The question of television will be raised at this week's debating society meeting. The topic, "Resolved that television does more good than harm" will be debated in Room 106 of the Forestry Building, Thursday evening at 7:30.

Following the debate, judging and a general discussion will take place. Names of the judges have not been released, although Mr. Donaldson, Assistant Professor of English is expected to be one.

States Society President Carl Wallace: "The question of television has become one of the most controversial and this debate should be of general interest."

Pennants drawn must be in full color and drawn on paper 18" by 27". A cash prize of $10.00 will be awarded the winning designer.

Mike Heads List of Famous Speakers at Conference

McGill University will sponsor the first student Conference on World Affairs to be held in Canada, from November 20th to 23rd. Twenty-six universities across the nation have been invited to send two delegates each, to Montreal for the event.

Delegates to the conference will be chosen by their Student's Societies on the basis of scholarship, knowledge of, and interest in International Affairs, and participation in campus activities. Travel expenses will be shared by the Conference and the universities, while M.C.W.A. will provide accommodation for the delegates during their stay in Montreal.

General Alfred Gruenther, former Commander-in-chief of NATO forces, in speaking of MCWA, stated, "I trust that the Conference will be a great success, and I commend you for having selected this subject for discussion," and later, referring to NATO said, "It is gratifying to know that so many young Canadian citizens will have the opportunity to discuss all aspects of this important organization"

The McGill Conference on World Affairs has released the names of the men who will be addressing the Conference in each of the three Plenary Sessions. The topic of the Conference, "Aspects of Canadian Foreign Policy", will be divided under three headings, Canada and NATO; Canada and the UN; and Canada, the Commonwealth and the U.S.

Hon. Lester B. Pearson, P.C., M.A., LL.D., O.B.E. former Secretary of State for External Affairs, will deliver the opening address of the conference on Wednesday November 20th, on the first of the three topics, Canada and NATO, "Mike" Pearson, who has been called, "Canada's outstanding statesman in International Affairs" is a graduate of Toronto University and Oxford.

Argue Money

mcgill med studies cause of near riot on demand to hike student fees $5

MONTREAL CUP.—A near riot today ended a McGill University Students society meeting called to consider a five dollar increase in student executive council subsidy to the Medical Undergraduate Society.

Crux of debate hinged around MUS motion which would have amended the Student Society Constitution, giving Meds an increase of $5.00 over the present dollar grant per person to MUS.

Other undergraduate societies each receive one dollar per member.

Garth Mosher, MUS President, based his argument around the fact that differences in the Med Curriculum and academic year prevented Meds, "for the most part", from participating in regular student activities. More money was needed to organize own functions.

Louis Donolo, Student Society President and SEC Chairman, was among those who opposed change. He stressed the fact that Student Society had been formed to bring students together, and that if it became dismembered into separate groups, this function would be lost.

GEOLOGY CONFAB HERE FOR FIRST TIME EVER; SIX COLLEGES IN ATTENDANCE

The first Geology Convention for Maritime Universities to be held at UNB took place Saturday and Sunday, Nov. 9 and 10. An annual affair, representatives to the conference came from six Atlantic colleges including UNB, Mount A, Dalhousie, Acadia, Nova Scotia Tech. and St. F.X.

Official opening of the conference took place Saturday afternoon. Presented at this time were student treatises, representative of each attendant university, dealing with subjects ranging from geology through geophysics to engineering.

Who Pays?

The paint which defaced the new MacLaren Gates. Applied just prior to the Mount A-UNB football game, it has been partially removed by university authorities. The question of who did it, which raises the more important question of who pays has apparently not been solved by the administration who have made no announcement.

TOP CANADA ARTISTS HUMPHREY, ROBERTS BOTH TO BE PRESENT

FREDERICTON—Goodridge Roberts, one of Canada's leading artists, will officially open the University of New Brunswick's new Art Centre here Wednesday at 8:30 p.m.

Mr. Roberts, a member of the Canadian Group of Painters, is descended from the famous Fredericton family. He is a nephew of the late Sir Charles G. D. Roberts, and was also a relative of the late Bliss Carman.

Another well-known Canadian artist, Jack Humphrey of Saint John, will also attend the opening ceremonies.

