There is no likelihood whatever of a match race between Belyea and Eddie Duran of this city, international professional sculling champion. Belyea has no present intention of becoming a professional.

(Canadian Press Cable) Paris, Aug. 10.—The French cabinet at special meeting held this morning, presided over by President Millerand, is understood to have approved entirely the attitude taken by Premier Poincare at the London conference of the reparations commission.

The meeting had been called hurriedly to consider Premier Poincare's report on the developments of the London deliberations. President Millerand came specially from Rambouillet to preside.

London, Aug. 10.—Both the French and British cabinets are meeting today to consider the impasse on the German reparations question reached by the allied statesmen meeting here, and the fate of the conference is believed to hang upon the outcome of their deliberations.

O'SULLIVAN AND DUNN HANGED

Executed This Morning for the Slaying of Field Marshal Wilson.

London, Aug. 10.—Joseph O'Sullivan and Reginald Dunn were hanged this morning in Wandsworth prison for the assassination of Field Marshal Sir Henry Wilson on June 22. A crowd of about 150 Irishmen and women assembled outside the jail at seven o'clock, an hour before the execution. They sang hymns and prayed for the souls of the condemned.

Both men submitted quietly to being hanged. They were executed simultaneously by the gallows at seven o'clock, where as they met they smiled encouragingly at each other. The mourners outside included sisters and brothers of Dunn and O'Sullivan. The layman who led the prayers announced that masses for the repose of the two men's souls were being said in various churches throughout London.

O'Sullivan and Dunn were captured re-handled by the police after shooting down Field Marshal Wilson as he was alighting from an automobile at the door of his home in Eaton Place, London. When arrested the assassins gave fictitious names, but their identity was established by Scotland Yard, which showed them to be former soldiers, and Dunn a member of the Irish Republican Army. The crime was ascribed to feeling against the field marshal following announcement that he had become military adviser to the Ulster government.

Captain Bancroft, whose poor fielding has been disastrous for the champions in several games recently, tossed two runs to the Reds in the second and third innings with wild throws. The Giants outlit the Reds 12 to 3, Kelly knocking out his third homer in two days, but Couch was invincible in the pinches.

The Cardinals were unable to solve Frank Miller and were outscored by the Braves, 4 to 0, in the first game, but, although out to one to one in the second, managed to win, 6 to 5, with aid of Kopy's three innnings.

The Yankees and Browns remained a game apart as both won the final games of the inter-sectional invasion. A rally off Walter Johnson gave St. Louis two runs and an 8 to 6 victory over Washington. The Mayor Urges Acceptance of The Company Offer

Goes Back on the Stand He Took in Civic Campaign and, Pleads For Bodell Proposition Declares City Should Not Enter Into "Needless Competition"; Talks About Foreign Investors and Asks City to Pay Huge Sum the Company's Representatives Demand—Abuses Newspapers and "Certain Organizations."

At a special meeting of the common council yesterday afternoon Mayor McLellan submitted his report and recommendation on the offer made to the city by the Brunswick Power Company. His report was favorable to the proposition, whether or not the city should accept the offer. As the citizens well know, the offer simply means that the Power Company is placing a valuation of $4,000,000 to $5,000,000 on its run down plant, and asking the taxpayers of this city to pay handsomely on all its watered stock.

The mayor reviewed the negotiations with the Power Company. After quoting the resolutions passed by the common council on May 10 in favor of carrying out the mandate of the people regarding the immediate purchase of the electric power commission and then told of the meeting between Mr. Phillips and himself and Messrs. Bodell and Sanderson, the company's representatives. He spoke of Mr. Phillips' trip to Toronto and of the engaging of Mr. Krebs to come here and report on the cost of the electric distribution system. He said:

"During the first interview when Mr. Krebs was present and the following up to the last one or two, the matter under discussion was a lease and finally an agreement was reached by Messrs. Phillips, Bodell and Sanderson as to the conditions and amount of rental. I being present during the different discussions but not participating in them, the several amounts under discussion. "When Messrs. Bodell and Phillips stated that they were agreed and asked for my opinion as to placing the matter before the public, I refused to accept the figures on the proposition, on the grounds that the city would not agree to make expenditures for the rehabilitation and development of the leased property.

The First Amounts. The amount involved was $23,000,000 per annum with the estimated tax estimated at $2,000,000 added making a total of $25,000,000 per annum, and a lease provision included for the approval of bond issues for expenditures necessary for renewals and improvements. "When I was asked to suggest some alternative, the present plan as now submitted by Mr. Bodell, calling for a reduction of interest and delivery of stock and assets of the Company, whereby with the approval of the citizens and sanctioned by legislation, the property control would pass to the city was taken up for consideration.

"As previously stated, I was opposed to the city spending money on a leased property, thereby improving and creating values for the company through rehabilitating and developing the leased property, even though it would be naturally expected that, under a lease, an option to purchase would be inserted. Under any consideration, the price of $23,000,000 plus the federal tax of $2,000,000 was too high. The plan figures I submitted and which I feel reduces the annual charge from $26,000,000 per annum to about $20,000,000, showing an annual saving of $6,000,000.

"This proposition was the subject matter of further discussions, the values of different items being fairly analyzed; for instance, the values of the Eastern Electric were placed at $114,000.00 by a committee of the legislature, but this was reduced to $60,000.00 in our analysis. The water values of Lepreau and Magaguavic were figured at normal values of $18,000 per year, or for 10,000 p. p. the sum of $247,000.00, or about one half the amount the Carrier Commission allowed. "These figures for Eastern Electric and Lepreau and Magaguavic water powers totalling some $361,000.00 were reduced to $220,000.00 by the reduction of $141,000.00. As some criticism will no doubt be directed towards the valuation placed upon the property, I refer to the fact that the final values were not accepted without justification for same. "In the case of the Eastern Electric Company, a demand was made for a statement of assets and liabilities which could be proven and shown to be necessary. The statement handed me shows assets of $95,868.38 net worth, and liabilities, $9,206.38, leaving a balance of $86,662.00 as a fair value for the Eastern Electric Company.

"In regard to the Lepreau and Magaguavic Water Powers, the government has already conceded a normal value of $18 per H. P. for provincial water powers, and it remained a question of proof as to the quantity of power available. The estimate of a number of prominent hydraulic engineers have given 10,000 as the quantity, and Harris Forbes & Company who sold the bonds made much a statement in their prospectus in regard to the 10,000 H. P. at Lepreau and Magaguavic, as would leave them liable if any serious mistake had been made in the calculations of the engineers. The water power, $170,000 or less than $9 per H. P. would appear reasonable if the engineers estimates can be relied upon."

Mr. Bodell's Offer. The mayor read Mr. Bodell's offer, which has already been published and fully discussed. The report then goes on: A recapitulation of Mr. Bodell's offer is as follows: "The city to guarantee interest on— $1,800,000 1st Mtge 5% ... $ 90,450 $1,000,000 2nd Mtge 6% ... 60,000 $300,000 2nd Pfd. 5% ... 17,500 600,000 City Bds. 5 1/4% ... 37,950 Total annual int. charge ... $208,900

Note.—There are $18,000 of the First Mortgage Bonds in the Sinking Fund. The amounts included in the statement making up the $860,000 are as follows: Property expenditures from Mar. 1, 1917 to May 31, 1922 ... $58,564.88 Water Power rights and land ... 170,000.00 Eastern Electric Company ... 60,000.00 $775,564.88 Deduct $119,000 1st Mtge 5% Bonds sold 75 ... 69,200.00 $686,364.88

"The first three items of the recapitulation constitute the original bond and preferred stock capitalization of the N. B. Power Co. with the exception of $119,000 which were afterwards sold to pay off bank loans, and these items were really the base for earning values established by a committee of the legislature in 1920 and confirmed by Act of Legislature on April 24, 1920. "The Carrier rate is deemed proper at this point to call your attention to the fact, that when first discussing the Carrier proposition, the Carrier Commission report and the supreme court decision were thoroughly gone into and the status of such consulting engineers, auditors and accountants, including C. W. Whiting, Messrs. Sloan, Huddle, Feustal and Freeman, J. H. Waterman, Messrs. Currier, Hitchcock and Holgate (the Carrier Commission), Messrs. Lybrand, Ross and Montgomery and a number of others were considered. To attempt any comparison as to the details of these discussions would be too lengthy for insertion here.

"The Carrier Commission's and the supreme court's findings were relative to a rate base being established upon which the company should be permitted to earn. The Carrier rate base being $2,800,000 and the supreme court's, $2,877,655.50. "It was decided that to make a minute inspection of provable physical value would necessitate lengthy and tedious work, and after being satisfied that the property was in no such shape or run down to the extent it had been stated, it appeared most reasonable to estimate the value of the property from the standpoint of a mortgaged property of which the earning values had been seriously impaired by bad management, but under the management of other parties was capable of earning net profits of over $300,000 as a going concern with an established business.

"The act of legislature of April 24, 1920, placed the rate base at $3,000,000, and decreed that the capital originally issued by the company, with no value for the $2,000,000 of common stock and $800,000 of preferred stock, should be paid or set aside for payments of dividends upon common stock of the company for a period of five years from the passing of this act. "In 1925 the company would be permitted to pay dividends on the common stock. Under this act of legislature the company is permitted to earn and pay to the shareholders eight and one-half per cent. on the common stock and plus nine per cent. of all new capital expenditures made by the company as of May 1, 1922, and this amount is as follows:

8 p.c. on $3,100,000 ... $248,000.00 9 p.c. on $38,000 ... 14,220.00 Plus sinking fund ... 20,000.00 $317,220.00 "My personal analysis of the company's right under this legislation is to earn ... $317,220.00 and 5 p.c. on $1,800,000 ... 81,000.00 and 7 p.c. on $300,000 ... 21,000.00 00 1st pfd stock ... 70,000 00 2nd pfd stock ... 24,500 Sinking fund ... 19,000 $205,950 Leaving a balance of ... $110,270

"This $110,270 is equal to over 5 1/2 per cent. on the $2,000,000 of common stock outstanding. Under the act referred to it is mandatory upon the directors to establish rates to give the above return, although the common stock does not participate until 1925, and I am of the opinion that because of the fight with the city they have done nothing about it, fearing an increase in rates would make trouble for the company. "It may be said and properly so, that the company has not been able to earn the amount it is entitled to earn, but in answer to that statement, the books of the company will show that the business is now on a basis which, if continued, will realize $317,220 per year. "The annual payment of $208,900 a year is ... $4,178,000.00 5 per cent. on ... 3,681,000.00 6 per cent. on ... 2,984,280.00 7 per cent. on ... 2,112,000.00 8 per cent. on ... 2,611,200.00 Total ... $13,265,280.00

"The city guarantees payment of principal only on $1,800,000 bonds, of which $10,000 are now in the sinking fund, and the principal of their own bonds amounting to $300,000, or a combined total of which the principal only is guaranteed of $2,100,000. "Dividends only are guaranteed and not the principal on $1,000,000 of 1st and 2nd preferred at 5 per cent. and $300,000 of 2nd preferred at 5 per cent. These dividends under the guarantee total $77,500, and the stockholders sacrifice the difference between this and $94,500, or $17,000, these stocks according to the charter of the company and the act of legislature being entitled to earn and pay 7 per cent.

"The city by an annual payment of $208,900 would save the difference between this amount and the company's right to earn, and which is practically being earned today, namely: $317,220, or $108,322 per year, and this amount of $108,322 compounded at 4 per cent. per annum for thirty years would pay all obligations of the company on the property would cost the city less than nothing. Statements in detail of expenditures since March 1, 1917, to May 31, 1922, have been handed you, and the totals are as follows: Buildings ... $ 20,000.00 Electric department ... 314,774.66 Railway ... 190,664.88 Gas ... 33,025.15 $558,464.69

"You have been furnished with a copy of the contract submitted by the New Brunswick Hydro Electric Commission, the city solicitor's opinion on same, Mr. Krebs' report on cost of distribution system, and schedule of proposed rates. Mr. Bodell's offer re the New Brunswick Power Co. and Messrs. Baxter and Todd's opinions of same; Mr. Phillips' report on the Bodell offer and Mr. Krebs' report to Mr. Phillips confirming the statement by Mr. Krebs that the rates as stated by Mr. Krebs will apply under the acquisition and operation of the New Brunswick Power Co., as well as the balance sheet in the Phillips' report. "Copies of all these documents are in possession and have been carefully studied by me.

