NEURALGIA.

Nujol For Constipation. CONSTIPATION not only causes the generation of poisons, which are carried through the system by the blood and attack it from within, but also by thus lowering the general stamina makes the weakened system an easier prey to harmful germs from without. Nujol works on an entirely new principle. Without forcing or irritating, it softens the food waste. This enables the many muscles in the intestines, contracted and expanding in their normal way, to squeeze the food waste along and out of the system. It is absolutely harmless and pleasant to take. Try it. "Regular as Clockwork"

THE Lady of the Night. Amelia Makes a Success. CHAPTER XIX. THE SILLY CRIMINAL. The only thing that was wanted was a name—"Nora Ryall," Mrs. Ryall was a very foolish and very ignorant woman, but, like most foolish and ignorant people, she possessed a kind of low cunning and astuteness. Moreover, her ignorance and her folly bred a sort of audacity, and it was only logical that after a while there began to creep into her mind the suggestion that she might—in Nora's interests, of course—in the vacant space in the deed.

LUX FOR DAINTY FABRICS. When Choosing the Material for a washable Frock for the growing child—MOTHER naturally thinks of the possibilities of the fabric shrinking in the wash. It is therefore a relief to her to know that the fabric will not shrink or lose its charm if Lux is used for its cleansing. Durability, charm of colour, quality of texture, the freshness of newness—these are preserved to all good fabrics washed with Lux. A packet of Lux—a bowl of warm water—and dainty hands can cleanse delightful fabrics in a delightfully easy manner. The beautiful pure Lux flakes are whisked into a creamy, bubbly lather in an instant. Gently squeeze this cleansing foam through and through the soiled texture—then rinse in clean water and hang to dry. Lux cannot harm a silken thread. It coaxes rather than forces the dirt from the clothes. Packets (two sizes) may be obtained everywhere. LEVER BROTHERS LIMITED, PORT SUNLIGHT, ENGLAND.

Mrs. SELCHERT'S DAUGHTER Was Restored to Health by Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. Horicon, Wis.—"My young daughter had been troubled for several months with backache and a head feeling in her stomach. She did not want to eat anything, while before she was so hungry she could scarcely wait for her meals. The doctors gave her medicine but it did not help her. One day I was reading a little book of yours and it reminded me that when I was a young girl I took several bottles of Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound. So she went to the drug store and got a bottle, and after taking the second bottle she was sitting at her desk and had not had backache since. In all she took six bottles of it. She goes to school and on Saturdays helps with the housework. She is a normal, healthy girl now and we recommend your medicine. You have my permission to publish this letter as a testimonial for the Vegetable Compound."—Mrs. FRANK SELCHERT, 150 Larabee St., Horicon Wisconsin. Mothers all over the country have found Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound to be a most reliable remedy for such conditions.

CHAPTER XX. MRS. RYALL'S TEMPTATION. When Ryall said that word "Nora" his wife drew back a step, grew rather pale, and, going to the looking-glass, arranged her hair. "Oh, it was just going to tell you," she said, with the air of one about to give a pleasant surprise. "You'll be so glad to hear the news, Reginald. I found Nora in London; actually ran against her, as you may say. Poor, dear Nora! It's a pity she's got such a vile temper. I made it up with her; but I could not persuade her to come home with me. She'd got a situation as a companion to a lady who was going abroad. They were starting next day—quite a good situation, a hundred a year, and all found. Really, as I told her, we couldn't expect her to throw up such a capital chance and come back to such a life as we like 'ere. She was looking awfully well, and she sent her love to you—"

