own colors, England, as the great Bismarck foretold, would have found her grave in South Africa." That is the keynote of the Boer General Dewet's book, entitled "Three Years' War," pubed by Archibald Constable & Co. in able leader that any recent war has produced. The baldness of the harrative only serves to bring into striking relief the fiery passages, where a strong man literally blurts out his soul in pathetic egret or hitter denunciation. In thus taking the public into his confidence Dewet loses nothing of the glamor with which his exploits in the field surrounded him. In criticizing he spares no one. Boet and Briton come equally under the lash Dewet declares that whatever the English meanle may have to say in discredit lish people may have to say in discredit of General Buller, he had to operate against stronger positions than any other British General. Throughout the work the Boer General has but slight praise for Lord Roberts, and little more or Lord Kitchener. Gen. Knox, who for Boer leader, is almost the only British General who seems to have struck Degenius. Of "Tommy Atkins" he has many kindly words to say, and declares the British were far from being bac The comparative immunity the Boers from harm, and his own humorous escapes. Dewet constantly and most fervently attributes to the interposition of God, Nevertheless the book teems with accounts of military and other strategies by which Dewet outwitted his pursuers. Frequently he recounts cases of desertion and panie among his own men when his entrenties and sjamboking were all of no avail. Dewet pays a tribute to General Cronic for his bravery but declares he lost at Paardeberg only on account of his fatal obstinacy to leave the larger, as he was advised to do by General Botha and by the writer self. Regarding his own forces, De wet writes: "It was far easier to fight against the great English army than against treachery among my own peo ole, and an iron will was required to fight against both. Once, if only our orders had been carried out a little more strictly, and if only the most elementary rules of strategy had been ob served in our efforts to break the English lines of communication, Lord Ro berts and his thousands of troops would have found themselves shut up in Pretoria, where they would have perished of hunger. It was not the skill of their Commander in Chief that saved them."

Of the blockhouses Dewet is frankly contemptuous. "The blockhouse policy, he says, "might equally well have been called the policy of the blockhead." The writer emphatically defends the right to blow up railroad lines and trains as the usage of war, and he declares he never missed an opportunity The so-called war women and the misuse of the white flag by the British is sternly denounced by the Boer General, who says:-"That such direct and indirect murder should have been committed against defence less women and children is a thing should have staked my head could never have happened in a war waged by the civilized English nation, and yet it hap-His last word is an injunction to his Story Told by Albert Skellon, Cheesemaker of Cannifton-James Oliver, the Accused, Arrested.

Tweed. Dec. 1 .- A shooting affray which looks very much like a dastardly attempt at murder occurred near here Saturday. The perpetrator of the deed is James Oliver, a farmer, about forty years of age, living near Rednersville, Prince Edward County. The victim is Albert Skellon, a cheesemaker from Cannifton, near Belleville Skellon's story is that he had been visiting at Oliver's home since Monday last. Saturday morning Oliver Invited him to drive out to his (Oliver's) tather's for a visit and when they arrived at a lonely place on the road Oliver drew a revolver and shot him. The bullet entered about an inch in front of the left ear, and came out just below the outer corner of the right eye. The wound is serious, but Skellon has good chances of recovery. Oliver would no doubt have finished his job but for the opportune arrival of a farmer named David Lockwood, who happened along on his way home just in the nick of time while Skellon was battling for his life with his murderous assallant.

Lockwood drove the wounded man here, Skellon says he counted Oliver among his best friends, and can imagine no motive for the crime, unless it would be to escape a debt of $35 which Oliver owes.

Chicago, Dec. 1 .- The steamer Majestic, bound down, has reported that the wreck previously sighted on the rock on Michipocoten certainly is the Bannockburn, says a special from Sault-Ste. Marie, Mich. The Majestic did not run in close enough to learn much con cerning her, but the captain believed there is no danger of her breaking ap immediately unless the wind changes.

A tug has been sent to the scene, A later despatch from Chicago, der the same date, gives a special to The Record-Herald from Sault Ste. Marie, Mich., which says: -The steamer Bannockburn, with her crew of twenty men, is given up for lost by the local marine men. The report received last night that she was ashore near Michipicoten seems to be without foundamet with disaster is strengthened by the fact that the steamer Rockefeller which arrived here to-day, reported passing through wreckage off Standard Rock. This is supposed to be from the missing boat. The wrecking tugs Boyn-ton and Favorite have made a search along the north shore of Lake Superior without finding any trace of the Canad ian steamer. The accepted theory is lake, and went down with all on board,

The Sultan's forces dispersed the tribesmen. but the attack delayed the march against the Kabyles.

B. L. BORDEN IN TORONTO.

He Expects the Next Session to be of Great Importance

Toronto, Dec. 1 Mr. R. L. Borden, M. P. of Halifax is in the city, the guest of Mr. A. E. Kemp, M.P. In an interview regarding the coming session of the Dominion Parliament the leader of the Dominion Parlia-ment the leader of the Opposition ex-pressed the opinion that important mat-ters will be dealt with. He said:— "The Government brought down to leg-islation of great importance at the last session except such measures as were brought down with the intimation that they would not be pressed that session. It is probable at the ensuing session we will have Mr. Mulock's conciliation bill, Mr. Blair's Railway Commission bill, a bill respecting telephone companies, the redistribution bill and other important measures. Whether or not any measure with respect to the tariff will be introduced we cannot conjecture, as the Government does not appear to have any policy with regard to that which it is prepared to announce."

that several English dealers, who have entered into big contracts based upon existing quotations, will suffer considerable loss in consequence.

Montreal, Dec. 1.—The British order prohibiting the transportation of cattle from the six northern States has come so suddenly that neither the Canadian shippers nor the transportation companies know how they will be affected exactly, though there is a general opinion that the effect will not be injurious to them. The Grand Trunk Railway, with its winter port at Portland is a heavy shipper of cattle, but Mr. John W. Loud, breight Tradic Manager, stated to-day that he knew nothing about the matter except what he had seen in the papers, that he did not knew how far these reports were correct, and that the these reports were correct; and that the company had received no information

This matter of accommodation at of Gordon & Ironsides stated that the facilities at St John are not sufficient to take care of any great number of cattle at the present time. At the outside the C.P.R. yards at that port would not accommodate over 2,000 cattle. In the last eleven months Boston alone took out at least 30,000 Canadian cattle, so it can readily be seen that the C.P.R. must increase its accommodation, There must also, he said, be more ships from St. John if the trade is to be pro perly supplied. At present there are 6,000 cattle and 5,000 sheep booked out. This number will, of course, be materially increased if the railways and shipping accommodation is increased to meet

Asked as to the effect of the order apon the price of beef in England, Mr. Gordon stated that the tendency would naturally be an increase in price; in fact he would not wonder if cattle were now on the centrary, it is going to help the business in Canada very materially." Ottawa, Dec. 1 .- The Government has lost no time in dealing with the emergency caused by the outbreak of foot and mouth disease in the six New England States. Upon recommendation of Hon. Sidney Fisher, who returned to the city yesterday, it was decided to prohibit the importation into Canada of cattle, sheep and swine from the States in question, and orders to that effect have been telegraphed by the Minister of Customs to the customs officers at all points of entry in the international boundary as far west as Sarnia. It has also been decided to prevent the embarkation of live stock at Canadian Atlantic ports on board ships from New England ports, and the shipment of live stock in bond over the short line through Maine to St. John and Halifax will likewise be stopped for the present. A cablegram has been sent to the High Commissioner for Canada acquainting him of these measures. It is just possible that the British authorities may net desire an embargo on the shipment of live stock over the short line, but may be satisfied to allow the shipment to continue under adequate safeguards. Boston, Dec. I.-The Cunard Line steamer Sylvania, which will be the last vessel to leave Boston with cattle for a British port until the embargo against their shipment on account of the foot and mouth disease in New England is raised, will sail for Liverpool to-morrow with 664 cattle and 750 sheep on board. The vessel caunot reach Liverpool by Dec. 5, when the order of the English Board of Agriculture forbidding the landing in Great Britain from New England port goes into effect, but it is said that the Boston agent of the line has received assurances from the company's head offices in England which satisfy him that the Sylvania's cargo can be landed in Liverpool. The steamer Col-umbian of the Wilson-Furness-Leyland Line, for London, and the Sagamore of the Warren Line, for Liverpol, will sail to-morrow, but neither will carry any cattle. The stock which was to have been taken by these vessels is at the Watertown stock yards and elsewhere around Boston and will be slaughtered for the local market, as it comes from Canada and the west, where the discuse Halifax, N. S. Dec. I.—The Halifax

