Important Announcement!

We are now ready to announce to the trade and to the public generally the opening of our Manufacturing Concern of Ladies' Readymades.

This is an enterprise which merchants will hail with joy, as Newfoundland has always been greatly affected by the lack of local made Ladies' Readymades, and at the present time this drawback is more keenly felt than ever before.

The severe rate of exchange, the high duties, freight charges and the uncertainty of safe transportation, which heretofore was a source of worry and trouble to you, we now shift to our shoulders and deliver to you at your door the finished product, in perfect condition, and at prices far cheaper than that of imported merchandise.

Another benefit that you derive from local made goods is that the local manufacturer strives to produce his merchandise to suit the needs and tastes of the Newfoundland people; a thing which foreign manufacturers cannot and do not do. We have made a careful study of the Newfoundland woman's likes and dislikes in the matter of Readymades and we are now producing Costumes, Raglans and Skirts to please your customers.

Advocate local made goods and increase your business. We are now showing samples. If you cannot call, drop us a card and our representative will call.

CHAPTER XXXII.

Fathers of families squatted on the beach and read the papers or threw stones into the sea; loving couples paced under the low cliff or sat—very close to each other—in the shrubberies, white-capped nurse-maids shrieked shrilly, in French, to their charges; the invalids came out in their bath-chairs and sunned themselves; dapper little soldiers sauntered by, twisting their moustaches and ogling the nurse-maids; portly ladies dawdled along the parade with fat pugs panting behind them; in short, the day, with all its humours, had begun, and seated in a shady nook just off the parade, sat Paula and Alice looking silently on.

Alice, dressed with exquisite taste, and carefully sheltered by a pink-lit sunshade, leans back, a yellow-covered French novel in her hand, her eyes, half-contemptuous air of amusement which used to irritate poor Bob.

It might be eleven weeks instead of eleven months for all the change in her fair face. Placid, serene, superior, she looks just as she looked that day at the picnic to Sir Wolfert's tomb, just as she will look, happen what may, ten years hence.

Beside her sits Paula—our Paula. There is no French novel in her hand, no sunshade to screen her face from the soft glare. She, too, sits looking on, but it is a question whether she sees anything save the great blue sea that stretches to the horizon.

With her hands clasped loosely in her lap, she is lost in thought, unconscious of the ever-moving throng, of the humours of the crowd, unconscious of the promenaders, especially of those of the male sex, who glance, and sometimes stare at the beautiful face, so fixed and rapt, and wonder who and what she is.

Beautiful we have written, and ad-visedly, for Paula's beauty has grown and developed in these eleven months into a distinct loveliness, which all who look upon it, save herself, acknowledge and confess.

Even Alice, who once professed to think slightly of the red hair and freckled, sunburnt complexion, has grown to admit—to herself and reluctantly—that Paula "has improved." Is obliged to admit that the glances of the passers-by, while they pass over her face, linger on Paula's, and leave it with slow reluctance.

The red hair has grown into a more decided golden bronze, the dark eyes have gained an intenser, deeper hue, the red lips, that used to curve with ready laughter, have acquired, all unconsciously, a new and strange charm in their expression of meditation.

"An air of repose suits Paula," Alice says to intimate friends: "She looks at her best when she is silent and thinking of—nothing. Oh, yes, my sister is very good-looking, and if she would but exert herself—"

And she shrugs her white shoulders and smiles.

But Paula is all unconscious; she does not exert herself, because she does not find anything worth exerting herself about.

Neither the present nor the future have any hold upon her; she is living in the past—living in it so entirely that it is scarcely the past to her. It is only when a letter comes from Bob—it is always sent to her, not to Alice—that she awakes and takes a part in life. And yet she does not wear the willow. The smile comes to her lips many a time and oft, and at times, when moved by some of the humours of the crowd, she can laugh. Then those who hear her, declare that laughter suits her best, and wonder why she wears that rapt, far-away look which, try as they will, they cannot sometimes dispel.

Nouvelle is interested in them; Nouvelle is easily interested, by the way. By the gay young sparks, that dawdle on the parade and frequent the billiard-rooms and casino, they are called the sisters, and many an attempt has been made to gain an introduction and admittance to the little villa on the cliff where they lodge, in company of the stiff old lady who plays the part of dragon and propriety.

But it is difficult to gain an introduction, more difficult still to obtain an invitation. It is understood that the young ladies wish to remain in retirement, that they are abroad for their health, though Paula is sunburnt and the picture of robustness, and Alice looks as fresh and blooming as a pink rose.

"How the people stare," says Alice, shifting her sunshade, but not so as to conceal her pretty face.

"Do they?" says Paula, indifferently, her eyes still fixed on the sea. "It is their way—they can't help it any more than they can help having their photographs taken or sucking tooth-picks. If it were not for the photographs and the toothpicks, I am convinced that the gilded youth who favour Nouvelle with their splendid presence would expire."

Threw Away $100

Eugene Quessal, of Montreal, was suffering from kidney trouble and had suffered for five long years. This is his letter:—

"I could not sleep nights and on some occasions could hardly walk. I had been treated by some of our best physicians but without relief. I lost over 15 pounds and was very weak, and friends who knew me before were astonished. One day I met one of our leading hotelkeepers, who had been cured by your famous Gin Pills. He advised me to try them. I bought two boxes and before I had used one box I felt a big change. Before I finished the second one I was completely cured, and I can assure you if I had only known what I know now, I would not have spent one hundred dollars for nothing—when two boxes of Gin Pills cured me."

Gin Pills are the finest preparation for kidney and bladder trouble ever produced. At the first warning pain in back or side, get Gin Pills. They work by magic, reducing congestion, soothing, healing inflamed, emaciated tissues, building them into normal and active condition and relieving pain. At all druggists and dealers. 50c. Money refunded if not satisfied. Free sample on request.

Alice yawns behind her faintly laced handkerchief.

"How hot it is!" she says, languidly. "I should like to bathe. Will you come?"

Paula glances at the bathers disappearing in the water with a faint smile.

"No, thanks; it is a little—slightly—too public for me. I had my bath before breakfast."

"What nonsense!" says Alice, peevishly; "everybody bathes here in the middle of the day. Why should you object?"

"I don't—to everybody doing it," says Paula, "so long as I am not included. Of course they bathe in the middle of the day. What would be the use of the pretty costumes—which always remind me of a trapeze performer—if there were no one to see them? Look at that fat French woman in the blue-striped costume! Isn't she exactly like a tight-rope dancer?"

Alice smiles languidly.

"I hope I don't look like that," she says, with a little simper.

"Exactly; only not quite so much so," says Paula calmly. "But you needn't mind, as you say everybody does it; all the English girls, even that quiet family on the cliff over there. I wonder what they would say if you asked them to cut the same appearance at Brighton? Be shocked to death. It's a strange world; what is improper on one side of the Channel becomes quite proper on the other. Go and put on your trapeze suit and bathe, Alice, and I will remain to watch, wonder, and admire."

Alice looks up at her not too amiably, shrugs her shoulders.

"You are a singular girl, my dear," she says; "I wish you weren't quite so prudish."

Paula laughs—a quiet, indifferent laugh.

"Am I prudish?" she says. "I didn't know it. What does it matter? What does anything matter?" And she laughs.

Alice looks at her from under her half-closed eyes.

"Paula, my dear," she says, "you have got into a bad habit of regarding the world as—as—"

"As played out," says Paula. "Don't be shocked! That is an Americanism I heard one of your friends use the other evening. Have I? I am very sorry; and yet it's a stupid kind of world, and does seem rather exhausted."

"Because you can't have everything you want," says Alice, with a dash of colour; "because a certain individual who shall be nameless has chosen to be true to his character and played the traitor; because you choose to cherish the memory of that worthless individual, and waste your life thinking of him, when you might have made yourself and—and everybody happy by taking someone else. I wish Sir Herrick Powis had been at the bottom of the sea before you set your eyes on him!"

Paula's face grows pale, and her eyes gleam in the strange way that has become habitual to them of late; but she smiles.

"Do you want me to be a mermaid?" she says, with fine irony. "I should have to have been, you know, if I had been compelled to go to the bottom of the sea to see him."

"Pshaw!" says Alice, impatiently. "Paula, my dear, you are wasting your life! And all for a man not worth a thought. I shall go and bathe."

Fashion Plates.

A UNIQUE MODEL IN "TIE ON STYLE."

Pattern 3109 here illustrated is cut in 3 Sizes: 16, 18, and 20 years. For the 18 years size, 5 1/2 yards of 44 inch material will be required.

Duvelyn, serge, taffeta, satin, poplin, crepe and crepe de chine would be attractive for this model. Blue duvelyn with pipings of beige, and collar and cuffs embroidered in colored worsted is smart for this. The width of the skirt at lower edge with plaits extended is 1 1/2 yard. A pattern of this illustration mailed to any address on receipt of 10c. in silver or stamps.

A GOOD OUTFIT FOR THE HOUSE-KEEPER.

Pattern 3110 as here shown. It is cut in 4 Sizes: Small, 32-34; Medium, 36-38; Large, 40-42; Extra Large, 44-46 inches bust measure. The apron and cap may be made of one material, percale, seersucker, gingham, saten, khaki or alpaca. The apron is not cumbersome, for it is cut so as to avoid any surplus material. Size Medium requires 3 1/2 yards for the apron and 1/2 yard for the cap, of 36 inch material. A pattern of this illustration mailed to any address on receipt of 10c. in silver or stamps.

"Now, Gerald, I hope you are not going to marry a mere parlor ornament. In other words, I hope the girl you have selected is a girl who can do something." "She's that all right. Why, that girl can roll a cigarette better than I can."

Try Making Your Own Cough Remedy

You can save about $2, and have a better remedy than the ready-made kind. Easily done.

If you combined the curative properties of every known "ready-made" cough remedy, you probably could not get as much real curative power as there is in this simple home-made cough syrup, which is easily prepared in a few minutes.

Get from any druggist 2 1/2 ounces of Pinex (50 cents worth), pour it into a 6-oz. bottle and fill the bottle with syrup, using either plain granulated sugar syrup, clarified molasses, honey, or corn syrup, as desired. The result is 10 ounces of really better cough syrup than you could buy ready-made and saves easily $2. Tastes pleasant and never spoils.

This Pinex and Syrup preparation gets right at the cause of a cough and gives almost immediate relief. It loosens the phlegm, stops the nasty throat tickle and heals the sore, irritated membrane to a healthy and easily that it is really astonishing.

A day's use will usually overcome the gritty cough and for bronchitis, croup, hoarseness and bronchial asthma, there is nothing better.

Pinex is a most valuable concentrated compound of genuine Norway pine extract, and has been used for generations to break up severe coughs.

THIS tin of Klim, pasteurized separated milk in powder form, represents the modern development in the use of such milk. Just as the flour mills make better flour than the old-time grind-stone method, so is Klim purer, less expensive, less wasteful and easier to keep than the same milk in liquid form.

Get Klim from your grocer. Use from the tin as needed. Will not freeze nor turn sour. No bottles to wash, no tickets to buy. Write for "The Wonderful Story of Klim," an interesting recipe book.

Rear Admiral Peary Passes Away-- Bolsheviks Capture Archangel -- Allied Reply to Wilson Via Buenos Aires -- Kerry Raiders Attack Police Barracks -- Lloyd George and Nitti Favor Peace With Bolsheviks -- No Diminution in High Cost of Living.

DEATH OF PEARY.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 20. Rear admiral Robert Edwin Peary submitted to blood transfusion at hospital here ten days ago. He later was removed to his home and his condition then was reported as somewhat improved. He gradually grew weaker however, and the end came early this morning. Doctor H. F. Strine, the admiral's physician disclosed that transfusion this month was the thirty-fifth to which the admiral submitted within two years.

ARCHANGEL FALLEN.

LONDON, Feb. 20. Bolshevik forces have captured Archangel on the White Sea, according to a wireless despatch from Moscow to-day. The "Whites" abandoned the town and the troops joined the Bolsheviks, the messages declared.

GRASPING THE RED HAND.

