SPOUSE OWNS HOUSE, SO MAN PAYS POLL TAX

Court of Revision Turns Down Strange Request From Citizen.

REFUSED TENANT RIGHTS

Members Reduce Assessment on Grand Opera House to $75,000.

One of the most ingenious and novel assessment complaints encountered by city officials in some time reached the court of revision, in session at the city hall Wednesday afternoon, when a prominent citizen of the northeast section of the city asked that his $5 which he has paid as poll tax be refunded to him. The man is at the present time paying a rental of $25 a month for a home, but as he is not on the voters' list as a tenant, he was assessed the custom- an American branch of the London ary poll tax.

CITY INSTITUTE OPENS MUSICAL BRANCH IN N. Y

F. L. Willgoose Extends Activities of London Institution to U.S.

WILL BEAR NAME OF CITY

Plans To Leave Forest City in August for the Metropolis.

The usual order has been to establish a Canadian branch of an American institution, commercial or otherwise, on Dominion soil. Principal F. Willgoose of the London Conservatory of Music proposes to reverse all this in establishing an American branch of the London Conservatory of Music in New York city, the muscal metropolis of America.

Further, the branch will retain its name and help to place London, Western Ontario still more prominently on the map of the world as an ducational centre.

The story behind the ambitious enerprise is the fact that there is no such system of local centres for examination purposes connected with musical institutions in the United States, as is known in Canada and with relation to the London Conser-

In the past few years, Mr. Will-goose has been asked to speak be-fore a number of important gather-ings of professional musicians in the main associations of teachers in such places as Brooklyn, New York, Roan-oke, Virginia, Freeport, Ill., Sandusky, Ohio, musical profession has regard-

The kind of third party the Re REACH TO LAKES publican and Democrat leaders are concerned about is made up of Re-publican and Democratic parties. A third party will ruin one or both of now dominating political groups.

Republican leaders, for instance, fear more greatly the farm bloc, which will sit in the 68th congress, as a third party nucleus, than all the conference of radicals, Liberals and intellectuals that can be held. If the farm bloc develops into third party it will do so on its record brought radical and intellectuals will simply make a third party among them-selves and try and win support for it on pledges and promises.

parties. A third party, like any other, depends largely on its leadership for success, and for that reason the sponsors of existing new party movements are trying hard to line up Senators Borah, Lafollette and Johnson and other Progressives, with their various political creeds.

These senators are standing aloof.

Not even Lafollette wishes just yet to turn to any hand-made part, and will not be trapped into jumping the party fence. Johnson grows more regular as the days go by. All of them want to watch developments during the coming two years before they quit their present allegiance.

Is Good for School Lunch.

Dear Cynthia and All,—It seems a good while since last I visited the family circle, but have visited the family circle, but have not lost any of my interest in it. I am sending a stamped envelope for Crippled Annie's address. I also would like Merry Ann's address. Am inclosing a small mite for S. C. H. Also here is a tried out recipe for quince honey, as this is quince season, thought it might be quite acceptable. It is simply delicious, comes in handy for school lunches for the unfortunate child that has to take a cold lunch to school. Peel and grate 5 quinces and 2 large apples. Put on 5 pounds of sugar to boil, with a little water. When boiling add the fruit and boil 25 minutes, stirring all the time. With all the Halloween greetings I remain, yous, BETSY. APPEALS FOR With all the Halloween greetings I remain, yous, BETSY.

Am mailing you the addresses you asked for, Betsy. It is a long time since we last heard from you. Many thanks for inclosing the timely recipe, also for the mite towards our cot in the children's hospital. It is quite a problem making lunches each day that will be tasty. Any ideas along this line would be most acceptable from the mothers who send children to school each day carrying lunches. CANADIANISM

Delivers Patriotic Address at Lions Club.

That if Canada was to be a united mass of different peoples, and that if the world was to be safe in the future, Canadians, and especially the young Canadians, must learn to look through Canadian eyes, think in Canadian thought, and live the best of Canadian lives, was the charge of Rev. Want Property First Proposed.

While W. A. Tanner, secretary of the board of education, announces that the members of the board of education have "practically" purchased property at the corner of Oliver and Trafalgar streets, a lively tussie is anticipated at the regular session of that hody Thursday afternoon before such action is ratifled Armed with a petition, signed by 100 or more residents of southeast London, representative members of mother's clubs and similar organizations will attend the gathering to ask that the Oliver street site be abandoned in preference to such at the corner of Dakin and Price

It is expected that Ex-Alderman Adam Palmer, former school trustee will also be among those present, to again offer for sale certain other property in the district, which is more urposes than either the Dakin or the Trafalgar street locations.

Council Will Probably Take Action Friday on Applications Already Received.

It is more than likely that the members of the city council, in regular session Friday night, will consider the definite appointment of a permanent auditor for London, who will have at his disposal an office and whatever clarks lerks are necessary, at the city hall Mayor Wilson and his associates have already considered this question thoroughly since resignations were received from the two part-time auditors, and they are unani-mous in their opinion that the business of the city has grown to such a degree that the appointment of a full-time auditor should be made As the time is growing short, the councillors have been impressed with the need for haste in this respect, and it is considered more than likely that two applications for the position al-ready received will be introduced and a decision rendered.