Board of Trade, on receiving an inquiry on Saturday from the agents of the Leyland Line Steamship Company of Boston, as to the facilities at this port for the shipment of cattle, took prompt action. The agents were notified that Halifax, and no difficulty will be experienced at Marrime ports in handling all the cattle sent along. On Saturday night about 5.30 o'clock a young man entered the grocery store of Daniel Couper, Princess street, bought goods to the value of $1.04, and ter ed a check for $10.50, made payable to Joseph Graham, and issued by the King ston agency of the Rathbun Company Mr. Couper was suspicious, and parieyed with the man, saying he could not cash the check, but he would run out and get the change. He telephoned the agency, and found that Manager Chadwick had issued no such check. He was advised to hold the man. The potter were notified, and Sergt, Snodden hur ried to the store, arriving with Mr. Couper, Mr. Couper told the individual that the Rathbun agency disputed the check, and in reply the forger said he had been given the check by a saloon keeper. The police officer took the man in charge. He was scarched at head-quarters, and over twenty checks were found on him, made out by the Rathbut Company to Joseph Graham. He admit ted his guilt, and said he was the passer of checks in other towns. At the police quarters he said his name was Chas. H. MR. HAYS' STATEMENT RE-GARDING THE G.T. PACIFIC.

Opposition in Quebec-The Trans-Canada Railway Considers its Territory Infringed ou-Mr. Hugh J. Macdonald's Opinion.

Montreal, Dec. 1 .- There seems to be misunderstanding in some quarters about the position of the G. T. R. and its proposed extension through the northwest. "Anyone who thinks," said Mr. Hays, "that the company will not apply to Parliament for aid for that project is greatly mistaken." It is, therefore, evident that there will be some lively discussions in Parliament next session, for the words of Sir Thomas Shaughnessy, indicating the approval of the C. P. R., were based on the hypo-thesis that the G. T. R. would build the extension without asking public aid. A despatch from Quebec says that the directors of the Trans-Canada Railway, which is chartered to run from Quebe to Port Simpson, are much incensed at the Grand Trunk's new transcontinental scheme, and have resolved to ask the Board of Trade to call a general meeting of all its members and of the re-presentatives of the district for next week to discuss the whole question, and in the meantime to appeal to the Provincial Government to protect the interests of the Province, which are menaged by this new Grand Trunk scheme. The Trans-Canada had a short time ago given a provisional contract for the first four nundred miles of its railway in this Prothe whole line are now in a very forward state, and the Grand Trunk have no charter whatever for any western line. It was also pointed out that if stop the construction of the Trans-Can-ada, not only would the Province lose the immense revenue expected to be received from the forest lands, of the James Bay territory, but the Quebec bridge now under construction, might be imperilled by the prospective loss of traffic from the same service, and it was also pointed out that the Grand Trunk me would cut the Maritime ports out from the winter traffic, which would he diverted to Portland and New York Mr. Hugh, John, Magdonald, accom-panied by Mrs. Macdonald, arrived in the city yesterday, after spending four months in England and on the continent. Mr. Macdonald stated that one of the things that pleased him most to hear or his arrival was that the Grand Trund proposed giving Canada a second trans-continental railway. As yet, however, he had not had an opportunity of study-ing the project, as proposed by the of-ficials of the railway company, and therefore would not like to discuss them. ASSYRIAN MURDER

an Assyrian, aged 35, lies dend in this village with a gaping wound, into which several fingers could be thrust on the left side of the throat. Callil Abraham, a compatriot, is in the lock-up, charged with murder. The motive for the crime has not been ascertained; but it may have been due to a sudden authurst of insanity on the part of the prisoner, who is of a low order of intelligence. The scene of the tragedy was a supply store conducted by Koory, who provided about twenty or thirty peddlers of the same nationality as himself with articles to peddle about the country The murdered man's nephew is a bright little fellow, who unfortunately cannot speak a word of English. His story, as interpreted to to a so correspondent, was as follows :- "My uncle was sitting down on a chair in front of the counter reading a newspaper when Abraham walked behind him. He placed one hand on my twele's head, and with the other drew a razpr across his threat Then he ran out of the shop. My uncle put his hand to his neck and said, That man has killed me; run after him, catch

In the meantime the victim's mother. Hamdi Koory, alarmed by the outeries of the boy in the shop, had rapidly descended from the upper story, and in a frenzied state dashed after the alleged murderer. Her screams caused the villagers to gather, and a number of them closed around the fugitive. Almost at the same moment Constable George, Munro came up and took Abraham to the lock-up. His hands and clothes were stained with blood, and in his pocket was found an empty razor case. store the razor with which the murder is supposed to have been wrought. It is an old weapon, with a big, jagged notch in the blade.

Abraham, the prisoner, is a man of unattractive appearance, who has lived in the United States. To all interrogations he made reply that he could not understand, although it is believed that he knows and speaks English well. After his arrest a number of his compat-riots followed him to the lock-up and hurled reproaches and taunts at him through the bars. They even spat at him to show their contempt. the Assyrians who speaks a little English said that he and his friends told Abraham he would be hanged. To this, it was stated, the prisoner made reply. "I killed him, and I am not afraid to be hanged." Abraham looked the picture of fear, however, as he sat cowering in his cell. The air of the place was none too warm, and he complained of feeling cold. Questioned why he committed the crime he maintained an obstinate silence. Abraham had been staying at Koory's place since Wednesday. So far as is known, there was no quarrel between the two men, and the reason of the deed is wholly incomprehensible. On Friday night he had been heard inquiring if anyone had seen his razor. An in-quest was opened by Dr. Blacklock at the Town Hall last night, and after hearing formal evidence and viewing the body an adjournment took place until Monday, when the Crown Attorney will

DUTY OF THE VOTER.

The one great object of the Ontario liquor act, which will be voted upon next Thursday, December 4, is the promition of temperance in this province, comments the Hamilton Herald. Unless excess in the use of alcoholic liquors can be checked throughout the province by this measure, it will be worse than useless; it will do positive harm. This much, we think, everybody will admit.

The sentiment in favor of temperance-that is, either moderation or abstinence-is universal in this province. No citizen whose opinion is worth anything at all favors excessive indulgence in liquor. The main question to be considered by the voters is, seldom heard, although one of the therefore, whether the Ontario liquor act will promote temperancewhether it will bring about a diminution in the evils resulting from excessive use of liquor.

Those who are convinced that it will should vote for it; those who do should vote against the proposed in any not believe that it will should vote radical change is proposed in any motor that it will should vote radical change is proposed in any motor that it will should vote radical change is proposed in any motor that it will should vote radical change is proposed in any motor that it will should vote radical change is proposed in any motor that it will should vote radical change is proposed in any motor that it will should vote radical change is proposed in any motor that it will should vote radical change is proposed in any motor that it will should vote radical change is proposed in any motor that it will should vote radical change is proposed in any motor that it will should vote radical change is proposed in any motor that it will should vote radical change is proposed in any motor that it will should vote radical change is proposed in any motor that it will should vote radical change is proposed in any motor that it will should vote radical change is proposed in any motor that it will should vote radical change it is not considered. will should vote for it; those who do should vote against it, for when a and public duty, heedless of the unless he is convinced that its effect charge that in so voting they are vot- will be good. port of the act may be briefly stated good results that its advocates claim as follows: As the act does not abso-lutely prohibit all traffic in liquor, vote for it but also to work actively but only the retail traffic for bever- for its enforcement in case it becomes age purposes, it should appeal to those law. who, while they favor temperance reform, do not believe in absolute prohibition. By abolishing the bar-room it will remove a fruitful cause of temptation and do away with the baneful treating habit. It does not strike at the principal of personal liberty, because it permits any person to keep and consume liquor in his own home; but as few person will care to keep liquor in their homes, the drinking habit will inevitably become obsolete through disuse. By removing the protection of the law from the dealers in liquor for beverage purposes, the act will deprive the traffic of all respectability, and no self-respecting person will engage in

The arguments against the act are these: It will be impracticable to effectively enforce the act, and its non-enforcement will result in svils far worse than the evils under the license system. It will result in an increase of drunkenness, because, while it will discourage the consumption of light beer and wines, it will encourage the consumption of spirits, in which it is easier to carry on illicit traffic. As the act does not prohibit the importation of liquor, enormous quantities would be brougght into the province consigned direct to personal consumers, and home drinking would thereby be encouraged. The act discriminates in favor of the rich, who will not be prevented from getting his high-priced liqueurs and wines, and against the poor man, who will not be able to get a single glass of beer. By driving the trade into the hands of disreputable persons the act would promote illicit traffic. It would cause a great annual loss of income to the province and municipalities, would throw thousands of people out of employment, would greatly injure business, would increase the trade of Quebec at the expense of Ontario, and would inevitably result in direct taxation. It would promote hypocrisy and perjury, and such general demoralization that Ontario would be forced to repeal it, thus repeating the experience of almost all the American states which have experimented with prohibition. Other arguments against the act, such as the one that prohibition is contrary to the spirit and teaching of Christ, might be cited; but these are anti-prohibition campaign documents is a pamphlet containing some of the utterances of the late Principal Grant. A SERIOUS CHARGE. Hamilton Herald.

