Which Was The Heir?

CHAPTER XXX.

HERE was something bewitching in her quietness—the touch of reserve, the rather sad note in her sweet voice, the suggestion of melancholy in her violet eyes. When they went for a drive, or a walk on the parade, they were attended by a little crowd of admirers, who hovered about the girl as moths hover about a brilliant light; but Cottie received all the attentions paid her with a modesty and reserve which delighted Mrs. Setton and made her want to hug the girl. She knew that Cottie was rapidly stepping into that dangerous but fascinating position which is occupied by the acknowledged belle of a place. When she entered the theatre or the concert-rooms, she at once attracted attention; she was admired wherever she went, and was the star of the circle in which Mrs. Setton moved.

But through it all, through all the adoration and admiration which surrounded her like a halo, Cottie moved unconsciously; rapt in maiden meditation, fancy free. Alas! no, not fancy free; for all her thoughts were of Geoffrey, the Geoffrey who had been so good to her in those days which seemed so long ago, so far off as to be but a vague and unsubstantial dream. It was because she could not forget him that all the pleasures of the gayest watering-place in the world, all the admiration of the throng that surrounded her, left her unmoved and unsatisfied.

At the moment Cottie had fled from the sight of Geoffrey and Eva sitting there so closely together in the Hall garden, the sight which had so nearly gone to break her heart, Geoffrey had been about to speak of her to Eva, little guessing that the Ronnie of his thoughts was so near to him.

"I wanted to tell you why I came here, Miss Rashleigh," he said, with a suddenness which rather startled Eva, who was still embarrassed by the kiss with which he had expressed his gratitude. "I came here in search of someone."

"In search of someone?" said Eva. "How strange!"

"Yes; I have a— a young brother. I sent him to England—to school; but he missed his way. It's a long story, and—and you wouldn't be interested. I lost sight of him, have not heard from him, and I have reason to believe that he fell into bad hands, and so I am very anxious about him. I—well, I knew the place of old. I came to Starborough because I told him to come here. I—I was, in a sort of way, connected with it. But that does not matter," he went on, hurriedly, and with a sudden flush. "He was quite a lad, ignorant of the ways of the world, and alone and friendless. His name was Ronnie—Roland—What is the matter?"

For Eva had started, and had looked at him with heightened color ways been longing to get back to Australia and to you."

Geoffrey looked up and caught his breath.

"To get back to me?" he muttered under his breath. "Dear Ronnie! I am sure I could go to him—"

"No, no!" pleaded Eva. "You could not walk so far; and the excitement would be bad for you. You must remember that I am your nurse, still, and that I am answerable to the doctor for you, and that he would be very angry if I were to let you do anything that would make you ill again. I will send down to the cottage. There is Ripley; I will send him at once. Oh, I can't tell you how glad I am that I am able to restore him to you; and how sorry I am that I never thought of him before!"

She called to Ripley.

"Go down to Betty's cottage and ask Master Ronald to come up at once."

Ripley bobbed off, watched with a restless impatience by Geoffrey. In his excitement and longing he went very nigh to forgetting the lovely woman who had nursed him so devotedly, and who sat beside him trying to soothe his impatience.

After a while Ripley returned to tell them that the boy was out.

"He will come back presently," said Eva, "and will come up to us. Pray be calm; you don't know what harm you're doing yourself."

They waited, but no Ronnie came; and at last, yielding to his impatience, Eva gave him her arm, blushing as she did so, and they went down to the cottage. They met Betty hurrying out to the gate with an open letter in her hand.

"Oh, Miss Eva, he's gone!" she exclaimed, in trembling accents. "Was there ever such a boy! Here's a letter from him, and I can't make head or tail of it."

Geoffrey snatched the letter from her hand and read it with feverish eagerness.

"How long has he gone?" he asked.

The old woman was naturally confused and bewildered.

"It might be an hour or two," she stammered. "I've been home about that time and haven't seen him. I only went into his room chance-like, as you may say, and saw that letter."

"The station!" said Geoffrey, trying to speak calmly.

They went back to the Hall, and Eva herself drove him in a low pony carriage to the station, where Geoffrey made eager and excited enquiries.

But no one had seen a young lad in a serge suit, Ronnie had gone vanished as if the earth had opened and swallowed him, and no clue was left to guide them.

CHAPTER XXXIII.

On the night of Cottie's flight, Mrs. Farren sat beside the small fire which she had made in her kitchen grate for the autumn night was chilly; the small girl who helped her with the house-work had gone and the old woman was alone, brooding over the past. It was a somewhat confused past, but some things stood out bare enough, and the points of the history of the great family to which she was so devoted were distinct enough.

Every now and then across the phantasmagoria of her thoughts the greyed, dark-haired lad whom she had mistaken for Master Edmund fitted vaguely—perhaps it was because Cottie had been kind and gentle to her. Presently, as the darkness of which she was unconscious, descended upon the land, she heard a step coming up the gravel path.

At first it sounded a strange one to her, but presently it seemed to her vaguely familiar, and before it reached the door it had awakened painful memories—memories of the daughter who had run away from home with a man who proved to be a scoundrel, and who had been taken to prison, leaving her daughter to die.

Mrs. Farren began to tremble, and she turned her sightless eyes toward the door with fearful expectation. There was a knock at the door, then it was opened and the step ceased beside her chair. She half rose, then sank back, and, listening intently, holding her breath, asked in a hollow whisper:

"Who is it?"

There was a short, mirthless laugh then a soft, toneless voice, which made the old woman shudder, said:

"Don't be frightened, Mrs. Farren, it's only me."

She started to her feet, gasping for breath.

"Lane!" she cried, with fear and longing.

"Yes, it's me, right enough, old lady," he said. "I've taken you by surprise; there—there! sit down again, and don't alarm yourself. There's no cause to be upset. Why, dash it, you ought to be glad to see me, your son-in-law!"

She sank into the chair, clutching its arms, and turned her face to him with a terror-stricken expression on it.

"Where have you come from—prison?" she panted.

Lane, alias Sheeney, alias Captain White, scowled, and, dragging a chair to the fire, sat himself down and warmed his hands, glancing morosely at the frightened woman.

Itching Piles For 27 Yrs.

Despaired of ever getting relief until cure came 3 years ago with use of DR. CHASE'S OINTMENT.

Mr. John Johnson, Cayley, Alta., writes: "Three years ago I was cured of blind, itching piles of twenty-seven years' standing by using Dr. Chase's Ointment. I used to think that death would be the only relief I could ever get from the terrible misery of piles."

