sept. 12.-Mrs. Hattie Nolan, who has been on trial for the murder of her husband, was this morning found not guilty by the jury, and discharged. A strong point in her fa-vor and one that told heavily with the jury, was the lack of motive for the crime. Her husband left neither insurance money nor property.

IN LABOR'S INTEREST.

Concluding Sessions of the Trade Congress-Railway Men Heard From. Edinburgh, Sept. 12.-The British Trades Union Congress closed today. It adopted a resolution presented by manufacturing pianos, and the most the Amalgamated Society of Railway Servants: "That, while recognizing come through them. E N HUNT, troubles away; Joris was not one of them. He was silent when in sorrow or perplexity-silent, and ever looking around for something to do in the matter. As they walked homeward the Elder talked and Joris pondered not what was said, but the thoughts and purposes that were slowly forming in his own mind. He was later than usual, and the tea and cakes had passed their prime condition; but when Lysbet saw the trouble in his eyes she thought them not worth mentioning. Joanna and Batavius were discussing their new house then building on the East River bank, and they had forgotten all else. But Katherine fretted about her father's delay, and it was at her Joris first looked. The veil had now been taken from his eyes, and he noticed her pretty dress, her restless glances at the clock, her illconcealed impatience at the slow movement of the evening meal.

When it was over Joanna and Batavius went out to walk, and Madame Van Heemskirk rose to put away her silver and china. 'So warm as it is!" said Katherine.

"Into the garden I am going, mother."
"Well, then, there are currants to pull. The dish take with you."

Joris rose then, and, laying his hand cn Katherine's shoulder, said: "There

THE MONEY QUESTION shall be; and when I walk in my garden, in thy garden I will see see, and only a little fence shall be between us.

And at the feast of St. Nicholas thou shalt be married, for then thy sisters will be here—thy sisters Anna and Corner will be here. nelia. And money, plenty of money, I will give thee, and all that is proper thy mother and thee shall buy. But no more, no more at all, shalt thou see or speak to that bad man who has so beguiled thee."

At this remark Katherine sadly shook her head, and Lysbet's face so plainly expressed caution that Joris somewhat modified his last order somewhat modified his last order—
"That is, little one, no more until the feast of St. Nicholas. Then thou wilt be married, and then it is good—if it is safe—to forgive all wrongs and to begin again with all the world in peace and good living. Wilt thou these things promise me—me and thy mother?

"Richard I must see once more. That is what I ask."

"Richard! So far is it?"
She did not answer and Joris rose.

She did not answer, and Joris rose and looked at the girl's mother inquiringly. Her face expressed assent, and he said, reluctantly: "Well, then, I will as easy make it as I can. Once more, and for one hour, thou may see him. But I lay it on thee to tell him the truth, for this and for all other

"Now, may I go? He is a-nigh. His boat I hear at the landing," and she stood up, intent, listening with her fair head raised and her wet eyes fixed on the distance.

"Well, be it so. Go." With the words she slipped from the room and Joris called Baltus to bring him some hot coals and began to fill his pipe. As he did so, he watched Lysbet with some anxiety. She had offered him no sympathy, she evinced no disposition to continue the conversation; and though she kept her face from him, he understood that all her movements expressed a rebellious temper. In and out of the room she passed, very busy about her own affairs, and apparently indifferent to his anxiety and sorrow.

At first Joris felt some natural anger at her attitude; but as the Virginia calmed and soothed him he remember-ed that he had told her nothing of his interview with Hyde, and that she might be feeling and reasoning from a different standpoint from himself. Then the sweetness of his nature was at once in the ascendant, and he said: "Lysbet, come here and talk with me about the child."

She turned the keys in her press Tongues evil and envious, I am sure of that.

this afternoon there comes to the store the young man Capt. Hyde. To thy father he said many ill words. To him thou shalt never speak again. Thy promise give to me."

"A young girl should want a lover. It is in nature she should choose the one she likes best. That is what I say."

"That is what I say, Lysbet. It is nature, also, that we want too much She sat silent, with dropped eyes food and wine, too much sleep, too much pleasure, too little work. It is in nature that our own way we want. It is in nature that the good we hate and the sin we love. My Lysbet, to us God gives his own good grace, that the things that are in nature we might the right way. When Katherine was a babe, it was in nature that with the fire she wanted to make play. But thou said, 'There is danger, my precious one,' and in thy arms thou carried her out of the temptation When 'I like not the school, and my said, "Joris, if he has spoken to you, then Heidelberg is hard, and I cannot learn it.' But thou answered, 'For thy good is the school, and go thou every day; should want this handsome stranger; but with me, thou wilt certainly say, is not fit for thy happiness; he has not the true faith, he gambles, he fights duels, he is a waster, he lives badly, he will take thee far from thy own people and thy own home."

> "Can the man help that he was born an Englishman and a Lutheran?' "They have their own women. Look now, from the beginning it has been like to like. Thou may see in the Holy Scriptures that after Esau maried the Hittite woman he sold his birthright and became a wanderer and a vaga-bond. And it is said that it was a bekah.' I am sorry this day for Isaac and Rebekah! The heart of the father is the same ways."

"And the hart of the mother, also, oris." She drew close to him and laid her arm across his broad shoulders, and he took his pipe from his lips and turned his face to her. "Kind and wise art thou, my husband; and whatever is thy wish, that is my wish, too."
"A good woman thou art! And what pleasure would it be to thee if Katherine was a countess and went to the court and bowed down to the king and the queen? Thou would not see it, and if thou spoke of it, thy neighbors they would hate thee, and mock thee behind thy back, and say, 'How proud is Lysbet Van Heemskirk of her noble son-in-law that comes never once to see her!' And dost thou believe he is an earl? Not I!' "That is where the mother's love is best, Joris. What my neighbors said would be little care to me if my Katherine was well and was happy. With her sorrow would I buy my own pleasure? No, I would not so selfish be."

"Would I, Lysbet? Right am I, and I know I am right. And I think that Neil Semple will be a very great per-son. Already, as a man of affairs, he is much spoken of. He is handsome and of good morality. The elders in the kirk look to such young men as Neil to fill their places when they are no more in them. On the judge's bench he will sit down yet."

PROSTRATED FOR WANT OF BREATH.

