LADY LAURAS' RELEASE
—OR—
THE STORY OF A SPOILED BEAUTY.

CHAPTER LXVI.
"What brought her here?" Angela asked herself. "Could it be that Gladys had come in search of her, and that, in trying to make her way to the Hall, she had fallen accidentally into the lake?"

Every one seemed to agree that she had fallen in accidentally. When Miss Rane was last seen, she was wearing valuable jewelry and other gems still shone on her fingers, a necklace of gold clasped the white throat. They had not been touched; therefore it was evident there had been no robbery, no assault. As for murder, no such thought was entertained. Who would have any interest in the death of this beautiful woman whom every one loved and admired? No one dreamed that it was anything worse than a terrible accident.

Angela did not go near the little knot of gentlemen; but, seeing one of the Cudale servants standing alone, she went up to him.

"Does any one know," she asked, "how the accident happened?"—and the answer was "No."

"Does any one know what brought the poor lady to the lake?" she asked again; and again the answer was "No."

"She must have come in search of me," thought Angela; and the thought saddened her inexpressibly.

Suddenly she saw something on the bank which attracted her attention —something saturated with water, and lying in a shapeless heap, something from which the water had taken the glistening beauty, leaving it a mere rag. She saw the gleam of the sun on the bright clasps, and in a moment the truth flashed across her. She had left her silver-gray wrapper in the field where she had left Gladys Rane.

She had no thought of it before. Now she remembered how she had unfasted it, and how it had fallen from her shoulders, and how in her sorrow and excitement she had come away without it. Perhaps Gladys Rane was on her way to bring it to her when the accident happened!

With a great throb of relief she remembered that Miss Rane did not know where she was staying, so that it was impossible she could have come for the purpose of seeing her. Besides, Miss Rane would never dream that she was staying at Brantome Hall; it was the last place in the world where she would think of finding her. Whatever motive had brought her there, it could not have been to see her, Angela felt fully assured. She remembered how she had gone in the opposite direction so as purposely to mislead her.

Then it occurred to her that Miss Rane, being a stranger in the neighbourhood, might not have known the way; and she felt a keen pang of regret that she had not thought of telling her. Vividly rose before her the picture of the fields and the two roads—the one to the left, narrow and shadeless, leading to Cudale; the one to the right, broad and bordered with tall spreading trees. Suddenly, as if by inspiration, Angela felt that she had solved the mystery—Miss Rane had taken the wrong road! She had walked to Brantome instead of returning to Cudale. But how the unfortunate girl had fallen into the water was as great a mystery as ever. Still this would not have happened if she had but thought of giving her the needful directions.

Angela stood at a distance while the men reverently raised the dead body and bore it away to Cudale. She had hesitated as to whether she should say what she knew; but a moment's reflection convinced her that it would be useless to do so. It would only draw public attention to herself and her story, which, for her own sake and her mother's it was better not to do.

She watched the sad procession as the men disappeared amongst the trees. Was it possible that this was

BACK AGED TERRIBLY

Mrs. McMahon Tells How She Found Relief by Taking Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound

Chatham, Ont.—"I took Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound for a run-down condition after the birth of my baby boy. I had terrible pains and backache, and was tired and weak, not fit to do my work and care for my three little children. One day I received your little book and read it, and gave up taking the medicine I had and began taking the Vegetable Compound. I feel much better now and am not ashamed to tell what it has done for me. I recommend it to any woman I think feels as I do."
—Mrs. J. R. McMAHON, 168 Harvey St., Chatham, Ont.

Lydia E. Pinkham's Vegetable Compound, made from roots and herbs, has for nearly fifty years been restoring sick, ailing women to health and strength. It relieves the troubles which cause such symptoms as backache, painful periods, irregularities, tired, worn-out feelings and nervousness. This is shown again and again by such letters as Mrs. McMahon writes, as well as by one woman telling another. These women know, and are willing to tell others, what it did for them; therefore, it is surely worth your trial.

Women who suffer should write to the Lydia E. Pinkham Medicine Co., Cobourg, Ontario, for a free copy of Lydia E. Pinkham's Private Text-Book upon "Ailments Peculiar to Women." C the last she should see of her mother's rival, Gladys Rane? Was it Gladys Rane indeed that was carried cold and silent back to the house where she had only a few short hours before reigned a very queen of beauty and grace? Ah, yes—never more would her mother's heart ache because of her!

But Angela was yet to learn that the unfortunate girl had been murdered by whom, yet to learn that a chain of circumstances had placed her deadliest enemy at her mercy.

CHAPTER LXVII.

It was still early morning when Captain Wynyard, tired out with his long search, haunted by dreadful memories, horrible thoughts, lay down on the sofa in the library to secure if possible a few hours' rest. Like Lord Cudale, he had great hope that the post would bring some news of Gladys, and he tried to convince himself that it was impossible that she could disappear mysteriously and leave no trace. When he closed his eyes and tried to rest, two faces persistently rose before him—that of the girl he had slain and that of the woman he loved.

"I wonder," he said to himself, as he tossed restlessly, "if I shall ever sleep again—if for one moment of my life I shall fail to see Angela Rooden's outstretched hand?"

Presently his eyelids drooped; but before deep sleep had come to him he was disturbed by the murmur of many voices:

"Found drowned, found drowned!"

He started from the sofa, his face livid, his whole frame trembling. A cry of agony and terror broke from his parched lips.

Ah! then they have found Angela; but why should servants and laborers come trooping here? Past the window ran Fanchette with a wild cry; then ran Lady Cudale, pale and terror-stricken. What did it all mean? Why should they be so overcome because Angela was drowned? What was she to them?

Then slowly from between the trees a little group of men, carrying between them a figure on a rudely contrived litter, shielded from the observation of human eyes.

Great Heaven! Why were they bringing the dead woman there? Why should they carry Angela Rooden to Cudale?