"Dr. Chase's Ointment is worth sixty dollars a box instead of six cents. I am a different man since using it. I am farming all the time now and never miss a day. Words fail to express my gratitude for the cure this Ointment made for me. I cannot tell half as much about it as it deserves. Any one doubting this can write direct to me."

Do not accept an imitation or substitute in place of Dr. Chase's Ointment, for there has yet to be discovered a treatment which so promptly gives relief from itching and so thoroughly cures every form of piles. 60 cents a box, at all dealers, or Edmondson, Bates & Co., Toronto. Write for a free copy of Dr. Chase's Recipes.

Old Folks Coughs.

Because Resisting Power is Weak Pneumonia Often Follows.

Tells of a Sure Cure and a Never-failing Comfort for Colds, Coughs, Catarrh.

One of the worst terrors of old age is that distressing chronic cough. Colds settle on the chest, are wrongly treated with drug-laden and chest-weakening cough syrups, and from year to year the condition has grown worse. Formerly the cough went away when fine weather came, but now bad weather makes it worse and fits of racking, tearing, coughing make life a burden.

Because you are old is no reason for suffering with everlasting coughing—these terrible chest troubles and difficult breathing can be thoroughly cured with Catarrhazone. You simply breathe the healing vapor of Catarrhazone and instantly its rich balsamic fumes are carried by your breath into the tiniest recesses of the nose, throat, chest, bronchial tubes and lungs.

Just think of it—a direct breathable medicine, full of soothing antiseptic pine essences that reaches every sore congested membrane in two seconds. No drugs to take—nothing to harm the aged or the infant, because Catarrhazone is the purest, safest cough cathartic and cold remedy ever devised.

Mrs. M. E. Walford, wife of a well-known grocer in East Sheffield, writes: "For three years I suffered with a hard racking cough and bronchial irritation which annoyed me so much at night I couldn't sleep. I tried many remedies, catarrh tablets, sprays, syrups, etc., but they only helped for a short time. Catarrhazone brought me wonderful comfort from the first. I inhaled its balsamic fumes every hour or two and am now free from any trace of cold, bronchitis and catarrh. I can go out in all kinds of weather and don't take cold."

There is no remedy so certain and safe as Catarrhazone, but being a good remedy it is imitated. Beware of the substitute. Large Catarrhazone last two months, price $1.00; smaller sizes, 25c. and 50c. All reliable dealers or the Catarrhazone Co., Kingston, Ont.

New Giant Ship for Cunard Line.

LIVERPOOL, April 25.—Alfred A. Booth, chairman of the board of directors of the Cunard Steamship Company, announced at the annual meeting to-day that the line was planning for another great steamer to take its place beside the Mauretania and Lusitania in the Liverpool-New York service, and that tenders have already been invited for the construction of another vessel of the Franconia type. This is official confirmation of earlier reports regarding the company's plans. On the general subject of trans-Atlantic shipping Mr. Booth said:

"The future of the New York trade lies not with the 10,000-ton cargo boats but with the 40,000 and 50,000-ton combined passenger and cargo steamers." He warned Liverpool that it behooved her to hurry up and make proper accommodations for such vessels before others stepped in and lured them elsewhere.

Where Gardening Is Easy.

I wonder why it is.

When the blizzards round us blow.

And the ice is on the lake.

And the fields are deep with snow.

We so proudly, loudly tell

Of the garden we shall own

When the days of spring are here

And the winter days have flown.

Why is it so easy then

To dig up the old back yard?

Hauling new soil for the beds

In the winter isn't hard.

Never garden was so fair.

At least now to me it seems.

As the one I planned and worked

In my pleasant winter dreams.

But the spring is here to-day

And the time has come to dig.

And my little garden plot.

Looms before my now so big.

And what seems so easy then

Is so difficult to-day.

And I'm not so sure that I

Want a garden anyway.

Romance of London.

Street Names in the Metropolis Pique the Imagination.

To the man who has read a little history, and whose imagination is slightly bigger than his hat, the streets of London are like the chapters in a tremendously long, fascinating romance written, in collaboration, by all the writers of romance, from Geoffrey Chaucer of Maunsel Hewlett. It is, of course, unfortunate that in most cases the writing on the walls has been rubbed out, as it were. Only the titles of the chapters remain in the names of the streets. But, after all, if one has read Chaucer and Shakespeare and Walter Scott, and a few old histories of London, one can fill up the text out of one's imagination and memory, writes Philip Gibbs in the Graphic.

These street names are like chapter headings which suggest that most exciting adventures, full of blood and mystery, or of love and romance, or of tragedy and comedy, or of pomp and pageantry. The strangest characters of history come slinking or swaggering along when the name of a London street gives the title to a new chapter. And many old ghosts jostle the living people on the pathway when a few letters at a street corner turn the key in the clockwork of one's brain. Yet often one is jerked up by the strangest contrasts, by the queerest incongruities, so that one laughs aloud, to the confusion of the passerby, for these street names play the most curious tricks with what is pleased to call one's imagination.

The other day, for instance, I found myself in Fashion Street, Spitalfields, and straightaway I saw a vision of the old days when the fine ladies of the town came here in their hoops and farthingales to buy their silks and ribbons. But walking from one end of the squalid street to the other I saw that it was the home of merchants and of second-hand clothes dealers.

Only yesterday, I looked up at a street corner and saw that I was in Eden Grove. It is in Holloway, and "Women shouldn't have suffrage because they age so much more than men that at forty-five they are too decrepit mentally to be capable of voting." is the latest anti-suffrage argument.

As an anti-suffrage argument, I don't think it's worth trying to disprove.

As a reminder that one class of women at forty-five are older than men of the same age, and much older than they need to be, it is an all too true statement.

And if you want to know what class I mean, just look around among the women you know and tell me if the business and professional women of your acquaintance—the nurse, the stenographer, the school-teacher, the music teacher, the book-keeper—no matter how hard they may have to work, aren't younger at forty-five and fifty and fifty-five than the woman who have been twenty or thirty years married.

Now, I am not going to ask you to draw the conclusion that it would be better for women to remain in the industrial world after marriage. I think that is a very many-sided question, and one upon which the social conditions of the future will have a big bearing.

I am not one of those radicals who say: "Every woman should have a vocation."

But I do think every woman should have an avocation—an absorbing interest outside her home.

A great specialist said recently that a majority of the case of nervous prostration and insanity among women are due simply and solely to the deadly monotony of household routine.