Extreme Case of Heart Disease Cured by Dr. Agnew's Cure for the Heart. There is comfort in the thought that Dr. Agnew's Cure for the Heart is seldom unsuccessful. One of many illustrations is found in the case of James Allen, of St. Stephen, N. B., who says: "In 1894 I was troubled very who says: "In 1894 I was troubled very much with severe palpitation of the heart, and with pain in my side. My breath was very short, and with the least extra exertion I became fully prostrated from want of breath. I was attended by a physician for a long time. When in considerable distress I visited the local drug store, and my attention was drawn to Dr. Agnew's Cure for the Heart. I obtained a bottle, and before I took half of it I felt ever so much better, and today I am a sound man, owing to the use only of

Dutton, Sept. 11.-The Caledonian Society of West Elgin have in years past gained an enviable position throughout the Dominion for their spirited contests, but the great drawing card of today was, of course, Lord and Lady Aberdeen, who were warmly welcomed. The games were, on the whole, the best and most hotly contested ever held in Western Ontario, and Mr. Hugh McKinnon, of Hamilton, who was master of ceremonies, cannot be too highly commended for the order and prompt manner in which every number on the programme was carried out. The list of games was the longest, the entries the most numerous, and a larger number of Ameriever before, but they won little or nothing of the prize money. Results: Putting 21 pound stone-1 C. The viceregal party arrived on a special train, and they were received with cheering loud and long. They were met by George E. Casey, M.P., D. McNish, M.P.P., Chief McMillan and C. St. Clair Leitch, and were escorted to the carriages in waiting and driven through the principal streets to the

His Excellency, in reply, thanked the warden and councilors for their very loyal address. It cannot, he said, be received but with reverence. Your action and loyalty upon this occasion cannot but be appreciated by us. He assured them that he and the countess would ever look back to this occasion. To take part in your Caledonian games was in a large measure the reason we took the present tour in the west. Referring to agricultural matters, he said this was, indeed, a grand country, and from what he had seen he was of the opinion mixed farming was the best paying in Canada. He felt, if he were to speak at length of the import-ance of his position, his speech would be as long as Talbot street. He thanked them very kindly for the honor they had done, not only to him-self, but the countess as well. In conclusion, he said he was pleased to say that the county of Elgin was named after one of Scotland's most illustrious sons-Lord Elgin-whose son, born in Canada during his term in office here, is at the present filling one of the highest positions in the gift of the Home Government-that of Governor of India.

ADDRESS FROM THE CALEDON-

Miss Bernice Pool and John A. Gordon, two pretty children, then ascended the platform, and presented the guests with attractive bouquets of Scotch thistles, asters and ferns, after which Chief McMillan, D. McNish, M.P.P., Geo. E. Casey, M.P., and C.St.C. Leitch presented an address of welcome from the Caledonian Society. The address said: "It is our distinguished peasure and privilege, on be-half of the West Elgin Caledonian Society, to express to you the extreme gratification which your presence here today affords, not only to us as a society, but to the entire community, of which West Elgin is the center. We welcome you as the distinguished representative of our beloved Queen, who, to our perhaps partial minds, could have made no wiser choice from among her ancient nobility than your appointment as Chief Magistrate of this Dominion. We confess, with, we trust, pardonable pride, to a clannish feeling, which gives an edded warmth to the greeting we extend to you as a Scotchman. Many gathered here to-day realize that the old land can only be to them a fond memory, starting at times the unbidden tear. When in solitude the heart yearns for When in solitude the heart yearns for one more sight of that native glen, one more ramble amid the scenes of early years. Still others of us know no other land than 'Fair Canada,' yet proudly cherish the traditions of our ancestors, and count it no mean boast that Scottish blood flows in our veins. We exult in that notable legion of honor, the long line of illustrious names which Scotland has given to the world, and felicitate ourselves upon your presence here toourselves upon your presence here to-day as one worthy of a place in that line. While as a society we are not particularly concerned in the admin-istration duties pertaining to your exalted office, yet as citizens of Can-ada, many of us of ancestry of that bonnie land, of which you are an il-lustrious son we in common with all lustrious son, we, in common with all true and patriotic Canadians, have observed with pride and confidence the evidence of your eminent endowments, as a statesman, in your official capacity as the representative of her Most Gracious Majesty, our beloved Queen Victoria. These, however, are not the only confines of our pride—we perceive and your presence here today is indisputable evidence thereof that you are interested in there today is indisputable evidence thereof, that you are interested in our country, our people, and our institutions, thus winning our respect, our esteem and our love, so that when, unhappily, you will, in the natural course of events, bid farewell to our fair land, we will then be in a position to appreciate the sorrow of heart experienced by the people of heart experienced by the people of the little green isle on the termination of your most distinguished viceroy-ship of Ireland. Today, however, we can competitors were present than hail you particularly as the patron ever before but they were little or and fond admirer of all manly sport and physical exercise. Proud, indeed, are we that you are true to the traditions of your ancestry, and history tells glowingly of the physical beauty and prowess of the Gordon race. Sympathy and favor. When, in the gathered in, we hold these annual games, and for one day put Auld Scotia in the field, reproducing scenes of the fatherland, we make afresh the memories of 'Auld Lang Syne.'The sports and pastimes that have for sports and pastimes that have for centuries distinguished our ancestors, at once manly and innocent, are transplanted to the new world. The stirring tones of the ancient and historic pipe of the Gael, in pathetic lament, move our hearts with the 'joy of grief,' as Ossian expresed it, or, in martial numbers, recall the incidents which have added imperishable luster to the records of British prowess on the field of battle, or again in merry measure of strathspey and reel, invite the portrayal of our beautiful Highland dances." In conclusion, the address recited the objects for which the society existed, and declared that those who participated in these loyal gatherings were better Canadians in conse quence. It was not inconsistent to love the old land while working for the advancement of the new. "We further rejoice," it continued, "in the knowledge that the objects of our society cannot but find favor in the eyes of the noble daughter of Guisachan, whose early life was surrounded by scenes and associations, dear and sac-red to every son and daughter of the land of brown heath and shaggy wood. In conclusion, we again beg of yourself and the Countess of Aber-deen to accept our sincerest thanks for your present today, and lieve our prayers will ever be that you may both be long spared to serve our Gracious Sovereign." LORD ABERDEEN'S REPLY. In reply, his Excellency said: Al though this is what we call Scotch modesty, in taking second place, by allowing the county council to pre-sent their address first, let me tell you that this is Scotland's day. He thought they did him no injustice by referring to his Scotch ancestry. He could say there was no foreign blood in his veins, and he was proud of it. He was indebted to them for being present here today, instead of them being indebted to him. He congratulated them upon the large attend-ance, and said he was a lover of all manly sports. He was proud that Canada had taken first place in England, winning the Queen's prize, the cricket match at Philadelphia, the yacht race at Toledo, and last, the boat race in England. But it filled him with greater pride to know that Chief McMillan wore upon his breast a gold medal, won by the Caledonian Society of the village of Dutton, at World's Fair at Chicago. They would arways look forward to this day as one of the happiest spent in the Dominion. In conclusion, he thanked them on behalf of her Excellency and himself, and requested that the children in the Dutton schools be given a holiday at some future day in remembrance of their visit here.