TELLS TRIALS OF

Expert Shows Lines Forced To Use Buses To Lower Costs.

Opponents of the proposed purchase of the London Street Railway point to the greater use of buses by electric companies in many cities of America and suggest that the same could be undertaken in London with appre ble satisfaction.

The city is in receipt of the folowing extracts of the opinion by Walter Jackson, a well-known eastern authority:

"By the end of 1922, the forces of reality had overcome prejudice so rapidly that nearly one hundred electric railways had found a place for the bus in their operating bosoms—not necessarily to make money, let it be marked, but more often to reduce the inevitable losses incident to serve the inevitable losses incident to serv ing sparse populations.

"When the question is asked:
What is the place of the bus, and is that place so wide as to be likely to crowd out the electric railway? the answer must differ according to whether one makes a comparison on strictly scientific grounds or upon conditions as he finds them. This can be understood clearly enough by examples.

Paving Renewals. "Early in 1921, the writer was engaged to make a survey of motor-bus opportunities on a large eastern city railway. These opportunities arose unimportant extensions and cross-town lines had reached the point of rail and paving renewal. The cost of such renewal was so great in com-parison with the traffic that the fixed charges alone were likely to exceed the cost of electric car operation. Inder these circumstances, viz., say 50.000 to 100.000 car-miles per of track per annum, the motor bus was by far the cheaper. "Generally speaking, the greatest of the unfair handicaps on the electric suitable, he says, for public school railway is the paving charge. Few will pretend that this is other than the paving charge, are the various taxes which a community learns to impose as it seeks new sources of not to mention the cost of trying to states and cities where the bus operator changes his fares through regulation of service obtains, the motor bus will often find a place to which it is not entitled. It will not do the community any good to permit this kind of development. First, loses those large sums in taxes which it must secure some way. As the eventual payer will be the transportation system, it follows that the in time. The only way it can do so is to raise the fare. Second, the com-munity loses that strict control over now enjoys. It can only apply a lot of pressure to an organization that has most of its capital in fixed property. It can never apply such pressure to a concern which has put most of its investment in movables. Many "A whole year has been wasted in an electric railway has hung on merecomments Trustee ly to make its fixed charges; but no know that there are busman would stick to the ship if he could not make some real money.' Tax-Free Bus Doomed. "As matters are moving now, the practically tax-free bus is doomed. Several states have a gallonage tax which is a direct charge upon the bus operator according to mileage; Maryland has a seat tax; New Jersey has a gross earnings tax: California has stringent regulation and standard accounting systems for bus operators, and in more and more tates the certificate of necessity and convenience is putting an end to the anarchic competition that has hurt located to best advantage." The advantages of the bus are utmost flexibility in adapting the routes to the shifting of the population; no greater overall cost because of low investment charges and freedom from paving charges, should be understood that this lates to a community where the best headway is not likely to be much under ten minutes. If it were to be five minutes then the electric road would be the cheaper.

IDEA WRONG ON TOWN PLANNING

C. Keith, A.M.E.I.C., Elucidates Purposes Behind Movement.

That the citizens, not only of London, but of several cities, have an absolutely wrong idea of the working a tax for a franchise rather than for actual wear of paving. It was surprising, the number of citizens who associated town with the building of great blocks of public buildings, or the centering of > municipal buildings in a particular spot, to give someone a big building contract. That was absolutely what town planning was not, Mr. Keith declared, pointing out that the real reason for the institution of town planning was the protection of the property owner and the foreseeing of adequate street layout and such matters, in other words, to provide for the future. The correct working of a town planning act would provide for the compensating of injured property owners where streets were widened, or where restrictions were not lived up to. Have Incorrect Impression. "The people have had a very incorrect impression of the town plan-ning idea," he said. There are a hundred angles to town planning before the matter of pub-lic buildings enter." Mr. Keith pointed out that public buildings would necessarily have to be built some time. At that time, the duty of the town planning committee would be to suggest the most suitable sites. But the primary object of the planning idea was on of benefit to the citizens.

He cited instances from various cities in the United States and Canwhere the town planning idea had been tried out, and where it had not. Sooner or later every city would be agreed on the matter, but for many, their decision would come too

Jeweler and Optician. 374 RICHMOND STREET, NEAR KING STREET. London, Ont., Thursday, November 16 Bonar Law the Premier.

Unless later reports show a decided change, Bonar Law, nativeborn Canadian, has been confirmed in the position of premier of Great Britain, a position into which he was elevated by the change of front following the drawing out of the Conservatives from the Coalition government.

The contest throughout was colorserve as rallying points, and the Georgian group suffered the fate that is apt to overtake any government the throes of war back to the routine of normal times.