It is not that the women have worked too hard, he says, half so much as that their work has been too monotonous.

No woman ought to allow herself to be without some very definite interest outside her home—music, writing, some line of study, some branch of settlement work, some definite and absorbing responsibility of church work in some big cause.

It does not matter so much what the interest is, so that it be something sufficiently absorbing to keep her mind thoroughly occupied while she is doing the dishes and beds and the dusting, and the million and one little routine things that do not need her entire attention.

It seems to me that it is an active mind more than anything else that keeps people young.

A man is as old as he feels and a woman as old as she looks, they say, but it seems to me that they are both as young as they think.

And the women who are too closely shut up in the routine of a home get old so much more rapidly than their sisters in the world outside because they don't have enough to think about and their minds get sluggish.

Of course, a woman's duty to her home is first, but I think she will acquire herself of that duty better if she also performs some duty to her individual self and to the world outside.

Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription

Is the best of all medicines for the cure of diseases, disorders and weaknesses peculiar to women. It is the only preparation of its kind devised by a regularly graduated physician—an experienced and skilled specialist in the diseases of women.

It is a safe medicine in any condition of the system. THE ONE REMEDY which contains no alcohol and no injurious habit-forming drugs and which creates no craving for such stimulants.

THE ONE REMEDY so good that its makers are not afraid to print its every ingredient on each outside bottle-wrapper and attest to the truthfulness of the same under oath.

It is sold by medicine dealers everywhere, and any dealer who hasn't it can get it. Don't take a substitute of unknown composition for this medicine of known composition. No counterfeit is as good as the genuine and the druggist who says something else is "just as good as Dr. Pierce's" is either mistaken or is trying to deceive you for his own selfish benefit. Such a man is not to be trusted. He is trifling with your most priceless possession—your health—may be your life itself. See that you get what you ask for.

Fads and Fashions.

Waist of black large meshed cable net, made over white dotted net have shallow yokes of Irish crochet.

Long pearl and diamond chains are in high favor, and old cameo brooches linked together are made into collarettes.

The newest belts for shirtwaists are wider than have been worn and leather girdles of all colors are much in favour.

There is a revival of the use of velvet bags and many of plain black, beautifully mounted, are seen in the shops.

Velvet ribbon in the leading colors is combined with flowers for the trimming of hats. It is also used for belts.

New parasols of taffeta-silk are in solid colors, some with narrow tucks forming a border; others perfectly plain.

A double accordion pleated white net Jabot edged with black chinchilla lace is attractive with a half mourning toilette.

A deep hem reaching to the knees is used on many skirts of afternoon dresses, the hem being a material contrasting to that above.

A stunning parasol is of black and white shepherd's check, in rather small patterns, with a three inch border in a Dresden design.

Very practical women's motor bags of Morocco or pigskin are fitted with brushes, combs, mirrors and other toilette articles.

White butcher's linen collar and cuff coat sets, the edges scalloped with white or color are worn on silk and wool suits alike.

According to many of the new imported gowns, the founce is soon returning to favor, the two-tier skirt serving as an advance model.

Silks of every sort are being used for spring and summer frocks. Changing in the thick weaves, moire and feutard are much in demand.

Some of the new handbags are from 10 to 12 inches in length and almost equally as high, but are much smaller at the top than at the bottom.

Heavy linen is used with cotton net, cloth and silk; while linen crash often serves as a foundation for embroidered yokes, gumpies and vests.

One of the pretty new silk and cotton materials, is illusion silk that comes in all colors for street and evening wear at remarkable low prices.

Foulards, plain and figured, are allied with great success. The deep hem reaching to the knees is a happy solution of the problem of contrasting silks.

A most serviceable frock is a pale gray cloth of the finest texture with a dainty bodice. Such a gown accords well with almost any kind of a hat.

Voles of extremely large mesh called "toile endee" are much in vogue for afternoon wear, as are also chiffon over cashmere designs and changeable silks.

The lace founce imparts the decorative note as a skirt trimming upon many new evening gowns. The founce is usually headed by a wide band of embroidery.

Got Father Morrissey's "No. 10"
Just in Time To Save His Life.

Mr. Aylward's letter tells the story: Campbellton, N.B., Feb. 5, 1909, Father Morrissey Med. Co.

During the winter of 1907, while travelling on the Gaspé Coast, I contracted a severe cold which settled upon my lungs.

After I returned home I wrote to Father Morrissey explaining my case. I received a letter from him with a prescription for his medicine, which could not be filled at the time here. After one week's delay I received it, just in the nick of time to save my life. After one month's use I felt like a new man.

Yours truly,
Jno. Aylward.

There is not much time to lose when a cold settles on the lungs. Pneumonia kills within a week. With Father Morrissey's "No. 10" at hand, you don't even have to wait for a doctor. "No. 10" cures all throat and lung troubles. It is a real Lung Tonic, and fortifies against future attacks. Trial bottle 25c. Regular size 50c, at your dealer's, or from Father Morrissey Medicine Co., Ltd., Chatham, N.B.

Are Your Children Puny?
Suggestive Letter to Parents

Nature is not often at fault. Stupidity and thoughtlessness of parents are responsible for many of the half-dead men and women we meet.

Their fathers and mothers did not supply the aid that would have set their body activities into full force to develop vitality and rugged strength.

Mrs. Timothy Bristow writes a letter that should set thousands of parents thinking. "My boy and girl, fourteen and sixteen years old, looked pale and puny. They seemed not to care for play like neighbours' children. They were too effeminate and lacked something I would have liked to see them possess. I don't know what put it into my head, but I gave up making cookies and sweet dishes, and it didn't take me long to see they were eating more of the right kind of food. I just thought I would give them some of my own tonic, 'Ferrozone,' and was delighted with the result. Such an appetite it gave them! They grew fairly fat and had a lovely pink color. I think when such a good tonic as Ferrozone is available, there is no excuse for delicate children. Certainly lots of nourishing food and Ferrozone, will give a child a great chance to grow up hearty and strong."

And Ferrozone is a good tonic for old folks too—it's full of nutrition and blood-building properties and makes the weak strong very quickly. Try one or two tablets with your meals. Fifty cents per box, six for $2.50; all dealers or The Cattarhogue Co., Kingston, Canada.

Subsidies for Canadian Associated Press.

The subsidies provided are according to the following scale: For twelve months terminating June 30th, 1911, $12,000; for the following twelve months, $8,000; for the following twelve months, $6,000, and for the twelve months terminating June 30th, 1915, $5,000.