Service. He was just an ordinary everyday type of man—one that you can see almost any day emerging from the railroad depot. Just come in from the country, probably for a day's pleasure, or perhaps only a buying trip. Passing along the street he noticed a large gold sign announcing the head office of our "house," so entered, to encounter a bright-looking clerk who, perceiving the stranger's indecision, inquired if he could be of assistance. The stranger replied, "Yes, I want to buy a Universal," whereupon the clerk hustled him over to a marine engine salesman, with the words: "This gentleman wants to buy a Universal." The salesman smiled knowingly, and with a quick self-satisfying glance of appraisal of the "prospect," poured forth his story of all the wonderful points and advantages of the well-known Universal marine motor. Without ceasing to hardly take a fresh breath, he drew lurid and glowing mental pictures of the great efficiency and thorough enjoyment that the present owners of the Universal were experiencing; dilating on the facts and intimating that soon there would be Universalists the world over and we should not be able to meet the demand from stock, as we were at the present time—ten minutes of masterful oratory. "Well," the stranger interposed, at the first opportunity, "it isn't exactly what I want; it won't suit me." At this juncture our loquacious salesman bubbled forth again, directing a masterful eulogy on the suitability of the Universal FOR ALL PURPOSES. This lasted fully ten minutes longer.

"But," continued the stranger, "what I want is—"

The "Holy Rollers" START IN LONDON. The "Holy Rollers," who have opened a mission room in Tottenham Court Road, London, and another in the strange American sects who have visited London. Their official title is the Society of the Holy Ghost, and they were founded by the Rev. Frank Sanford, who started many years ago as an assistant to Dr. Curry, a faith-healer, carrying on in Chicago an establishment called "Dr. Curry's Home," where patients were cured by prayer alone. Mr. Sanford then started the "Holy Rollers," a sect which began with faith-healing, and added the gift of tongues, re-

Children With Tails. Peculiarly Also Found Among Army Recruits. "Children born with redimentary tails are not so rare as is generally supposed," said Professor Arthur Keith, the famous anthropologist, at the Royal Institution, London. At the end of his paper, one or two doctors among the audience stated that they had also professional experience of children born with vestigial tails. One doctor went further. He said that among the recruits he had examined for the Army no fewer than eight possessed this peculiarity. Professor Keith claimed that Huxley's verdict that man could claim no place apart in the animal world, but was a member of it in substance and structure, remained unchallenged to-day. The break which separated him from the gorilla was less than the gap which separated the gorilla from the lowest ape. "But you wanted a Universal, sir?" he enquired. "Oh, yes," was the slow, deliberate reply. "Yes, I thank you for your wonderful explanation of the Universal motor; but what I wanted was a universal joint. Good day." Supply the moral yourself.—Canadian Motor Boat.

Religious dances, and other pious extravaganzas. The next was run on Communist lines, and all converts gave up their property. With the large sums thus obtained the "Holy Rollers" built a huge wooden temple and barracks on a hill in the State of Maine. Here perpetual prayer for the conversion of the world was maintained day and night by relays of "Holy Rollers," who mounted up into a sort of wooden observatory. One of their later freaks was the purchase of an old wooden barque, the name called the Mary Jane, which they renamed the Kingdom. Gene. Mr. Sanford announced that he was about to establish a "Squadron of the Holy Ghost" to carry the new gospel round the world. He made two trips to Palestine with an amateur crew of "Holy Rollers" and preached his quaint theories in Jerusalem. On one occasion it was reported that the "flagship" had been lost in the Bay of Biscay with all hands, but it is very difficult even for a crew of "Holy Rollers" to lose one of those staunch old wooden ships, and the "Kingdom Gene" arrived in America safely, though several weeks overdue. Subsequently she ran ashore on Rock Island, off Yarmouth, Nova Scotia, and the "Holy Rollers" had to camp some days in canvas shelters built on the beach and lived on the vessel's stores until they were rescued. The "Holy Rollers" have some strange beliefs, though not exact, to the Army of the Lord, which was run by King Solomon (Edward Wood) at the Glory Hole, in Brighton, 20 years ago.

Just out! What Edison Likes in Music. It's here for you. F. V. GHESMAN, Edison Dealer, St. John's. "WHAT Edison Likes in Music" is all the magazines have said about it, — and more. It names six selections which Mr. Edison thinks every one should have. Gives his views on what is good and what is bad in music. Shows you Edison, the music lover. And, — it lists his 25 favorite tunes. Get a copy, — and learn Mr. Edison's favorites. Check up and see whether you have the six essential selections. Use the excellent ideas on music appreciation, which Mr. Edison expresses. We have a copy of "What Edison Likes in Music" for you. How long we'll have it, is uncertain. The booklets are in great demand. Act quickly. All you need is an Edison Requisition Blank and a memory. Then, come in some time and hear the selections Mr. Edison has picked. We have complete stocks. You are cordially welcome.

