Life Guards in your Blood!

If hostile forces invaded Germany to-morrow, a vast army of trained soldiers would concentrate to destroy them. And the same thing ought to happen every time your blood is invaded by one of the innumerable microbes which enter your nose whenever you breathe, and your mouth whenever you eat or speak. Millions of soldiers should be ready to defend you against disease.

What are those soldiers? Ask any doctor. He will tell you that your blood contains certain white cells which garrison your body, living side by side with the red cells—workers which supply the tissues of your body with oxygen. It is only lately that scientists have discovered the purpose for which the white soldier-cells exist.

By watching tiny drops of warm blood

Under the microscope, they found out that the duty of the soldier-cells is to grapple with invading microbes, and, if possible, to destroy them. That is what nature intended. But when your power of resistance is impaired by overwork or any other cause, the garrison of soldier-cells may be too weak or too few for a successful defence, and the invading microbes will win the day. At such times it is necessary to provide a supply of new recruits ready to take the place of the white cells, dying by millions in the fight for your life. How can you do this? By taking Virol.

Certain "rare constituents" of our food have a stimulating effect on all those glands of the body in which white cells are made. The same is true of red bone-marrow, as we might expect, seeing that this marrow exists for the making of blood. These "rare constituents" are combined with red bone-marrow in Virol, so that in it we have a double instrument for helping the body to reinforce the army of health.

When you are suffering from weakness or exhaustion, take Virol regularly three times a day, a teaspoonful after meals, or it may be taken in warm milk, and you will serve health where health begins, which is in healthy blood, crammed with fighting cells that will take the life of any invader.

Virol, the food which replenishes the blood with white cells that conquer disease.

CHAPTER XII.

"My dear," confessed Mrs. Dacie, after the sisters had left them, with anxious injunctions to come in soon, for the sun was going down—"my dear, the very sound of your voice seems like part of my own people and makes me better; but do you know I was miserably shaky last week, and I think we all frightened one another. Being so little together, you see, we had forgotten each other's ways. They meant to be kindness itself, but except when I could induce Maria to read this young linen-drafter's poetry to me, she could talk of nothing but my symptoms, and seemed determined to make out I was going to have a fit! And poor Caroline was so particular over everything I ate and drank, that it was coming to my never relishing a thing at all. They—very thoughtfully, I'm sure—brought a young doctor in to see me unexpectedly, and, Sydney, it seemed so dreadful to have anyone but my own husband asking me questions—I was quite overcome. I expect it was then they wrote. To tell the truth, I'm sorry they did—if, dear child, caressing Sydney's head, "it has not put you about too much making the journey for me!"

"And that it has not done the very best," the girl hastened to answer. Here was someone else tender and kind to her. Notes of love seemed ringing like joy-bells about her to-day! "If you like having me it is only just summer excursion for me, and"—making light of what she had done—"as all the scenes are fresh to me, it ought to give me plenty to remember and profit by."

Which words were to sound like some elfish prophecy, their whole full fillment hid for many a day in darkest cloud.

"Mary Ellen," here cried Miss Thorne from her window, "our sister Caroline thinks there's going to be a dew."

"Which means we must go in," said Mrs. Dacie, rising obediently. "I am afraid my three old ladies have been three old worries to each other."

And Sydney, though quite ready to deny the imputation as far as the speaker was concerned, was soon forced to admit its truth with respect to the others.

For her advent, in place of Mary's had thrown each hostess into a trying ferment of hospitality. Miss Alwyn, the liberal, well-dowered young lady from The Dale, must see that Mary Ellen, although now narrowed in her means, belonged to people who understood proper entertainment. So a flutter of hasty preparation pervaded the house as the pair from the garden entered. Much chinking of the best plate, unwrapped from tissue-paper, was audible from one room. Miss Thorne, her everyday stuff gown exchanged for creaking brown silk, was caught polishing up the best silver tea-pot in another. A half-open door, closed by some unseen jerk, discovered Mrs. Carew, her cap-strings pinned back, presiding over the concoction of an omelet. One little serving-maid was sent racing off to the nearest farm for cream. "Which," bouncing presently into the trim drawing-room, "please, mum, I couldn't get nohows," she announced, "because it hadn't bin spoke for overnight." Another stumped to and from the dining-room, changing, with a cautious speed that evoked much labored breathing, the crockery of the every-day supper-table for that precious best china whose rare use was deep anxiety to all concerned. With profuse regrets at there being no late dinner prepared, "which could easily have been had we at all expected you, Miss Alwyn!" Supper was proceeded with, sounds of rumbling and scuttling overhead meanwhile betokening action upstairs on the visitor's behalf. An ominous tumble and a shrill squeal compelled Mrs. Carew, with a "Please excuse me," to hurry aloft, to return, however, with the gratifying news that it was only Susan who had collapsed under a mattress.

"Our house is so small," she explained; "we have only one good-sized spare room; and that being west, you see, dear Mary Ellen must have it."

"With her tendencies, you understand," said Miss Thorne, "the morning sun on her asleep might have serious effects."

"And of course we couldn't think of putting you in the little south room that would have done for Mary," chirped the widow.

"So we have made the necessary changes, and put you in our east room; we can go anywhere!" said the spinster, with cheerful resignation. "And do you like your head north or south, Miss Alwyn? Susan and Betsy, and my sister and I, will lift the bed any way you choose, with pleasure."

Any room, and any bed, and heid head in any direction would equally have suited Sydney, but on that and score of other points she had to express an opinion before her fidgety hostesses would be content; and by the time she was allowed to go to rest she felt as if many days of such assiduous politeness would try her as it had done poor Mrs. Dacie.

But the mild trial was to last only hours, and these fewer than at first arranged. Thursday was to see her returning with Mrs. Dacie. She sent a brief note home to that effect. At sident and vice-president received her with perturbation. They could get no eggs! Could Miss Alwyn manage without them? Fish only came round once a week. Miss Thorne had gone herself to the only grocer's for coffee. It might be poor, but it was the best to be purchased. They and Mary Ellen took tea. They didn't allow Mary Ellen coffee. With her habit it was too heating. But they so wished to provide what Miss Alwyn liked

And would she mind dining early and would she like lamb? If she preferred poultry they would send two miles off for a chicken. Provoking to relate (and unusual), they had on a little cold meat in the house.

"Which will do—" began Sydney but was interrupted with—

"I would rather stay just where I am."

"Then if you stop still, sir, I'll be sure to come with your ticket when your train comes in."

And the civil functionary went off with a touch of the hat, checked before it had reached its full proportions. Sydney went by, to the end of her planked tether; returned and glanced furtively at the stranger. Had she ever met him before? He leaned against the upright beam, a broad-framed figure of something more than common height, well enough dressed, but without a suspicion of the petit maitre about him (what made recollection of Rupert Villiers measure itself by him for a moment, to a disadvantage?)—a face powerful but not ungente, brown-mustached and bearded, hair darker, eyebrows darker still, drawn together over a resolutely down-bent gaze. Sydney passed close beside him. Not for a moment were his eyes lifted. She loitered on slowly, then turned back. He stood there, still as a statue. As she advanced a troop of people drove up and seized on the station-master for details of Welsh touring tickets, while their luggage was wheeled on the platform in such a way as to bar the progress of a countryman with a huge basket of live fowl.

"If I marn't go one way I maun go the 'other!" cried this individual, es-saying to pass in front of the yet immovable stranger; "now, then, master stir up, won't ye, an' let a body go by!"

Thus adjured the gentleman started, moved suddenly in the wrong direction, and was within an ace of stumbling some four feet down on the metals below.

TWO NERVOUS WOMEN

Made Well By Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Philadelphia, Pa.—"I had a severe case of nervous prostration, with palpitation of the heart, constipation, headaches, dizziness, noise in my ears, timid, nervous, restless feelings and sleeplessness."

"I read in the paper where a young woman had been cured of the same troubles by taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound so I threw away the medicines the doctor left me and began taking the Compound. Before I had taken half a bottle I was able to sit up and in a short time I was able to do all my work. Your medicine has proved itself able to do all you say it will and I have recommended it in every household I have visited."—Mrs. MARY JOHNSON, 210 Siegel Street, Philadelphia, Pa.