A Royal Luncheon.

The King of Italy has very frugal habits, and on one occasion, when out unting, his love of simplicity led to an amusing incident.

The King was quite alone, and after walking about for some time without obtaining any sport, he was at last lucky enough to shoot a fine chamois. A peasant boy who had seen the animal fall into a chasm offered to fetch the carcass for King Victor, although he had no idea of the identity of the sportsman.

"Very well," said His Majesty. "I will wait here."

"But what will you give me, signor?" asked the lad.

"What do you want?" said the King smiling.

"Oh, a franc and half your luncheon," replied the lad.

The bargain was struck and the boy went off down the mountain side, and soon returned with the body of the chamois.

The King gave him a franc, and then proceeded to divide his lunch into equal portions; but the peasant, when he saw what King Victor had to eat, turned away contemptuously, for the lunch consisted of a small loaf of black bread and a large raw onion.

"No, thanks, none of that for me," exclaimed the lad. "I thought you were a gentleman, but I see you are only a poor fellow like myself."

SOUR STOMACH IS A SIGN OF INDIGESTION

Dr. Bover's Herb Tablets

If you occasionally have a taste of sour food in your mouth, it surely shows that the food you are taking into your stomach is not being digested, but instead is fermenting and giving out poisonous gases.

Belching of gas is a common symptom at such times, and also that lump-of-lead feeling, as if your stomach was carrying a much greater load than it could stand.

These are sure symptoms of indigestion, and should be attended to at once.

Dr. Bover's Herb Tablets cure by removing the cause. They build up the stomach so fast that in a few days the blood, nerves, muscles, and the entire body receives increased nourishment, which results in a clearer complexion, bright eyes, more energy and hopefulness.

Agricultural Policy.

This morning we had an opportunity of perusing the speeches of the Minister of Agriculture, the late Minister of Agriculture and the Premier on the Agricultural Bill of last session. The chaff of the first speech was abundant, the wheat measure. The Government policy is to establish Agricultural Societies in all the districts, and to provide jobs for three or four men to assist the people by advice in the carrying on of their farming. Stock and seed will be distributed to the Societies. The secretaryship of the Societies will be assigned to teachers by seniority, and they will receive $20 a year salary. "It is also proposed to make the study of agriculture by pupil teachers compulsory, and further, to have it placed in the syllabus of the C.H.E." The Minister of Agriculture is evidently oblivious of the fact that agriculture has been on the syllabus of the C.H.E. for the past fifteen or sixteen years. Pupil teachers are to be stimulated to special efforts by the offer of six prizes of $20 each. One thousand sheep, 50 bulls and 150 pigs are to be distributed to the Societies. The Minister also mentioned that the Government would import a machine to thresh oats.

Mr. Pascoe Wills Dead.

Mr. Pascoe Wills, one of the oldest men in the city, died last evening at 6 p.m. at his late residence, Water St. West. He was 84 years of age and was quite active up to the day of his death. Yesterday he was able to get about the city and visited several of the stores, chatting pleasantly, as was his custom. He was a carpenter by trade.

Accident on Euphrates.

An accident occurred on the s.s. Euphrates this morning when coping from Bell Island. The derrick boom fell and struck one of the crew on the head, injuring him severely. It also fell on a trunk belonging to one of the passengers and broke it, obliging the company to pay $4.50.

CAPE REPORT.

CAPE RACE, To-Day. Wind east, light, weather foggy. A three masted schooner was sighted here during a clear at 6 a.m. steering west. Several small pieces of ice are drifting about, been breaking from berg off here. Bar: 29.66; ther. 38.

Buy It Out and Widen the Roads.

Editor Evening Telegram.
Dear Sir:—You will probably have noticed that preparations are being made to repair and alter the house at the Cross Roads, known as "Mrs. Torphy's." A foundation is being excavated in front of the present building, which points to the fact that the house intended to be erected shall project further out towards the town than the present one. It must have been apparent to everyone who lives in, or visits, the West End of the town, that the junction of the Waterford Bridge and Topsail Roads at this point is dangerously narrow, and that it is greatly for the benefit of the city that this house should be removed and that the ground occupied by it and that in front of it should become part of the street. Only those who live in the West End, perhaps, are aware of the extent to which the traffic over the Waterford Bridge and Topsail Roads and leading into the town at this point has increased of late years, and the narrowness of these roads and the steepness of the Topsail Road near the junction is becoming yearly more dangerous. The arguments in favor of the purchase of this property by the city become plain upon a mere sight of the locality. Now if the Council should permit a new and improved building to be erected in this place, it will become almost impossible for the city at any future time to purchase this property, for the improvement will materially enhance its value, and in the event of a purchase the city will reap no advantage from the expense incurred in perpetuating an obstruction to the highway. A petition is being presented to the Council praying that it will take steps, either to acquire this property now, or take such action as shall prevent its being impossible to acquire it in the future. The matter deeply concerns the city, and I beg that you will use your influence to impress upon the Council the necessity of dealing with the matter promptly and energetically and in such fashion as shall conserve the interests of the public, and still do no injustice to the owner and occupier of this land.

POLICE COURT NEWS.

In the police court to-day four ordinary drunks were discharged and a disorderly was fined $1 or 3 days. A disorderly who entered a place where a meeting was being held last night was remanded until to-morrow for the obtaining of more evidence. The man Morgan, whose horse was left on Pleasant Street and taking flight ran away injuring Jas. McDonald, was fined $10 or 30 days. A party who assaulted and kicked a woman on Battery Road was fined $5 or 14 days. MINARD'S LINIMENT LUMBER-MAN'S FRIEND.

The N. S. S. & C. Company's Exhibit.

The rich specimen of iron mine at Bell Island, which the Nova Scotia Steel & Coal Co. contributes to our colonial exhibit will prove a most interesting feature in the Newfoundland Court at the Festival of Empire. It is a core from the hematite beds of the Wabana mine and shows the rare mineral qualities of the Company's possessions, it is doubtful indeed if any mine in the world can excel it.

The case in which the core is set up is an excellent piece of workmanship and will do credit to our native artisans. Its design is obelisk (Cleopatra's needle) and on its base is inscribed and gilded the following:—"Diamond drill core showing upper 14 ft. of lower red Hematite bed in the submarine areas of the Nova Scotia Steel and Coal Co. Ltd., Wabana, Newfoundland, Drilled March 10th 1910. Note—This section is secured at a point 1050 ft. below sea level and 5,500ft. out to sea, or north from the place where the submarine slopes pass under the water.

