The Elections—Lagar—Marquette—Pro- venger—Selkirk—Extraordinary Con- sult of Judicial Authority—Miscellaneous.

(FROM OUR OWN CORRESPONDENT.)

Winnipeg, Oct. 3.

The turmoil of the elections being now happily over, we are beginning to settle down to our ordinary occupations. The result of the campaign in Ontario was an unmitigated surprise to all here, for, in spite of the frequent testimony brought from below of the great reaction that had set in, no one here foresaw the possibility of so mighty a change having taken place in public opinion. The general result of the elections elsewhere had a decided bearing upon the elections in Manitoba. At first it looked probable that the only consistency in what was to come would be that place would be Selkirk; but very urgent representations were sent to the leading Tories here as to the bad look of the thing in the older Provinces, and the result was that the Opposition in this Province without a champion standing up in a bold front. The result was that the Liberal Conservatives, who up to this point had worked well, now thought they had a safe game, and indifference supervened. Match with Twenty-two of Montreal.

MONTREAL, Oct. 10.—The great cricketing event of the season, the match between the celebrated Australian and twenty-two of Montreal and vicinity, was commenced upon the grounds of the real cricket club this morning. Owing to the diligent and persistent labour of Mr. Miller, of the Montreal club during the last three years, the ground of the club is in as nice a condition as could be wished for. The Australians arrived by the western train, and after having taken up their quarters at the Windsor, proceeded to the grounds, where play was commenced. Owing to the cold sharp wind which was blowing, and to the general inability of the game of cricket, there was but a small attendance of spectators. The match was expected a much larger attendance would have been in the afternoon. The Australians having won the first two innings, the Canadian brethren to the west, Mr. J. Smith, captain of the twenty-two, and Mr. J. Smith, captain of the twenty-two, and Mr. J. Smith, captain of the twenty-two.

TERRIBLE DEATH.

A Boy Impaled on a Shaft and Instantly Killed.

Between ten and eleven o'clock Thursday morning, at the corner of the Great Western railway depot, was the scene of a horrible accident. A boy about 10 years old named Owen Glasgow, who was driving a horse attached to a cart loaded with stone from the Yonge street wharf to Forsyth's yard on King street. The animal becoming restive the boy alighted and tried to lead him. As he was doing so, the horse started and ran towards the wharf, and the boy was struck by the horse's head and killed.

TORONTO, FRIDAY, OCTOBER 18.

THE OPPOSITION AGONY.

To behave with dignity and self-respect, under adverse circumstances, is a gift not vouchsafed to all men. Most people—disappointed politicians especially—are apt to be as irritable and querulous as Jon himself, without the patriarch's reason for resigning. The new Opposition is certainly in a bad case. It has been routed, horse, foot, and artillery, without the factitious aid of a great scandal. Judged solely upon the merits of a policy, and the success of an Administration on which Ministers and their organs prided themselves, the party is now without hope, and almost without resource. When Sir JOHN MACDONALD was defeated at the polls in 1874 he bowed gracefully, and, like a true statesman, to the popular will, and to await the time when calmer second thoughts and returning reason should enshrine him once more in the confidence of Canadians. There was no sign of futile rage or even momentary peevishness. He was the only able gentleman's utterance. He had been dismissed into "the cold shades," and there he was content to remain. He thought and returned reason had time to awake from their illusory dreams. When Mr. MACKENZIE assumed the reins of power, he was treated with exceptional courtesies by the Opposition. No attempts were made to embarrass his Administration; he was permitted to formulate his "policy" as he thought fit, and the Ministry and Party which had so long guided successfully the destinies of the country disdained even those ordinary means of annoyance and obstruction which Opposition leaders are wont to employ. Having for many years ruled in the name and by command of the people, Sir JOHN MACDONALD and his colleagues knew how to acquiesce in the latest expression of the popular will.