Goldwin Smith's paper, that in passing over Judge Osler, senior judge of the court of appeal, and promoting one of his juniors to the chief justiceship, the Laurier government was influenced by spite. "It is well known," says the Sun "that owing to Judge Osler's fearless comments at several election trials on the failure of the Ontario Government to punish violation of the election law he incurred the bitter hostility of the powers that be at Ottawa as well as at Toronto. He has now received his punishment." We regard this as one of the most serious charges that was ever made against the Laurier government. It is equivalent to saying that the government has attacked the independence of the bench.

A TRULY BRITISH MISTAKE. Montreal Star.

The Boer General, Viljoen, is coming to America to lecture, instead of going against the Mad Mullah in Somaliland, as he volunteered to do. He says: "My commando, now idle, and in which were once included many Americans, offered itself to Lord Roberts for service, and I would have commanded it, but Roberts declined the offer with thanks. I am doubtful as to the outcome of Colonial Secretary Chamberlain's visit to South Africa."

Pitt completed the pacification of the Scotch Highland clans by calling them up to enlist in the service of the Crown. He put arms in their hands and sent them forth to show in all lands their valor on behalf of old enemies and new friends, Burns could truly sing, a generation later:-But bring a Scotsman frae his hill

Clap in his cheek a Highland gill, Say, such is Royal George's will. An' there's the foe, He has nae thought but how to kill

But the arts of conciliation seem not so well understood in Great Britain nowadays. Nor are the arts of enlistment well practiced there. Fancy the military authorities, who were eighteen months ago at their wits' end to get men, and compelled to take starveling ricketty boys "raw from the streets," as Kinling said-fancy them refusing a commando of the hardiest, most seasoned Boers! Especially when, by enlisting them, the way to get many more of the same fighting stock would have been opened. The effect of refusing Viljoen's offer must be that the Boers will feel it has been signified that they are not wanted. It is a snub to the whole nation of valiant Dutchmen, and the opportunity for pacification has, therefore, been the water and disinfects, used in exactly the wrong way. No wonder Viljoen is pessimistic about the future of South Africa.

STORMY TIME OVER TARIFF BILL DISCUSSION.

One Member Hurled Down the Steps of the Tribune-Sitting Had to be Suspended.

Berlin, Nov. 29 .- The stormy scenes which were enacted Thursday were renewed in the Reichstag and at one point in the proceedings the uproar reached such a pitch that Vice-President Buesing, who was in the chair, had to resort to a suspension of the sitting, a measure without precedent in the Reichstag. The House was discussing the motion of Baron Von Kardorff, representing the majority parties, to vote the second reading of the tariff bill as a whole, without a paragraph discussion, as contemplated by the rules. The minority would thus be unable to long deority would thus be unable to long de-lay the final vote, and were furiously indignant at what they called a "Parlia-mentary coup d'etat," and the complete suppression of the rights of the minor-ity. After a quiet afternoon Dr. Bachem, Centre party, took the tribune, and, describing the dilatory tactics of the Opposition, said that the Freis.nnige Vereinigun and the Moderate Radicals were doing hod-carriers' service for the Socialists, adding:—"If you only knew what has been recently said about this alliance—" Her Bachem left the senalliance—" Her Bachem left the sen-tence unfinished, and the Socialists shouted, "Out with it; name your man." Ulrich, Baudert and other members of the Socialist party rushed up the steps of the Speaker's tribune, shouting and gesticulating violently. Gothein, Radi-cal, standing at the top of the steps of the tribune, tried to keep the Socialists back. He was hurled down the steps, and his voice and the vigorous ringing of the President's bell were drowned in the tumult. The Socialist member Reisshaus renewed the demand that Bachem should complete his sentence. The speak er was twice called to order, but after some minutes of disorder Vice-President Buessing succeeded in quieting the up-roar sufficiently to say, "No member can be compelled to say what he does not want to say." Thereupon the tu-mult was renewed, and the members of the Socialist party again stormed the President's tribune, wildly shouting. Some among them, addressing Herr Bachem, cried, "You rascal, you dog." Vice-President Buessing, finding him-self powerless in face of the howling cyclone, suspended the session for half

THE CREW OF THE STEAMER REPORTED SAFE.

Probably Beached On or Near Michipicoten Island-News Relieves Great Anxiety at Kingston.

Kingston, Nov. 29 .- Yesterday Mr. L. L. Henderson, inside Manager of of the Montreal Transportation Company, received this telephone message from the Underwriters' Association, Chicago;--"The steamer Bannockburn has been located on the north shore of Lake Superior, opposite Michipicoten Island. Crew safe."

This message was a great relief to the relatives and friends of the crew. The Bannockburn must have run about fifty miles off her course to get to the point indicated on the north shore of Lake Superior. The spot is about 150 miles west of the "Soo," and far away from telegraphic communication. The crew simhad to wait till they were discov-

Ottawa, Nov. 29.—The De-Customs celved a telegram stating that the miss-ing steamer Bannockburn had gone ashore on Michipicoten Island. This island is off the mouth of the Michipico ten River, on the northeast shore of Lake Superior, and is about ten or twelve hours journey from Sault Ste. Marie. The Bannockburn has 100,000 bushels of wheat, owned by Montrea parties. A wrecking outfit will be sent to the spot.

Chicago, Nov. 28.-It is not believed that the steamer Bannockburn is ashore on the mainland north of Michipicoten Island, despite rumors to the contrary. It is reported from Sault Ste. Marie that during the week the weather has been fine, and there was nothing to prevent a sailing boat from making the trip from the island to the Sault, to say nothing of the trip to Michipicoten harbor, which is about fifty miles in an air line from the main land north of the west end of the island. With the vessel on the shore there and no heavy sea running it would be an easy matter for some of the crew to make their way to the shore, and then on foot to the harbor, in two days at the most. There i a telegraph station at Michipicoten harbor, and it is reported from there that nothing has been heard of the Ban-nockburn. The insurance companies ordered the wrecking tug Favorite from Cheboygan to the reported scene of the wreck, A despatch sent out from this city by George L. McCurdy, an insurance man, was made on the early reports of the vessel being ashore, and Mr. McCurdy declared this evening that he had no positive information.

About Fur Coats

The comfort and economy of a good fur garment is so well known that it requires no argument from that standpoint. The first care of the buyer should be to buy from responsible people, so that back of the purchase you have protection against being imposed on by an unsatisfactory garment, then the style of garment, the quality of curl, the linings and makings should come in for criticism. The best qualities you can buy in a dyed fur pelt is more or less tender. The garment that gives satisfaction is made out of whole skins with all the flank and thin parts trimmed off. Then to take the strain off the pelt a foundation interlining is sewn to the fur. Coats made in this way are worth one half more for service-giving qualities. When you buy a fur coat here you take no chances. We stand between you and the maker with a guarantee of satisfactory service.

Thoughts Inspired by Viewing a Mammoth Squash the Other Day.

On exhibition in the north window of The Star business office is the heaviest squash grown in Canada this season, writes Charles F. Raymond, of that Toronto paper. It tips the scales at 301 pounds, and is a monster. The vegetable came from the ground of W. C. Wilson, Brussels, Huron County. Because it is a squash, they call it a mammoth. If it were a man, he would be dubbed a genius, and his photograph would be in the papers. It is dollars to dough-nuts that when Mr. Wilson dropped in that seed, he didn't expect 301 pounds of squash to result, and it is more dollars to more doughnuts that Mr. Wilson will not raise another squash like this in 20 years, so he falls back on the average plant to help him out in making a success of the yield. Genius is all right, but, after all, it is not so much as it first appears. Genius merely emphasizes the worth of the average.