"Having heard the different discussions between Messrs. Phillips, Bodell, Sanderson and Krebs, and having questioned these gentlemen during the interviews in order to get each step and to be necessary information for forming an intelligent opinion on the Bodell offer, and having reviewed the reports of Mr. Krebs and Mr. Phillips on the electric situation, and always bearing in mind that the citizens must be protected in the control and distribution of the Musquash hydro-electric energy at the lowest possible cost to the consumer, I have come to the following conclusions: "That in making a report, it is necessary for me to retain certain information which may be more valuable in fighting the people's rights, in case of a plebiscite campaign being waged, than to embody it in this report. "That in Ontario various companies have been established in order that personal animus may be directed against one or two individuals.

"That any solution of the problem must not be accompanied with any destruction of legitimate values, whether invested in same be foreign or local. "That if St. John is to look forward to an industrial expansion, it is necessary that it should be encouraged by foreign investors, and if legitimate investments are ruined by needless competition with the existing companies, it would be useless to expect further investment of outside capital. "That in Ontario various companies have been established in order that personal animus may be directed against one or two individuals.

"That the Musquash power will secure better results to St. John and its citizens when used conjointly with the New Brunswick Power Company. "That the property of the New Brunswick Power Company is not the junk pile nor in such a dilapidated condition as the general public is led to believe, and should be strato by the city on the basis of such an agreement as Mr. Bodell is prepared to enter into. TARANTULA NOT DANGEROUS! Scientist Proves Injury From it is in the Bee-Sting Class. (New York Times.) A tradition that has persisted for a long time has been laid on the shelf by science. It has been popularly supposed that the American tarantula was a deadly poisonous insect, but a recent laboratory investigation has relegated it to the class as far as danger is concerned.

"Folk-lore abounds in stories of phenomenal cases which often fail to survive the test of critical examination," says The Journal of American Medical Association. "Accounts of unexpected occurrences or unusual symptoms often grow like rolling snowballs, adding to their size with each step in the course of progress. Small facts may become magnified into a great one; suspicious develop somehow into the dignity of probability; and even real facts, new traditions seem to spring up from undiscovered sources. Something of the nature of such mystic influences may account for the prevalent belief in the extreme danger associated with the tarantula.

"The fatal bite of these terror-inspiring insects has been widely proclaimed, so that they are given a wide berth by those who recognize them. The poisonous properties of various species of spiders is admitted by competent investigators. Many of the insects have poisonous-secreting glands which discharge into the jaws. But there is little doubt that the danger from some of them has been greatly exaggerated. Von Firlsch considers that the bite of the historically famous Italian tarantula is able to cause no more than local inflammation, while the bite of the tarantula which has been discovered in the Musquash valley is not more than a severe rash. "Now the American tarantula, Eurypterus stans, a species reaching the formidable-looking size of more than 2 inches in length, has been exterminated from the reputation long attaching to it. Being of the University of Arkansas, he has subjected both animals and man to attack by the fangs of arachnid tarantulas. Although the accounts do not give the impression that edentulous spiders are painless performers, they are put into the category of bee sting in severity rather than into the class of tarantula bite. "The tarantula is not a dangerous insect, but it is a pest which produces fatalities, yet they are rarely classed among the greater dangers to life."

PORTABLE FIRE PUMP. A new and improved model of the small portable gasoline fire pump designed by the Canadian National Parks Branch for fighting fires in the parks has recently been developed. These units, which were introduced a few years ago, have proved themselves to be successful in many instances. They are now being used in the National Parks and largely in the United States as well. The 1922 model developed in the branch provides for a higher pressure pump that will enlarge the volume of water thrown and increase the range of the hose. The pump is mounted on a motor which is considerably extended the usefulness of the unit. Seven of these units were recently used in one of the parks in tests pumping through one of the other from a mountain stream situated a mile and a quarter from the scene of the fire and excellent results were secured. The forests of the National Parks are now protected by thirty of these engines which are modified along the lines of the portable marine motor, but to be reduced in bulk and weight as to be readily portable on pony back over the mountain trails, by gasoline speculators along the railroads or over the 400 miles of motor highways in the parks by automobiles. A large percentage of the parks are now protected by these units, which are the result of the carelessness of travelers. Recently two fires started up less than a mile apart, and the fire which originated in a burning cigar but tossed from a passing train.

The mayor, before concluding, branched off into a tirade of abuse of the newspapers, and attributed to them motives which are wholly false. "Discussing the action of certain organizations along certain lines," he said, "permit me to suggest that they know not what they do."

"In conclusion, permit me to say that I am absolutely of the opinion that the only means of providing for the anticipated welfare and prosperity of the city and its people by the use of the Musquash power is through the acquisition of the New Brunswick Power Company's plant, and the use of same conjointly with Musquash."

WHY THE CHANGE? (Daily Telegraph Editorial) Mayor McLellan said yesterday in his report on the Bodell offer that the New Brunswick Power Company's plan is by no means the junk pile people have been led to believe it is, and he recommended that the city should pay for it just what Mr. Bodell has demanded. He went on to say that he had not abandoned his slogan "no truck or trade with the N. B. Power Company," because a new group was in control. As a matter of fact, the old group is still very much in the limelight, and they would get theirs if the Bodell offer should be accepted. The Mayor knows that perfectly. But let us see what Mr. McLellan thought of the New Brunswick Power Company on the evening of Thursday, April 6, last, when he was appealing to the people of St. John to elect him mayor. From The Telegraph's report of a meeting in the Imperial Theatre on that date, we take the following: "Mr. McLellan said that he had studied the question with what he considered a right regard for all the interests involved. If the city was to look for permanent growth and development it could no longer permit the power to be maintained in a position of privilege and monopoly unless it was controlled in a manner conducive to the best interests of the city. It was a question of what was due the city and not what was due the bondholders of the Power Company; the responsibility for them did not rest with the city but with the promoters, bond sellers and managers of the Power Company.

"Mr. McLellan then turned his attention to the N. B. Power Company. He remarked that in his opinion the $2,000,000 common stock of the company. In the listed assets there was an amount of $186,000 for water power privileges on the city and the Power Company, and he would discuss this phase from three angles, namely, competition between the city and the Power Company, expropriation proceedings, and the effect of competition should civic distribution be a success. He dealt exhaustively with these points and advocated a scrapping of the gas plant should the city be expropriated. He, however, did not think the citizens need expect any penetration by the Power Company when their street car lines at present are in a state of residential expansion. He did not think the citizens need expect any penetration by the Power Company when their street car lines at present are in a state of residential expansion. He did not think the citizens need expect any penetration by the Power Company when their street car lines at present are in a state of residential expansion.

"Without any reflection, he desired to say that if he (McLellan) had had the same opportunity presented him that Mayor Schofield had in 1920, the civic distribution lines would have been constructed and ready for operation. (Applause.) "Mayor Schofield had suggested a two-year experimental term with the N. B. Power Company, said Mr. McLellan, until 1924, probably to the beginning of 1925. In the last piece of legislation concerning the Power Company, it was permitted to pay a dividend on common stock until 1925. It is not a remarkable fact that the mayor suggested two years. Why not three or five? I have no hesitation in saying that the citizens would have found some way to create a value for that $2,000,000 common stock, said Mr. McLellan.

"In turning up the assets of the company, Mr. McLellan said that Mr. Sanderson, their engineer, had estimated the cost of street railway maintenance at $1,700 per mile. "Who ever heard of $1,700 per mile being spent by the N. B. Power Company on street railway maintenance?" asked Mr. McLellan and several laughter. He declared that the cost of street railway maintenance at $1,700 per mile was a very startling exhibition of the Mayor's estimate. He had no doubt that the Mayor was a very good man with any deliberate attempt to rob, but he did say that if the Power Company were allowed to control hydro, there would be some very startling exhibitions of high finance.

"By the end of the two-year term, the Mayor had said that the situation insofar as the city was concerned, would be cleared considerably. "I do not know about that," said Mr. McLellan. "It might be sadder and wiser. The thing to crash trouble is at its inception. Here is the opportunity. Let us take advantage of it. The Mayor has talked of a plebiscite. This is the plebiscite. This is the issue, and accordingly, the Mayor has said that a few men, hydro matters never should have been injected into the fight, I am more than pleased to see that the discussion." (Loud applause.)

"He continued by saying that it was splendid to see such a large audience out to hear the issues discussed. It looked to him as though a few common-sense people would be present. He said he could not say too much in praise of the young men who had entered the arena and who had stirred up such a volume of public interest. "He did not think that the provincial government had voted such sums of money for expenditure on Musquash development merely for the benefit of the people of St. John. He believed that the government had a wider proposition in mind. It was for the benefit of the province as a whole and was part of a settled policy. "St. John should be grateful that this great opportunity of itself of monopoly prices should be afforded. The charge of 1.2 cents per k.w.h. was the maximum price for the power and there was a possibility of that rate being reduced, the speaker declared. The quantity consumed was the secret of cheap power and he believed that cheap power was available.

"He quoted Mayor Schofield as saying that the money for a civic distribution system could not be raised until 1928. "Elect me mayor and I'll get it in eight hours," declared the speaker. It could be raised by bond issue on a unanimous vote by the city commission and, indeed, the Mayor had done so at the present time regarding hydro, he did not think that they would dare oppose it. "Concluding, Mr. McLellan declared himself in complete accord with the policy of the United Organizations and said he would do all in his power to promote and maintain that policy if elected. "The foregoing will serve to remind the citizens what Mr. McLellan pledged himself to do when he was asking for their votes. Compare his attitude then with his attitude toward the New Brunswick Power Company now! Why the change? Why is Mr. McLellan so critical of the organizations to whom he paid such a warm tribute in the civic cam-

The steamship company which brought him to America will have to take him back to Europe as an undesirable alien.

A representative meeting of the members of the various Protestant denominations in East St. John was held last night in the Edinboro avenue hall, to consider the matter of maintaining a preacher throughout the winter. The community at East St. John first had a resident preacher last winter, when Rev. William Lawson was appointed. His resignation was accepted by the members of all the different Protestant denominations in the community should be asked to help support the maintenance of a preaching service throughout the winter and that a determined effort should be made by the combined denominations to raise sufficient funds. The Edinboro avenue services, as a rule have an attendance of between seventy and ninety persons, and the Sunday school has an enrollment of 150 and an average attendance of 100. The services at the Sunday school sessions have been a very helpful and pleasant part of the community life in East St. John, and it is expected that there will be a general response to the appeal for support. The Sunday school is a most vigorous organization, and at present is concerned with plans for a picnic at Red Head this week.

SCIENCE FINDS FOOD IN ABUNDANT SUNLIGHT

Idea is Being Tested in London Hospital Under Patronage of Queen Mother.

Hygienic investigators are inclining towards the theory, which has long been recognized in application to plant life, but has not been accepted in relation to human existence that food may be obtained from sunlight. Copenhagen announces the theory, and Queen-Mother Alexandra induced the London Hospital to test the idea. Sir Oliver Lodge proved that sunlight destroyed bacteria. Now Dr. C. W. Salkow asserts that sunlight puts and keeps phosphorus in the blood, and he says it is better than cod liver oil, even at the special food services which that nutritious stuff performs. He strongly deprecates the present-day clothing, "apparently designed for the exclusion of light, plus absorption of unneeded heat and suffocation of the skin, which should be scarcely a less light-using organ than the eye." Canadians are credited with being strong and healthy from the fact that they obtain so much sunlight during their severe winters. At Sir William Treloar's Cripples' Hospital at Hayling Island, England, and at Alton, in Hampshire, the sunlight cure has been tried, with practical results, and that just above sea-level, in a humid climate affected by the Gulf Stream and other inflowing tropical waters, Tuberculosis, especially during incipient stages, responds to this treatment; and

THE PEOPLE WILL PAY.

(Bangor Commercial) There is no question that coal prices will be high the coming winter. Very likely they will be sufficiently high for the operators to recoup the losses that they may have met with the strike, but these have probably not been very large, for the companies had large supplies of coal on hand and were not embarrassed by a temporary cessation of production. The miners have lost their wages, but if they can retain the recent scale of pay will eventually make that loss up and more. As usual in the case of a coal strike

THE PEOPLE WILL PAY.

It will be the public that will suffer. They will be affected by a scarcity of and at a fair price to the consumers, cutting out the many middlemen and preparing to meet any future disturbance in the industry by prompt action. If this is done the consumers may be sufficiently safeguarded in the future to cause them to view the present strike and its consequences with satisfaction even if it causes temporary embarrassment and an acceleration of prices, which is very probable in spite of all efforts of the government to prevent profiteering.

THE PEOPLE WILL PAY.