The pretence hands who have just been ignominiously ejected from office by incapacity, have not only enough of success to be maddened by defeat. If there were a statesman among them he would counsel his Party to assume the virtues they do not possess, and to strive to effect a moderate amount of temperance, magnanimity and resignation. It is another proof, were any still wanting, that the so-called Reform leaders are chameleons and not statesmen; that their primary object is power, not the vindication of principle; and that, having lost the sole property of their organization, they have nothing left but to misrepresent and abuse their successful rivals before the new Ministry is formed, and whilst the details of the policy which they have so long advocated are being discussed, to demand the formal submission of the Opposition, of a cut-and-dried tariff, but no one was willing to do the absurdity of that campaigning trap. Those who have no access to the facts and figures, kept under lock and key by Ministers, may lay down certain broad lines of policy, but no one can expect them to fill in the details. Nor is it less fatuous or unreasonable now to repeat the same old before the new Ministers have been sworn in, or even selected.

It may not be amiss to remind both the Dictator and the ex-Ministerial friends that they are no longer responsible for the course of public affairs. In pity for their sufferings the Government has removed the burden of responsibility from their shoulders, and laid it upon broader and more vigorous shoulders. It is now the rôle of the defeated to watch and wait, or, if they have misrepresented, meanwhile striving the best they can to possess their souls in patience. The new Opposition has no doubt a long and a rough road to travel in any case, but there is no necessity for making it more difficult by crooked wanderings into impassable by-paths through quagmires and morasses. That will be done, is there, but the people have resolved no longer to heed its sibilant and deceptive tongue.

The attitude of the chief organ of the late Ministry has been singularly tortuous from first to last. Those who glanced at its ex cathedra anathemas before the elections must be astonished at the somewhat different tone which it assumed when it set its feet upon the ground. It was then its one to pervert the electors, if possible, by a wilful perversion of the National Policy. It invented the begy of a tariff with duties ranging from 50 to 95 per cent; it insisted that if Sir JOHN MACDONALD attained to power, he would copy the United States scale, and by articles of the public, of honest Reformers, and that independent class who ultimately control, as well as of Conservatives, is awake, and its memory is fresh. It is not to be forgotten that the late SANDFORD MACDONALD, we deal elsewhere with the fact not likely to be forgotten for many recurring years. The system of payment to members—a measure which raised the salaries of Ministers and bribed the House to let them raise them. Still less can it be forgotten how they put the machinery of an Administrative Act into such a shape that it could be used for the base purposes of corrupt electioneering, a complicated mechanism of bribery and bullying, as no man saw not yet a month past. This tricky shirking of responsibility which has marked them belonged to the character of the head, and not to the body not to be avoided except by Ministerial deception. The tribes to dismissed public servants who might reveal unpleasant things—the toleration only too long of the conduct of Mr. MCKELAR—do they fancy these things are forgotten?

Well, the Grits of Centre Huron are warned against "over-confidence." None are to be "brought into a condition of inactivity," and a frantic appeal is made to all to work with will. Such language is reasonable under the circumstances, for it cannot be too often repeated that the chosen rulers of the Government policy will arrive soon enough. But the Government party; meanwhile if its journals cannot help their peace they had better continue to amuse themselves by indulging in sweet, delirious dreams—not to be fulfilled—of a speech return to power.

CANADA'S MISS BETSEY TROTWOOD.

