CHAPTER XXV.

Maida laughed, but the laugh was arrested by a slight attack of coughing. Carrie glanced at Lady Glassbury meaningly, and her ladyship stirred the fire and drew Maida's cloak round her.

"I know what will happen," she said, decisively. "You'll be ill, and then where will you be?"

"In bed," replied Carrie for her, promptly. "And that is where she ought to be now. Let us go, Lady Glassbury; you might as well talk to that china image on the mantel-shelf as talk to Maida when she has made up what she calls her mind."

Maida rose, smiling sadly and pleadingly.

"I have written a violent letter to Byrne," said Lady Glassbury, "and I am going to write to him again more violently. I wish I were a man, so that I could use the language I want to use."

"You might get Lord Glassbury to enclose a slip of paper," said Carrie. "Will you not send a message to him, Maida?"

"Yes! why should I not?" said Maida, with a spot of color in her cheek. "Tell him, Lady Glassbury, that I am glad he has gone abroad; and that I hope he will stay away a long time."

"I shall give him no such message," responded Lady Glassbury, warmly. "Though it would serve you right if I did. Oh, Maida, don't you realize how madly he loves you, how much harm your coldness is doing him?"

The dash of color left Maida's face and she laid a quivering hand on Lady Glassbury's arm, the grey eyes growing violet with the intensity of her emotion and her effort to suppress it.

"Do you think I am so cold?" she said, in a low voice. "Ah, but you don't know, you don't know! I am trying to do the right thing and you must help me, and not make it harder for me. That is why—why—I keep away from you. I am trying to forget; and how can I help remembering when I see you, when I have to fight, not only myself, my own heart, but you."

Lady Glassbury's eyes filled with tears; but what could she say? At such moments as this her love for the girl was almost swallowed up in admiration for her staunchness. As they were going down the stairs, she held Carrie back, and whispered:

"You must take care of her, Carrie. I—I don't like the look of her."

"Oh, I'll take care of her," said Carrie. "I'd let you know how she is, but she has made me promise not to write to you, to anyone; and I've been trying all my life to break my promises to Maida, but have never yet succeeded."

Maida seemed very tired that night when they got home; but when she got to bed she could not sleep. Though she could not see him, she thought that Byrne had been near her and wanted to see her had been very sweet to her and almost a consolation; but now he had gone far away, and his disappearance brought home to her more keenly than ever the fact that she had lost him. She woke in the morning, after a short sleep only, hot and feverish, and her cough was worse. Carrie nursed her up during the day, as much as Maida would permit, for Maida had to recite that night at the house of an African millionaire.

The excitement, which is part and parcel of the stock in trade of the genuine artiste, carried her through her performance; but she had to rest a while in one of the gorgeous ante-rooms after she had finished; and while she was leaning back in a comfortable lounge, the hostess came to her with kindly concern. She was accompanied by a middle-aged lady, very much overdressed and all aglitter with diamonds and everybody's grotesquely on her fat arms and above her red, good-natured face. It was Mrs. Broseley, the wife of a man who had gone out to Australia with the proverbial half a crown and had made a million or so. Maida had recited at Mrs. Broseley's palatial house, and the good-natured woman had taken a great fancy to the beautiful girl who had made the success of one of the most crowded of Mrs. Broseley's At Homes.

"My dear, you ought never to have been here!" she said, plunging down beside Maida and taking the slim, white hands between her two red, fat ones. "If you was my gal, I'd have had you in bed an' kept you there, if I'd had to 'old you down. Why, what's your mother about?"

"I haven't any mother," said Maida. "I'm her mother," said Carrie; "but she's a disobedient, wilful daughter."

Mrs. Broseley nodded and smiled at Carrie comprehendingly.

"Oh, that's it!" she said. "Well, I can sympathise with you. I know the sort of gal she is. I had one like her; but she's dead. Now, my dear," turning to Maida with a good-natured smile which stretched her mouth from ear to ear. "You just let your little mother take you home and put you to bed. Don't you dream of going on with this reciting of yours till you've got rid of your cough and got some more flesh on your bones."

"But I am going to you the day after to-morrow, Mrs. Broseley," said Maida.

"Then you won't!" said Mrs. Broseley, emphatically. "Oh, I know they will be all expecting you, an' there will be a rare how-de-do when you don't show up; but you're not to come. You shall come when you're better. Now, I'm goin' to send you home in my kerridge. Oh, I know you can ride a cab; but you're not goin' to ride through the night air. An' that cloak is not thick enough. Here!" she called to a footman, and told him to bring her own fur wrap, and, with her own hands, notwithstanding Maida's protest, she wrapped it round the slight figure.

Maida tried to smile as she expressed her thanks, but she could scarcely speak, for she had lost her voice with the recitation; but the tears in her eyes spoke for her.

"She's a beautiful creature, my dear lady," he said; "and I'm not at all surprised at your being interested in her. Gad, I tell in love with her myself: did so the first time I heard her recite. Most romantic history: given up a fortune for an idea, hasn't she? Well, I admire her for it. Gad, most people give up their ideas for a fortune!"

"That's meant for Broseley," said the outspoken lady, with a good-natured laugh. "Is she very ill?"

"Yes, she is very ill," said Sir Jeremiah, with sudden seriousness. "And she's going to be worse, if she doesn't take care. She has run down very low, very low, indeed. Consumption is waiting round the corner, and only wants beckoning to come in. If she doesn't beckon him, she does nothing to keep him off. Between you and me, I don't think she cares very much whether he stalks in or doesn't. A great pity, for she's a lovely creature, and as sweet as she is lovely."

Mrs. Broseley's face fell.

"I had a daughter like her—I've took to the gal. Can nothin' be done?"

"Yes; two things," replied Sir Jeremiah. "You could remove the cause of the trouble, ease her mind, and restore her to happiness, or take her abroad—to Australia, for instance."

Mrs. Broseley uttered an exclamation.

"To Australia! Why, what an odd thing you should say that! I'm goin' back to our station at the end of the month, to join Broseley. I could take her with me. I should love it."

"I knew you were going, my dear lady," said Sir Jeremiah, blandly, "and, being aware of your benevolence and good-nature, I knew that you would take her with you. Take her, by all means—by force, if necessary—for I tell you plainly it's her only chance. Good heavens! is that the right time? I've lost a whole morning!"

Mrs. Wynn Tells How Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound Helped Her During Change of Life.

Richmond, Va.—"After taking seven bottles of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound I feel like a new woman. I always had a headache during the Change of Life and was also troubled with other bad feelings common at that time—dizzy spells, nervous feelings and heat flashes. Now I am in better health than I ever was and recommend your remedies to all my friends."—Mrs. LENA WYNN, 2812 E. O Street, Richmond, Va.