"What madness!" he gasped.

His face was perfectly livid, his brain burned with a thousand torturing thoughts. Why were they bringing the drowned woman there? he asked himself again.

His heart beat horribly fast, great drops gathered on his brow, as he saw the men slowly approaching the great hall door with their burden.

"Oh, Heaven! I cannot meet that!" he cried.

He opened one of the long glass windows and went out. He saw the crowd and heard the hushed voices. His bewilderment only increased. Had they carried his wife's dead daughter here to confront him?

"This is a horrible affair!" said one of the guests, Colonel Moncrieff, who had joined him.

"What is it?" he asked.

Weekly Meeting Municipal Council.

The weekly meeting of the Council was held on Thursday afternoon, and was a very short one—routine matters only occupying the attention of the Board. The Mayor presided and Councillors Martin, Vincombe, Collier, Ryan and Dowden were in attendance.

The minutes of previous meetings being read, and the preliminary business disposed of, the following matters came before the Board:

Residents of Cornwall Avenue, head of Shaw's Lane, petitioned that the lighting system be extended to that locality; also pointing out the necessity of placing light at the junction of Cornwall Avenue and Blackmarsh Road. The Lighting Committee will give this matter attention.

H. A. Burnell, Pennywell Road, complained of the condition of Pennywell Road and Franklin Avenue. The City Engineer was instructed to arrange with the Roads Department for opening up of these thoroughfares.

Mr. M. Cole offered to supply horses to the Sanitary Department. It was decided that tenders be called for three horses.

The following plans were passed, subject to the approval of the City Engineer:

A. J. Ryan, (dwelling) Leslie St.; King George V. Institute (extension); Water Street; Herbert Pike, (extension) McDougall Street; Jas. Ewing, (garage) LeMarchant Road, and Dr. M. S. Power (garage) Barnes' Road, on condition that ventilators be installed.

P. J. Fitzgerald asked permission to erect stable on the Blackmarsh Road. This was referred to the Medical Health Officer.

M. Hynes, George Street, asked permission to repair building. Permit is to be given subject to the supervision of the City Engineer.

The Churchill Marine and Automobile Engineering Works submitted plans for the erection of garage and machine shop on land north of the Curling Rink, Fort William Grounds. It was decided that same stand over.

The City Health report for the week showed three new cases of diphtheria, 1 typhoid and scarlet fever.

The Sanitary Supervisor was instructed to arrange for general cleaning up of the city.

A deputation from the Sergeants' Memorial Committee, consisting of Chairman Harold Mitchell, Sergeant Peckham and others, were present at the meeting to discuss and finalize matters in connection with the placing of a curb and other improvements at the monument, foot of Garrison Hill for which they submitted plans. The Council are in sympathy with the efforts being made by these gentlemen to make the surroundings in keeping with the memorial and offered the services of the City Engineer in connection with the contemplated work; and at the same time will carry out the arrangement entered into last year, namely to contribute proportionate share of cost of said improvements.

Requisitions for several departments were granted and after passing the pay rolls and bills, the meeting adjourned.

Evening gowns favor the basques. The sandal effect is still favored in footwear.

Bordered silks, crepes and ratines are very popular.

The Hercules, from the Labrador Mail Service, made a beginning of the steam communication at present. The ship would probably be about 10 tons or more; and was a fine marine architect's work of the old style ship, white painted port and hull, and a red funnel, and a red and white representation of St. John's.

Arrangements being made, the ship had been on premises at the St. John's wharves her entire cargo of tobacco, Molen's premises, were uncompensated, as with of St. John's West wharf by Steer Bros. How anxious mother is that every little detail shall be looked after, and how solicitous of her daughter's welfare during these last days in the old home!

But this is a trying time on the nervous system. Is the daughter's health in suitable condition in order that she may assume the cares and responsibilities of married life?

Most mothers are familiar with the splendid restorative and upbuilding influence of Dr. Chase's Nerve Food, and see that their daughters have the benefit of this treatment when they get tired, nervous and rundown in health.

The nerve food is so natural and gentle in action and so thoroughly dependable as a reconstructive agent that it has come to be looked upon as a necessity in most homes.

Particularly at this season of the year we all seem to need the help of a tonic treatment to enrich the blood and build up the nervous system.

and her top-gallant mast set up, and her rigger set in order, she was a model worth looking at. Like other ships we have spoken of, the Canonoe brought much labor to the port; so that not only did the American fishermen who claimed her as a prize, do well upon their venture, but the laborers and carpenters of St. John's had a good share also. Many other vessels made port, in those days; but these will be an illustration of the class of ships which usually found shelter, and brought employment to St. John's. It is however, worth while to mention one more ship, it was the barque Osage, of Windsor, N.S. She was a ship of some 800 tons, and was towed to port by S.S. Hercules, and anchored in the middle of the harbor. As was customary at that time, business people and tradesmen went on board soliciting orders, and presenting their cards. Amongst those who went on board this ship was a prominent business man of Water Street. The good man was rather pompous, and considered himself a little above the average person; and thought he could boss the captain of the ship. But he found his mistake, for the captain was also a smart man, and decided, so far as his ship went, he was the captain and nobody else. The big man of the port was in his steam launch, it being the first steam launch to come to St. John's, being brought out from Liverpool on the steamer Eagle. On hauling up by the side of the barque, the gentleman in question hailed the captain, who engaged in conversation with him. The captain was at the rail looking down, and the agent in the little steamer looking up. It seemed the captain did not please the good gentleman. Perhaps he did not know who he was, at any rate, he did not seem to care. So after a little conversation the gentleman called out to him, and in a very daring tone, saying: "Perhaps you do not know who I am." "Not exactly. Who are you?" said the captain. "I am Lloyd's Agent," replied the good man; to which the captain firmly replied: "That is alright, I am one of Lloyd's Agents also." That finished the debate; and the captain came off with the best of it. The captain was a very smart and able man, and proved to be a gentleman of standing and ability; and in good time he had his ship repaired, and his entire record in the port, brought him the respect, not only of the people, but of Lloyd's Agent as well. So in good time the ship left port, and continued her voyage. The visit of these ships added to the enterprise of the port in every way, in-as-much as they gave employment to almost every rank, class and condition of men; and what is worthy of special note, is the fact; which we have already remarked, that there were always men of competence to do the work, and measure up to the demands of the situation.