It is as yet too early to interpret the verdict as a rebuke to the manner in which the Coalition handled the Near East question, in which the friendship of the French nation-a thing dear to many Britishers-was claimed that the answer is an expression of the British people on tariff reform.

The Liberal party was badly handicapped by being driven into two camps under the leadership of two brilliant men. Asquithian and Georgian Liberals may find it possible to unite later on, although the tenor of the campaign was such as to drive a wedge in the Liberal party that may require some healing, and time is a necessary element in any such process. Canadians have watched the British election with an interest hardly less keen than a Federal contest in the Dominion would evoke; the people here are better informed on British politics than ever before, and the aftermath of the contest and the new political alignments will be subjects of outstanding importance in Canada for some days to come.

Speaking at Souris. Man., he stated: "We must carry our ideals and principles to a logical conclusion, and if ever called, we must not be afraid to take up the reins of government."

Mr. Forke also made the trite remark that "If we solve the rural problem, all other problems will be

His point of view about taking over the reins of government has not been shared in the past by some of the members of the party, who have held that a "balance of power" position was a much more desirable thing than being absolutely in con-

Mr. Forke can be assured of one thing-that the country at large will lend assistance to any movement or any plan that can solve the rural problem without creating a greater urban problem.

We believe there is a general and a very widespread desire on the part of people in the towns and cities that those who do the work on the farms shall reap the full reward of their efforts. In our rather overdone system of distribution, the distance between producer and consumer is not being abbreviated-rather is it being lengthened. When the consumer in the city pays a fair price for his produce, he is not in a posi- ples. There must be an association tion to stipulate, or even ascertain. that the man who did the work on the farm is receiving the full benefit of his labor. The Liberal party is just as well equipped to work out the solution to this problem as the Progressives. They gave ample demonstration last session in the grain rates for the west that they were fully alive to the situation, and were prepared to tions. deal with it.

Explanations in Order.

Toronto man was told to appear in court to answer to a charge of driving on the highway with one arm around his lady friend.

Now comes the statement that he had traded that particular car in for another, and the license was not transferred to the new buyer.

So when the cops espied the antics in this car, one man was having the fun while another was appearing in police court. We married men do have a great time explaining things to the courtand to our wives.

On a recent Sunday night, George HUMPHREYS was trucking baggage around the Union station at Toronto. Nothing unusual in this, for he has been doing it for 22 years. Going along the platform, he saw a foreign woman who wanted to go to New She had two grips and a ticket. HUMPHREYS took the grins. and put them on his truck, looked at her ticket, and put her on the coach she belonged to, putting her baggage in for her.

It so happened that Dr. L. M. RYAN of New York, chief medical officer of the Hudson and Manhattan Railway, witnessed the proceedings, and employers of the baggage handler, the Labor candidate.

stating with what pleasure he had witnessed the kindness shown to this woman by the baggage handler at

The chances are that HUMPHREYS has been doing just such things for years, because a man seldom performs an isolated kindness. It comes to be second nature, especially when he picks out an obscure foreign woman with a lot of baggage as the object of his attention.

And he will keep on doing just such acts, even if he is selected for some better position. At the same time it's not a bad sensation for a man to know that now and then some person is looking, and will take the time and trouble to make mention of the excellence of his service to the company employing him.

"GRAN."

(Copyright, 1922, by W. Werner.) Father says that I squint, and that my dimple is Irish indeed. But moth-er's chin tilts exceedingly higher, and by her very manner seems to say that it isn't necessary to tell the public in general that father's mother came from Ireland, a penniless orphan of the upper pleasant class, became a servant girl, and never learned to read and write.

Gran, though, married an ambitious young southerner at last, and their plantation and their family grew equal strides, so that ea the eight children, at grandfather's death, received a generous financial legacy, and as to breeding and accomplishments, gran's mother with had been miraculous in making them into men and women fit to meet the world. Father started into his chosen profession in Memphis. The scattered, building their respective snug businesses and com-fortable homes. But Gran, despite all protests, clings to a little lonely home of her own, with her one old com-panion-servant, Scotch Kittie. Gran may be stubborn, but mother says, indirectly, that I am too. This, I think, is why I am so fond of Gran. This morning Helen King and I were shopping. We met Everett and Joe finally, who took us to luncheon at Cubberley's, and there we found a leaf and grape-hung arbor corner, with a rose shaded droplight which brought out stunning effects in my ew rose and gray spring suit. We had nearly finished and were giggling over a foolish story of Joe's, when our ears met a clear, very Irish old voice at the other table in our your heart. Just tell me what ye've

PREMIER THINKS LAKE OF WOODS DISPUTE SOLVED

Members of Dominion Cabinet and Representatives of Provinces Convene.

PRESENTS NO DETAILS

Ottawa, Nov. 15 .- An agreement which it is believed will prove satisfactory to the interested parties with respect to control of the levels of the Lake of the Woods was reached at today's conference between members of the Dominion cabinet and representatives of the provinces and other interests concerned. While no details of the proposed agreement were given out tonight, it was stated by the prime minister at the close of today's conference that the Lake of the Woods problem was considered to be amicably arranged, while the settlement of the question of Rainy Lake levels hinged upon whether or not the data presented today was found to cover all the information required.