While Change of Life is a most critical period of a woman's existence, the annoying symptoms which accompany it may be controlled, and normal health restored by the timely use of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

Such warning symptoms are a sense of suffocation, hot flashes, headaches, backaches, dread of impending evil, timidity, sounds in the ears, palpitation of the heart, sparks before the eyes, irregularities, constipation, variable appetite, weakness and inquietude, and dizziness.

For these abnormal conditions do not fail to take Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound.

of nipping them in the bud, so to speak. I'll just try your chest; thank you! Ye-es. Now, you'll remain in bed, at any rate, until I come to-morrow. That's a good girl! Always do as I tell you and you'll live to be ninety-five. Have you read Browne's last book? Awfully amusing. I'll send it to you instead of medicine; nasty thing, medicine—never take it myself: seldom prescribe it. Port wine is what you want; but the worst of it is you can't buy it: all the good wine is mopped up by dukes and lord mayors. I've got some: left me by the Duke of Omnium: I'll send you some. And mind she drinks it!" he said to Carrie, turning upon her suddenly.

Busy as he was, the great man drove back to Mrs. Broseley's.

"She's a beautiful creature, my dear lady," he said; "and I'm not at all surprised at your being interested in her. Gad, I tell in love with her myself: did so the first time I heard her recite. Most romantic history: given up a fortune for an idea, hasn't she? Well, I admire her for it. Gad, most people give up their ideas for a fortune!"

Second Reading

FOR THE CONTROL OF THE NECESSARIES OF LIFE.

"The man who takes advantage of the war is really worse than the man," said Premier Morris, during criticism of the food prices in the country on Saturday last when the House of Assembly facilitated the despatch of the Attorney General's amendment to the Shipbuilding Act. The amendment of the Upper House to the Bill respecting the Export of Timber was read a first time. The second readings of the Bill relating to Military Pensions and the Department of Militia were delayed. The Woolen and Knitting Contract Bills received their second reading.

The Premier then moved the reading of the Bill to control the necessities of life. The Bill was with appended. The Premier stated that the main principle of the Bill to control, if possible, the prices of foodstuffs, including coal, salt and commodities, in addition to those which would meet with the general approval of the people of this country, was that there was a very widespread feeling to-day that prices had been inflated that were far in excess of what ought to be charged, having regard to a fair and legitimate profit. Being he made a severe indictment of our food profiteers and unscrupulous monopolists, pointing out that it was inconceivable how anyone, such as a British subject and a member of the British Empire should trade in the necessities of life for the profit of an individual who was worse than a man because the latter, he said, would not openly to fight and could be with, whereas the trader would wear a cloak to carry on his extortionate, fair-minded person, he said, of these interim reports of the Board, pointed by the Governor in the Bill, could not fail to see that the Board's profits have been going to the Board to be applied to the control and fix the prices of the necessities of life would be controlled and sufficiently strong and able to do what is necessary in the interests of the country. He said that the Board will have no difficulties to encounter because of this country.

The Minister of Public Works made an attempt to congratulate Premier. In one breath he said that high time that such a Board of control was appointed and in the next breath he said that the Government was glad that the Government had taken the matter up at the possible moment.

A BILL
An Act Respecting the Control of Trading in Necessaries of Life.

Be it enacted by the Governor in Council, in and with the advice and consent of the Legislative Council and House of Assembly, in Legislative Session convened, as follows:

1. The Governor in Council may appoint a Board, to be known as the Food Control Board, consisting of three persons, two of whom shall be a quorum. Such Food Control Board shall be appointed by the Governor in Council.

2. It shall be within the power of the Board to make such inquiry as it may think fit to make for the purpose of ascertaining the quantity, quality, ownership and supply of necessities of life.

Second Reading of Bill

FOR THE CONTROL OF TRADING IN THE NECESSARIES OF LIFE.

"The man who takes advantage of the war is really worse than a German," said Premier Morris in a scathing criticism of the food profiteers of the country on Saturday afternoon last when the House of Assembly met to facilitate the despatch of business. The Attorney General gave notice that he would introduce a Bill to amend the Shipbuilding Act.

The amendment of the Upper House to the Bill respecting the Exportation of Timber was read a first time. The second reading of the Bill relating to Military Pensions and a Department of Militia were deferred. The Woolen and Knitting Mills Contract Bills received their second reading.

The Premier then moved the second reading of the Bill to control the necessities of life. The Bill is herewith appended. The Premier stated that the main principle of the Bill was to control, if possible, the prices that are being charged on the necessities of life, including coal, salt and other commodities, in addition to foodstuffs. He had no doubt that this measure would meet with the general approval of the people of this country and said that there was a very widespread feeling to-day that prices had been obtained that were far in excess of what ought to be charged, having regard to a fair and legitimate profit. Continuing he made a severe indictment of our food profiteers and unscrupulous monopolists, pointing out that it was inconceivable how anyone, especially a British subject and a member of the British Empire should trade on the misfortunes of his fellowman. Such an individual was worse than a German because the latter, he said, came out openly to fight and could be dealt with, whereas the trader was under a cloak to carry on his extortion. Any fair-minded person, he said, reading these interim reports of the Board appointed by the Governor in Council recently cannot fail to see that exorbitant profits have been going on. He hoped the Board to be appointed to control and fix the prices on the necessities of life would be competent and sufficiently strong and not hesitate to do what is necessary in the interests of the country. He admitted that the Board will have many difficulties to encounter because of trade in this country.

The Minister of Public Works then made an attempt to congratulate the Premier. In one breath he said it was high time that such a Board of control was appointed and in the next said he was glad that the Government had taken the matter up at the earliest possible moment.

Following is the full text of the Act:

A BILL
An Act Respecting The Control of Trading in Necessaries of Life.

Enacted by the Governor, the Legislative Council and House of Assembly, in Legislative Session convened, as follows:

1. The Governor in Council may appoint a Board, to be known as the Food Control Board consisting of three persons, two of whom shall be a quorum. Such Food Control Board is hereinafter called the Board.

2. It shall be within the power and it shall be the duty of the Board—

(a) to make such inquiry and investigation as it deems expedient for the purposes hereinafter set forth into the quantities, location, ownership and sources of supply of necessities of life as hereinafter defined, used by the people of Newfoundland, and into the prices at which the same are sold or held for sale and the causes of such prices;

(b) to ascertain the requirements of the people of Newfoundland with regard to such necessities of life, and to facilitate the export to Great Britain and her Allies of any surplus of such necessities produced or held in this Colony;

(c) to render such assistance as it may find possible and desirable in securing the production or importation in to the Colony of such necessities, and to assist in or assume control of the equitable distribution of necessities of life within the Colony and facilitate the transportation thereof, and to prevent, locally or generally, scarcity, monopolization, hoarding, injurious speculation, and other causes interfering with such supply, distribution, and transportation;

(d) to co-operate, if found necessary or desirable for any of the purposes aforesaid, with any Department or officer of the Dominion of Canada or of the Government of Great Britain or of any Allied country vested with similar powers.