Another Bad Case. Ephrata, Pa.—"About a year ago I was down with nervous prostration. I was pale and weak and would have hysterical spells, sick headaches and a bad pain under my shoulder-blade. I was under the care of different doctors but did not improve. I was so weak I could hardly stand long enough to do my dishes. Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has made me well and happy and I have begun to gain in weight and my face looks healthy now."—Mrs. J. W. HORNBERGER, R. No. 3, Ephrata, Pa.

If you want special advice write to Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co. (confidential) Lynn, Mass. Your letter will be opened, read and answered by a woman and held in strict confidence.

"Certainly not! Lamb or chicken, it must be for you, Miss Alwyn! However, Carry, whip some cream for Miss Alwyn, with the gooseberry tart. If it had only been Friday, now, we could have offered her a Lutterthorpe cream-cheese."

"Lutterthorpe," repeated Sydney, "I know that name. It is close to Guyswick." It was indeed the hamlet where her old nurse, Taffy, had lived. "Is it far from here?"

"An hour or so by rail, I think," answered Mrs. Carew. "But the cheeses are only made on Fridays, I'm afraid."

"I was not thinking of them," said Sydney, "but—rather of how delightful it would be to ease this household of her too clearly disturbing presence, and go forward to those regions of her childhood's holidays, thence perhaps to a glimpse of Guyswick, or even as far as Stillcote-Upton and Jacob Cheene. Mrs. Dacie, consulted, saw no reason why she should not revisit her old haunts. The sisters made a bad hand at concealing that they were glad to be released of extra-prandial preparations, and so, cheerful on all counts, ten o'clock saw Sydney on the wing again, though only by a staggard train which, dawdling along some thirty minutes, then set her down at a country junction, to wait another half hour before getting on to Lutterthorpe.

Waiting was no hardship, though, on this brilliant summer morning. Her mind busy with remembrance of yesterday, with anticipation of to-morrow, Sydney paced up and down razing at the rising hills and fruit-lad slopes, hearing, almost sharing, the glad carolling of the larks soaring overhead. Presently, sauntering back from the platform's limit, she found a companion in delay. A dog-cart was just being driven from the asphalted yard; a tall man, alighted apparently therefrom, was standing by the endmost roof-supporting beam. The station-master, beside him was saying, as she drew near.

"You can go in five minutes, sir, if you take the loop line. But the mail by Stillcote gets to your place nigh as soon. That'll come through in twenty minutes."

"Thanks, I should greatly prefer the first," answered the traveller, in a voice that arrested Sydney's attention. Resonant, pleasant, sad-sounding, moreover, like some full note out of—it must be dream-land!

"If you like to sit down, sir, the room's empty—"

"I would rather stay just where I am."

"Then if you stop still, sir, I'll be sure to come with your ticket when your train comes in."

And the civil functionary went off with a touch of the hat, checked before it had reached its full proportions. Sydney went by, to the end of her planked tether; returned and glanced furtively at the stranger. Had she ever met him before? He leaned against the upright beam, a broad-framed figure of something more than common height, well enough dressed, but without a suspicion of the petit maitre about him (what made recollection of Rupert Villiers measure itself by him for a moment, to a disadvantage?)—a face powerful but not ungente, brown-mustached and bearded, hair darker, eyebrows darker still, drawn together over a resolutely down-bent gaze. Evening Telegram Fashion Plates.

The Home Dressmaker should keep a Catalogue Scrap Book of our Pattern Cuts. These will be found very useful to refer to from time to time.

9927.—A SIMPLE NEAT LITTLE FROCK.

Girl's One Piece Dress with Straight or Shaped Edge at the Closing, and with or without Girdle. Such a pretty dress was developed from this design in blue and white dotted tub silk. It is equally effective in gingham, percale, galatea, challie, lawn, flimsy, voile, or crepe. Feather-stitching or insertion would form a pretty trimming on this model. The model has inverted fullness at the underarm seams and the sleeve and neck finish is pleasing though simple. The Pattern is cut in 4 sizes: 2, 4, 6 and 8 years. It requires 2 5-8 yards of 36 or 40 inch material for a 6 year size. A Pattern of this illustration mailed to any address on receipt of 10c. in silver or stamps.

9930.—A SPLENDID MODEL Girl's Apron.

This simple little design is so easy to develop, that "mother's" girl will be glad to do it alone. The deep arm-hole is so comfortable and the effect so neat, to say nothing of the good covering which the apron will give to the dress beneath. For home, cooking school, for play time, this design will prove very satisfactory. The Pattern is cut in 5 sizes: 4, 6, 8, 10 and 12 years. It requires 2 1-8 yards of 27 inch material for a 6 year size. A pattern of this illustration mailed to any address on receipt of 10c. in silver or stamps.

Resolutions passed by Kimberley Lodge, No. 65, at a meeting held April 15th, 1914:

WHEREAS—The members of Kimberley Lodge, No. 65, L.O.A., Topsail, have learned of the appalling disaster which has overtaken so many of our fellow-countrymen while engaged at their calling at the icefields in the ss. Newfoundland;

AND WHEREAS—We very much regret an even greater disaster has befallen the Southern Cross from which no date no tidings of her can be found;

BE IT THEREFORE RESOLVED—That this Lodge tenders its sincere and heartfelt sympathy to all those who are called upon to mourn the loss of their loved ones whom God in His mysterious way saw fit to call away; although we fully realize how little comfort there is in human sympathy, we trust that He who wipeth away the tears from all eyes, will bring their comfort in this time of heavy bereavement.

REID-SPOONER.

Yesterday afternoon the marriage of Mr. Fred G. Reid, the well and favorably known officer of the C.L.B., and Miss H. H. Spooner took place at Wesley Church, the Rev. P. R. Matthews officiating. The bride was attended by her sister and cousin, respectively, Miss Gladys Spooner and Miss Janet Horwood, while the groom was supported by his brother Mr. Charles Reid. Following the ceremony a reception was held at Smithville. The health of the bridal party was proposed by Rev. Mr. Matthews and responded to by the groom. A dance held in the ball-room finished an enjoyable evening. Mr. and Mrs. Reid received many valuable and useful presents. The Telegram extends its felicitations.

THE GREATER QUESTION.

At this season of the year for Farmers with up-to-date ideas is, what are the best means to use to get the best returns from the land. Fertilizers must be used liberally if large returns are looked for. There are several good chemical fertilizers which may be recommended, but Sulphate of Ammonia has been proved to give the best returns, and is the most valuable and economical source of Nitrogen for agricultural purposes. For vegetables, grass, and all heavy crops, about one and a half cwt. per acre is the best quantity to use, and this should be applied when the plant is making its growth, as well as before sowing the seed. If a liquid manure is preferred, a ¼ oz. of Sulphate to one gallon of water should be used, and applied once a week for a month. This quantity should not be exceeded. It is a good plan to reduce the Sulphate to a fine powder, and mix with four or more times its own bulk, for the purpose of diluting the manure, which is very powerful. For potatoes the following mixture is strongly recommended:— 40 lbs. Superphosphate, 26 lbs. Fine bone meal, 10 lbs. Carbonate of Magnesia, 15 lbs. Sulphate of Potash, 21 lbs. SULPHATE OF AMMONIA.

1 cwt. Apply at the rate of 10 to 11 lbs. to 40 square yards.

The use of Carbonate of Magnesia in conjunction with Sulphate of Ammonia, is of great importance in potato culture.

For turnips use the following:— 65 lbs. Superphosphate, 13 lbs. Fine bone meal, 13 lbs. Sulphate of Potash, 20 lbs. Sulphate of Ammonia.

1 cwt. Apply at the rate of 10 to 11 lbs. to 40 square yards.

Sulphate of Ammonia of excellent quality is now made by the St. John's Gas Light Company, and may be obtained on very reasonable terms.

Full particulars may be obtained at the Gas Works, or at the Board of Trade Building. Ask for special book let on the use of Sulphate, it will be found of great value in securing the heaviest crops.