There is no question that coal prices will be high the coming winter. Very likely they will be sufficiently high for the operators to recoup the losses that they may have met with the strike, but these have probably not been very large, for the companies had large supplies of coal on hand and were not embarrassed by a temporary cessation of production. The miners have lost their wages, but if they can retain the recent scale of pay will eventually make that loss up and more. As usual in the case of a coal strike

DESERTED THE SHIP

Mayor McLellan has come to the rescue of the New Brunswick Power Company. Regarding the Bodell scheme to give the company's property a value of $3,900,000, he says:

"I can come to no other conclusion than that the city should avail itself of the proposed offer."

In his report to the council yesterday the mayor was a far more enthusiastic advocate for the power company than Mr. Phillips was before the United Organizations when they met a few evenings ago.

Knowing perfectly well that under competition the valuation of the company's property would quickly shrink to its right proportions, the mayor went into a series of calculations the natural inference from which would be that the company's property a fixed value of $3,900,000, on which five and six per cent interest is paid, regardless of declining rates of interest, is competition needless in the face of such a proposal?

"The city by an annual payment of $208,900 would save the difference between this amount and the company's price to earn, and which is practically being earned today, namely $317,220, or $108,322 per year; and this amount of $108,322, compounded at 4 per cent per annum for thirty years, would pay all obligations of the company and the property would cost the city less than nothing."

Why not keep right on and show that the people of St. John, by adopting this great financial scheme, would in time be able single-handed to pay off the national debt? The mayor, however, conveniently overlooks the fact that the city need not pay the $208,900 per year on watered stock (alleged value $3,900,000) but go into competition, reduce that valuation to where it ought to be, and eventually become the owner of the property at a reasonable cost.

But it is really not necessary to argue the case. The thing to do is to block that plebiscite if possible, because it merely means further delay in the interests of the power company. If a recall is necessary let that be the plebiscite, and let it be soon.

MR. H. R. McLELLAN

In his address to the city council yesterday Mayor McLellan said: "The Telegraph and Times, under the direction of these men, is always a menace to public interest, but in this case more so."

Mr. McLellan was not always of this opinion. He has been so at intervals, when the Telegraph and Times did not take kindly to dictation. On three recent occasions, however, Mr. McLellan was so deeply convinced of the righteousness of the cause advocated by these newspapers that he climbed aboard.

That he has now disembarked is not a new nor an altogether unexpected development. In moving in his somewhat eccentric orbit he will doubtless on some future occasion again come into juxtaposition and move for a time along the same plane.

So far as hydro and the New Brunswick Power Company are concerned, these papers have pursued a consistent course—which the citizens of St. John have approved. They still believe that as a slogan "No truck or trade with the New Brunswick Power Company" has its merits. The Bodell scheme confirms that belief, and while the mayor may fulminate, he should perhaps also take time to reflect that he is not living in "the dear, dead days beyond recall."

The mayor in his report to the council yesterday referred to the civic electric commission. Mr. Phillips told the United Organizations that he was through as a member of that commission. Mr. C. H. Peters did not attend any of the meetings with Mr. Bodell. The remark that it is a "one-man commission" would appear to have some foundation. There are some who talk of a one-man city council, but that remains to be seen.

Under the Bodell scheme the power company wants to be paid twice for its alleged water power rights and the Eastern Electric Company. They are in the original valuation and again in the $900,000 of city bonds called for in the deal. Easy money.

The executive of the United Organizations will meet this evening in the Y. M. C. A., and it is anticipated a prompt reply will be given to the challenge thrown down by the mayor to those who made his election possible.

WHO IS AFRAID?

Mayor McLellan admits that the New Brunswick Power Company cannot compete with the city, but this is how he puts it:

"That if St. John is to look forward to an industrial expansion, the same can only be brought about by encouraging foreign investors, and if legitimate investments are ruined by needless competition with them in this case, it is certain that it would be useless to expect further investment of outside capital."

In other words, the power company must get its price. The voice is the voice of the mayor, but the words might well be the words of Mr. Bodell, "Needless competition," says the mayor. The people elected him to enter into competition. They have not changed their minds. Mr. Phillips assured the United Organizations that Mr. Bodell's last word had been spoken. His final offer is the brazen demand that the city give the company's property a fixed value of $3,900,000, on which five and six per cent interest is paid, regardless of declining rates of interest. Is competition needless in the face of such a proposal?

Is there a business man in St. John who would call it good business to play the New Brunswick Power Company its price? The city must not only enter into competition but lose no more time about it. The mayor's talk about a change in the personnel of the power company is passing strange. The gentlemen who hold the common stock are handsomely looked after in the proposed deal, and the city pays. The citizens must face the issue. They are today without a leader. If the captain has left the ship the ship must still be brought into port. What was good business in April is good business in August, and the real menace is to be found at City Hall.

Toronto Star: "It is interesting to note how loyally the advocates of private ownership stick together and boost each other's interests far and near. They do this in referring to our national railways and they are equally alert in doing it in referring to the great hydro enterprise in Ontario. Wherever you go on the continent you find nearly all the power experts wrapped up and payed off on the side of private ownership of light and power. They are nearly all fully entrenched on that side of the question, and not unnaturally so because that is where most of the activity is and most of the big opportunities. But it makes it difficult to get disinterested opinions from men of large engineering experience. They are, by the habits of a lifetime, predisposed to feel that nothing can be carried to great success except under the drive for gain which propels private ownership forward."

A circular issued by the Canadian Bank of Commerce says: "The British manufacturer in the past has not been alive to Canadian requirements, and to the fact that Canada has been buying much more from the United States than from the United Kingdom. With the present feeling which exists in the United Kingdom, however, that the development of trade within the Empire is becoming a matter of vital importance, there is already a tendency for British houses to establish more branch factories in Canada, or to adopt methods of sale which will counteract the proximity of the United States and the consequent ease with which Canada can obtain supplies, repairs and duplicate parts from that country."

The mayor says that "the property of the New Brunswick Power Company is not the junk-pile nor in such a deplorable condition as the general public is led to believe." Yet he suggests that $100,000 be spent on the gas plant, and Mr. Phillips sets down $230,000 for the street railway, and there is still the distribution system with its leakage in transmission. But who cares for a few hundreds of thousands of dollars when there is a chance to play Santa Claus for the orphans in the New Brunswick Power Company?

The citizens are waiting for Commissioners Frink, Bullock, Thornton and Wigmore to declare themselves on the Bodell offer and on the signing of the contract for hydro. All the cards should be on the table now, so that there may be no shadow of misunderstanding as to where each man stands and will stand in relation to this whole question. The mayor has shown his hand. Every commissioner must do the same.

It is time those who wish to discuss the hydro situation came out of the underbrush so that the citizens may know who they are and how much weight should be attached to their utterances.

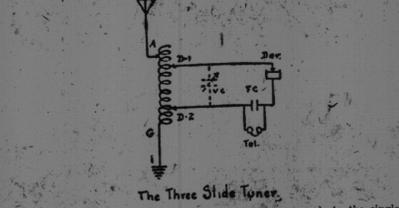

Mayor McLellan nominates Messrs. Sanderson and Porter as managers for the city after the deal with the power company is completed. How kind of the mayor to relieve the citizens of all worry.

The newspapers have not only been kind to Mayor McLellan, but lenient. He has been given every opportunity and every encouragement to carry out his pledge.

FIFTEEN MINUTES OF RADIO EACH DAY

By Edward N. Davis Formerly Technical Electrical Expert For U. S. Government

Lesson No. 74. THE THREE SLIDE TUNER. The three slide tuner consists of a single coil of insulated or bare, spaced wire wound on an insulating core three or four inches in diameter with three sliding contacts. Nearly as selective tuning can be done with the three slide tuner as with the ordinary loose coupler receiver set.

The three slide tuner for receiving purposes corresponds to the single coil helix for transmitting purposes, each making use of conductive coupling. The loose coupler on the other hand corresponds to the oscillation transformer of the transmitter, each employing inductive coupling.

In the diagram shown above the portion of the coil from "A" to "G" is in the antenna circuit, while the portion of the coil from "D1" to "D2" is in the secondary or detector circuit. A variable air condenser may be shunted across the secondary to permit sharper tuning, but is not absolutely necessary.

It will be noted in the diagram that some of the turns of the coil in the antenna circuit are also included in the secondary circuit, which condition means that the two circuits are very closely coupled. If sliders "D1" and "D2" are moved up beyond slider "A" while maintaining the same number of turns between them (sliders "D1" and "D2") there will be no turns in common in the two circuits and the coupling will be loose. The three slide tuner thus has the advantage over the two slide tuner of having variable coupling features, while it is not so complicated in construction as the loose coupler.

Although the diagram shows the three slide tuner in circuit with a crystal detector, a vacuum tube detector could be used with equal success. It should be borne in mind, however, that a vacuum tube detector alone with amplification or regenerative features is not much superior to a good crystal detector. Connecting up a three slide tuner is a very simple process, the antenna being connected to any one of the three sliders, the detector circuit to the other two sliders, and the ground to one end of the coil.

The three slide tuner is a very good instrument for demonstrating the principles of coupling and tuning, any chance in coupling or adjustment of turns to tune in a given station being instantly apparent to the eye. Any one or two slide tuning coil may be converted into a three slide tuner by the addition of one or two more sliders, which process will well repay the experimenter in increased selectivity and flexibility of adjustment.

COLLEGE COURSES BY RADIO. Transmission of free extension courses by radio is a phase of broadcasting which the large universities are planning for the future. Through the medium of the electric waves, elements of higher education may be placed within the reach of all.

Thousands of young men and women who are at present denied further advancement than the grammar or high school academic course may receive daily lectures by the foremost educators in our large colleges of learning.

Development of long range radio reception permits the words of the instructor to be clearly received at far distant points. All that is necessary is the use of a properly adjusted radio receiver which may be privately owned or may be installed by a particular community in some large auditorium where the addition of a loud-speaking device will render the words of the speaker clearly audible to a large audience.

It is possible that the educational boards of the various states will co-operate with the universities and provide the facilities for receiving the lectures. (All Rights Reserved by United Feature Syndicate, Reproduction Prohibited.)

POEMS OF THE DAY. Two poems from Medora C. Addison's "Dreams and a Sword" (Yale University Press): G. G. H. He laughed, they said, and leapt the parapet. He turned and, laughing, bade them follow on. "You need not worry him," they said, and yet He knew what lay before him in the dawn.

His comrades saw him last in No Man's Land. Still laughing at the bitter game he played, And death came and took him by the hand. With reverent touch for one so unafraid. Yet well we know the laughter has not died. Upon those gallant lips, nor shall our hearts Efface the flaming splendor of our pride. In that brave laughter rising down the years.

IN LIGHTER VEIN. Literature and Reading. "Never mind, dear," I've ordered sets of Scott, Dickens, Irving and all their boys. Now show me something to read." Seeds in Doubt. Having helped his mother plant the seeds and place at the end of each row the pictured envelopes showing here a radish, there a beet and so on, little Edna was quite distraught when he went out next day and found that the radish had washed the envelopes off into the mud. "Never mind, dear," comforted his mother, "it doesn't really matter." "But, mamma," said the child greatly worried, "how will the little seeds know what to be when they come up?"

The Latest News. "Good afternoon, Mrs. Jones!" exclaimed Mr. Brown. "I ran into your husband an hour ago." "How funny!" replied Mrs. Jones. "And how did you think he was looking?" "Pretty poorly." "Well, I'm surprised to hear you say that. Everyone says he is looking much better lately." "Well, he looked bad enough an hour ago," said Mr. Brown. "I wonder why that was," said Mrs. Jones. "Oh, I can tell you that," said Mr. Brown. "You see, I was in my car when I ran into him."

The story of how Flora Macdonald helped the fugitive Prince to escape, of her subsequent arrest and brief imprisonment, and of the great popularity which she had in London, are well known. A few years after her return to Skye she married Captain Macdonald of Flodrigary and went with him to America just as the War of Independence was breaking. Her husband served in the campaign as an officer on the British side, and was taken prisoner by the Americans, but eventually both husband and wife were able to return to Skye, where Flora Macdonald spent the remainder of her days, dying at Peinain Farm on March 5th, 1790. She had five sons and four daughters, two of the girls dying in infancy. Among the many people who came to see the famous heroine in her Highland home were Dr. Johnson and Boswell. Johnson's tribute to Flora Macdonald proved as prophetic as the subject she had written:—"Here is a name that will be mentioned in history, and, if courage and fidelity be virtues, mentioned with honor."