3. It shall also be within the power and shall be the duty of the Board to make such regulations, subject to the approval of the Governor in Council, as it may find necessary or desirable for effecting the aforesaid purposes, and in particular, subject to such approval—

(a) governing the prices of any necessary of life and the storage, distribution, sale and delivery thereof;

(b) providing for the conservation of such necessities and the prevention of waste thereof, and governing the consumption thereof in hotels, restaurants, factories, clubs, private houses and other places;

(c) respecting the production, manufacture, preparation, storage and transportation of necessities of life;

(d) authorizing the Board to purchase, requisition, store, sell and to take possession of any supplies of such necessities unreasonably withheld from market;

(e) requiring importers of such necessities to furnish to the Board certified copies of their invoices, and authorizing the Board to publish statements of the quantities of such necessities from time to time produced in, imported into, sold or held in the Colony, and of the prices thereof;

(f) providing penalties for the breach of such regulations.

4. The Board shall have all the powers of Commissioners appointed under Chapter thirty of the Consolidated Statutes of Newfoundland (Second Series).

5. In this Act "necessaries of life" shall mean articles used by man for food or drink, food for domestic animals, footwear, clothing, coal and other fuel, and kerosene oil.

6. This Act shall have effect until six months after the date when His Majesty shall cause to be issued a proclamation or proclamations declaring that a state of war no longer exists between His Majesty and the countries with which hostilities are at present pending.

7. This Act may be cited as the Food Control Act, 1917.

The Premier then moved the second reading of the Bill for extending the life of Parliament until such date in 1918 as shall hereafter be fixed by the Governor in Council.

Departmental Heads can hold their seats, without by-election, until the end of the present year, according to the Bill.

The House adjourned till this afternoon.

Schooner Lost; Crew Safe.

The Deputy Minister of Customs, Mr. H. W. LeMessurier, C.M.G., received the following message from the Sub-Collector at St. Mary's yesterday: "Schr. R. J. Owens, Connoily, master, owned by Ryan Bros., bound from Sydney to Trinity, lost and broken up at Shag Rocks, two miles from Peter's River. Captain and crew landed here by Deloroy's schooner. Crew had narrow escape."

Joint Sunday School Service.

Yesterday afternoon at 3.15 the Sunday School teachers and pupils of the Church of England attended Divine Service at the Cathedral, over 800 being present. The Administrator, Rev. Canon Smith, officiated, assisted by Revs. Canon White, Canon Field, Rev. J. Brinton, Capt. (Rev.) Clayton and Rev. H. L. Pike. Captain Clayton, who was the preacher on the occasion, delivered an inspiring and very impressive address, the memory of which will be cherished by many of the little ones present during the years to come. A special form of prayer and hymns were chosen and the singing of the latter by the large gathering of little voices was beautiful to hear. At the close of the service the Administrator pronounced the Benediction.

Highlanders in Camp.

Quite a large number of relatives and friends of the lads of the Newfoundland Highlanders visited Mount Pearl yesterday afternoon and spent an enjoyable evening. Included in the number was the Rev. Gordon Dickie, M.A., Pastor of St. Andrew's Church, who officiated at a special service and also delivered an impressive and eloquent address which was received by the lads with deep attention. A number of the St. Andrew's congregation who reside in the vicinity of Mount Pearl, attended the service. On Wednesday the congregation of the Kirk are being invited to spend the day with the lads. On Friday night a concert will be given, when several of our talented concert artists will assist on the programme. It is expected the Brigade will break camp on Tuesday, July 31st.

To Camp at Topsail.

The pioneer squad of the C. L. B. Camp under Sergt-Cook Roberts and Corp-Cook Budge left by to-day's express for Topsail to prepare the kitchen, mess and store rooms. All the lads are instructed to have their kit bags packed and at the Armory tonight (Monday) to go to Topsail by transport Tuesday and not on Tuesday night.

Major Goodridge will be in charge. Sergt-Major Reeves will take charge of the Red Cross tent and ambulance corps.

Board of Trade Report

The following fishery report was received at the Board of Trade on Saturday:

From T. Soper (Channel to Port aux Basques)—The catch for last week was 280 qtls. Thirty dorries and skiffs and 3 boats are fishing. The flats and dorries are doing very well, and on the whole fair work is being done by all. Prospects are very good and there is a fine supply of bait.

From W. Paul (Corbin to Fox Cove)—There is plenty of caplin and a few squid and prospects are very good. The total catch is 33,900 qtls. and for last week 6,500, sixty-seven traps having 3,000; forty boats 2,000, and 70 dorries and skiffs, 1,500 qtls.

From J. E. Long (Jean de Bay to Beans Boils)—The catch to date is 8,950 qtls. and for last week 3,650. Twenty-one traps, 10 dorries and skiffs and 43 boats are fishing. The traps in this vicinity average about 150 qtls. and all the boats are doing well. There is plenty squid and prospects are very good. Bankers arriving here report cod scarce on the Grand Banks.

PATRIOTIC CRICKET.—We understand that some of our old-time cricketers are now arranging a match to be played shortly on St. George's Field for patriotic purposes. The teams will comprise many winners of the willow who are up in the fifties. The project is one that is sure to meet with popular approval and we wish it abundant success.

Newfoundlanders Killed With Canadians.

PTE. GUN MEEHAN.

Official notification was had yesterday from Ottawa by Mr. Charles E. Meehan, Monkstown Road, informing him that his son, Private Augustine J. Meehan, had been killed in action in France on April 9th. Deceased enlisted at Edmonton over two years and a half ago with the Canadian Expeditionary Force and was attached to the machine gun section of the 51st battalion. Judging from the date given of his death he took part in the battle of Arras and the capture of Vimy Ridge. Pte. Gus Meehan was an ex-pupil of St. Bonaventure's College and was well known and liked in the city, where he took a prominent part in athletics. His brother Hubert sacrificed his life for King and Country last year with the Canadians. To the bereaved parents and family general and sincere sympathy will be extended in which the Telegram joins.

WALTER GUY.

Walter Guy was killed in action on the 11th instant, a cable having just been received to that effect by Mr. William Guy of Carbonar. Deceased was a probationer in the Methodist ministry here before leaving for the Canadian North West a few years ago,

Reservist Killed.

H. M. S. "Briton", at St. John's, N.F., 22nd July, 1917.

Editor Evening Telegram.

Sir,—I regret to inform you that the Admiralty has reported that William Freaque, seaman of the Newfoundland Royal Naval Reserve, 2219 X, lost his life on the 29th July, 1917, through the explosion of a mine. The next of kin is his mother, Mrs. Sarah A. Freaque, of Joe Batt's Arm, Foggo.