On her arrival in port, it was my privilege to board the vessel. She was truly a monster ship, and had splendid accommodation for her officers and crew. In due time the deck cargo was landed, and was beached above the bridge on the South Side; and part of the cargo proper was discharged, and beached near Midge's premises, where now stands the Morry coal premises. The ship was not damaged below the water-line, and though having lost her jibboom, her masts did not go by the board, as is very often the case in such happenings. Her rigging was quite perfect, she only having lost her jibboom and fore-to-gallant mast. Finally she was towed further up the harbor, and anchored off Newman's premises. It was August when the ship arrived here. During the winter she was repaired, the harbor was frozen over, and the work was done on the ice. A new stem was put in place, also a new cut-water. The work was done by Mr. Berrigan, who was foreman with the late P. Saunders. Mr. Berrigan was a masterman at such work, and he built the cut-water, heavy and staunch as it was, on the ice; and with good help, set it in place; and by spring the ship was in first class order, and presented a beautiful model. She was reloaded, but whether the cargo had plummeted, or whether the storage was not as compact as it was at first, I am not aware, but she left part of her cargo behind and it was utilized in the course of time, for heavy repairs to other wrecked ships.

The Canonoe sailed from St. John's about the middle of the summer, and made a very fair run across to her home port; and the work done by Mr. Berrigan was highly spoken of by the owners and underwriters, and brought no small praise to the port by its staunchness and general mechanical skill. The ship had a very handsome bow, and when repaired,

WEEK-END NOTES.

CHAPTER XVII.

DISABLED SHIPS.

Special feature of shipping in the week-end, was the disabled ship which made port for repairs; every season brought a few of these. Some of them were lumber-laden and had sprung a leak and became lodged. Others had met heavy weather and were dismasted; while others ran ashore, but were successfully towed off; while still others had met with the treacherous icebergs, and passed along our coast in the winter and in addition to these, occasional ships collided with some other ship in passing. These disabled ships contributed very largely to the work and labour of the port, and water how serious the damages, were always men and means to repair the ships, and put them in first order.

In the year 1869, being the same year that the question of Confederation before the country, there was a large ship towed to port in a bad condition. The ship had loaded a South American port with a cargo of tobacco leaf; but through stress of weather, she was driven North out of her course, and in disabled condition she bore up to the vicinity of Cape Race, and was towed to St. John's by the tug boats and the Dauntless, which the tug boats of that date. The ship, which was considered a very valuable boat, did not arrive in St. John's for a year or two after that, and though comparatively small, was considered a great improvement on the two paddle boats already used. The Hercules for many years the Labrador Mail Service, and a beginning of the more up-to-date steam communication which was at present. The ship in question probably had about fifteen hundred tons or more; and was a fine specimen of marine architecture, and many of the old style ships, she had white painted ports—she was a grand representation of Nelson's era.

Arrangements being made with agents, the ship hauled in to McLea's premises at the Southside, and landed her entire cargo of grain there. McLea's premises at that time occupied, as were the premises of St. John's West, at present owned by Steer Bros. The Southside premises changed hands some forty years ago, and became the property of the Dundee Sealing and Whaling Company; but they are now owned by the Imperial Oil Co. There was a great deal of work done in connection of docking the ship, but on behalf of her cargo, the carpenters were enabled to caulk her to seaward by giving her a little list; and as found, on surveying the ship, it was found that she was not in any way damaged, but she required hausing and making. She was an oak ship, and her repairs were what tradesmen usually call "a big job." However, within some ten weeks the ship was put in first class order, and the grain was replaced; and the great bulk of tobacco leaf rolled to the ship's side and hoisted on board; and late in October she set sail for her destination, and made a good run across the Atlantic. Her disbursements, while in port, were very large, and scores of labouring men and tradesmen did very well. Of course, the pay was small, as a labourer was paid sixty cents, or three shillings, and lads of fifteen and sixteen, were paid forty and fifty cents per day; and the ship's carpenters were paid two dollars per day.

The next year another large ship was towed to port. Her name was the Canonoe, and she belonged to New- castle on Tyne. She had loaded at Quebec, and was only a few days left port, when she struck an iceberg, and was very much disabled—her jibboom and cut-water being entirely carried away. Though there was no fear of the ship sinking, the crew abandoned her, and were picked up and brought into New York; but no sooner was she abandoned than an American banker came up with her, and have too, and finding her abandoned, they claimed her as a prize, and put a crew of six men on her, and they successfully got her to port and anchored her in the middle of the harbor. She had a tremendous load of deal and also a very large deck load. When the news of her arrival here reached Lloyd's in London, the Captain was immediately communicated with, and he and his mate came right on to St. John's, and satisfactory arrangements were made with the crew who had picked her up. As the ship was very valuable, and her cargo of great value also, it was generally understood that the American fishermen, some twenty in number, had made a very good thing of it, even though they did not push for a big claim, nor were they too exact in their requests. But the prize was a big one, and the large amount involved, enabled the insurance to deal with the men liberally, and save a great deal of money in the bargain.