PARIS, Feb. 20. Premier Lloyd George is in favor of opening peace negotiations with Russia through Maxim Litvinoff the Bolshevik representative in Copenhagen, and is supporting by Premier Nitti of Italy, according to the "Echo de Paris," Paul Cambon and P. J. L. Berthelot, members of the French delegation of the Supreme Allied Council meeting in London have no authority to enter into such proposal and Premier Millerand has been recalled to London.

RUMORED ALLIED REPLY TO WILSON.

BUENOS AIRES, Feb. 20. A summary of the main point in the Allied reply to President Wilson, according to a Rome correspondent of La Nacion, disclosed that the President threatened to withdraw his signature from the British-French treaty, establishing security for France, to which the Allies reply that such action would destroy absolutely the new French policy for which President Wilson invited protection. The fundamental points in the reply to President Wilson are according to the correspondent: First the Allies answer the accusation of having prepared the convention for the annexation of Fiume to Italy, with the supposed bad faith on the part of Italy, by saying that President Wilson is unable to demonstrate them. Second--The Italian petition for establishment of territorial contiguity with Fiume is a very small thing compared with the session of Dalmatia, which the whole world is able to prove by merely examining the map of Europe. Third--The Allies observe that the project of President Wilson which comprehends the creation of a buffer state has been rejected by the Jugo-Slavs and the Allied nations have been unable to insist upon it. Fourth--The strip of territory necessary to establish the contiguity of Fiume with Italy is not sufficient reason to justify procrastination in re-establishing the peace of Europe. Fifth--Italy entered the war inspired by ideals, at a moment at least as critical as that when the United States entered. She suffered sacrifices in blood and money incomparably more than the United States, in drawing up the note, La Nacion's correspondent says that the British delegates prepared the technical form in collaboration with the Italians, while the political features of the document is that of the French delegates who expressed themselves in terms of great sympathy for Italy.

POWDER EXPLOSION.

NEWCASTLE, Penn., Feb. 20. Six young women are believed to have lost their lives in an explosion which wrecked a number of small buildings at the plant of the Newcastle Fireworks Co. here to-day. Half an hour after the explosion the firemen were unable to approach the burning plant because of the exploding fireworks and powder.

RAID ON POLICE BARRACKS.

WEST KERRY, Feb. 20. After three hours siege, in which hand grenades, rifles and revolvers were freely used, an attack on the police barracks by armed raiders was repulsed here yesterday. One police officer was wounded, and it is believed three raiders were struck by bullets. The raiders made extensive preparations for the attack having blocked all the roads with fallen trees and barricades and having dug deep trenches to check the approach of military motor lorries. Telegraph and telephone wires were cut over a radius of fifteen miles about this place. One end of the barracks was demolished by the explosion of a bomb.

TROUBLE IN ALBANIA.

ROME, Feb. 20. Klamile El Bashan, an Albanian leader, and the Bishop of Scutaria have proclaimed the fall of the provisional Government and declared themselves regents to the Albanian throne, according to the "Tempo" which asserts that this action was taken after an unsuccessful attempt had been made by a large force of Albanians to capture Durazzo.

COALITION DEFEAT.

LONDON, Feb. 20. The bye-election for the member of the House of Commons for the Wrekin Division of Shropshire recently held results in the election of Charles Palmer, Independent, by 588 plurality over Charles Duncan, the Labor candidate, it was announced to-day. John Bally Coalition Liberal was third in the polling.

H. C. L. SOARING.

OTTAWA, Feb. 20. The impression that the cost of living is climbing rapidly with every day that passes, in confirmed in statistics published in the Labor Gazette for February. Grains, flour, bread, meats, live stock, potatoes, fish, textiles, hides, lumber and raw furs are specially mentioned to-day than they were in December last.

HOME RULE BILL.

LONDON, Feb. 20. The second reading of the Home Rule Bill will not be taken until a fortnight hence and time will be allowed before further progress is made for study of its conditions.

ACCUSED AS JUDGES.

LONDON, Feb. 20. The German Government is rushing preparations to try Germans accused of violations of the laws of war and the examination of witnesses and arguments will begin next week according to a Berlin despatch to the Central News. Pleadings will open before the Leipzig Court within the next month, it is said.

FIRE AT MACCANN.

AMHERST, N.S., Feb. 20. A rear end collision occurred at Maccann last night directly in front of the depot. Overturned cars caught fire and the town itself was nearly consumed by the blaze. The train crew and volunteer citizens fought the flames successfully with the result that only five buildings were burnt at a loss of fifty thousand dollars.

NOORDJIK SAFE.

HALIFAX, Feb. 20. The Dutch steamer Noordjik, which last night reported that she was in imminent danger of being driven on the Cape Breton coast in the vicinity of Gabarus and asked for assistance, advised the naval station here this morning that she had succeeded in clearing the rocks and was in no further need of help.

THE TURKISH SETTLEMENT.

LONDON, Feb. 20. The Turkish question was raised in the House of Commons this afternoon by Sir Donald MacCleave, when he asked the Premier if the Government would give the House an opportunity of discussion the leaving of Constantinople.

This N. B. Man Walked Floor Fighting for Air

Roy Steeves Suffered After Every Meal--Like Old Self Since Taking Tanlac.

"I can swing my hammer as good as ever for I have been made over into a new man since I commenced taking Tanlac," was the statement made the other day by Roy Steeves, a well known blacksmith living at Dover, West County, New Brunswick. "For four years I suffered from stomach trouble," he explained, "and during the past year I was so bad off I could hardly hold up under the strain. I could not eat a meal without feeling nauseated afterwards and I bloated up with gas and felt so stuffy and tight across my chest I thought I would suffocate. Often I had to get up in the middle of the night and walk the floor fighting for air. My sleep, of course, was restless and as my work requires a lot of stooping I go so weak and run down I could hardly get about the shop. I spent lots of money and tried many different medicines but none of them did me any good."

"One day I went to the drug store at Hillsborough and asked the druggist if he could recommend anything for stomach trouble, and he said, try Tanlac. So I took his advice, and I want to tell you I commenced to feel better in just a day or so, and now all signs of indigestion have left me and I am in better health than I have been in years. My appetite is fine and everything I eat agrees with me without a particle of trouble. I sleep sound at night, am feeling like my old self again and can recommend Tanlac in the very highest terms."

Tanlac is sold in St. John's by M. Connors, under the personal direction of a special Tanlac representative; in Harbor Buffett, by Thomas Wakely & Sons; in Placentia, by James Murphy & Son, and in Topsail by J. K. Bursell.--adv.

S. A. Territorial Commander Coming.

Colonel Martin, the new Territorial Commander of the Province of Newfoundland, and who is succeeding Lieut.-Col. and Mrs. Adby, will be leaving North Sydney for here about next Wednesday by the Kyle, and is expected to arrive in the city near the end of next week. He is being accompanied by Mrs. Martin and son.

Commandant McEilheny, S.A. Revivalist from Canada, who has been conducting revival services in different parts of the Island for the last two months, is now in the city and is doing special services at No. 1 Citadel, New Gower Street. Since Monday night last these services have been well attended and have been seasons of blessing to many. To-morrow the services all day will be conducted by the Commandant, and as he is a live and sincere worker in His Master's Vineyard, those who attend to-morrow's meetings will hear from the Commandant many things for their spiritual benefit.

ALEX. COURCY SAYS DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS CURED HIS RHEUMATISM.

Quebec Man Who Was Crippled Has Found Complete Relief, and States That Dodd's Kidney Pills Are Entitled to All the Credit.

Ste. Andre de Restigouche, Bonaventure, Co., Que., Feb. 20th. (Special).--Claiming that he is cured of Rheumatism, which had entirely crippled him, Mr. Alex. Courcy, well known and highly respected here, gives all the credit to Dodd's Kidney Pills.

"A friend advised me to try Dodd's Kidney Pills for Rheumatism," Mr. Courcy stated when interviewed. "I was so bad I could not work."

"Dodd's Kidney Pills cured me. I can now do my work and am not tired."

Mr. Courcy is only one of thousands of Canadians who, relieved of the tortures of Rheumatism, give Dodd's Kidney Pills the entire credit. They have proved that Rheumatism is caused by diseased kidneys failing to drain the uric acid out of the blood. It crystallizes at the muscles and causes those awful pains every sufferer from Rheumatism knows so well.

The remedy is to cure the kidneys. Healthy kidneys strain all the uric acid there can be no Rheumatism.

Ask your neighbors if Dodd's Kidney Pills do not make healthy kidneys.

Lucky Friday.

The council of the League of Nations, like Hamlet of Denmark, delays augury; it opens its deliberations on a Friday. It may be, however, that the League, desirous as it is of discovering a new world in which there shall be no more war or rumors of war--has deliberately chosen Friday as its lucky day, since Friday was the day of fortune for the League's great prototype, Columbus. Of him, it is written that on Friday, August 3rd, 1492, he started on his voyage--Friday, October 14th, 1492, he first sighted land. Friday, January 4th, 1493, he started on his return journey. Friday, March 12th, 1493, he safely arrived at Palos. Friday, November 22nd, 1493, he reached Hispaniola in his second voyage. Friday, June 13, 1494, he discovered the continent of America--London (Ont.) Free Press.

The Evangelists

At Gower Street Church.

As it was the last week evening's service to hear Mrs. Demarest, the hundreds that pressed in completely filled the spacious church; many had to stand all through; others returned home. The ushers were powerless to do any more. Revs. Dr. Curtis, Dr. Fenwick, T. B. Darby, M.A., E. W. Forbes, B.A., were present, and Rev. W. B. Bugden offered the invocatory prayer and the announcements were made. First that Mrs. Demarest would accede to the highest ballot vote in repeating one of her last year's sermons; she had received a number of requests that she would do so. Some wanted to hear again "The Rich Young Ruler." "The Prodigal Son," etc. Rev. Dr. Curtis said further that when consenting to come to the city in the interval before going to Grand Bank, no guarantee of any amount had been given to them in the way of remuneration. The offering this week would be tendered them, but the thank offering on Sunday night would give all an opportunity to express their gratitude and pay a debt of honor. Those present and hundreds of others had received great benefit from their visit and should show it in a practical way. Mr. Demarest will speak to men at Cochrane Street Church at 10 a.m. to-morrow, and Mrs. Demarest at 3 p.m. to women only—those over 18. A sacred duet "Up to Calvary we are going," was then sung by the Evangelists, the soprano and baritone were in perfect chord; one verse being sung in French by both. Mrs. Demarest was born in France—his language the first she learnt when a child. The Evangelist then explained that it was two thousand dollars that had been sent her by Capt. Jones of Chicago, and not two thousand dollars as some people had misunderstood a statement made the previous evening. At the last moment she seemed unable to decide what she should take as her topic for the evening, but praying for Divine leading, she opened her Bible at the passages in St. John's Gospel and read, "If any man will come after Me, he must take up his cross daily and follow Me; for whosoever will save his life shall lose it, and he that will lose his life shall save it—For what shall it profit a man if he gain the whole world and lose his own soul?" In opening she referred to a visit to Grand Rapids, U.S.A. They found the people had gone pleasure mad—movies and theatres were packed, and some of the performances were scandalous in suggestion and acting. While her husband was absent in Chicago on a business two days, the report of a disgraceful exhibition by a woman weighed upon her spirit. God put it upon her heart and she resolved to go and protest against such demoralizing shows. At the right time when the gas was lowered and a young girl was going through such a disgusting performance, that she could hardly believe her eyes or her ears, she slipped to the stage, and as she went prayed "Oh Lord, give me voice," and cried out, "In the Name of the Lord Jesus Christ, I denounce this exhibition as immoral and licentious in the worst degree." There was a fuss of course. The manager phoned for the patrol wagon, and pushed her before him, (etc.) to the entrance; but she surrendered herself to the police who asked her name, profession, etc. She replied, "I am an Evangelist in the service of my Master Jesus the Saviour." They just said all right, and instead of arresting her she was allowed to get in an automobile and proceed to her home. We have only space to say that Mrs. Demarest received letters from many clergymen commending her for her brave act; and the authorities woke up and stopped the show. Oh the cruel sin of those managers who exploit young lives, forgetting that the soul is ruined, while they make money. Abominable selfishness. The Evangelist, continuing, explained how one who puts self first loses his life, and how those who give their lives for others, like her grandfather, General Wm. Booth, founder of the Salvation Army, have their reward in this life, as he did when it closed, and hereafter in the presence of their Lord. It was a wonderful closing. In response to her appeal for life service either as missionaries for foreign field or in the homeland, eight or ten splendid, well educated young men and women went forward, and when the wider invitation was made, there must have been a hundred. To God be all the glory.—A.W.M.