Yours truly,
A. MacDERMOTT,
Commander.

Pte. J. C. Pilot, reported killed in action, was a stepson of Maurice Cullen, R.C.A., the well-known artist. He was the son of the late Mr. E. W. Pilot of the Colonial Secretary's Dept., St. John's, and grandson of the late Canon Pilot, for thirty years the Chairman of the Board of Education for Newfoundland. When war was declared three of the Pilot brothers enlisted for service at the front, and one was wounded some time ago. Miss Pilot sister of the dead soldier, is employed at Militia Headquarters.—Montreal Star.

Evening Telegram. W. J. HERDER, Proprietor. H. A. WINTER, B.A., Editor. MONDAY, July 23, 1917. The Prohibition Act.

Let there should strangely remain some among our legislators who agree with the view which the News takes of this matter and the absurdity we have pointed out to be permitted to go uncorrected, we feel compelled to add another word to the controversy, trusting it will be the last. We would have agreed with that paper that it should require neither a legal mind nor legal training to understand the meaning of plain English if it had not itself provided the strongest proof of the contrary. We invite the News to focus all its attention, not on the phrase concerning which it says so much, but on the preceding one, "Or spirituous liquors containing two per cent. or upward of alcohol by volume."

Lay In Coal. We draw our readers' careful attention to the fact that the Tonnage Committee which urges the wisdom of laying in the winter's supply of soft coal now. The reason given is that the tonnage that is available now will be lacking later, so that the necessary stocks will have to be imported with all speed. If this is so, all who can will do well to follow the advice, since they will both ensure their own supply and relieve the dealers from congestion. For my money, however, it is a counsel of perfection, and if the poorer classes in the community are to escape great want of fuel in the coming winter, we think some effort should be made to increase their purchasing capacity to meet the sudden demand upon it. Some suitable credit or easy purchasing system should be devised for them. But whatever else is done, it is to be hoped that the tonnage will be used to the utmost as long as it is available, so that every possible ton of coal will find its way into the country. The excuse that there is no storage room for it is a poor answer to the seriousness of the demand; if there is not room it ought to be made. In this dealer and consumer must co-operate to the full, the consumer to lighten the dealer's task by placing the largest orders he can at once and the dealer to bring in the fullest supply he can obtain. If necessary, both should be able to invoke Government aid.

Accident at Saw Mill. Mr. Richard Mealey, of Colinet, St. Mary's Bay, met with a serious accident to his hand a few days ago while working at Simmons' saw mill. The accident occurred while he was in the act of feeding a large circular saw and it is only by good luck that his hand was not severed from his arm. Mr. Mealey suffered much pain and loss of blood while he was in the train which he joined Saturday night. On reaching the city he was conveyed to the hospital in a cab by Mr. E.H. Whiteway.

The Anglican Teachers Meet. Yesterday morning at 10 o'clock a goodly number of the Anglican teachers who are attending the Summer School met Dr. Blackall in the Synod Building to consider with him the question of religious instruction in the day school. The particular problem considered was the arrangement of the work in the sole-charge or one-teacher school. It was agreed that the best method would be to divide the whole school into two groups—an upper and a lower—for the purpose of religious instruction and to arrange a lesson with the teacher and a lesson without the teacher for each group on alternate days for Monday, Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday of each week. It was thought that on Fridays the whole school could and with advantage be taken together and that the teacher could give a talk or conduct a catechism on some point of common interest to the school in relation to the religious or moral life—the point possibly being suggested during the week in connection with the school life. Dr. Blackall dealt particularly with the importance and the difficulty of conducting the lessons for the little ones and gave a practical illustration by conducting—as for a class of little ones—the lesson prescribed in the scheme for religious instruction in Church of England schools for the first week in September.

Mysterious Drowning at Quidi Vidl. WITNESSED BY VISITORS TO THE LAKE. Under mysterious circumstances a young man named George Wm. Holland, aged 30 years, met death by drowning at Quidi Vidl Lake on Saturday night. The unfortunate man, who resided with his father at 55 Cabot Street, was seen to approach the south side of the lake just west of the C. L. B. boat house by three men, Messrs. Vavasour, Raynes and Earles, who were sitting down on the bank at the head of the Lake. Immediately on reaching the waters edge the stranger was seen to remove part of his clothing and made out in the water to his waist. He was next seen to return to the land, remove the balance of his clothes and rush out into the water and disappear. The three witnesses of the sad affair hurried to the scene, shouting in the meantime that a man was drowning at the place described. The shouts of the men were heard by Sergt. Mackay, who was rowing up the Lake in a small boat, and also by Mr. E. Brophy, watchman at the Government oil store. Reaching the scene the men proceeded to search for the body but owing to darkness having set in the search had to be discontinued till daylight yesterday morning. At daybreak the police were at the scene, assisted by a number of citizens, and at 6.30 Michael Sheehan, Angus Goodland and W. Mills succeeded in bringing the body to the surface. Previous to this an addressed letter found on the clothing of the drowned man was the means of locating his relatives, his father and sister, who identified the body at the morgue shortly after it was taken from the water.

Personal. Doctor A. B. Lehr has received the pleasant information that his son Harry has passed the second year's examination at the Baltimore Dental College, obtaining the remarkable average of 95.9 marks. Mr. Lehr, in the 1916-17 term, came second in the class with an average of 95%. Next year we hope to have the pleasure of welcoming the young Doctor back to St. John's where he will practice his chosen profession.

Household Notes. All glass bottles in the house should be saved to hold preserves or dried foods. Outside leaves of lettuce can be cooked for greens. Bits of cold boiled ham may be utilized in potato salad. A breakfast room is always more pleasant if properly aired. Botted dressing for salad keeps longer than the other kinds. Stuffed eggs in nests of white lettuce make an attractive salad. Do not forget that pea pods have in them good material for soup. Ammonia is invaluable when cleaning paints that are greasy. The water, if poured from rice, can be used for a soup foundation. It is cheaper to buy a hind quarter of lamb than chops and roasts. Spaghetti and tomatoes cooked together make a cheap and filling dish. If the cake seems to boll over the pan there is too much baking powder used. When the hands are rough, rub vinegar into the skin and they will soften. If you wish to soften butter quickly, turn a thoroughly heated bowl over it. Ammonia will relieve the burn from iodine which has been put on too thickly. The rich spiced syrup left from pickled peaches may be used to baste a roast. All left-over cereal should be used, either in griddle cakes, muffins or soup. The one-egg cake will be delicious if a little sour cream is used with the mixture. All meat fat trimmings and grease drippings should be clarified and used. Save the water in which vegetables or rice are cooked for a soup foundation. Waxed paper drinking cups can be used in an emergency as little gelatin molds. It is said that moth balls put in the runs made by moles will drive them away. Oyster shells in the bottom of the tea-kettle will prevent a rusty crust from forming.