There was much envying in that squash bed of Mr. Wilson's and when the monster grew to be a hundred, the little fellows turned their light upon him, and found fault with his shape, and when he reached two hundred pounds, they made bets that he had a hollow chest, and when he reached the three hundred mark, they were sure that he stood in with the sun, and that his roots were in better earth than theirs. But they did this without reason. They were the salt of the earth themselves and not the mammoth that to-day is looking out of The Star, window on Yonge

My friend, ex-Warden Lyons of Peel County, raised a few extra long shafts of corn of the regular jackand-the-beanstalk variety on his farm at Terra Cotta, but he doesn't depend on the big fellows for his fodder for the average stalk is what he feeds his cattle on. There is a chap in Toronto who is a rip snorter on addition, and can go up two columns at once, but the pookkeeping that is done in most offices is done by the single column fellows, the ordinary chaps who wear a "Don't bother me, I'm adding," look on their faces.

Harry Williams, a hen fancier friend of mine who lives out near Davisville, says that it isn't the hen that lays the big, double-yolked egg once in her life and then quits for a while that is the most satisfactory bird, but the one that lays an egg day of fair average size. The other en may cackle louder at the time. but the satisfactory one cackles ofow that supplies Toronto with milk, and it is the average man that ma'es up the bone and sinew of this city,

So, as I looked at the monster we had to depend on squashes of your size, it would be a long time before we would have many pies,"

Noted Educator Dead. A letter has been received at the Ontario Education Department announcing the death of Mrs Dorcas Clark, one of the most noted educators of California, who passed away in San Francisco at the advanced age of 87 years. Until the last she was mentally alert and physically able to direct her little household. More than hall a century ago she took the Lord Elgin medal in Toronto for chemistry, mathematics, and agriculture, a noted achievement when educational opportunities for women were limited. Mrs. Clark was appointed first head mistress of the girls' department of the Provincial Model School, Toronto, which position she resigned to go to California in 1865. Her first appointment in California was that of associate principal of the Baptist College, Petaluma. In 1868 she was made teacher of history and mathematics in the State Normal School of San Jose, and in 1888 was elected viceprincipal of the Girls' High School in San Francisco, which she held until she retired, having devoted fiftyfive years to educational interests. Geography of Northern Canada. Mr. W. J. Wilson, of the Dominion of Canada Geological survey, return-Mr. Wilson was accompanied by Mr. Owne O'Sullivan, and had been a heretofore unsurveyed river lying ed a short time ago from the country lying to the south-west of James' instructed by Dr. Bell to work along between the Albany on the south and the Ottawapiskat on the north. This proved to be a large river having a course of at least 300 miles. At no great distance from the sea it divides into two almost equal branches. Mr. Wilson made an instrumental survey of the northern branch, while Mr. O'Sullivan made a similar survey of the southern for a distance of about 200 miles in each case. After exploring the upper waters beyond the surveyed portions and discovering a number, of lakes, both gentlemen returned to Moose Factory, making a survey of the intervening coast of James' Bay as they went along. To Regulate Libraries. At an interview between Hon Richard Harcourt, Dr. James Bain, Prof. Macallum and H. H. Langton, of Toronto University, the latter made a number of suggestions as to the management of the libraries in the province. Attention was drawn to the systems prevailing in other countries. A central library in the larger towns, from which the smaller libraries could be supplied, was recommended, and the appointment of a library commission, which would control the library system of the province. Hon. Mr. Harcourt was fav-orably impressed, and promised to give the matter careful consideration.

Pistol Practise

Is becoming more popular among women. The reason given is that a woman should know how to use the pistol for self pro-tection. The theory should be carried farther. Where a woman is in danger from assault once she is in danger from disease every day of her life. Women have not only to run the risk of diseases which threaten husband, they have also to guard against diseases which are peculiar to woman-From these diseases Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription will effectively defend women. The use of this medicine preserves as well as restores the womanhealth. It corrects irregularity, dries weakening drains, heals inflammation and ulceration, and heals inflammation and ulceration, and cures female weakness.

"I cannot say enough for Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription and 'Golden Medical Discovery,' writes Mrs. Ida M. Tutt. of 200 Franklin Street, Crawfordsville, Ind. "I could hardly walk alone or do my housework when I heard of your wonderful medicine. I used five bottles of each and several vials of 'Pleasant Pellets,' and can say I am a well woman. I thank Dr. Pierce for his advice for he helped me to live. May many thousand women take my advice and when in poor health or suffering from any female trouble take Dr, Pierce's wonderful medicines."

Sick women, especially those suffering from diseases of long standing, are invited to consult Dr. Pierce, by letter,

INCOME OF THE PROVINCES. Money Paid Out of the Federal Treasur

as Provincial Subsidies. The Statistical Year-Book of Ca nada gives the income of all the provinces of the Dominion. The figures include all the moneys which are paid to the provinces out of the Federal Treasury as provincial subsidies and all other receipts of those provinces. The sources of provincial revenue, in addition to the Dominion subsidies, are as follows: Crown land sales, timber sales, interest on capital held by the Dominion Government, license fees, succession duties, commercial taxes, earnings of public institutions, ener. It is the average horse that law stamps, and miscellaneous. The pulls the load, and it is the average sums received from all these different sources are as stated above included in the figures in the Statistical Year-Book, which we quote below. The of Ontario, and of the Dominion. total revenue of the Government of There is no disgrace in being a good Prince Edward Island is $309,445; British Columbia, $1,605,921; Mani toba, $1,008,653; New Brunswick, squash I said to myself, 'Well, if $1,031,267; Nova Scotia, $1,090,-230; Ontario, $4,466,044; Quebec, $4,563,432. It will be noticed that the revenue of Quebec is the largest. A few more figures are equally interesting: The Dominion pays, as stated above, subsidies to the different provinces. The totals of these subsidies are as follows: To Ontario, $1,196,873; to Quebec, 959,253; to Nova Scotia, $432,806; to New Brunswick, $483,492; to Manitoba, $483,687; to British Columbia, $242,689; to Prince Edward Island, $196,931; total, $3,995,731.

Shipbuilding in Canada. Two hundred and sixty vessels, representing a total tonnage of 28,-288 were built in Canada during the fiscat year ending June 30th, an increase of 20 vessels and 6,332 tons, as compared with the previous year. Of this number 89 were steamers and 171 sailing vessels, as against 84 steamers and 156 sailing vessels built in the year preceding. The number of vessels registered was 316, aggregating 34,236 tons. In 1901 327 vessels registered, aggregating 35,156 tons. Last year 5 steamers and 22 sailing vessels. sels were sold to other countries. The figures indicate that the wooden shipbuilding industry is by no means on the decline. Twenty steamships, aggregating 5,510 tons, were built Toronto, and in Montreal 8 steamships of 387 tons. Most of the sailing vessels came from shipyards in the Maritime Provinces, Sandford Fleming's Tribute to the Late Rev. Dr. George Monro Grant of Kingston.

Addressing the audience at the recent laying of the corner-stone of the Grant Memorial Hall at Queen's Uniersity, Kingston, Sir Sandford Fleming said in part: "By the wish of the students, by the request of the council by the resolution of the trustees, we are assembled here today to perform an important function in which we are deeply interested. As Chancellor of the university the duty has devolved upon me to take a prominent part in laying the corner-stone of a building to be erected in loving memory of our late Principal. The building, to be raised on the site upon which we now stand is to be used as a convocation hall and always to be associated with his name. Twenty-five years with his name. Twenty-five years ago, on the 2nd of last month (October), the Rev. George Monro Grant was appointed Principal of this university. On May 10th of the present year (1902) he passed to his reward. Between these dates he performed faithful services and endeared himself to every one connected with Queen's. He gave unstintedly a quarter of a century of his best years, He labored with untiring activity and unceasing zeal to place on a broad and permanent foundation a great seat of learning in eastern Ontario. He steadily aimed to complete the establishment of a university where the Canadian youth of this generation and of all coming generations would reap the advantages of higher education in its most perfect form. We see evidences of the success which has attended these efforts in the stately buildings erected around us, in the many eminent professors who have been gathereh together from many sources of learning, and in the yearly increasing numbers of students who flock to this university. He was a man of many gifts, a man of strong intellect, a scholar, a teacher, a preacher and a theologian. He was a man of affairs of singular resourcefulness. He was endowed with broad patriotism and statesmanship. He was a man of hopeful courage and of high principles. When occasion required he was fearlessly outspoken.

