MR. BOWYER OF EAST KENT

Toronto News Gives Character Sketch of the Popular Member

IS A MAN OF CHARACTER

During the past few months the Toronto News has been giving a number of character sketches of men in the public eye. The latest of these is a sketch of the life and character of P. H. Bowyer, M. P. P., which appeared on Monday. The writer of the article has shown that he is thoroughly acquainted with the popular member from East Kent, and the sketch, which is as follows, will be read with interest by Mr. Bowyer's many admirers:

"Politics," declared Theodore Parker, "is the science of exigencies." If the definition be sound, Philip H. Bowyer, M. P. P. for East Kent, is no politician. He is far removed from the opportunist. He knows nothing of the sacrifice of principle to policy, of honor to office, or of progress to power. The Parkerian politician thinks of the next election; Bowyer is concerned with the next generation. The latter wants to do some of the educating; the former is satisfied to drift.

Mr. Bowyer is a man of medium height and rather slight physique. On the large head, resting on shoulders slightly stooped, the hair is thinning and becoming prematurely sprinkled with grey. Below a high, intellectual forehead kindly eyes of clear blue-grey look out—earnest, restful and benevolent. A light brown moustache hides a mouth of liberal proportions, while the firmly moulded chin is the only feature which denotes the strength and determination of the character. Mr. Bowyer looks the student that he is, but his fondness for books, his years in the study, have not lessened his humanitarianism, his intense interest and love of their being in the world about him. He is not a man of marked personal magnetism, yet he grows upon you, and those who know him best esteem him most. He makes no pretensions at oratory, but he speaks thoughtfully and pointedly, and his public utterances carry the message of the man's sincerity. He is one of the few Conservative legislators, who, having reached the promised land after the thirty years' sojourn in the wilderness, have been able to restrain the impulses of the dangerous spoils system.

Mr. Bowyer is a unique figure in Ontario politics. He has been dubbed "the Radical member of the Tory party" because of the advanced views he has for years held and promulgated from the platform and in his paper. He is a life-long foe of greedy corporations and trusts. As a country editor his interests are most closely identified with the agriculturist and the village merchant, yet he has a breadth of vision which enables him to see afar, and a keen ultra-sensitive judgment that creates confidence in the soundness of his position. He is rather retiring in manner, and will never succeed in politics, a friend once observed; "he is too humble." There is a quasi-courteous deference about Mr. Bowyer's manner when listening to anyone who has anything worth saying, and a modest reserve in expressing an opinion in reply, which is very different from the down-thump style of conversation indulged in by some of the roysterers of politics with whom he has associated.

He is not a "party man" in the rigid significance the term too often contemplates. He is wise enough to realize that all the wisdom and rectitude is not bottled up in one set of politicians. Some of his most searching and vigorous editors have been penning the shortcomings he saw in the party with which he is identified. "Never condone a wrong in our own party," he wrote to a contemporary on one occasion. "The trunk friend is the true friend. Speak out, and, if possible, have the wrong righted." In dealing with opponents his criticism loses none of its strength and severity by its restraint and sobriety of expression. Some years ago the writer applied to him for advice in dealing with a serious political scandal in a neighboring constituency. His reply was prompt and characteristic: "Don't scream. I have no use for that. It is so easy to denounce. Rather, gravely and responsibly face and deal with the difficulties." Mr. Bowyer never hails when a word in an ordinary tone will be sufficient—and that is, perhaps, the reason his utterances are so generally effective.

This is Mr. Bowyer's first term in Parliament. He has already left an impress on legislation, and, if his health—always precarious—is preserved, he will be further heard from in the councils of the Province. At Queen's Park, as at his home in East Kent, he has already won an established popularity as a loyal friend, a generous opponent and a man of earnest, faithful and honest devotion to the weal of those he represents. "When in doubt on any subject," declared the jovial and impulsive Col. Hugh Clark, "always go to Phil Bowyer."

FORMER CHATHAMITE

Mr. and Mrs. Will J. Carrel, of Chicago, are spending a few days with Mr. Carrel's parents at the Methodist parsonage, 112 S. Stewart Avenue. Mr. Carrel has just accepted a position as Professor of Civil Engineering in the Kentucky State College, Lexington, Kentucky, and expects to begin his work there next week. He is a graduate of Michigan Agricultural College.—Big Rapids Pioneer.

Mrs. Carrel was formerly Cassie Yeates, of Wallaceburg, and was at the C. B. C. in this city.