The Swedish Government has appropriated the growing cereals, legumes and sugar all stocks of these which hand in September from crops, with the exception quantities in private hands. FRENCH WHEAT. The crop report from the Journal Official indicates has been a great improvement wheat crop since June on June last. GERMEN WORKERS. A strike agitation has been reported from the workers in the Hamburg. They demand a 10 per cent. increase in wages and an increase in working hours. Women workers have mutuated their demands. It is necessary that the cost of production be reduced. Socialist agitators are busy.

AN ATLANTIC. The presence of a steamer believed to be a German steamer, the Spanish coast and the way across the Atlantic was reported by a British steamship which, on a day identified craft and a vessel described the steamer as being a German steamer. The steamer was supposed to be a German steamer.

TAKES OVER CEREALS. STOCKHOLM, To-Day. The Swedish Government has appropriated the growing crops of all cereals, legumes and sugar beets. It has also ordered the expropriation of all stocks of these which may be on hand in September from the 1918 crops, with the exception of limited quantities in private houses.

FRENCH WHEAT CROPS IMPROVED. PARIS, To-Day. The crop report published in the Journal Officiel to-day says there has been a great improvement in the wheat crop since last report, made on June last.

GERMAN WORKMEN ON STRIKE. COPENHAGEN, To-Day. A strike agitation has begun among the workmen in the shipbuilding industry, particularly the Metal workers at Hamburg. They demand the reduction of working hour to fifty-two weeks of working hour in wages of fifty per cent. Women workers also have formulated their demands. The movement is due largely to the increased cost of necessities but Radicals and Socialist agitators are playing a part.

SAT GERMAN RAIDER IN ATLANTIC. AN ATLANTIC PORT, To-Day. The presence of a strange vessel believed to be a German raider due from the Spanish coast and two-thirds of the way across the Atlantic from Europe was reported by a British freight steamer which escaped from the unidentified craft and arrived here yesterday. The officers of the British vessel described the stranger as a bark, rigged with four masts and a smoke stack rising between the main and mizen mast. He was steering north-west at 7 knots when sighted early on July 14th and bore down on the freighter. The latter outdistanced the supposed raider after a brief chase.

TROUBLE IN RUSSIAN SOUTH. PETROGRAD, To-Day. A despatch to the Bourze Gazette from Nijninogorod relates that on July 17 a regiment of troops ordered to be disbanded for insubordination, mutinied and took possession of the town. Cadets sent from Moscow to subdue them battled with revolvers, resulting in casualties to both sides and the surrender of the mutineers, who at last accounts were held prisoners. A party with the Commander of the Moscow garrison after order has been restored resulted in an agreement to surrender control.

RESTORING ORDER. PETROGRAD, To-Day. The disarming of workmen, including Socialist Red Guards, is proceeding systematically in the Vassiland and Viberg quarters. More than 1,200 rifles and revolvers and some machine guns have been recovered.

SUNDAY'S AIR RAID. LONDON, To-Day. Sunday's daylight air raid over the East coast of England lasted barely two hours. The morning broke bright and sunny but a thick haze soon appeared. At about 8 o'clock the enemy machines were heard and were seen flying high and fast toward the coast. They received a hot reception from the improved defences in the shape of anti-aircraft gunfire and were hardly well over the coast before their formation was broken up. They dropped bombs hastily before retreating. Observers say that the gunfire which followed the section which went down the Essex coast reached a pitch of unusual intensity. It was the movements of this squad which caused the firing for the first time of the new warning signals in London. British planes pursued the Germans well out to sea, fighting vigorously all the time, but handicapped by low visibility. The reports of heavy firing received from the quarters indicate that the authorities have made considerable improvement in the defences since the last raid over London. Thousands of persons turned out along the coast where the British planes went up. One German plane was shot down.

IMPORTANT BILL. LONDON, To-Day. The importance that the Government attaches to the debate on the Corn Production Bill, in which it is proposed to pay fixed prices to farmers for cereal crops for a number of years after the war, is shown in a statement by the Government which is being introduced, and a division on the minimum wage of 38.25 70.

week it is proposed to pay to farm laborers is declared vital, the supporters and opponents of the measure both profess to believe that the dangers will be averted.

WHY LYOFF RESIGNED. PETROGRAD, To-Day. An authorized statement announces that a partial solution of the ministerial crisis was reached at the Ministerial Council on Sunday morning. Prince Lvoff resigned as Premier because he was unable to agree with the decision of the Provisional Government immediately to realize the entire programme of the Socialist Party. He was opposed to an immediate proclamation of a Republic on the ground that it would be a usurpation of the supreme rights of the constitutional assembly. Moreover, he declared that he was unable to concur in the ruling of the Cabinet, that the policy of the entire Government must be bridged by the decision of all the all-Russia Congress of Workmen and Soldiers' Delegates.

The Newfoundland Magazine.

Under the above title a new periodical makes its modest bow to the local public. It is published by Mr. E. A. Smith, of the Telegraph staff, issues every second month and sells for fifteen cents a copy. The first number contains a most attractive forty-four pages of print and illustration. The two most pretentious articles are contributed by Mr. Henry LeMessurier and Rev. Canon Smith, while the hand of several other local writers of repute is discernible in the rest of the varied and well balanced contents. Appropriate to the season are a couple of very readable articles containing camping and out-door hints, which make it well worth the holiday-maker's while to bring the little volume along with him. If the succeeding numbers are as entertaining as the first, the "Nfld. Magazine" should find and retain a ready sale.

A Lost Trade Secret.

It has frequently happened that valuable trade secrets have been lost beyond recovery. For instance, the best watch oil, it appears, cannot be obtained to-day because the secret process of mixing it perished with the inventor. It is said the last quart of this famous fluid was sold for $200, and that was thirty-five years ago. Since then every effort has been made to analyze the product in an attempt to reproduce the oil, but without success. The man who made it and who alone knew its composition died, and it further appears, not even his name or the place of his burial is known. He never revealed to anyone the details of his process, and it was not until after his death that the real value of the oil was appreciated.

Publicity as to Food Prices.

The Times: What is needed is such an inquiry as will lay bare the truth to the public, with no concealment of names and of other details. If prices are being artificially inflated, the exposure would either kill the practice or enable the Government to mete out severe justice to the culprits. If they are not so inflated, then the proof should be visible to the public. It is most important that this question should be settled one way or the other, and that "profiteering" should either be stopped or the public should be convinced that high prices are not due to that cause. We believe that the extreme and growing indignation on the subject is due much less to the prices than to the belief of the public that they are being robbed and exploited by unscrupulous persons.

