HEART FAILURE ALONE CAN PREVENT VICTORY, SAYS LLOYD GEORGE

"It don't make no difference whether it rains or not when we come to the fair," gleefully amounced a small boy put at the exhibition grounds this morning, his eyes dancing with pleasure, his wide-open grin revealing spaces where feeth are due to grow. Sturdily he marched along in the pelting rain, colfar turned up, cap pulled down, hands thrust in his pockets, and the front of his coat gay with decorations which represented a harvest of souvenir gathering. Along with him were three pals, all as unconcerned as young liucks in the rain, and scattered about Queen's Park were scores more boys just like them.

The children, let loose from school for a couple of gorious holidays, have taken possessoin of the Western Fair today. The girls often the more than the boys, except for the difference that the former have been more particular about taking umbrellas and rubbers. The surprising part is that so many grown-ups could be found during the forenoon who were not only making the best of it, but getting a lot of enjoyment out of the fair, unfavorable weather and all.

Apart from the fact that it keeps some people away, it has a tendency to make the buildings popular, and this means more attention to booths than would otherwise be given. Even the directors are not depressed. They have a Micawberesque belief that better things will turn up, meaning a fine finish for today, and the biggest Friday ever dreamed of for tomorrow. Rain and all on Wednesday, the crowds came along just the same, and, though possibly some people were kept away, never was there a larger Wed-nesday attendance. In consequence, there was no falling down in gate re-In striking contrast was the effect of the last rainy day during a Western Fair of which a record has been kept. This occurred on Thursday, September 14, 1911, and, according to history, weaer conditions were much more favorable yesterday. Away back before the war on that Thursday of 1911, it was fine until noon, threatening until 5 p'clock, and all the evening it rained. The people simply did not venture out. People Undaunted.

One director today expresses the conviction that people today are not daunted by hardships and inconvenidaunted by hardships and inconveniences as they were before the war. They Premier Lioyd George said he was all for a league of nations, and that in fact a league already had been begun. The British Empire, he said, was a league of free nations, and that the Allied countries fighting the battle for international right were now a league of free nations.

"To end all wars," the premier said, "we must impose a durable peace on our enemies. The Prussian military sower must not only be beaten, but Germany herself must know, and the German people must know, that their rulers have outraged the laws of

The prime minister said: "We cannot allow the 'Bolsheviks' to force on us a peace so humiliating as to dishonor the national flag and to make a repetition of the horrors of this war inevitable. Government Reported to Have Sent $8,500,000 Check to Financiers.

[Special to The Advertiser.]
Toronto, Sept. 12.—An Ottawa dispatch to Toronto Star today says:
"The Government has sent a check for $8,500,000 in part payment for the Canadian Northern Railway, and people are asking "how much of it will Sir William Mackenzie get?" But public curiosity is not likely to be gratified. The Government has not concerned itself with the problem of who should receive the money, but has made the check payable to Mackenzie-Mann and their bank. All parties must sign before the money is paid, so it is "up" to them, and not to the Government, to decide what share each will receive. It will be recalled that Mackenzie & Mann covenanted to turn in approximately five signs of the 500 000 people.

MACKENZIE AND British Troops Capture The Towns of Vermand, Attilly and Vendelles On Front Northwest of St. Quentin

> Positions Near La Fere. AMERICANS LAUNCH ATTACK.

---Petain's Forces Outflanked Foe

American Forces on the Lorraine Front, Sept. 12 .- (By the Associated Press, 9 a.m.).—American forces this morning launched an attack on German positions. At 9 o'clock they had progressed generally along the line. Some prisoners were taken at different parts of the sector.

The first wave of American troops met with little resistance, and at 8 o'clock the second American wave was in possession of several points of the German first line. The reply of the German big guns was vigorous at some places, although as a whole it was weak. There are some indications that the Germans are withdrawing their artillery, although it is more probable that they are going to fight hard before being driven out, after enduring a stifling barrage of more than eight hours. The Germans, at some points, are increasing the volume of their big-gun fire, but ineffectually.

London, Sept. 12.-British forces have effected a crossing of the Canal du Nord to the northwest of Havrincourt, Field Marshal Haig announced in his official report today. The canal line here forms the main defence of Cambrai on the southwest.

A short distance to the north, the British have pushed to the westerly bank of the canal, east and north of the canal, east and north of Moeuvres, and established themselves there.