There still remains to be decided, is understood, whether the Lake of the Woods treaty between United States and Canada can be enlarged or whether it will be necessary to submit the question of the upper waters to the international joint commission for settlement.

The details of the plan will, it is understood, be laid before the cabinet council at its meeting here tomorrow and the provincial premiers who par-ticipated in today's conference will also place its decision before their colleagues before the matter is made

Standard Drug Stores

9th ANNIVERSARY SALE

On Thursday, Friday and Saturday, Nov. 16, 17, 18

It is nine years, almost to a day, since the Standard Drug, Limited, sprang into existence. In these nine years the Standard Drug, Limited, has developed from the one store at 252 Dundas street, into a chain of six bright, clean, modern stores, backed by a separate warehouse and main office, through which is controlled the uniformity in quality, service and prices. In these nine years Standard Drug Stores have become a byword in most homes of the cities of London, St. Thomas and Woodstock and the surrounding communities. In these nine years Standard Drug Stores have fully established a reputation for high quality, prompt service and for exceptional "SAVE YOU MONEY" VALUES.

Since this is our ninth birthday, representing the completion of nine years of successful business—made possible only by the loyal support of your good selves, we feel we would like to celebrate, so have prepared somewhat of a birthday party. The story told by Miss Warne with remarkable descriptive power, aided by pictures thrown on the screen, was one of isolated little fishing villagers, hill-locked, where women and children are shut off from the outside world for months at a time; of nurses and doctors of high standing in their professions, who devote months, years or a life-time to service on the bleak coast of an heroic clergyman, Rev. Henry Gordon, Oxford graduate, whose parish takes him traveling over 1,700 miles to visit and minister to hi flock; of an orphanage at Cartwright which he was instrumental in estab lishing, and which is now being an orphanage filled with little peopl who lost their parents through the terrible scourge of flu. KITTY'S REQUEST.

Dear Miss Grey,—It is a long time since I wrote to your Mail-Box, but read the letters every day. I see where "Doonside" is offering quilt blocks, and as I have quite a lot of work to do, would like to get them. Am sending 50 cents for them and 15 cents for postage. Also would you please forward letter on to "Musician?" Well, I will close, with best wishes. Hoping I may be of help next time. I have a be of help next time. I have a man's mitt pattern from which I will cut a few patterns and send to the Mail-Box if you care KITTY

I am very sorry but the quilt patches have been given out. Shall I return the money, or put it in the mite-box? Maybe some other Boxite has some quilt blocks she would send in, as there have been so many requests "Doonside's letter has been forwarded to "Musician." Thank you for the offer of the pattern.

OUTLINE OF HISTORY

By H. G. Wells.

The beautiful MME. ZIRTENZOFF was singing when M. Jonquelle entered the opera and proceeded to the box occupied by the Marquis. Before entering, he stopped, an usher who was leaving with a large bouquet of orchids. On the pretext of sending the usher for cigarets, M. Jonquelle held the orchids for a time and then entered the box of the Marquis. The Marquis asks M. Jonquelle if the box of the Marquis. The Marquis asks M. Jonquelle if the can tell why Jean Lequex, who ponfessed to the tenft of the neckace, would not tell where the neckace, would not tell where the neckace was concealed.

By losing caste a man does not sink to a lower caste; he becomes outcast.

A Complicated System.

The various subdivisions of caste are very complex; many are practically trade organizations. Each caste has its local organization, which maintains discipline, distributes various charities looks after tributes various charities, looks after its own poor, protects the common interests of its members and examines the credentials of new-comers from other districts. (There is little to check the traveling Hindu to be of a higher caste than is legitimately his.)
Originally the four main castes seem to have been:
The Brahmins—the priests and

The Kshatriyas—the warriors.
The Valsyas — herdsmen teachers. The Valsyas — herdsmen, mer-chants, money lenders and land owners The Sudras.

And, outside the castes, the Pariahs.

But these primary divisions have long been complicated by subdivi-sions into a multitude of mino castes, all exclusive, each holding its members to one definite way of its members to one definite way of living and one group of associates. In Bengal the Kshatriyas and Vaisyas have largely disappeared. But this is too intricate a question for us to deal with here in any detail. Next to this extraordinary fission and complication of the social body we have to note that the Brahmins, the priests and teachers of the In-dian world, unlike so many western priesthoods, are a reproductive and exclusive class, taking no recruits from any other social stratum. Whatever may have been the original incentive to this extensive fixation of class in India, there can be little doubt of the role played by the Brahmins as the custodians o tradition and the only teachers of the people in sustaining it. How Did It Arise?