SUCCESSFUL CONFIRMATION

Interesting Service Conducted by Bishop Williams in Holy Trinity

BISHOP GIVEN ADDRESS

A very encouraging and successful service was held in Holy Trinity church last evening, when eleven candidates undertook the pledges of confirmation, and joined with the congregation in a life of usefulness as members of the excellent church. The work of confirming was conducted by the Right David Williams, D. D., Lord Bishop of Huron, who came to Chatham especially for this occasion. There was a goodly number of the congregation present, and a full choir. The service was very bright and hearty one, and was greatly enhanced by the excellent music from the choir. An anthem was capably rendered, and the congregational singing was full and spirited.

The Bishop gave a very inspiring address to the class at the conclusion of the service, and instructed them upon the duties they had assumed as members of the church. He was helpful not only to the candidates for confirmation, but also to the people of the congregation who were present.

After the confirmation, a few of the members of the congregation assembled in the Sunday school room, and presented the Bishop with the following address:

The Right Rev. David Williams, D. D., Lord Bishop of Huron:

We, the members of Holy Trinity church, Chatham, make you an opportunity of conveying to your Lordship our deep appreciation of your acceptance of the Bishopric of this Diocese. Your zeal and devotion in the work of our beloved church, your willing service in our Synods, your ripe scholarship and vigorous manhood, bring to the high sphere of the Episcopate, talents much to be desired. Your previous associations with the Diocese, as a parish priest, and also as our Archdeacon of Perth, have long since won our friendship—a friendship that has ripened into love since you became our Bishop. We congratulate you on the success that has already attended your efforts and on the prosperous condition of the Diocese. We welcome your visits to this parish, and assure you of our loyalty to yourself as Bishop, and to the church of our Fathers.

We pray God's blessing on your family, and that you may be long spared as the chief shepherd of our souls.

Signed on behalf of Holy Trinity Parish:
J. W. HODGINS, Rector.
EDWIN BELL, Peoples' Warden.
W. E. FINNO, Minister's Warden.
P. S. COATE, Vestry Clerk.

THEY SHOULD DISBAND

Last night before an audience composed principally of men one of the rankest and most miserable of failures in the way of entertainments was put on at the Opera House. The "company," which is travelling under the name of "College Girls," or some such title, was composed of half-devised females with high-pitched, nerve-racking voices, and two or three men who couldn't capably hold jobs as entertainers for a patent medicine faker. To put it very mildly, the show was on the punk for a vengeance.

The jokes were so ancient that Adam might be excused for turning over in his grave on this occasion. Possibly our first male parent had listened to them in the Garden of Eden, would have wondered where he heard them before. There wasn't even one redeeming feature to the whole wretched outrage. The singing and dancing would disgrace a backwoods school house entertainment, and the so-called "beauties" didn't even know how to go on or off the stage gracefully.

WILL GIVE A HOLIDAY

Mayor Marshall Will Take The City Council On A Launch Trip

LAST NIGHT'S MEETING

A special meeting of the City Council was held in Harrison Hall last evening for the purpose of making a minor change in the wording of the by-law authorizing the paving of King street west.

The point in question, explained by the posh Mayor Marshall, was with regard to the width of the pavement, specifying that the C. W. & L. E. must pave between and on the sides of their tracks on the thoroughfare.

On motion of Aid. Edmondson and Benson, the original by-law was accordingly rescinded, and a new by-law drawn up and read in committee and passed.

After the special business had been attended to, Aid. Stone drew attention to a complaint he had received from Mr. W. H. G. Coles to the effect that no hydrant had yet been placed on Wade street, though the Council had dealt with the matter almost a year ago.

Aid. Potter said that he had spoken to the City Engineer about this matter, and Mr. Jones told him that the waterworks department had not enough money on hand to install the hydrant. He had afterwards spoken to the chairman of the Water Board, who had told him the hydrant would be placed on the street as soon as possible.

Aid. Potter asked that the architect's account for $50 for superintending work on the new market building be paid. This was granted.

Aid. Potter said that the Property committee had gone into the matter of renting the stalls and offices in the new market hall. They had decided the prices for stalls should be $150 to $200. The butchers desired of renting these stalls wouldn't agree to pay this price, but the committee had been firm and refused to let the stalls go at a lesser rental. He had offered a fifty dollar a month for the warehouse and $10 a month had been offered for the other portions of the building. It was decided to accept this. The committee estimated that the total rental would be forthcoming from the new building without including the cost of heat, would amount to $1,140 a year. Aid. Potter said that the Council had been threatened with an injunction should they attempt to rent the space in the market hall, and he thought it would be a good idea for the Council to apply to the Government for legislation authorizing them to lease the space.