British troops have captured the towns of Vermand, Attilly and Vendelles, all on the front northwest of St. Quentin. In their advances toward St. Quentin the British have progressed as far as the western outskirts of Holnon Wood, southeast of Attilly. The Germans offered stiff opposition in the Havrincourt and Mouevres sectors, which the British overcame. FRENCH TAKE PRISONERS.

Paris, Sept. 12.—Only raiding operations and artillery on the French front are reported today.

The text of the statement reads: "North of the Ailette, a raid by French troops resulted in the taking of prisoners. There was artillery activity in the Rheims and the Prosnes regions. Two enemy raids, in the Champagne and in the Vosges, were repulsed."

POPULARITY OF WAR BOOKS IS GREATER DURING SUCCESSES

Big Demand Now at Public Library Is Met.

The demand for books on the war shows no decrease at the public library, and to make a choice among the many easier, the library has issued a selected list, with notes and comment, that will be found useful in laying out a winter's reading. Nearly all the books on the list are now in circulation; a very few have not yet arrived, but will be on hand soon. The rising tide of allied fortunes has created the most marked interest in the war books, which were less read at the time when the allied lines were being pushed back last spring. The library now has books dealing with almost every field and every phase of war operations, and is adding steadily the newer publications adding steadily the newer publications as they appear. A number of new books of music are also included in this week's list, which is as follows:

Only One Horse-Drawn Rig to Two Hundred Motor Cars.

Times have changed of late or the old world is becoming modernized, judging by the look of things around the local market Wednesday. Market Clerk Maker states that a few years ago on farmers' day at the Fair there would be as many as 200 rigs and carriages parked in the square, and maybe one or two lone automobiles. Yesterday Clerk Maker counted over 200 automobiles parked in the square and only one lone rig stood out majesand only one lone rig stood out majestically amidst the throng of motor-driven vehicles. Some cars were new and some were of older vintage, but nevertheless they clearly showed that at least the farmers around this city and district are keeping up to the times. With all these cars and the wet slippery streets very few accidents happened and things went off well throughout the day.

WHEN CAR STOPS SHORT

One of the crowded street cars which left the Exhibition Grounds for down town shortly after 10 o'clock last night was stopped with a suden jerk just as was stopped with a suden jerk just as it got started, owing to the signal of three sharp rings. Somebody had blundered in thus ringing the bell, and it cost the street car company a big glass pane in the front vestibule door.

A prominent professional man of the city who was standing at the front of the crowded aisle plunged forward with the jerk of the car in stopping, his elbow crashing through the glass of the door. He was fortunately wearing a heavy raincoat, which was not even Beautiful Coffee From City's Pipes! Did You Try Some?

Best Rusty, Muddy, Soupy Water Fresh From the Tap.

When one wanted a cup of coffee this morning in certain sections of the city, e simply went to the city water tap and drew one. That is, it looked like coffee, and no doubt if one tasted it ne would have noticed a flavor not much below that of much of the Western Fair coffee. The fact that rust in the pipes, or mud in the sources, caused the brown appearance of the water should not have bothered one. Some of the Western Fair coffee tastes rusty and looks muddy. It may be (sinister thought!) the utilities commission made a special arrangement to mix the dea special arrangement to mix the decoction in the big bowl on Reservoir Hill, and to turn it into special Western Fair pipes. If this be true, the janitor must have turned some of it into the pipes of people who had arranged their own coffee supply.

When a jaded, water-soaked and Western Fair-weary scribe, on awaking, sore and bat-eyed in the daylight, saw the form of his better half at his bedside, bearing a cup, and not hearing her words distinctly, seized the crockery with a horse "So kind of you, my dear, to slip me my coffee early," and gulped the mixture down, he did not think it so awful. It was cold, but just like the coffee that someone's mother, who cannot keep her mind off her longlost boy, is making in the kitchens of celebrated beaneries of this fair city. But when the aforesaid four-eights of the big sketch snatched the cup away suddenly and cried, "You big boob! That's city water, and it may poison you!" the newspaper noodle looked mighty closely to see whether her beautiful face, so radiant under the red curl persuaders, registered fear—or hope!

I am a British citizen, and was about 15 years of age when I arrived in the United States. Must I join the Canadian army, or take my chances in the American draft? A.—You may pursue either course.
You have until September 28 to join the British or Canadian army. If you do not do so by this date, and are on September 28 a resident of the United States, automatically you become liable

Black---For Your New Tailored Suit

The popularity of the Black Suit was never so universal as for the fall season of 1918, and in no other color are we so well provided with popular-priced suitings at the present time. After all you have heard of high prices for woolens and imported worsteds, you will wonder when and how these were purchased.