Our Grit contemporaries are at present engaged in that unprofitable form of gymnastics known as beating the air. They are in a fighting mood and hit wildly out at nothing. All their strident rhetoric about the National Policy may be summed up in one sentence, which is the first in an article of a column and a quarter, insisting that the Conservative Party, and Sir JOHN MACDONALD in particular, have promised a fiscal policy by which our manufacturers should be encouraged and fostered, and bawling out ever and again, "Whereas it is as follows:— 'Conservative' as well as one accord 'attempting to back down from their 'suppression position on the Protection 'question.' This is mere impudent unvarnished nonsense. It was only on Wednesday that Sir JOHN MACDONALD was entrusted with the weighty and responsible task of forming an administration. Before a Ministry could be formed the late Parliament together. But there has hardly yet been time to form a Ministry. Was anything then so ridiculous overheard of as to cry out that the Government had promised a fiscal policy? Mrs. GLASS says you must first catch your hare. But before persons assert you refuse to 'tag' him, they ought to allow you to get him into the net. What would be thought of the man who should say of a young bride at the altar that she killed the chicken and she was about to marry and strangled her prospective family? Yet something like this is what is being done by certain Grit journals. They project themselves into an impossible position, and write out a history of wished-for events which will prove to be no more like the real events than a hawk to a hand-wasp, and they call this history the 'National Policy.' So far as we are concerned, we fought for a National Policy while the question was before the proper judges, and judgment was given. The late Parliament are we supposed to be in the mind of a Ministry which, feeling the sad giving way beneath its feet, desired to reward its supporters, with what? Not with a National Policy, providing for partisans, and it is very questionable whether patents issued at such a time and by such means, would be of any value. It is very clearly against public interest, and 'public policy' that a Ministry waiting for its appointment should be allowed to 'import' the public interest, in 'volving' the public interest, and 'public morality.' If this were true of a Ministry that had not been beaten, but was in the full enjoyment of power, it is evident that they are merely doing what is for the public interest, and that the appointments just announced are defensible and the patents valid.

On the 2nd November, 1878, some days before Sir JOHN MACDONALD resigned, the Globe thus referred to the appointment of three County Judges: "It is not necessary for us to say anything about the appointments, save what we are in the mind of a Ministry which, feeling the sad giving way beneath its feet, desired to reward its supporters, with what? Not with a National Policy, providing for partisans, and it is very questionable whether patents issued at such a time and by such means, would be of any value. It is very clearly against public interest, and 'public policy' that a Ministry waiting for its appointment should be allowed to 'import' the public interest, in 'volving' the public interest, and 'public morality.' If this were true of a Ministry that had not been beaten, but was in the full enjoyment of power, it is evident that they are merely doing what is for the public interest, and that the appointments just announced are defensible and the patents valid."

THE WESTERN ELECTIONS.

The Greenbackers in the Western States have met with terrible reverses, and it is almost safe to predict the early demise of the rag-baby. The Republicans came out straight for hard money, while the Democrats "pooled their issues" with the Greenbackers. This coalition demanded the repeal of the resumption Act, the effect of which would be the indefinite postponement of specie payments and the steady widening of the gap between coin and paper money, with a certain increase in the volume of irredeemable paper money. This was the issue, and the result will put a damper on the inflation and resumption theories, and kill out Keaneism. In Ohio, where the rag-baby was born and bred, the champions of honest money were opposed by a brilliant array of the election two years ago they had, on Congressional candidates, a majority of only 6,000, and they thought they would do well to give up. If they elected five of the twenty members who form the Congressional delegation of the State. They had to encounter a coalition of the most formidable character. There was the Democratic party, which on the State ticket had beaten them over 22,000 votes, and the Salt Money ticket which had a strength of 100,000. If they had any strength at all, it should, aided by the Democrats, have carried not only the State ticket by from 35,000 to 50,000, but it should have elected five of the six of the Congressmen. Instead of this result, the Republicans in the face of the supposed Greenbacker must have elected five of the Congressmen. In Iowa the honest money victory is even more sweeping. In 1877 the hard money men were actually in a small majority, the Greenbackers boasted that they would sweep the State this year with 10,000 majority. Instead of this, hard money has won by a majority of from 2,000 to 9,000 votes. In Indiana the Democrats have won, for here they kept out of entangling alliances with the Greenbackers. It is satisfactory to know that the reputation theories that spread among our cousins like a plague have worn themselves out in the section where they first originated. Their collapse in the East will not be long delayed. BUTLER'S campaign in Massachusetts, where money is the issue, will be seriously affected by the result of the West, and with his defeat, the cry about "bloated capitalists" and "lecherous gold-bugs" will probably cease forever. The Democrats who have been the West and the East are now be convinced of their deplorable blunder.

THE APPOINTMENTS.