RECENT WEDDINGS

Lutton-Griffith
A quiet wedding took place last evening at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Frank M. Griffith, 271 Duke street, West St. John, when their daughter, Bertha Elisabeth, was united in marriage to James Alfred Lutton, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Lutton, of Clinton, Ont., by Rev. F. T. Bertram. The bride, who wore a crepe-de-chine wedding gown with an overdress and a veil, carried a bouquet of roses and was given away by her father. Mrs. Parker Mitchell acted as the maid of honor and carried a bouquet of sweet peas; little Miss Helen Flewelling acted as flower girl, while Miss M. Henderson played the wedding march. Following the ceremony there was a wedding supper. Later the happy couple will leave for a short motor trip and on their return will make their home at West St. John. Mrs. Lutton, mother of the groom, was in the city for the wedding.

The house was attractively decorated for the occasion with ferns and cut flowers, and the bride was married under a large bell of daisies. The bride received numerous gifts from her large circle of friends as a token of their best wishes.

Colwell-Lunney
A pretty home wedding was solemnized yesterday afternoon at half past four o'clock at the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Lunney, 128 Main street, when their only daughter, Alice Maud, was united in marriage to Capt. Fred H. Colwell, retired master mariner. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Harry B. Clark. The bride, who was unattended, was given in marriage by her father, and wore a traveling suit of navy blue with hat to match and carried a bouquet of roses. After the ceremony about forty sat down to a dainty luncheon. The groom's gift to the bride was an emerald neck piece. WHEN A SPRAIN IS NOT A SPRAIN

It May be a Dislocation or a Fracture

Time to Call Doctor—Things That May be Done in the Meantime—Heroic Measures Not Recommended.

New York, Aug. 10.—Sprains and strains as a class are injuries which cause little concern and, consequently, to which little attention is paid.

Sprains are not by any means so trivial as they are usually supposed to be. Some of them are not "sprains" at all, but slight dislocations, and it is by knowledge of this fact that so-called bloodless surgeons acquire their reputation.

Again, some sprains are fractures. The bones may not have been separated, and so the fact that a break has occurred is overlooked.

Finally, there are cases in which fibres of ligaments—i. e., the binding material forming the hinges of a joint or the means of fixation of a muscle-tendon to a bone—have been torn asunder.

It is a good and safe rule to call in a doctor, when any severe or even moderately severe sprain has been encountered.

Before the Doctor Comes.

But before the doctor comes, or in those cases in which medical aid may be difficult or impossible to obtain, a measure of help can be secured if certain simple considerations are borne in mind.

The first of these is that movement is not likely to help matters. At the best, it can only be unobstructed movement.

When a sprain or strain has occurred, try to rest the part. At home there may be a difficulty, but if the accident takes place on a hillside when one is alone the matter is very different.

When the sprain occurs at some valuable, he asserts, every self-respecting house should contain a rest of this, but, in any case, most chemists stock it.

Applied at Skin Tension.

The important point is that the plaster should be applied at once and at skin tension, he points out.

There is nothing quite so difficult as to persuade people not to apply strapping tightly.

Why lightly applied pressure should, in fact, accomplish this and is not clear, but then, the nature of the swelling which follows sprains is itself rather a mystery.

Another first-aid measure which is worth trying, and which can always be tried, is to place the injured part in the cold-water tap and allow a gentle

Do You Awake Tired and Weak?

Know the Joy of Restful Sleep by Taking Ironized Yeast

Do you arise in the morning as unrefreshed as when you retired? Are your brain and nerves all run down? This terrible weakness which afflicts so many may be blamed on the lack of vitamins and iron in modern foods.

Ironized Yeast is a wonderful builder of strength and energy. But Ironized Yeast antibiotics, a new secret process, known as "ironization," which enables the yeast to produce its results twice as quickly.

Cannot Walk Off Sprains.

In cases in which the sprain is very slight, rest should not be denied; but, again, it should not be overdone.

At night, very often, these injuries begin to throb and interfere with sleep.

The bandages, having been removed, need not be kept off all night. They should be readjusted at skin tension and if necessary taken off again later and again applied.

Many lotions are helpful to soothe the throbbing, but by far the best is the old-fashioned extract of witch-hazel, which is applied on cotton rags, undoubtedly helps matters very much and may reduce the amount of swelling, he advises.

Finally, he says, raising the limb is often helpful, especially in the case of sprained knees and ankles.

ITCHING ECZEMA ON HEAD AND FACE

In Pimples, Could Not Sleep, Cuticura Heals.

"For about twenty years I suffered with eczema on my head and face. At first it broke out in pimples and after a while became red and scaly. The itching and burning were so severe that scratched and scratched the affected parts, and at night I could not sleep because of the irritation.

"I tried different ointments but nothing helped. I began using Cuticura Soap and Ointment and within a few days the itching and burning were gone and my skin was clear and healthy.

For New Styles and Pretty Arms

(Beauty Notes.) Women are fast learning the value of the use of Delatone for removing hair from face, neck or arms.

Delatone is a simple, safe and sure way to get them out and that is to dissolve them. To do this just get about two ounces of Delatone in a hot, wet sponge—rub briskly over the back parts for a few seconds.

No Cause for Worry WHEN CHILDREN HAVE Summer Complaints

There is not a summer passes but that thousands of men, women and children are attacked by summer complaints such as diarrhoea, dysentery, colic, cramps and pains in the stomach, cholera, cholera morbus, cholera infantum, etc.

In looking for relief you should not delay in getting a bottle of Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry, a remedy that has been on the market for the past seventy-seven years, and has stood the test of time.

Mrs. Gertrude Chapman, Sudbury (Ont.) writes: "I am the mother of five children and I must say they are seldom sick or in need of medicine. They are, however, sometimes troubled with summer complaint, diarrhoea, and such like, but I always find there is no cause for worry as I just give them a few drops of Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry, and the trouble soon disappears. It is a remedy that the mothers should keep in the home for the children."

TEACH CHILDREN THE VALUES OF PEACE

Baden-Powell Has Vision of Way to Eliminate War.

Paris, Aug. 10.—In his address at the International Scout Conference in Paris on Sunday, which delegates from thirty different countries attended, Sir R. Baden-Powell said that he had a vision in his mind that they were opening the road to a glorious possibility.

Men had, he continued, devised treaties and a League of Nations, but peace must rest on the character of the mutual good relations of the different peoples. It is conceivable that within a short time the League of Nations or other international tribunal would recognize this and decide that this should be a matter for an unending form of education.

It might be objected that such a change would take all the manliness and backbone out of a nation, but he personally believed that it was not impossible to find a substitute for war training that would equally maintain the virility and self-respect of a people.

HIGH CLASS LIVE STOCK SHOW AT THE EXHIBITION

Present indications go to show that there will be an exceptionally good show of live stock at the St. John Exhibition which will open on Sept. 2.

From the entries which have so far been received, it is certain that there will be keen competition in all classes although the entry list will not come up to the record set up last year.

Special provision is to be made this year for accredited herds; that is, those which have passed the tests of the Dominion Department of Agriculture and have been found to be free from tuberculosis.

In regard to swine, H. A. Porter, secretary of the exhibition, said yesterday that he expected that the entry lists in the various breeds would be larger this year than they were for last year's show.

A special feature of this year's live stock will be the auction of cattle on the last two days of the fair, which will give stock raisers an opportunity to obtain some high grade stock to add to their herds.

The poultry section in particular promises well, as is only to be expected when the new features which have been added to this branch are considered.

There will be a demonstration in poultry farming which will show the various stages of poultry raising from the incubation of the egg until the little chick grows into the mature hen which is shown in egg-laying contests.

Teaching Nations to Confer

Already the League's Assembly Has Developed Machinery for Discussing Instead of Declaring War.

(By Raymond B. Fossick. From the Atlantic Monthly.)

It is not size alone which gives the League of Nations significance or which has brought it increasing vitality. With no precedents to follow, with no tradition to bind it, the league has struck out boldly in a new direction.

On the theory that if the nations of the world can get together for discussion around a common table many of the conflicts of interest and misunderstandings of purpose can be reconciled and smoothed away, and many of the outstanding problems which confront all nations alike can be overcome, the league has built up machinery for international conferences such as no previous generation has possessed.

However the enemies of the league may scoff at its machinery, the fact remains that through the machinery which the league has brought into being the nations are today sitting in conference on their common problems to a degree undreamed of a decade ago.

Whatever mistakes may have been made in the formation of the league—and they were not a few—within two years of its birth it has proved itself successful as an instrument for drawing the world together in common counsel.

The bare list of some of the conferences which the league has promoted is evidence of its success. The assembly, which is the keystone of the whole organization, because it represents all the nations sitting around a table, is holding its third annual meeting in Geneva in September.

The league's council, representing eight states, has held nineteen sessions. In addition to these formal gatherings, the league has promoted a steady succession of international conferences and committee meetings to deal with a great variety of problems, such as the standardization of international statistics, the suppression of the international traffic in opium, the unification of standards of anti-toxic sera, the feeding of Russian refugees, the return of prisoners of war, the reduction of armaments, the private manufacture of arms, the deportation of women and children in Asia Minor, and a score of other topics which represent the legitimate concern not of one nation but of the family of nations.

In brief, for two years the world has been slowly developing the tradition of conference; it has been learning, in some measure at least, the value of common counsel. No one could claim that the lesson is perfectly learned, only the beginning has been made. But at least it is a beginning. It marks a new train of thought, a new method of approach, a new habit.

There is apparently some opinion in America that a succession of special conferences like the one held in Washington could adequately take the place of the league. To such belief it would seem as if memory of the plight of Sir Edward Grey, the lone figure in his crushing answer. For over two weeks he fought for a conference as the only hope of avoiding the impending catastrophe. In that limited period, with the flames mounting higher every day, he tried to create the necessary machinery that would bring the nations concerned around a common table. But it was too late. Time was lacking. In those few frantic days, the plan of peace and heat, the machinery could not be devised and assembled. The catastrophe began without a single conference. A handful of hasty, misunderstood pleaders plunged the world into the greatest tragedy ever visited upon the human race.

That is why some kind of permanent machinery is necessary, some international organization ready for emergency. That is why the assembly, the council, and the court of international justice constitute the outstanding features of the league's program. They represent preparedness. They represent a flexible mechanism that can be quickly adapted to unexpected situations.

Week by week the league is extending its work along general humanitarian lines, using its machinery to meet those human needs which overflow national boundaries. If in these uncontroversial matters the nations of the world can develop the technique of common action and acquire the habit of co-operation, surely when the great test comes, and another 1914 throws down its ugly challenge to mankind, there will be a better chance for sanity and self-control and a larger hope of escape from a world wreck of untold proportions.

An Instrument of Concord.

This, then, is the League of Nations—not a superstate, backed by vast armaments, but a simple instrument for bringing nations together in conference around a table. Its warmest friends make no claim of perfection for it. It cannot bring the millennium. It cannot immediately allay the high fever of present international discord. Its weaknesses are apparent. It is powerless to solve, or even deal with, some of the most menacing problems that confront us.

But here is a co-operative world movement, the first of its kind in history, constituting a central rallying point around which the forces of law and peace may gather and slowly develop new approaches to common dangers and

MEMORIAL TO A GREAT PIONEER

Log Building and Stockade at Lake Windermere in Memory of David Thompson.

(Ottawa Journal.)

On the last day of the present month is paid to the memory of the great Canadian explorer, David Thompson, will be dedicated with appropriate ceremonies. The memorial consists of a large log building surrounded with a stockade with bastion towers, reproducing as closely as possible one of the frontier forts of the time of David Thompson.

The memorial stands on the shores of beautiful Lake Windermere, not far from the source of the Columbia River, in the heart of the great valley between the Rockies and the Selkirk, and within a short distance of the site of Kootenai House, the trading post which Thompson built in 1807. The cost of the memorial is being borne jointly by the Hudson's Bay Company and the Canadian Pacific Railway Company.

There is a peculiar appropriateness in the fact that this graceful tribute should be paid to the memory of David Thompson, because of all Canadian explorers he has until recently been most conspicuously ignored.

Although he was first in the service of the Hudson's Bay Company, and later with his great rival, the North West Company, he was to explore and survey the immense region between Lake Superior and the Pacific. During his travels, he traveled over 60,000 miles in canoes, on horseback and on foot, through an unmappped and to a very large extent unexplored territory. His surveys, although made under peculiarly adverse conditions, with imperfect instruments, and with the aid of Indian tribes, were so accurate that, according to such an acknowledged authority as J. B. Tyrrell, Dominion government surveyor, they are even today much of the topography shown on government maps is taken from the original work of David Thompson, performed considerably over a century ago.