And withal he was of deep sympathy, of tenderness and singular unselfishness; no soul more gentle, not one amongst us with a heart more noble, not in all Canada one more steadfast or more true. We do well to cherish the memory of a man who has long been, and who will long continue to be, an inspiration to the students of the university. "While the death of Principal Grant is a private loss to individuals innumerable, it has been a calamity to the university. His death has peen a national as well as an individual loss. But should we mourn that our beloved friend has found rest from his labors and entered onhis eternal jubilee? If in his absence we find the university face to face with grave difficulties, let us recall his hopeful spirit and follow the example he always set us. Let us be patient, and let our patience be combined with faith. His was the mind of high resolve, of lofty ideals and penetrating insight. On this occasion I may fittingly repeat a sentence to which he gave utterance when he addressed the students in Convocation Hall a short time before his death. He spoke of a vision of the future which had been gi en him: 'I see our university strong in love, an ever-increasing power for good; our country purging itself of dross and passing forward to be in the van of the world's battle, an empire as of old, dispenser of justice to all under its flag, and champion of liberty, civil, religious, intellectual and commercial; and our common humanity struggling up into the light, slowly but surely, realizing its unity and accomplishing its mission to establish the Kingdom of God upon earth."

As Seen by an English Visitor. Toronto is exceedingly beautiful, You can take a car and ride through street after street of delightful homes -simple, attractive, well built, with cosy verandahs, and green lawns, and brilliant flowerbeds. There are none of the long rows of villas, exactly alike, that disfigure a London suburb, but every house has some distinctive feature, some beauty all its own. Every visitor to Canada is impressed with the sober habits of the people. I did not see a public-house in Canada—that is a public-house as we understand it in England. There were one or two quiet saloons in the French part of Montreal, but that is all: Montreal has Sunday closing, and even in our hotel the bar was closed during the whole of Sunday Go into any restaurant or hotel dining-room in Canada, and I will undertake to say that you will find 95 out of every 100 visitors drinking

Of course, though Canada needs men and women so badly, she only needs farm laborers and domestic ser-Professional men are not vants. wanted; lady typists should not think of going there. Healthy, hard-working young fellows with a certain amount of capital will do well, only they must not expect luxury and ease, they must be prepared to rough it, and work hard. But, putting the question of capital on one side, practically amounts to this-that Canada only wants laborers and domestic servants. For these there is always a great demand, and they will find plenty of work and adequate wages.—F. A. A., in the Young Woman, London, England.

Two Curious Facts. An employer who would accept without complaint an increase of 10 per cent. in the price of some lines of raw material, would close down his business for months to resist an increase of 10 per cent. in the price of labor. Employes, too, who accept equanimity increases in rents, taxes, and the cost of domestic supplies equal to a reduction of 10 per cent. in wages, would go on strike, and endure months of privation, rather than submit to a cut of 10 per cent. by an employer. - Toronto

RIGHT IDEA.

Rev. Dr. J. R. Battisby, pastor of St. Andrew's Church, while making his usual announcements from the pulpit yesterday stated that for the past few weeks he has been receiving announcements of events which he thought should not be read from the pulpit."

The newspapers are the proper channels through which to make many of the announcements which have been heretofore read from the pulpit," said he. "I do not believe in making the pulpit a free advertising bureau and thus depriving the printing offices of their legitimate patronage, and I don't intend in future to do it."

Bulldog Kinder Than Child.

An incident related by George Eliot proves that kindness and devotion are characteristic of the bulldog breed. The distinguished author was on a visit to the house of a friend where a bulldog and a child, each of the age of six, were among the household possessions. During dessert after dinner, while all were absorbed in conversation, they were startled by a loud howl of pain from the dog, evidently proceeding from under the table. An investigation immediately made discovered that the child, equipped with a pair of scissors, was under the table also and trying to cut the dog's ears with them. From one ear of the bull the blood was running, and yet the dog was making not the slightest effort to escape or defend himself. The host and father, outraged by the evidence of such cruelty on the part of the child, determined on immediate punishment. But when he undertook to carry the punishment into effect the dog interfered, pushing himself between the master and the child and

What a Convict Does In Prison If I had little work to do in prison, how did I spend the time? At Auburn, where I lived the greater part of my first term, the routine of my life was as tollows; After rising in the morning I would sweep out my cell, turn up my bed and blankets and clean up. Then to breakfast; then, if there was no work to do, I would go back to my cell and eat a small portion of opium. Then I would exercise with dumbbells and take a sponge bath with cold water. Next would come a nap till dinner time. After dinner I would read and think in my cell until 3 o'clock, when I would go to the bucket ground or exercise in the yard in the lock step with the others for half an hour; then back to the cell, taking with me bread and a cup of coffee made out of burned bread crust for my supper. The count was made at 6 o'clock to see that all was right for the night. After that I read in my cell as long as the oil lasted .- "Autobiography of a Thief" in Leslie's Monthly.

MAKING ACTIVE CAMPAIGN

Largely Attended Meeting in the Grand Opera House-Special Sermons by City Pastors—A Busy Sunday.

The last of the temperance meetings before the vote on Dec. 4, Thursday next, was held in the Grand | Opera House yesterday afternoon under very favorable auspices. The house was owded to standing room.

President E. E. Parrott, of the Kent County Temperance Association, was the speaker of the afternoon.

A. D. Westman, City President, acted as chairman and made a short opening address, in which he said that number of horses and rigs and scruineers were needed for the cause, and asked for volunteers. 11 129

Rev. T. T. George also spoke for few moments, in which be said all laborers had the hours from 12 to 2 in which to vote and no reduction of wages could be made.

Miss Pearl White and Mr. J. W.

Wilson sang a duett most acceptably. Mr. Parrott, in the course of his remarks, said this was the most impor tant campaign the temperance cause had ever had. He also said that the Scott Act had done some good, and it was a very poor measure, and he asked how much good would a full me

Sure, as is the act of 1902.

Continuing, he said concerning the manifesto that some of those who had signed it had had it misrepresented to Mr. Parrott also dealt briefly with the revenue question. Chairman Westman at the glo the meeting said that another meeting would be held next Sunday afternoon and if the temperance cause won, it would be a thanksgiving service. If otherwise there would be a meeting to continue the work.

REV. MR. KNOWLES. The subject of prohibition and the juestion of the probable face of the Liquor Act on the 4th of December next, is the cause of much comment in the city at the present time. As the day of the poll draws near, the temperance people are putting forth their strongest efforts and the people are becoming more interested.

During the earlier part of the campaign Rev. W. E. Knowles, pastor of the First Presbyterian Church, announced his intention of preaching a sermon on this important subject of emperance, and last evening he spent half an hour in discussing it and stat-ies which come up before us in discussing this question," said he. on't pretend to know more about han anyone else and all I can do what I think. Men who know more about temperance than I who make a hobby of emperance. Some of these are among he most intemperate people on the face of the earth-intemperate in their peech. There are two ways of look ing at this question and if there is not conformity of thought there cannot be conformity of mind. In looking at both sides, therefore, we should do s with words of kindness. Among those ho differ from temperance people are many who are just as conscientious as people on the other side, and in many ises the man behind the bar ood, conscientious mind and is faithful to his duty as he sees it. In the same way no words of sneering should used in speaking of the temperance cause. Many take a deligh, in their remarks, concerning temperance "cranks," as they call them. They make mistakes through narrow-mindedness, but their errors are made through mistaken enthusiasm, which carries them beyond the principles of temperance. 'As a church we believe that infant baptism is a sacred rite and we would like to hear men who differ from us speak about lit with common Christian courtesy, In return, we should treat the views of oth-

"In considering the liquor traffic we look first at the present license system. When we look about and see what it does for the social element we cannot help but see that it is a blight and curse wherever it comes. This business blasts manhood wherever it does its work. It is not altogether in the blighted and poverty-stricken homes that we find the real effects of the liquor traffic. It is the tragedy in the bloated face and debauched soul of the man who is made a drunkard.
"We ask ourselves, is this state of affairs going on forever? The re-ply comes, educate the children and the next generation will be free from the evil. Education of children is good thing, but it is the present with which we have to deal. Then we ask, is it possible to legislate, and the present bill is put befire us.

"There are a number of objections made to this bill. One is that it re stricts human liberty. That is what government is for. Is a man's liberty not restricted when he is forbidien to carry a revolver? Yet, it would not be river to wait until he commits a crime before his liberty is restricted. Is it then not reasonable to say that we should prohibit men from drinking before they make themselves drunkards and worthless men? "Then the question of revenue is brought up. Are we not men enough to pay our own taxes instead of allowing the poor, miserable drunkard get the revenue. "Others say that we cannot force it. The act is not like the Scott Act. In that case neither Government would take it upon themselves to enforce the act and as a result it was broken. The Provincial Parliament, however, have undertaken the responsibility of enforcing this act if it passes, so you see the result will be far different.