Kyle Resumes Search.
The S.S. Kyle, Capt. Parsons, left Bay Bulls early this morning to resume the search for the missing steamer Southern Cross. The day is fine, and as it is expected she will steam to where the wreckage was sighted by the S.S. Bloodhound, in about nine hours, she will have practically all the afternoon to search in that vicinity.

The election of officers conducted by Mr. E. Wylie resulted as follows:— Teacher, Mr. C. P. Arre; President, C. C. Pratt; Vice-President, B. Edgcombe; Secretary, A. H. Edgcombe; Treasurer, C. J. Laughlan; Librarian, W. J. Joyce; Assistant Librarian, W. Knight; Organist, C. R. Peet; Assistant Organist, A. S. Butler; Executive Committee, L. C. News, C. F. Scott, J. H. Bowden, H. Russell, W. Peet and F. Sellars.
On next Sunday afternoon Rev. Dr. Curtis will lecture to the Class.

Arrested for Larceny.
Last night Constable Pitcher arrested a young woman who had been engaged as a servant in a house on Water Street, charged with larceny. The arrest was made upon complaint of the domestic's mistress who swore out a warrant. The accused had articles of wear in her possession, which were identified to be stolen, when searched at the police station.

Concert At Synod Hall.
The entertainment held at the Synod Hall last night, in aid of the Ungava Mission was largely attended and proved highly successful. The programme was opened by Rev. Canon Bolt who gave an interesting discourse on the work of Rev. S. M. Stewart in the Ungava Mission. Following the address were songs by Misses Chafe, Fleet and Mr. Seymour, the Maypole and Dragon Fly dances, and a sketch entitled: "The Voice of Authority" in which the following took part:—Misses B. Clarke, L. Miller, V. Andrews, A. Miller, F. Ferguson, H. Roberts and Williams. Miss LeMessurier acted as accompanist in a very capable manner. To Miss Williams, the promoter, and those who assisted her, congratulations are due for the success achieved.

The Three Mashers at Rossley's.

Last night Rossley's was crowded out, and all enjoyed the fun, for this clever company is giving great satisfaction. Warren and Molloy will be seen in all new specialties to-night, as will Martin and Doyle; also Tommy Levene. There will be a complete new musical comedy entitled "The Three Mashers." There will be lots of new dances, Felix Martin will be funnier than ever, and show some great dancing; all new pictures, with the best subjects never seen here before. Everybody is talking of the funny little Irishman Felix, the man that made such a hit in "When Betty Pulls the Strings," also with the Great "Chaney O'neal in Ragged Robe." We don't often get the opportunity of seeing so good a comedian.

Should Be Investigated.

Editor Evening Telegram.
Dear Sir—Allow me space in your paper to mention the wanton destruction of a fine Angus Bull by the person who had it in charge. This bull was the property of the Kelligrow Agricultural Society and was to be kept for a period of three years at the end of which time it became the property of the person who had it in custody. This person was also allowed a small yearly grant towards its board, but he killed the animal at the end of two years and realized $140 on the carcass.
Now, although not an advocate of the Morris Agricultural policy, yet I am firmly of the opinion that this matter should be thoroughly sifted by the authorities and the guilty party or parties punished and be made replace this animal, or it will be a case of "do thou likewise" with many others. I have been given to understand that this matter was submitted to the Board in St. John's for settlement, but it seems they are moving very slowly in the matter, as a considerable time has elapsed since then. As you are probably aware, Mr. Editor, we derive the most of our income through the keep and sale of cattle, and beef at any time of the year "fetches" a good price. Now the loss of this bull will mean a serious setback to us for the coming year. The progeny of this fine bull means a superior breed of cattle that would command a much higher price than those formerly kept.
By the destruction of this animal, the villages of Middle Bight and Kelligrows are left without the means of propagating their stock this year as there isn't a single animal of the male gender in either village of age for service. Then there is the loss of milk, butter and calves. I trust the matter will be investigated by the Government that professes to foster and encourage all agricultural pursuits.
Hoping, Mr. Editor you will give this space in your widely read journal.
Yours etc.,
INQUIRER.
South Shore, April 15th, 1914.

Poor Work.

You can't afford to do poor work, so there, I go, always shut it; for no excuse or quip or quirk will square you when you've done it. I hired a man to paint my cow from horn-tips to the udder, and she's all blotched and spotted now, and people view and shudder. "Who did the job?" they always ask; and when I say, "Jim Yellow," they cry, "when we have such a task well hire some other fellow." And so Jim idly stands, and swears bad luck has made him nervous, for when the people paint their cows they do not ask his service. And thus one's reputation flows, asking, here and yonder; and where-some'er the workman goes, his bum-reputation will wander. 'Twill face him like an evil ghost when he's best is doing, and jolt him where it hurts the most, and still keep on pursuing. A good renown will travel, too, from Gotham to Empory, and make your friends in places new, and bring you each and glory. So always do your best, old hunk, let nothing be neglected, and you will gather in the plunks, and live and die respected.

Packed House at the Crescent

Large audiences witnessed the performances at the Crescent Picture Palace last night and all were delighted with the splendid show. The two reel feature, "The Better Father," was a very interesting story. The Indian subject, in which several well known artists were principals, was also cleverly portrayed. Mr. Sidney Ershaw, the classy singer with many admirers with his splendid selections. Last night he had to respond to queries in his rendition of "Do you take the woman for your lawful wedded wife, to honor, love and obey," which brought down the house. The last picture, "Baldy Belmont and the Old Maid," is some clever comedy and was very much enjoyed. The same bill will be repeated this afternoon and night. Don't fail to hear the vocalist sing the latest songs. Coming, another special three reel feature, a wonderful dramatization of "Martyr," Link's Literary Masterpiece, "Politeas and Mesitians." Matinee every afternoon.

W. F. LLOYD, Editor.
THURSDAY April 16, 1914.

A Good Example.

We are glad to hear that the collectors who have begun their labors of canvassing the city for subscriptions are meeting with a ready response. To-day a message was received from the Premier, Sir Edward Morris, stating that the fund raised in the Old Country was about £8,000. Part of this has, we understand, already been received here and acknowledged by the Secretary-Treasurer, the Hon. Robert Watson, and we do not know how much of the sum is available as an addition to the amount already acknowledged.

One thing is however certain and that is every effort will have to be made to cope with the situation. If the sufferers are to be treated on the scale of those benefitted by the Erma disaster. But it appears that people generally are alive to the needs of the situation and are anxious to do all possible.

The sum aimed is $150,000 and much work will have to be done to attain that limit. The city has set a fine example to the whole island, and we have no doubt that if our outport towns and settlements will organize on the thorough-going lines adopted by the city, the amount raised will be very considerable. There can be no doubt that the outports as a whole are much better able to give to-day than they were some few years ago.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Bastow desire to thank all those who sent notes of sympathy and flowers, also all those who otherwise sympathized with them in their recent bereavement.

Starchy Food Necessary For Energy

But many persons cannot digest starch as found in ordinary food—hot biscuit, potatoes, white bread, etc.

Grape-Nuts

FOOD from wheat and barley, the starch part of the grains, needed for body energy, is so thoroughly dextrinized by long baking (partially pre-digested) that the time of digestion is reduced—generally to about one hour. (White bread about 3½ hrs.)

Many forms of stomach trouble disappear when proper, easily digested food is used.

There's a Reason for Grape-Nuts

The list embraces hundreds of names, and the navy men who have been on this station in the past are doing especially well. The Governor is leaving no stone unturned to increase the fund, and his wife is equally active.

Market Improved

The Board of Trade received the following from Oporto:—
"Since we last wrote, the market in general has shown some improvement although the demand has not been very active owing to the bad weather retarding agricultural work. Stocks having become smaller there has been a reaction in prices which should still further improve in view of the limited supplies coming forward. There is still some quantity of dun fish in the market, but this is also obtaining a better price. The market recently became quite bare of Norwegian cure, but an arrival from Iceland kept the market supplied until to-day when a steamer from Norway arrived with about 455 tons. Prices for this cure have also been maintained at a higher level."