School Trustees Too Much for Aldermen at Baseball.

Ald. Carrothers' Brilliant Playing a Redeeming Feature.

of the Box.

Ald. Parnell a Star Player-Ald. Coope Makes a Great Basehit-Great Fun for the Audience.

"Play ball!" yelled Umpire Tom Gillean, as he looked at his Waterbury and found that time was up. And then the aldermen and school trustees pulled off their respective vests and collars, gave their respective suspenders a hitch, spat on their respective hands and started to play - well it was advertised as baseball. Many of those on the grand stand evidently never saw a baseball match before. They nearly went into convulsions when Neil Cooper threw the ball at Charlie Johnston; struck him on the seat, and then claimed a base hit. They laughed most immodwhen Ald. Parnell wanted Trustee Hunt sent back to first base because he stole second. They even seemed amused because Ald. Gerry tried to stop flys with his feet and because Ald. Carrothers fell on the ball and nearly buried it in the ground. Such conduct on the part of the audience was totally uncalled for and displayed the grossest ignorance of baseball rules—as the aldermen understand them.

Hands that the rod of empire might have swayed swung sticks of hickory and their skill (?) displayed; fumbled the pigskin, knocked balls foul and fair, and filled with holes the circumambient air. The mighty Carrothers, in stentorian tones, put ginger in the aldermanic drones; stood on the coach lines yelling "Hold your base!" and mopped the perspiration off his face. 'Twas quite refreshing to behold Bob play: he gobbled everything that came his way; chased grounders hot, stole bases like a deer and had the trustees' bosoms filled with fear. Had all his side played as well as Bob, the Trustees would have had a harder job. Proclaimed by all the hero of the day, the delighted grand stand cheered his every play.

Ald. Parnell, too, covered himself with glory. He looked quite frisky in a white sweater and wore a glove the size of a ham to protect his lily-white hands against Hank Dreaney's cannon-ball delivery. He captained the aldermen with excellent judgment, though he had hard work getting Ald. Cooper to move off seccond base and cover more territory. Ald. Cooper protested that his instructions were to hold down second bag, and he meant to hold it down if he had to sit on it. The outfielders were particularly sprightly, and gathered in every fly, after it had drop-ped. Ald. Nutkins, who was the bright particular star in the previous game, played shortstop for a brief and beautiful period, but failed to sustain the dazzling reputation he made on that memorable occasion. When the aldermen got six runs in the second on hits by Parnell, Cooper, Carrothers, Nutkins and McCallum, with two bases on balls, they were filled with delicious warm thrills and prophesied dire revenge for their former defeat. The thrills caught a sudden cold in the third inning and prematurely passed away. Buchner's deadly delivery quite wilted the city fathers, and they shed several pailfuls of prespiration trying to knock the ball past the infield. In the fifth Ald. Gerry met with an accident-he hit sphere to right field. He reached third on a bad throw and came home on a by Ald. Nutkins, which Dr. Teasdall tried to cut off with his feet. In the sixth the aldermen resolved on a brilliant stroke. Capt. Parnell made a raid on Ald. Taylor, stripped off his coat and collar, and marched the heavyweight up to the plate. Douglass had scored on Cooper's single, Cooper was on first, and two men were out. Ald. Taylor showed a great eye and got his base on balls. Then Ald. Parnell hit to pitcher, and the game was called on account of hunger-and thirst.

The triumphant trustees began to straighten out Hank Dreaney's curves from the very first. In the second they were blanked. In the third, aftwo men were out, Bayly and Teasdall singled, Buchner made a double, Burdick a triple, and Johnston a single, which were good for four and third, and was struck in the rear a year ago, 38 two years ago, and by Ald. Cooper. Nobody was out, but three years ago. Ald. Cooper started to march in under the opinion that his brilliant play had been enough for one inning. Trustee Burdick was also caught between third and home, and a well-directed ball from Ald. Parnell caught him between the shoulder blades. After ten runs had been scored, Capt. Par-nell determined on drastic measures. Amid the cheers of the audience, he went into the box, and Ald. Carrothers behind the bat. The new pitcher wound up gloriously by striking out Trustee Logan, and preventing further scoring.

Before the game Mr. J. W. Jones was requested to act as official scorer. He did not realize the herculean Carrothers.

Ald. Carrothers surprised everybody by his brilliant playing. He made a double play unassisted in the Educationalists Knock Dreaney Out fourth, and was more sprightly than men who had only half his weight to carry round.

Trustee Johnston made a great first baseman. Trustee Buchner also fielded his position well. Ald. Wm. Heaman resigned the captaincy in Ald. Parnell's favor. He was not feeling well. "You don't hit it far enough. Go back and have another bat," yelled Ald. Cooper to a colleague who was thrown out at first. They say the umpire felt sorry for

The Business Outlook

In the United States and Canada

As Reported by Dun & Co. and Bradstreets.