Thompson was the first man to explore the Columbia River, from its source down to its mouth. Lewis and Clark, the American government explorers, were a little ahead of him on the lower part of the river, but to him alone belongs the honor of covering the entire waters of that immense waterway, which he took possession of in the name of the British crown. After he left the service of the North West Company, he was employed for ten years in surveying and defining the boundary between Canada and the United States, as far west as the Lake of the Woods. In his extreme old age he tried unsuccessfully to obtain a position or some slight recognition of his immensely valuable services to Canada and the empire, and finally died near Montreal at the age of eighty-seven, in abject poverty. He was buried in Mount Royal Cemetery, and even today his grave is unmarked and unknown except in the records of the cemetery. This national oversight—one might almost call it a national disgrace—is it understood is to be remedied through the generosity of the Canadian Pacific Railway Company, which has undertaken to place a suitably inscribed stone over the grave.

Throughout his long life Thompson kept elaborate diaries of his surveys and geographical discoveries. These diaries, filling many volumes of manuscript, lay for many years in one of the provincial departments at Toronto. Finally, through the energy and enthusiasm of J. B. Tyrrell, they were edited and published in a handsome volume by the Champlain Society. Now that this splendid memorial has been erected to his memory on Lake Windermere, the shameful neglect which David Thompson suffered during his lifetime has been to some extent remedied.

Canada cannot afford to forget the work of the great pioneers who blazed paths through her vast western territory. The Hudson's Bay Company last year placed a memorial over the grave of Simon Fraser, the intrepid explorer who first of white men descended the river that bears his name, from the mountains to the ocean. The Dominion Sites and Monuments' Board is doing excellent work in preserving old landmarks of the past and marking historic sites, and in this way they have the warm cooperation of the Historic Landmarks' Association, now merged in the Canadian Historical Association, as well as of many provincial and local historical societies. Recently the Quebec government established a special commission with the same object in view, so far as that province is concerned. Canadians are awakening to the debt they owe the men who laid the foundations of this great Dominion. More power to their efforts! No patriotic citizen will question the propriety of spending money, intelligently directed, upon such a laudable object.

CONTRACT TO PUBLIC WORKS

Will Do the South Market Wharf Paving

Further Discussion re Widening of the Haymarket Square Roadway—Retaining Walls—The Pulp Mill—A Taxation Matter.

The acceptance of a tender from the public works department for paving South Market wharf, and the proposed widening of the roadway on the north side of Haymarket Square were the chief subjects under discussion at a committee meeting of the common council this morning.

With reference to the paving of South Market wharf, Commissioner Bullock reported that he would recommend that the tender of the public works department be accepted. Only two were submitted. One from the Stephen Construction Company was $883.50 higher than that of the public works department.

Commissioner Thornton said that it was unusual for one department to tender for work in another and that it did not seem fair that any city department should tender against a firm. He felt that there must be some discrepancy between the estimates made up by the city engineer for the South Market wharf work and those made by the road engineer for Haymarket Square. Commissioner Frink explained that the road engineer was allowing fifteen per cent profit in his estimate, and that in future he would permit him to do so. He said his department was not particularly anxious to do the work or come into competition with private contractors.

Commissioner Bullock said he could not be expected to award the tender to any local contractor when the public works department tendered to do the work for more than thirty per cent less than the lowest tender received. His motion to recommend the acceptance of the tender was passed, Commissioner Thornton voting against it.

Haymarket Square.
Commissioner Frink then presented a report from the road engineer regarding the proposed widening of the roadway on the south side of Haymarket Square. He suggested to do away with a sidewalk along the square was carried out, the report said, seven large trees would have to be destroyed and the water fountain removed. At the foot of Erin street the roadway was forty-six feet wide, and at the corner of Prince Edward street thirty-eight feet six inches. He suggested widening the corner at this section to bring the width to forty-two feet six inches. This could be accomplished with cutting down one tree and pruning another. He estimated the alterations would cost $741.

Mayor McLellan said that the trouble was that the street railway tracks should be removed and placed on the north side of the square. He felt that this would prove a solution of the problem. In a general discussion it was suggested that the street cars could be made proceed up Prince Edward street, where the transfer of passengers could take place.

The matter was set aside until the commissioners have an opportunity of visiting the scene. They decided to do so this afternoon.

Retaining Walls.
Commissioner Frink reported that a retaining wall in Prince Edward street was in very bad condition and would have to be rebuilt, concrete replacing the stone there now. He said the length required was 173 feet with an average depth of sixteen feet and the estimated cost was $8,242.

Mayor McLellan said that a law should be passed forcing all property owners to build walls under their houses. He said that the city was going bankrupt building retaining walls. Commissioner Frink said it would cost one million dollars to rebuild retaining walls throughout the city.

On motion the matter was allowed to lie on the table.

The Pulp Mill.
C. F. Sanford, of Barnhill, Sanford and Harrison, appeared on behalf of the Nashwaak Pulp & Paper Company asking that the city permit the company to lay a sixteen inch water main from its mill to the city main, and to install a venturi meter. They agreed that such work must be done to the satisfaction of the city engineer, the city to retain the right to shut off the water at any time, and that the work be done at the company's own expense.

Mayor McLellan said he was afraid that the installation of a sixteen inch main might effect the pressure on the west side and if he thought it would do so he would not support their application. It was decided to look into the matter and give the application careful consideration and to take the matter up next Monday.

J. Walker Andrews protested against the amount he was assessed. He said he had taken the matter up with the assessors and had been referred to the city council. His case was heard after which he was told that it would be dealt with at a meeting on August 21 when other cases would be brought up. The question was raised whether or not a man should be assessed on money earned after his regular hours. Mayor McLellan quoted a coal handler being assessed $87. He had earned more than $2,000, but the most of it had been made as a result of working nineteen hours out of twenty-four. He felt that in doing so a man was robbing himself of his health and he did not think any law was ever intended to cover such cases.

The mayor read a communication he received from M. E. Armstrong of Bridgetown, N. S., inviting himself or representatives from this city to attend the 100th anniversary of that town in the first week in September. The matter was left with the mayor with authority to appoint a representative.

RAIDS ARE MADE ON BANKS IN IRELAND

Attack on an Insurgent Position in County Mayo—The Cables—Bishop of Buffalo Outspoken on Conditions in Country.

(Canadian Press Cable) Belfast, Aug. 10.—A band of armed men raided the banks in Kingcourt, County Cavan, today. The bandits got away with booty to the amount of two thousand four hundred pounds.

Bishop Scores Conditions. Dublin, Aug. 10.—Right Rev. William R. Turner, Bishop of Buffalo, delivered an outspoken address in Limerick last night in which he scored the internecine warfare in Ireland, and told of conditions in Kilmallock during its siege.

"In Kilmallock," he said, "I learned a good deal by personal observation regarding the destruction of property, and especially the looting of workers' houses and the residences of the nuns who are devoting themselves to the sick, weak and dependent. Neither the sacred character of the nuns nor their work for suffering humanity was considered by the crowds from the back lanes of Kilmallock, nor were they protected by the so-called Irish Republicans during the entire two weeks that they continued to load their carts with what after all was the property of the people."

The bishop urged that Ireland should be placed above every other consideration, and that no leader should be followed who had not been cleared of all national fervor and who had not placed Ireland before "his own selfish, sentimental or passionate interests."

Dublin, Aug. 10.—It is reported that national forces have landed from the sea at Union Hall, a seaport in County of Cork, occupied the village and dispersed the irregular troops after brief fighting. It is also reported that the nationalists have landed in Cork and Youghall. Official confirmation of this cannot be obtained.

The Cables. Dublin, Aug. 10.—The irregulars will control the area in South Kerry, where the cable stations are situated. No statement has been issued by the provincial government regarding restoration of the cables to their owners.

Troops, however, have cleared North Kerry and a portion of West Kerry and are now pushing towards the area of the cable stations.

Guinness' Brewery Robbery. Dublin, Aug. 10.—National army troops attacked a position of 200 irregulars yesterday near Swinford, County Mayo. The irregulars lost one killed and nineteen captured, the remainder escaping over a bog.

Three armed men yesterday entered the Guinness' Brewery here, held up the cashier and escaped with £200.

Belfast, Aug. 10.—A message from Waterford today says the obstruction which had been placed in Cork harbor by the Irish irregulars has been removed.

Dalgle-Baker. Edmonton, N. B., Aug. 9.—In the Church of the Immaculate Conception this morning Rev. Father Coy, of St. Basil, united in marriage Miss Winnie Baker, only daughter of Colonel and Mrs. Baker of Bakerbrook, and niece of H. M. Pius Michaud, federal M.P., to Joseph H. Dalgle, youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. H. U. Dalgle, prominent merchant of St. Jacques.

A MODEL TOWN. (Woodstock Press.) The town of Woodstock proposes to expend this year the sum of $101,900 for ordinary purposes. The principal items of receipts are from taxes $78,000, from water $18,000, from last year's surplus $8,000, the remainder of the money comes from licenses and severals; there is very little revenue from fines and uncollected taxes.

Tuesday was the last day for the payment of taxes on a discount, and Manager Armstrong received $87,000 out of the total of $78,000 showing that notwithstanding the cry of hard times the ratepayers can provide the money necessary for the town work. The rate year is $1.72 on the $100.

Under the old system of deficits the paying ratepayers grumbled at the defaulters and, as things were allowed to continue, many of them became defaulters also, there was no system in the conduct of town business and of course the service was inefficient. We were no better nor worse than any of the other towns or cities in the province, and the aldermen were just as capable men as could be, with no charges of graft or any kind against them, but the system in vogue was all wrong.

Under the present system everybody must pay before the end of the year. This coupled with the fact that everybody has been paying during the last few years, that the town had a surplus of $8000 last year, and that the people are getting good service, has made tax paying a pleasure, and the citizens are now free from the nightmare they were afflicted with since the incorporation of the town.

WHERE CRUISER RALEIGH STRUCK Ottawa, Aug. 10.—Forteau Bay, where the Raleigh went ashore, "is four miles wide between Point Amour, on the eastern, and Forteau Point on the western side of the bay," according to description given by the British admiralty in "The Newfoundland and Labrador Pilot." It is said to be the best roadstead in the Straits of Belle Isle. Holding ground is good and fishing vessels moor in it through the summer, but a heavy swell runs in with a southwest wind. The shore is generally bold and the water is deep beyond one cable from shore, except at the head where a shoal extends from the school-house, one quarter of a mile into the bay. "In foggy weather," the pilot adds, "great caution is needed."

DIBBLE MAY NOT COME. Relative to a despatch from Toronto stating that Bob Dibble had been invited to row at the Renfrew regatta on August 26, an official of the Renfrew Club said this afternoon that Dibble had been invited previous to competing in the regatta at St. Catharines. THE GREATEST WOMEN. (Lena W. Brown, in Kansas City Times) Where shall we find our women worthy of greatest fame? With high illuminated name.

Among the host of claimants To whom is honor due? Alas! they are ever nameless, Unknown to me and you.

They are out on the hill, in the valley, On the mountain and in the plain; Down in the tenement cellar— Wherever is toil and pain.

They have followed no high ambition, Nor dreamed of a hall of fame; But for nameless immortal merit They have changed a mortal name.

Forgetting glimmer and glory, They have made their peace with pain; They have loved no selfish gain. They have loved no selfish gain.

They have barred out all self, In the age old, world old strife; Where the warriors all are martyrs, And lost to the records of life.

On earth shall they be nameless, But on God's roll of fame Methinks their names are written In letters of blinding flame.

TWO VIEWS. Dear woman, since this world began, Has searched for an ideal man, Nor ever dreamed—so foolish she— That such a man who has a wiser streak— Ideal woman does not seek. He knows and wants—she understands— The good old kind is much too good.

COMPLICATION IN RAILWAY STRIKE

'Big Four' Men May Walk Out Until Danger of Being 'Shot or Beaten by Guards' is Over.

Chicago, Aug. 10.—Opposition to armed guards about railroad properties, as reflected in statements to leaders of the Big Four brotherhood, today added a complication to the nearly seven weeks old strike of shomps.

Meanwhile the situation at Chicago, national centre of the strike, marked time pending the meeting of railroad leaders in New York and shop workers' leaders in Washington tomorrow.

Violence over the country yesterday was somewhat diminished.

Cleveland, Aug. 10.—Sporadic walk-out of members of the "Big Four" transportation brotherhoods today added a complication to the nearly seven weeks old strike of shomps.

Conciliation Board Today. Ottawa, Aug. 10.—Alex. Smith, chairman, and Isaac Pihlodo, K. C., of Winnipeg, and James Simpson of Toronto, left yesterday for Montreal, where the first general session of the conciliation board for the railway shomps and the railroads will be held today.