The bed is protected here by 875ft. of solid rock cover, consisting principally of shales interbedded with thin beds of sandstones. The total thickness of the bed is from 20 to 30ft." It was taken down to the museum last evening and photographed by Mr. H. Holloway, many visitors expressed their admiration of the exhibit, and of the case, which is an ornament in itself. Mr. John Callahan, of Callahan Glass & Co., who designed the case was, at special request of Mr. Chambers, manager of Wabana—photographed standing by the latest piece of his superior handwork, which does honour to our home industries. The lettering on the case was cut by Mr. D. C. Carroll, and contains 430 letters. It is a splendid piece of workmanship after the exhibition it will be presented to a school of mines in England.

The Reason Why.

Owing to the fact that the day on which the St. Bon's sports come off would be the most eligible for the holding of the Brigade Day and as the C.C.C. Band and the College Company will have to attend the fete, the officers of the four brigades last night decided to abandon the idea. They did not under any circumstances wish to clash with the St. Bon's people.

Peary and Bartlett Presented With Medals---Great Reception.

Special to Evening Telegram.
LONDON, May 4.
Before a vast audience which filled every corner of the Royal Albert Hall, The Royal Geographical Society to-night presented Commander Robert E. Peary, with a special gold medal of the Society, and through its President welcomed the American Explorer as the first and only human being who ever led a party of his fellow creatures to a Pole of the earth. A silver replica of the medal was presented to Captain Robert A. Bartlett. When the two explorers entered the hall accompanied by the President of the Society the great audience arose to welcome them, and gave them a reception befitting national heroes. Cheers followed on cheer, and the ladies who outnumbered the men waved their handkerchiefs, and it was some minutes before President Darwin, who occupied the chair, with Peary and Bartlett on either side, could get a hearing. He briefly introduced Commander Peary and declared amid a storm of cheers, as the representative of the Royal Geographical Society, he welcomed him as the only man to lead a party to the Pole. Commander Peary prefaced his speech with a tribute to the British explorers who for centuries made such splendid efforts to reach the Pole and who had paved for those coming after. At the conclusion of the lecture, which was enthusiastically received, Sir George Nares, Vice-Admiral, who commanded the Challenger Expedition in 1873, moved a vote of thanks which was seconded by Admiral Sir Lewis Beaumont, the veteran Arctic explorer, and Captain Robert E. Scott, who will command the British expedition to the South Pole this year. Sir George Nares and Sir Lewis Beaumont in brief speeches recalled the rigors of Arctic travel, and warmly praised the Commander for the courage and self sacrifice he displayed and heartily congratulated him on his great achievement. Men who had been in the North before, Sir Lewis said, watched Peary's work with interest which had grown into admiration. Capt. Scott, spoke of the debt the present day owed to the American. When presenting the medal President Darwin said: "America may well be proud of its own Peary as a citizen." The inscription on the medal read: Presented by the Royal Geographical Society for Arctic Exploration, 1886-1909.

CHINESE RIOTING PLANNED.

Special to Evening Telegram.
SHANGHAI, May 4.
The recent rioting in the Province has placed the Chinese Government in an embarrassing position, regarding the proposed Hankow-Canton Railway Loan. Evidence accumulates that the disturbance was deliberately planned by influential personages, as a warning to the central authorities not to meddle in the affairs of Hunan Province, and to make plain the determined opposition of the Hunanites to foreign participation in the railway construction. Millions of the Chinese are imbued with the idea that the Government is yielding weakly to foreign influence which is seeking political control in China. Pekin realizes the situation, and while desiring to proceed with the railway agreement understands that hasty action by the Government might be followed with most serious consequences. A protracted delay appears inevitable. It appears that the instigators of the rioting employed a large band of revolutionists, who used the scarcity of rice, as a pretext to stir up a popular and hostile demonstration. The destruction of property and the looting had been carefully planned. Outwardly the situation in Changsha and the adjacent country is improving.

Canadian Parliament Prorogued.

Special to Evening Telegram.
OTTAWA, May 4.
The second session of the eleventh Parliament of Canada was prorogued this afternoon by His Excellency Earl Grey with all the accustomed pomp and ceremony, military escorts, booming of guns, and a large attendance of the Capital's militia headquarters' staff in gold lace and braid, which gave color to the scene in the Senate chamber. His Excellency read the Speech from the Throne in English and in French, reviewing the work of one of the most important and fruitful sessions since Confederation, in respect both to the largeness of the issues and the issues involved and the amount of useful and far-reaching legislation put through. A feature of the 6 months' session was the presentation to Earl and Lady Grey by the assembled members of the farewell address of appreciation and good will passed by both Houses yesterday. The address on behalf of the people of Canada to the retiring Governor-General and Countess Grey was read in English and then in French.

P. C. O'Driscoll Contradicts Report.

Editor Evening Telegram.
Dear Sir:—Please contradict false statement made in your paper last evening that one hundred dollars worth of goods had been stolen from Mr. M. F. Carroll's residence, where I held an auction on Tuesday last. Such a statement should not be published without first ascertaining from me if it were really correct. The item referred to was a reflection on our people and I resent such disparaging statements especially in our own papers.
Yours truly,
P. C. O'DRISCOLL.

We would draw the attention of the Board of Health to the disgraceful condition of that very necessary building, off the public wharf near Victoria Street. If arrangements cannot be made with some person to have this place properly cleaned up and lined at regular intervals, then the police should be instructed to visit it occasionally and report when it is in need of attention as it is at the present time. Public health demands this, and it must be done.

Owing to some little repairs in the engine room of the Archibald Bros. Shoe Factory, work was closed down yesterday forenoon, but at 12.30 the whistle sounded the signal to the help that everything was in readiness to resume work. The output of footwear from this factory for the month of April was the largest on record, being 5,340 pairs. All the machines are running like clock work under the able supervision of the firm's machinist, Mr. H. D. Archibald.

The confirmation services in Christ Church, on Monday night, and in St. Paul's last night were largely attended by our citizens generally. A large number of children and several adults were confirmed by His Lordship Bishop Jones.

Mrs. W. Spracklin, of Boston, is here on a visit, the guest of Sergt. and Mrs. Spracklin.

Mrs. Andrew Parsons goes to St. John's by to-morrow's train, where she will reside in future.