New York, Sept. 12.-Dun & Co.'s weekly review says: Better prospects and relief from monetary anxiety do not yet bring larger demand for finished products, though large buying of pig iron, wool, leather, hides, cotton and other materials continue to show a growing belief that a general upward movement in prices will come with the replenishment of dealers' stocks this fall. Most prices are extremely low, so that nothing more than an ordinary demand would advance them. Crop returns indicate disappointment in some cotton and some spring wheat States. Prices of corn and oats make it unprofitable to sell at present. The number of manufac-turing works and mines in operation does not gain, but rather decreases. Reductions of wages are somewhat numerous, occasionally resisted by strikes, and all those conditions diminish for a time the buying power of the people. While many think general improvement cannot come until the elections has removed political uncertainties, others expect soon to see the result anticipated in trade. The manufacturers of boots and shoes are shipping larger quantities than ever before in September, though mainly of low grade goods. Sales of wool for the Stonor, uncle of Lord Camoys and the consumption for the first time in sevspeculative, based on the belief that prices must advance. Bradstreet's report says: The feeling last week that an improvement in demand for seasonable staples was in sight was evidently well founded, for at more than a dozen centers south and west the demand is now more active, the volume of sales has increased and the general outlook is much more favorable for business later in the autumn. The week's volume of business is slightly heavier, several cities reporting a larger demand this week to replenish depleted stocks than during two preceding months.

Mr. George Uhlman, a well-known farmer living near New Elm, is loud in his praise of the benefits he received from the use of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. Recently while visiting his daughter in Hemford, he was interviewed by a reporter, and to the scribe's salutation, "Well, Mr. Uhl-man, you are looking ten years younger than you did two years ago," promptly replied, "Yes, and I am feeling that many years younger. I am better than I did when I was 34. Eventually I began to think my case incurable. But I have found a cure, and one which I believe is permanent, and if you are interested I am willing to tell what it has done for me. While having a very bad spell and suffering intensely from the effects of liver and kidney troubles, I noticed an advertisemen of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and thought I would try them. After beginning their use I found a gradual improvement, and having suffered as long and as severely as I did, you may be sure that I determined to continue the treatment. Very steadily the improvement went on, and after a few months' treatment with the Pink Pills I felt that the last vestige of my trouble has disappeared. New blood seemed to course through my veins, and the organs which for so many years imperfectly performed their functions now work like a charm and give me not the slightest trouble. In addition to this my weight has materially increased, and I can stand a day's work on my farm better than I have been able to do in years be-Of course this may sound enthusiastic, but I know what Pink Pills have done for me and I naturally feel grateful, and I never lose an opportunity to say a good word for this grand medicine." Two years ago the street railway men of Sacramento, Cal., organized a union, and secured a ten-hour workday. For some reason the union went down, and the company recently instituted the twelve-hour day without opposition from the men.

A referendum vote is being taken in the associations of street railway employes on a proposition to change the time of holding the annual Na-tional Convention from October, 1896, to May, 1897, and the prospect is that the later date will carry.

SPEEDING A LOCOMOTIVE

What It Means to Speed a Huge Ma chine Up to Sixty Miles an Hour.

At sixty miles an hour the resistance of a train is four times as great as it is at thirty miles—that is, the fuel must be four times as great in the one case as it is in the other But at sixty miles an hour this fue must be exerted for a given distance in half the time that it is at thirty miles, so that the amount of power exerted and steam generated must be eight times as great at the faster speed. This means that the capacity of the boilers, cylinders and the other parts must be greater with a corresponding addition to the weight of the machine. Obviously, there-fore, if the weight per wheel, on account of the limit of weight that the rails will carry, is limited, we soon reach a point when the driving wheels and other parts cannot be further enlarged, and then we reach the maximum of speed. The nice adjustment necessary of the various parts of these immense engines may be indicated by some figures as to the work performed by these parts when the locomotive is working at high speed. Take a passenger engine on any of the big railroads. At sixty miles an hour a driving wheel five and one-half feet in diameter revolves five times per second; now, the reciprocating parts of each cylinder, including one piston rod, crosshead and connecting rod, weighing about 650 pounds, must move back and forth a distance equal to the stroke, usually two feet, every time the wheel revolves, or in a fifth of a second. It starts from a state of rest at the end of each stroke of the piston, and must acquire a velocity of 32 feet per second in one-twentieth of a second, and must be brought to a state of rest in the same period of time. A piston eighteen inches in diameter has an area of 54 1-2 square inches. Steam of 150 pounds pressure per square inch would, therefore, exert a force on the piston equal to 38,175 pounds. This force is applied alternately on each side of the piston ten times a second. -Ladies' Home Journal.

Insomnia is one of the most unplease ant and dangerous derangements of the human system, and should in no writer in Good Housekeeping. But there are degrees and kinds of sleepessness, as well as of most other things, and the mental and physical habit of the afflicted person often has very much to do with the development of the trouble. Not infrequently the person who fears that he is going to have a sleepless night, and gets into a state of nervous dread on that account, finds his fears fully realized. Another person, perhaps suffering from a disordered or over-loaded stomach, and finding himself wakeful, falls into serious apprehen-sion, and by the aid of his nervous wakeful, falls into serious apprehension, and by the aid of his nervous system, soon gets himself into the very condition which he feared. A golden rule is to avoid fret and worry, and especially apprehension and fear. These simply magnify evils and not infrequently produce serious results from what otherwise would be but ordinary ills. Many a person, finding himself wakeful, will be surprised to realize next day how readily he fell asleep agaln, after accepting the con-

Feeling very sorry that I cannot at this time go in, yours truly, (Sgd.) JOHN T. COLE, Supt. White Bear Mining Co. Rossland, July 2, 1895.

Dear Willmott: I visited the "Hill Top" with one Line tunner, which is now 35 feet long, is all in ore which, while not yet rich enough to ship, will in all probability be when completed to the shaft, the assays from such shaft running from $15 to $22. The tunnel will strike under shaft at a depth of about 40 feet.

5 Absolute title falls and for the control of the "Hill Top" with one of the original owners today. Found the ledge uncovered in three places, the principal point of operation having a 35-foot tunnel, which shows rock well mineralized and in abundant quantity. This rock is very similar to that taken out of the "May Flower" quantity. This rock is very similar to that taken out of the "May Flower" when their tunnel was first put in. We went over the waste rock below the dump on the "May Flower," and compared it with our specimens from the "Hill Top." It was almost identi-

THE LIFTCHILD-WILLMOTT CO. W. Fullerton, Esq., Rossland, B. C.: Dear Sir,-Replying to your favor of the 8th inst., I beg to say that you can certainly consider me an original subscriber in the "Hill Top."

rections, I have made a careful examination of your "Hill Top" property at Trail Creek, B. C. The claim is about a mile from Rossland. The Columbia and Western Railroad almost skirts its borders. It is a full claim, being 1,500 feet square. feet square. It adjoins the well-known "May Flower" (Olla Podrido) mine on the east and embraces the continuation of its well-known parallel ledges, which are traceable on the surface for the entire length of the "Hill Top." The formation is Diorite, being the same as that encountered throughout the entire district, and in which is found all of the great mines of the above-named district. The strike of the ore can be easily sent down by a chute. "Hill Top" is a good thing. Push it along.