"Another question is what are the prospects for success at the polls? This is a momentus question. It has the power of doing the greatest good or the greatest evil. While I would dictate to no man, it is the duty of everyone to express himself on this question. We should vote as we pray. Can we say, 'Our Father,' and leave open a traffic which is making us the children of the devil. say, 'Thy Kingdom Come,' when we are allowing it to become the Kingdom of the devil. Can we say, 'Lead us not into temptation, with the temptation of the liquor traffic still open. We should vote as our consciences dictate and should influenced by party or friends."

REV. MR. COBBLEDICK. Rev. Mr. Cobbledick, of Park street Methodist church, gave a very able and interesting address in the cause of the temperance vote last evening The reverend gentleman spoke on the weak points of the referendum, also some excuses put up against it. One of the first of the latter he spoke of was "personal liberty," which, he spid, when worked down to the basis was selfish gratification. He spoke of the liquor traffic as a stumbling block, a menace to good morals and as the cause of the fa'l of many men Another excuse put up is that it is wiser to dvercome the temptation than to have it removed. They admit it is a temptation and a stumb ling block, but the objection is due to a confusion of thought. The temptation which we cannot decline to meet as discipline is to that which is good in itself, such as for instance esting food, but a temptation to that which is evil in itself is to be re-Another excuse is that a man should take a certain amount of liquor, but this is not so. Mr. Cobbledick explained that iquor was no food and hadn't any food qualities. Continuing, Mir. Cobbledick said the liquor question wasn't even argued on the platform, but men said it shouldn't be done away with for prudential reasons. Public sentiment was reaching for the throat of the liquor traffic and it was just a matter of time before it would have it. The liquor men are realizing the fact, as was evidenced by Mr. Cobbledick's reading of the confidential appeal of the liquor association to distillers, brewers, wholesale and retail merchants, asking for financial and support otherwise in contending us it aids for the existence of the traffic.

Speaking of the weak points of the bill Mr. Cobbledick said that the There are a great many difficul-es which come up before us in diswould be the keeming of li etc. "The present law does not prea penalty of from $200 to $1,000 just for keeping it and a severer penalty against selling it."

In closing the reverend gentleman asked that every available vote be people rightly, brought out, as 212,723 votes were sell shoes—once not come out was not doing his duty.

Most of the leaders in the recent insurrection have been killed under various pretexts. The Turkish troops formed a cordon round the villages, cutting off communications, and it is feared that hundreds have perished.

THE ADDINGTON ELECTION.

Petition Against Mr. Avery, M.P., Dismissed-No Evidence Offered. Napanee, Dec. I.—The Addington election appeal, Davie v. Avery, was dismissed by Chancellor Boyd and Mr. Justice MacMahon on Saturday. W. S. Herrington, K.C., appeared for the petitioner, and W. G. Wilson and Morley Wilson for the respondent. No particulars were filed and no evidence was offered, and the petition; was dismissed with costs. Mr. Herridge, K.C., of Napanee, intervened with a mo-Yarker be substituted for that of the petitioner, but the court refused the motion on the ground that the application did not come within the statute. The statute only refers to three points as giving cause for intervening, viz., the death of the petitioner, the withdrawal of the petition, or the trial not being held within the time limit. Some of these points applied to the present case, and a similar judgment on the same point had been given some time ago by Judge Boulanger in Quebec.

Judge Street once allowed intervention when collusion was proved to have taken place between the parties by which the ends of justice would be defeated. There was no ground of that kind, however, in the present case. Chancellor Boyd intimated that the petitioner had a right to appeal from their decision if he wished to do so. tion that the name of Peter VanLuken of

* THE LIQUOR LICENSE FEES. To the Editor of The Planet: The citizens of Chatham should be grateful to J. G. Kerr for calling attention to the fact that for the paltry sum of $3,161.67 the city of Chatevery business hour of every business day, dispensing liquid refreshment to some and eternal damnation to others Mr. Kerr should follow up his good work by telling the public whit a handsome profit the liquor seller make on their investment, and whi it costs the city to keep these bard rooms open. Ten thousand dollars year will not recoup Chatham for the loss, direct and indirect, incurred by the liquor traffic in the liquor traffic, in the squandering of money incidental to the treating system, in the increase of crime sulting in a large expenditure in the courts of law and the maintenance of jails, poor houses, asylums, in the loss of time of skilled workmen when on sprees, in the loss of heafth, and motals, and sometimes life, of those that drink to excess; in the sufferings, poverty, neglect and tendency to course these fees lighten the load of MORAL AND FINANCIAL crime of the drunkard's family, etc.

etc. Mr. Kerr should cap the climax by publishing the amount of fees col-lected by the Police Magistrate from "drunks and disorderlies," for of PROHIBITION. Sir - The annexed from yesterday's Detroit Tribune copied from the New York Mail and Express, speaks for itself. After the most stringent enactment and an earnest endeavor to enforce the law Vermont gives up the struggle for prohibition for the state and declares for a high license where liquor must be sold and for prohibition in counties where it is practicable.

Every voter should read the article. Yours,

Vermont has been a prohibitory state for half a century. The great temperance movement of the '40s was followed there, as it was in Maine, by a radical attempt at the total suppression of the liquor traffic. The prohibitory law was no sooner than means were found to became necessary to The lines were drawn more offense to give a glass of wine to a guest, and until the methods by which it was sought to obtain evidence of liquor selling, became more for individual right A course of prohibitory legislation in a state is like the opium habit a a man it requires a stronger and stronger dose continually, in or to produce the desired effect. The Vermont people have tired of their potions. In plain words, they begin to realize that heavy penalties and fierce inquisitions cannot prevent the sale of liquor, where liquor is wanted by many, and that a high license where liquor must be sold, and prohibition in the communities where it is practicable, is the comon sense arrangement of the maton in a state which has come as near as any in making on honest experiment with it. New York Mail fo the Editor of The Planet Dear Sir,—In the present juncture, when a few days must decide a most important and vital issue for our Province, it is appropriate that we squarely at the question we are called upon to decide. What is the issue?

It is freely admitted by every fair-minded and intelligent person on both sides of the question at issue the excessive use of alcoholic stimulants is a great and serious evil in our midst. Two methods are placed before us for minimizing or doing away with that evil. (i) The present high license sys-

(2) The measure of partial prohibi-tion entitled the liquor act of 1902. It is only right and charitable to suppose that every voter will, by his vote, express his honest convictions, that each voter will vote as a patriot for what he regards as the greatest good of the greatest number in our community. Any vote cast from a lower motion will be either thoughtlessly or selfishly cast and so utterly unworthy of a man and a patriot. Let us look then for a moment at the rival methods proposed, keeping always in mind their main object-the doing away with drunkenness.

The license system is a method by which a given number of persons in each municipality pay into the public treasury large sums for the privilege, exclusive to the said license holders of selling and making all the money they can by selling intoxicating liquors. It is then essentially a commercial monopoly granted by the public for a money consideration. Now to make a high license system pay those holding the license in the highest degree, leads to one or both of two things:

(1) Profound adulteration or (2) Extensive sale.

Now to allow adulteration of foods or drinks is admittedly 4 source of great public danger and is, therefore, regarded as criminally dishonest. The only legitimate method open than to the license holder is to push the sale—to get as many as possible Perfect Fitt ng
Suits, Overousts and Trousers.

The sale—to get as many as possible to acquire the habit of drinking and to induce those who do drink to drink as my has possible within the limits of dency. No other honest door is open to him.

simply for illustration. If out of ten moderate drinkers one drunkard is made, then as surely out of one hun-dred moderate drinkers ten will become drunkards. Any system, then, the foundational principle of which demands extensive sale must be a maker of drunkenness instead of a means of restriction. The license system therefore necessarily defeats.

and must defeat, the object for which it was framed. The business enterprise which lies behind a successful license system rushes forward the car of its progress regardless of the poor wretches o be crushed beneath its wheels. On the other hand, while the liquo et does not arbitrarily say that those, who believe that they need liquer may not get it from outside sources and use it, does effectually remove the spring of commercial customs. Under it no man can honestly make money by supplying drink to his fellows and so encouraging drunkenness, Under it the commercial energy, the honest industry of it into more useful and more pro tightly from one legislation session cleaner than in the producing and to another, until it became a prison safe of figuor, leaving in the business really criminal class who canno dine, and good men cannot will go into secret and illegal Let each one of us then carefully consider which system is the interest of our sturdy Canadian national life; which system will give the best chance to our boys-the Canadian's of the future; which system will throw the greatest amount of money into headthy, helpful commerce, and which system will place the most good men in positions where their business tact and energy can do good, not harm.

