PRELIMINARY STEPS.

Origin. IN the autumn of the year 1835, the formation of a Society, under the above title, to be open to all persons of English origin, residing in Quebec and its neighbourhood, suggested itself to several Englishmen, in this City, and it was proposed, by them, to call a Meeting of their Countrymen, and persons of English descent, to devise means for carrying the plan into operation. The gentlemen, whose names appear below, were applied to, who immediately gave their signatures to the requisition (but the number might have been greatly increased had it been deemed necessary for the furtherance of the cause) and sanctioned the following advertisement, which appeared on the 13th and 14th October, in the, Old Quebec Gazette and in the Quebec Mercury, Newspapers:—

“ ST. GEORGE'S SOCIETY.

Meeting,
10th Novr.
1835.

Circumstances having prevented the Committee from preparing the Rules and Regulations, for the government of the Society, previous to the 13th of November, the Meeting was further adjourned to Friday, the 20th November, when it took place at the Albion Hotel; William Price, Esquire, was called to the Chair, and Wm. Kemble, Esquire, was requested to act as Secretary. The Chairman, after stating that the Committee which had at the previous Meeting been appointed to draw up Rules and Regulations for the government of the Society, had now completed that task, proposed "That the Chairman of the Committee now read the Report."

Which being unanimously assented to, C. F. Aylwin, Esquire, Chairman of the Committee, read the Preamble which follows, and which was, with one voice, agreed to.

The Chairman then proposed the Articles which had been drawn up by the Committee, as the Standing Rules of the Society, by reading each Article and asking the sense of the Meeting thereon. Some amendments were made and the sixteen, first, articles, as they stand copied in this book, were agreed to by the Meeting.

The seventeenth and eighteenth Articles were added at the suggestion of Messrs. J. H. Kerr and Robert Symes, and adopted by the general voice of the Meeting.

The Secretary was desired to have the Preamble and the Articles which had that day been agreed to, as the Constitution of the St. GEORGE'S SOCIETY of Quebec, copied into a book, and to deposit the same with Mr. Thomas Payne, of the Albion Hotel, for the reception of the signatures of those desiring, under the Rules of the Society, to become Members.

W. KEMBLE, Secretary.

CONSTITUTION
OF THE
SAINT GEORGE'S SOCIETY
QUEBEC.

Preamble. No sooner have natives of Great Britain and Ireland established themselves in the distant Colonies of the Empire, than they have found it imperative to unite in Friendly Societies, for the purpose of affording relief and advice to their less fortunate countrymen, whom circumstances have led to the same destination, but who, from misfortune and sickness require the aid of the benevolent.

Societies of this description have been long established in various parts of Europe—in our Indian Territories—in the North American Colonies, and in all the principal Cities of the United States. In New York, a St. Andrew's Society was formed as early as 1756, and a St. George's Society in 1786, the former of which now possesses a very considerable capital.

The peculiar circumstances of the Colony in which we live, and the number of Emigrants who annually arrive, alike ignorant of the language of the mass of the inhabitants, and unaccustomed to the climate, render it extremely desirable to institute in this City a Society on a permanent basis, and for beneficent purposes—without political objects, but of which loyalty and good feeling to all classes shall be the prevailing features.

It is, therefore, proposed to form a Society to be called "The St. George's Society of Quebec," the general objects of which shall be as follows, viz:—

1. To afford pecuniary aid to such English and Welsh Emigrants, and their descendants, as shall be in imminent need and found deserving, and as shall appear on examination not to be fairly entitled to assistance from the Quebec Emigrant Society, Church Funds, or other charitable source.

2. To comfort and relieve the sick, aged, and infirm of that descent.
 3. To assist orphans and other destitute children, and to place them out as servants or apprentices when practicable.
 4. To procure passages home, or to their friends in these Provinces, for widows and children in certain cases.
 5. To procure work for able bodied persons with families.
 6. To assist individuals in discovering their relations and connections on this continent.
 7. To afford assistance toward the decent burial of destitute persons of English and Welsh descent.
 8. To give advice to Emigrants, to prevent their being imposed on, and generally to forward their views.
 9. To keep a registration of families in Quebec and the vicinity, of English and Welsh descent occupying houses and farms.
 10. To reward good and deserving servants.
 11. Generally to do all that a Benevolent Society ought of right to do.
- Such being the local and benevolent objects of the Society of the Members to preserve and hand down the climate of the Mother Country. While they promote and cherish social and friendly intercourse with their fellow-subjects of every origin, they will not cease to venerate the land of their forefathers; and to hold up at their periodical meeting the illustrious characters to whom it has given birth, as subjects of national pride and emulation. They will cherish as dearly as in them lies, among their descendants, veneration and attachment towards the Institutions of the Mother Country, and with such principles, and founded as this Institution will be, on the basis of benevolence and charity of country—charity and good will to all—they confidently rely that its course will be beneficial, and its prosperity permanent and increasing.