S.U.F.

The following telegram has been received from E. J. Doherty, Secretary of St. James' Lodge, No. 28, Society of United Fishermen:—
"At our meeting held last evening, a resolution was passed extending the sympathy of the Lodge with the sufferers from the great sealing disaster and donating the sum of Twenty-five dollars to the general relief fund."

The New Manager

For North American Life Assurance Company.

Elsewhere in this issue will be found the advertisement of Mr. W. J. Edgar, the newly appointed Manager for Nfld. of the North American Life Assurance Co. of Toronto, Canada. Mr. Edgar, who has been for many years a trusted employee of the St. John's Gas Light Co., is most popular, and the Company has been most fortunate in securing the services of such an energetic and well and favorably known representative.

Old Country Fund.

ABOUT $40,000.

A message received this morning by the Acting Premier from the Premier, Sir Edward Morris, from London, says that the Fund started in the Old Country for the relief of the sufferers by the Sealing Disaster has been successful. Up to date, including subscriptions at Liverpool, about £8,000 have been raised. The principal subscribers are:—
The King and Queen £150,
Governor Davidson, Conring, Keenig, Langley, Viscount Hambledon, Gynn, Mills & Company, Coates & Company, Rothschild, Mrs. Richardson, Lord Michellan, Miss Mills, Lampson & Company £100 each.
The Harmsworth Company £1000;
The Daily Mail £500; The Daily Mirror £250; Lord Mount Stephen £500; The Prince of Wales £200; Bowring, Liverpool, £200; Jobs, Liverpool, £200; Withead Morris & Company, London, £50; The Right Honourable Lewis Harcourt, (Secretary for the Colonies), £25; Dr. Grenfell, Sir Thomas Esmonde, Sir Edward Morris, £10 each.

The list embraces hundreds of names, and the navy men who have been on this station in the past are doing especially well. The Governor is leaving no stone unturned to increase the fund, and his wife is equally active.

A word to those who wear "Twenty-five cent Glasses." Do you realize that by so doing, you virtually admit that twenty-five cents is the value you place upon God's greatest gift to you? There is no law to prevent you from injuring your eyes by using such glasses excepting, perhaps, the law of common sense. Of course you don't know why cheap glasses play such havoc with your eyes, and health generally, no does the man who sells them to you know. An eyesight specialist can tell you, and if you would interest yourself to the extent of asking him to explain, you would never look through a pair of them. Anything more perfect or beautiful than the human eye would be impossible for man to conceive. Then, why, when physical aid is needed to enable it to perform its functions with great ease, do you use cheap glasses or submit yourself to persons of questionable ability to suit you? When your eyes are put for assistance go to R. H. Truitt, the Eyesight Specialist who will carefully examine them and give you none but the best quality glasses if glasses are needed at all. Thousands are ready to testify to the great benefit received at his hands.—mar18,eod,1f

Lord Lytton's World Famous Story.

The Last Days of Pompeii at the Casino Next Week.

SYNOPSIS.

Glaucus, a young Athenian, is in love with Neida, the most beautiful woman in Pompeii. Archæus, an Egyptian high priest, who is powerful, also loves her but is rejected. Neida, the blind daughter of a King, is a slave owned by Euba, a rich Greek. Her father and her lover, a young man, persuade her to sell flowers, and the best people in Pompeii become interested in her. Archæus sends for Neida to appear before his guests in the temple. Neida, in her distress, refuses to go. Euba is angry and beats her. Her father sends for the King, who rushes in and lays the blind slave. Neida thinks she is dead, but she is alive with her new master. Glaucus gives Neida to him. Archæus seeks to discredit his rival by telling him that Glaucus has betrayed her love. Glaucus calls Glaucus to account, and he straightaway asks her to wed him. Neida informs Glaucus of his father's death. He rushes to the temple, almost strangles the priest and rescues Neida. Julia, daughter of the rich Dioned, loves Glaucus, and brazenly shows it. She asks Archæus for a philtre to make Glaucus love her. He sends her to an old witch at the foot of Mt. Vesuvius. She instructs the witch to give Julia a poison of madness. Instead of the love philtre, she obtains Neida, who accompanies Julia. She steals the love philtre and gives it to Glaucus with her own hand, in order that he may love her. Glaucus goes mad. Archæus murders Archæus, calls the populace and accuses Glaucus. Glaucus, a miserly priest, saw the dead and madness find him in the temple. Glaucus, now sane, is thrown into a dungeon and is condemned to fight the King. Neida informs Sulla, a friend of Glaucus, who releases him. Sulla and his friends as Glaucus is thrown into the arena. Sulla, a friend of Glaucus, is the only man who remains in the arena. Sulla, the priest to the King, is Vesuvius then awakens, heaves forth a river of molten lava, and the people, blinded by smoke, run higher and higher. Neida, accustomed to that her eyes in the darkness, glided Glaucus and him to the spectators, so that they can see the lava. The lava, which has now reached the arena, is the death of Glaucus and Neida. Neida had perished.

New Legal Firm.

MR. F. J. MORRIS, K.C., has taken Mr. S. L. Carter into partnership with him in the formation of the new legal firm of Morris and Carter. Mr. Carter, though only a short time in the profession, has been very successful, and this coupled with Mr. Morris's record of many years extensive practice warrants us in predicting for the new firm a most successful career.

"The Opera."

The popular Comic Opera, Ponto was reproduced last night at the Casino. It drew a large, appreciative and enthusiastic audience. The performance gave a full impression of the different scenes, assigned them and very well deserved applause. The scenic effects and stage settings were perfect. The Opera will be staged again to-night and to-morrow, with the greatest with a packed house which the Opera justly deserves.

Imperial Feeling And Home Rule.

LONDON, April 15.—One of the strongest Imperialist reasons for setting up Irish Home Rule, says the Conservative Standard, is that the British Empire as a whole strongly wishes to see the Canadian Pacific line have five times over passed resolutions in favour of the British request for Home Rule. The Senate and the House of Representatives have both petitioned the Crown in the same sense. Every Colonial Premier who attended last Imperial Conference was in favour of Home Rule for Ireland, colonies and their territories are naturally for Home Rule because they have what it. Even and therefore you may find a leading Colonial politician who being perhaps of Orange design is against Home Rule. This remarkable statement by the Radical Organ is a reply to Sir Edward Carson's reminder to his volunteers that the whole Empire was suffering with good-will their opposition to Home Rule. An extraordinary feeling of suspense now mingles the political atmosphere. The Daily Mail Gazette while pressing for a general election before the Bill receives its final sanction admits that the Opposition have gone as far as they can possibly go and further even than may be expected. The Budget will probably be introduced at the end of the month.

Alarmist Reports.

Sensational stories telling of the loss of the s.s. Kite are appearing in the Boston papers, said Major Kelly in a cablegram to Mr. W. O'D. Kelly last. Mr. Kelly replied that there is nothing known here to warrant such a story. The Kite was seen by the Ranger on March 27th, and is supposed to have been the steamer passing the House Islands nine days ago. The Kite was not seen in the straits since by Bowring Bros. She was chartered from them by Mr. Roberts.

Poisoned Candy.

Said to have caused death of a school girl at Port William.
Port William, March 20.—Thelma Davidson, the seven year old daughter of Andrew Davidson, Canadian Pacific telegraphist, died in the General Hospital last night from the effects of eating candy thought to have been colored with poisonous substances. The girl was taken sick in school and died only four days.

Electric Light Cure.

For Surgical Tuberculosis Instead of Knife.
London, April 15.—Dr. Rosen, head of the Finlay Light Institution, made interesting experiments in the treatment of patients suffering from surgical tuberculosis, says the Copenhagen correspondent of the Daily Telegraph.

"GIN PILLS ARE WONDERS"

Says Prominent Winnipeg Newspaper Man. "Before I Used The Second Box, The Pain Had Left"

"Manitoba Free Press"
Winnipeg, Jan. 15th, 1913
I think it only right that I should tell you about the benefits I received from a couple of weeks by using GIN PILLS. I was troubled for over three weeks with a pain in my back, and tried a number of remedies without any benefit. One of the reporters had also been troubled the same way and he said to me, "Why don't you use GIN PILLS?" I used a box and a half and the pain left. He said "You take this other half of the box and get another box, and you will be all right." I am glad to inform you that before I used all of the second box, I felt myself all right again and the pain had left. I certainly think GIN PILLS are wonders."