And let us in accordance with the decision honestly, carnestly, patriotically record our votes for that I write as one who loves and admires, and would shield our Chatham and our Ontario boys, JAMES H. DUNCAN.

CADETS SHOOT

Qa Saturday afternoon a team of twenty from the Collegiate Cadet Corps shot in the tournament for the Beck Shield. Mr. F. Fitzherald Umacke of the Royal Canadian Reof the Royal Canadian Regiment, at present stationed at London, came to represent Col. Peters, Inspecting officer of the Cadet Corps for this district. The ranges were 18 and 25 yards, Peters target, and Lee-Enfield Rifle being used. At the short range the boys averaged three hits and two misses and two hits at the longer range. Consider. hits at the longer range. Consider-ing the very short time for practice together with the disagreeable day for shooting the Cadets made a very good beginning. Next year the or-ganization will proceed earlier and more systematic practice than was possible this year will be permitted. A number of valuable suggestions were offered by Mr. Uniacke after the match, which will be of service to the house in the determined affects. to the boys in the determined effort they will put up next year. The honors of the "best shot of the day" fell to Noble Gardiner who made eight hits out of ten shots.

THE MAGISTRATE TAKES EVI DENCE IN MUTART'S ROOMS.

He Was Too Ill to Appear in Court-Mutart Fails to Identify Bremner

Toronto Junction, Nov. 29 .- The trial of Harry Bremner, 'the man with many aliases, attracted a big crowd to the Junction Police Court yesterday. There was some disappointment when it was found that Mr. Mutart, the wounded man, who is still too ill to attend court, and also when Magistrate Ellis ruled out the questions bearing on the "crap" game.

Mr. Mutart was too ill to attend court, so the Magistrate adjourned to his apartments in the Thompson building in company with the counsel for the Crown and the defence, and the prisoner in charge of the officers. Mutart failed to identify him. The remainder of Mutart's evidence was very similar to that of Shaw. Mr. Godfrey put the prisoner into the box, and he told an interesting story. He said he was accompanied by two men, one named Arthur Freeman and another named Williams. They were upstairs in the room and saw the game in progress, but when the shooting occurred he was across the street, and he supposed it was either Freeman or Williams did the shooting. The Magistrate remanded the prisoner for a week.

THE MARKET REPORTS.

Little Change in Grain Quotations-The Live Stock Trade.

Straw-Five loads sold steady and un-changed at $10 to $11 per ton. Toronto Live Stock. The firm tone at the Toronto Cattle Mar et was continued through the course of o'day's business, and everything was in de-tand, with the exception of the poor and afterior grades. Prices advanced a little, The bulk of the sales were made at $4.75 to $5.25, and the lower figures were for animals of moderately good quality. Choice are quoted at $5 to $5.50 per cwt, and medium grades, including mixed loads and light weights, at $4.50 to $5. Butchers' Cattle—All the good cattle were sold quickly, and the choice animals were searce. Prices for git-edged stock were higher, Export butchers' sold at $4.85 to $5.12½ per cwt, and were in demand at those figures. Picked lots for the best local trade sold at $4.40 to $4.75, good to choice at $3.75 to $4.35, fair to medium at $2.25 to $3.70, and rough to common at $2.25 to $3.70, and rough to common slow of sale.

Bulls—There is a better movement in export bulls, and the market is steady to firm. The supply of heavy animals is small, and buyers are prepared to take more than are coming at present. One good bull sold at $4.60 per cwt, but the prevailing quotation was $4 to $4.50. Other bulls were quiet. quiet.

Sheep and Lambs—The prospects for the sale of export ewes during the coming week are steady and prices are unchanged. Only the good ewes and wethers are wanted, however, and others are inclined to drag. To bring the best prices they should weigh 110 lbs. or more. There is a good outlook also for export bulls, which are steady at $4.25 to $4.50 per cwt. Butchers' lambs were lower, cloaing dull. They were quoted at $3.25 to $4 per cwt, and about 400 of them remained unsold. The offerings were heavy and the market was unable to absorb them all. Bucks are a nuisance, and quotations are nominat. quotations are nominal.

Hogs-Prices declined 12½c per cwt, and select hogs of 160 to 200 lbs natural weight sold at $6 per cwt. Lights and fats sold at $5.75. The run was heavy.

IS A SERIOUS MATTER.

JUNCTION SHOOTING CASE The Most Serious and Fatal Diseases Arise from Indigestion.

Chronic Indigestion or Dyspepsia while a very common trouble, has for some time been looked upon by able physicians as a serious thing, and that no time should be lost in treating it properly at the start, because as His Assailant-The Prisoner ecent researches have shown that the most serious, fatal and incurable diseases have their origin in simple dyspepsia or indigestion.

Diabetes is simply one form of indigestion, the sugar and starchy food not being assimilated by the digestive organs. In Bright's disease the albumen is not properly as-While consumption and dyspepsia are twin diseases, and it is beyond question that dyspepsia makes a fertile soil for the seeds of con-sumption. But the trouble has been to find a remedy that could be depended upon to cure dyspepsia, as it is notoriously obstinate and difficult to cure.

This has been the question which has puzzled physicians and dyspeptics alike, until the question was solved three years ago by the appearance of a new discovery in the medical world knows as Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, which it was claimed was certain, reliable cure for every form of stomach trouble.

Physicians, however, would not ac such statements without first, giving the new remedy many tests and carefully observing results. For three years the remedy has been thoroughly tested in every sec-tion of the country and with surprising and satisfactory results. Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets can be honestly claimed to be a specific, a radical lasting cure for indigestion in the various forms of acid dyspepsia or sour stomach, gas or wind on stomach, too much bite, undue fullness or pressure after eating and similar symptoms resulting from disordered digestion.

Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets were not placed before the public until this three years' trial left no doubt as their value and they have recentfound on sale at all druggists at the nominal price of 50 cents per

No extravagant claims are made for the remedy, it will not cure rheumatism, pneumonia, typhoid fever nor anything but just what it is claimed to cure and that is every form of stomach trouble. No dieting is ne-cessary, good wholesome food and plenty of it and you may rest assured that Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets will digest it. Druggists claim for it that it is a pleasure to recommend it to dyspeptics, because it gives such universal satisfaction.

Got Into the Treasure Room. Years ago the directors of the Bank of England were startled by an invitation sent by mail to meet ar unknown man in the strong room of the bank at midnight among the money chests. "I have been inside the bank the last two nights," wrote the man, "but I am not a thief; so meet me in the great square room with all the money at 12 to-night.'
Though the letter was regarded as hoax, the police were notified and they guarded the strong room that night. Nothing happened. A few days later a heavy chest of papers and securities taken from the strong room arrived at the bank, with a let ter complaining that the directors had set the police upon the writer and that therefore he had not appeared as he promised; but to prove that he was neither a thief nor fool he sent a chest of papers he had taken from the bank. Let a few gentlemen be alone in the room and he would join them at midnight, said the writer. This time his instruc-tions were obeyed. Then a man with a dark lantern burst into the strong room of the bank at midnight after calling from behind the stone walls for the directors to put out lights. He was one of a strange class of men who gained a living by searching the sewers at night and through an opening from the sewer he had found his way into the richest room in the world.

counts of the Raleigh well's capacity have not been one whit exaggerated. Oil men are swarming here, some coming even from California, and great expectations are entertained as to future explorations. A Company per which has fourteen wells at Northwood, six miles from here on the line of the Grand Trunk, hold leases for lands adjacent to the gusher, and will begin to bore at once in their territory. The gusher is situated on the apex or crown of a sudden elevation or dome in the rock formation and oil experts say this is a sure sign of permanency and the reason for the unusual pressure manifested.

THE GREATEST BALL

NATURE'S ANNUAL DANCE NOW IN FULL AND RUSTLING SWING

Never So Many Guests at Any Ball Before-Gay Costumes Everywhere-The Hurry to Be There→On With the Dance -Nature's Great, Ball-Room-What Is It All About?