A very complete assortment of Black Suitings, including serges, worsteds, gabardines, tricots, velours, cheviots, broadcloths, etc., all special values and dependable fabrics. Many lines we can show you at less than manufacturer's prices in the foreign markets today. We recommend our customers to buy for future as well as present needs, as the fine woolens we show today will, in many cases, be unprocurable for some time. The following numbers and prices may

Horse Breeders want horses used in the Canadian Expeditionary Force purchased exclusively in Canada, and a deputation of prominent horse breeders, headed by G. F. Hoadley, leader of the Alberta Opposition, and William Smith, M. P. for South Ontario, is here today to programme their demand on the Course. to others if the matter is recalled to their minds. Before the days of Galileo and Copurge their demand on the Govern-ent. In the past horses for the Canernicus practically all intelligent men, also the clergy of the times, believed that the earth was the centre of the verse, and all the visible plan and stars were simply adjuncts there-to, and a very elaborate system was built up by Ptolemy and others to ac-count for the apparent motions of these "rulers of the day and night," with "direct and retrograde motions," with "direct and retrograde motions," "cycles and epicycles" and all that human minds could suggest that would help to account for the points that seemed to need explanation. The abandonment of the basal error of geocentricity and adoption of what seems to be the correct premise that the sun

Motor Cars Swarm At Western Fair From All Directions---Curtain Falls On Several Midway Shows---Exciting Races On Heavy Track.

Farmers' Day at the Western Fair ended yesterday in a great big downpour of rain. But nobody seemed to mind. They took it cheerfully and philosophically, even if it did cut short the grandstand attractions in the afternoon and drown out the evening performance. The directors were prepared for something iske the latter emergency, and when it became impossible at an early hour to proceed with the program, rain checks were issued to all desiring them who had grandstand tickets for last night, the checks to be good for admission out presentation on Friday.

As the evening progressed, the downpour grew heavier and more and more the grounds resembled one big lake in the gleam of electric lights. ARRIVED BEFORE RAIN.

The big crowds arrived at the fair grounds before the rain started, and, owing to the fact that the water spouts held off until the afternoon, the attendance exceeded all former Wednesday records. The steff in the treasurer's office was augmented to count the money, and even with the ability and agility displayed, it would take hours upon hours to reckon up the gate and grandstand receipts for probably the biggest day in the history of the Western Fair. So far as the number of visitors who came to the city by automobile yesterday for the exhibition were concerned, the big policeman, who directed traffic during the earlier part of the day at the corner of Dundas and Richmond streets,

The plain clothes men are operating round the busy corner, Dundas and dehmond streets, and this morning many of the young men, mostly farmers, were being stopped by them and requested to show their papers. If the necessary proof was produced they were allowed to go on their way, much relieved, but if it was not, they were taken to the office.

Some Dodgers.

Many young men sauntering aimlessly down the streets, when they witnessed some other individual being stopped, suddenly sprang to life and dodged the "paper demanders" by either crossing the street or getting "lost" in the crowd. This action, though, is not successful very often, as the wary policemen are "on" to the dodgers and are on hand to nab the suspicious ones.

Miss E. Coulson of Toronto School Taking Place of Man Overseas.

[Special to The Advertiser.]
Toronto, Sept. 12.—"We plow and sow and reap and mow, and useful men are we," runs the song of the men of "Sussex by the Sea," and the same is the song of Miss E. Coulson, teacher in Ogden School, with a slight change in the gender.

Miss Coulson's farming inclinations gave rise to quite a debate in the school management committee yesterday. As trustee C. A. B. Brown explained it, the teacher has gone on a farm where one son was overseas and the other's hand was so affected by blood-poisoning that he could not use it. Therefore she had done a man's work on the farm, and she asked the trustees to give her leave of absence for September so she could finish her farming work.

"She should be back with her class now; it's not a square deal to the children."

Slightest Fire Would Cause Panic, Says There are those who are inclined to severely criticize exhibitors in the Main Building for smoking while the aisles are packed tight with people.

"I went through the Main Building yesterday," stated one citizen today. 'I' did not walk. I was literally carried. I noticed that a large number of the exhibitors sat back in their alloted spaces smoking. The building is of such construction that it would make excellent tinder for a fire. The slightest blaze with such a crowd would cause a panic and perhaps cost several lives."