On her arrival in port, it was my privilege to board the vessel. She was truly a monster ship, and had splendid accommodation for her officers and crew. In due time the deck cargo was landed, and was beached above the bridge on the South Side; and part of the cargo proper was discharged, and beached near Midge's premises, where now stands the Morry coal premises. Mr. Berrigan was a masterman at such work, and he built the cut-water, heavy and staunch as it was, on the ice; and with good help, set it in place; and by spring the ship was in first class order, and presented a beautiful model. She was reloaded, but whether the cargo had plummeted, or whether the storage was not as compact as it was at first, I am not aware, but she left part of her cargo behind and it was utilized in the course of time, for heavy repairs to other wrecked ships.

The Canonoe sailed from St. John's about the middle of the summer, and made a very fair run across to her home port; and the work done by Mr. Berrigan was highly spoken of by the owners and underwriters, and brought no small praise to the port by its staunchness and general mechanical skill. The ship had a very handsome bow, and when repaired,

SIDE TALKS.

By Ruth Cameron.

TOYS FOR OLD FOLKS.

"He who would pass his declining years with honor and comfort should, when young, consider that he may one day become old, and remember when he is old that he has once been young."

Are you saving up for old age? No, I don't mean money. Of course (?) you are doing that. But are you storing up in your mind and character the interests and hobbies and character traits that are going to make old age a serene and happy time of life instead of a sad and empty and resentful period? Someone has said: "Old age is a tyrant which forbids the pleasures of youth on pain of death."

Skating at 70.

I don't wholly agree with that. I think we can still partake in reasonable degree of some of the pleasures of youth. I know a man who started to ski after he was 50 and is still going strong at 70.

But, of course, it is inevitable that the majority of the pleasures of age must be pleasures of the mind.

And by saving for old age I meant are you storing up the mental food that will give you plenty to think about as you grow older.

In answer to a talk I wrote on reading something besides fiction once in a while, one Letter Friend, a very bright little girl, wrote and confessed that she couldn't remember reading a book of biography or a book on any serious subject for two years. She is very young. Perhaps she can afford such mental extravagance, but people—whose lives are no longer crowded with the vivid pleasures of youth certainly cannot.

Things to Think About.

They need to form the habit of reading the sort of things which shall give them mental food for the quieter years, just as truly as they need to save money for the less active time to come.

Another Letter Friend of mine, herself a lifelong reader and student, puts it in this excellent way.

"We all know what a toy is to a child, how much joy it gives him, and we know that much of this joy derives from its quality as mental food. Now it seems to me that new knowledge is to an old man or woman just what a new toy is to a child. It vitalizes and keeps young. It yields joy and puts off senescence. If it isn't to an educated person approaching his decline what a new toy is to a child, what is? No Need to Feel Old.

There never was a time when the world was so full of new and interesting knowledge. There is the new psychology; there is social science ever changing and developing; there are fascinating new worlds opening up along the line of biology and of scientific discovery.

Toys for old folks do not have to be bought, in fact, they cannot be bought. Knowledge is something one has to lend one's energy to acquiring. But if one will take steps to fill his mind with some of these things he may have reason to say some day with that old philosopher, Bronson Alcott:

"While one finds company in himself and his pursuits he cannot feel old, no matter what his years may be."

Proud indeed is the Loyal Old Liberal District of St. John's East to contribute the most to the downfall of Coakerism.

Loyal Old St. John's has its Famous Invincible Battalion, led by the Fighting Trio, ready for the overthrow of the regime of Coaker on the Glorious Third of May.

The Menace of the Uncrowned King of the North is fading fast from the shores of Newfoundland, and the Fighting Trio have accomplished its destruction.

No more will the despoiler bring ruin to our industries and our fisheries; our men will no longer be forced out of employment and their families threatened with starvation.

St. John's East has declared War on Coakerism and the tremendous victory the district will gain for the Fighting Trio is already foretold.

From Portugal Cove to Torbay the fire of enthusiasm has spread and link after link in the long chain of the Battle Front of the Fighting Trio is solidly supporting their wonderful cause.

The Whole district has been covered, and St. John's, the Battery, Quidi Vidi, Newtown, Bell Island, Wabana (East and West) Freshwater, Lance Cove, Portugal Cove, Torbay, Outer Cove, Flatrock, Logy Bay, Bauline and Pouce Cove have echoed the death knell of Coakerism.

St. John's East has joined hands with every other district in the Island to see that the clouds of Stagnation and Starvation, which are fast blowing away SHALL NOT be hurried down on us again.

The Fisherman, the Mechanic, the Labourer, the Tradesman and the Clerk, who for long years have felt the pinch of unemployment, cannot now oppose the undertaking that is succeeding on their behalf.

A CHANCE HAS COME. BENNETT AND BETTER TIMES ARE AT HAND.

The Fighting Trio have achieved their aim. The influence, the support and the enthusiastic determination of their district is behind them. They are prepared for the final display, which by its magnitude, and its solid strength will place our land on its feet to continue its existence, unimpeded to the end of time. The whole district is marching to the polls in unanimous assent to Vote Straight Ticket.

THOMAS MEIGHAN HAS FINE PICTURE IN

"CONRAD IN QUEST OF HIS YOUTH"

If You Believe There's Nothing More in Life Now That You're Growing Old You Should See this Photoplay.

Thomas Meighan, Maym Kelso and Bertram Johns in William DeMille's Production "Conrad in Quest of His Youth" A Paramount Picture.

Lost Your Youth?

LOOK AT THOMAS MEIGHAN!

Have you ever felt the corroding effects of time? Do you feel old at thirty-five or thereabouts? Have you lost your youth? If so, how are you to regain it? If you don't know you should see Thomas Meighan in his latest William DeMille Paramount picture, "Conrad in Quest of His Youth," which will be shown at the Majestic theatre to-day. This will do more for you than any physician can do.

The picture is delightful and not only does the hero again regain the state of being he seeks, but he is a spectator who is becoming old can view the picture without feeling youthful. The recipe for youth, as discovered by Conrad, is not the fabled elixir, nor does it lie in physical culture, but in love. After vainly endeavoring to re-live his past romances, Conrad falls in love and with the realization that he is in love, comes the restoration of his youth.