By some it is supposed that the first three of the four original castes, known also as the "twice

The Sudras are represented as a previous wave of northern conquerors and the Pariable and the Pa riahs are the original inhabitants of India. speculations are not universally accepted, and it is perhaps rather the case that the uniform conditions of life in the Ganges valley throughout long centuries served to stereotype a difference of classes that have never had the same steadfastness of definition under the more various and variable conditions of the greater world to the

However, caste arose, there can e no doubt of its extraordinary old upon the Indian mind. In hold upon the Indian mind. In the sixth century B. C. arose Gautama, the great teacher of Bud-dhism, proclaiming: "As the four streams that flow into the Ganges lose their names as soon as they mingle their waters in the holy river, so all who believe in Buddha cease to be Brahmins, Kshatriyas, Vaisyas and Sudras." His teaching prevailed in India for some cen-turies; it spread over China, Tibet, Japan, Burma, Ceylon, Turkestan, Manchuria; it is today the re-ligion of a large fraction of the human race, but it was finally de-feated and driven out of Indian life by the vitality and persistence of the Brahmins and of their caste

The Chinese System.

In China we find a social system traveling along yet another, and only a very roughly parallel, line to that followed by the Indian and western civilizations. The Chinese civilization even more than the Hindu is organized for peace, and the warrior plays a small part in its social scheme.

As in the Indian civilization, the less priestly than the Brahmin and more official. But unlike the Brahmins, the mandarins, who are the literate men of China, are not a caste; one is not a mandarin by birth, but by education; they are drawn by education and examina-tion from all classes of the com-munity, and the son of a mandarin has no prescriptive right to succeed bis father. his father.

As a consequence of these differ-ences, while the Brahmins of India are, as a class, ignorant even of their own sacred books, mentally slack, and full of a pretentious assurance, the Chinese mandarin has the energy that comes from hard mental work. But since his educa-tion so far has been almost entirely a scholarly study of the classical Chinese literature, his influence has written out "Take Back Your Gold" for her, but laven't the music. Would like some tatting patterns in the inclosed envelope, if you please. Find mite for S. C. H. (25c) inclosed. Will keep my old pen name. E. E. E. Thank you for the words, which I have forwarded to Bonny Jean. Am mailing you a few tatting patterns, which I hope you will like. Many thanks for the inclosed hospital mite.

Chinese literature, his influence has been entirely conservative. Before the days of Alexander the Great, China had already formed itself and set its feet in the way in which it was still walking in the year 1000 A. D. Invaders and dynasties had come and gone, but the routine of life of the yellow civilization remained unchanged.

The traditional Chinese social system recognized four main classes below the priest-emperor.

(a) The literary class, which was equivalent partly to the officials of the western world and partly to its teachers and clerics. In the time of Confucius its education included archery and horsemanship. Rites and music, history and mathematics completed the "six accomplishments." (b) The cultivators of the land.

(b) The cultivators of the land.
(c) The artisans.
(d) The mercantile class.
But since from the earliest times it has been the Chinese way to divide the landed possessions of a man among all his sons, there has never been in Chinese history any class of great landowners, renting their land to tenants, such as most other countries have displayed. The Chinese land has always been cut into small holdings, which are chiefly freeholds, and cultivated intensively.

The Last Man Loses.

There are landlords in China who own one or a few farms and rent them to tenants but there are no great permanent estates. great permanent estates. When a patch of land by repeated division is too small to sustain a man it is sold to some prospering neighbor, and the former owner drifts to one of the great towns of China to join the mass of wage earning workers there. In China for many centuries there have been these masses of town population with scarcely any property at all, men neither serfs nor slaves, but held to their daily work by their utter impecunious-

From such masses it is that the coldiers needed by the Chinese sour soldiers needed by the Chinese gov-ernment are recruited, and also such gang labor as has been needed for the making of canals, the building of walls and the like has been drawn. The war captive and the slave class play a smaller part in Chinese history than in any more westerly record of these ages before the Christian era.

For your sake and your family's sake, start making this test today. Then look next week and see the changes that occur.

Millions of people of fifty nations are now brushing teeth in this new way. Dentists everywhere are urging them to do it. You can see the results wherever you look-in teeth that glisten as they never did before.

Now see them on your own teeth. Go stays. Food stains, etc., cloud that film.

Then it forms a thin dingy coat, Film is Film also holds food substance which ferments and forms acid. It holds the acid in contact with the teeth to cause decay. Germs breed by millions in it. They, with tartar, are the chief cause of pyorrhea.

Most tooth troubles are now traced to film. And, despite the tooth brush, they became almost universal.

Now millions combat it

Dental science has, for long, sought ways to fight that film. Two effective methods have been found. Able authorities, by careful tests, proved them beyond question. Now millions of people are using them daily, largely by dental advice.

One method acts to curdle film, the other to remove it. And this is done without the use of any harmful scouring agent. A new-type tooth paste has been created, based on modern research. It includes some new essentials and avoids some old mistakes. The name is Pepsodent. These two great film combatants are embodied in it.

Some Pepsodent effects

Film coats are more readily combated. The teeth become highly polished, so film less easily adheres. Pepsodent also multiplies the starch di-gestant in the saliva. That is there to digest starch deposits which may otherwise ferment and form acids. It multiplies the alkalinity of the saliva. That is there to neutralize the acids which cause decay.

