SLEEP MYSTIFIES DOCTORS

For Ten Days a Girl Has Lain Unconscious and Barely Breathing.

ELECTRICITY FAILS TO AROUSE HER

Many Specialists Working Over New York Patient—Spell Seems Hypnotic.

New York, Oct. 29—For ten days Miss Nellie Corcoran has lain unconscious in St. Vincent's Hospital, and the best medical skill in the city has been unable to revive her or even to tell what is the cause of her condition.

Every treatment known to the medical science has been resorted to in vain. The doctors are baffled by this new mystery, and in their dilemma have suggested that she is in a hypnotic sleep and are investigating along this line, but with little hope of reaching a solution.

Neurologists, physiologists, and dissectionists, the most prominent in the city, have been called in by the hospital doctors, but none of them has been able to explain the nature of the girl's malady or to bring her back to consciousness. They have pierced her skin with needles and shocked her with electricity of voltage up to the very limit of safety, but still she lies there peacefully sleeping.

While the doctors are puzzling their brains to solve the case, the girl is wasting away. Mrs. Corcoran was a bright healthy girl up to the night of October 18, when she had good night to Mrs. G. Hense, with whom she lived, at 225 East Fourteenth street, and went to her bedroom. It was Saturday night, and she retired at 10:30 o'clock. She made no complaint of illness, and in fact all that day had been unusually vivacious.

Little Dog's Strange Action. That anything happened to the girl during the night is not believed, and there is nothing to be seen out of the window. She made no complaint of illness, and in fact all that day had been unusually vivacious.

Thinking that something unusual had occurred to frighten the doctor, Mrs. Hense arose and made an investigation, but found everything quiet in the house and nothing out of the ordinary, except that Nellie was sleeping later than usual.

Mrs. Hense called to her, and when the girl did not get up, went to her room and tried to arouse her. Finding her efforts unavailing, Mrs. Hense became alarmed. She felt the girl's pulse, and could not detect the faintest beat. Then she went to the house of Dr. Brandenberg, who lives in the same house, and he worked over the girl from 7 a.m. to 10 a.m. on Sunday, Oct. 19, but could not arouse her.

Father Sullivan of St. Ann's Catholic Church, where the girl was an attendant, was called, and at the priest's suggestion an ambulance was summoned, bringing the girl to the hospital, where the whole staff of physicians tried various methods and means to revive her.

Her Breathing Very Faint. Purely rationalistic every kind were tried, but none proved effective. Powerful stimulants were forced down her throat, but did not produce the slightest change in her condition or appearance. Electricity was tried again and again, the current being as strong as permissible without endangering her life, but still she lay on her back, barely breathing and completely unconscious.

The hospital doctors worked without success all day Sunday, and on Monday a prominent specialist was called in. These tried new experiments. They probed her with needles, but she gave no sign of feeling. They touched her most sensitive nerves without effect. Only once did she observe the slightest evidence of feeling in the right form. While an attendant was vigorously tapping her, her eyes opened and closed again without the least sign of recognition or a spoken word or even a faint smile.

There are no pronounced symptoms. The girl lies as the asleep, breathing faintly. Her pulse is just a little faster than normal, and her temperature shows only a half degree of fever. Yet her appearance is changing rapidly. During the ten days she has aged ten years in appearance, and they fear that she will die if she continues to live in this condition.

As a last resort, the doctors have begun investigating the theory that some one has put the girl in a hypnotic sleep. Yet they say if she is the victim of such a spell, she has responded to some of the tests they have already tried.

WITHOUT A MODERN PARALLEL.

Brooklyn Eagle: The problem of the Doukhobors must, apparently, be settled by force.

The Doukhobors, who emigrated to Canada from the Caucasus in 1860, led Russia because of the persecution to which they were subjected. Their name signifies "spirit wrestler," and was used as long ago as 1785. At that time certain members of the Greek Church who objected to the use of icons were called "iconoblasts" or "image wreckers."

Then the term "Doukhobor" or "spirit wrestler," was used to designate those whom the orthodox Russians regarded as wrestling against the Holy Spirit. Like the terms Quaker and Methodist in England, the nickname adhered to the sect and came into general use.

The Doukhobors in Russia did not consider themselves Russians, but had their own religious ceremonies, government, customs and ruler. The latter was Peter Verigin, who is now in exile at Obozersk, in the north of Siberia, where the sect and came into general use.

AN IMPRACTICABLE PROPOSAL

Editor World: Considerable talk takes place every year about the danger crossing at the foot of Yonge-street. It is time our inactive Council took action in this matter. WORKING FOR THEIR CAUSE

Large Number of Reports Presented at Wednesday's Meeting of W.C.T.U.

INSTANCE OF AN EVIL OF WINE

Some Delegates Came in for Criticism for Not Answering Letters.

Members of the W.C.T.U. convention had another busy day of it yesterday transacting business in the furtherance of the cause they have at heart.