He suggests that the practice of smoking in such a crowded building be stopped.

SHAUGHNESSY'S VIEWS

D ARON SHAUGHNESSY says that readjustment for Canada after the war will be quick one who saw the vista beyond the lakes where other men saw only the old Canada. No man should be more capable of giving a common-sense opinion on the subject than Baron Shaughnessy.

He would not idly administer tonic talk unless he was conscious of the signs of the times. He may not even observe these signs except in a general way, but he may feel the suppressed impulses that fill this youthful country. We have been suffering from the high fever of war times, and we have been carried along under the hypodermic of intense patriotism. There must come a period full an extent as if it were in reality a separate, of recovery when the fever has gone down, but independent nation. Add to these France, Italy, just as many men grow stronger as the result of the United States and other Allied nations, and a serious illness, so must Canada soon shake off a serious illness, so must Canada soon shake off jointly they can noid the world in peace. The mad man of Europe the momentary depression and weakness, and, hold the world in peace. The mad man of Europe the ded glance moved on up, stopping at the world in peace. Then the shiny crutches and rush forward to the old work with an unconquerable spirit to achieve.

Baron Shaughnessy has seen this country pass through seasons of financial dissipation with an inevitable sickness of body and soul. But war has been a season of tremendous stress performed because of principle and sacrifice, rather than from greed and commercialism. The war crisis has tried the soul and the strength of the growing western giant, but just as many boys have gone to the front to return as full-grown men, so must the front to return as full-grown men, so must the nation emerge conscious of its strength and the soundaries of Canada. Its operations are very the boundaries of Canada. Its operations are very she bubbled, "but I am so not sorry," she bubbled, "but I am so determined to attain the destiny that lies on a

OUR COUNTRY VISITORS.

NE WHO searched for the proverbial hayseed of the alleged jokesmiths on farmers' day at the Western Fair did not get a chance to indulge his doubtful sense of humor. The thousands who flocked to the city were well dressed, upstanding, well-educated people, with no show of ostentation in their clothes or bearing, but with a general air of prosperity and neatness and deportment that would do credit to any gathering of strictly urban folk.

In the days of the long struggle to clear the land, the hard-handed farmer had to bend his back and give little thought to the outer man. He bition. grew a long beard if it suited him, and he was sometimes amazed by the sights of the city, quite as much as the sights of the country may have yesterday, but no one will blame the Lord's Day amazed the ardent city chap. But today the tiller Alliance. of the soil and his wife have all the advantages of the city dweller. In another ten years it will forts of life. Roadways that will carry motor-car gets the crowds. GLIMPSE at the exhibits at the Western Fair, and a mental comparison with the fairs of former years, compels the conclusion that Western Ontario is making splendid advancement. There is no better evidence of refinement than flowers, and the genuine pleasure experienced in looking at the flower exhibits causes one to agree with the poet who said "flowers are God's creatures." The London exhibit was arranged with the greatest taste, and took the prize, but we do not envy the judges the task of determining between St. Thomas and London which was entitled to first place. It is quite clear Western Ontario can become a flowery land.

At that inauspicious but identical moment of concussion Holbrooke was busily engaged in dreaming himself a dream wherein he had just plowed through Yale's ironclad defence for a five-yard gain, and painfully he gasped in a cross between a grosn and a curse, "Down, you rummy, down! Get off my chest, you big cheese!" He moved his arms feebly and then his half-open eyes caught sight of a pair of smooth, round blue-stockinged ankles. "Some quarterback!" he murmured, and his bewildered glance moved on up, stopping at the side him and burst into a torrent of Spanish, contritely patting the place she had just vacated.

"It is with so much regret that I sit on you," she pleaded. "Many times have I jumped over the log, and never before has a man been under where I hit. Your suffering must be of such a greatness. I implore that you forgive."

"It's all right," conceded Holbrooke, with a grin. "With a little practice! think I could get used to it." He arose weakly on one elbow and looked up comically out of the corner of his eye. Whereat the recent bombardment sat back on her feet and giggled hysterically.

the girl demurely, but with sparkling eyes.

"I shall go, but you must not be seen by her. For me to talk to a man without her to hear what I say—it is terrible." She laughed as she slid over the log, at the same time waving toward the house, and then, looking back over the log at Holbrooke, she reached down impulsively and gave his cheek a little caressing pat—and was gone.