At the conclusion of the meeting Mayor Marshall announced that next Wednesday must be a holiday with the aldermen, as he had proclaimed it so. The worthy Mayor is going to treat his conferees at the Board, and the gentlemen of the press, to a gasolene luncheon outing on this occasion, and he wants all to join in the festivities. The day will be spent in fishing and duck shooting.

FORMER SLAVE DEAD

Orval Mason, colored, formerly a slave in Virginia before emancipation, passed away at the Kent County House of Refuge, Friday evening, at the advanced age of 85 years. The remains were taken to Dresden yesterday, where they will be interred.

HE IS MISSING

The relatives of Henry Benoit, who mysteriously disappeared in Detroit recently, have not since learned anything further as to his whereabouts, and it is thought that he must have committed suicide or met with foul play. Benoit formerly lived in Dover South, where many of his people now reside.

He was working as a watchman in a Detroit factory, and the morning after his disappearance, his coat and hat and the lantern which he carried, were found in the building. These were the only traces ever found of him.

Benoit had a wife and family residing at River Rouge.

PASSED AWAY

On Friday, Oct. 19th, at the family residence, 8th concession, Raleigh, after an illness of about eighteen days, Mrs. Peter Milne passed peacefully away.

Deceased, who was in her forty-eighth year, is survived by her husband and a grown up family, one brother in Detroit and a brother and sister in Aberdeen, Scotland. The family consists of one married son, Andrew, of this city, George, of Detroit, and Misses Barbara and Ellen at home, all of whom, with the exception of those in the old country, were present when the end came. The funeral, which took place on Saturday afternoon at Maple Leaf Cemetery, was largely attended, testifying to the high esteem in which deceased lady was held, who by her many Christian qualities had endeared herself to all with whom she came in contact.

CONFIRMATION IN DOVER

A very impressive service was held in the church yesterday afternoon, when the Bishop of Huron, the Rt. Rev. D. Williams, D. D., of London, confirmed a class of ten candidates presented by the Rector, Rev. T. E. Higley.

The following are the names of those confirmed:—Mrs. W. Newkirk, Lucy and George Newkirk, Mrs. J. Johnston, Miss A. Johnston, Mr. W. Down and two sons, Walter and George, Percy Clements and George Peery.

Jos. Gore gives his Account of the Stabbing Affray in Dover

IS NOT CLEARED UP YET

Joseph Gore, who was seriously slashed up by unknown men on the Baldoon road recently, was in the city to-day. A Planet reporter ran across him in Dr. Butherford's office, where he was having his wounds attended to. He is recovering nicely from his injuries, but is still somewhat crippled. His own story of the affair may be of some interest to those who read of the incident some time ago.

Mr. Gore is a quiet spoken man, of about medium height with a pair of honest blue eyes and a frank, open countenance. He was rather put out about the publicity which was given to the affair at the time.

"I wish I had seen some of the reporters myself before the thing was published," said he, "as I could have given them some of the details which they apparently were not aware of. In the first place, Joe Lague was not a personal friend of mine, and I was not around with him during the day on which the incident occurred. I met him near Calise Bechar's hotel, and he asked me if I wouldn't like to ride home with him. He afterwards asked me to hold his horses while he went into the hotel. He stayed inside for about half an hour, and when he came out we drove on to the McIntyre House, where Lague

Household Hints For Women

A Column Specially Prepared By The Planet For The Busy Housewives of Chatham and Vicinity.

THE SEASON'S FURS.

Furs this year exhibit a new big novelty note. They are no longer sufficient unto themselves. It is their trimming that counts and that designates them the latest fashion. For instance, the Russian pony, which has been stripped of its hide wouldn't even have the poor consolation of recognizing the costly garment made from it this year. And the little mink would shiver to death without the satisfaction of being able to tell his own felt that has been taken from him.

Other years furs have been combined with contrasting furs, but not so this year. Now it is fur combined with cloth, with velvet, with chiffon, with lace, that is the rage, and all trimmings, braid is the most fashionable. Suede and chamamois are also used in combination with fur.

Long full coats, many of them with cape effects which broaden the shoulders, are used for evening wear. For the daytime the shorter coats are the mode. Pony jackets in different variations are worn as well as Etone and boleros.

A NEW COMBINATION IN FURS.
Chiffon and ermine are both used in combination with such furs as ermine, sable and chinchilla in making up fancy neck-pieces and muffs to be worn with evening wraps. One mink recently imported and quite fit for our lady of millions was made of white satin, with voluminous white chiffon frills. Around the mink was a band of ermine, which was tied effectively in a bow-knot. This same bow-knot effect in fur was repeated in the neck-piece, which was also of white satin with chiffon frills.