Constable Miffin has been transferred to another part of the district, and goes by to-morrow's train. Constable Miffin is one of our most efficient officers, and his friends are sorry to have him removed.

The Defence of Carbonear Island.

Among the beautiful works of art which have been taken and finished by Mr. J. C. Parsons, at his studio, is one of the greatest historic significance, viz., Carbonear Island, the Gibraltar of British North America. It will be sent to the Festival of Empire, and, from a historic standpoint, will take precedence to all others.
It was there in the year 1696 that 200 Newfoundlanders, under Pynn, successfully defended the Island against D'Iberville and his French invaders, and compelled them to retreat, thus preserving British supremacy on this side of the Atlantic. Carbonear Island may be truthfully looked upon as the corner stone of the Great Empire beyond the Seas, and it is to be hoped that the Newfoundland delegates at present in England will bring this fact prominently before His Majesty as well as the Government of England. There is not to be found in all history, ancient and modern, such an exhibition of bravery, daring and skill as was performed by those brave defenders, and when we view the fact that they were only Newfoundland fishermen trained in the arts of war, the deeds of Leonidas and his heroes at Thermopylae, which have been handed down to posterity, pale into insignificance, because the Spartans were trained to war, whereas the Newfoundlanders conquered by their invincible courage, daring and perseverance alone.
Such a defence will stand alone in the annals of history, but unfortunately it has never been given due prominence, not even in our school-books.—Com.

THE KOHLER AND TONK Pianos are famous and their agencies are world-wide. Hundreds of users in Newfoundland can confirm their splendid points and should be better than one solitary opinion. Call and see them at the White Piano and Organ Store. CHESLEY WOODS.

MARSHALL BROTHERS NEWFOUNDLAND AGENCY.

A MOTHER'S CROWN

TRANSLATED FROM THE SPANISH OF SEVERO CATALINA.

BY JOSEPH E. RAY.

Note:—Next Sunday is being celebrated throughout the whole of Canada as "Honour Mother Sunday." Do you remember the years of your childhood? Do you remember those peaceful hours when the soul was untroubled by cares, when the heart was free from anxiety, and you reclined upon the breast of a woman? Do you remember the tenderness with which that woman caressed you, how she pressed your baby hands, and with her lips touched your snow-white forehead with a kiss? Can you recall how many times she lovingly wiped away your tears and rocked you to sleep with a lullaby of love? O, yes, it is still lingering in your memory! They who have the privilege of still seeing that woman upon the earth recall those kindnesses every hour. Her name is written on the heart; it is sweeter than any other word in the dictionary. The name of mother represents to us that woman upon whose bosom we peacefully laid our heads; that woman who caressed us, that pressed our hands in hers, that kissed our forehead, that wiped away our tears, and finally rocked us to sleep in her arms to the sweet tones of a lullaby. A thousand times blessed are those who are yet able to behold her in reality! You, too, who have lost your mother can see her if you have heart and imagination. You can see her in your happiest fancies. When the stars of the night fling their splendour across the earth, imagine that they are the sweet and tender eyes of your mother looking on you from heaven. When you see in the heavens a snow-white cloud like a slender gauze sustained by two angels, imagine it is the soul of your mother beholding you from heaven with a smile of love. When in the calm of evening you hear an echo die in the distance, and the air is undisturbed by the song of bird, and the murmur of the wind, kneel down, and imagine it is the flutter of prayer that your mother breathes for you from heaven. If on a summer's night your brow is fanned by a gentle breeze that thrills you with pleasure, which is not the breeze from the hills, nor the balsamic breath of the flowers, imagine it is the breath of purity and fondness that your mother breathes on you from heaven. Though death may rob you of your mother, she will ever exist if you have heart and imagination.

Do You Know Your Ailment

Or is it a complication which can be reached only by DR. CHASE'S KIDNEY-LIVER PILLS. There is only one medicine that can prove thoroughly satisfactory in complicated ailments of the liver and kidneys, and that is Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills. They begin by regulating the bowels and awakening the action of the liver, thereby effecting a thorough cleansing of the excretory system. By thus removing the poisons from the system they lighten the work of the kidneys and gradually restore them to health. Nobody who once learns of the definite and certain action of Dr. Chase's Kidney-Liver Pills in regulating and invigorating the kidneys, liver and bowels, is willing to take chances by experimenting with other medicines. Such ailments as biliousness, constipation, chronic indigestion, liver complaint and kidney disease yield readily to this treatment. "A Delightful Pastime" is the verdict of those who have purchased a Columbia Zither. It is a very fine zither, graceful in shape, and in every way a charming musical instrument. It is finished in polished black ebony, the same as a fine piano. Makes a beautiful gift for holiday or birthday. In a few short evenings you can learn to play the Columbia Zither with facility and ease. The lower notes are tuned in groups of chords. The higher notes render the air while the chords produce the accompaniment. For sale by Arthur B. Walker, Sole Agent for Newfoundland and Maritime Provinces. One month's free lessons at the studio, 18 New Gower Street (Aldion House). Note: Toy zithers and small autoharps cost less, but the Columbia Zither excels in size and durability, combines the tone qualities of the guitar and mandolin. Can only be obtained from Arthur B. At the T. A. Hall.

Mrs. H. Innes and her company produced "Leah Kleshna" at the T. A. Hall last night. A large audience was present, including His Excellency the Governor and suite. The characters were faithfully portrayed and Mrs. Innes starred again. She was ably supported by the talented company. The C. C. C. band was in attendance and played some very fine airs. At the close of the performance His Excellency arose and publicly thanked Mrs. Innes for the good work she had done in the cause of charity since coming to St. John's, inasmuch as she had staged several plays and all the money received was devoted to charitable purposes. Mrs. Innes will shortly be leaving Newfoundland. She will be greatly missed by her friends.

Are Now Getting Ready

Most of the fishermen out at the Battery have their trap berths for the summer secured, and all the fishermen of the city and suburban boats are busy getting their nets and places repaired for the season's work, and putting traps in their berths of last year. Men fishing out of this last year did very well. There were a large number of craft mostly from Trinity Bay fishing from this port, and their number will likely be increased the coming summer.

Halley's Comet Is Near Us!

According to the prophesying of the Astronomers this is the month, and the day is not far, when our Mother Earth will have to face this visitor. Fifteen hundred million people are fearing that our mother should not be destroyed, then they may have to go to the place from where no one came back. But we say the earth can not be destroyed (See Psalms, Chap. 1.4.) one generation passeth away and another generation cometh; but the earth abideth forever. So you can still go to E. Friedman to get your Clothing, Dry Goods and Furniture for cash or credit. E. FRIEDMAN, 201 Water St., Water Side. Phone 546. P. O. Box 5.