What ought to be done is to establish a principle—departure from which in any case is an act of political immorality—that as soon as an Administration determines on relinquishing the reins of power, its patronage "ipso facto lapses." This was the doctrine Mr. MACKENZIE'S chief organ laid down in 1874, yet to-day it will probably be found defending the numerous appointments which have been made, and the numerous resignations. The list, so far as can be ascertained at this time, is as follows:—

Table listing appointments and salaries: Salary, Judge Tachereau, Supreme Court $7,000; Mr. W. H. Tachereau, Supreme Court 5,000; Mr. H. T. Tachereau, Supreme Court 5,000; Mr. Bell, County Judge, Kent 2,400; Mr. Laframboise, Judge, Gaspé 2,500; Mr. Bouchard, Judge, Gaspé 2,500; Mr. Webster, Collectorship at 1,400; Mr. Horton, Finance Department 2,900.

MR. MOWAT'S ECONOMY.

Mr. S. Thomas Journal is boasting of the economy of the MOWAT Administration, and seeking to persuade the electors of West Elgin that the affairs of the Province were never administered so cheaply. The financial situation of Ontario is not to be dealt with in a column or even two, but it will not take much space to show that in one very important particular, at least, our contemporary is wrong. The salaries and indemnity of the members of the MOWAT Administration, including the salary paid to Dr. RYERSON, the Chief Superintendent of Education, whose duties are now performed by a sixth Minister, were as follows:—

Table of salaries and indemnities: Attorney-General $4,000; Provincial Secretary 3,200; Commissioner of Crown Lands 3,200; Commissioner of Public Works 3,200; Minister of Education 4,000; Indemnity of five Ministers at $400 each 2,000; Per annum $32,800.

Referring to the projected alliance of the Rouser with the Conservatives in Quebec, with Protection as the basis, the Witness says:—"This is certainly a very convenient and natural time to jump the fence. We have seen that fast performed by multitudes as often as such occasions come round, and it may be looked upon as certain that instances of it will not be lacking on the present occasion."

The Bathurst correspondent of a Western contemporary thus refers to Mr. Mackenzie's surveys in that region:—"Most, or all of these parties are organized either to give a few favourites a 'soft thing' at the public expense. They arrive here about the middle of the summer, camp and go shooting for a month or so, go to a certain point, drive a few stakes, and get back to Ottawa in the fall having had a summer's picnic."

Are the Heavens falling? Read this from the Ottawa Free Press:—"There is no denying the fact that the outgoing Administration fell short of the expectations of many Reformers, who anticipated wholesale retrenchment in the public expenditure as the result of Mr. Mackenzie's advent to power, and who were naturally and properly dissatisfied with other acts of which independent Reformers could not approve." Or is our versatile contemporary preparing for another fence?

Diphtheria is very prevalent in Collingwood. A knitting factory is to be started in St. John's, Que. The Eastern Townships are doing a lively trade in the exportation of sheep. Firewood is very cheap in Quebec. It is selling at $2.50 per cord on the wharves. The rate of taxation in London Township has been fixed at six mills on the dollar. Mr. Thibault has fully resolved to contest the election of Mr. Becharin in Ilerville. Rev. Mr. Conits, Baptist minister of Collingwood, has accepted a call to Guelph. Napanee shipped 3,701 dozen eggs and 1,354 boxes of cheese last week, principally to Boston. Rev. C. C. Johnson, of Port Perry, has raspberry bushes in flower and bearing fruit in his garden. Miss Weeden, a Quakeress, one of the Ohio crusaders, was skating on temperance in Eastern Ontario. The Newburgh people are jubilant. Their taxes have been reduced from two cents last year to 1 1/2 cents this year. A passenger car is now being run on the North Hastings railway, and fencing and ballasting are proceeding rapidly. Mr. Clavey, the Liberal candidate in Missisquoi, has given up the idea of contesting the election of Mr. Baker. A by-law raising $4,000 for the erection of a model school in Bradford was voted on last week and carried unanimously. The Grand Trunk station, at Clinton, was broken into a night or two ago, but only five dollars worth of goods were stolen. A by-law granting a loan of $100 to the Boboyagan and Lindsay railway will be voted on in the Township of Harvey on the 19th inst.