For several days Holbrooke haunted the beach in the vicinity of the fateful log, but Carmencita returned not. He had about despaired of seeing her again and was on the point of making a canvass of the neighborhood in order to find her when one day as he strolled along the street that led down to the son a girl tripped out of a little gift shop some distance ahead of him and joined an elderly man who waited for her.

London's traffic officers deserve all manner of credit for handling the enormous stream of motor traffic which poured along every principal thoroughfare. Any accidents that occurred could not be attributed to lack of care by the men in blue.

"Peter Rabbit," exclaimed Teddy Possum, "sit down here beside me, just outside your new Thorn Gate, for I must tell you the biggest piece of news you ever heard in your born days."

"What in the world is it?" entreated the curious Peter Rabbit. Now tell me all, for I am dying to hear every bit of news in the Great Forest."

"Well, Peter Rabbit," continued Teddy Possum, "a new family has moved to town. And it is a Possum family. They are our cousins. And just listen, Peter Rabbit, they have 25 sons just my age and all look alike. And every one of the 25 brothers is of twins and one over for good measure. And the 25 brothers are just my size and just my age, and you couldn't tet any of them from me to save your life. Now you invite your friends to come and see the new family of Possums just after the moon rises over the dark hemlocks. You will find us waiting at the old oak tree near the Bend in Singing Brook."

"Well, I'll be there," answered Peter Rabbit, "and I'll invite lots of Little People to go with me, but I want no tricks and no fooling this time, Teddy Possum." Now, little Peter had more sense than Now, little Peter had more sense than some people thought. Peter had gumption enough not to tell Mr. Red Fox a single word about their meeting place, or what was going on. For Peter knows that Mr. Red Fox has a very bad name, and that none of the Little People of the Woodland are safe when he is around. So that little rogue of a Peter told Mr. Fox that he had just heard that Farmer Jones had bought some very expensive White Leghorn roosters and hens, and that Bobby Skunk said the Leghorns were the most delicious DRESS. the Leghorns were the most delicious fowls in the world. And Mr. Fox said: "Thank you kindly, little Peter, "I guess I have some business down that way, right off."

pain so far away from home.

And the Boys in the Trenches.

"TO ARMS!"

The workers are beginning to muster at the old meeting-places, but there are great gaps in the ranks yet, and the Red Cross is calling upon every veteran who has been away holidaying to come back and take up the fight again. She is calling, too, for new recruits. The need for work and workers is greater than ever. Red Cross work is swelled to enormous proportions. Think of the fearful battles that are being waged continuously, glance at the casualty lists and try to calculate what an enormous army of women is needed to take care of the sick and the wounded. And then do not let another day go by before you are at your sewing.

There are so many things we can do for these men who have returned, and one of our societies set a very beautiful example the other day. Glauworth Red Cross Society wrote offering to buy a wheel chair for one of the military hospitals here at a cost of $50. The soldiers would be very happy if some others would take such a kindly notion. One is reminded of the old story of the boy who put the big egg in his little writes me for a copy of Lassie's famous recipe for vegetable canning, so I am printing it once more for general benefit: Lassie's canning recipe: Nine cups peas, corn or beans, I cup sugar, ½ cup salt, I pint of hot water. writing by members of the club.)

Golden Text: "Go ye into all the world and preach the gospel to the whole creation."—Mark, xvi., 15.

IT IS THE DUTY OF ALL TO SUPPORT MISSIONARIES.

I would like to emphasize the fact as to our duty to support missionaries. It ought not to need any emphasis, but, unfortunately, it does. Many people who claim to be Christians say they give their money for the support of the gospel at home, intimating thereby that there is no need to send the gospel abroad until at least all the people at home are Christianized; but it must be said that all those who take that position are not regarded as being very spiritual. It is experience that those who give the most money to foreign missions are those who also support the hofme work most liberally. I refer you to my text; it applies to you; it was written for you: "Go ye into all the world and preach the gospel to the whole creation."

If you suffer from chafing, sore feet, sunburn, or other skin trouble, get a box of Kora-Konia at once.

Blistered heels every day put soldiers "out of action". Chafing resulting from violent exercise in heavy, hastilytailored uniforms is causing real suffering to thousands. Ask any doctor if science has found a better way to soothe and dry up a blister -or to ease the discomfort of chafing-than to dust "Kora-Konia" on on the irritated skin.