Rescued His Comrade.

As a boat, containing 4 men, was going across the harbour on her way to the schr. Nina L., yesterday afternoon, one of the occupants on standing up toppled over and went into the water. The boat shot ahead a considerable distance, when Peter Power, one of the quartette, fearing the immersed man would drown, jumped over after him and succeeded in holding him above water until he was pulled on board the boat.

KEEP MINARD'S LINIMENT IN THE HOUSE.

Died at Cobalt.

Yesterday Rev. Fr. Pippy of St. Patrick's Church had a telegram stating that Mr. John Buzzan of this city had died at Cobalt of typhoid fever. Mr. Buzzan, who was an expert miner, was well and favourably known in the West End and had been at Cobalt for some time. Last year he contracted fever there and after convalescence returned here to recuperate. He left for Cobalt again last fall and contracted the fever again some weeks ago with fatal results. Finding himself dangerously ill he telegraphed for his wife, who was with him when the end came. His family reside here and Father Pippy broke the sad news to them on receipt of the message. Mr. Buzzan had some mining property near Cobalt, was a well-to-do man and was on the high road to fortune. The body will be brought here for interment. The Telegram extends its sympathy to his bereaved family.

Returned to Brent's Cove.

Bryan Connell returned home to Brent's Cove by the S. S. Prospero yesterday, having being in the General Hospital for the past three months undergoing treatment for an internal malady. He is now almost fully recovered, thanks to the attention of hospital authorities. Connell had been working at Grand Falls during the early part of the winter, but was obliged to give up the job and enter the hospital there where he remained about three weeks, when it was decided to send him to the hospital here.

Thought Him Dead.

Last evening at 8 o'clock the police received a telephone call saying that a man was lying on the road near Boggy Hall, and it was feared at first that he was dead. Sergt. Mackay and Officer Fagan drove to the scene in a cab and found that the man had an overdose of alcohol, and they drove him to the police station.

The schr. Lief, of Denmark, arrived here yesterday from Dysart, Scotland, with a load of coal to Burns Johnston & Co. after a run of 17 days. She had rough weather for a while but sustained no damage. Several other Danish vessels left with her but she beat them all.

SHANNAHAN ON THE "FIRST AID" FAD.

"I suppose," said Tucker, "you heard tell of the new society called the 'First Aid to the Injured.' I see by the papers that all the gentry are on the list, but though I've scanned it pretty closely, not a tradesman or fisherman or laborer can I find there. In fact I don't see the name of Mr. E. M. Jackman, the man who did more to aid the sick and injured while he was member than the whole jolly fit-out of them. I have seen that man at the railway station at all times and in all weathers, freeze or blow, rain or snow, he was there awaiting the arrival of the train on which there would be a constituent, or a constituent's wife or son or daughter, who would be coming to the Hospital. Why he is not on the list I don't know, but I suppose it is another sample of man's inhumanity to man. Sure, I might ask also why he was defeated in Piacentia. It's a fool of a man that will lose any sleep over politicians or constituents, for the run of a government, any government is only for a limited time, and suppose you stood on your head for four years to please the crowd, when the time comes the government goes, so there you are."

"What is the business of this First Aid Society?" asked Mrs. Tucker. "What are they going to do, give out grub in the winter, or give us free lectures on opening our windows?"

"Not at all," says Tucker. "Do ye women ever read the papers; or if ye do read them, have ye any brains to retain the information—the valuable information that they publish? The 'First Aid to the Injured' Society is a society to help people in a hurry. They don't wait till your good and dead to come over to look at you, nor do they wait to send wreaths to you just before you're buried. Oh no! This society will be composed of smart athletic men and women—men who are not altogether what you'd call athletes, but men who one time in their life pulled on the pond or gave a ham as a prize for the greasy pole on the day of the races. These people don't want to be placed on the shelf, as it were; they want to be in the swim. It's too hard a job for them to contest an outboard district, and then that is a very uncertain game; so the only safe way to get in the public eye is to join this grand society. Supposing it is the day of the races," said Tucker, "and I stop home to shingle my house, all the First Aid Society are down to the races, and supposing, for instance, the scaffold that I got rigged up gives way about twenty minutes to two and I come down head over heels to the ground, no one is allowed to pick me up only one of the society, and as I said before, all that crowd are down to the pond, and I have to wait till the races are over before I can receive any aid. Or supposing—" "That will do," said Mrs. Tucker. "You're a daisy for taking things wrong. You'd better make some further inquiries about that society before you let any one else hear you talking in that style. We are living in a grand age," said Mrs. Tucker. "Just the same. Before now you never knew how much a captain made at the ice, but now you get it in black and white. I see Capt. Keam made $3,600, a pretty nice bill; but somehow or other it hardly looks square that one man gets $3,600 for his share and another $154 for his. Brains are a wonderful thing. But I don't think they are worth that difference. Sixteen hundred dollars more divided between the men and taken off the captain would appear square to me. But what's the use of talking, you can talk till you're black in the face and no one minds you if you haven't a pull."

"Having a pull," said Tucker, "reminds me of one time I was chairman of a political meeting, and while the contest was on merchants, who were interested in our party, used to nod to me, in fact they sometimes went as far as to speak, while a half-holiday smile like a penny candle came over their phizes; but as soon as the election was over and we were turned down, those important men froze up again as hard as nails, and now they pass me like a cow that lost a calf. But I suppose they think we'll thaw out when they want us again. They say to themselves, 'I can get that fellow at any time.' But I would advise those would-be high-falutins to keep us thawed while we're thawed, for it might be difficult to find out just where we are frozen."

Sixty Feet in Air Asylum Patient Laughs at Guard.

Perched on the roof of a building, 60 feet in height, and turning a deaf ear to the threats and cajolments alike, a patient of St. Benoit's Asylum gave his keepers a very anxious and exciting time of it this morning.

When finally the import of the messages directed at him dawned upon him, he threatened to join his pursuers by the long jump route, if any attempt were made to capture him. The officials of the asylum were not in favor of this mode of transit and used every effort to wheedle him into a more reasonable state of mind. All efforts, however, proved futile and it was not until it occurred to one of them that, perhaps, a more determined stand should be taken that the patient was induced to descend from his perilous position by means of the ladder he had employed to reach the high altitude earlier.