The strike of the veins is easterly and westerly. The veins, as far as opened by tunnels, outs and shafts, show extremely large. veins, as far as opened by tunnels, unlimited in quantity right at hand, veins, as far as opened by tunnels, Fortunately, the railroad skirts the veins, as far as opened by tunnels, cuts and shafts, show extremely large. The two ledges on this property are known as the north and south veins. So far, the work done has mostly been on the south vein. A shaft some ten feet in depth toward the west end line shows some very fine sulphide and galena ore. A cross-cut now in 60 feet, is being driven to tap the south ledge about 400 feet from the east end line. Though considered in country rock, it has cut several fine stringers of ore which presages what can be trammed down to the will, with proper development, be the peer of any of them.

The smelter returns of $56 per ton exceeded my most sanguine expectations. Both properties having the same veins, the surface ore being identical, leads me to feel that the "Hill Top," upon the completion of its cross-cut tunnel, will be able to ship pay rock at an early date.

Hoping that you will have no trouble in closing the deal, and awaiting your further advices, I desire to remain, Yours truly,

Mining Co., Spokane, Wash.:

Gentlemen,—According to your directions, I have made a careful exam-Columbia and Western Railroad. Its ore rapidly increased in value, and now runs over $100 to the ton. The surface showings of both claims are almost identical. They are both well named "poor men's mines." The facilities for working the "HII Tron". ties for working the "Hill Top" property could not be surpassed. The surface is such as to permit of its being worked to a great depth (considerably over 1,000 feet) without having to incur the expense of sinking shafts or purchasing machinery for pumping, hoisting, etc. There is ample water for steaming purposes to be had from the adjacent south fork of Trail Creek. Considering the dip, the face of the tunnel is now within 30 to 40 feet of the ledge. Besides the above, there are numerous cross-cuts, open cuts and pot holes throughout the entire length of both ledges, showing the veins to be continuous.

LOCATION

HE HILL TOP is situated about one mile south of Rossland Trail Mining District, British Columbia. Lifs claim is situated upon a steep slope of a mountain. The claim is being developed almost entirely by tunneling, the steepness of the mountain rendering this method of development the best and cheapest. The principal tunnel is situated 400 feet above the grade of the Trail Creek R. R., and ore can be shipped from the mouth of the tunnel by this railway with the aid of a chute.

Upon this claim are two well defined veins of ore, which are known as the north and south veins, both of which are known to contain rich deposits, being the same veins upon which the "May Flower" has so far developed, and when development work has advanced a little further the management expect the showing and returns will justify increasing the price to at least 15c.

The management cannot be better, being under the charge of the former superintendent of the Le Roi, a gentleman endowed with a practical mining knowledge, and noted for his conservative management.

" 2-Average four feet, all values - - 64 20 Eminent mining engineers from London and elsewhere state the Trail Mining District is about to develop in the greatest gold-producer that this continent has ever known, and that Trail Creek will rival, and most probably surpass, the wonderful gold fields of South Africa. English capitalists have already begun to find out the wealth of this favored region, and they have already begun to buy some of the mines in Trail Creek. When London has once fairly started to buy these mines there will be no chance for Canadian capital to get mining property at low figures. Therefore, if the people of this Province desire to share in the enormous profits that are certain to be realized in British Columbia Mines, they must invest at once. The gentlemen connected with the mine teel confident it will rank among the dividend payers, and, when the price is considered and compared with others where the development work consists of little more, the advantages will easily be appreciated. We have placed in our hands a limited number of shares of this Com pany's stock which we are able offer, for a short period, at the low price of 71 cents per share ($1 par value), in blocks of not less than 500 shares.

THE clock in the tower of St. Clement's Church, in the Strand, London, possesses the somewhat novel peculirity of striking every hour twice. The hour is struck once on a large bell weighing 2,400 pounds, and also on the Sanctus, a bell in the spire, which dates back to the thirteenth century. and is said to be one of the bells used long before the Reformation.

IT MAY be something new to many people that but for the millions upon millions of floating particles of dust in the atmosphere, the sky would not be blue, but black. This is what we are told in a very interesting, recently published book. "The Pith of Astronomy." The dust here lays us under an obligation, for who would not rather gaze into depths of azure than into a sky as dark by dav as it is at night when the sun is withdrawn.

PRINCE GEORGE of Cumberland, whose succession to the Duchy of Brunswick on his attaining his maferity was to be the solution of the fficulties between the German empire and the Hanoverian Guelphs, is suf-fering from inflammation of the marrow in the knee-joint, spreading to the thigh and shin bones. The doctors think it may be necessary to ampu-tate the thigh. His recovery is doubtful, whether they do or not.

AN Englishman has just been robbed by an ingenious trick in a Paris cafe. He entered into conversation with a well-dressed stranger who began playing with the lever of a selt-zer water siphon on the table. Sud-denly he turned the stream on the Englishman's shirt front, jumped up apologizing profusely and wiping off the water with his handkerchief. Then he left the cafe, and the Englishman found that his pocketbook with $800 in bank notes had gone with the HENDON, north of London, has a tavern in a churchyard, with tombstones all around it, which has been kept there for many hundred years and is the only licensed house in such a place. The original building was rned down 200 years ago, the present house having been built soon after the restoration of Charles II. It is believed that it was once a church believed that it was once a church house, as by the terms of the lease a room must be set aside for parish meetings and for the preservation of he had asked John to lend him a big the parish records.

A GOOD story of the late Princess Alice has come out on the occasion of the striking of a medal for the fishermen of Ushant. She once visited the mint unexpectedly at a time when some medals were being made for noncommissioned officers of the army While she was being shown through the building, the officials thought it would be a great thing to stamp her name and the date on one of the medals and present it to her. She accepted the gift and then burst out laughing. The inscription reads: "For long service and good conduct."