A German Boomerang.

Westminster Gazette.—We have seen by a recent example how strong and deep is the feeling among the seamen and firemen about the cruelties which are inflicted in the limited submarine warfare. Exactly the same feeling is being produced in the East End of London by the indiscriminate bomb-throwing upon the civilian population. And its results is, once again, not to raise a demand for stopping the war, as the Germans insanely suppose, but to make thousands of working people vow that they will never again handle German goods or have any dealings with the people whom they hold responsible for these outrages. On these lines the Germans may easily discover, when the war ends, that the whole transport and dockside labor of this country and other Allied countries is united in an absolute determination not to handle a German ship or unload a German cargo, and no pressure or persuasion is able to move them from this attitude. Whatever the issue of the war, a boycott of that kind would be a weapon against which force was no remedy.

Electricity for Chorus-Girls. Modern musical comedy makes big demands on the strength and energy of the chorus, and American theatrical managers, realizing this, are employing electricity to put new life and go into the girls, tired and worn by long performances, and still longer rehearsals. As soon as a musical number ends the girls rush into the room, tired and worn from their exertions. They arrange themselves about the battery and grasp the poles, tubes, and other sources of electrical current, while the operator pulls the switch. Gradually the tired lines disappear from the faces of the girls, and, after two minutes of the health-giving current, they scamper from the room imbued with new vigour and energy.—Pearsons' Weekly. Turkeys and Chicken at ELLIS'. C. S. S. PICNIC.—The Cathedral Sunday School are holding their annual picnic at Hater's Farm, on Wednesday this week. The Women's Home Missionary Association will serve teas to visitors at a reasonable charge.

A Tank Race.

Not many days ago the talk waxed loud and large in a certain mass not far behind the front line. Bets were scattered broadcast and boasts were made that demanded fulfillment.

Therefore a day was appointed for the test and a race course was laid out. It was really a race course, but it looked like the main street of Messina or the quay at Mont Pales after the earthquake or the eruption. If anyone had told you that it was a race course you would have told him to go and rest out of the sun, or to sit down in the mess until it got cooler and then go on-sick parade in the evening.

On the day of the contest three subalterns stood on chairs in the mess. Each had a haversack hung round his neck and a printed card in his hat. He cried his bets and adjured the others not to forget "the old firm" offering to 2 to 1 bar 1, 5 to 2 against Tosh, 3 to 1 Pish or Tosh. Bets were taken at all the odds, for the steeds were all dark horses and no one had ever seen them at their training gallops or put a stop-watch on them.

Then the officers trooped out of the mess and joined a cheerful crowd that wended its way towards the course. Squatting on the grass, on tiers of boxes, on "G.S." wagons, up trees, and on the roof of a barn, the spectators waited for the entry of the field. Presently from behind the farmhouse there came the sound of a dozen automatic traction engines rolling over a roadway made of loose iron plates—and four tanks rolled sluggishly into the course. One says "into" advisedly, for they descended slowly into a dip and rose again near the starting-post. They had no racing colors, but their names were chalked on them in large letters. There is no reason why the Germans should know their respective merits or their wondrous speeds, so we will give them the names mentioned above and call them Pish, Tosh, Tosh, and The Limit.

Slowly and with the dignity of a rajah's state elephant Pish does a preliminary up to the track and takes the first hurdle, a 6 ft. trench, with much abandon and whirring of engines. Loud cheers come from the spectators but the clerk of the course heads her back. When she comes to rest again he addresses a tousled head that pokes through the sponson, "You'll break up all the bally track if you do that," he says severely; "line up there and keep quiet."

A Breathless Pace.

They come painfully into line, and as Tosh veers and tries to butt Tosh, someone cries, "Dirty! dirty! Put him back a yard." At last the four tanks are aligned to the satisfaction of the starters and a revolver shot gives them the signal to start. The crowd cheers and waits expectantly until the caterpillar tractors pick up a grip of the ground and the contestants thunder off in line abreast. Pish gains a yard or two and takes the first trench with the dip and sway of a trawler riding into the valley of an ocean swell. She climbs again and makes for the mine crater ahead, and there her caterpillar bands slither aimlessly in a soft patch until they bite through to the hard earth beneath. Tosh, Tosh and The Limit gain here, with the latter leading by yards. The pace is breathless, fully five miles per hour, and it looks as if The Limit has the race in hand. There are frantic cheers from her backers, but, alas! she stops short with a bronchial wheeze or two and subsides at an unpleasant angle. A hot, perspiring face pokes out of a door, much like the head of a tortoise coming from under its shell. It is The Limit's jockey. "It's no good, you fellows," he says; "she's gone lame in her off fore cylinder." There are howls of mock rage and suggestions as to appeals to the stewards. "She was doped," says a major solemnly; "the stable had all their own money on Pish!"

In the meantime the other three have the field to themselves, and they are churning it up in waves of clayey earth. They stagger onwards until at last they reach the final obstacle, a banked-up ramp with a six-foot drop on the far side of it. Tosh gets there first, closely followed by Pish, but Tosh is sadly awry, and, as someone in the crowd says, it seems as if her driver had sliced. It is a neck-and-neck finish, and an apparition in scanty clothing dances excitedly on top of each of the finishers, yelling, exhorting, threatening, and shouting commands down through a companion-way. Tosh wins, but by three feet only of her ugly snout. There seems an uncanny calm as the engines stop and the tired men and hot fall out of the doors in the steel sides. "Phew!" gasps the winning jockey; "I could drink my bath. Take me to where there's one large drink for one hot man someone."

Later, over watery beer, with real ice in it, the four captains, or jockeys, discuss the race and make arrangements for another in the near future. A few francs change hands and four tired men go off to get an early nap.—Noel Ross in the Daily Mail.

RUTH CAMERON

Someone was telling us the other night of a man who gave up a ten thousand dollar position offered him by a corporation and took a $1200 professorship. He actually said a twenty thousand dollar position but I didn't dare put it that way lest I overstrain your credulity.

Said the Authorman's Wife, "I don't believe it."

Said the Wants-to-be-Cynic, "Was he married?"

"No," said the Schezerade.

"Thought not," said the Cynic.

"I suppose he expected to make it up in what he got out of his life," said the Lady-who-always-knows-something.

"Did he?" asked Molly.

And He Made The Money After All.

"I think so," said the Schezerade.

"He was always tremendously interested in his work. And the most wonderful part was that he made money after all. He was an expert in analytical chemistry and they call him now to testify in certain kinds of cases and give him big fees. And he lectures and writes too. Guess he makes as much as he would have with the corporation and is his own master and does the work he likes on top of it. Lucky chap, wasn't he?"

"Rather more than lucky I should say," said the Authorman.