B. I. S. Meeting.

The adjourned annual meeting of the B.I.S. was held last night, the newly elected President, Mr. W. J. Higgins, K. C., in the chair. On motion of Vice-President J. C. Pippy, seconded by Dr. V. P. Burke, both of whom spoke in glowing terms of the work done by Hon. J. D. Ryan in connection with the Society, he was asked to become the Vice-Patron of the Institution for life. The President also spoke to the motion, eulogizing the efforts of his predecessor in office. In accepting, Hon. J. D. Ryan promised his interest in the Society would continue, and heartily thanked the members for the honor conferred on him. The following committees were then appointed:—
Schools—Messrs. W. S. Dunphy, W. J. Harris and M. G. Murphy.
Charity—Messrs. M. F. Aylward and Jno. Doyle.
Review and Correspondence—Messrs. J. M. Walsh and J. Aylward.
Functions—Messrs. P. J. Shea, J. Doyle, P. K. Devine, P. F. Moore, P. Maher and J. P. Scott.
A sub-committee was also appointed to deal with some amendments to the constitution, and votes of thanks passed His Grace the Archbishop and Clergy, the Christian Brothers and the Press, after which the meeting closed.

Obituary.

There passed away on Saturday, February 14th, Ralph Kitchener Stone aged 17 years, beloved and youngest son of the late Abram and Christina Stone, leaving to mourn the loss of a loving son and brother a widowed mother, two brothers and two sisters. Always of a kind and loving disposition, he bore his sickness and suffering with remarkable gentleness and patience, bright and cheerful until the end. His funeral took place Tuesday afternoon, attended by a guard of honor from the C.L.B., of which he was a member; the last post being sounded by bugler Cook, after which all that remained of this promising young life was committed to mother earth, there to await the resurrection morn. Thus, in his youthful prime, Hast leaped the bounds of time, Suddenly from earth released: Lo! we rejoice for thee, Taken to an early rest Caught into eternity.

MOST POVERTY IN CITY FOR FIVE YEARS.
The Charitable Societies of the city find that the demand upon them for relief this season is greater than at any time since the war began in 1914. One organization has had numerous demands made on it during the past three weeks, the appeal being mostly for foodstuffs. This Charitable Institution depends upon public contributions for funds, and it appears that its past generosity will have to be repeated.

A Big Success.

On Tuesday evening American Chain Overhoes, in which the principle of the weed chain used on automobile tires has been humanely adapted to horses' shoes, were first tried on the streets of St. John's and created quite a sensation among horse owners. Attached to the fore hoofs of a heavy truck horse they enabled the animal to get a footing on ice and snow without exertion, which his bare hind shoes were unable to hold. Later they were tried on a cab horse and worked with the same results, except owing to a mistake in size one chain got detached. American Chain Overhoes are not sold by blacksmiths. Ask your Hardware Dealer for a set Feb 14, 1920

Taking Commendable Precaution.

Every man going to the Icefields as one of a sealing steamer crew must this year show marks of recent vaccination, in pursuance of orders issued by the Health Department. Going a step further, owners of sealing ships are rejecting anyone who has been recently ill. Doctors will examine each man before he is signed on and none but those properly qualified will be able to secure a berth.

Telephone Thrills.

S.O.S. CALLS AT NIGHT.
The work of a night operator on the telephone is not always the dull business that people seem to think. Should there be a murder or burglary, it is the night operator who usually first hears of the occurrence. The sudden demand for "Put me on to the police at once!" is startling enough at any time to a telephone operator; but when such a call is made in the middle of the night—well, it generally causes me to glance nervously over my shoulder and imagine scenes of murder, burglary, or sudden death.

I well remember an occasion when I had to take the night duty one stormy night, when the wind caught the wires to hum like an Aeolian harp. A Tale of Terrible Tragedy. I was just wishing that something would happen to break the monotonous waiting, when down dropped the little indicator which denoted that someone was making a call. I had barely time to put in the plug, which connected me with the caller, when I heard that S.O.S. of the telephone, "Put me on to the police at once!" After obtaining the number of the caller, I tried in vain to call up the station. Probably they were all asleep at the time. I therefore again connected with the caller and informed him of the fact. "Oh dear, oh dear!

Whatever shall I do?" I heard a distraught voice say over the wire. I inquired the reason for wanting the police, and heard the most terrible story of murder and suicide, which made my blood run cold. It appeared that the call came from a lonely house in the country district, and that a man had forced an entrance. He had then cut a maid's throat, and afterwards cut his own. I did the next best thing, and called up the nearest doctor, who, fortunately, was awake. After that I had no more rest that night. The phone was kept busy with calls to hospitals, garages, and the like until I was relieved.

"The Face at the Window!"
On another occasion I was taking night duty, and had very little to do. It is not often that a call comes after ten o'clock unless it is one for a doctor. The clock on this occasion had just struck twelve, and I felt like dozing, when the indicator dropped. I lost no time in making the connection, and long before I had time to ask who was there or the number I heard a series of ejaculations coming down the wire, as of a person in deadly fear. "My God! The face at the window! It's there again! Will no one take it away?" were the words which were being reiterated over and over again. I tried to calm the caller, and finally got further details. I then learned that the call again came from an isolated house in the country. It seemed that it was a lady who was making the S.O.S. signal. She said that a horrible face kept appearing at the window, and at times tried to force the window-catch with a knife. There was no doubt that danger threatened unless I acted with promptitude. I knew that it was useless to call up the police, but remembered that there was another subscriber a little way off. Fortunately he answered the frenzied ringing of his instrument, obtained assistance, and captured the man who was still trying to force the window.

Too Late!
It seems to have been my experience to have been on duty on most of the occasions when tragedy has stalked through the night. Just before Christmas Eve I received a call just after ten o'clock. This time it came from quite close to the village where I was stationed. Having got through, I had just time to take the number and hear the voice say "Send for the police at once. Burglar in the room," when the instrument was disconnected, and although I tried hard to get on to the number again, failed to get a response. I therefore called up the police, but just too late, for on their arrival they found that murder had been committed. The caller had been shot while telephoning for assistance, the instrument having been disconnected by him having dragged the receiver down with him as he fell, thus severing the wire.—Answers.

IS THERE AN EPIDEMIC?

Is there an epidemic of extravagance abroad? A majority say yes, a minority say no. The whole thing is greatly exaggerated. For my part, I don't know just what to think, but I certainly have heard some interesting tales along these lines which are worth listening on. Here's one: A friend of mine was in a glove shop changing a pair of gloves which did not fit her, when a woman who appeared to be a domestic helper, came in bringing some $3.50 gloves which she had given her for Christmas. She said she wanted something better than that and decided with a pair of $7 gloves. At the Poor Pay for Silk Shirts, another friend tells me that he is in a big city on a street which bordered the tenement district, and a shop which would serve that district and no other, he saw in the window men's silk shirts for $11.65 cents. The woman who saw the gloves also tells this story: In going through the tenement district of this same large city, she also passed a shop which must have drawn customers solely from the tenements. In the window was an evening dress which attracted her attention because it was a blend of certain colors which she is very fond of. She is a woman of some means, she does not think this is a time to be extravagant in the buying of dresses, and she thought that here would be an excellent opportunity to buy a gown that would be reasonable. "I was willing," she said, "to pay as high as $75, though I did not think in that shop it would be that high. I went in and priced it and found that it was $250."

into a fur shop and asked to be shown racoon coats. The proprietor showed her a coat priced at $125. She turned up her nose at it and asked to see something better; he showed her the most expensive racoon coat he had in the store, at $350. She said she thought that would do very nicely and asked him if he had two as she wanted one for herself and one for a Christmas present for her sister. It seems to me that is a little too good to be true, and yet too good not to pass on. Don't forget to Divide by Two. Of course there is one fact that one should not lose sight of in all these instances of the cost of high living, and that is that when you compare the price paid to-day with what laboring people used to pay for things, you should divide present prices in half since a dollar will only buy half as much as it used to. That is, a $7 glove is not any more extravagant than a $3.50 one was five years ago, and an $11 shirt no more than a $5.50 shirt five years ago. Don't forget to reckon on that fact when you are raving about high wages and extravagance.

ANNOUNCEMENT.

This year I'll be a candidate for Woodrow Wilson's honored place; my friends keep chasing to my gate, and urging me to make the race. My platform is a simple thing, a single plank is all it owns: Cut out extravagance, by jing, quit burning up the precious bones! The cost of government, these times, gives every thoughtful soul a wrench; our government blows in the dimes, yet calls on voters to retrench. It taxes people to the grave, and makes their workworn spirits sore, then urges easy marks to save, so it can touch them for some more. When I take up my residence where now the White House banner flaps, I'll cut down every fool expense, and fire all loafers who have snaps. I'll shear the grafters to the hide, and clothe the toilers with their wool; all other Vital Things may slide until the treasury is full. The billion dollar schemes will get blue penciling when they are born; the man who'd make another debt will find me standing on his corn. So rally round my standard, boys, line up like soldiers, rank on rank; then government will make a noise like money in a savings bank.

A Knighthood Refused.

(From the Manchester Guardian.) Mr. Sidney Walton has sent the following letter to Mr. Lloyd George: December 25, 1919. Dear Prime Minister.—I could not without feelings of pride and pleasure receive your letter of the 23rd, wherein you tell me "that the King has been pleased to approve that the honor of knighthood be conferred" upon the present writer. It is not that I am insensitive to this prized distinction that I ask that His Majesty may graciously allow my name to be withdrawn from the New Year's list of honors; nor do I fail to appreciate the goodwill of friends who have spoken generously concerning my work. The opportunity of doing work for the state in hours of shadow and stress has in itself been a distinction and reward. I feel that I am simply one of a great multitude who most rejoice when they can serve their country to the best of their lights, esteeming his privilege as indeed a prize. To perpetuate a community of service, which is a legacy of the late years, is a national ideal which appeals to me so deeply that I am sure His Majesty will not misunderstand a reluctance to be removed and estranged from my fellows in pursuit of it, even by so much as an honored prefix. Yours very truly, (signed) Sydney Walton.

THE PRICE OF SUCCESS.

If you haven't the patience to work and wait. To build with precision lay your bricks straight; If you haven't the courage to grin now and then. When the structure falls down, and to start in again. Just remain where you are and be satisfied, too. For the hazards out there will be too much for you.

If you can't stand alone in the thick of the fight. And persist in your course when you know you are right; If you can't keep your faith when it's greeted with sneers, And still go for the goal which but dimly appears. Don't leave the broad highway to carve out a new. For the hardships out there will be too much for you.

If you can't get along without flattery or praise. And the comforts and joys of those wonderful days; If you tire over quickly or cringe at a blow. Or think it no use when your progress is slow; If you're one who must have everything in your own way. Then the price of success you're not willing to pay.

But if you will take all the fates have to give. Stand hardships and setbacks, still glad that you live; If you'll cling to your faith and keep plodding along. When disaster besets you and everything's wrong; If you're willing to battle and never give in. Go after your dream, for in time you will win.

Household Notes.

When food is relished there is no waste. Excellent cookies are made with fruit fillings. Kerosene applied to dull copper will brighten it. It is best to season meat after it has begun to cook. Beefsteak and oysters make a good shepherd's pie. Rich sauces, spices and pastry should all be avoided. Paper-shelled almonds have usually larger kernels.

Cracking Royal Cribbs.

Big Hauls by Jewel Robbers.