JOHN J. CONKLIN, Day Editor.

Dress Distinction.

By RUTH CAMERON.

In a business office which I sometimes have occasion to visit there are over a dozen typists and stenographers, some of them very pretty. But as I pass through their department my eye always rests with pleasure on one trim little figure. I don't suppose by the canons of beauty she would be judged as particularly pretty; certainly she is not as pretty as some of the other girls. It is the ease and distinctiveness of her simple but attractive little office rig which makes her stand out. My little typist has red hair and gray eyes, and she builds her clothes up of gray and green. Perhaps she may vary this at home, but I have never seen her wearing any other color in the office. The last time I saw her was in winter. She had on a gray flannel blazer, very simple but well cut, and an excellently fitting tailored skirt of a slightly darker gray. At her throat was a bow of the vividest emerald green. That was typical of her "costume." In summer she usually wears some simple little frock of soft green, or of gray with a touch of green. Nothing she wears is expensive. It isn't. Her salary is by no means large and she may not spend it all on herself. But by selecting these trimly becoming colors and sticking to them, she has created for herself a style of her own. She is distinctive. She stands out among girls who have more expensive clothes and a great many more of them. Distinctiveness in dressing is a fine art. You may follow the styles to a reasonable extent and yet have a distinctive style of your own if you will put enough thought and taste into the matter. There is never anything old-fashioned or out of style about my little typist's wardrobe, and yet by her clever use of those two colors she makes her clothes distinctive. Gray and green stand out in people's minds. They are her trade mark, and since they suit her so well, a very attractive trade mark. I know several people who have adopted some kind of clothes trade mark and I think it is an excellent idea. I believe I have told you about the girl who never appeared without some touch of scarlet. Another girl whom I used to know in college always wore a beautiful string of corals. In my mental picture of this girl the corals are almost as much a part of her as the sweet pale face, the gray eyes and the soft, dark hair. She always wore the colors with which coral is particularly exquisite such as full blue and soft green, and the whole effect was a distinction and a charm of appearance which comes vividly back to me across the years, though prettier faces and handsomer necks than hers are quite forgotten. Have your clothes distinction, or might they just as well belong to someone else? Distinction, you know, does not necessarily cost any more, at least not in money. The price you pay for it is reckoned in terms of brains.

Divorced Life

A Vision of Glorious Possibilities

"Well," exclaimed McDonald, as he swung Marian's hand, "I'm mighty glad to see you! You haven't changed a bit."
He hurried with her to the waiting taxicab, which began its flight toward the theatre. He recounted in rapid sentences how he was establishing himself in the practice of law in Cincinnati, and the conversation trailed off into trivial, impersonal channels. The voice and presence of her escort thrilled the young woman. From the point of view of womanhood, she was now able to define more clearly the power of this man's personality that she had never been able to do as a coed. He had had magnetism. It flowed from his being into hers in potent invisible waves.

It flowed from his being into hers in potent invisible waves.

"I hear you've had trouble," he said softly, as the vehicle drew near the theatre. "I'm deeply sorry."
"Thank you," she answered, hardly knowing what to say. A moment later an usher was directing them to their seats, close to the already assembling orchestra.

The play was one of men and women, rather than of plot. It was one of these modern, vital dramas, with its conclusive portrayal of the causes of friction which so often invades the American home. Marian followed the clear, bold depiction of the play's theme with absorbed attention. In more than one respect it was the counterpart of some of her own experiences as a wife.

Among the characters was a lawyer, a man of striking and commanding personality. The gripping third act was dominated by this player. To Marian, he hammered home an impressive idealization of the profession of the law; she began to behold visions of stretched-out vistas of glorious possibilities for the future of the young man at her side. Had Bert brought her here for a purpose? Had he known what the subtle mental reaction would be? Had he divined that this play would send significant longings bounding through her mind? Her vanity and egotism conspired to convince her that her reflections con-

Most Artistic Film at Nickel.

Large numbers of ladies and gentlemen spent last evening at the Nickel Theatre and had a most enjoyable time. The pictures were about the finest ever seen in St. John's. "Romeo and Juliet," that famous old love story which is always fascinating, was presented in the most charming manner. The scenes are as elaborate as is possible to have them, and they make the subject one to be remembered for a long time. No one who has ever seen "Romeo and Juliet" should miss it as it is given by the Path Co. at the Nickel. "Bunny's Honey Moon" is a comedy which proved very laughable, while "The Deceivers" is a dainty little story of a club man and society girl who seek the simple life in the country. It affords great pleasure to watch them. This evening the pictures will be repeated. The popular vocalists, Miss Gardner and M. McCarthy, will sing new songs.

Children love to take Cascarets, because they taste good and never gripe or sicken.

Melbourne.

By GEORGE FITCH.
Author of "At Good Old Slivash."
Melbourne, the metropolis of all Australia and about 5,000 miles of ocean on all sides of it, has about 700,000 people, which is doing very well for its age. In 1838 it had only 18 turf huts, being smaller than Chicago at that time.
Melbourne, however, had 11,000 people in 1841, which was about three times as much as Chicago could show. Then the high steamer rates stepped in and handicapped the Australia city, and while in 1856 it had 100,000 people, it could not keep up the pace. To-day Chicago is four times its size and Chicago visitors exclaim to the natives: "What a beautiful little vil-large you have here! barely escaping with their lives shortly afterward. It shows what location will do. If Melbourne had chosen its location about 11,000 miles nearer the center of population it would now have 10,000,000 people and a large tourist trade.

Melbourne is situated on the east coast of Victoria, about 15,000 miles from London, which is related to financially and politically. To reach Melbourne the American visitor takes a truck full of gold and six months of a truck southward from San Francisco until the steamer runs out of coal. The city is the capital of Australia and will be until the new American designed capital is built in country brush.
Melbourne is a very handsome city, situated on a large bay and a little river. In spite of the fact that it has about 3,000 miles of back yard, mostly unoccupied, it is a small city, and has not followed Chicago's plan of annexing the territory as far as the climate and constitution will permit. Melbourne has wide streets, great public buildings, plenty of colleges and universities and some great parks. It also has race courses, moving picture houses, street cars and skyscrapers or this reason American visitors feel perfectly at home in Melbourne, and it were not for the absence of baseball, soda fountains and vacant lots with billboards on them, they would ardly imagine themselves in a foreign land.
Melbourne is a great manufacturing city and also produces great numbers of tennis players, oarsmen, cricketers and football teams. It has a kind of climate that has made Los Angeles famous and snowfalls are unknown except at election times.

Obituary.

"Friend after friend departs, Who hath not lost a friend? There is no union here of hearts That finds not here an end."
After fifteen months of patient suffering Anastasia (Furlong), wife of the late Philip Williams, passed to the rest beyond on Monday, March 23 at the ripe old age of 88. In the deceased Bay Bulls has lost one of its most respected old ladies. For 42 years she had lived amongst us not only as a neighbour and inhabitant but as a dear friend, with a kind word or all and a frown for none, a whole-hearted feeling for the needy and the afflicted. Mrs. Williams endeared herself to all who knew her. Although lessed with a super-abundance of this world's goods Mrs. Williams knew no distinction, she hailed as her motto the words of Our Divine Benefactor: The poor you have always with you at Me you have not always." She was, therefore, gone to seek the reward of a life well spent. Throughout of illness she was attended by Rev. Father McCarthy, and we are sure the aspiring words of the good priest fitly repared her for the awful passage to eternity. She leaves one sister, Mrs. Barker, residing in St. John's, but here is one other to whom we are certain the sad news of her demise will come with regret. Sr. Bernard (Cory) Convent, Auburn, N. Y., who spent her childhood's days under the kind protection of her now departed friend.—R. I. P.

The Newfoundland Disaster Enquiry Before Judge Knight.