And the Lady quoted:

"Work for the work's sake then and it may be that these things shall be added unto thee."

"I call it luck though," persisted the

THE REPORTER.

The reporter is an agile young man who is hired to run down misinformation and turn it into news. Sometimes the reporter will get too much English on the cue ball and turn in a spicy chunk of misinformation, after which the city editor will be obliged to apologize on the front page in bristling brevity, double-leaded.

Reporters are kept on a newspaper so that people can see their names in print. Some people do not care to have their names appear more than four or five times a week, while others expect to break into every edition in company with a half-tone cut which can be read upside down without destroying the general effect. The reporter who can turn in the most misspelled names in a day is sure of steady work, and is of more value to his paper than a piano contest which leaves nothing but dreary memories and a busted bank account.

It is not necessary for the reporter to be educated higher than the knees. It is not necessary for the reporter to be educated higher than the knees, but his legs should be kept in good working order, for without them he would be as helpless as a lobe in a shower-bath. Some reporters have better knee action than others and cover more ground than a flat car. This, however, does not interfere with

The Gas Range!

The Gas Range means comfort for the housewife; shorter kitchen hours for her, and a cleaner kitchen. It is a great mistake to think that cooking with gas is expensive.

Whenever a woman becomes used to gas for cooking, thoughts of a coal or wood stove fill her with gloom. A gas range is so much easier to operate, so efficient for all kinds of cooking, and so much cleaner, that the idea of going back to the old style methods is decidedly unpleasant. Yet in winter many housewives think they must use a coal or wood stove, because there is no other way of heating the kitchen. THERE IS ANOTHER WAY AND IT IS FAR BETTER THAN THE OLD. WANT IN GERMANY.

The crops have failed in Germany, and famine stalks the land; the wheat is poor and verminy, the sugar's full of sand. The drought did more than Wilson or our armaments could, and even the noted Pilsener is but a sickly brew.

The Kaiser, in his vanity swore war full soon would cease; the foe, regarding sanity, would come to him for peace. Oh, hungry folk of Germany, what of your Kaiser's vow? Art ready to determine he has dealt you bunk now? Whose heartstrings ache and quiver worst—your heartstrings or the foe's? Your children cry for liverwurst, smearkase and things like those. The little kids are clamoring, their faces wet with brine, and still the foe is hammering at Hindenburg, his line. Red Bill, profane sermons, of Gott must ever grate, and God has blasted Germany more than the British hate. And while Red Bill was blithering of backing from on high, the country's crops were withering beneath a burning sky. Oh, hungry folk, we sigh for you, as we go forth to kill; oh, starving kids, we cry for you, while swatting Kaiser Bill.

ANOTHER AIR RAID ON ENGLAND
—EIGHT KILLED; 25 INJURED.

LONDON, July 22. A squadron of enemy airplanes, 15 to 21, approached Felixstowe and Harwich at 8 this a.m. Some bombs were dropped, but heavy fire from anti-aircraft defense guns caused the enemy's formation to split up; part returning overseas and part proceeding south down the Essex coast and finally proceeded homeward without dropping more bombs. The raiders were pursued out to sea and heavily engaged by our airplanes but the visibility was low and difficulties of observation great. The casualties at Felixstowe and Harwich so far are 8 killed and 25 injured.

REPULSE GERMAN ATTACKS.

PARIS, July 21. In the course of violent fighting last night on the Aisne front, southeast of Cerny, the Germans twice penetrated French trenches and were driven back by counter attacks. The war office announces that several other attacks at different parts of the front were repulsed by the French who inflicted heavy losses on the Germans.

MANY AIR FLIGHTS.

LONDON, July 22. A hostile raiding party was repulsed last night east of Leverage. Yesterday a thick haze interfered with air work until the evening, when many flights took place. Two German airplanes were brought down, and four others driven down out of control. One German observation balloon was brought down in flames. One of our airplanes is missing.

PATROL ENCOUNTERS.

LONDON, July 22. Patrol encounters resulted in our favor last night northwest of St. Quentin. South of Lens we advanced our line slightly. Southeast of Monchy Le Preux hostile artillery was active during the night, and in the neighborhood of Lens and Arras.

BRITISH RAIDS.

LONDON, July 21. Local successes were gained by the British last night at several points. It is announced officially. The statement follows: We raided the enemy trenches last night at Greenland Hill, north of Roex. The hostile garrison hurriedly withdrew on the approach of our troops. Successful raids were made by us southwest of LaBasse and south of Armentieres. German positions were entered on a wide front, a number of the enemy were killed and dugouts were bombarded. Hostile raiding parties were repulsed north of Avencourt wood and south of Armentieres.

FINLAND TROUBLESOME.

HELSINGFORS, July 21. A conflict with Russia is regarded as inevitable because of the action of the Finnish Diet in adopting a bill granting independence to Finland. The Socialist members of Parliament assert, however, that Petrograd has its hands too full with its own troubles to attempt repression. The Diet rejected by 104 against 87 a proposal by M. Tabas, member of the young Finnish party, that the law as prescribed by the constitution be submitted for Russia's approval. A final vote was taken on a resolution of M. Hernberg, member of the Swedish party, the import of which was that the Diet reserved the right to break the last bonds with Russia. The Hernberg resolution was defeated chiefly by the vote of the Socialists themselves, who stand for this policy, but object to following the initiative of the non-socialist party.

GERMAN ATTACKS.

PARIS, July 22. German attacks with fresh troops on Verdun and on the Aisne were broken by the French who inflicted heavy losses.

REPRISALS.

LONDON, July 22. Samuels, M.P. announced in Parliament yesterday that the British Government intends to adopt a policy of reprisal for German air raids.

REICHSTAG ADJOURNS.

COPENHAGEN, July 21. The Reichstag adjourned yesterday until September 26th, says a despatch from Berlin.

AUSTRIAN SUCCESS.

VIENNA, July 22. The Austrians claim another height at Nivica, and report that the Russians were driven across Lemnica. The advance to Lemberg, Tarnopol railway near Brzezany and Augustok Czazuruk and Nestrova, Russians resisted fiercely.

BRITISH SEIZURE OF GERMAN SHIPS DENOUNCED.

COPENHAGEN, July 21. The British seizure of German ships was denounced as a brutal assault on defenceless merchantmen, and a profigate act by Dr. Kreege, Director of the Judicial Department of the German Foreign Office, in replying to a question in the Reichstag. Dr. Kreege added that Germany had urged Holland to demand an apology for this unheard of violation in Dutch waters and a precise assurance that it would not recur. Dr. Kreege said that Germany was entitled to and would expect immediate restoration of the captured ships and compensation for the cargo of those sunk, and also for the wounded seamen and their dependants. Holland, he said, had already expressed regret at the occurrence and declared it would demand the fullest satisfaction. Holland further promised that the Dutch fleet would do its utmost to prevent a repetition, and replying to German representations said it was prepared to employ the utmost energy to obtain satisfaction of the German demand. The German Government, Dr. Kreege said, was confident Holland would act accordingly.