The case of the theft of diamonds, estimated to be worth £15,000, from Prince Yusupoff's flat in London, calls to mind other big jewel thefts. Prince Yusupoff is, of course, the man who slew Rasputin, and the theory has been advanced that the robbery was in some unexplained way connected with that most mysterious affair. The probability, however, is that it was just an ordinary theft, organized by one of those gangs of international crooks who make a specialty of watching the movements of royal possessors of costly gems. Into this class, also, falls the robbery of jewellery belonging to Queen Amelia of Portugal at Richmond last March. Entrance to the house was effected while the family was at dinner, and heirlooms of great value, including a number of presents from King George and members of other royal families, were carried off. Luckily, however, the thief was disturbed by servants moving about, and so did not get away with nearly so much booty as he otherwise might have done. By a curious coincidence, too, a very similar accident also in part frustrated the gang of high-flyers in crime who tried to steal the Princess Leiningen's jewels, while she was staying at a Liverpool hotel some years ago.

This latter royal robbery came near to being one of the biggest coups of the kind on record. Her highness had with her jewellery valued at £130,000 but owing to the robbers being disturbed they only succeeded in getting away with about £6,000 worth. Again, as in the case of the Richmond robbery, there was no arrest, nor any recovery of the stolen property.

Improving St. Pierre

Newfoundland, in the near future, must prepare to stand keener competition from the French fisheries, carried on out of the islands of St. Pierre and Miquelon. During the progress of the war, naval and military matters were too important for the French Government to do anything in the way of improving and increasing their Western North Atlantic fisheries, and from 1914 to 1918 St. Pierre and Miquelon were practically deserted as fishing centres, all the men who engaged in the shore and bank fisheries having been drafted into the fighting services of their country. Thus the catch of fish by the French in North American waters for the period between the first and closing years of the war might be considered a negative quantity, so far as interfering with the sale of Newfoundland produce in the European markets was concerned, but with the beginning of the season of 1919, activity in St. Pierre was resumed on a larger scale than ever, and the coming year will see the French colony putting forth still greater efforts, stimulated by Government assistance.

It was at one time thought—while the war was in progress—that because of the close relationship existing between the Imperial and Republican Governments, and the assistance that Britain had rendered France, a swapping of St. Pierre and Miquelon for territory more valuable to the latter country elsewhere might be arranged. But the moment the suggestion emanated, French sentiment was aroused and vigorous protests against any such arrangement were made by the Pierrois themselves, who repudiated most strongly and forcefully any such transfer. This was, in itself quite natural and patriotic. Nor could it be expected that France would consent to relinquish her last bit of territory in North America. Sentimental—if none other—reasons would be hostile to any proposal to take away, even by fair exchange, the headquarters of the valuable fisheries of France in the Western North Atlantic. However, the suggestion was but a local one. Nevertheless the feeling of the Pierrois was made plain and their resentment was quick and hot, though tempered with that best of all quality—reason. Peace has been declared and though Newfoundland would have liked to take the French islands into and under its dominion, no mention of any exchange or agreement to exchange in the near or distant future has been made by the two Governments directly interested, and St. Pierre remains, in our day at least, French.

Nothing is farther from the mind of the French people than to give over St. Pierre and the other islands of the little colony. On the contrary they are making greater strides toward improving the islands than were ever before contemplated. Modern ideas have overcome the conservatism of the olden regime, and a building boom is now being inaugurated all over the islets. Large stores are in the process of erection with plenty of space and capacity for holding the increased catches of an increased and increasing fishing fleet. Cold storage plants are to be installed and with their completion, steamships with refrigerating apparatus will be placed on a direct service between St. Pierre (the capital) and France, and the export of fresh frozen fish will become an additional part of the stimulated trade, easing somewhat the sun-curing of all the cod caught, as in previous years. The French Government has undertaken the construction of this cold storage depot, the advantages and benefits from which will be incalculable. In many other ways science is being utilised toward the modernizing of the old system, and the encouragement given by the French Government in taking up the conservation and improvement of the fisheries of its possessions so near to our shores, will have the effect of making the islands become a formidable rival of Newfoundland's fishing interests, and such rivalry should assist rather than retard the progress of this dominion, and in many ways may give a greater impetus to its foreign trade in the products of the fisheries.

Land Settlement Discussed.

The land, in these days, when so many have had a taste of the city life, has not the strong appeal it formerly had for the young and virile. Yet the plain signs of the times are that an era is about to dawn upon life on the farm which will have many advantages not now in evidence, and when the prospects of the farm both for gain and real pleasure will actually excel those of the average city dweller. Out of the Great War has come a desire for life in the open, and most of our returned men are seeking vocations far different from those they followed prior to enlistment. If any reasonable encouragement is given our veterans in the way of agricultural inducements, it is felt that many of our heroes will hear the call of the land, and will settle under the proposed scheme for re-establishing soldiers. This week Hon. J. M. Kent and the Vocational Officer, Dr. W. W. Blackall, B.A., met Hon. A. Campbell, Minister of Agriculture and Mines, at the offices of the latter, when the whole question was fully discussed and a proposition made to the Government on behalf of the Civil Re-Establishment Committee, who outlined a Land Settlement Scheme on lines similar to that offered by the Dominion of Canada. The deputation was cordially received, and the Minister expressed the keenest interest in the proposition. The subject was introduced in its preliminary stages to the Executive Council, we understand, on Monday night, and on yesterday afternoon separate copies of the Land Settlement scheme were sent forward for the consideration of the Government at an early date. For the interests of the returned veterans who feel the call of the land, we hope the present scheme may be practical and profitable.

Burning Accident.

Mr. C. W. Ryan, Grocer, Theatre Hill, met with a burning accident this morning that will keep him confined to his home for some time. It appears that Mr. Ryan in extinguishing an oil heater, turned the wick into an attempt to smother the flames he had his hands and arms badly burned. Dr. McDonald and Mr. P. O'Mara were quickly on the scene and dressed the burns. Mr. Ryan's numerous friends will be sorry to learn of his mishap.

In the "Good" Old Days.

On February 21st, 1890, Garden Beer was first brought under the License Act, and the following day summonses were issued at the instance of the police department against all those who were selling this beverage without a license, and over one thousand bottles of the drink were seized by the authorities in stores about town. The promptitude of the police was most commendable but there was very little evidence of that spirit of justice and fair play, which is a part of the liberty of the subject, in taking out summonses and making seizures of stocks at such short notice.

Prince's Rink open for General Skating this afternoon and night.—Feb 21.

Judgment in "Essence" Case.

DEFENDANT FINED $600.
IN THE CENTRAL DISTRICT COURT.

John Byrne vs. Albert Soper. This is an action taken upon the complaint of Head Constable Byrne against Albert Soper, Wholesale Grocer, for selling during the past six months certain intoxicating liquors contrary to Sec. 4 of the Prohibition Act, 1916. The sale of two dozen 8-ounce bottles containing a liquid labelled "Shiriff's Imperial Quintessence Vanilla" on the 4th, instant, was admitted by the Defendant, but it was contended by his Counsel, Mr. Edward Emerson, that the sale was not in violation of the Act. The purchaser used a portion of a bottle of this liquid as a beverage, with the result that he became intoxicated and violent, and was removed to the lock-up for safe-keeping.

Mr. H. A. Winter, Counsel for the Prosecution, called Professor D. James Davies, Government Analyst, who submitted the following report: "Feb. 6th, 1920 Sample submitted by Head Constable Byrne labelled 'Shiriff's Imperial Quintessence True Vanilla,' received 11.20 a.m., 6th, February. Analysed immediately. Alcohol 39.4% by volume."

Several witnesses were called on behalf of the Prosecution and defence. The question for the Court is, is "Shiriff's Vanilla" a Spirituous Liqueur within the meaning of the Act. In my opinion, the Prohibition Plebiscite Act, 1916, prohibits absolutely the sale of Intoxicating Liquors, except by the Controller and by Druggists licensed by him. The term "Intoxicating Liqueur" is defined under the Act to signify "All ales, wines, malt, brewed or spirituous liquors, containing two per cent or upward of alcohol by volume, and such medicinal tincture and other preparations containing two per cent or upward of alcohol by volume, as may from time to time be directed by the Governor-in-Council, by proclamation, but not wines for Sacramental purposes."

Mr. Davies, as a Chemist, defines "Spirituous Liqueur" to be Ethyl alcohol—the alcohol that is present in fermented drinks, beers and wines, and present in distilled drinks, Brandy, Whiskey and Rum, and is also used in the manufacture of Liqueurs and various essences. In my opinion, the words "Spirituous Liqueur" in the section, implies spirits of any description, and all liquors, mixtures, essences and compounds made with spirits. This compound labelled "Shiriff's Imperial 'Quintessence Vanilla'" contains alcohol 39.4% by volume, its sale, therefore, by the Defendant is in violation of the Prohibition Act.

Eighty per cent of the drunk and disorderly persons before the Court for the past twelve months have been traced to the drinking of dope, and the drinking of this Vanilla dope has dominated all others. This habit is very pernicious and is having a most demoralising effect on our young people and it must be crushed. The Defendant is guilty of the charge preferred against him, and I impose a fine of $600.00, or in default three months imprisonment.

Dated at St. John's, this 20th, day of February, A.D., 1920.

F. J. MORRIS, Judge.

Mr. H. A. Winter appeared for the Prosecution.

Mr. L. E. Emerson for the defence.

There passed peacefully away, this morning, at his residence, 90 Freshwater Road, Robert J. Chancey. Deceased was a trusted employee of the old firm of Edwin Duder, and held the position of store-keeper with that firm for twenty-five years. When that firm went out of business, Mr. Chancey was employed by Messrs. Geo. Knowlton, Limited, and was store-keeper with that firm for the last twenty-two years, up to the time of his being invalided. To the sorrowing family and relatives the Telegram extends its deepest sympathy.

Re-Establishment Committee Meeting.

At the regular meeting of the Civil Re-Establishment Committee held at the Mills Building yesterday afternoon, Hon. J. M. Kent presided, and the following members were in attendance: Rev. Dr. L. Curtis, Dr. W. W. Blackall, B.A., Vocational Officer, Capt. G. G. Byrne, M.C., Secretary, Lieut.-Col. G. T. Carty, Major B. Butler, D.S.O., M.C., Dr. V. P. Burke, Major W. H. Parsons, M.C., Major J. W. March, M.C., Capt. Leo Murphy and Capt. J. B. O'Reilly.

34 applications for courses in engineering, motor mechanics, salesmanship, woodworking and garage mechanics were considered; 33 granted, and 11 found ineligible. Assistance towards completion of apprenticeship and to continue college courses was also allowed to four other applicants. Correspondence with the Vocational authorities in Ottawa with reference to courses in Canada; telegrams on the same subject and several applications from Canadian veterans now resident in Newfoundland were also attended to and decisions made in each case.

The increased classes at the Civil Re-Establishment School brought an exhaustive report from the Vocational Officer on the subject, and appointments in connection with the tutorial staff at that institution will be announced next week.

The sub-committee appointed to interview the various shipowners on the question of berths for returned men, brought in a most encouraging report on the prospects of vacancies on all the ships; the employment report showed 16 men placed in positions since the last public announcement; a complaint made to the Colonial Secretary regarding a recent appointment elicited the fact that the position had been filled by a returned soldier; the sub-committee selected to interview the Minister of Agriculture and Mines presented their report on the Land Settlement Scheme, and a deal of other important business was transacted.

Notices of the date by which all applications for retraining must be filed will be distributed throughout the country, posted in prominent places and inserted in the local newspapers. A very busy session closed at 6.30 p.m.

Holy Name Society's ANNUAL MEETING.

The annual meeting of the Holy Name Society was held on last Sunday. The annual report, which was read and adopted, shows the Society to be in the most flourishing condition. Every month the members receive Holy Communion attend Benediction and hear an appropriate and instructive address from the spiritual director. At the quarterly meetings all the members march in procession, alder from the rooms to the church and receive general communion at the eight o'clock Mass. The annual Triduum was conducted three days previous to the Feast of the Holy Name, at which one discourse was given by Rt. Rev. Mgr. McDermott who preached in a scholarly and able manner on the question of Labor, giving much enlightenment to the men on this important subject. Rev. Father Wilson gave another discourse preaching in a powerful manner on Perseverance in their pledges as Holy Name men. The Rev. Director conducted the devotion of the Holy Hour in Honour of the Blessed Sacrament, and in earnest and fervent appeals made all the more intimately realize the practical meaning of the Blessed Eucharist to the Catholic heart.