Grenfell N. MISS WARNE TALK. The Grenfell Mission. The lecturer traced the mission under the leadership of Dr. Grenfell, beginning to its present Miss Warne told of being done at the orphanages. Her lecture was illustrated with lantern slides. These included views of the mission in places in Newfoundland, the stations, picture steamers and sailing vessels, and also shown by picture and of schooners of the force. The wonderful work of the children taken at the time hospitals or orphanages were taken away from them to leave these children to be reared in the orphanages. The meeting opened by Mrs. F. W. Fyfe as president. Mrs. F. W. Fyfe as secretary in the place of Mrs. F. W. Fyfe. She is going to teach for a year at Cartwright. At the conclusion of the meeting a hearty vote of thanks was moved by the Miss and seconded by Sydney Post. The Count Alessandro Casaghiostro, who he called himself as any to be a student of his. His Giuseppe Balsamo, at Palermo on June 2nd, 1808. He received the education of a monarchist, but being expelled from Palermo he began a wandering life, and in 1810 he was arrested under a Greek name and induced to come to Rome where he was more prosaically called Casaghiostro. He was near, for when arrested in regard to the release of the Emperor Napoleon, he was thrown into the Bastille. Released after nine months, but banished to France. He came to London in 1818 and was two years in St. James's Park, selling Egyptian antiquities. He again ventured on a similar venture in 1818 and appeared in the inquiry had for eyes upon them for fortune-telling and was incarcerated there. Angelo Casaghiostro died, but the sentence was commuted and he was released in 1825. In 1825 he was in a convent of their lives in a fascinating romance a Physician.

Grenfell N. F. Mission.

MISS WARNE TALKS AT SYDNEY. Miss Warne, organizing secretary of the Grenfell Mission, gave a very interesting talk at St. Andrew's hall recently concerning the work of that society.

The lecturer traced the history of the mission under the capable leadership of Dr. Grenfell from its humble beginning to its present day efficiency. Miss Warne told of the splendid work being done at the six hospitals and at the orphanages.

The meeting appointed Mrs. A. W. Downes as president of the ladies auxiliary. Miss Florie Jett was appointed secretary in place of Miss Agnes Hamilton who is going to Newfoundland to teach for a year in the orphanage.

Cagliostro the Impostor.

The Count Alessandro Cagliostro, who called himself, had as good a title as any to be called the king of swindlers. His real name was Giuseppe Balsamo, and he was born at Palermo on June 8, 1743. He received the rudiments of education in a monastery at Calistano, in Sicily, but being expelled for misconduct, he began a wandering life, visiting Egypt and other countries.

Moderate Prohibition.

Editor Evening Telegram. Dear Sir,—Will you please grant me space in your esteemed paper to make a few remarks on a letter appearing in your columns a few days ago, entitled "Prohibition is the Law of the Land," written by Rev. T. B. Darby. Prohibition was the law of the land when the people by a large majority made it so, but we are sorry to say it is not the law of the land to-day, Sir, because to my mind, the people who helped to make that law was among the first to break it.

matter and the only thing that can be done is to make a change in the present disgraceful state of affairs. I do not hold with any man who dictates to his fellow man what he shall eat or what he shall drink or where-withal he shall be clothed; that is his own business, and if he does it in a sane and sober manner, no one will find fault with him. I say, Sir, that the things God gave us as a people should be used aright, and not abused, as we have seen it, and the state of things as they exist to-day is the worst in the history of our country, brought about by the Prohibition law. And now, turning to the good book, as our chart and compass, what do we find there. We find that God blessed everything that He made; and who will dare say anything that God blessed is a curse. Everything we use is blessed by God, but man is the abuser. And we find also where Noah was so drunk with wine that his sons had to cover his nakedness; also King David spoke of wine as making glad the heart of man. So you see the Church stands on the right to use wine for sacramental purposes, which is part of our belief. And St. Matthew, one of Christ's own disciples, was a publican, and he called him to follow Him; but we do not see in Holy Writ anything as binding the Apostle as long as he did the work of his Master. So at the marriage feast where the Lord Himself turned water into wine, the governor of the feast said, you have kept the good wine until now; but there is nothing said whether there were any other kind of spirits there or not. Then how do we know? Men of old worked together; they lived together in more unity with each other; but all we see to-day is trouble and discontent, all because the people are deprived of the right which was ordained for them. The quicker the people of the world over gets down to the plain fact that everyone is his brother and everyone should bear each other's burdens, the quicker we will have a better people, and God will cause His world to prosper where now we have nothing but discontent, with all at each other's throats as it were.