We want you to learn for yourself the almost magic power of Kora-Konia to relieve and stop skin discomfort. We want you to try it on sunburns or chafed limbs which drive you nearly crazy on a hot day, and see how the discomfort ceases and the skin becomes white again. Note how the powder clings to the skin all day, refusing to be washed or rubbed off.

See how quickly Kora-Konia cures diaper rash or teething rash and how it eases the skin irritation of bed patients how it cools the fire of sunburn. Kora-Konia is needed by every one-50 cents.

Now, what is the difference between Talcum Powder and Kora-Konia?

Just this: Kora-Konia has the same soothing, healing action of Talcum Powder, but in addition contains several ingredients that make it of greater medicinal value. It is antiseptic, absorbent, lubricating, adhesive, slightly waterproof, soothing, healing. Mennen's Talcums also have their distinctive purpose—there is a variety suited to every need: The original Borated, Violet, Flesh Tint, Cream Tint and the new Manager's Talcum for More Tint and the new Mennen's Talcum for Men.

CARL MAYS HURLS RED SOX TO PREMIER BASEBALL HONORS IN FINAL BIG LEAGUE GAME OF WAR

Wildness of Tyler and Error by Flack Gives Boston Necessary Counters to Win World's Series - Cubs Make Great Rally, But Fall One Run Short.

BOSTON, Mass., Sept. 11.—"Taps" for professional baseball for the duration of the war was sounded at Fenway Park today, when the Red Sox won the first war-scarred baseball championehip of the world by defeating the Chicago Cubs in the sixth game of the series by a score of 2 to 1. This gives the Red Sox a record of six victories for the leadership of the baseball world in as nany starts, and as the Boston Nationals won the championship in 1914, it brings to this city seven world's titles, without one blot on the escutcheon.

Carl Mays, of the underhand delivery, was the winning pitcher, while George Tyler, one of the Cubs' stellar lefthanders, and Flack, the Cubs' rightifielder, who has been playing such a lefthanders, and Flack, the Cubs' rightifielder, who has been playing such a lefthanders, and Flack, the Cubs' rightifielder, who has been playing such a lefthanders, and Flack, the Cubs' rightifielder, who has been playing such a lefthanders, and Flack, the Cubs' rightifielder. brilliant game, must bear much of the defeat.

The momentary wavering of the hard clawing Cubs in the third inning gave the Red Sox their one big opportunity, which they seized with characteristic keenness.

Tyler Wild in Third.

Tyler, after the inherent right of southpaws, indulged in a brief fit of wildness. He passed Mays, the first man up, on four straight balls. Harry Hooper tapped a slowly-meandering roller towards Tyler, the ball being so cleverly placed that the Cub pitcher could not get it to second in time to head off Mays. Hooper, however, was put out at first. Dane Shean, one of Cubs' Final Kick. SEPT. 17 DATE SET rou need be.

You have probably taken notice of some person with one shoulder decidedly lower than the other, and with one hip siso lower than the other. This condition is often brought about by a wrong standing position, or by an erroneous method of carrying things in the arms.

If you are accustomed to stand on the right foot and rest all the bodily weight exclusively upon it, you naturally court this outcome. In this event, the muscles of the legs are filmsy and need to be tightened, it is well to practice the following exercise:

Stand erect, hands on hips and legs crossed at the knees. Have the right foot in front close to the left, with toes pointing to the right. Then swing the right leg outward and back, around the right event and around to the first position.

Now reverse the position of the feet and around to the first position.

Now reverse the position of the feet and do the same movements over again, starting with the leg first.

These leg movements will help not rubbed off.

When you carry any heavy object when you carry any neavy object in one hand without changing it about, the same condition finally results. There is produced, in time, a marked C-shaped curvature, which shows a lowering of the right shoulder, if the right side was the one abused, and a prominence of the right hip.

When this state of affairs is reached the ligaments of the spine and hips become overstretched and those of the remainder of your mechanism be-come lax. This condition is accompanied only to stiffen the muscles of the calf, but also to relieve the thickened veins of a tired, fatigued leg. The scarlet stream of the mechanism thus goes back to the lungs because of the rapid move-

Catarrh Of the Stomach Is Dangerous

"Thousands Have It and Don't Know It," Says Physician, Frequently Mistaken for Indigestion—How To Recognize and Treat

"Thousands of people suffer more or tess constantly from furred, coated tongue, bad breath, sour burning stomach, frequent vomiting, rumbling in stomach, bitter eructations, gas, wind, and stomach acidity and call it indigestion when in reality thete trouble is due to gastric catarrh of the stomach," writes a New York physician.