THE Society for the Protection of Cats, founded a little over year ago, in London, has recently at a formal opening under the patronage of the Duke and Duchess of Bedford. An isolated stable on a quiet street has been secured for the lost, maimed and sick felines. As soon as possible a lethal chamber will be constructed where poor cats which are on the of death from abuse, accident or natural illness may be painlessly removed from this vale of tears. On part of the building has been put aside for the use of boarders, who, in the absence of their owners, will be cared for at moderate prices.

A LOQUACIOUS telegraph operator grieviously misled a crowd of loyal Britishers the other day and made them ridiculous. It seems that the on of the Marquis of Salisbury raises es, and, being in need of a queen he sent to the nearest town for e, receiving at Hatfield House, in ply to his message, a telegram to effect that "the Queen will arrive by 3:40 this afternoon." The operator. supopsing it to refer to her Majesty was unable to keep such news himself, and an immense crowd had assembled at the station when the bee arrived. The fate of the operator is unknown, but the bee reached its destination in safety.

THE customs at the Court of Montenegro seem very primitive, judging from an incident at a recent dinner party. The Prince and his guests were sitting in the dining hall, when the servants entered, bringing in an enormous boar roasted whole, which placed on the table. The Prince and his guests drew near, and at a sign from his Highness a young officer drew his sword, and with one stroke cut through the hog, through the tablecloth, and deep into the table. Inside the boar was a turkey, and inside the turkey a snipe, which had been shot by the Prince, and it is said to have acquired a most delicate flavor from its manner of cooking.

ONE of the stories that followed Li Hung Chang from London related, as most of the anecdotes about him do, to his extreme frankness in interrogating the persons he meets on any point which interests him, even though the newer civilization has imposed on men more reticence. Earl Li met in London woman of titled family and influen-1. I social position. He asked her how many children she had. "Three," was her answer. "Only three?" responded

Out in a Dory All Night. By Edward A. Rand, in The Christian Work.

"Am-I going off-off-with that, Old Silas?" John Sprague asked him-

There was no doubt about it. Skipper Thompson, of the fishing smack Betsy, was now repeating his orders. "John, you git in thar with Silas Princeton and be off. Hurry, 'fore it's too dark."

"Old Silas'" word to John was, "In with ye! Night is a comin'!" There were nets to be examined, and "Old Silas," as John called him, and as people often spoke of him, was in a dory lying alongside of the Betsy, waiting for the boy's company on this visit to the Betsy's nets. John silently obeyed and stepping into the dory, took up an oar and began to row away.

His reflections explain any reluctance to go off with the fisherman somberly pulling away on his oar. "I don't like to go with this man for he has not treated me fairly. Four net, and John gave it to me and I lugged it home. That day John left on a long fishing trip to the east'ard. When Old Silas saw John Princeton's net, he said Steve stole it. I told him 'no, for his John lent it, and I went after it and lugged it home. He said Steve stole it, and I was try-ing to lie Steve out of it. Well, as John Princeton was off, we couldn't have his word in the matter. Old Silas stuck to his opinion so far as to say that any way if it was borrowed, I did not bug it home, for I wasn't strong enough. I asked grandway, and she said, 'You do your duty and treat him kindly, and something and to be rowing him, for I know he

"How old he loks and how tired he All wrinkled, ain't he! An old—old man! His head dropped away down!" mused John. Suddenly, the aged head came up, and a sharp voice sang out, "Come, boy! A sojering" Gone to sleep? Row away thar!" "I was rowing, and you were sleep-

"Were you rowing when I looked at ye? Not the first time ye've lied." John was too indignant to speak easily, and after a remonstrance and a reminder that the boat was heading rong, he rowed in sullen silence. 'Whew-ew-ew! Here we are in a ither John nor Silas had noticed t the fog was so close upon them, I when Silas had in his drowsiness rowing, the boat's course had been altered, and though John had tried to bear this in mind, and at that time head the boat right again, they could not find the Betsy's nets.

"Wall, wall, this is a sup-prise!" growled old Silas. "Night a-comin" on, fog all about us and the Betsy is-I don't know whar. Whew-ew-

John now spoke. 'The Betsy was not more than three miles from the shore—from home-when we left her." "And afore mornin', boy," said Old Silas, solemnly, "we may be twenty miles from shore, and—food for fishes,

"Then I think we will feed them farther off than we need to," said John, "but ship our oars-and-andwait for something to turn up." "That's just my mind, boy-and-

Alone John watched, for the sea was rapidly darkening, and someone must keep his eyes open.
"Fact is," thought John, "I can't go to sleep. Just hear Silas snore! It sounds like a fog horn. He any way is old enough to be at home and in What a pickle I am in, too!

fog. Under this dome was a fonely boat rising and falling with the sea. In the boat was an old man asleep to every sense of danger or duty. The boy in the boat had eyes wide open. It seemed to John as if in their stare those eyes must be as big as the round sunflowers in his mother's garden. Hour after hour passed, Old Silas snoring, John watching almost all the time. Suddenly John looked up and saw a star.

"Fog clearing away?" he wondered. "Oh, I hope so!" Yes, more stars shone out, and then upon the dark wall of the heavens stood out in lines of silver fire the constellation of the Great Bear. "Oh, it never looked so pretty in all my life!" declared John, springing up. "Yes, and there's the North Star. And I know which way home is, and I am going to pull for it. It will be morning before long."

He took up his pars and pulled away. He took up his oars and pulled away vigorously, singing cheerily,

"Pull for the shore, sailor, Pull for the shore, Heed not the rolling waves, But bend to the oar.'

The sound awoke Old Silas "What ye-doin'?" he murmured "Sleep away. I am good for it."

Soon Old Silas was snoring away contentedly. "Click, click!" went the sound of John's rowing.

The gray of the dawn was creeping over the sea when John beached his "Come, Silas," said John, laying an awakening hand on the fisherman. "What-what! Whar be ye?" groaned Old Silas that is abroad in the "Flowery Kingdom," it is interesting to learn that the Tao Tai of Shanghai has recently issued a proclamation to the Kiangsu merchants proposing that the loan at interest advanced by them to the Government should, as it fell due, be handed over to the Board of Mercantile Affairs for the promotion of mercantile enterprise, or else that the merchants themselves take the money, giving security that it be used in the establishment of such industries. This proclamation is cordance with an imperial edict is-sued for the furtherance of mercan-"union is strength," and that by interesting the public in the above manner the movement will grow. Every factory that is established, it is stated, will stop a drain on the country's ed, will stop a drain on the country's resources. Extending the system by degrees, it will secure advantages for Chinese trade, without benefiting officials in the least.