Labor officials do not plan at present to have legal advice in connection with the matter but these plans can be changed. The railroads will be well represented legally and it is expected that a battery of lawyers from the legal departments of the Canadian Pacific and the Grand Trunk will assist in presenting the railway side of the case.

INDIAN CHIEF AT OTTAWA IN DEMAND FOR RIGHTS Ottawa, Aug. 10.—Attired in his native costume, with elaborate feathered headdress, Chief John Bigwin of the Red Deer Indians, Dams Reserve, Billis, is here, accompanied by four other Indian representatives, to interview members of the cabinet in connection with the granting of certain rights which the Indians claim are their due.

Among these, according to Chief Bigwin, are the payment of money to the Indians throughout Canada for lands appropriated by the government in the early eighties, and some adjustments to the game and fisheries laws.

IN WALL STREET. New York, Aug. 10.—(10:30)—Irregular price changes marked the opening of today's stock exchange, but the selling of speculative favorites soon gave a reactionary turn to the whole list. Pressure against Baldwin and Mexican Petroleum forced these stocks down a point each, while Studebaker, selling at a dividend, was down a half. American Radiator broke through for a new high on a gain in the Westinghouse, which was up one. Pronounced weakness was shown by Crucible Steel, American Locomotive, U. S. Rubber and Mallinson, which were down 1 to 1-1/2 points.

Noon Report. New York, Aug. 10.—Oils, motors, steels, equipments and a wide miscellaneous list continued under pressure throughout the first hour. However, short covering in Mexican Petroleum, which had sold off this morning, gave a signal for a rally which carried that stock up 1-1/2 points above last night's close and wiped out all on most of the losses in Baldwin and American Locomotive. In Baldwin and American Locomotive, an active inquiry for low price rails, which were neglected yesterday, also developed in the upward movement. St. Louis Southwestern breaking through for a new high for the year with a gain of 1-1/2 points in the preferred stock of that road. Texas and Pacific and St. Louis and Francisco, American Can, Maxwell Motors B., Pan-American Oil and California Packing also moved to high ground. Money opened at 4 1/2 cent.

PRINCETON GIRL FALLS OVER YOSEMITE CLIFF

Prof. Jones Narrowly Escapes The Same Fate. Trying to Save Daughter From Death in Merced River.

Yosemite, Cal., Aug. 10.—Miss Elizabeth Jones, 17 years old, daughter of Professor L. W. Jones, head of the Department of Chemistry of Princeton University, met a tragic death in the Yosemite Valley late yesterday, when she slipped and fell over a cliff into the swirling waters of the Merced River.

Miss Jones was with her father, who made a frantic effort to save her and narrowly escaped her fate. According to tourists who witnessed the accident, Professor Jones grasped Miss Jones' hand as she started to fall. He clung firmly, but their hands parted and she slipped over the precipice into the rapids.

A call was immediately sent out for park forest rangers, but late last night the girl's body had not been recovered. According to the rangers, it may be some time before the body is found because of the swiftness of the current.

Professor Jones and his daughter arrived in the valley only yesterday. They had been six weeks in Berkeley, Cal., where he was an instructor in the summer seasons at the University of California.

WOMEN PREACHERS TO MEET AUG. 15-17

Attitude on Problems of Day Among Questions to be Considered.

Winfield, Kans., Aug. 10.—The attitude women preachers should take on the problems of the day and the status of women in the various religious denominations will be among questions discussed at the annual assembly of the International Association of Women Preachers at Winona Lake, Ind., Aug. 15-17, so it is announced by the Rev. M. Adeline Southard, president.

She will address the convention on "A Sphere or a Hemisphere," and other subjects. Dr. Lee, Anna Starr, Dr. Sara B. Wise, the Rev. Lida Herrick and Rev. Carolyn Hestford, Southern Baptists, will discuss the status of women in all the denominations, her place in preaching, in counsel, in administration and methods of opening desirable positions in church work to young women so that they will not necessarily be drawn off into other fields," Rev. Southard said.

The sessions will be open to laymen and clergy alike, it was stated. Credit was given to the Society of Friends (Quakers) for what was termed its advanced position on sex equality, by Rev. Southard in discussing the progress of women in the various religious denominations.

"The Society of Friends, which arose in England almost three hundred years ago took the amazing stand that there should be sex equality," she said. "No church has had so large a proportion of preaching women. Women were the first preachers in London, Oxford, Cambridge and in America. They were among the early martyrs of the church. Perhaps we owe woman suffrage indirectly to the Friends. Susan B. Anthony was one of the best of that church's women who were preaching and holding remarkable revivals in pre-revolutionary days.

Interest attaches to the Methodist Protestant church in this matter because it was to this church that Anna Shaw went for ordination when she was refused by the Episcopal church. After a stormy controversy she was ordained by the New York Conference. In 1864 the General Conference held this action unconstitutional. But in this states have a considerable measure of authority. Some went on and ordained women, some objecting. The climax came when in 1892 the Rev. Eugenia St. John was sent as a ministerial delegate from Kansas, and two women lay delegates with her. There was a sharp division over seating these women in the General Conference in which the Rev. Dr. Lee, Anna Starr, was seated as a ministerial delegate and asked to preach before the General Conference. A few conferences still refuse to ordain women but in most cases they have equal rights.

The Salvation Army recognized sex equality from the very beginning. The founders, William and Catherine Booth, were both great preachers and most of their eight children became preachers. One of them, Evangeline Booth, is commander of the army in America today. During the war certain organizations gave definite orders that no women be permitted to do their religious work. It is of interest to note that the organizers of which the men at the front speak with warmest praise is this one whose highest officer is a woman, and in which women are more largely used for religious work than any other.

"The liberal churches, Unitarian and Universalist, ordain women. The Battle Hymn of the Republic was written by a Unitarian minister, Julia Ward Howe."

FIGURING HOTEL COSTS.

To Build and Furnish Each Room From $7,500 to $9,000 Is Required.

New York, Aug. 10.—Figures gathered in the hotel industry show interesting sidelights on a business with which the public is little familiar. According to the Hotel Association, 114 hotels of the first-class accommodate a substantial proportion of the millions visiting New York annually. It is estimated that it costs about $5,000 a room to build a first-class hotel, excluding land, which is very high, and the carrying charges during construction. To furnish a room entails $2,000 to $3,000 more, making a total of $7,500 to $9,000 a room. This would mean that a 2,000-room hotel, with each room having a bath, would represent an investment of more than $16,000,000. Taxes alone on the assessed value of $17,017,500 of the 114 hotels in the Hotel Association of New York City are $4,976,231. Land for a first-class site costs over $25,000 a front foot. These hotels have 70,000 rooms. It is estimated that they accommodate from 120,000 to 130,000 guests. A large item of expenditure for the hotels is the salaries of employees. The list of employees in their specialized fields reads like a satire on efficiency, but economics and the demands of the employees make it essential that a fry-cook shall not roast, a broil-cook shall not cook fish, nor a sauce-cook prepare anything but sauces. A cold-meat man, a vegetable man, an ice-cream man, a range cleaner, are all skilled specialists who are not expected to intrude in any other precinct.

The hotel laundry is a special industry in itself. Each worker has her allotted task and there is no generalizing of duties. There are shakers, mangle operators and other distinct classifications. One New York residential hotel employs 152 persons with a pay-roll of $14,295 monthly. The equipment used in modern hotels is of army proportions. One group of New York hotels has enough elevators running constantly to cover 756,198 miles in a year. Its telephone operators handle 20,000,000 calls yearly, 40,000,000 lead pencils are used, and 12,000,000 envelopes are distributed. The item of ash re-mov-ing, for example, may run to $5,000 a year for a large hotel. Apartment houses, however, of the same size would get free service from the city. In a chain of hotels the china equipment comprises 555,129 pieces, 244,293 pieces of silverware are used, and 88,789 are annually replaced. Enough water is used to wash the 60,521,000 dishes yearly in this chain of hotels to fill a ten-foot lake one mile long and one-third as wide, containing more than half a billion gallons. Enough bed linen is laundered annually by this chain to cover every roof on Manhattan Island; 17,905,000 pieces of table linen are laundered annually.

HAM CHEAPER IN U. S.

Wholesale Prices Down Fifteen to Twenty-five Per Cent.

Washington, Aug. 10.—Hams and the heavier class of pork loins were recommended this week by the American Institute of Meat Packers to American housewives who desire to effect a saving in meat costs. In these two products the greatest decline in price was noted during the last month.

"From the viewpoint of the consumer," the institute's statement said, "the heavy decline in the wholesale price of hams constitutes the feature of the meat trade during the last month and at the present time. Wholesale prices of hams have declined from fifteen to twenty-five per cent."

"The consumer also should have and act on the information that very heavy pork loins are selling at wholesale at from seven to nine cents a pound below the price of very light loins."

MASTER MILEAGE-MAKERS

Dunlop Tires—Cord and Fabric—are retailed by a standard printed list, which you can obtain from any garage or tire dealer. Our 28 years in business is worth something as a guide to every motorist—28 years of continually making good, not only in the sense of manufacturing, but in the sense of assuming responsibility for what we manufacture.

Then, dwell on this fact: Never before in the whole history of tire-making have you been able to receive such a big dollar's worth as today, when you ask for, and insist on getting, a "Dunlop." Mileage on Dunlop Tires is not only the greatest in all our years of manufacturing, but prices have been dropping until now you have figures lower than any which could be offered during the past ten years. Still, as previously noted, the quality and service are better than ever.

Think of a Dunlop "Clipper" 30 x 3 1/2 (Fabric) retailing at $12.00! Fancy "Traction" (Fabric)—same size—being obtainable for $15.00, and imagine being able to procure a 30 x 3 1/2 "Traction" Cord (Oversize) for $18.50! And so it goes with the various sizes of Casings and Tubes. Besides, 7,500 Dunlop Tire Dealers and Garages from Halifax to Victoria are "At Your Service."

Just now the market is flooded with "cheap" tires; in other words, tires made out of inferior tire fabric and poor quality of rubber, and sent out with little or no responsibility back of them. Every dollar the motorist puts into such tires is not only wasted, but immediately becomes a trouble-maker for the owner of same. The tires are not made to stand up for long, and they certainly don't. They are simply "cheap" in price, because they are "cheap" in quality, and the result can be only one thing—Costly Mileage.

Motorists who experiment with "cheap" tires offered supposedly as a "snap" have a uniformly bitter experience, and invariably utter the same plaint: "Never Again," so why risk your own and your family's lives?

Dunlop Tires, Tubes and Accessories have led the field for more than a quarter of a century, and cannot be made better.

SOLIDARITY OF THE ENGLISH-SPEAKING NATIONS APPROVED

Four World Leaders—Taft, Shaw, Wickersham and Davis—Advocate Closer Harmony as Basis of International Good Will.

(Canadian Press Despatch.)
San Francisco, Aug. 9.—Four men prominent in world politics, addressing the California branch of the English-speaking Union, in session here, commended the aims of the union in seeking to bring the English-speaking nations into closer harmony with a view toward fostering an international spirit of good will.

The four, William Howard Taft, Chief Justice of the United States and former president of the United States; Lord Shaw of Dunfermline, member of the British House of Lords; George W. Wickersham, former attorney general of the United States, and John W. Davis, former ambassador of the United States to Great Britain, are here for the convention of the American Bar Association which opened today.

Lord Shaw expressed a desire to see a wider understanding among English-speaking people. "When we stop troubling about our poorer qualities and find the best ones, we will all understand," he said. "That is what England has tried to do in Ireland and it is succeeding so well that today I believe that Ireland is on the crest of a wave that will send it on to splendid achievement."

Mr. Davis said that the "solution of the Irish problem and elimination of the jealousies aroused through the naval strength of Great Britain have removed two of the major threats which beset the world peace." He declared that the "liberation of Ireland did more to assure the world that freedom was not a mockery than any other agency in ages."

Mr. Davis concluded by saying that the English-speaking nations must help Ireland by making the world a place of peace.

STRIKES AND SELF-HELP.
(New York Times.)
President Harding more than once has protested against the tendency to run to Washington with every local difficulty. Even in the coal strike he has appealed to the men on the spot to extricate themselves. There are signs that they are able and ready to do it, if the worst comes. In Kansas two years ago the state government and volunteer citizens saw to it that there was a coal supply, though the miners would not work. Today in Indiana a resolute governor is tackling the state's coal problem.

Governor McCray announced that as but 1 per cent of the population of Indiana had to do with mining coal, directly or indirectly, he was determined that the 99 per cent should be provided with the indispensable amount of coal. Hence his declaration of martial law in certain coal areas; his dispatch of troops to protect men willing to work; his call for the miners to return at the old wages, pending a settlement, and his resolve to obtain volunteers from within the state, and outside it, in case of need, so that the industries and the households of Indiana should not be deprived of fuel. It is a wholesome display of initiative and energy in local self-government.