The Art Centre, which has been an institution on the campus since 1941, has been moved into larger new quarters. It was formerly situated in an old army hut south of the Arts Building. To keep pace with the growth of the campus, the centre has been moved into a new hut, especially erected for the purpose.

It is now situated immediately south-west of the new men's residence, which is presently under construction.

To mark the opening, Director of Art Miss Lucy Jarvis has arranged a special exhibition of the work of artists who have contributed to the development of the Art Centre. Paintings in the exhibit include the work of Goodridge Roberts, Jack Humphrey, Pegi Nicol MacLeod, Fritz Brandtner, Ghitta Caiserman, Miller Britain, and other well-known artists.

"Ray" Film to be shown at Confab

The "Strange Case of Cosmic Rays", a film depicting problems surrounding one of the most intriguing phenomena of modern science, will be shown at a joint meeting of the Chemical Institute of Canada and the Physics Club. Scheduled for 7:45 P.M., Nov. 12, the meeting will take place in Room C3 of the Chemistry Building.

Member of the Physics faculty, Professor Baker will be on hand to answer any questions arising from the film.

A short meeting of the Chemical Institute of Canada is scheduled for 7:30, 15 minutes prior to the showing. UNB Chemists and Chemical Engineers are to attend this brief confab which takes place in Room C3 of the Chemistry Building.

Obituary

Foresters once! Foresters twice!
Oh, dear! Swearing's not nice.
Flam, Flam; Apologies ma'am,
A foul-mouthed group were we.
Foresters!

A death has occurred in the Forestry Association. The passing, though sudden, did not take all completely by surprise, for this fellow was not one to spare his health. His age was not known, for he seemed, to most, to have existed always. However, he was nearing that period where over-exertion can be fatal, and should have known better, especially during a week such as the one just past. But who knows when or where the Grim Reaper lurks. For years the wild fellow had made merry, and where good times were, there also was he.

Liquor was his weakness. It made him loud and offensive. Often he embarrassed pious old ladies. At Encaenial dances his aspect more than once made fair maids recoil. And at football games, especially rousing football games, his voice carried embarrassingly well.

A football game was, in fact, his undoing. The spirits and shouting were harmful in themselves, but the weather—the damp hostile weather—was what laid the poor chap low. He lingered a time, but late Monday night, at the meeting, with his friends around him, he breathed his last breath.

At that meeting the members of the Association threw out the "Foresters' Yell". A few dissented, but the majority were behind the move.

Now what? A yell is still needed, that's sure. We would be lost without one. But the old one was too profane. Something as powerful, but more—wholesome—is what we should aim for. Let's not, however, try to make good tea from dishwasher, and end up heartily singing:

Foresters once, Foresters twice!
Jumping cricket, Apple slice!
Flim, Flam; Strawberry jam!
Jolly good boys are we.
Foresters !!

Winter Carnival Crown

to carry a child's voice...

This week I am not going to make any attempt to make this column light or humorous. You will also notice that I have dropped the Editorial "we". This is because I am writing as an individual rather than as the Features Editor. I am writing about something which concerns me personally.

When the Winter Carnival started in the winter of 1955-56, the question of finances was a big one. To help alleviate the problem the Carnival Committee decided to get someone from the University to make the crown for the Winter Carnival Queen, rather than have it done professionally. The Committee approached me to do the job and, against my better judgement, I agreed.

I am not trying to say that that crown was an expert piece of workmanship. That would be ridiculous. I was much too inexperienced and my tools were much too primitive to do justice to the occasion. However, for a first attempt, I was pretty proud of it—especially when the actual crowning of the Winter Carnival Queen took place.

Anyway, the crown was used at that Carnival and at the following one last year. At the end of this second Carnival the crown and various other parts of the Queen's regalia were put in the display-cases in the Forestry Building. Apparently these cases were not locked.

At Lachine, Que., Northern Electric manufactures telephone coil wire which is as thin as a human hair...

At the same plant, Northern recently completed a mammoth custom-built power cable with a diameter of just under six inches. This cable—one of the largest of its kind ever produced—is supplying electric power to two gigantic 10,000 h.p. dredges now operating at Steep Rock Lake.