Some of the Kiangsu merchants protested that on account of their limited means they could not afford to invest their loans in this way, whereupon the Viceroy of the two Kiang Provinces sent a telegram, in which he reproaches the Chinese merchants as short-sighted and wanting in solidarity and the capacity for united effort; that the source of wearth of the European merchants is derived from their capacity for united efforts, which lead to the formation of large companies; that if the Kiangsu merhome. Come."
"Wall—wall! How did you git here? chants are really in difficulties, and if it is imperative that they should receive back their ready money, they shall, after careful inquiry into their circumstances, be excused from taking shares. It will be easily understood why the merchants would allow their money to be invested in the contemplated enterprises rather than suffer an examination into their condition, which would stamp them with the taint of insolvency. The Government "request," therefore, has all the force of an edict, and it may be assumed that the merchants throughout the Empire will invest their loans to the Government principal and interest, as they fall due, in the building of in-dustries throughout the empire, no restrictions being placed upon the investors as to the industries to be inaugurated, the intention being to render China as independent as possible of foreign manufacturers and pro-

It is stated in the proclamation that the loan which should revert to the merchant of Soochow has been, in accordance with Government direction and mercantile acquiescence, already handed over to the Board of Mercantile affairs for the purpose indicated, and that the same procedure is to follow in regard to the Shangnai merchants' loan. Thus these war loans may result in the building up of the various industries throughout China. In the inauguration and working out of these new enterprises, the Govern-ment and Government officials, it is explained have no direct interest, further than to grant whatever necessary concessions the merchants themselves may request and the Government may see fit to allow. In another telegram to the Tao Tai of Shanghai, the Viceroy says:

"It is not necessary to make a hard and fast choice of some branch of industry, such as the manufacture of piece goods or silk filature. There is plenty of profit to be derived from other industries, such as the manufacture of foreign candles, foreign sugar, or foreign crockery. It will be a good thing for those with small they get to the top of a mountain. No capital belonging to officials will "Most people find," said the child, be put in, nor will other merchants or officials be mixed up in the matter. Hereafter, the merchants will manage their business as they please, and the officials will have no questions to ask. At present all that the Board take charge of the money due to the merchants. Born in the lap of luxury in the Castle of Ahrensberg, in Holstein, this lady was so highly favored as to be appointed at the early age of 18 to the land for knighthood, and Horatio for proud position of maid of honor to the manhood, and Henry V. for kingship, late Empress Augusta. For eighteen years she lived and moved in the gentleman. Books are full of these dazzling brilliancy of court life. The beautiful and varied characters, more pomps and pleasures of the royal circle real to us than those persons who live could not, however, satisfy the cravings of her higher nature. All the time she longed for something loftier and in one form or another what is noblest better. Nominally a Christian, she knew in her heart of hearts that she filld not live the Christ life. Pastor Funcke inaugurated in Berlin a cru-sade against the indifference of women of rank and fashion to the sorrows of the poor which surged around them. but moved them not to pity. One evening he saw before him a very dis-tinguished lady, whose appearance attracted his attention. Her face darkened and brightened as he spoke. At the close of the address she came forward and announced herself as the Countess Schimmelmann. Frankly confessing the insignificance and purposelessness of the life of luxury she led, she deliberately expressed her intention to do something to help her fellow-creatures. Four years passed before the pastor and his hearen met again. The cloud had lifted then from the dissatisfied countenance, and into the life had entered the peace and happiness which come from self-sacrificing activity for God and for human-ity. Countess Schimmelmann found her life by losing it. She selected a fishing district called Gohren as the sphere of her service. It was but a sandy waste on the shores of the Baltic, peopled by men degraded in their habits asd handicapped by the most abject poverty. There she made her home in a little cottage of four rooms, and gave herself with the most heroic persistency to the social and moral calvation of the fishermen. The only places open to them were drinking dens which robbed them of their scanty pay and increased the brutality of their character. Colton's Advice.

The other day, as I was clinging to the strap of a Lexington avenue car, says a writer in the Christian Advocate, two ladies sat near me, and as one opened her portemonnale to pay her fare a scrap of paper pasted to the leather was disclosed. "Is that your shopping list?" asked the other; "it doesn't look like a long

"No," was the reply; "it is not the list, but it is what keeps the list from being a long one," and she read: 'He who buys what he does not need, will soon need what he cannot buy."

"What a capital guardian of your capital! You must let me copy that for my leaky purse. Who wrote it?"
"I don't know, but I wish I did, for my leaky purse and many a dollar from he has saved many a dollar from lightly rolling from my hands since I put it here." I was intensely interested in the conversation, for at that very moment there lay in my note book a scrap which I would have brought forth but for the fact that my own corner was reached. I publish it, for, if the truth which it contains were assimiliated, many a pocketbook would remain a pocket-"We are ruined, not by what we really want, but by what we think we do; therefore, never go abroad in search of your wants. If they be real wants, they will come home in search of you; for he that buys what he does

The Pacific Ensign, of San Francisco, Cal., tells of a recent occurrence which apprehensive "remonstrants" sign says:

It has been urged by some that if woman was granted the ballot she would be put more on the footing of men, and they would not be inclined to pay her the little respectful courtesies now shown. The contrary was demonstrated on Monday, when Miss The "mad countess' came to be spoken of as "our mother," and sweet in-Susan B. Instead of a decrease in courtesy, there will be an increase if woman is granted the ballot, for there spect like power. For Women Inebriates.

Lady Henry Somerset is making a new departure in temperance work in the village she is building for women inebriates. This is to be near the town of Duxhurst, and here she has and women, you will hear all sorts of laid out a pretty hamlet, with pleasjudgment on life as you go out into it. ant grounds and cozy cottages, where You will read all sorts of judgment on the inmates can be treated, not as the inmates can be treated, not as criminals, but as patients. In order say to you what I believe is true: The to restore them to a healthy bodily condition they will have plenty of active employment, such as the raising of vegetables, the care of fowls, beekeeping, dairying and laundry work. Each woman will be charged $1 25 a week, and this she will work out, while all she earns above that at her regular labors will be given to her at her departure. Six women will be in each cottage, and the village will have, besides its homes, a chapel, a hospital, a public hall, etc. One hundred and eighty acres are included in the area of the village. They will be resident physicians, and very effort will be made to keep the minds and bodies of the patients pleasantly occupied and free from temptation. They will be received as rapidly as the accommodations will permit.