WEDNESDAY MORNING.
FREDEHUK YETMAN (Sworn)—Continued.—Our men came back and reported the Newfoundland men out since Tuesday morning. Our ship was then forced towards her, and our crew turned out to search. We got midway between the Bellaventure and Newfoundland, and could then make no progress. We were in touch with the Bellaventure by wireless and learned from Capt. Randall that men from the Newfoundland were on board and reported a number of her crew dead on the ice.

To Dr. Lloyd.—While our men were getting out on Tuesday morning and Capt. Kean was in the barrel, I was on the bridge or about the deck. I think the men were all out before 7. I should think it was about 7 when I went in the barrel. It was beautifully fine then and after 9, when you could see in any direction. Nothing was said to me on Monday that the Newfoundland was coming up to us, but on Monday afternoon we hoisted our derrick. We did not use it for taking seals, I thought it was a sign to the Newfoundland that seals were near us. I expected she would come to us if she could get. On Tuesday morning I saw she was jammed, did not think much about her. It would be light enough to see her from 6 o'clock. There was no conversation between myself and Capt. Kean about her being jammed. Men could be seen that morning on the ice anywhere between the Newfoundland and our ship if you looked for them. I believe they could be seen boarding a vessel from the ice. I had a clear view of the Newfoundland from the barrel of our ship. I did not see any men between 7 and 8 o'clock coming from the Newfoundland. The only reason I know of that I did not see them sooner was on account of rough heavy ice. I did not see them before 8 o'clock. I should think it was nearly 8 when I saw them. I had no watch with me. As soon as I saw them I told the Captain. I think I stayed in the barrel until the men got aboard, except while I was getting my breakfast between 8 and half past 1. I saw the men after breakfast. Capt. Kean relieved me during my breakfast. Capt. Kean did not tell me he had seen the men.

When I came down from the barrel I remarked to Captain Kean, "The Newfoundland's crew was not long walking aboard of our ship." I thought they had done it quick for the kind of ice they went over. All the time the Newfoundland's men were aboard I heard no grumbling or objection from any of them about leaving the Stephano. My attention while in the barrel was directed mostly to our own men who were picking up seals.

AFTERNOON SESSION.
SAMUEL BUNSELL (sworn)—I belong to Bonavista Harbor. I have been thirteen springs to the ice. I was in her about four springs ago.

with Capt. Jacob Kean when he had the load in her. This is my first time with Capt. Westbury Kean. It was a fine morning when we left the Newfoundland. The sun was not shining but it was close. We left the Newfoundland at about 7 o'clock and we got on board of the Stephano about half-past eleven. It did not look for bad weather at the time we left the Newfoundland, but when we got on board of the Stephano it was just beginning to peck snow. After going on board we went down below and had a mug-up, and when we came up on the ice by Capt. A. Kean. It was showing then fast and real thick. You could not see the Newfoundland and I do not think Capt. Westbury could see the Stephano. It was a thick one could not see a mile and a half. All the crew got out on the ice. I never heard anyone making any objection to leaving her. I did not make any because I thought our second hand had made it up with Capt. Kean that if it came on bad weather he would take us aboard the Stephano again, and a good many others thought like me. After leaving the Stephano we went towards a patch of seals where Capt. Kean told us. Some of the crew stopped killing and the rest of the crew went on for a short distance, and I was with the crowd that went on. At this time it was quite stormy, and the crew gathered together.

To Dr. Lloyd.—Before we reached this spot of seals I heard some of the crew expressing their opinion that they would not get aboard the Stephano as she had turned to seaward. It was then that some of the men said that they thought they were going aboard of the Stephano for the night, but seeing her move away the thought there was no chance. After we gathered together on the ice we started off for the Newfoundland, and I was one of the nine men that reached her on Thursday morning. I took 15 or 16 cakes of hard bread when I left the Newfoundland, and I could have had more if I wanted it. We got all we wanted to eat on board the Stephano. I did not see any sun bounds on Tuesday morning. I did not look at the sun, nor did I hear talk about sun bounds. When we got aboard the Stephano, I was not tired out and I don't think the other men were tired out either. Up to the time we heard Capt. Kean give the "Tuff" directions of the Newfoundland, we had the notion that after we boarded the Stephano we were to go to the ice. This caused some talk among the crew immediately we heard it. We were then close to the Stephano when I say immediately, I mean when the vessel started to turn around and then I made a remark to my buddies "this is only one chance in fifty that we men are not on the icefields for the night." I am absolutely certain that I made this remark. They answered me, "you are right. It is only one chance in fifty that we are not on the ice for the night." I spoke to Thomas Groves, and he is the man who answered me. He belongs to Bonavista. I heard no one else talk about it. It was no time for men to leave the Stephano and go picking up seals, having to go to the Newfoundland. If I had been on board when I learned that we were not to go back to the Stephano I would never have left her. I made no remarks at the time to no man. I blame Capt. A. Kean for the whole business of this transaction. I know that Capt. A. Kean could get to us on Wednesday or to the Newfoundland, because if men could fall in the water I know the ship could force her way through the ice. I fell in myself on Wednesday. When I fell in we were in sight of the Bellaventure and she was moving about picking up pans.

HUGH MOULAND (sworn)—I was one of the crew of the Newfoundland at the ice this Spring. On Tuesday morning about 7 o'clock we left our ship to go to the Stephano. The weather was fine enough. I did not see the sun or any sun bounds. We got aboard of the Stephano about 11:30. Before we reached the Stephano it commenced pecking snow. When we got aboard we went below and had a mug-up. We came on deck again and were ordered over the starboard side by Capt. A. Kean. It was snowing fast at this time. I do not know if any of our men objected to leaving her. I did not hear any one, and I did not object myself. After we got on the ice we passed on beyond the bow of the Stephano until we came to a small patch of seals. Some men stopped to kill but the greater number went on a little further and stopped. I was with the crowd that went on. Before we stopped I had the idea of where we were going the night. After getting out to the Stephano and before reaching the spot of seals my idea was that we would get back to our own ship that night, but when we stopped and came on stormy and started for our ship I did not think we would reach it. I formed no opinion as to what the storm would turn to before I left the Stephano, but when I got beyond the seals I thought it was going to be bad. I was one of the men who talked aboard of the Bellaventure on Thursday morning. When I left the Newfoundland on Tuesday morning I had eight cakes of bread, and when we got aboard the Stephano we got all we wanted of hard bread and tea. When I saw the Stephano all around and go away from us I heard to talk among the men as to what we were going for the night. I was with Thomas Moulard and near enough to hear any other men talk at the time the men gathered together after passing the seals. I heard no talk about their having expected to stay aboard of the Stephano that night. On Wednesday afternoon the ice was slack and I fell in to it. I was, this was about the time we sighted the Bellaventure. I belong to Bonavista.

BENJAMIN PIERREY (sworn) examined by Hutchings, K.C.—I belong to New Perlican, and was in the Newfoundland, this was my second spring out, once about 8 years ago. We left our ship about 7 a.m. March 31st. The day was fine with sky overcast. Did not see the sun nor any sun bounds. Heard no talk of sun bounds until Wednesday, from some men I did not know. Reached the Stephano about 1:30. It was then pecking snow. Went below and had some cold tea and hard bread. Capt. Kean told us to get on the ice. He told us we would find a patch of seals to the S. W. He also gave the course to our own ship. We were on the ice then. I heard no one object to leaving the Stephano, but I said to my chums if I had any one to stay with me I would not leave her; they said come on. It was snowing fast then; could not see very far. Weather was mild. I thought we were going to have a lot of snow. We passed the steamers how to the patch of seals which were killed. After we left the Stephano I thought we were going to the patch of seals, make a delay, then follow on to our own ship. I heard no one say at any time that we were going back to her. I did hear someone say she was coming back to pick us up, don't know who it was. Had no such thought. I reached the Bellaventure on Thursday a.m. I took 7 or 8 cakes of bread on Tuesday. Could have had more. Only had a small mug-up on the Stephano.