Thus Nature's great tooth-protecting agents are given manifold effect, while soap-and-chalk pastes reduce their power. These results are bringing a new dental era in millions of homes the world over. And these whiter, safer, cleaner teeth mean life-long benefits. When you find them out, you will want your people to enjoy them,

The dainty people you see, who show white teeth, are probably users of Pepsodent. You see them everywhere. To women it means new beauty, new charm; to n new cleanliness. To children it means new protection against troubles you kave had.

Another Season of Tremendous Fur Popularity

Furs have had a number of triumphant seasons, but the season of 1922-3 bids fair to be the climax. Fashion, of course, has much to do with this, but the exceptional quality of the skins gathered last winter, the practical turn of fashion, and the increasing demand, are considerable factors. Owing to the demand the early buying wisdom is more apparent. Furs should be bought now, and will be well selected from our present stocks. Gifts of fur may be purchased now, and will be cared for by us until delivery is desired.

NOTE POLITICAL MIX-UPS

Liberals Cheer Labor Wins Because They Are Tory Reverses.

JOSEPH T. CLARK.

Special Cable to The Advertiser. London, Nov. 16.-Last night I heard election returns in the National Liberal Club, in the same room where twelve years ago I heard the results on the famous budget elections. There mixed interests. Many were unfriendly to Lloyd George and some for him. Some were Liberals with strong Labor leanings, and some cheered when the news came that a Tory had won a Labor seat with a majority of 11 votes.

Nothing better illustrated the political mix-up than the play of sympathies as returns were announced. Many men were in this room. One, a prominent Liberal, who recently visited Canada. They knew their own candidates could not win in their particular ridings, the contest being between Tory and Labor. They voted Tory because they are opposed to capital levy, yet whenever news came that Labor had won a Tory seat, cheers proved that cheers proved that many were de-lighted by it, levy or no levy. If it was not a Liberal gain, it was a Con-and 22, at the Carls-Rite Hotel.

The conference will be held under the auspices of the O. A. C. exstudents, but the co-operation of all provincial organizations of practical farmers has been enlisted, and it is expected that delegates will be appointed by most of these organizations to attend as representatives of the special lines of agriculture with the special lines of agriculture with which they deal. The co-operation of the provincial departments of agriculture and education has also been secured and addresses are being secured, and delegates are being named by the ministers of those de-partments to represent them in the discussions. All told, about 225 delegates have been invited in anticipa-tion of a thoroughly representative body of farm men and women, who will be able to discuss the various phases of agricultural education and work as they parts of the province.
Specialized Education.

During Tuesday afternoon the question of specialized agricultural education will be discussed each education will be discussed each phase of the question being introduced by brief addresses, after which the majority of the time will be allowed for discussion by the delegates. Brief speeches will be made by the Hon. Manning W. Doherty, minister of agriculture, and Hon. R. H. Grant, of agriculture, and Hon. R. H. Grant, minister of education; President J. B. Reynolds, Ontario Agricultural College, Guelph, and Miss Cruickshank, principal of Macdonald Institute, Guelph, will answer the question. "Do the Agricultural College and Macdonald Institute function satisfactorilly, in generalized education?" factorily in specialized education?"
W. J. Bell, principal of the Kempt-ville Agricultural School, will tell the place of the agricultural school in the teaching of agriculture; J. A. Carroll, agricultural representative for Peel County, will discuss the reation of the agricultural representa-tive to specialized education, and J. E. McCrostie and Omer Turney will

GEORGIAN CANDIDATES A POOR FOURTH IN VOTING

Any Chance of Him Having Balance of Power Position in House Was Lost When First-Returns Started

London, Nov. 16.-Ex-Premier Lloyd George has been defeated in his effort to win a balance of power in the next House of Commons on the face of incomplete returns this afternoon. A count made at 1 p.m. showed the Conservative candidates of Bonar Law with a clear majority over all other parties, and the Conservatives were gaining at that time, having won nine additional seats since the noon results were posted. not affect the results from his point of view, so much as the fact that Bonar Law appeared likely to secure a working majority, and hence Lloyd George's handful in the house would not be sufficient to overthrow the government. The count at 2 p.m. stood:

 Conservatives
 .230

 Labor
 .88

 Asquith Liberals
 .30
 Lloyd Georgians 27

The new house will be composed of 615 members, so there remains room for considerable change in one direction or another.

Labor's strong fight is making it probable that the party will be the main opposition group in the next house, and has been a feature of the election. Arthur Henderson, however, was defeated. Lloyd George, Asquith, Bonar Law and Clynes, leaders of the four parties, were all elected, the

Some Good Material.

Most of the local units have already gathered together strings of boxers and wrestlers, and from the material available, the London units should be able to more than hold their own against the invasion of boxers from St. Thomas, Galt, Guelph, Woodstock and Kitchener.

Thomas, Galt, Guelph, Woodstock and Kitchener.