The election of officers resulted as follows:—

President—C. W. Ryan. Vice-Pres.—John Spurrell. Treas.—J. P. Stapleton. Secretary—M. P. Murphy. Fin. Secy.—W. S. John. Librarian—J. H. Brown. Librarian—Leo Chafe. Marshal—A. Cahill. Asst. Marshal—J. Boone. Choirmaster—J. L. Slattery, Jr. Chairman of Rooms—J. P. Duffy. Councillors—P. Reardon, S. Angel, J. Fagan, J. Malone.

The Junior Branch which comprises nearly two hundred boys, also held their election. Master W. Ryall being elected President. A. Chafe Treasurer, and J. Lee Secretary.

The Rev. Director complimented the members on the splendid showing of the report and on the good condition of the Society. He said that the large number that attend the quarterly processions of edification and example to the congregation. He felt sure that the moral influence of such a large body of men united to honor the Holy Name of God and for the suppression of blasphemy and bad language must be great in the community.

Resolutions of thanks and respect were passed to His Grace the Archbishop and Mgr. McDermott for their interest in the Society, as likewise to the Spiritual Director and the other priests.

The great success of the Society is due in no small measure to the untiring zeal of our Spiritual Director, Rev. Dr. Greene, who is ceaseless in his activities for the benefit of the members.

M. P. MURPHY, Secretary.

Reminiscence of the Trinity Club.

Editor Evening Telegram.

Dear Sir,—I have read with pleasure the interesting article on the Trinity Benefit Club, written by my old and esteemed friend, Canon Lockwood. This Club is now the third oldest Benefit Society in Newfoundland. The oldest is The Benevolent Irish Society, founded in February, 1806, by an army officer, Capt. Winckworth Tongue. The next, the British Society, founded by Archdeacon Bridge, in 1836. The third the Trinity Club, founded in 1838 by the Rev. William Bullock. I think it most probable that this Club's beautiful flag was designed by Mr. Bullock, for he was just the man to do that kind of thing. For six years before he entered upon special study in preparation for Holy Orders, Mr. Bullock was an officer, first a midshipman, and then a master's mate in the Royal Navy. As such it would form his duty to serve under the orders and direction of the signal lieutenant when the ship on which he served was receiving and answering signals. By this he would receive instructions in flag designs.

I was present as a member of the congregation of St. Paul's, Trinity, when the Club last attended public worship on the Festival of the Purification of the Blessed Virgin, 1858. My father conducted that service and preached the sermon thereat. In those days it was not customary when club services were held, for a collection to be taken up at the service for the benefit of the preacher, neither was it customary for the Club to make any such donation. Nevertheless immediately after the service had been held on Candlemas Day in the years 1854, '55, '56, '57 and 1858, my father took himself the sum of two dollars as a donation to the club's funds, or else sent it to the treasurer by me.

When the members of this Club ceased, as a Club, to attend Divine service as a body,—my father ceased making any donations to the club funds.

I was well acquainted with the following former Presidents of the Club, viz., Dr. Johnson, A. W. Bremner, Patrick Murphy, Dr. Robert and Dr. Arthur White. I was also well acquainted with the following Charter members of 1838: William Keelson, Richard Ash, Jr., Samuel A. Gent, Wm. D. Cross, sr., Patrick Murphy, George S. Field, Daniel Egan, Jasper Lucas, George Rex, Capt. Henry Andrews, John Collins, John Crocker, Jr., Edmund Hunt, Edward Egan, Richard Maidment, sr., Thomas Jenkins, George Christian, James Fitzgerald, Stephen Crocker, Aubrey Crocker, Joseph Brine, John Ainsworth, Samuel Diddam, Robert Grant, John Power, William Hart, Joseph Taverner, Charles Granger, Jonas Jones, sr., James Christian, Aaron Fifield, Richard Cook and Geo. Freeman, sr., of Salmon Cove West—now Champney's West; Samuel A. Gent was an S.P.G. schoolmaster at Trinity 1823-28.

All the children at Trinity who knew Mr. Wm. Davis Cross (and who of them who lived at Trinity at that time did not know him), were very fond of him for he was an exceptionally kind-hearted man. He was the father of the late Captain William D. Cross, sr., and the grandfather of the late Capt. W. D. Cross, jr., both of this city.

The Rev. William Bullock was Incumbent of Trinity 1822-40. Old St. Paul's and the churchyard in which it stands, was consecrated by the Right Rev. John Inglis, D.D., who was the Bishop of Nova Scotia and Newfoundland, on the morning of Sunday, June 15th, 1827. On the afternoon of that day, 300 persons were confirmed at St. Paul's by Bishop Inglis. Mr. Bullock was a thoroughly loyal churchman. Finding that no observance whatever was made of Ash Wednesday, Mr. Bullock persuaded the heads of the two great business concerns at Trinity, Messrs. Garland & Co., and Robert and James Slade & Co., to close their premises on that day. And that has been done ever since by persons carrying on business at Trinity, and on Ash Wednesday morning a large congregation assembled for worship at the new St. Paul's. Before day break on Ash Wednesday, 1828, Mr. Bullock rose from his bed, dressed and engaged in private devotions until daylight, when putting on his surplice he called at the residences of all the people at Trinity and exhorted them in the Name of Christ the Lord to attend the service which he would hold in the church at 11 a.m. A large congregation of young and old, high and low, rich and poor attended this service which consisted of Matins, the Litany, the Communion Service in the Book of Common Prayer, and a special address by Mr. Bullock.

In all previous time down to about 1870, the annual meeting of the men of the congregation of St. Paul's was held at noon on Easter Monday. But my father, whose special aim it was to enlist in the active service of the Church every churchman, especially the young men, altered the meeting, and has been held on the evening of Ash Wednesday, and a good attendance thereat has been thereby secured. My father altered the time of holding vestry meetings, because Easter Monday was not a general holiday and consequently most of the men could not leave their work on that day. The alteration of time received the approval of Bishop Feild.

In my time, the holidays at Trinity, omitting, of course, Sundays, were Christmas, St. Stephen's and New Year's days, Candlemas, Ash Wednesday and Good Friday.

I have made the statement in re the Trinity Club not giving a donation to the person who preached in its behalf, to show how greatly things in this direction have improved during the past years. I daresay that as Mr. Bullock had founded the Trinity Club he would not receive any donation from it for service he rendered to that institution; this example was followed by his successors in office at Trinity down to and during my Incumbency of Trinity.

To-Day's Messages.

DOES AMERICA WANT THEM ALL?

WASHINGTON, D.C., Feb. 20. President Wilson, in reply to Senator Brandegee's resolution, informed the Senate to-day that he had not entered into an agreement of understanding with the officials of Great Britain concerning the sale of former German liners seized in American ports, nor had he entered into any agreement or understanding with respect to what disposition should be made of them by the United States. At the same time he transmitted to the Senate a copy of a proposed agreement between the Allied and Associated Governments at Paris, under which each is to retain as its own complete title to, and use of, all ships captured, seized or detained during the war, and to own the same free from any claim of the Allied or Associated Governments. The Senate Commerce Commission to-day ordered and favorably reported Chairman Jones' Bill prohibiting the sale of thirty former German passenger liners, except as may hereafter be provided by Congress.

WITH RESERVATIONS.

NEW YORK, Feb. 20. The immediate ratification of the Treaty of Peace, with the Senate reservations retaining for the United States its right to withdraw from the League of Nations, on proper notice of declaration against Article ten in its present form, and demanding protection for the Monroe Doctrine in the letter and spirit, were advocated in a platform adopted here to-day by the New York State Republican Convention.

TURKISH PEACE DISCUSSED.

LONDON, Feb. 20. Some of the lesser important phases of the Turkish Peace Treaty were discussed by the Allied Supreme Council at one brief session to-day. The particular points taken up, however, were not revealed, but it is believed that the Turkish question has reached a stage where the Council must await reports of the several commissions it has created, to consider various ends of the subject.

A Boycott Threatened.

RUMORED DEMONSTRATION.

A dangerous undercurrent of resentment against the new increased prices of tobacco and cigarettes on the part of the devotees of "My Lady Nicotine" is beginning insistently to assert itself, and on the street this morning it was common knowledge that a great public demonstration is to be called within a few hours. Try as we would, however, the movers of this bloodless revolution could not be located. It is proposed to declare a boycott on tobacco and to see it, by such other plans, not yet divulged, the importers, manufacturers, and sellers can be brought to their knees. Tremble tyrants!

Police Court.

Judgment in the "essence" case was delivered. A man was charged by his mother with being drunk and disorderly in her house. He was ordered to vacate the house and to give a bond of $100 that he would do so. A man of Arnold's Cove was charged with a breach of the Scotch Cure Act by the Marine Department, in purchasing Scotch herring which had been put up by people who had not secured a license to do so. He was fined $25.

Coastal Boats.

GOVERNMENT. S. S. Fortia is not reported since yesterday. S. S. Prospero and S. S. Sagona passed Fogo this morning and are due at Pool's Island to-night. REIDS'. Argyle leaving Placentia to-day for Bay. Clyde at Fort Union. Home and Petrel at St. John's. Kyle due at St. John's to-day. Meigle left Louisburg at noon yesterday. Sagona absent of Cape Fogo in clear water; due to arrive Twillingate 5 p.m.

The Coal Shortage.

While there is a shortage of coal in the city, there is at present no need for alarm. Inventory of stocks yesterday proved that at the usual rate of consumption, there is enough to last for some weeks. Cargoes have been contracted for, and unless an ice embargo should happen, there is no cause for anxiety. PROSPERO AND SAGONA COMING.—The S. S. Prospero and the Sagona left Twillingate early this morning, coming south. They will probably harbor at Pool's Island to-night. FOOD BOARD MEETING.—A meeting of the Food Control Board will be held this evening to consider the milk question.

Mr. Monroe Resigns.

Member of Mr. Coaker's Advisory Board Disagrees with Fish Regulations as They Apply to Brazil.

His Resignation Will Make no Difference. Another will be Appointed in His Place.

Mr. Walter Monroe, prominent fish exporter and member of the Advisory Board of the Minister and Marine and Fisheries in connection with the carrying-out of the Fish Export Regulations, has resigned from that board. Seen this morning by the Telegram representative he was asked why he had resigned.

"I have taken this step," he said, "as a result of a disagreement with the Board in connection with its policy regarding the Brazilian market. I do not consider that the Fish Export Regulations, when applied to that country, are for the best interests of the country. That is all."

Mr. H. R. Brookes, of Job Bros., and the foremost apologist of the Government Regulations in the recent Board of Trade debate, was asked what he thought of the resignation of Mr. Monroe and if it would make any difference or cause any change in the policy of the Board.

"Mr. Monroe's position on the Board as regards the Brazilian market, at least," said he, "was an awkward one. He is himself not only an exporter of Brazil but a buyer for that country also. I can quite understand his position and nothing is held against him for resigning. There is no strained feeling, whatever."

Then, touching upon the second part of the query, he answered: "His resignation will make no difference whatever. The Board's policy remains the same. Another exporter will be appointed to his place."

Mr. Brookes also brought up the fish situation of the island, and referred to an article in yesterday's Telegram entitled "The Fish Situation."

"Your figures were quite correct," he said. "There are in the country now some 450,000 qts. of codfish. However, I must disagree with your statement that the marketing of such a quantity is a big task. At the beginning of January we had about 700,000 qts. in the country. But at the beginning of 1918 there were 1,000,000 quintals. There is less fish in Newfoundland to-day than at this time last year."

The Cabman's Viewpoint.

Editor Evening Telegram.

Dear Sir,—In the "Daily News" of Monday last there appeared a letter under the pseudonym of "Citizen Aggrieved," which to the initiated as well as to fair minded people generally is—and rightly so—considered a mixture of impertinence, imbecility and no small modicum of ignorance.

I had thought that some of my conferees, many of whom are better qualified than myself, would not let this injurious and abusive missive go unchallenged, but as they have, I solicit the use of some of the valuable space of your respected and universally read paper to defend a class of men whose avocation is no sinecure and who are living as honestly and conscientiously as any others of the working classes of this city, their traducer, the scribe of the "News" included.