The Making of a Genius.

Harper's Bazar. The self-contained woman of moody and brooding temperament nearly always thinks herself misunderstood and unappreciated. She is conscious of many ideas and emo-tions which are seldom expressed by around her. So she imagines that they are unique, and that she herself is an original thinker. She finally concludes that these vagrant and fleeting thoughts, which would be rejected by stronger minds, are worth preserving, and that, as much courage is required to speak or write them, such courage argues the possession of genius. It is thus very easy for an egotist to grow to consider itself unique and a genius. A notable example of this absurd mistake was shown by the late Marie Bashkirtseff. Her great terror was lest her "feelings" should be forgotten. She would have shown higher courage if she had consigned her emotions to oblivion and allowed only her work to stand. The most profound feeling which her story arouses in the mind of the reader is of pity for a woman who struggled, was overwhelmed, and sank in such shallow waters. Her sufferings, which were real enough, arose from an over-supply of the most unfortunate passions of the human heart—great self-conceit and human heart—great self-conceit and profound self-absorption. And to these she added the moral blindness of never quite perceiving that they were contemptible.

But there are many other men and women, dubbed geniuses by the world, whose genius consists in the fact that the only passions in their natures which they find strong enough to give the world are the lowest of which human nature is capable. The genius is rarer who knows that there must be omissions, that the lowest passions must always be sacrificed to the higher, and that in the soul's struggle upward it is wisest not only to crush out but to bury without an epitaph But there are many other men and out but to bury without an epitaph feelings of which we should be ash-

Evening Twilight on the Hills.

By David Mills. My sister and I, from the hills. Watch'd the last glimmer of day; We were sooth'd by the murmur of rills-

By songs that they sung on their way.

The night on the world was descending, going near the instrument he carries The day had fled far, far along-The sounds that through valleys were

And forgot we should not linger so. The sheep, in their fold, were in safety, The warm moon came up in the sky; Because on the hills we had loiter'd, We mark'd not the moments go by.

The wolf pack now howl'd in the wood-That stretch'd far away in our rear;

We saw that the night was descending, near. Our hearts, at that sound, ceas'd their

Make the Most of Yourself.

It is the duty of every man to make the most of himself. Whatever his capacities may be, he is sure to find some place where he can be useful to himself and to others. But he cannot reach his highest usefulness without good health, and he cannot have good health without pure blood. The blood circulates to every organ and tissue and when it is pure, rich and healthy it carries health to the entire system, but if it is impure it scatters disease wherever it flows. EDISON'S PHONOGRAPH

Reproduces Songs With Marvelous Sweetness and Purity.

Washington, Sept. 6.—Li Hung Chang will meet Edison at Niagara Falls Monday, when he will be shown his two latest improvements on machines in which the Viceroy is greatly interested. Li desires Edison and his European representative, Col. George E. Gouraud, to go to China and introduce the telephone there.

Edison's latest inventions comprise an improved telephone and a perfect-ed phonograph. The latter has been Edison's dream for years, and it has only been completed recently.

The phonograph works without the craping sound which is now audible in the instrument, and the tone of the sound which it takes is reproduced with the utmost accuracy. If a tenor or a soprano sings into the new phonograph the person who hears the song from the phonograph receives as much enjoyment as if he had listened to the song in person. But one of these instruments has been made, and it is in very rough form. It was tried the other night at Orange in Edison's house, and worked perfectly, though the sound was transmitted through five miles of wire. The telephone is a marvel of convenience to the busy man. The in-strument is placed on the wall, near the desk, as at present. It is automatically arranged, so that when the bell rings all the man at the desk has to do is to turn his head a little and ejaculate "Hello!" Then, still sitting at his desk, and without touching or on the conversation. There is no trouble about taking down the receiver and screwing it to your ear, or going through any of the maneuvers which are now necessary. The conversation with a man 100 miles away is carried on as easily as if he were in a chair by your side. The voice which comes from the telephone is distinctly audible to the person by whom it is intended that it should be heard but does not fill the room. heard, but does not fill the room. The phonograph, on the other hand, when brought into action, fills the room with sound. By means of this instrument Melba can sing to 1,000,000 persons at once. It is so perfected hat the sound will pass over as many miles as desired. She can for in-stance, sing to an immense audience in New York at the Metropolitan Opera House. Phonographs may also be connected with Washington, Boston, Philadelphia, St. Louis, and, if Edison's asertions are correct, big au And knew, then, that danger was diences there can hear her voice as near.

QUESTIONS ANSWERED.

Chickens.-Is it lawful for chickens to run at large? Ans.-No.

Taxes.-A tenant farmer cannot pay his taxes. What can he claim exempt from seizure? Can a team of horses be seized that are not worth more than $25? Can a wagon, buggy or small implements be taken, party having no cattle or pigs or sheep? Ans. -There are no exemptions of his property for taxes.

Galt.-I had a life assurance policy of over $3,000 for upwards of ten years. I wish to raise $600 on it, either by sale or mortgage of it, for a term of years, in which case I would, of course, expect to pay fair interest. Where and how can I do it? Ans .-Such a security is not readily saleable. The company who issued the policy would probably buy it from you or give you a loan on it. Write to the head office and inquire. You might also apply to several money brokers in this and other cities, some of whom may have a customer pre pared to invest in it. Dungannon -In a bill of an auction sale, the terms are: All sums under $10 cash; and all over, approved joint notes, upon which a certain per centurn will be allowed as discount, for Suppose the time of credit on mote to be for nine months, is the discount allowed for one year, or for nine months; and is the amount,$10, to be included in calculating the discount along with the amount of purchase, over $10? Suppose a bidder bought $25 worth of goods, should discount be allowed on $25 or on $15?

Ans.—The purchaser of goods up to $10 must pay cash, but if he buys more, he is entitled to give an approved joint note for the sum total of his purchase, at such a term of credit and rate of interest as may be agreed upon, or to have the discount allowed on the sum total for cash payment. The discount would be on $25 in the case mentioned.