Entries will be received by Chairman Burns, Wolseley. Barracks, London, until Dec. 19 for the following weights: Bantam, feather, light, middle and heavy. Several wrestling bouts will also feature the card.

Medals, suitably engraved, will be given the winners in each class.
Indoor baseball will open Dec. 4 with a game between R. C. R. and Western University C. O. T. C. Permission is being asked the O. C. of R. C. R.'s for the attendance of the regimental band for opening night.

Nine teams have already been entered, and, showing the interest in the game by outside units, permission to play five outside games with other military units was granted last night. W. O. R.'s are to play Stratford and Windsor on dates to be arranged: R. C. R. will take on the H. L. I. of Galt, and 1st Hussars will meet the Kent Regiment to more consultant.

Basketball opens on Dec. 5, and games will be played each Tuesday night. Entries will be received until Nov. 21.

Four cage teams are already in, and night. Entries will be received until Nov. 21.

Four cage teams are already in, and three more are expected to make entries.

Nothing definite was decided regarding a track meet, but it will be staged some time late in January. Sergt. Sheard and his committee are at work on the program of events.

The hockey committee did not present a report last night, but it is understood that the league will have at least eight teams, with the possibility of ten.

TENPINS

A matched game will be played to-day on the National Alleys between the 1921 champions of the Printers' League and picked all-stars from this year's league, based on their averages this season so far. The line-ups will be: 1921 Champions—C. Case, W. Vincent, W. Rhodes, G. Hutchinson, H. Smith. 1922 All-Stars—T. Apsey, J. Hately, H. Cameron, W. Dalton, A. McCue.

REMINGTON U. M. C. AMMUNITION AT BROCK'S

The Garrison A. A. executive decided at a meeting last night to stage a boxing and wrestling tourney Dec. 29 at the local armories, which will be open to all militia units and kindred organizations in M. D. No. 1.

Practically the whole winter program of the Garrison A. A. was outlined at last night's meeting, and every sport has its jumping off date fixed.

Boxing is expected to be the dominant sport on the program this year, and it should go over big in London, which has had but little of this pastime. It, too, has the wider general appeal, and the first show is expected to break all attendance records for such events in London.

BAN B. JOHNSON.

New York, Nov. 15.—A proposal that the American League boycott the minor leagues which have held out against the draft will be made by Ban Johnson at the December meeting of the junior circuit in New York, according to reports here today. This, it was said, is the bomb which Mr. Johnson said recently he intended to toss into the meeting.

Last year a proposal that the five minor leagues be boycotted failed at a meeting of the National League clubs. The five minors which are not bound by the draft agreement are: American Association are: American Association, Inter-national League, Pacific Coast League, Southern Association and Western League.

Cleveland, Nov. 15 .- Johnny Lembarth is training hard these days for his bout Friday night in the show Olhe Downs is to put on at the Moose auditorium, but the boxing routine that Johnny is going through now is to do more for him than just get him ready to beat Jack Risko, the K. O. king, Friday. Boxing is a new game to Johnny. He's a baseball umpire in the summer. Before he became a tickler of the indicator he earned some repution as a catcher, being the back-stop for the St. Stephens team when it won the Class A title in the C. A. B. & A. A. He also caught for the Van Dorn Iron Works team when it won the Consolidated league title.

But Johnny figures that being an umpire is much more dangerous than being a catcher and, having read about Ollie Chill, American League about Oline Chin, American League umpire, having boxed in his early days, he decided that a knowledge of boxing would be a good thing to have after he tells somebody he's "out" when the same somebody has positive ideas about being "safe."

HAVE ADVISORY HOCKEY BOARD

Central Control in Woodstock Gives Game Light Prospect.

WOODSTOCK, Nov. 15. — Hockey prospects in Woodstock today are brighter than they have ever been in any previous year. Following the amalgamation of the junior and intermediate O. H. A. and City League organizations under one executive, an advisory board has been appointed, made up of Frank Hyde, the local hockey veteran; Harry Mcintosh of the W.A.A.A., and George Hoskins, who handled last year's junior team.

These men are counted on to give the game a great impetus in the city and public enthusiasm is so high that a big cash reserve is expected to be accumulated in membership fees in the new association. Membership tickets are to be sold, and these will entitle the holders to the preference in seats for the regular games. What is more pleasing news than that is the announcement that Frank Hyde will once again go forward for the O. H. A. executive. Clarence Gorrie, a former Toronto player, has agreed to manage the City League; Stanley Wade will manage the intermediates, and it is expected that Chilton Childs will handle the juniors. The official O. H. A. referees have been named as follows: Russell Sandercock, Stanley Wade and Clarence Gorrie.

There is a sweet-looking line-up for the junior team. In addition to Lorne Lynch, there are Harrington, Collins. Roadhouse, Smith, Harford and O'Bright, who played junior O. H. A. last year, and Pugsley and Gerald Carson at the college, the two Sheridan brothers, formerly of Hamilton, and a long list of other excellent prospects. The intermediates are confident that they will have Chilton Childs back in the nets this year, and in addition they have Harry King, "Dutch" Trump. Norman Douglas, Art Parker, Ralph Kirk, Gordon Bond, Cohen, Bright and Sabine, all of whom have done well in local hockey, as well as a number of new men, who include some dark horses. Prospects were never brighter for good hockey in Woodstock, and the fans are eager for the ice to come.