Now as to the writer's objection that by virtue of civic regulations made some years ago providing that certain rates of fare be charged by cabmen, "Citizen Aggrieved," I presume, is aware that laws enacted often become obsolete when found to be unworkable, and this is one of that category. Conditions change often as we know in very short periods, and if this law enacted 6 or 8 years ago, were to be observed to-day, most cabmen would be in retreat in the institution so ably presided over by my friend Mr. Prideaux. It is news to most of us that cabmen "must accept a fare within certain limits when it is offered to them."

Now I wonder does the writer of this nonsense serious imagine that any man or company of men in this city at present, no matter what their avocation, will submit to be forced to accept any sum (that may be tendered for services rendered) by the first little Penurious "Pecksniff" who comes around requiring the help he or they may be able to give. The days of slavery or thraldom have passed, I take it—at least in the British Empire, and it is purely optional with cabmen to accept or refuse a fare, though in most cases men are eager to take them when time permits. Often a man is engaged for a long journey and having a decent interval to avail of will take when possible a fare offering for a comparatively short distance which will not interfere with his previous engagement; and it frequently occurs where in cases of accident or illness a man's humane instincts are aroused, he foregoes monetary considerations and acts the manly part though getting little credit for it generally, especially from those of the ilk of the "News" writer. To quote "C.A." again—"These men are public servants, and, as the price of their licenses, ought to be compelled to serve the public as it wishes and not as they wish."

You err there Mr. "C.A." We are not public servants in the sense implied in your offensive missive. We have no special retainer from the public as such, and as I said above, it is optional with us as to whether we accept or reject a fare or an engagement. We cannot be compelled to serve the public, nor are the figures we exact for our services under present day conditions exorbitant. "C.A." says "the first question they (the cabmen) ask is where are you going?" My! isn't that illuminating! And the impudence of cabby to ask such a question. Jump aboard, but for where? How dare you ask? Well possibly to the Planet Mars by wireless energy, not by means of horse-flesh as an impelling power. Don't give your destination; the humble Jehu's powers of divination will solve the puzzle if his poor beast does not drop dead. Now to conclude. In those strenuous days it costs as much if not more to keep up the average horse as the average man—a conservative estimate of mine is $1,000—so that I would advise "Citizen Aggrieved" before again attacking the city cabmen, to be sure of his ground and to learn something as to what he writes about. He evidently is some light-weight Scrooge who would bubble over with happiness if he received a 5 cent rebate on a dollar fare, or would call it a financial coup if he beat a newsboy a cent in purchasing a newspaper.

Thanking you in anticipation for your courtesy, Yours respectfully,
Feb. 20, 1920. CABMAN.

Appealing to Supreme Court.

Mr. L. E. Emerson, K.C., counsel for Mr. Albert Soper, defendant in the Essence Case, when informed this forenoon by the Telegram reporter that a fine of $500 had been imposed on his client, stated that he would appeal to the Supreme Court for a reversal of judgment.

Big Meat Supply.

By the S.S. Schem, from Halifax, there came a great quantity of frozen meat. Besides mutton, etc., there are nearly 2,500 quarters of beef. Supply and demand will regulate the cost. The shipment is consigned to various parties.

Case in Hand.

Owing to the tieup along the railway line the police department could not immediately act in the case of the body of the infant found on the express train some days ago. However, on the first opportunity officers were sent by the outgoing express on Tuesday last and they have the case well in hand.

S. S. Orion in Port.

The s.s. Orion, Capt. Simpson, arrived in port yesterday afternoon, and anchored in the stream. The ship is short of bunker coal, and it is not probable that she will get any out of the supply held for the city. The ship will likely be held until a supply comes for her, unless some can be had from the sealing fleet.

Sachem's Passengers.

The s.s. Sachem arrived in port from Halifax at 7 this morning bringing the following passengers: A. McLaughlin, Mrs. E. Nicholl, Mr. R. G. Patterson, Mr. E. R. Rooney, Mr. B. S. S. Abbott, Mr. T. H. Byles, Mr. W. W. Cahill, Mr. E. R. A. Chaffin, Mr. G. J. Giovannani, Mrs. M. Hickey, Miss J. Hickey, Mr. A. N. Hooper, Mr. E. J. Lutz, Mr. G. S. Moffatt.

PUBLICATION DELAYED.—Owing to a mishap at the Platendealer office this morning, when the newspaper press had a part broken, the publication was unavoidably delayed and the paper will not issue until about 6.30 this evening.

EXPORTERS MEETING.—The fish exporters are holding a meeting in the Board of Trade Rooms this evening.

Schooner Miram H., 44 days from Alicante in ballast arrived at A. S. Rendell & Co. to-day.

"The Wrong Mr. Wright."

FIRST PRESENTATION OF THIS CLEVER COMEDY MONDAY EVENING.

"The Wrong Mr. Wright," a three-act comedy by George Broadhurst, will be presented as the annual entertainment for Mount Cashel Orphanage on Monday, Tuesday and Thursday of next week, and a glance at the advertisement will show you what is in store for those who attend the Casino Theatre on the nights above mentioned.

This play is supposed to be one of the "best bits of comedy written by this author, and from those who have seen the rehearsals of our amateurs for this presentation consider it one of the best things given in the way of local theatricals for some time. And it is to be wondered at considering we see the name of Mrs. Herbert Outerbridge, which in itself bespeaks success at the very beginning. Then Lieut. Commander Fenn, R.N., is making his debut as an actor among us, and we in welcoming him amongst our amateur performers feel assured that one performance only will be needed to place him among our foremost amateur actors.

Of Capt. J. O'Grady, Lt.-Col. Bernard, Major Tait and Mr. Ralph Herd little need be said, as they are well known to our stage, and any or all of their names on a programme ensures a packed and appreciative audience. Mr. Herbert Ryan, too, makes his bow as an amateur performer amongst us, and those who know Mr. Ryan can readily understand how thoroughly he will do his part, and that it is no exaggeration when they say that he touches the professional; and for those who do not know Mr. Ryan, well there is a great surprise in store for them. If you want a good laugh, and surely you do—everyone does, then do not miss seeing Mr. Herbert Ryan as Lord Brazen-face, the Imported Article in "The Wrong Mr. Wright."

A Worthy Cause.

Mrs. Mary and Miss Mary Ryan also play with Mrs. Outerbridge, the former aiding in a great measure to bring out the detail and comedy for which the play is noted; while the latter, in her usual graceful way, plays the part of the sister. Those who saw this lady do the sister part in San Toy want to see her again, as those who hear Miss Ryan sing always want to hear her again.

And we finish the cast with the name of Mrs. Ring, to whom is due no small need of praise for taking the part at a very late date. Mrs. Cheshire, who was so suddenly called away last week, was taking this part, and only then did Mrs. Ring take it up. Though coming in at such a late date Mrs. Ring has mastered the part to perfection, and after her star performance of San Toy we predict for her still greater laurels in "The Wrong Mr. Wright."

And this comedy holds as much interest in the first act as in the last, and each member of the company holds the mystery of "The Wrong Mr. Wright." It has been asked by the management that all patrons be in their seats at the rise of the curtain. Not only is it annoying to patrons to have people come late to our theatres but certainly it must be hard to performers.

For the guidance of those who intend seeing this play we give the following information:

Name of play "The Wrong Mr. Wright."

Time: Doors open 7 p.m. Curtain rises at 8.15 p.m. Object: Last but not essential, Mount Cashel Orphanage.

Worth while attention: Between acts, C. C. C. band; Miss Mews dances. —Com.

Last Service To-Morrow

The Evangelist, Mrs. Demarest, would like to accede to the request of many friends that she would repeat one of her last year's sermons to-morrow night. Some would prefer "The Prodigal Son," others "The Rich Young Rule," and some "The Lily." On the ballots that were received last evening others were mentioned, so it has been decided to combine the voting, and ballots will be received at the ten o'clock service for men at Cochrane St. Church to-morrow, and the afternoon service for women only at three o'clock in Cochrane Street Church. It will be the closing service of the campaign to-morrow night at Cochrane St. Church and a generous thankoffering should be made in acknowledgment of the great good done by the Evangelists.

Here and There.

AT THE R. C. CHURCHES.—Rev. Fr. Connors will preach at the R. C. Cathedral to-morrow night and Rev. Fr. Conroy will occupy the pulpit at St. Patrick's.

REMOVING THE REMAINS.—Woodpickers are busy the past few days at the ruins of the Empire Barracks, and if those whose business it is to look after this place don't soon see to it, only the concrete foundations will be left.

COCHRANE ST. CHURCH.—Mr. Demarest will address a meeting for men only, in the Epworth League Room, at 9.30 o'clock a.m. All are welcome.

The Market.

(Trade Review.)

PORK and Beef-Pork declined in Chicago and New York during this week owing to exports falling off on account of the high rate of exchange. The local prices are still holding about the same as last week, viz., Short Mess, $60; M. Family, $57.50; Fat Back Mess and S. C. clear $51.00 wholesale per barrel. Beef keeps at last week's level also $40 for Bos Flank, $38 for bos 'packet', $37 for Boneless and $30 for regular plate.

Flour—United States Markets have declined somewhat, but prices of high grade spring wheats are still about $1.50 per barrel over Canadian prices. There has been no change locally during the past week, though local prices are gradually adjusting themselves to present cost of importing.

The prices of flour wholesale is now $16.00 for leading brands. This is nearly $1.00 per barrel less than what it was imported for. The cost of flour to import to-day would be from $16.50 to $17.00 for second and first grades.

Sugar—Recent strikes in Cuba have prevented the United States and Canadian markets for "raws" from being fully supplied, and the due shipments to these countries have been temporarily cut off. This condition of affairs it is expected will be remedied in a few days, but any considerable reduction in prices is not expected for some time.

There are ample stocks held in the city at the present time, which are being sold wholesale at from $18.50 to $19.00 per hundred pounds. There is a goodly supply due by the Rosalind next trip to come in under the supervision of the Food Control Board. Their last order was four thousand barrels, not one thousand as previously stated.

Molasses—The crop is reported to be short and backward in Barbados, so that arrivals here will be late. All hope of cheap molasses this year will have to be abandoned. On the contrary a record high price is anticipated when the new molasses arrives, probably not less than $1.60 per gallon by the puncheon.

There is a fair supply of old molasses in St. John's, but some of it is of indifferent quality. The present price is $1.15 per gallon in puncheon lots, $1.18 in tierces, and $1.20 in barrels.

Potatoes—Potatoes are very scarce in the market, and what imported stock is in the city, is in the hands of one or two dealers. They have this week picked over their stocks and thrown out the decayed ones. This has stiffened the price to $2.20 a half bag, or $6.40 a barrel. This is the highest price since last summer.

There are no local offerings, though it is believed that there are considerable stocks in outport cellars, especially in Conception Bay, awaiting the return of spring and fine weather.

Hay—Hay in the local market is scarce, and is selling at $60 per ton, or about 3 cents a pound. It is impossible to buy a half ton at one time, and dealers will sell a couple of bales only to a customer.

There is quite a large quantity at North Sydney, intended for this market. The steamers that are plying there are the S.S. Kyle and S.S. Meigs, and bring only small lots, about 200 bales, which on receipt, is eked out by the importers. The price is still advancing in Canada and rates will be higher in the course of the spring.

Oats—In the St. John's market oats are still selling at $5.90 for white, and 6.00 for black per sack wholesale. There is a fair supply in the local market, but the stocks are being depleted fast. Orders for March and April arrival are now being placed by local dealers in Canada. These oats will be considerably higher to keep pace with the recent advances there.

Feeds—Bran is $3.60 per sack; gluten, $4.85, and yellow meal to arrive, $4.85; rolled oats in 90lb. sacks is $6.00, and in barrels, $12.50; whole-sale oatmeal is $13.50 by the barrel and $7.25 the half barrel.

English Church Notes.

The four dioceses in Wales are to be constituted into a separate Province.

The Rev. Canon Welsh, D.C.L., Rector of the Southchurch, Essex, was the preacher at the Bishop of Chelmsford Advent Ordination.

Dr. Furse, Bishop of Pretoria and Bishop designate of St. Alban's, expects to arrive in England from South Africa early in April next.

The Bishop of London recently played in a hockey match which took place on the grounds of Fulham Palace. The Bishop is 61 years of age.