Editor, in thanking you for your valuable space, might I say it is the wish of this committee and a large majority of the people of this country, that both Government and Opposition deal with this matter at once in the interest of all concerned. I remain, yours respectfully, WILLIAM FRENCH, 24 Bannerman St., City, June 8, 1921. (Note.—We would beg to suggest to our correspondent that though St. Matthew was a "publican," this title does not convey the impression that the Evangelist before his conversion, was a dealer in spirituous liquors. The word "publican" defines a collector of taxes, as it is used in the New Testament.—Editor Telegram.)

Child Welfare.

The second general meeting of the Child Welfare Association was held in the Grenfell Hall on Monday, June 6th, at 3.30 p.m. In the absence of the President, Miss Southcott, the 1st Vice-President, Mrs. V. P. Burke, presided. The meeting was well attended and much interest is being shown in the work. Over seventy members have paid their fees. Their names will appear in the Treasurer's list. The Association now claims 116 members, of this we may feel proud, when we remember that the new organization is not yet one month old; however, we hope by the end of the second month to more than double our present number. We feel sure that no reader can fail to respond to the Treasurer's appeal, which appears elsewhere.

Fads and Fashions.

Overblouses have wide sashes, the ends of which are fringed with beads. Paris favors serge for street wear. The irregular hem line is still in vogue. Drecoll shows full-box styles in suit jackets. Gray is still very popular for street wear. Coat sleeves are in raglan effect in fancy line. Black-and-white combinations are extremely smart. Grays and browns are good for woolen materials. The one-piece dress has a vest of linen, silk or wool. Chinese-shaped coats are elaborately embroidered. With the lace dresses extremely large hats are worn. Most skirts are about seven inches from the floor. The Parisienne favors yellow embroidery on dark blue. Favored shades of serge are light putty, blue and beige. Georgette blouses have crocheted collars of colored silk. Novelty embossed metal braids are noted as trimmings. The embroidered lingerie glist is used with dark dresses. A hat of henna duvetyl is embroidered in gray angora. Leather, felt, velvet and duvetyl are used for early fall hats. Black is yet a favorite color and will be much worn this season. The Directoire coat has a great following among French women. Plaid skirts show belt and pockets trimmed with colored leather. Tailored dresses have a decided flare to the skirt below the hips.

Tingling Ears.

In some sections of the country they say that if your right ear burns someone is speaking well of you; if your left ear burns he is speaking ill—to which is often added that if both ears burn, friend and foe are fighting about you. Other "ear" superstitions are that if your right ear burns a woman is talking about you; if your left, a man, and that if your ears burn at all, people are speaking well of you; if your ears are cold, the contrary. But the general superstition is that if your ears burn someone is talking ill about you, and is so ancient that it is mentioned by the elder Pliny early in the first century. It is said to have its origin in an "illusion of analogy." If you roughly abuse or reprove a man to his face you are apt to cause his blood to rush to his head and "make his ears tingle."

When he feels his ears burn (or tingle) and nobody is abusing him to his face, the sensation causes him to reason by analogy that someone is abusing him behind his back. BERLIN, June 7. General Von Hofer, head of the German defense forces in Upper Silesia, says the Vossische Zeitung's correspondent, has replied to the ultimatum demanding that he withdraw the German forces, that he has drawn the power nor will he recall self-defense forces from places whose protection they have taken upon themselves. He adds that previous experience of Germans in Upper Silesia do not warrant their lives and property being left unprotected. He is very definite in saying that enforcement of the Allied demand "would make it impossible for me to exercise my self-defense." He adds that he has succeeded in making effective.