Catarrh of the stomach is dangerous because the mucous membrane lining of the stomach is thickened and a coating of phlegm covers the surface so that the digestive fluid cannot mix with the food and digest them. This condition soon breeds deadly disease in the fermented, unassimilated food. The blood is poliuted and carries the infection throughout the body. Why Is MacKenzie's "Man Friday" Still at Head of Road?

P. for Pontiac, who last session assumed the role of railway critic on the Opposition side, is not impressed with the progress being made by the Government in the solution of the railway

"Last session," he said today in the course of an interview, "I frequently asked the Government what its proposed railway policy was, but was unable to exact from them any information as to what they intended to do with regard to the management and operation of the Canadian Northern in particular. I felt convinced that it was tionable information that the not really the intention of the Government to take from the Mackenzie & Mann group control of the system and the frequent presence in the lobbies last session of the two railway knights and their henchmen, strengthened my conviction that these gentlemen had no intention whatever of losing their road. ocal druggist. "My conviction in that respect has been confirmed by the report (not de-nied) that Mackenzie's "Man Friday" nied) that Mackenzie's "Man Friday" is to be head of the socalled reconstructed management. Hanna's only qualification for the position known to the public is his knowledge of the most direct route to the treasury. If it were necessary for the Government to take the road over because it has been a failure, why take the man under whose guidance it was made a failure?

"The premier," said Mr. Casill, "told us in the House last session that he was going to appoint a new board. He was going to appoint a new board. He told us the same thing in Toronto a few days ago, and the public believed he meant what he said. Surely he doesn't think that this deception of calling the old directorate a new board of management will fool the public.

AN INTERNAL COMBUSTION NEAR THE RHINE

If every motor car in Canada were an armored tank and could drive its usual Sunday mileage into the heart of the enemy's line, there would be an internal combustion of some proportions near the Rhine! And it is not all a dream. Gasoline as fast as it can be produced and transported is firing the pistons of thousands of engines near the battle line. Gasoline is the one power requirement that needs to flow in a constant stream. Check its source for an instant and some sector on the line, some fresh offensive suffers, and so the war drags on just that much longer. Our boys have to fight harder!

Now Canada is facing a shortage of supply. Business on farm and in factory must go on. Our fuel controller sounds the warning that war needs and necessary work at home in farm and factory are likely to run Unnecessary expenditure of energy can be stopped under such an appeal. Every patriot who sees that his extra motor ride is going to dip down into the reserves of gasoline will think twice before he throws his car into high gear. If every car, save the paltry few engaged in essential services, would stand still next Sunday, over $150,000 worth of gasoline and motor wear and tear would be saved, to win the war. Save gasoline, money—make victory sure.

IF YOUR EARS RING WITH HEAD NOISES

If you have roaring, buzzing noises in your ears, are getting hard of hearing and fear Catarrhal Deafness, go to your druggist and get 1 ounce of Parmint (double strength), and add to it % pint of hot water and a little granulated sugar. Take 1 tablespoonful four times a day.

This will often bring quick relief from the distressing head noises. Clogged nostrils should open, breathing become easy and the mucus stop dropping into the throat. It is easy to prepare, costs little and is pleasant to take. Anyone who has Catarrhal trouble of the ears, is hard of hearing or has head noises should give this prescription a trial.—Advt.

FOOD BOARD ASKED TO ENFORCE LAW WHEAT SUBSTITUTES

Western Ontario Bakers Meet at Tecumseh House and Pass Resolutions.

At a meeting of the bakers of Western Ontario held in the Tecumseh House Wednesday afternoon, a resolution was passed and will be forwarded to the Canada food board asking it to enforce the law regarding the selling of Sixty-five bakers from the districts between Owen Sound and Windsor and Sarnia and Brantford, including St. Thomas and Tillsonburg, were gathered together to discuss the regulations regarding wheat flour substitutes. Want Law Enforced.

The bakers present at the meeting objected to the manner in which the Canada Food Board is enforcing the law with regard to the selling of suisitutes of wheat flour by the retailers, flour and feed men and others.

They claim that wheat flour is continually sold for domestic consumption purposes without the purchaser being compelled to take the required amount of substitutes.

The bakers claim they cannot sell bread made from wheat four substitutes, as required by the Canada Food Board, as long as the housewife is sllowed to buy wheat flour without substitutes. There was a difference of opinion as to the advisability of the miller selling flour containing the required substitutes. Several of the bakers were in favor of this method to overcome the problem.

overcome the problem.