The Rev. Canon W. Hogson, Vicar of Aston, Birmingham, one of the three largest parishes in England, died recently as the result of a bicycle accident.

Sir Michael Sadler, the Vice-Chancellor of Leeds University, preached a most impressive sermon in Leeds Parish Church upon the claims of India upon Great Britain.

Gay plaid sashes and sailor hats are seen at the Southern winter resorts.

The First American President.

At Mount Vernon, in the United States, there died on December 17, 1799, one of the most notable characters in history—George Washington. This American general and first President of the United States, was born in Westmoreland County, Virginia, on February 22, 1732. His parents being of moderate means he received but an ordinary school education, and was for a time employed by Lord Fairfax to survey vast tracts of land in the Alleghany mountains. By dint of perseverance in this capacity, he attracted attention and was, at the age of nineteen, appointed a major of provincial militia. His ability to command was fully illustrated in the able manner in which as aide-de-camp of General Braddock's staff, he conducted the retreat after the disastrous battle of Monongahela. He was then promoted to the command of the Virginia troops, which post he held until 1758, when he resigned, married a wealthy widow, and engaged himself to the improvement of his estate at Mount Vernon. Shortly after the outbreak of the revolution, he assumed command under the historic elm tree of the Continental Army. Although often compelled by superior British forces to retreat, and at times reduced to desperate straits by lack of men and supplies, he brought the long and arduous war to a successful termination. During all the hardships of siege and retreat he never allowed his courage to ebb, and always acted with extreme prudence, judiciously considering in council all details of strategy, and becoming the idol of the men who served under him. Upon the conclusion of the treaty he handed in his commission as commander-in-chief and again retired to Mount Vernon. He was, however, in 1789, elected the first President of the United States, unanimously re-elected in 1793, and resigned in 1797, refusing office for the third time. Both as General and President he displayed an integrity most pure, and his justice was of the most inflexible nature, unbiassed by motives of self-interest, friendship, or hatred. On the whole his character was perfect; in nothing bad, in few points indifferent; and it may be truly said of him that never did nature and fortune combine more perfectly to make a man great, and to place him in the same constellation with whatever worthies who have merited from man an everlasting remembrance.

Hotel's Romantic History.

The transformation of the Place Vendome, Paris, might well form the subject of a picturesque chapter of history.

From a quiet, dignified square, flanked by Government offices and stately private houses, it has become a business centre, and this within the space of half a century. The Hotel Bristol founded in 1867 by an Englishman, Mr. Morlock, was taken over recently by an American bank, and now the necessary alterations are rapidly going forward. In 1867 the Bristol was considered "the best situated and most elegant of the hotels of the time," and in 1871 its fortunes were crowned by a visit from the future King Edward VII. Other Royal personages followed the example of the then Prince of Wales, and the Hotel Bristol can boast a number of Royal autographs not to be found in many European hotels.

One of the most interesting episodes in the annals of the hotel took place in 1868, when the Duke of Braganza, afterwards the ill-fated King of Portugal, met there his future bride, the Princess Amelie of France. It was the Prince of Wales who arranged this meeting.

"I was asked by the Prince," said Mr. Morlock, owner of the hotel, "to arrange for an exceptionally careful lunch for four persons. When the time came, the Comte de Paris and the Princess Amelie drove up to the hotel, and the presentation to the Duke of Braganza took place in the apartments of the Prince of Wales."

Portraits of King Edward as a young man, in middle age, and as King, all autographed, adorn the walls of the hotel, which has sheltered many other Royal visitors, including King George V. and Queen Mary, Queen Alexandra, King George of Greece, and King Albert.

Mr. Morlock recounted that King Edward had a horror of photographers, and before he left the hotel a scout was sent out to make sure that the Place Vendome did not contain a single camera. On his arrival in Paris King Edward usually consulted the proprietor of the hotel as to which theatres were best worth a visit.

The conversion of the Bristol will deprive Paris of a landmark which has been familiar to British visitors to Paris for many years. Fortunately, the facade will remain the same, as there is a law in existence forbidding the alteration of buildings fronting on the Place Vendome.—Tit-Bits.

Fads and Fashions.

Men favor wool socks in heather colors to wear with low shoes. The most noticeable of all spring fashions is the fashion for lace. Tailored blouses of wash fabrics have long sleeves and low necks. Short wraps are in brilliant colors with unique sleeve-trimmings.

Tucks, ruffles, pleatings and embroidery are seen on the new frocks. Peasant fashions are reflected in some of the newest fabrics for children. Green continues to be the greatest favorite among colors for evening wear. A new tailored suit with a semi-fitted coat is made in a hair-line check.

The Orient is still the favorite source of inspiration for evening gowns. Paris combines hip draperies with the short, narrow skirt in pleasing ways. Bone buttons and black Hercules braid are favorite trimmings for tailored suits. MINARD'S LINTMENT CURES DIPHTEERIA.

Nature's Greatest Washers

The sea washes the world—Pears' Soap washes its inhabitants!

For over a century, Pears' has been making its way round the world. Ask for it in your local store; it is there! From the Cape to Cairo, in the bazaars of India, throughout Australia, Canada, the U.S., and South America Pears' has made its way with civilization,—on merits!

Pears' Soap is transparent because it is pure; it is the most economical soap because "it wears but does not waste." It cleanses and purifies the skin and freshens up body and mind.

is not heavily scented. Its delicate perfume comes from pure natural ingredients; the difference is important,—it means again that Pears' soap is pure.

Persimmons and Paint.

All over Japan flourishes the persimmon tree, although the best specimens grow in the warmer parts of the empire, and the belief is current that the juice of the persimmon is destined to cosmopolitan importance. So far the use of persimmon juice is pigments is hardly known outside of Japan, but such is its proved value in that country that it is expected to become an important article of export, valuable alike to those who paint pictures and those who paint houses. The juice of the persimmon is especially useful in mixing paint in damp countries. More than that, it makes an adhesive which is affected neither by heat nor by water, and is therefore valuable for making packing paper, umbrellas, raincoats, paper boxes, waterproof cloth, and for producing a gloss on silk, tortoise shell and other smooth substances. It improves the paint used on the bottom of a ship, or the roof of a house, and in Japan it solved the problem presented by the failure of western house paints to last satisfactorily in the Japanese climate. But it is only quite lately that western countries have shown any interest in this Japanese product, and now that a beginning has been made in using it to mix enamel and white lead, a foreign demand has begun which is expected to increase to large proportions.

Major D. A. Yarnold.

Major D. A. Yarnold, of the Royal Flying Corps, a well-known British "ace," is superintending the construction in England of a Vickers-Viking airplane with which he will attempt the crossing of the Pacific Ocean from Sydney, Australia, to San Francisco. He is under contract with the Vickers Company to attempt the flight of 6,575 miles. From Sydney to the Fiji Islands, the first step, the distance is 1,748 miles. Prizes of $50,000 each have been offered by H. J. Heinz, of Pittsburgh, and Thomas H. Ince, of Los Angeles. Major Yarnold had 32 German planes to his credit and eight "sausage" or kite balloons. He was decorated several times.

Buttermilk can often be used for cooking, thus saving the sweet milk.

Nelson relics, which will shortly come under the hammer at Sotheby's, include his service sword, which was in his cabin on the Victory. It has passed through many vicissitudes. Seventy years ago the then owner pawned the sword, which later was purchased from the pawnbroker by a licensed victualler. Later it passed to the late Mr. E. B. Treharne, of Bushy.

There are more railway owners than railway workers in the United Kingdom. The railway capital, $1,300,000,000, is held by 800,000 shareholders, but the number of workers is 600,000.

There appeared in a recent landlord-tenant case a woman who used to tour with Blondin, the rope-walker, and went with him through one of the most fearful experiences a human being has ever known, being wheeled across Niagara on a tight-rope by Blondin, blindfolded.

At Minneapolis recently flour dropped 50 cents a barrel, the collapse in foreign exchange and the slump in the wheat market being given as the cause. The quotation, $13.75 a barrel in 98 pounds cotton sacks is the lowest price standard flour has been selling for this year.

At Chillicothe, Ohio, an affair of honor was staged in a restaurant recently when Munroe George and Samuel Nollin, cooks, fought a duel with carving forks over the affections of a woman police report. Nollin was seriously wounded.

Premier Lloyd George is very musical and the possessor of a fine tenor voice, says the Church Family Newspaper. He has several favorite hymns, the chief of which is "Jehoz." He is very fond of the Welsh mining hymn, "Cwm Rhond da," also "Mordah," "Wwyfor" and "Brynhydryd," which he sings in Welsh.

Preparations for the burial of Mrs. Mary E. Mahoney, 90 were under way at Newton, N.H., when the undertaker thought he saw the body move. He looked again. By this time the woman was sitting up in the coffin. "What's coming off around here?" she asked. The burial has been postponed indefinitely.

Determined to Shield the Guilty.

(From the New York Times.) The German Government appears to think that its members will be exposed to something like an epidemic of assassination if it makes any effort to keep its promise to surrender for trial officers charged with violation of the laws of war. In part this is doubtless genuine, in part scintillating. The attempted assassination of Erzberger during his flight suit against Helfferich, shows the determination of the old ruling classes to keep the new Government in its place; and their influence in shaping various policies of that Government, by fear or other forms of pressure with which it is regarded outside of Germany. Doubtless many men in the parties now nominally ruling Germany are as vigorously opposed to the surrender of war criminals as are the most stiff-necked Junkers; and others who are less about these particular criminals are afraid of the vengeance that their friends might take on a government which gave them up. That the feeling goes further than that, however, is indicated by the interview with Edward Bernstein, published in a recent issue of the Times. Bernstein himself has no doubt as to the guilt of the Kaiser, and on the question of atrocities he says that "during the war horrible things were done, the thought of which gives me many sleepless nights." But even he thinks some of the accused men are less guilty than others, which is probably true, and seems to doubt that they will receive a fair trial.

That's Where You're Wrong!

Which would you rather have, a rise of $20 a year or a $5 increase every six months?

Naturally, $20 a year, ninety-nine people out of a hundred would reply. But the hundredth man who accepted $5 every six months would be best off.

Work it out in this way, covering a period of two years. Suppose a man's salary is $100 a year. For the first six months he would get $50; for the second $55; for the third $60, and $65 for the fourth—a total of $230.

By accepting a rise of $20 a year, however, he would only get $100 for the first year, and $120 for the second—a total of $220 for the two years.

Forty-Two Trains An Hour.

MARVELS OF LONDON'S TUBES.

If the lid of London's Tubes could be taken off and a bird's-eye view obtained, the world's most wonderful railway sight would be revealed.

It would show a continuous line of trains converging round London at speeds reaching thirty-five miles an hour, and so close that they would seem to be almost touching or verging on collision.

Forty-two trains are dispatched every hour during the busy times of the morning and evening on the District Railway alone. That means to say they are chasing one another at intervals of less than a hundred seconds.

Yet the risk to passengers is less than that attending a walk upon a London footpath. How is this clock-like precision, rapidity, and safety maintained?

The explanation is easy. The network of London's electric railways derive their power from one large generating station, which distributes the current according to the requirements of the traffic during the day.

For instance, while in the early hours of the morning the output is as low as 4,000 horse-power, at midday the generators have to meet a demand for ten times that amount, while in the evening the demand rises to over 65,000 horse-power.

The rapidity of starting, as compared with steam trains, is due to the fact that electrical propulsion admits of the power being applied at several points on the train. On the six-coach trains of the District Railway, for instance, there are two 240 horse-power motors beneath each alternate car, and these simultaneously respond to the controlling gear in the driver's cabin.

Accidents are practically impossible on account of the many safety and locking devices. Even if the driver were taken ill or died suddenly while the train was travelling at full speed, it would automatically come to a standstill as soon as the pressure of his hand was removed from the controlling lever (says Mr. Arthur R. Burrows in "Conquest"), and should he be by an oversight run beyond his signals, brakes would be automatically applied, again bringing the train to a standstill.

Perfect Signal System.