Nature is holding her grand annual dance. Never were there so many guests at any other ball. Every gust of wind is an invitation to thousands and thousands of little folks to break away from the parent hand that has held them captive from the moment they were born. From stately oaks, from spreading maples, from lofty elms, from towering poplars and even from weeping willows, the guests are hurrying to the great fes-

All through the summer they have een learning to dance in the warm sunlight. Sweet sap has fed them. Cool dew has bathed them. They have seen the buds burst into blos-soms, and the blossoms swell into They have watched the birds fruit. come from the South to build nests in secret places that only the leaves knew, and they have kept the secret well. They have learned the offices of the myriads of flattering insects which passed away in almost the same hour that they were breathed tell it not. They are sworn to sec-In anticipation of the great ball the little folks have dressed themselves in the gayest attire. Such icate. So gorgeous and yet so soft. Only a divine painter could successfully blend such contradictory tints. No human canvas could hold them. And the variety; it is simply endless. In all the gay dresses that have been turned out of nature's workshop for the occasion, in such numbers that life is too short to begin to count them, no two are alike. Nature repeats herself, but never exactly in the same way. Yet still more marvelous is the harmony of it all. There are no discords. It is all combined into one sublime note, like the Lost Chord that thrilled a human ear never to sound again, but unlike it because the work is repeated every autumn with the same approach to perfection. Such a scramble to be there. It is positively unbecoming. At the wel-come invitation the glddy young things break away from their with scarcely a word of fare-They are off, they know not here. All they know, and care to now, is that there is a great rong, greater than they had ever posed the world could contain, rrying helter skelter to the grand lance Nature is giving. There re wall flowers, too. Some stupid guests get caught in the most absurd places, and are positively unable to move one way or another until a sudden gust of wind lifts them ut of their predicament. And so the great ball goes on all through the night and all through There are extras without The chaperons have long since gone home, tired and out of Often the dancers fall down quite exhausted, but they soon rise again and join the general jubilation with undiminished enthusiasm. In the narrow city streets there is to room for these festivities. Stern policemen tell the dancers to move on, and careless people tread them

But this is only the antechamber of Nature's ball-room. Toronto is hem-med in by it on all sides, says The Mail and Empire. To the south the gaiety on the Island is almost delirious. Eastward at Munro Park and Scarboro' Heights, deserted by minstrels and by swains, Nature holds high carnival in more stately but not less contagious joy. Up the valley of the Don, around Castle Frank, and the Rosedale ravines, the fun is at its height. In High Park, the beautiful, with its broad, grassy spaces, its shapely trees, its picturesque hills, the dance is unrestrain-Further west in the valley of the Humber, stretching from sounding like far back into shades of mysterious forests, echos of sweet music, and the quick tread of countless little feet tell that Nature's dance is at its height, that the world is full of pleasure, feasting, and love.

It would be a wise head, indeed that could tell what it is all about. The invitations make no mention of it. They are not printed, but are simply passed along by word of mouth. Possibly it is the joy of Nature over another year well spent. As the prelude to a time of rest and seeming death, it is perhaps, her way of telling us that all is not lost when the leaves drop and decay. Whatever is the meaning of it all the guests will not tell. They are profoundly secret, so that the interpretation of it is open to all. Yet everyone may see Nature's annual dance and take from it whatever inmiration is sought for and desired.

THE WATCHWORD OF WOMEN.

Modesty is woman's watchword, Whatever threatens her delicate sense of modesty, frightens her. For th's reason many a woman permits diceases of the delicate womanly organs to become aggravated because she carnot bring herself to submit to the ocdeal of unpleasant questionings, offersive examinations, and obnoxious local treatments, which some physiciars find necessary. Doubtless, thousands of the women who have taken advartage of Dr. Pierce's offer of free cor.sultation by letter, have been led to co so by the escape thus offered from a treatment repugnant to modesty. Ary sick woman may write to Dr. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y., in perfect confidence; all letters being treated as strictly pri vate and sacredly confidential, and al answers being sent in plain envelop s with no advertising or other printing upon them. Dr. Pierce's Favorite Proscription has been long hailed as "a God-send to women." It makes weak women strong and sick women well, "Favorite Prescription" contains ro alcohol, neither opium, cocaine or other narcotic.

Science, armed with the microscope, as established it a fact, and this conclusion renders obsolete the practice of treating Asthma, Catarrh and Bronchitis by stomach drugging, sprays, snuffs, etc. Such treatments are an utter failure because they cannot penetrate the delicate air cells of the lungs, or permeate the air passages of the nose and bronchial tubes where the germs of Catarrh have their stronghold. Catarrhozone is the only certain remedy. It is inhaled by the mouth and after spreading through all the respiratory organs is exhaled through the nostrils. Catarrhozone kills the germs, heals the inflamed tissues, clears the head and throat in two minutes, and cures in a few hours. Nothing is so effective, pleasant and simple as Catarrhozone. Strength and simplicity are the important factors in house furnishing-strength for service, that every article may last as long as the home is needed, and simplicity that is beautiful because it an swers every purpose for which the ar ticle may have been intended, without meaningless decoration to gather dust says the Household in preface to the following suggestions: The wall is the only place where decoration and ornamentation merely are desirable. Here we lavish our choicest treasures in pictures, bas-reliefs, cabinets and shelves for costly pieces of bric-a-brac. The modern cupboard is not inclosed within glass doors nor covered with elaborate designs in hand carving or machine work, but it is plain and strong and made of some highly polished, rich looking wood; the shelves are broad or shallow, to suit the purpose for which they were de-

A pretty style of wall cabinet for china has two shelves, with top and sides inclosed. These are plain, highly polished and without ornamentation, that they may be easily dusted. The backboard is covered with a dull venetian red velveteen, which gives depth and tone to the background and makes a rich setting for choice bits of china, plates, etc., on the shelves. Tobacco brown is another rich color for background, especialy if the cabinet is made of any of the light woods. Burlap or denim may be used effectively in place of velveteen and is more easily kept free from dust. A long room may be broken and made to look more cozy by means of a bookcase placed at right angles to the wall and near an open fireplace, the back of the bookcase to be utilized for divan and the top for a lamp, which will give excellent light for reading purposes. It is wonderful what a change may be accomplished in a long, narrow room in this way. It is far more effective than the screens which many use, with their sugestion of something that needs to be concealed. There is often found in rooms a long, narrow space between two door casings, or a window and a door, which is not well adapted to the hanging of pictures one may happen to have. When such is the case, get three or four yards of plain china silk in narrow width. Then, commencing at the top of the casing, lay the silk in tucks that turn upward, allowing for a depth sufficient to hold a cabinet photograph. Tack these tucks secure-

CABINET FOR CURIOS ly into place with brass headed tacks and draw the silk tightly across the space, turning it underneath to fit the panel. It makes a very pretty decoration if the color is well chosen. When there are a great number of pictures and the background is well covered, silkoline, satin, denim or other inexpensive cotton material may be used in place of the china silk.

To a quart of cranberries add three fourths of a pint of boiling water. Cover closely and cook five minutes over a quick fire. Crush with a wooden spoon such of the berries as have not burst and rub through a colander. Put the strained pulp into the sauce pan in which the berries were cooked. Add three-fourths of a pint of granulated sugar and simmer five minutes stirring constantly.

The palms which women like to have standing about the house require plenty of moisture. Sponge the leaves once a week with lukewarm water and stand the plant in the same for an hour or two at a time, the water being deep enough to cover the pot,

As far as is known, "Out of the Fold," the attraction to be produced at the Grand on Saturday night, Dec. 6th, is the first play of the kind an erring woman is allowed to overthrow the traditions of the stage and the so called inexorable "social law" and be happily married to a good man. Langdon McCormick, the author of the play, states that the plot is founded upon the Moody and Sankey hymn, "Ninety and Nine," and that Scrip-"

BRITAIN SEEKS BARS SENT TO KRUGER AND LEYDS.

Botha Also Demands that They Give Up Large Sum to Aid the Boer

Berlin, Dec. 1 .- The British Government is telegraphing to all German ports of Boer gold bars worth $650,000, which it is supposed have been brought to this country from South Africa within the past fortnight. The bars are destined for former President Kruger and Dr. Leyds, and it is presumed have been concealed in the northern Transvanl. Great Britain will endeavor to legally attach the gold if it can be located, on the ground that she is entitled to all the assets of the Transvaal because she has assumed responsibility for the debts of that country, including the bonds issued prior to the war. General Botha's reply to Colonial Secretary Chamberlain that the late Boer Government had no assets was strictly true as far as he knew, but since reeeiving Mr. Chamber ain's letter General Botha learned, a ding to seemingly trustworthy information here, that Mr. Kruger and Dr. Leyss have in their possession $2,500.000. General Botha requested them to turn over this gold for the benefit of the B er people, but Dr. Leyds refused, averling that the money was to be used in upholding the Boe nationality in the future. General Botha has notified Dr. Leyds that unless the gold is given up legal proceedings will be brought against him