Margaret Loomis is leading woman and Kathlyn Williams, Sylvia Ashton, Mahal Ben Burén, Maym Kelso, Bertram Johns, Charles Ogilvie and other popular players appear in the cast.

It gives four customers, everywhere, exact and understandable facts with only one dictation and one run-off of so many thousands of duplicates, the EDISON ROTARY MINEOGRAPH. A Milne Fraser, W. J. Edgar, Agent, Royal Bank Chambers.—apr25,23

Protection and Preservation with B-H PRODUCTS

PROTECTION and preservation are as necessary to the tree that is moulded into new form, for building purposes, as it was when it stood in the virgin forest. Paint will preserve but, just as Nature protects with ever-renewing bark, so must paint be renewed.

Brandram-Henderson's products — and there is one for every painting purpose — bring real protection and preservation, no matter for what purpose they are used. And, to this protection, is added the economy of long wear and the beauty that comes from quality.

TRINITY

The first Sunday after Easter 1923, was a day that will be remembered in New Bonaventure for many years to come, owing to the special services that were held in the church there, and the fact that they were the last services to be held in it. This church was built some sixty years ago in the days of Rev. Benjamin Smith, and it was consecrated by Bishop Jones during his first official visit to that part of the parish of Trinity. During the last few years the building had been showing signs of weakness, such as are common to buildings without a stone foundation. The men of the congregation have been preparing the necessary timber for a new church during the last three or four winters, and the women have been working quietly and comely by, and as a result, all the material for the building is on the spot, and some hundreds of dollars are in the bank to provide such things as cannot be got in the place. Plans for the new building have been prepared, and, (as I write), are in the hands of the Executive in St. John's, for official examination and approval.

In the meantime permission having been given by the Executive to take down the old building, the Rev. Chas. Stickings, arranged to emphasize the services of the Sunday by features such as would be in keeping with the special occasion, and would long be remembered, and otherwise fruitful in the teaching. At 11 o'clock the Saviour's own and only service—the Holy Communion, (preceded by Matins as a preparation) was celebrated, and every communicant (85) that could be present was there for their last Communion in the old church. It is always a beautiful service; but the reality of the Saviour's presence there, of which the people are ever conscious, was never more reverently and devoutly recognized, than by those people at the Last Supper with Him in those sacred surroundings. The absent members of the congregation out in the different parts of the world; the souls of the faithful departed; the sick and the aged of the parish were all remembered. In other words, as we are taught to pray in this service:—"That we, and all thy whole church may receive the remission of our sins, and all other benefits of His Passion." Yes, it was a beautiful service, beautifully rendered, and fraught with blessings to soul and body, such as—"only Eternity will reveal."

At 3 o'clock the church was filled again (with about 400 people) for the last evening. It was the same service that they and their fathers had closed the Sundays with ever since the coming of the first settlers to Bonaventure; but special lessons, hymns, and pages had been selected. It was the same service, but there was an intensified quiet solemnity about it, and an occasional tremor in the voice, as the people realized that it was the last rendering of it in the old church—the church in which they had been baptized, confirmed, and married, and to which the bodies of those called to rest had been brought, before being committed to kindred dust.

The lessons of the sermon were based on St. John's words: "Little children, it is the last time." The preacher tried to show the different effects the same word, or deed, or event always have upon us, when it has been uttered, or done for the last time. For example, we value every word of our Blessed Lord; but especially His last words on the Cross. Every thing that our Lord has left us is very dear to us; but especially the last supper. The mother whom her boy has kissed so many times, especially treasures the memory of the last kiss of that boy who went away and never came back. How we love to talk over the last words of the dear old mother, or father, whom God has called to rest, etc. etc.

After the sermon, the hymn "Onward Christian Soldiers" was sung as a recessional, and at the first refrain the rector went to the Altar, and taking the Altar-Cross, led the people from the church, "With the Cross of Jesus, going on Before." The procession from the church to the Oange Hall (which has been kindly offered and accepted as the place to hold the services until the new church is ready) that procession was unique in the history of the parish. The rector with the Cross, was followed by the Wardens with the Altar Lights. Then came six young men (communicants) bearing the Altar itself. Then followed the Lay Reader and others with the Prayer Book, Lectern, etc. Then the President of the Women's Guild bearing the Lectern Bible. Then four men with the Organ, etc., etc., and then the members of the congregation with their prayer and hymn books, etc. It was all reverently done, "With the Cross of Jesus going on before," and placed in safe keeping in the Orange Hall, to be put in proper places by the Sexton for the Sunday and other services. Then followed the hymn "O God our help in ages past"; special prayers, and the Benediction; then a verse of the National Anthem, and the congregation wended their way to their homes, to talk over the doings of the day, and the lessons those doings were all intended to teach. The building has now been taken down. The concrete walls and pillars will be placed in position as soon as the work can be done, and in time for the Bishop to lay the corner stone, during his official visitation in May next. The building will cost about $8,000. This will be provided for by the eighty men of the congregation, who will each endeavour to give $100 in cash or labour, or cash and labour. They hope to have the building free of debt when it is finished, and thus ready for consecration; and if they continue to evince the same spirit of love and zeal as was evinced on the Sunday of the last services they will do it all right. We wish them good luck in the name of the Lord.

SERVANT'S AGREEMENTS IN 1840.

As I write I have before me the book containing the "Servant's Agreements in the Fall of 1840 between the Executors of late Robert Slade" and men whose names are familiar to us in Trinity, though they have long passed to their rest. I have often referred to some of those men in a general way; but those agreements indicate their occupations, wages, etc., etc., such as may be interesting to persons other than myself. The printed agreement, with the necessary blanks to fill in, is iron bound and copper fastened in its binding powers over the employee. Written in the margin of the printed form is the following: "Christmas Day and the two following days, Candlemas Day and St. Patrick's Day to be the only holidays allowed throughout the year."