To Dr. Lloyd.—We had hard ice to get over on Tuesday. I was first when I got on the Stephano, and would like a spell if I had got one. I had time for a spell. I and Ezekiah Stewart could only get one mug, and the tea was cold. I heard no one else complain of being tired. It was poor ice on the port side, not fit to get out of. When I said I did not want to leave the Stephano I was afraid my word not reach our own ship that night. Am a Stegman, and have been fishing from boyhood. In my opinion there was no time to leave the Stephano, walk to the Newfoundland, eye without any delay. Had we gone straight to the Newfoundland I think we would have speared her that night if the herd had been kept blowing when we were going aboard the ship.

Good-Bye, Old Backache
Nerviline Will Fix You.

Stiffness is Rubbed Right Out—Every Sign of Pain Disappears.
See what—think of it!
No more stomach dosing necessary to cure your lame back.
Every trace of lameness, every bit of stiffness, every sign of weakness in the back's muscles can be rubbed away for all time to come by good old "Nerviline."
No other liniment can do the work so quickly, can penetrate so deeply, can bring ease and comfort to the back-weary sufferer as Nerviline invariably does.
Backache isn't the only malady Nerviline is quick to cure. For lumbago or sciatica you would go far to find relief so speedy as Nerviline gives. For chronic rheumatism there are pain-destroying properties in Nerviline that give it first rank. The way it limbers up a stiff joint and takes soreness out of strained or rheumatic muscles is simply a wonder.
If you have any ache or pain anywhere, if you have a sore back, a stiff neck, a stiff joint, a strained muscle—if you have lumbago, congested chest or sore throat, just use Nerviline. Rub it on plentifully—it won't blister, it can't do anything but cure you quickly. The large-size, family size bottle is the most economical, of course, but you can, from any dealer, also get the 25c. small size of Nerviline, the king of all pain-relieving remedies.

I thought I would stay for the night. I heard others say they thought Capt. A. Kean would put us on our own ship at night. On the way we saw no seals and as far as we knew there was nothing to stay for. I know nothing of any signals between the two ships. That evening near dark the second hand said to the master, "watch as to do the best they could with the men and make shelter. I was in Jacob Bangay's watch, but I followed Arthur Moulard on account of all the sealian traps being in his watch. When we got shelter built, Arthur Moulard said that the men not belonging to his watch to leave the ship, but he left me stay. It was not fit to leave the ship I was on then, as it was dark and stormy. I struck to Moulard's watch until the following day.

DANIEL FOLEY (sworn) examined by Hutchings, K.C.—I belong to St. Bride's, was in the Stephano. We got out early of March 31st. The sky was very red to the eastward, but fast got bright. We went about N. W. sailing this until 10 or 11 o'clock about 12:30, the ice began to stand. The snow just beginning. We started for our ship, which bore about N.E.; could not see her. We travelled through our flags about 3 miles, and got aboard about 2:30 or 3, weather still getting worse. The Florizel came up with some of our men and transferred them to our ship. Did not know the Newfoundland's crew were on board, but heard it after we got on board.
To Dr. Lloyd.—The Stephano blew until we got on board, and I think afterwards; don't know how long.

Zam-Buk Saved His Finger
When Blood Poisoning Followed a Cut.

Mr. Albert Brennan, butcher of 141, Lindsay Ave., Toronto, has good cause to be thankful for Zam-Buk! While at work, he cut the middle finger of the left hand. Some disease germs—of which the air is full—entered the wound, and next day the finger was swollen and painful. He bathed it in hot water and applied some ordinary ointment, but the pain got worse, and the swelling continued. Not only so, but the area of the inflammation extended, until from finger to elbow was inflamed and sore, and he knew that blood-poisoning had set in. He had to give up his ordinary work, and suffered acute pain.
Finally he decided to enter St. Michael's Hospital, but just before going so, a friend advised him to try Zam-Buk. Mr. Brennan acted on this advice, and soon proved Zam-Buk's great value. He says: "It cured the pain almost as soon as applied, and within a day of first commencing the Zam-Buk treatment, I was back at work! Of course, I don't mean that in that time the wound was healed, but the pain had gone and the danger from blood-poisoning was averted. After that, healing was only a matter of a short time. I have no hesitation in saying that Zam-Buk saved my finger, and I am very glad to let you state these simple facts publicly."
Zam-Buk is equally effective for ulcers, ulcers, abscesses, eruptions, ingrown, children's rashes, scap corcs, chapped hands, frost bite, and old sores. Every housewife should keep a supply handy, and no mother should be without it in the home. Sold by all druggists and stores, 50c. per box, post free from Zam-Buk Co., Toronto, upon receipt of price. The Birthstone for the Birthday.

THE DIAMOND—emblem of innocence—is the birthstone for April, and the wording of the old lines—
She who from April dates her years,
Diamonds should wear, lest bitter tears
For vain repentance flow; this stone,
Emblem of innocence is known—quaintly expresses the popular belief in the happiness and good-luck that follow the wearing of this birthstone.
Set in a Ring—alone or in combination with other gems—the diamond lends itself with charming effect to dainty designs in distinctly personal Jewellery. For bride, mother, sister, friend, or as a token of regard upon the one day in the year that is all her own—the diamond is pre-eminently appropriate in April.
YOU MAY PAY AS LOW AS $10.00—AS HIGH AS $100.00.

Newfoundland Disasters Enquiry.

Don't know why she blew the whistle afterwards. I heard no talk about searching for the Newfoundland's crew nor on Wednesday; heard of no message being received from the Florizel on Wednesday; did not hear of any. There is nothing that I can say except I believe Capt. Kean did his best.

GARLAND GAULTON.—I belong to Brookfield; was master watch on the Stephano. On March 31st I was out panning seals; my watch went N.W. The snow began about 12; before it was just pecking, and we thought it would turn to rain. The Florizel came along, and the Capt. told us to get aboard. We reached our ship about 2 after that we were picking up pans in a line to the S. E. The whistle was blowing and was blowing until 5 o'clock when I turned in. Usually in stormy weather the whistle is blown in case men might be about. I know of no special reason that day. We heard on the Florizel that the Newfoundland's crew were aboard our ship. We imagined our Capt. was blowing the whistle in case the Newfoundland's crew might be around Wednesday was very stormy; did not do much, but picked up a few pans. It was impossible to do much.

To Dr. Lloyd.—The sun rose bright on March 31st, and it was warm. I saw no sun hounds, although I one else that did. The Stephano was steaming until 5 o'clock; don't know how long after. The ice was not so slack, but we could get about on it. In the direction we were steaming. So far as I know the ship had no difficulty in getting along. When I came up at 11 p.m. the ship was burned down. On Wednesday she steamed from 11 to 2, but did not go far as it was impossible owing to storm and heavy ice. I heard nothing on board about the Marconi on Wednesday, nor about the Newfoundland's crew among our men.

To the Judge.—When I got on board the Stephano on Tuesday I went to the bridge and spoke to Capt. Kean. He asked how we did with seals and I told him. I told him I heard the Newfoundland's crew were aboard our ship while we were gone; he said yes they were aboard. I asked him if he thought they got to their own ship; he said yes, most decidedly. I then came down and went about my work. I said nothing to the captain about not looking for the men, it was not my place. I said nothing to the captain about what the men were saying about not looking for them. One man, Mark Sheppard, asked me to go to the Capt. to hear from him if the Newfoundland's men were aboard; that's all he said to me. He was the only man who spoke to me. I did not tell the captain he had spoken to me. That was all I had to do with the captain. Next day Sheppard came to me and asked me if I had spoken to the captain about the men and I said yes. It was at my own volition that I asked the captain about the Newfoundland's crew, and not because Mark Sheppard asked me.

To Dr. Lloyd.—I had not heard any of our crew talking about the Newfoundland's men. I only went to the captain in the usual way. I did not go to specially ask about the Newfoundland's men, nor did I ask it at Mark Sheppard's request. I mentioned the matter to the captain first, because it was running through my mind. I was not anxious about the Newfoundland's crew myself then. I did not report to the captain our men were furious or uneasy about the Newfoundland's men. I did not know whether they were furious or not. I was not mixed amongst the men, and don't know what they were saying. I don't know that any men were criticizing the captain. I think I would have heard the men, if they had been furious, grumbling or expressing uneasiness about the captain's conduct in taking the ship along that evening. The captain did not tell me when I drew his attention to the Newfoundland's men, that he was slowly steaming on the chance that they might be coming towards him. I overheard the captain on the bridge say he would keep the whistle blowing in case the Newfoundland's crew might come towards them.