These two contrasting achievements in manufacturing are dramatic proof of the versatility of the Northern Electric Company. In addition to manufacturing electrical wire and cable, and communications equipment and systems, Northern Electric also distribute approximately 100,000 electrical products which stem from more than 1,000 separate manufacturers.

There are interesting careers—and a continual need for University Graduates—at the Northern Electric Company Limited. A letter or postcard to the College Relations Department, Box 6124, Montreal, will bring full information concerning these opportunities.

Spotlight On Harry...

Hurray for Harry !!! Did somebody ask "Who is Harry?" Well, that is easy, Harry is the chap that always gets the blame for anything that happens. Here at U.N.B. we also have a Harry, except that here it is not one person but a number of people, collectively known as the S.D.C. or in full the Student Discipline Committee.

A majority of students seems to have the idea that the S.D.C. is a group of students who are out to "nail" some other students, out of revenge or perhaps to satisfy a sadistic streak.

Such assumptions are outright childish, to say the least. The S.D.C. was revived last year in an effort to protect the students from any action against them, that could be considered to be unjust. Where formerly a student accused of certain actions would be tried by the Board of Deans without that student having a formal chance to defend himself, he now has the chance to receive a hearing before a group of students who themselves are still in a position to see what can be considered a student prank and what is an active deed of misconduct. The student can defend him or herself, can bring witnesses, can come forward with any extenuating circumstances that may exist. At present there are students who complain that unfair questions are asked by the S.D.C. Let them realize that for the committee members this is a difficult and unpleasant job, that for them to come forward with a fully justified and responsible recommendation it is necessary to have full knowledge of the exact circumstances. If a question is really unfair, it can reasonably be expected that this will also be noticed by the other members of the committee and that this will be brought forward during the discussion of the case after the hearing. It must also not be forgotten that the student who feels that he has been unjustly dealt with, after the decision has been brought down by the Board

Letters to the Editor

Dear Editor:

Stimulated by Mr. Isaac Bickerstaffe's article in the Brunswickan of November 1, 1957, I have decided not only to defend the arts course, but to promote it as the key to the door of a sound society.

Firstly, let us look at our society (or any society) and try to imagine what kind of men we would like in the governing positions. I think that, as well as a host of personal qualities such as determination, quickness, thoroughness of decision, etc., he should have a broad background of the various modes of thought and a wide knowledge of the world about him. What is better than a sound broad arts course to fulfill this need?

Secondly, we must not only consider financial rewards as a return for a worker's time and effort. Truly, the satisfaction of knowing you are doing a satisfactory thing is in ways an even greater reward. From the ranks of Artsmen come Doctors, Clergymen, Teachers, and social workers in countless lines who are using their Arts training for the benefit of society.

Thirdly, many of the highly trained—and paid—men of our society have built their foundations on a firm arts course, Medical specialists, lawyers, and administrative officials—just to mention a few.

Fourthly, in this age of materialism we often neglect to consider what we are going to do with our leisure time. You know as well as I that one soon tires of purely materialistic pleasures. Man's fullness lies in his mind. The Arts course helps us to consider new slants on the world around us, and it opens whole new spheres of intellectual thought.

We need young people with years of energy ahead to attempt to understand the broadening concepts and problems introduced by the Arts course. These people can greatly help society adapt itself to the materialistic world around us.

Yours truly,

Bicker Von Isaacstaff

WINTER CARNIVAL

ed. At all events the crown did not take long to disappear. Just exactly what the motives behind the theft were I do not know, nor are they important at the moment. Suffice it to say that some person or persons unknown stole it. At the present time nobody knows where it is or how it has suffered during the summer. All this is leading up to the fact that the Winter Carnival now has no crown for the 1958 Queen. So far they are undecided whether to hope for the return of the original crown or to have another one made. They have come to me to ask me if I would consider making a replacement. I do not especially want to go through that same process again, nor do I think it fair to the store which so generously helped to have their gifts stolen, not to mention the fact that stealing is a despicable affair whatever the circumstances. So I am appealing, on behalf of the Winter Carnival Committee, Seymour's and myself, to anyone who knows the whereabouts of the Winter Carnival Crown to see that it gets back to its rightful owners just as soon as possible, before I have to go to work and plan a new one.