DAMAGES TO RAILWAYS.

PUEBLO, Colo., June 7. Damage to three principal railroads entering Pueblo will amount to $1,500,000, according to an estimate made today by H. A. EAST TEACHES WEST.

LONDON, June 7. Dr. Wellington Koo, Chinese representative at the League of Nations, has notified the Secretary of the League that it is the intention of the Chinese Government to give effect to the League Assembly's recommendation that "the limitation of expenditure on armaments." The League of Nations, at the Assembly in December last, recommended that Powers limit their expenditures on armaments during the next two years to their appropriations for that purpose. During the last year, China is the first nation to notify the League Secretary, officially, of the intention to adopt the Assembly's recommendation.

CHURCH UNION APPROVED.

TORONTO, June 7. Organic Union with the Methodist and Congregational Church was approved by the Presbyterian General Assembly of Canada today by a vote of 419 to 111. The result was little different from the vote on Union when at the Winnipeg assembly in 1916, when the returns were 406 to 114 in favor of union.

STEEL'S BIG DECLINE.

SOUTH BEND, Ind., June 7. The steel industry is suffering the worst depression in forty years' experience, Charles M. Schwab declared last night in a speech in which he asserted that only a new industrial fabric, built on the basis of economy, could keep German industry from reaping the benefits of the world war. From a normal production of forty million tons of steel, annually, the United States industry has slipped to less than ten million tons, Mr. Schwab announced.

IN THE FLOODED REGIONS.

PUEBLO, Colo., June 7. Danger of pestilence following last Friday's disastrous flood, has passed, according to officials of U.S.A. public health service. There is plenty of food and shelter has been provided in relief camps to remove the congestion in churches, schools, and in private homes, and an army of men has been at work clearing the streets of debris, removing dead animals and clearing out business places.

PUEBLO, Colo., June 7.

Forty-two bodies of flood victims were in morgues of the city to-night. Five additional bodies were recovered. A number of unidentified bodies were identified and some of the discrepancies in the lists previously announced were cleared up.

House of Assembly.

WEDNESDAY, June 7.

The House met at 3 p.m. Mr. Sullivan presented a petition from his district on the matter of a Ferry.

The Prime Minister who seemed to have quite recovered from his experiences in the Magistrate's Court during the morning, answered Sir Michael Cashin's question concerning the Constable's circular at least, to his own satisfaction, if not to Sir Michael's.

The exportation of Timber Bill was read a third time. The Prime Minister asked that the amendment of the War Measures Act be referred to a special committee. This will solve this question satisfactorily.

The House then went into Committee of the Whole on the Law Society Act amendment. The purpose of the amendment is to shorten the number of years of study for law students who have served in His Majesty's Forces during the war. The Bill went through the Committee stage without opposition. The D'Arcy Exploration Co. Resolutions were read a second time. The Fox was not present and as he is the only member opposed to the agreement, there was no comment at all on it.

The House next went into Committee of the Whole on Supply.

Sir Michael Cashin took up the matter of the recent $4,000,000 loan. He said the Underwriters had first offered Newfoundland $8 in New York. Then they inserted an advertisement in the American press advising the public that they had the bonds for sale and were selling them at 93% for themselves at the beginning. The sum total made by the brokers and their customers was 12 per cent. of the $4,000,000, that is, $480,000. And moreover, 2 1/2 per cent. has to be paid annually on the loan, whilst we were getting 9 1/2% here our bonds were selling at over 103 in Toronto. If this loan had been raised properly we would have been $250,000 better off. And the only excuse made in the House for not advertising the loan was for fear that the Opposition might prevent the loan being taken up, by painting black pictures of the country's condition. The whole thing was a giveaway purely and simply, and the Prime Minister had laid himself open to suspicion. But this was only in keeping with the Government's other actions since coming to power. As regards the financial statement, the Prime Minister will know that if he tendered one up to a month before the House, opened his mouth never raised the loan. He claimed that we were in wrong with the loan because the Prime Minister had not carried out his promise to the people. Instead of reducing taxation, the Prime Minister had thrown money about like a drunken sailor and the only answer to the Company's plea for protection was to give the Revenue up to the 30th June was $2,000,000 short, whilst the $4,000,000 surplus had been expended. Yet, the Government would not admit patients to the sanatorium because they were economizing. Eighteen months ago the Government had come in with clean hands, since they had betrayed the trust of the people and were in a sorry state. Sir Michael then referred back to his happening during Mr. Coaker's tenure of the office of acting Prime Minister. Whilst he was in this position, the Prime Minister and the Minister of Justice being out of the country at the time, the country had been brought to the sorry condition it was now in. Where was the man who had caused all this? He had taken to the woods and dared not show his face in the House now. Sir Michael appealed to the Prime Minister to state his plans for the future. He dwelt at some length on the railway and enquired what was to be done with it. He stated that before the Colony was done with it the Railway would have cost $2,500,000.