Dr. William Oldright addressed the meeting on the work accomplished by the Prisoners' Aid Association.

The report of the Committee on Unfermented Wine for Sacramental Purposes was presented by Mrs. M. J. Nelles of Ingersoll. It intimated that the Anglicans were not likely to make any change in their practice, but during the past year several churches of other denominations, churches of Presbyterians, had abolished fermented wine for this purpose.

Cases were cited where reformed drunkards had been taking drinking after tasting the wine in a sacred communion.

Miss Anna Gordon of Ottawa reported on evangelistic work, and recommended special prayers for the reporters and editors of the newspapers.

Miss Sproule, the Union missionary, who has traveled over 5000 miles in the past year, told in an interesting way all about her work among the lumbermen.

Lessons Wanted in Courtesy.

Mrs. Mary Brownell gave the ladies a going over for neglecting to answer letters sent out in connection with the lecture bureau.

Rev. R. D. Beall, the purity missionary of the Union, added that there were quite a number who needed lessons in common courtesy in this connection.

Mrs. Thornley's report on the literature department stated that 121,800 notices had been published, an increase of 45,700 over last year.

Mrs. Louise Hartley of St. Thomas spoke of the progress of the local purity campaign at mothers' meetings, and Miss Mary E. Barbour of Los Angeles, Cal., the evangelist of the National W.C.T.U., delivered an instructive address, in which she pointed out that the great quantity of grapes grown in California was being used for raisins rather than for the making of wine.

Should Not Neglect the Boys.

At the afternoon meeting Mrs. Waters of Hamilton spoke against the use of narcotics, and especially cigarettes, stating that while they were all to be interested and actively engaged in the referendum campaign, they should not neglect the boys.

Mrs. Waters presented a lengthy petition from people in London, asking the Dominion Government to enact a law prohibiting the manufacture and sale of cigarettes.

Mrs. Wiggins, Toronto, presented an interesting report on work among American farmers, and Miss Sadie Bowen of Hamilton, on young women's work.

Men Like System.

Mrs. Dettor, North Bay, spoke on the advantages of systematic giving. One of the great advantages, she pointed out, was that where men knew that the money was being distributed systematically, it was very much easier to get a contribution from them.

Mrs. Acherson, corresponding secretary, who is leaving for California for the winter, bid good bye to the union. She was wished a most happy trip.

Mrs. Jennie Barritt, Toronto, and Mrs. Emma Water, Kemptville, told of what was being done thru the fold for the work.

Mrs. Wiegley reported that a great deal of pamphlet literature had been purchased by all the unions during the year.

Mrs. Cavera spoke on the work done by the unions in distributing information to the press.

Miss Luce Russell was heard in a very pleasing solo, which was followed with an address by J. S. Leckie, Huntsville, in which the burlesque came in for a stinging criticism, and the case at the last court, found himself the last moment unable to take the work this time.

RUSH FROM U.S. IN 1903.

Over 100,000 Expected to Come to Canada and Settle.

Vancouver, B.C., Oct. 29.—V. H. Beckman of Seattle, editor of The Pacific Lumber Trade Journal, and connected in an official capacity with a number of lumber associations, is here to secure statistics relative to the lumber and shingle output of this province. He is probably qualified to speak with more authority on this subject than any other man on the coast, and he is of the opinion that the big influx of settlers from the United States into the Canadian Northwest is opening a magnificent market to the lumber and shingle manufacturers of British Columbia.

In an interview, Mr. Beckman said: "While in Minneapolis recently I met a lumber merchant with a friend, who is in close touch with the emigration to Canada of the younger generation of American farmers of the middle west, that next spring will see a rush of such settlers to Northwest Canada, and I am confident that the lumber and shingle output of the Dominion will be increased in the history of the Dominion. The American farmer has set his eyes on that country, and he is of the opinion that over 100,000 will move in and consequently an enormous demand for lumber and shingles will be created. The trade thus developing in Canada, together with the export trade of Vancouver and Vancouver Island mills will combine to create such a demand for British Columbia lumber that many new mills will likely be built in the province within the next decade. British Columbia is the lumber and shingle manufacturing industries is now where Washington State was twenty years ago. In 1880, when the first mill was built in British Columbia, there were only a few mills, but in twenty years British Columbia should have as many, for her timber resources are boundless."

Deputation Will Wait on Government Regarding Payment of Fees.

At a meeting of the Industrial School Board on Wednesday afternoon, means were discussed, whereby more young girls may be sent to the Alexandra Industrial School for Girls, instead of to the Mercer Reformatory. The rate for each inmate in the school is $3 per week, and of this, $1 is paid by the government and $2 by the municipality. The rate for girls who do not take kindly to bearing the heaviest share of the burden, and a deputation was appointed to wait upon the government, with a view to having the municipalities pay the $1 share and the government the $2.