KERENSKY'S CRITICISM.

PETROGRAD, July 21. The Cabinet meeting leading to the announced resignation of Premier Lvoff sat until dawn yesterday, and was somewhat stormy. Krensky criticized the Ministry and Military authorities for not rising to recent events and for not using their powers to suppress the mutiny. Krensky was particularly severe towards General Polovtsov, Governor of the Petrograd military district, whom he had proposed to remove from the Petrograd command, but reconsidered the decision after the Ministers had assumed the responsibility of changing the original orders of General Polovtsov, which they considered were fraught with danger. It was made clear that General Polovtsov's hands were tied.

SIAM AT WAR.

LONDON, July 22. Siam has declared that a state of war exists with Germany and Austria. Nine steamers with an aggregation of 19,000 tons, have been seized.

LYDD GEORGE PAYS TRIBUTE.

LONDON, July 22. Speaking at a Belgian Independence Day celebration, Premier Lloyd George paid a glowing tribute to the Belgian nation. The world will never forget, he said, the services rendered by Belgium to international rights. After referring to the concentrated fire of the Germans in Belgium he said: "Three years even of agony are not long in the life of a nation, and the delivery of Belgium is assuredly coming. But when it comes that deliverance must be complete. France owes it, Britain owes it, all Europe owes it to Belgium that her deliverance will be complete when it comes. Dealing subsequently with the shipping problem the Premier said, "This year we shall turn out four times as many ships as last year. In the last two months of this year we shall turn out as many ships as we did during the whole twelve months last year, and next year we shall turn out in comparison to last year six times as many.

At the Crescent.

The Crescent Picture Palace presents a three reel Broadway Star feature to-day entitled: "Anselo Lee," a touching story of gypsy life and love staged and acted in the best Vitagraph way. The favourite Mary Pickford is presented in a great Biograph-Pickford subject: "The Italian Barber," and G. M. Anderson features in a fine Espanay Comedy drama: "Too Much Turkey." Madame Olive Timmons sings a grand ballad: "Somebody loves you dear," and Professor McCarthy is playing a special musical programme for this great all-feature show; don't miss seeing it.

Your Boys and Girls.

One of the most important facts to remember when feeding infants, with cows milk is the very large proportion of water which is found in normal human milk. For it teaches us that it is a highly diluted food by which the best results can be obtained in infant feeding. It also explains to us how careful we should be not to overeat the comparatively slight power for absorbing a concentrated food which exists in the early months of life.

Bond the Only Man.

Editor Evening Telegram.
Dear Sir,—Permit me to endorse the sentiments expressed by your correspondent "Freedom" in your issue of July 17th. If we as a people permit this nefarious arrangement between Messrs. Morris and Coaker to go unchallenged we are serfs, unworthy the privilege we have so long enjoyed; that of governing ourselves. The Russian people have just broken the chains which so long have bound them, and if we read the signs correctly Russia will soon be enjoying the most advanced form of political freedom the world has yet known.

Are we to take up, and bind ourselves with, the discarded chains of the Russians? It seems strange that just as that people are about to enter on a new-found freedom, we, who have so long been boastful of our liberty, should permit ourselves to be robbed of that privilege by a set of political adventurers. As your able correspondent points out, if there were patriotic need for this so-called national ministry we should agree in grateful silence, even though it were on all other counts, most distasteful to us. But there is no need. Furthermore the coalition is plainly a dishonest and reprehensible arrangement between two dishonest parties whereby they agree to share the spoils of office rather than run the risk of losing all by fighting over them.

There is a menace, sinister in all its aspects in this political juggling, (it is nothing else), let us not be deceived about this, but be on our guard. When individuals like Messrs. Morris and Coaker agree to stable horses or hitch up together in double harness, the motive cannot be an honorable one. These men have nothing in common, they are intellectually as wide apart as the poles, their aspirations after power, are the only marks of similarity between them.

Mr. Coaker has lately found out what Sir Edward has known a long time, how easy it is to gull the crowd, but they have both to learn that "you cannot fool all the people all the time." The mass of the intelligence of this country when once aroused shall sweep both those knaves as with a tidal wave into oblivion.

One good thing, however, has been accomplished by the fusion of the two elements and for that let us be truly grateful. It has aroused the country from its lethargy as perhaps nothing else could. People see now with wide open eyes the characters of the men who have forced themselves upon their good nature. A storm of indignation is brewing that is to cause more than a flutter in this new-style political dove-cot.

There is now a clear-cut issue between the people and the set of political buccaneers, and who for a moment can doubt the verdict which the people shall soon demand a chance to render?
As your correspondent "Freedom" suggests, there is one man in whom the country has faith and in whom they see the one and only leader to take us out of this political slough—Sir Robert Bond.

The country is ready to acclaim him leader and to follow him to victory, such a victory too as this country has never witnessed.
ARTHUR ENGLISH.
"The Cave," Colroy Valley, July 20th, 1917.

Next After New York.

With reference to a story entitled "America Over All," which I recently published on this page, a reader sends me a companion anecdote of a Glasgow man in New York who was cracking up his native city as a model of municipal enterprise.

This fact, he maintained, was admitted generally by all other cities the world over; and in proof of his assertion he offered to bet that he would address a letter to a friend in Glasgow, simply putting on the envelope his friend's name and the street, with the addition of the words, "Greatest Municipality on Earth," and the letter would be duly delivered in Glasgow.

The wager was accepted, the letter was posted, and in due course it did actually reach its destination. But the New York Post Office officials had endorsed the envelope as follows: "Adresse not known in New York—Try Glasgow, Scotland."—Pearsons' Weekly.

Everyday Etiquette.

"What shall a man do when he receives an announcement card from a girl who has just been married?" asked Jimmie.

"He should call upon the bride within two weeks after receiving notice of the wedding. If she resides in a distant city, he should send her either a brief note of congratulation or send his visiting card on which is written the words, "Sincere Good Wishes," said his father.

Public Notice Regarding Coal.

I am instructed by the Tonnage Committee of the Executive Council to place before the General Public the soft coal situation at the present time and to ask all who are able to do so to co-operate with them in securing sufficient stocks. Coaling steamers are now available, but will not be available later on. Therefore, it is necessary to stock within the period that they are available sufficient coal to carry St. John's over the winter till the opening of navigation next year.

The Coal Merchants have not sufficient storage capacity to enable this to be done, and the Tonnage Committee appeal to the public to assist in the matter by laying in their winter supplies as soon as possible. Otherwise there will be a shortage of stocks next winter. By order of the Tonnage Committee.