Mr. Bennett said that Sir Michael Cashin's speech should be taken to heart by all. He expressed surprise at the apathetic outlook of the people on public affairs, while we were drifting to annihilation on the political sea. The running of a country was like running a business, and due consideration had to be given economy and efficiency. We had to live on what the people could earn and the people's earnings were limited. We to-day, were dependent on bankrupt European countries. Moreover it was computed to-day that fish could not be caught at a profit, at $6 a quintal, and he did not see how more could be obtained. If the Government had their way now, they would close the House without a crisis coming next fall, which would stagger the country. He said the House should be in session the whole of the year to meet any emergency that might arise. The interest on our Public Debt was to-day 2 1/2 millions of dollars leaving only 1 1/2 millions of the 1914

SIMS ON SINN FEIN.

LONDON, June 7. Rear Admiral Sims of the United States Navy addressed Britons and United States citizens to disregard the "dangerous propaganda circulated in U.S.A. by your enemies and ours." In addressing the English-speaking Union here to-day, Sims said Sinn Fein Americans were making war on America to-day. The simple truth is, he said, they have the blood of American and British boys on their hands, for the obstructions they placed in the way of the most effective Allied operations of the navies during the war.

MR. MACDONNELL GENTLY CENSURED.

Editor Evening Telegram. Dear Sir.—Really, I am surprised at Mr. J. R. Macdonnell, the St. George's district representative. According to to-day's Telegram he "vehemently opposed" the bill to give the women of this land the long-winded right of political enfranchisement, stating as his intention that he would oppose the bill at every stage of its progress. His reasons for such a stand, if the Telegram gave anything like a fairly correct reproduction of them, appear to be a flimsy nature not ordinarily to be attached to the name of Mr. Macdonnell, whom many of us had come to regard as a wielder of logic and a man whose opinions were not old-time prejudice nor illiberal sentiments. Mr. Macdonnell put forward the amazing proposition that "the question of women's suffrage should be put to the vote of the men of the country." Now, doesn't that sound democratic? Rule by the people? Mr. Macdonnell doesn't believe in rule by the people at all. He has as his towering ideal rule by the men. Government of, by and for the people—that immortal phrase—has no meaning for him. Rule by men, of men, for men is the philosophy of the member for St. George's district. Or, I wonder if it is possible? perhaps Mr. Macdonnell doesn't count women as people at all. They are just women. It is said of clergymen that they are a third sex—the other two being men and women. That is not half so interesting as Mr. Macdonnell's contention (if it is his contention) that the world is occupied by two classes of humans—people and women. Now, Mr. Macdonnell has to admit one of two things: that democracy—which is rule by the people—is the greatest form of Government; or that women aren't people. Let him pick his choice. I should be intensely interested to have his explanation of why women should not be given the vote, if democracy is to obtain, and women are people. Yours sincerely, J. R. SMALLWOOD.

Relief Work Problem.

WHO WILL PAY? When the men engaged at relief work on the road along the water line died in this morning, they found that the Council had taken away all the tools from the job. This was done yesterday afternoon following the Committee's decision to close down the works on Saturday evening. The men, however, had quite a lot of tools hidden in the woods, which the Council's employees could not find, and with these they set to work. Others went to the city and brought in wheelbarrows and shovels, so that large numbers are still laboring, the others staying on the job until tools are provided. Some of the men, thinking that the Council would not pay them for further work, quit and went to the waterfront to seek other employment. What the outcome of this last transaction will be is hard to say. The men have worked one day on a half since the Council decided to close down the job, and who will pay is the problem.