At the bottom of the document the following clause is inserted: "Wages to be paid in cash or bill at the option of the Executors, and if paid in bill a premium of twenty-five per cent. will be charged thereon." I give the outlines of a few representative forms: "John Flinn, in the capacity of blacksmith. Wages, thirty pounds currency, and he to take his meals in the cooper shop."

"John Mills in the capacity of sail-maker, rigger, etc. Wages, thirty-six pounds currency. He to take his supplies from his employer's stores, at the current harbour prices and to find himself in everything."

"James Lundrigan, in the capacity of Master Cooper and Gauger. Wages, thirty-one pounds currency, he engaging to keep himself perfectly sober." (A note in the margin indicates that he hurt his arm whilst intoxicated and his wages were docked accordingly.)

"William Wiltshire, in the capacity of schooner master. Wages, thirty-three pounds currency, and 1/2 a day extra for such time as he may be required to distil himself. (He was one of the crew of the Brig William and was lost near Tor Bay, Jan. 30th, 1842.)

"Elizabeth Newhook, in the capacity of housemaid, cook, etc. Wages, eight pounds currency, and one pair of fine shoes."

"Richard Maidment, in the capacity of gardener and helper in dwelling house, cartier, etc. Wages, twenty-seven pounds, and 1/2 a day additional for his diet; and to find himself in everything."

"Richard Ash, in the capacity of agent at Heart's Content. Wages, sixty pounds currency."

"George S. Field, in the capacity of master of the brig 'Robert and James.' Wages, six pounds fifteen shillings a month. He to find himself in everything." (When Slade broke in 1861, Capt. Field lost his money that was on the books, lost his position; and not long after lost his house by fire.)

"Giles Smith, Sr., in the capacity of cook on board the brig 'William.' Wages, eighteen pounds, and one canvass truck."

FOUR INTERESTING MARRIAGES.
1794. Married, John Randall, of Simons-bury, in the County of Dorset, Great Britain, and Paffence, daughter of Absoim and ——— Phillips, of Kerley's Harbour, in this district.

(These were the great grandparents of Captain Robert Randall of Port Rexton.)

1791. Married, Thomas Fowling and Elizabeth Dewy, both of this Harbour.

1784. Married, George Cutler, of Fordingbridge, England, and Sarah Wamel, of Trinity. (This name has died out in Trinity.)

1788. Married, Edward Maghar, of Tipperary, in the Kingdom of Ireland, and Paffence, daughter of David and Paffence Bayly of Bonaventure in this district.

THOMAS AND MARY HURDLE.

Trinity.
I have been asked if there are any references to the Hurdle family (now living in Dunfield) in the old Church Books. Yes. The Hurdles were amongst the earliest families who lived in Trinity. John Clothier married a daughter (Mary) of Thomas and Mary Hurdle in 1764. The other children of Thomas and Mary Hurdle were: John, Elizabeth, Thomas, William, Susannah.

In 1802 Thomas Hurdle Jr. was married to Mary Hunt.

In 1806 a daughter was born to them and baptized Susannah.

In 1807 a son was born to them, and was given the name Samuel. This entry is marked "Cuckhold's Cove," and indicates the date when the first Hurdles went there.

Thomas and Mary Hurdle, Sr. never left Trinity. Mary died in Trinity in 1802, and her husband Thomas Hurdle, Sr. died in Trinity in 1810, aged 103 years.

Hurdle is still an old and respected name in Devonshire. Some of the descendants of Thomas and Mary Hurdle, in Dunfield, have, however, repudiated it, and have adopted the name "Earle," to which they are not entitled.

Thanks.—Thank you, Capt. Spracklin and Mr. Ladley for sending me the English translation of those Portuguese words in George Garland's Prayer Book; and also for kind words re my week-end notes.

ANSWERS TO CORRESPONDENTS.

R.S.—Your grandfather came to Trinity, Newfoundland, about 1790, from the parish of Pinhoe, in Devon. He married Mary, daughter of Isaac and Dorothy Hogarth in 1794.

J.B.—Thomas Leonard came to Trinity from Tallow, County Waterford, Ireland, about the year 1800, and married Sarah, daughter of John and Martha Bannister of Trinity in 1804. (I presume the Leonards of British Harbour are descendants.)

Inquirer.—Yes, the name Mitchellmore is found in the old Church Books in the following connection:—"1814. Married James Mitchellmore of the parish of Newton Bushell, Devon,

"DUNLOP"

The World's Most Envied Tire

Record Mileage—Faultless Anti-skid

England, and Catherine McGrath of Trinity." This entry is signed by Mr. Mitchellmore, and his signature indicates a man beyond the ordinary. The marriage is witnessed by George Skelton and Charles William Pittman. I have not seen the name in any other connection.

ST. GEORGE'S DAY IN TRINITY AND TRINITY EAST.

St. George's Day having been appointed as Nomination Day, brought many people into Trinity, and this was responsible for the ignoring of the festival of the patronal Saint of England. All the business places and the Telegraph office were open, and harring the display of flags by private citizens, the day was not observed. At Trinity East it was marked by the usual attendance of the S.U.F. and the L.O.A. Societies of Trinity East and Port Rexton, at Christ Church at 3 p.m. The service was conducted by the rector, Rev. F. P. Law, who also gave the men some plain and practical advice on the subject: "Honour all men." The church was filled with a devout and attentive congregation. The procession of the united societies to and from the church was led by the Port Rexton Brass Band.

An Anglican Club made up of members of St. Andrew's Church, has just been organized at Trinity East, and will be known as "the Garland Club." We wish it every good success.

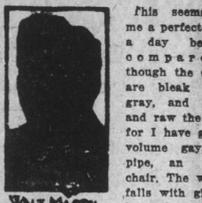

Mrs. Noah Miller of New Bonaventure was called to rest on Sunday last, after a short illness caused by influenza and pneumonia. R.I.P.