Asks For Co-operation.

John Turnball of Toronto, inspector of provincial commercial bakeries for the Canada Food Board, explained the the Canada Food Board, explained the necessity for the continued use of substitutes for wheat flour by the commercial bakers. He expressed a desire for the hearty co-operation of all the commercial bakers.

Mr. Turnball stated that he thought the Canada Food Board would improve the wheat flour on the new crop by reducing the extraction point for milling purposes from 76 per cent to 74 per cent, and point three per cent of all wheat milled.

PTE. ARTHUR WATSON PRONOUNCED GUILTY BY COURT-MARTIAL

Woodstock Man, Charged With Desertion, Convicted on His Own Evidence.

Pte, Arthur Watson, aged 24 years, and long a resident of Woodstock, was tried by a general court-martial yesterday afternoon and found guilty of desertion. Pte. Watson told the court, when asked if guilty, that so far as he knew he was guilty, as the military authorities consider it desertion when a man absents himself from his majesty's forces. He was sentenced and the sentence will be confirmed at Ottawa before being promulgated.

Sald He Was Drunk,

the sentence will be confirmed at Ottawa before being promulgated.

Sald He Was Drunk.

When asked by the court if he cared to make a definite statement on oath. Pte. Watson replied in the affirmative When advised that he had three choices, namely, to withhold any statement whatever, make a statement on his oath, he still persisted in making the statement on oath.

In the statement which followed he claimed to have been under the influence of liquor, and had not the least idea that he had enlisted. He claims to have left his home with the intentions of getting a drink. After fulfilling his intentions he went to a friend's house, and while there drank some hard cider. After that he then left with some friends for the hotel, where he again had another drink.

He does not remember leaving the hotel, as he was then entirely unconscious of any further happenings. When he came to himself again he was home in bed, this being the following morning. On the same morning his wife asked him if he had enlisted, and he replied, "Not that I know of."

Visits Capt. Spencer.

Feeling restless about it, he went to Capt. Spencer, the O. C. mobilization centre in Woodstock, and asked him if he had enlisted. Capt. Spencer informed him that he had done so on the previous evening. Watson asked if there was anything that could be done, as he explained that he was drunk at the time. Capt. Spencer told him he had seemed somewhat drunk when he enlisted, and he would see what he could do for him. Capt. Spencer later advised Watson to come to the London mobilization centre.

Watson came to London the follow-watson centre.

Watson came to London the following day, but claims that he was again under the influence of liquor. On his arrival he went to Carling Heights, and after looking around for a time for some of the officials, and not finding them, he returned to Woodstock. Feeling ashamed of his disgraceful conduct he then left Woodstock and went to Toronto, where he obtained employment with the Simpson Company. After working there for some time he returned to Woodstock, his wife having given birth to a child.

He again resumed his work as a knitter with the Oxford Knitting Company.

Some few weeks later a Dominion police officer asked him if he was a deserter. He replied that he was not, and then told his story to the Dominion police official, who laughed, and told him not to worry, as they would try and fix it up for him.

Pte. Watson has never had the uniform on, and has not received pay from the militial, since his enlistment. This proved a very strong subject for conversation, and if, as stated, he enlisted why had he not received pay or been issued a uniform? The sentence

CLERGY ON MIDWAY LOOKING FOR SHOWS SUSPICIOUS OR WORSE

But Only With the Idea of Seeing, None Are Allowed.

There was something interesting brewing on the midway at the Fair on Wednesday forenoon, though not of a nature to call for interference on the part of the Canada temperance act. Four prominent local ministers were discovered at one and the same time, holding what appeared to be a little social gathering. Possibly they met by chance. In any case, it was right in front of the only really suspicious-looking show on the whole midway, boasting, flamboyant "girl" posters.

"No, I didn't go in," said one of the clerical quartet, "but I saw what was going on outside. Some girls came out and danced, and it was the hootchykootchy, nothing more nor less."

It was to be gathered that it wasn't case of "a day off" for the ministers.

but the serious business of making sure that all attractions at the fair are placed above suspicion.

It seems they weren't the first on the ground for this purpose. They had been preceded as soon as the shows opened on Tuesday by a group of women who have the public welfare at heart.

One of these came along just as the clerics were discussing the "hootchy-kootchy," and related her experiences of the preceding day. that all attractions at the fair are