Such a lead given in any part of the country would, we are convinced, bring a swift and impressive response from the people. Thus far the coal strike has left the great mass of Americans apparently indifferent, because they have not actually felt the pinch and do not believe that the strike will be pushed to extremities. But if an actual emergency were to be thrust upon them, there can be little doubt what their attitude would be. They would not lie down before the threats of a monopolistic union. They would say that the coal is here and that it must be mined, if not in one way then in another. And they would rise to acclaim and follow any public leadership that showed them how the resources and ingenuity of the American people could be used to pull the country out of the present deadlock. The spirit of self-help has not been extinguished; it is only waiting an opportunity to assert itself. Still with Americans is there at least a measure of the old instinct of their ancestors, which, when despairing voices said, "Well, God mend all," exclaimed, "Nay, but we will help Him to mend it."

OLD FORT EDWARD.
The only original blockhouse remaining in the maritime provinces, Fort Edward, Windsor, N. S., is to be preserved as a site of historic importance by the Canadian National Parks Branch. It was erected by Major Charles Lawrence in 1750 and was later called Fort Edward in honor of Colonel Edward Cornwallis, governor of Nova-Scotia. The fort occupies a commanding situation adjacent to the railway station and its meadows and old willow trees create a rare opportunity for a small historic park. A tablet has been placed on the wall of the blockhouse by the Nova Scotia Historical Society, but otherwise little attention so far has been given to the preservation of the site.

APPEAL TO HELP TYPHOON VICTIMS MADE TO CHINESE

(Canadian Press Cable.)
Hong Kong, Aug. 9.—Chinese overseas are being appealed to by the Chinese Chamber of Commerce here to aid their stricken countrymen at Swatow, the port 250 miles north of here which virtually was destroyed by a typhoon and tidal wave a week ago with the loss of 20,000 lives.

The general chamber of commerce of Hong Kong is inviting subscriptions for the Swatow sufferers. The Chinese Tangwah hospital committee has appropriated $10,000. The British-American Tobacco Company gave $1,000 to the relief fund and shipped rice to Swatow. The government of the British section of Hong Kong shipped another hundred tons of rice last night. The directors of the Swatow municipality have written the British Consul at Hong Kong expressing appreciation for the generosity of British and Japanese governments in carrying supplies to Swatow free.

Universal sympathy has been aroused by the appalling magnitude of the catastrophe.

LORD SHAW OF DUNFERMLINE

(By J. A. Strahan, of the Middle Temple, Barrister-at-Law, and Reader in Equity, Inns of Court, London. Reprinted from the American Bar Association Journal, July, 1922.)

Probably many Americans have never heard of the "Kingdom of Fife. Physically it is not a very large part of another Kingdom—Scotland—which itself is not half the size of one of the greater United States. But Fife is not important in area is important in other ways. For instance it has produced not a few sons of whom some kingdoms a hundred times bigger would be proud. These are not necessary now to enumerate. It is enough for the present to mention two of the latest. One was a man who made his fortune and fame in, and so was well known in, America. The other is a man who made his fame and fortune in his native Scotland and whom America will shortly have an opportunity of knowing. Both in their later life were neighbors and friends, helping one another in what both had met at the advancement of learning and of peace. The one was Mr. Andrew Carnegie, the steel king of Pittsburgh; the other was Thomas Shaw, Lord of Appeal in Ordinary in London, who will shortly be the guest of the Bar Association of the United States.

Shaw, like Carnegie, owed nothing to birth or wealth. His father died when he was still a child, and he was brought up in straitened circumstances by a mother who, like a pious Scotswoman, taught him two lessons he has not forgotten to his duties to his father God in Heaven and his duties to his brother men on earth. His education began at the high school of Dunfermline. There it was likely to have ended but for his own resolution. He learned the profession of a solicitor after he left the high school, but discontented with a minor opportunity that branch of the legal profession afforded, he determined to go to Edinburgh University and there read for an Arts degree and the Bar at one and the same time. The labor and privation involved was great; but with Scottish tenacity he accomplished his ambition.

Before his studies for the bar were completed it was clear that he could, if he wished, earn eminence either in academic or in literary life. In fact he was appointed Assistant Professor of Medical Philosophy at Edinburgh; and as such acquired the esteem of both his professor and his pupils. He also made a promising beginning in literature. The Lord Rector offered a prize of twenty-five guineas for the best essay on "The causes which prevented the Spanish American dominions from being a source of wealth and power to Spain." Young Shaw wanted badly the guineas but he knew nothing about the subject. They did not depress him; he sweated up the subject and pocketed the guineas. Not only so but his essay proved so good that Professor Mission saw in the writer a valuable contributor to the new Encyclopedia Britannica which Professor Baynes was editing. He brought the matter to the attention of Baynes who agreed with him; and Young Shaw was retained to write the biographies arising out of the French Revolution for the new Britannica.

In that amazing work of his nonage—"Vivian Gray"—Disraeli makes his hero reflect that in order to be a great lawyer one must abandon the hope of being a great man. Some of the readers of Lord Shaw's letters to Isabel may be inclined to recall this reflection and wish he had devoted his abilities to literature which would have brought him a wider reputation if a narrower income than the law. As it was, his connection with the Britannica was not long.

[An American publisher is reported as once bemomping his woes over an American Encyclopedia in a way that recalls Baynes' troubles with Lord Shaw. He said he had an erratic genius on his staff who was relied on for the articles on Jewish history. The first one was to be on "The Ark." When the part which should have contained the article was due to be published, the article was not forthcoming. The publisher got over the difficulty by the notice "The Ark, see infra Deluge." When the part which should have contained "The Deluge" was due, that article was not forthcoming. This time the publisher entered "The Deluge, see infra the Flood." When the part which should have dealt with the Flood was due, there was no article on it ready. So the publisher put in "The Flood, see infra Noah." When that part was due to appear there was no article forthcoming on Noah. The publisher's patience was at last exhausted so he made this entry: "Noah: On second thoughts the publishers doubt whether there ever was such a thing as the Flood or any such person as Noah; and so no further reference to either will be made in this Encyclopedia."]

Baynes was not so patient as his American brother and when he found that Shaw advancing practice left him small and intermittent leisure for literature he turned over the French biographical section to some one else. From that time on Shaw's business at the bar advanced by "leaps and bounds." Gladstone's Midlothian campaign turned attention to politics. He entered the House of Commons; and rapidly won honor there; became Solicitor General for Scotland and afterwards Lord Advocate and in 1909 he attained the highest legal position open to an advocate of the Scottish Bar, the Lordship of Appeal in Ordinary for Scotland. I is rather strange that though the Lord Chancellor is Lord Chancellor not in England but of Great Britain note but members of the English Bar are ever appointed.

When Lord Shaw visits America his brethren of the American Bench and Bar will find him a typical Scotsman of the best kind. He is Scottish in appearance with high cheeks, broad forehead, keen, deep-set eyes and a firm but kindly mouth. He is Scottish too in mind and manners, clear in intellect, decisive in judgment and not a little proud of his success. For that success he worked hard; but his labour was not for fame but for "wains and wife." And in pursuing fortune he never forgot the unfortunate. Carnegie as has been said in his efforts for peace and education found in him a sympathetic and helpful friend; and from his youth he never feared to champion a cause because it was unpopular with his associates. One of his greatest triumphs was in the cause of the Highland crofters when they were being driven to desperation by the encroachments of the deer forests on their scanty holdings. It is given to few sons of great lawyers to bear such a comment as this on their fathers. Lord Shaw's son was once asked by an old Highland boatman if he was any relation to Lord Shaw of Dunfermline. He replied he was his son. "Well, sir," answered the old boatman, "there's many a man in the Highlands would die for your father."

BREWERY UNDER HAMMER.
The plant of the William J. Lemp Brewing Company of St. Louis, one of the largest and oldest brewing companies in the United States, was sold at auction for $388,500. It is said that the property had been appraised at five millions. The sale of this big brewery property indicates that at least some of the St. Louis brewers are 'not hopeful' for the success of the beer and wine campaign.

YEARLY LONDON SOOT FALL WOULD BURY CLOCK TOWER Lord Newton, speaking in the House of Lords, declared in England and Scotland were the dirtiest countries in Europe. His reference was not to the habits of the people, but to the practically unrestricted use of soft coal in factories and for domestic fires. Lord Newton quoted statistics to show that 300 tons of soot fall every year on each square mile of London, while in Sheffield and some other manufacturing cities the deposit was even greater. He said it was estimated that the smoke in Manchester caused an extra expenditure of £50,000 annually for washing men's collars.

EUROPE'S WHEAT SUPPLY.

The quantity of wheat which the importing countries of Europe will procure this year will be about 100,000,000 bushels less than a year ago, according to a report from Alfred Dennis of the United States Department of Commerce, who is making a special investigation of European food conditions. Production of wheat in Europe, which fell to about two-thirds of normal, has shown a gradual increase since 1917, and this year is the first to show a decrease, which may indicate a possible increase in demand on the part of Europe for bread grains. Germany, he states, is said to be consuming very much less breadstuffs than in pre-war years, the average daily consumption being only a little more than half as much. Potatoes and other vegetables are being substituted for

EUROPE'S WHEAT SUPPLY.

The quantity of wheat which the importing countries of Europe will procure this year will be about 100,000,000 bushels less than a year ago, according to a report from Alfred Dennis of the United States Department of Commerce, who is making a special investigation of European food conditions. Production of wheat in Europe, which fell to about two-thirds of normal, has shown a gradual increase since 1917, and this year is the first to show a decrease, which may indicate a possible increase in demand on the part of Europe for bread grains. Germany, he states, is said to be consuming very much less breadstuffs than in pre-war years, the average daily consumption being only a little more than half as much. Potatoes and other vegetables are being substituted for

PROMINENT PART PLAYED BY POWER

Hydro-Electric Development Brings New Life to Winnipeg

On the Eve of New Growth—Manitoba Power Making Good Progress at Great Falls—Operation Expected by Next Christmas.

Winnipeg, Aug. 10—What is now Greater Winnipeg has grown from a hamlet to a city with a population of approximately a quarter-million people within fifty years.

The Manitoba Power Company has in view the early consideration of starting construction on a great power plant at White Mud falls, on the Nelson River, north of Lake Winnipeg.

point about seventy-five miles from this city on the Winnipeg River, a power plant which will generate 168,000 horse-power, at a capital cost of about $12,000,000, for approximately $75 per horse-power.

The construction work now proceeding is in accordance with the general scheme of the federal water power branch, and will be, when completed, the principal link in a chain of potential developments extending from the Lake of the Woods to Hudson Bay, aggregating several million horse-power.

The vision which these men have seen is of the power of the mighty rivers of Canada being harnessed to drive the railways, as well as to provide power for industry and give heat and power for domestic purposes.

A. W. McLmont, vice-president and general manager of the Winnipeg Electric, estimates that within two years the initial capacity of 60,000 horse-power, to be ready for the first of 1923, will be all disposed of and the demand calling for more development of the balance of the total which the plant will produce.

TO BAR OLD FILMS UNDER NEW TITLES

Federal Trade Commission Files Complaint Against the Fox Corporation—Says Public is Deceived.

Washington, Aug. 10 (Associated Press)—Through a complaint issued today against the Fox Film Corporation on New York City, the Federal Trade Commission inaugurated a campaign which, members said, was designed to prevent motion picture exhibitors and the public being imposed upon by firm brokers and producers through marketing of old films under new titles, or of films bearing titles of noted books or plays when the subject matter has little or no connection with the name.

The commission's policy was determined upon following the visit of all its members in a body to two theatres exhibiting films bearing the same title and ostensibly purporting to portray the characters and atmosphere of a world-famous novel. One film was found to accurately interpret the characters of the novel, it was said, while the other bore no resemblance whatsoever to the book, and, in the opinion of the commission, the title was employed solely in a deceptive sense.

In such instances, the commission holds, the theatre owner is imposed upon, and the public, which is attracted by the title and expects to witness a show identically similar to the play or novel bearing the same title, is imposed upon.

Such practice, it was said by the commission, does an irreparable injury to the playhouses and injures the industry in the eyes of the public. The commission's complaint against the Fox Film Corporation avers that the corporation selected several plays which had previously been produced by it and exhibited throughout the United States and gave them new names, such names being different from those under which the plays already had been exhibited.