The members of Girls' Friendly Society at Trinity, gave a varied and successful entertainment and tea in the Parish Hall on St. Mark's Day, April 25th. The proceeds were in aid of Church work in the parish.

THE PERFECT DAY.

This seems to me a perfect day, a day beyond compare, although the skies are bleak and gray, and dank and raw the air; for I have got a volume gay, a pipe, an easy chair. The water falls with ghastly thud upon the window pane; I see men tolling in the mud, and cussing as they strain; the rivulet's become a flood, a wide morass the plain. The rooster is too tired to crow, and will till he's dry; the seasick cattle sadly low, their backs humped three feet high; the landscape is a scene of woe, beneath a weeping sky. But I have found a gorgeous book that tells of blooming maids, of noble knights in arms who cook men's geese in sylvan glades, who cry "oddsfish" and eke "gadzook," and ply their gleaming blades. And all the sordid things on earth have vanished from my ken; I'm joining in the minstrel's mirth, I'm in the wizard's den. I walk with dames of queenly birth, and list to fighting men. So let the rain roll down the eaves, and lash itself to foam, and if the man who's in it grieves, he should have stayed at home, and read a tale of warlike thieves, of helm and halldome. So let the rain be charged with hail, the halldomes large as plums; I'm reading now a mighty tale of scraps and beating drums; I care no hoot for calm or gale, or for whatever comes.

Every Assertion a Falsehood.

Railway Operation at Colony's Expense Part of Humber Arrangement.

Speaking of the Railway and the Reid steamers, Sir Richard Squires, in his Manifesto, made these four specific statements:

- (1) Wealthy English capitalists have agreed to operate;
- (2) the agreement relieves the Colony of all liability for operating deficits;
- (3) this agreement is not part of the Humber arrangements; and
- (4) the fact of the Humber arrangements made the transportation agreement possible.

It is difficult to exaggerate the importance of the subject thus spoken of by the Premier. The language which he used is unmistakable. That he deliberately used it to influence the electorate is beyond dispute.

We, therefore, speak with a deep sense of the gravity of the subject, and at the same time with a deep disgust, when we declare that each and every assertion thus made by Premier Squires was a falsehood, in letter and spirit, deliberately told to deceive the whole electorate.

No agreement has been made with English or other capitalists for the operation of the railway. The Colony has not been relieved from any existing responsibility for deficits. The Humber arrangements do contemplate an operation of the Railway; for it contains a guarantee by the Colony that efficient operation shall continue; and without this guarantee, the Humber project cannot be conducted. These statements are diametrically opposed to the Premier, and we hereby challenge him to produce adequate proof of his remarks.

Indeed, in his own Manifesto, the Premier very maladroitly furnished proof of his own falsehoods. He says: "By elimination of Reid management, and the great additional traffic (from the Humber industry); combined with capable business operation, the railway, steamship and express service will cease to be a burden on the Colony." Now, if a contract had been made with capitalists to operate the system, it would cease to be "a burden on the Colony" by reason of the contract, not by reason of additional traffic or good management; and per contra, if these are to be the means of relieving the Colony, there is no contract. In other words, if our relief from operating costs is to come from a contract, increased traffic will not concern us, and if it does concern us, it is because there is no such contract as Sir Richard has affirmed.

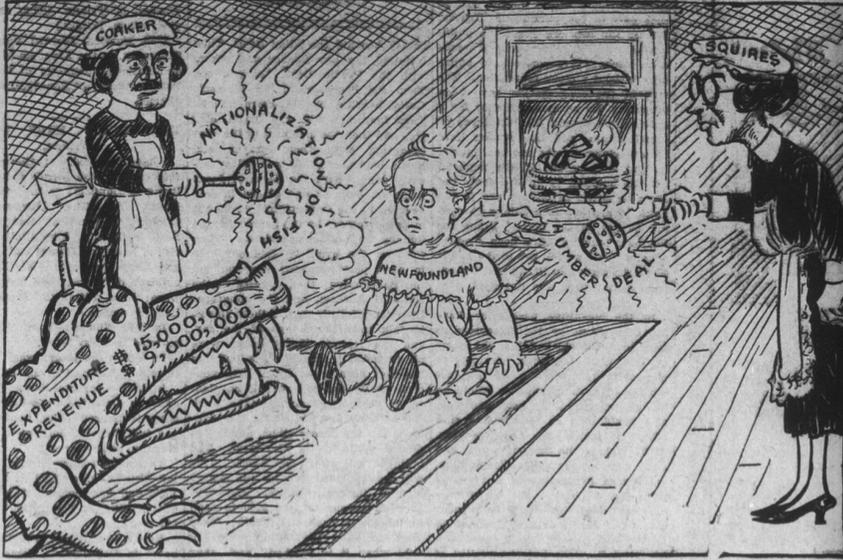

In speaking of financial relief for the Colony, from the burden of operating the railway, Sir Richard referred to a hoped-for increased traffic as though it would necessarily provide greater net revenue. But greater traffic may mean greater loss; it's all a matter of rates. Can the traffic afford freight rates high enough to pay for increased operation? Or can the industry afford freight rates high enough to pay for operation? Our narrow gauge road is expensive to operate.

It should also be borne in mind that to carry increased traffic, great additional rolling stock will be needed, to bear heavier loads, new rails will be essential, and to pay for new rails will require many millions of dollars. Sir Richard spoke of recent decreased cost of operating, and omitted to mention two important reasons: first, that he was comparing a wasteful expenditure in the earlier days of his own government with a recent decrease under an imported man, and second, that much of the decreased cost was due to decreased operation. Operation would cost nothing if it were much less than it has been during the past four months.