A by-law repealing the Dunkin Act in Peterborough has been passed by the Town Council, and will be submitted to the ratepayers on the 20th inst. Miss Dods, an English lady of experience, is about to organize cooking classes in Kingston, where women will be taught the art of the cuisine. The Eastern Townships volunteers who were called into Montreal on the 12th of July last, are about to see the Corporation of Montreal in their pay. The iron on the Victoria Extension railway has been laid within five miles of Halliburton, and the road will be open to that place on the 19th November.

Mr. Adam Weller of Pultich, has an apple of the gloria mundi variety 5 1/2 inches in diameter, 1 1/2 inches in circumference, and weighing 86 1/2 pounds. It only takes $6,425 per annum to pay the salaries of civil officials in Stratford. The lamplighter receives twice as much as the Mayor, and the latter only gets $300. The first shipment of iron ore from the Snowdon mines, about ten tons, has been made to Sudas Point, N. Y., by way of the Victoria and Whitley & Port Perry railways.

The custom house and post office building now in course of erection has neither cellar nor vault, both of which are to be added at a cost of $10,000. The work is done by favouritism and incompetency. A man named Curry was jailed by a warrant of the St. Stephen, N. B., and a woman named Jones was arrested for debt and deep in his side. He lingered for a day or two and then died.

ITALY AND THE POPE.

The Italian Press considers the Pope's letter a deliberate programme of impact against Italian unity and institutions. The Livorno suggests that laws should be made to defend the State against Church's encroachments.

40s. PRICE OF WHEAT.

Wheat is down at the singularly price of 40s. a quarter. But it is little indeed to the population of London whether the price is low, for, as the Livorno suggests, the only appreciable effect on the price of bread in London. Farmer Turbutt looks particularly gloomy as he turns away in disgust from the prices offered to him, but he happens to come to town and looks at the London bakers' shops he will see plenty enough that his anxiety is not so much. Large numbers of people are paying 7d. and even 6d. for bread, and a surplus of 40s. a quarter, which does not weigh four pounds. No wonder, then, that an agricultural contemporary presumes to suggest that at a time when taken as low as 40s. the people of London are charged 7d. and that London should be commiserated by the Government in the prime necessity of life. Our contemporary's surprise would cease if it knew the conditions of the rural districts. It never heard of periodical meetings of farmers in different counties. They settle the price that shall be charged for the produce of the year, where the price of the produce is high, and where it is low, the price is impossible; but it is done nearly the whole of the population depend upon the baker.

CANADA IN HIGH CIRCLES.

Some time ago, writes the London Standard, the possibility that Lord Cardwell would be appointed to the post of Governor-General in Canada, and the literary journals have been confirmed what I said. I hear that some time ago, Lord Cardwell was in London, and he was seen by an open secret that the pen of the Standard and the pen of the Standard were from their arrival in Canada.

MR. GOUGH ON MODERATE DRINKING. Mr. Gough, the eminent temperance orator, says the other day, in a speech recently addressed by him to a Livorno audience, to be a little less in his opinion of his own temperance. His target at which are launched the temperance eloquence is the "moderate" habit of drinking, and he has many interesting points; he forms a full object for missionary effort, he proves a brand of beer, and he is a moderate drinker at any rate, as an example. The moderate drinker has no claims to consideration; he scoffs at the temperance cause, and he is a drunkard, while at the same time he drinks and beguiles the multitude of specious advocates of the "moderate" habit of drinking. Mr. Gough is more lenient in his opinion. He was not drunk when he spoke, and he was not drunk when he spoke. He was not drunk when he spoke, and he was not drunk when he spoke.

ACTING VILLAGE LAUNDRESS. Acting village laundress the department of T. W. Field, a young man, has been discharged after ten months as a Jeweller. He sold his stock for $200 and departed.