He Never Loses a Day From His Job Now, Says Fettes

Had To Spend A Day Or Two In Bed Every Week Before He Got Tanlac.

"Six months ago I was suffering so bad that not a week passed when I didn't have to stay in bed for a day or two; but now I'm working hard every day and feel good all the time," said Daniel Fettes, 115 Berthelot St., Quebec, in relating his experience with Tanlac recently. "About a year ago I lost my appetite entirely, and many days I could eat a bit of solid food and only took a little milk. Everything I ate hurt me, and after meals I had fearful cramps and dizzy spells when I could hardly stand up. My back often pained me so bad I just yelled out in the agony, and it seemed that I would break in two. I was so weak many days I could hardly drive myself along at my work until time to go home. "I started taking Tanlac because so many were praising it, and in a little while I had a big appetite and everything agreed with me perfectly. My health and strength had all come back to me now, and I'm enjoying working, eating and sleeping better than I have in a long time. I'm always glad to say a good word for this great medicine Tanlac."

Mr. Samson saw fit to interrupt and was promptly squelched by Mr. Bennett, who most aptly quoted "Pools ruck in where angels fear to tread." The Government, he said, was concerned in inquiry and not in a born in an editorial article in Monday's Star with reference to the Colonial Cordage Co. The article was most disconcerting and not altogether veracious. The closing of the Ropewalk meant that there would be 100 operatives on the street next week. Sir John would be a sorry place without its industries. At 6:30 p.m. recess was taken until 8 p.m.

NIGHT SESSION.

When the House resumed at 8 o'clock, Mr. Bennett pointed out that the statement in the Star's leading article in reference to the Ropewalk was not according to fact, and that a Government organ had seen fit to make statements not conducive to the best interests of the industrial life of the country. Lines and twines were free of duty and thus could not be affected by the new tariff, and the only answer to the Company's plea for protection was to give the Revenue up to the 30th June was $2,000,000 short, whilst the $4,000,000 surplus had been expended. Yet, the Government would not admit patients to the sanatorium because they were economizing. Eighteen months ago the Government had come in with clean hands, since they had betrayed the trust of the people and were in a sorry state. Sir Michael then referred back to his happening during Mr. Coaker's tenure of the office of acting Prime Minister. Whilst he was in this position, the Prime Minister and the Minister of Justice being out of the country at the time, the country had been brought to the sorry condition it was now in. Where was the man who had caused all this? He had taken to the woods and dared not show his face in the House now. Sir Michael appealed to the Prime Minister to state his plans for the future. He dwelt at some length on the railway and enquired what was to be done with it. He stated that before the Colony was done with it the Railway would have cost $2,500,000.

Mr. Bennett said that Sir Michael Cashin's speech should be taken to heart by all. He expressed surprise at the apathetic outlook of the people on public affairs, while we were drifting to annihilation on the political sea. The running of a country was like running a business, and due consideration had to be given economy and efficiency. We had to live on what the people could earn and the people's earnings were limited. We to-day, were dependent on bankrupt European countries. Moreover it was computed to-day that fish could not be caught at a profit, at $6 a quintal, and he did not see how more could be obtained. If the Government had their way now, they would close the House without a crisis coming next fall, which would stagger the country. He said the House should be in session the whole of the year to meet any emergency that might arise. The interest on our Public Debt was to-day 2 1/2 millions of dollars leaving only 1 1/2 millions of the 1914

THE CRIME OF KULTUR.

The trials of the war criminals begin in Germany. First brought to book is a mere Prussian sergeant. He is accused of having forced British prisoners to work in the mines against the will of having thrown stones at them, of having hurled at them certain animalistic epithets. He cannot, does not, gain the brutality. He remarks, by way of explanation, "What one is taught, one is likely to learn." Which is at once revelation, confession and damnation of, and—after the Prussian manner—apologism for, the crime of kultur.