HARBOR RAILWAY ELECTRIFIED SOON

About 42 Miles will be in Operation Under New System by End of September—Commenced in 1919.

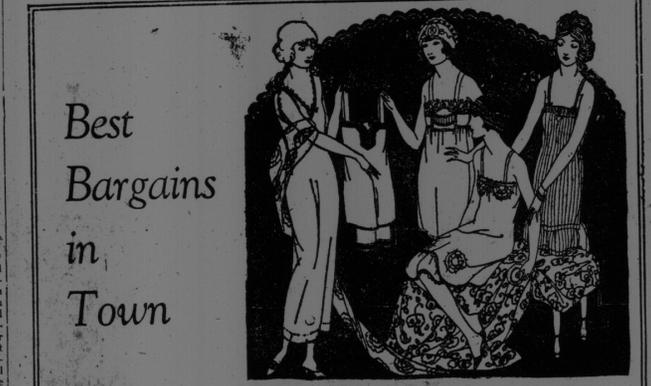

(Montreal Gazette.) Electrification of the harbor railway terminals, at present steam-operated and consisting of surface lines with a total trackage of fifty-eight miles situated between the Victoria Bridge and the Imperial Oil wharf, will be completed by the end of September to the extent of about forty-two miles of track from Victoria pier east, and the electrical operation of this section will then be inaugurated.

The remainder, about sixteen miles of track from section nineteen westward, will not be electrified until later, according to a statement yesterday by M. P. Fennell, general manager of the latter put into service will be replaced by electric. The first two of the latter put into service will be replaced by electric.

As the system develops additional electric locomotives will be added as occasion demands. Specifications for the first of the new locomotives are being prepared by T. E. Sillier, electrical engineer in charge of the system, but will not be completed until tests have been made with the locomotives leased from the Canadian National Railways.

It was found that electrification for freight yards and terminals was everywhere reported upon as being very economical and satisfactory, electric locomotives being considerably more efficient than steam. This is especially true in the winter time. An electric locomotive is also capable of drawing heavier loads up steeper grades, if necessary, than one operated by steam, the former having the whole capacity of the power house behind it, while the latter's power is limited to the extent of its boiler capacity.

More Economical System.

STATUS OF WOMEN IN MANY LANDS

Their Influence Grows Rapidly in India—More and More Recognition Accorded Them.

(International Woman Suffrage Alliance News Service.)

Lady Rhondda's claim to sit and vote in the House of Lords based on the Sex Disqualification (Removal) Act has been defeated through the intervention of the Lord Chancellor. As Lady Rhondda herself says: "It is a case of the Government, through one of its leading members, setting itself to defeat the spirit of its own Act."

Mr. Hughes, Prime Minister of the Australian Federal Government, has promised his support in the nomination of a woman to represent Australia in the Assembly of the League of Nations.

The new constitution of Burma gives women equal rights with men. Following the removal of sex disqualification for the vote for the Legislative Assembly in India, there is a movement to remove the bar preventing women from becoming lawyers.

On June 4th the first women graduates in medicine received their degrees at the McGill University in Montreal.

In Kenya Colony the grant of woman suffrage has effected the general attitude towards women and they are now taking part in public questions.

A League of University Women has been founded in Austria.

In spite of the decision of the League of Nations, equal pay is far from being the rule in Finland, and women's salaries are by no means equal to those of men.

The debate on woman suffrage in the French Senate has again been postponed—this time till October.

The cotton belt of North America is a climate similar to a very large part of Asia, and the soil is also ideal for the purpose.

At the last elections in Hungary, a woman member of Parliament was elected, and two other women were elected as alternates.

In the Norwegian Parliament, Miss Sara Christie, alternate for Klingsen, has been granted permission to take over his duties from March 15 till further notice.

A deputation of women including the Presidents of most of the women's organizations in Norway, presented a petition to the Church Council demanding the admission of women to the right to preach.

When Puseyfoot Johnson was in India, conducting a speaking campaign for prohibition, one of the men effectively associated with him was Jnananjan Niyogi, of Calcutta.

Mr. Niyogi is coming to America to study conditions and to make a lecture tour under direction of the World League Against Alcoholism.

This visitor, according to Mr. Johnson, is a born reformer. When only seventeen years old he established a ragged school and football club in Cooch

Behar. One offspring of this was the Saturday Club, a group of young fellows who went out doing good. Later, Niyogi was one of the founders of the Calcutta Workingmen's Club, now the premier institution of its kind in Bengal.

His work as organizing secretary of the Bengal Social Service League in alleviating distress arising from floods and famine has become a bright part of the history of Bengal. From his headquarters all sorts of pamphlets relating to temperance, social service and the like are sent out in a steady stream.

On his American tour he will both gather and disseminate information. He is anxious to learn at first hand all he can about prohibition in America, and at the same time to tell the story of temperance needs and temperance progress in India.

Mr. Niyogi will be accompanied by Dr. George W. Morrow of Detroit, who will speak briefly. Mr. Niyogi will attend and speak at the Toronto convention.

SEEK "PRINCE" AS BIGAMIST.—Boston Police Think "Louis Henri de Bourbon" Married Four.

Boston, Aug. 10.—"Prince Louis Henri de Bourbon" was being sought today by Boston police officers on suspicion of bigamy. Officers were at work checking up reports that four women had been married to the man at various times in a career that included, it is said, a job as a dishwasher at the Taunton Insane Hospital.

The first wife was said to be Miss Ethel Abets of New Britain, Conn., whom the "Baron" is alleged to have married in Hartford in 1918, and the second wife Miss Catherine Lynn of this city, a department store cashier. The third wife is reported to have been a nurse in the Taunton Insane Hospital, and the fourth a Brooklyn, N. Y., girl, who was employed in the Metropolitan Hospital, Welfare Island.

"Prince Louis Henri de Bourbon" was recently arrested in New York on charges of disorderly conduct. Detectives who went to the apartment house in which he lived at 225 West Ninety-sixth street with warrants for the arrest of several women, said that he attempted to halt them by drawing a sword. When this was heard by Magistrate Simpson in the West Side Court he appeared in the full dress uniform of a revolutionary Russian Army officer.

He told the court that he had been head of the late czar's bodyguard, was an Oxford graduate and had been married three times. He was honorably discharged.

With the object of stimulating interest in the industry, a well-arranged exhibition of cotton produced in Queensland has just been opened in Sydney by the governor-general of the commonwealth and is attracting great attention.

It is stated that the quality of this Australian cotton has been proved to be high, having been assessed by the British Cotton Growers' Association as twenty-five to fifty per cent. higher in quality than the middling American, which is the standard cotton of the world.

Not only is the Australian quality higher, but the average yield per acre in this country is from 600 to 800 pounds as against 300 pounds in America. It is estimated that this year's Australian crop will reach 4,400,000 pounds of seed cotton, which is 22,778 pounds above the yield for 1921.

The first cargo has already been sent to England and the balance is to follow shortly.

The cotton belt of North America is a climate similar to a very large part of Asia, and the soil is also ideal for the purpose. It is also stated that the available area is larger.

The announcement that the Ames-Holden reorganization plan had been approved by the stockholders will be met with little effect on the old preferred.

Some doubts have been expressed in respecting the ability of the company to do any better under the new than the old position, but the inside idea is that the new money will start the company off with current assets exceeding current liabilities by around $1,500,000.

From the committee of bondholders it is also learned that satisfactory banking arrangements for the future have been concluded. Further, the company will be considerably benefited by the relief it obtains from heavy fixed charges.

The larger creditors and bondholders who have been making a careful study of the situation, have submitted their report indicating that they are satisfied that the new company should in time work into a much stronger position. Already during the last two months drastic economies in management have been made and it is understood that as soon as the reorganization is legally effected, further steps in this direction will be taken.

SMOOTHER SAILING FOR AMES-HOLDEN REORGANIZATION. Larger Creditors and Bondholders Satisfied With Prospects of New Company Which Will Replace Present One—Big Factories Still Running—Economies Effected.

The announcement that the Ames-Holden reorganization plan had been approved by the stockholders will be met with little effect on the old preferred.

Some doubts have been expressed in respecting the ability of the company to do any better under the new than the old position, but the inside idea is that the new money will start the company off with current assets exceeding current liabilities by around $1,500,000.

From the committee of bondholders it is also learned that satisfactory banking arrangements for the future have been concluded. Further, the company will be considerably benefited by the relief it obtains from heavy fixed charges.

The larger creditors and bondholders who have been making a careful study of the situation, have submitted their report indicating that they are satisfied that the new company should in time work into a much stronger position. Already during the last two months drastic economies in management have been made and it is understood that as soon as the reorganization is legally effected, further steps in this direction will be taken.

DOMESTIC LOAN IS ANNOUNCED TO RETIRE 1917 BONDS. (Canadian Press Despatch) Ottawa, Aug. 9.—Hon. W. S. Fielding, minister of finance, gave out today the following statement concerning government loan operations.

"Our loan act, passed at the recent session, gives us authority to borrow $350,000,000. We do not require all this money immediately. A five-year loan of five and a half per cent. bonds issued in 1917, now amounting to $178,000,000, will mature on the first of December, 1922. It is our intention to provide for retiring these bonds by a domestic loan to take the form of a conversion loan. Any portion of the bonds that may not be covered in the meantime by arrangements for conversion will be redeemed in cash on the first of December. It is believed, however, that a great many of the holders of these bonds will desire to reinvest their money in dominion securities. To meet what we believe to be their wishes we will issue new bonds bearing the same rate of interest, namely, five and a half per cent., either for five years, maturing in 1927, or for ten years, maturing in 1932, as the bondholder may prefer. A further advantage to the investor will be that while the maturing bonds will be retired on December 1, 1922, and the interest coupon of that date will be paid, the new bonds to be delivered in exchange will be dated November 1, and will thus carry one month's accrued interest. The privilege of investment on these terms will be confined to the holders of the outstanding bonds about to mature. The bonds of the Canadian government, it is hardly necessary to say, are the very highest class of securities that can be offered to our investors. In offering the terms above stated for renewal of the maturing loan, we are making a substantial concession to the home investors, inasmuch as our recent loan was placed in

New York at a figure that yielded a little over five per cent. We believed that this higher class of security, offered on such terms, would readily be taken up by the holders of the bonds that are shortly to mature.

"The government will avail itself of the services of the chartered banks in effecting the proposed conversion. Holders of the maturing bonds who wish to take advantage of the offer will be asked to communicate with one of the banks as early as possible and make their decision not later than September 30. Receipts will be given for bonds that are deposited, to be exchanged in due course for the new bonds when ready.

"After the conversion plan has been completed, it may be necessary to make a further loan in which new money will be required. But that is a matter not calling for attention at present.

"Arrangements are being made with the banks for the carrying out of this conversion plan. More formal announcement will be made by official advertisements within a few days."

Asked whether or not the new bonds would be exempt from taxation as were those issued in 1917, Mr. Fielding replied that they would not. It was not the intention of the government to issue any more tax-exempt bonds, he said.

PROMINENT SUICIDES. (Halifax Recorder.) A not infrequent item in the news of the day is a report of the death of some distinguished member of the medical profession, the victim of scientific research. The profession has lost some of its best and most earnest workers, and the world has been denied the knowledge gained in years of patient study, through death, the direct or indirect result of the work carried on in the interests of humanity. The accidental victims of research are real heroes, to whose worth the world cannot possibly make the return worth while, but the real reward of the student lies in the results achieved. While it is then by no means uncommon to read of the death of a man of science, the victim of his work for humanity, it comes as a real surprise to learn that the medical profession in America during the last year had more suicides than any other of the professions. According to a table published by the New York Medical Week, the number of doctors who committed suicide in 1921 was eighty-six; judges, second, with a total of fifty-seven, followed by thirty-seven bank presidents, twenty-one clergymen, ten editors, seven mayors and seven members of legislatures. Ten editors is a small number considering the strenuousness of editing newspapers at the present time. The writer considers these figures an indication that the occupational strain is greater in the medical profession than in any other. That may be the conclusion rightly to be drawn, although it would be necessary to have details of each and every case before finally reaching a conclusion on that point. The surprise of the figures is the number of suicides disclosed among men of intellect and training.

Slowly, silently, now the moon Walks the night her silver shoon; This way, and that, she peers, and sees Silver fruit upon silver trees; One by one the casements catch Her beams beneath the silvery tatch; Couched in his kennel, like a log, With paws of silver sleeps the dog; From his shadowy cot the white-breast peeps; Of doves in silver-feathered sleep; A harvest mouse goes scampering by; With silver claws, and silver eye; And moveless fish in the water gleam; By silver reeds in a silver stream. —Walter de la Mare.