UNYEIL WINDOWS AT PORT STANLEY

Members of Christ Church Honor Memory of Fallen Heroes.

Port Stanley, Nov. 15.—Beauty and sincerity were attributes of the dignified ceremony which accompan-ied the unveiling of the memorial windows at Christ Church here, with Gen. King and staff officers of London in attendance, and assisting clergy from London and St. Thomas.

The largest congregation in the The largest congregation in the history of the church filled the pews to overflowing, the aisles were filled with chairs, and every available inch of standing room was taken.

It seemed a happy omen that a second or two before the unveiling of the windows the sun, shrouded in gloom since early morning, should pierce through the clouds, so that shafts of light illuminated the winevident through the thin covering o flags and muslin.

King pulled the rope as the flag fell away from the magnifi-cent soldiers' memorial window, escent soldiers' memorial window, established by Capt. and Mrs. Mark Berry, in memory of their sons, and the service and address which followed echoed again the solemn, grateful ceremonies of Armistice Day. Col., the Rev. William Beattie, of the First Presbyterian Church, London, and during the war senior chap-lain of the first contingent, in a simply-worded though forceful address, sounded again a note struck in Gen. King's words, by his description of the manner in which the soldiers of the Dominion faced death and suffering, wretched in themselves, fering, wretched in themselves, resically, but mentally and spiriturestrong in the thought that they are the thought live.

inquire into the death of Joe Feranto, who was found dead in bed last Saturday morning, brought out the fact that he had prepared a mixture of cyanide and sulphuric acid, to fumigate his restaurant for cockroaches. About 1 a.m. a witness, Lewis White, who was employed by the deceased, recalled that about four weeks prior to his death Feranto had become sick from the fumes of the chemicals while preparing a mixture. Robert Wilmot, employed in the Robertson drug stores, stated that Feranto had procured a quantity of cyanide and sulphuric acid about 6:30 Friday night. The witness believed that the fumes from the process of fumigation would be strong emough to produce death.

Coroner Fissette ordered an adjournment of the inquest until Wednesday, Nov. 22, in order to hear new witnesses, and to procure a chemical analysis from Toronto.

of marketing proposed, and the organization required. The location of the various cheese factories in the county was mapped out, and the county was divided into four districts, each of which is an important cheese producing section. Meetings will be held in each of these districts in the near future, and at these, representatives of each factory will be present to discuss the system, and Scorpio children are very fond of luxurious surroundings. They should be taught simplicity in all things, and carefully watched as to emotional and passionate habits. This field is worthy the most patient and persistent working.

These children are generally so bright, so apt, so quick to separate the good from the bad, the true from the false, when properly trained and directed that they can be saved a great deal of after misery and shame by wise instruction in the very early years.

The governing sign of this date is Scorpio, the sign of the Scorpion, and the middle sign of the Water Triplicity. The governing planet is Mars God of Ware and the first Triplicity. The governing planet is Mars, God of Wars, and the birthstone is a topaz. The astral colors are golden, brown and black.

Variety is the spice of life, but where to find it is the question? Why not use the Want Ads. They have every variety imaginable in them and are very useful to housewife, as well as business man

AUTOMOBILES. AUTOMOBILES.

GUARANTEED USED CARS As stated in previous advertisements, our detailed list of cars will be in Friday's paper, and in conclusion we want to say that the Used Car Department of our business is our first consideration. Our new car business depends on used cars intelligently and successfully bought and sold. We believe most people would prefer a good used car rather than a cheap new one, if they could be sure it was good. Our plan of selling does not admit of any covering up. If you feel you would like to get a good car at a low price, if you could only be sure it was good, remember, "The Envelope Tells the Truth."

Good Used Cars, rightly priced, sell all the time at places where public confidence has been built up.

ACIU STUMACH IS DANGEROUS

The Real Cause of Indigestion

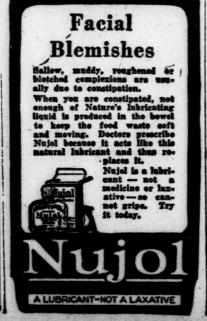

Acids in the stomach irritate and in-flame the delicate stomach lining, sour and ferment the food, prevent proper digestion and lead to nine-tenths of all Dyspepsia and Indigestion. Pepsin and other artificial digestents give only tem-porary relief and do not correct the cause.

Stomach acids should be neutralized daily, and the stomach kept sweet and clean after eating by drinking a glass of pure Magnesia water made from a teaspoonful or four tablets of Bisurated Magnesia, obtainable at any reliable drug store. This prevents food fermentation and your meals digest naturally and without pain. By following this plan you may eat almost anything without fear of Indigestion.—Advt.