NECK-PIECES OF FUR.
Neck-pieces of fur are more fashionable than ever. Flat boas are in demand, and many of them are finished with the little fur head and a cluster of tails. They are equally the mode, long and short.

Str. Jennie Saves 49 Out Of 150 Men On House Boat In Gale

ANOTHER BOAT WAS LOST

Key West, Fla., Oct. 22.—Survivors from one of the houseboats of the Florida east coast railway extension along the Keys tell a harrowing tale of death and destruction caused by the storm of Thursday.

W. F. Dusenbery, civil engineer in charge of the work on Long Key, who wonderfully escaped death, arrived here on the Austrian steamer Jennie, among other survivors rescued.

He said houseboat No. 4, on which were 150 men, was struck by the storm early Thursday morning, and was driven out into the gulf. The houseboat soon began to break up, and as the great waves hit her, men singly and in twos and threes, were washed into the sea and drowned. Some went below for protection, but when the top of the boat was carried away the waves rushed in and the boat soon went to pieces. Thirty or forty of the men were crushed to death in the collapse.

Men Cling to Timbers.
The others grabbed timbers to save them from drowning. Mr. Dusenbery was in the hold, but succeeded in getting a log, and floated until Friday night. To one piece of timber sixteen men were clinging; nine were hanging to another. The sides of the houseboat were crowded with men. It turned over three times, each time reducing the number.

The Jennie sighted the wreckage, and succeeded in rescuing the forty-nine men who were brought here. Three other steamers, with searchlights, were picking up dead and alive men when the Jennie left the scene.

There was another houseboat with 150 men on board on Long Key, which Mr. Dusenbery thinks was also swept to sea.

Picked Up at Sea.
Miami, Fla., Oct. 22.—The steamer Virginia, with 21 bodies from the ill-fated steamer St. Lucie, arrived here Saturday from Elliott's Key.

A partial list of the survivors of the wreck contains the names of John Peeney, Buffalo, and Joseph Jurg, Burlington, Vt.

A wireless message was received Saturday night from the Standard Oil steamer Lucas, 200 miles out at sea, announcing that she picked up at sea Friday morning, 35 miles from Flowery Creek lighthouse, seven men, all of whom were employees of the Florida Fish & Produce Co. Their boat broke loose, and they were carried out to sea, where the Lucas rescued them after a thrilling experience.

DIZZINE SS.

Various Causes That Bring About an Attack of Vertigo.
Dizziness, or vertigo—scientific writers sometimes try to distinguish in sense between these two words, but practically, in popular usage, they mean the same thing—is a disturbance of relation to the outside world, a loss of the sense of equilibrium. The sensation persists even when the eyes are closed. There is more or less inability to walk straight or even to stand still, and often there is nausea, followed by vomiting.

Vertigo is due to a disturbance, either actual or reflex, of the nervous "center of equilibrium" in the back part of the brain or in the semicircular canals in the ear, in which the terminations of the nerves coming from the center of equilibrium are distributed. For the most part, vertigo is a reflex trouble due to some impression which gets shunted off its own route, as it were, through nerve fibers connecting with the equilibrium center and acts upon the semicircular canals of the ear. Thus it is that dizziness is a comparatively trivial affection, as

OPEN PUBLICITY THE BEST GUARANTEE OF MERIT.
When the maker of a medicine, sold through a druggist for family use, takes his patient fully into his confidence, frankly and fearlessly publishing broadcast as well as on its bottle wrapper, a full list of all its ingredients in plain English, this action on his part is the best possible evidence that he is not afraid to have the search light of investigation of proper strength, being used in the roots of the American form of medicine. It is the only medicine for women's peculiar diseases, sold by druggists, that does not contain a large percentage of alcohol, which is so very harmful to woman's delicate, nervous system. Now, glycerine is perfectly harmless, and serves a valuable purpose by possessing intrinsic value all its own, and besides it enhances the curative effect of the other ingredients entering into the "Favorite Prescription." Some of the ablest medical writers and teachers endorse these views and praise the several ingredients of which "Favorite Prescription" is composed, recommending them for the cure of the very same diseases for which this world-famed medicine is advised. No other medicine for women has such professional endorsement—worth more than any number of ordinary testimonials. If in need of advice, apply to Dr. E. V. Pierce, Buffalo, N. Y., for his little book of extracts from the works of eminent medical writers and teachers, endorsing the several ingredients which make up Dr. Pierce's medicine. It is free for the asking.