An unloaded revolver was brought into play and the man was told that, unless he came down within a certain time, he would be shot. This was not particularly to his liking and he descended, much to the relief of the officials of the asylum.

The affair was witnessed by a crowd of spectators, who were thrilled by the dramatic action of the scene, but who shared the relief of the man's keepers when he finally reached terra firma.

Brave Mother Saves Children.

Moncton, N. B., April 27.—Fire this morning destroyed the house of William Brown, Georgetown, two miles from the city, with a loss of $3,500, and the insurance amounting to $1,500. The furniture was damaged to the extent of $1,000 with no insurance. It is supposed that tramps, who were lurking about yesterday, set fire to the Brown home. The blaze was first discovered by Mrs. Brown, who was awakened at one o'clock by a bright glare. She carried one of the children through the flames to safety and later returned for another one. For a time it seemed as if she could not make her way from the burning building, and finally had to break open the front door window and escape by that means.

Here and There.

ROW AT LIME STREET.—Two clerks who had imbibed too freely had a fierce set to on the head of Lime Street last night. They pummeled each other severely. They were pretty badly cut about the face and had to be parted by bystanders.

A FIRE ALARM.—At 11.30 to-day an alarm of fire was turned in from box 231, bringing the Central and Eastern firemen to the residence of Mr. Greene, Merrymeeting Road. A few sparks from the chimney alighting on the shingles set fire to them. A few pails of water quenched the blaze.

GETTING NEW BOILER.—The s.s. Mary, which plies between this port and Bell Island, is having a new boiler, made by the Angel Engineering Co., installed. It is one of the finest boilers of its type ever made in the city and will greatly accelerate the speed of the ship.

KNIGHTS OF COLUMBUS.—Messrs. C. O'N. Conroy and Cyril Cahill of this city, and Rev. Dr. Whelan and Mr. O'Brien of Harbor Grace leave by this evening's express for Moncton, N.B., where a general convention of the Knights of Columbus of Canada will take place. These gentlemen will represent the Councils established in the Capital and Harbor Grace.

Colossal Spring Cleaning.

What it Costs to Sweep the "Cobwebs" From Clubs, Big Public Buildings, and Palaces.

Spring cleaning is the biggest job of the year for every housewife in the country. But the largest and most wholesale private house cleaning sinks into insignificance compared with the annual task of renovating a great club or a public building like the British Museum reading room, or the House of Parliament.

Take the Carlton Club for instance. Once a year the members are turned out for the space of three weeks, while a small army of cleaners, washers, dusters, and decorators are let loose within the immense building. There is over an acre of wall space to be cleaned down, and more than 2,000 square feet of windows to be washed, besides ten thousand books to dust.

The floors and passages have an aggregate area of 13,000 square feet, and all this is carefully washed, while the carpets and rugs are cleaned by vacuum process. It takes twenty men to handle the enormous Axminster in the morning-room. As it weighs two and a half tons, this is not surprising.

All the clocks, of which there are about three score, are taken to pieces and cleaned. So are the billiard tables. The china and crockery and cooking utensils are inventoried, repaired, and broken pieces replaced. The chimneys are swept, and it may be mentioned that one item of the cleaners' account is half a ton of soda.

£750 for Beating Carpets.

Large as is the Carlton Club building, it is nothing compared with the House of Parliament. A staff of 45 charwomen are always at work cleaning and scrubbing the endless passages and rooms. The House does not get a regular spring clean, but during every recess there is a great turning out. Beating the carpets costs £750 a year, cleaning the windows costs a couple of hundred, and the total bill for keeping the home of the Mother of Parliaments in apple-pie order amounts to a trifle of £55,000.

Three years ago Olympia had its first thorough cleansing since the day it was built, about a quarter of a century before. The great height of the roof proved a bar to the employment of ordinary workmen, so the services of sailors were requisitioned, and about ninety were set to work, at a height of 140 feet, in travelling cradles. They dislodged from the rafters more than ten cartloads of fine dust.

After the cleaning had been finished thirty tons of paint were used to decorate the girders and woodwork, and 300 fresh panes of glass, each seven feet by two, were put into the roof. The cost of the whole job was over £9,000.

When a place has remained uncleaned for nearly a hundred years on end, even a Hercules might be pardoned for shrinking from the task of getting rid of the accumulated dust of ages. There are some old wine vaults in the Eastgate, Chester, which were noted for the extraordinary festoons of cobwebs which hung from the roof, and clung about the old casks and puncheons.

It had become a sort of point of honour with the proprietors, to whom the license had descended from father to son, not to sweep away the works of the busy spider.

Last year the proprietor died, and the magistrate ordered a thorough cleansing of the place. It may be hard to believe, but the fact remains that the vacuum cleaner extracted nearly 200 pounds dead weight of cobwebs alone.

Cleaning Buckingham Palace. Buckingham Palace is a large building than many people imagine, and its annual cleaning costs as much as the price of a nice property. Two thousand pounds is the bill. Every few years there is a cleaning on a larger scale, when a quantity of painting is done, and this means an expenditure of about £5,000.

About fifteen years ago the whole place was painted, seven coats of paint being put on. This meant an addition of £10,000 to the annual estimates.

Cleaning a theatre is no child's play, for the work must generally be done at racing speed. As an example of what can be done in this way, a London firm of cleaners and dyers contracted to clean all the box curtains and draperies of the Empire Theatre at Nottingham in twenty-four hours. These were taken down immediately after the show, and put on a train leaving at 1 a.m.

They reached London at 4.30. They were cleaned, finished, and packed by one o'clock the following afternoon, were in Nottingham again by 4.30, and up in their places by seven.

HOW CAN WE COUNTER-ACT

THE INCREASED COST OF LIVING?

A second's reasoning will supply the answer. Beef and pork are dear and getting dearer all the time, and the cost is out of proportion with their food-value.

EAT MORE BREAD.

There is more nourishment in a shilling's worth of bread than a shilling's worth of beef or pork. But the problem is not done with yet. The shilling's worth of bread is not always the same value. Bread made from GENTLEMEN.—Our shelves are now replete with the choicest goods that the West of England can produce. All parts of Old England are famed for the excellence of their goods, but more especially the West, and, as regards that undecidable "thing" called style we know how, and can give full expression to that elusive quality. We please both young and old. You can have your choice of either English or American cut. Personal supervision given each order. Give us a trial and we have a customer. Thirty years experience in the tailoring line.