This is accomplished by a device known as the automatic train stop—a projecting arm fixed to the track. It rises to a vertical position when the signal is at danger, and if the train strikes it in this position, what is known as a trip-cock is opened on the train, cutting off the current and causing the Westinghouse quick-acting brakes to grip on all the wheels.

The line is worked in signalling sections, and a train cannot enter a section in which another train is already travelling, because immediately a train enters the section, the current which has been holding the signal at "all clear" is short-circuited from rail to rail, and this signal, relieved of all restraining influences, drops to danger by the aid of gravity.

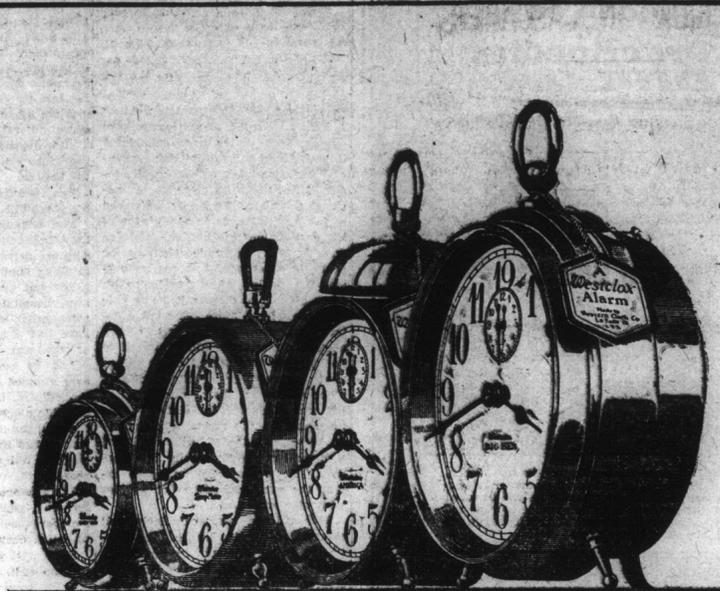

At junctions like Earl's Court the human signalman is in evidence. At this point he diverts 1,025 trains a day, following their movements by means of an illuminated chart, which has the form of ribbons of light through which are moving black patches—the trains with their thousands of passengers.

By fingering, according to the requirements of the moment, tiny six-inch levers on a switch-board, he has access to the various sections.

An automatic fogger does the work of the men we see on the steam lines. This machine, which is operated by the signal gear, automatically extracts a detonator from a magazine and, if the line ahead is occupied, places a detonator on the rail. Should the signal move to safety before the train approaches, the detonator is removed from the rail and a fresh one extracted from the magazine, which holds fifty. When the detonator stock falls to ten this automatic whistles for more.—Tit-Bits.

A favorite dish with the Eskimos is ice-cream made of seal oil, into which snow is stirred until the desired consistency has been obtained; then frozen in berries of different kinds are added.

Westclox

WESTCLOX is a short way of saying West-ern clocks. It means a line of good alarm clocks, made by the Western Clock Co.

The trade-mark, Westclox, is printed on the dial of every one; also on the orange-colored, six-sided tag attached to each clock.

These marks of quality make it easy to choose a Westclox alarm.

Demand for Westclox is growing greater every day. Steadily increasing production does not meet it. We are doing our utmost. But, remember, there is a high quality standard to maintain and skilled clock-makers are not trained in a day.

Why Does a Poker

SET HOT AT BOTH ENDS IF LEFT IN THE FIRE!

Both ends of the poker become heated because the poker is made of iron, and iron is a particularly good conductor of heat. To understand this we must look into the question of what a good conductor of heat is. In this case the particles of iron, which combined form the poker, are so close together that when those at the end of the poker which is in the fire get hot, the particles next to them also get hot and so on until the whole poker is hot. The difference between a thing which is a good conductor of heat and a thing which is not a good conductor lies in the ability of the different particles which compose it to hand the heat on to the others. Did you ever notice that the handle of a solid silver spoon will become hot if the spoon is left in hot coffee? Solid silver is a good conductor of heat. A plated spoon is not a good conductor, however, and will not become hot if left in the cup of hot coffee as a solid silver spoon will.

Australia Must Be White How to Act in 'Flu' Time.

Says the Prime Minister in Answer to Japanese.

If there is one question upon which all Australia may be said to be agreed, it is on the tremendous importance of keeping Australia "white." A long succession of statesmen have approved the policy and enunciated it with force and conviction whenever occasion demanded, until, today, it has taken its place as a national postulate. So firmly convinced is the Australian as to the justice of his position on this matter, and so entirely is he persuaded that, as far as he is concerned, it is really outside the realm of discussion that, when obliged to discuss it, he is able to do so with a quite remarkable detachment. He does not get roused about the matter or allow himself to be betrayed into saying harsh things about his neighbor, or into criticizing other people or their standards of life and conduct. He simply takes his stand on the right, he claims to be the sole judge of who shall and who shall not settle within his borders. He is perfectly willing to extend the same right to other peoples without question.

This attitude was particularly well exemplified by Mr. Hughes, the Australian Prime Minister, in the course of a recent speech in the House of Representatives. Mr. Hughes was describing the stand which he had made, during the Peace Conference in Paris, against the efforts of Japan, supported by several of the powers, to secure the recognition of racial equality, and the practical acceptance of the consequences of this recognition, namely, the throwing open of the doors of Australia to the Japanese immigrant. Mr. Hughes, as he told the story, followed in Paris the usual course. He at once opposed the proposal which was put forward by the Japanese delegate with a quite friendly but quite emphatic refusal. The Japanese delegate, not unnaturally, declined to take no for an answer. The proposal was amended and again amended. Pressure was brought to bear in this direction and in that, and by other delegates than the Japanese. But Mr. Hughes remained quite unmoved. "I said then," he told the House of Representatives, "that it did not matter how they altered it, or what way they put it, we would not accept it."

Mr. Hughes, however, was very far from refusing to discuss the question. To Baron Makino, when he declared that the Japanese were a proud people, and that they regarded it as intolerable that they should not be considered as the equals of Australians and other races, he insisted that he was amongst the first to recognize the Japanese as an equal. He hoped, moreover, that the Japanese people and the Australian people would always be friends. But, he added, a man in his ordinary life did not invite all his friends into his house, and even those he did invite he did not ask to become permanent residents. Because he did not invite a man to his house was not to say that he did not regard him as an equal. It was the right of every freeman to say who should come in and who should not come into his house, and therefore the Australians were not to be regarded as not looking upon Japanese as equals because they desired to exercise this right. He pointed out that Japanese ideals and Australian ideals were different. He would not venture to say that Australian ideals were greater and better than Japanese ideals. He would content himself with saying that they were different. The paths of the two peoples lay in different directions, and the Australians must tread theirs according to take instincts and impulses which came from their history and their race.

Having said this and more along the same lines, Mr. Hughes just stood. It was a typical attitude, and the Australian Prime Minister was quite justified in remarking, as he did, "I knew I spoke for Australia."—Christian Science Monitor.

Seals in the Wash.

THEY ARE NOW TO BE SEEN AROUND ENGLISH COAST.

If you visit that big shallow bay on the East Coast of England, known as the Wash, you may see seals by the score.

They are lying on the sand-banks like flocks of sheep.

Until recently they had practically vanished from the English coast.

The return of the seal, like the great increase of fish in the North Sea, is one of the results of the war. Another cause is the fact that they are under the protection of the Local Government Board.

Four different sorts of seals are found on British coasts. Those seen in the Wash are the common seal. One is apt to think of seals in connection with ice floes, but the common seal has no use for ice. It is always to be seen upon sand-banks or beaches, and ranges as far south as the Mediterranean.

This sort has no fur, but its skin is covered with hair, while its flesh is quite good to eat.

The Harp Seal—so-called from the dark harp-shaped mark on its back—is a larger animal, being as much as nine feet long. It has been seen on various parts of the British coast.

So, too, has the Ringed Seal, a small species which is very common in Greenland.

The finest of all British seals is the Great Bearded Seal. The bulls are often as much as ten feet in length and of immense weight.

All the seals are terrible destroyers of fish, especially of salmon. Consequently they are not popular with fishermen. On Danish coasts a reward is paid for their destruction, and they are being killed off at the rate of a thousand a year.

The Gang Assemble at Tucker's.

AND DISCUSS CURRENT TOPICS.

We had a full meeting of the Board at Tucker's on Monday night. All the old Reliabes were present, including The Cute Man, Delaney, Tucker and his better-half, Mrs. Tucker. The fire burned fairly bright, considering that you get about an eighth of solid rock in a hoghead of coal these days. And by the same token, what's the matter with the Government appointing a Coal Inspector. We have quite a lot of Inspectors, so Delaney says, but we haven't heard of a Coal Inspector yet. If the Premier will take a tip, we would suggest that he appoint The Cute Man as Coal Inspector, and we guarantee that he will give entire satisfaction. Tucker says he worked in Sydney Mines, and that the dust that we are getting from Sydney these days was then used in making roads. Any man that can find a knob of coal in the quarter that is in Tucker's cupboard will qualify for a position on the Detective force. Well, as I was saying when I started, we all met up at Tucker's, and it put me in mind of old times. 'Tis hard to get a crowd to meet in a neighbor's house now because we are all kept busy playing in card tournaments at the halls. The ladies have joined the tournaments now, and make the games doubly interesting. There's one great drawback, though, in playing cards with ladies. You can't call them the names you feel like calling them when, as your partner, one of them comes down with the five on your Jack of Diamonds. Mrs. Tucker don't go out to card tournaments because she thinks 'tis too much bother to light the fire again when she comes home. Mrs. Tucker is old-fashioned and hangs on to the old idea that the woman's place is in her home. When Mrs. Tucker passes in her checks I think the last of that kind of woman will depart.

The Cute Man's Contrary Opinion.

The Cute Man entertains a different opinion, and believes that women have a perfect right to accompany their husbands to the halls. Some folks say that the next move in Social Reform will be to do away with card-playing. Delaney says, that if this is done, the men will start out and invent another pastime. He says 'tis a hard task to make angels out of men, and the more you try to do it by stringent laws, the more you find out how difficult it is. This is clearly shown, so he says, in the way that Prohibition is keeping our men sober. Tucker says that the cause of Dope drinking is, because the ordinary workman feels jealous of those who seem to be able to get all the Liquor they want. In his opinion, the Controller's Department should be closed, for now the fact of it being in existence only creates a desire for booze. And if it were wiped out entirely people would soon forget that Liquor was ever imported. The only thing the Controller's Department gives the workman is a strong smell that reminds him of the days when he could get a hot glass of Punch for three ha'pence. Mary Ann Downey came in while we were discussing the current topics. She carried a bag of groceries and laid it down on the floor, while at the same time she lowered herself down in the rocking chair. She seemed quite vexed and started in grumbling about the high cost of food. Mrs. Tucker listened to her for a while, and then asked her why she didn't change the time now and again, and growl about the high cost of umbrellas or winey. Every one was grumbling about the price of grub, but no one makes a speech dealing with the high cost of clothing, boots or gramophone records. Mrs. Tucker says, she don't see many grocers retire with plenty money, as a matter of fact if ye hear of a business man in difficulties, you can bet your bottom dollar that nine times out of ten 'tis a grocer. Mary Ellen says that we have to growl at some one and the grocer is the easiest mark. We know all about the price of prog, all the papers give us the market prices, but as far as dry goods are concerned the intelligence we get about the first cost is about as much as the man on the street gets from a secret society. Tucker told Mary Ann to growl and grumble away. 'Tis all the pleasure a poor man or a poor woman have in this world, and they are fully entitled to it.

Opportunities in Long-Term Bonds

Bonds maturing in 1919 or 1920 may now be sold advantageously, and the funds reinvested in longer term securities. The benefits of present high interest yield rates may thereby be secured for a period of ten years and longer.

We shall be glad to offer suggestions.

Try This Eyesight Test Yourself.

NEAR VISION TEST.

Hold this paper fourteen inches away from your eyes in a natural reading position. If you cannot read the following lines of print easily, using one eye at a time,

YOU NEED GLASSES.

Toric Lenses conform to the curve of rotation of the eyes greatly widening the field of vision. They are theoretically more perfect than flat lenses besides being better looking. No matter what lenses you wear your prescription can be ground in Torics.