To the Judge.—I heard nothing from any of the men on Wednesday about the Newfoundland's men, except Sheppard.

AMBROSE CONWAY (sworn) examined by Huthings, K.C.—I was one of the Stephano's crew this spring. I belong to St. Bridget's. On March 31st we were put out early to kill seals by the side of the ship. It was fine. We killed till about 10 a.m. when we started to walk N.W. until about 11.30. There was no snow at 11. We turned back about 1.35, the ice being bad. Our centre flag lay about S.E. We got aboard about 2 o'clock. The snow commenced shortly after we started to come back. Could not see our steamer when she blew her first or second whistle, but heard the third; the interval between blasts would be about 5 minutes. When we went aboard the captain came down and asked how we did. Our ice master answered him, and I went below. I heard the whistle blow after I went below, but I went to sleep after I got my aug-up and don't know how long it continued. I did not hear about the Newfoundland's crew being on board until after 9 o'clock that night. I heard they had been aboard us, except the captain and firemen. I did not go on deck that night, and heard nothing further about them that night. I never heard anyone say anything against our captain about the Newfoundland's crew or mention anything connected with it, either when I got on board or afterwards. Don't know whether my watch came on from 8 to 11 or from 11 to 2 on Wednesday. I don't remember whether she steamed anything that morning.

To Dr. Lloyd.—I turned in about 3 and slept till 9 and again all night. I could not know what the men were saying on Tuesday. I know Mark Sheppard. On Wednesday I was about amongst the men, but did not hear any one criticizing the captain about the Newfoundland's crew.

To the Judge.—I did not hear anybody at all saying anything about the Newfoundland's crew on Wednesday.

The hearing was adjourned at 7.30 p.m. until 10.30 this morning.

BASEBALL.

The baseball team, comprising ex-pupils of the city colleges, met at the Board of Trade-rooms last night. A report from the committee was submitted, showing that all the necessary arrangements had been made for the coming season; a field had been secured for practice, and that no difficulties would be encountered from financial quarters. On next Tuesday night the officers of the club will be elected.

Obituary.

PATRICK McCAFFREY.
Patrick McCaffrey, of the tanning firm of McCaffrey and Johnston, at Rennie River, passed away yesterday at 4 o'clock of heart trouble, after an illness of nearly three months, at the age of 62 years, leaving a wife and three daughters to mourn their sad loss. He was an affectionate father and a kind husband and was liked by all with whom he came in contact. Mr. McCaffrey came to this country from Nova Scotia in the year 1882 and was engaged in the leather business up till the time of his illness. He was a good and upright citizen, and his large circle of friends will learn with regret of his death.

JAMES G. DWYER.
There passed away at 10 o'clock last night a well known citizen in the person of Mr. James Dwyer, an employee of the Reid Mill Company.
The deceased was 44 years old and had been ailing for some time past, but not seriously till about three weeks ago when he became very weak, and his friends could see the end was fast approaching.

Mr. Dwyer was one of the most popular of the Reid Company's staff, being for the past four years employed at the carpenters' shop where he won the esteem of his fellow workmen, and his employers alike. He was also prominent in Orange circles, being a member of the Grand Lodge, and a Past Master of Leeming Lodge. He was also a member of Avalon Lodge A. F. and A. M. To his two sons and daughter who survive him the Telegram extends sincere sympathy.

The One to Own if You Can Own But One.

That is what a critical user of a "Globe-Wernicke" cabinet says of his equipment. Another says "It leaves nothing to be desired." Another says "So complete yet so concise." Another "Perfection as a filing arrangement." Another "It is really indispensable." Another "A surprising advance in handling records." Another "A welcome improvement in office conditions"—and so on. The extensive sale of "Globe" filing cabinets in St. John's is by no means so remarkable as the abundant evidence that it is on merit alone that these devices have earned such generous appreciation. For certain when you become a user you will be well contented with your adaptable and reliable outfit. Mr. Percie Johnson has your catalogue ready for the asking as well as other necessary details.

New Hospital Ship.

A Canadian exchange says that the new hospital ship, St. Jehanne built for the Society of Works of the Sea, in the dock yards at Brittany, has been launched at Nantes. The vessel was christened by her future captain, Albe LeCroux. The Jehanne will proceed about the 1st prox. to the Grand Banks where she will operate for the year replacing the hospital ship, St. Francois d'Assisi. The latter ship is well known in Newfoundland waters as the mission ship to the Brittany fishers, and was in St. John's several times last year.

Whaling Company Will Likely se.

Many of the shareholders of the Harbour Grace Whaling Company, which has not paid a dividend since its inception, have signified their desire to discontinue operations. The catch last year was a fair one, but not sufficient to meet all the expenses incurred, and it is not yet decided whether the factory will operate the coming season or not.

LONDON, April 15.
With the resumption of Parliament after the Easter recess there is renewed hope that the Home Rule problem will be settled by agreement. The Government's decision to postpone the introduction of the Budget for a week is attributed to a desire to provide a period in which stock may be taken of the Irish question. It is understood that Premier Asquith intends to invite the Unionist leaders to join in a renewal of discussion with a view to a compromise.

She Has the Best of Reasons.

WHY THIS MANITOBA LADY RECOMMENDS DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS.

Mrs. Bourbonniere had many troubles, all of which were caused by Sick Kidneys, and She Found a Simple and Complete Cure.

St. Rose du Lac, Man., April 15.—(Special).—Mrs. D. J. Bourbonniere, an estimable lady of this place, is losing no opportunity to praise Dodd's Kidney Pills to her friends. And she has a reason. Here it is in her own words.

"I suffered very much from my Kidneys," Mrs. Bourbonniere says. "I was tired and nervous, my appetite was uncertain and my memory was failing. I had heart flutterings, my back was sore and I was troubled with headaches. Rheumatism was finally added to my sufferings and I was in a bad way indeed.

"I tried one medicine, but it did me no good, and then I was advised to try Dodd's Kidney Pills. I am very glad that I did, for now after taking four boxes I am a well woman again."

Dodd's Kidney Pills cured Mrs. Bourbonniere because all her troubles came from sick Kidneys. Sick Kidneys cannot do their work of straining the impurities out of the blood, and the result is sickness, depression and lassitude all over the body. Dodd's Kidney Pills cured the Kidneys: the purified blood did the rest.

While the Atlantic fleet headed for Tampico, to-day, President Wilson took into his confidence, the Republican and Democratic committees in charge of Foreign Affairs. The President and Cabinet believe that Huertli will yield, and that the situation will not become acute.

LONDON, April 15.
The next parliamentary battle will be fought over the budget. Mr. Asquith announced this afternoon that the budget would be considered the week after next. When the contents of the Budget under consideration by the Cabinet was reported, there was a great deal of discussion among the members, and there is every likelihood that the debate will be spirited to the point of bitterness.

HAVANA, April 15.
The second victim of the bubonic plague died to-day. By to-morrow morning nearly 18,000 persons must abandon seventeen blocks, which were closed last night, by the sanitary authorities. Two companies of soldiers have formed a cordon in this section, in order to prevent the people from returning to their homes. One new case developed to-day, and two suspicious cases were transferred to hospital.

MEXICO CITY, April 15.
President Huerta believes that the difficulties of the Nation are approaching a solution by which all elements will be united. It has been said that the only event that would unite the contending parties, would be war with the United States. In the event of intervention in Mexico by the States, the Constitutionalist forces will not enter into coalition with the present federal government, but will make armed resistance against American invasion of the territory which they now control. No overtures will be received from Huerta. Regardless of any action by the States, the constitutionalist will attack the federals wherever they find them.

This in brief is Carranza's programme. It has been agreed to by General Villa.