The Manifesto refers to certain legal opinions given by counsel employed by the Government, and goes on to say, the railway, the Reid steamers, the express service and the dry dock will no longer be Reid properties. This language is used with deep design to give the impression that the properties in question are to be taken from the Reids by legal process, as a result of Reid default in operation, and under the advice of Counsel, whereas the truth is, that the transfer is to take place as the result of a purchase from the Reids by the Government, for which several millions of dollars are to be paid by the Colony to the Reids. They are not to be treated as defaulters. They are not to be deprived by any process of law, or as a punishment, but as a matter of agreement, by which they are to be relieved of their burdens, and compensated for their claims and property.

This railway matter is not second in importance to the Humber project. It has been deliberately kept in the back ground by the Government, as far as possible. Why is no mandate sought from the people on this matter? Why is no reliable information published for the enlightenment of the public? Why is the truth covered up, or worse still, why are carefully framed falsehoods being disseminated? The rights of the Colony are being sacrificed. Great burdens are being lightly undertaken. Contracts made involving millions are being suppressed. Wake up, wake up, Newfoundlanders! your future and the future of your children are being pledged! Will you not at least demand a halt until the dark places are made light? Will you rush blindly on to destruction in face of all the warnings given to you?

Soothing the Sacrifice

The Mail and Advocate are frenziedly endeavouring to detract attention from the danger upon us by means of sweet enticements of a wonderful future. Newfoundlanders! Be not led to the slaughter. Your eyes are open to the great menace, so vote for BENNETT AND BETTER TIMES, AND SAVE THE COUNTRY.

Humber Deal an Accomplished Fact.

The Project Must Go Through no Matter What Government is Elected.

Statements Published in Advocate, Also That of Chief Justice Horwood Show That the Deal is Finalized--Bennett Will Make the Best Bargain Possible For Newfoundland.

Attempting to break its way back to another four years control of this unfortunate country, the Squires-Coaker misfits are using the Humber Deal as a bribe. They say that the Deal is not an accomplished fact and will fall through if Squires is not returned. This claim is false as has been proven on many occasions. Hon. Geo. Shea made this clear, so did Mr. Coaker, so did the Advocate, and the Western Star, which quoted his Excellency the Administrator Sir W. H. Horwood as saying the Humber Proposition was a fait accompli, that is a thing already done. The Advocate of Nov. 8th commenting on the finalization of the Deal said:

"The announcement made by the Advocate yesterday, that the Humber Proposition is at last assured beyond all peradventure, was received by all classes throughout the city with jubilation. People had become depressed and disheartened. Consequently when the announcement was made that the British Government, in spite of everything that we said against their action, had actually sealed, signed and delivered the agreement of a ten-million-dollar guarantee to provide the launching of this great industry in Newfoundland. It was received with a general sigh of relief."

"Coming simultaneously with the long-awaited news that the Humber Proposition was an accomplished fact, the splendid message of Hon. W. F. Coaker, also published in the Advocate yesterday, and dealing with the big announcement, was the subject of scarcely less enthusiastic comment."

Here is Mr. Coaker's special message:— (Special to the Evening Advocate.)

PORT UNION, Nov. 7.—The country will receive with thankfulness the announcement that the British Treasury has finalized an agreement with Messrs. Sir W. G. Armstrong, Whitworth & Co. for the guarantee on two million pounds for the establishment of a great 400 ton paper plant at Deer Lake.

I congratulate the people of Newfoundland on the accomplishment of this great industrial proposition and trust it will be the means of speedily dispelling the depression that has encompassed Terra Nova during the war reconstruction period.

The Advocate Editorially said, The agreement has been a fact for some weeks, but the details were being worked out, and the solicitors had to finalize the wording of the agreement. The protest of the Paper-makers had no effect. The British Trade Facilities Act recommended that the guarantee on Two million pounds be given, and the matter was then put before the British Treasury, whose signature was necessary as the final "push-off." This authority was given last night, when at six o'clock, the Treasury Minute was signed.

was making good headway towards open water. The Viking is the last of the sealing fleet to arrive, and is expected to make port late tomorrow night or early Monday morning. Capt. Bartlett in his last report of total number of seals on board, was March 31st when she had 6,300 stored. Since then much steaming.

Viking Homeward Bound.

STEAMING THROUGH OPEN WATER. Messrs. Downing Bros. received a message from Capt. Wm. Bartlett, of the Viking via St. Pierre, at 11 o'clock last night, advising the owners that the Viking was now homeward bound. She gave her position as 100 miles E. by S. 1/2 E. Cape Ray. The captain reports heavy ice on the outside, but about has been done, and it is quite possible that a few seals were picked up daily during the month, which would greatly augment the last catch reported.

Special to Evening Telegram. GEORGES BROOK, T.S. April 27th. The statement from Wilton Hoek in Advocate April 26th, that Stone and colleagues were advised to move on when visiting George's Brook recently is false and a rather low rating of our morality and mentality as well. MALCOLM PELLET.

How Three Million Dollars of the Peoples Money Was Wasted

Dr. Campbell was Given an Open Account to Spend $800,000--What Did He Do With It?--Two Hundred Thousand Dollars Sugar Scandal.

$500,000 of Government funds, appropriated by Coaker to purchase Labrador fish; 77,767.93 was used by Coaker to purchase salt. S.S. Tack-hoe landed most of the salt at Port Union and dynamite had to be used to blast it out of the stores. $188,488.98, direct loss on sugar purchases. The Sugar Control Board's gamble was a much greater indirect loss. Six cents duty on one pound of sugar had to be handed out to make good this bungle. $100,000 paid for Fish Commissioners and Fish Inspectors. Some of these were drawing as high as $7,988 each for salaries and expenses. $256,284.47 for purchase of Malakoff, Sebastopol, Smet and Dalsey. $46,885.28 paid Reid Newfoundland Company for alteration to Malakoff. This amount was in addition to the purchase price. The cost of alterations to the other ships do not appear in the Auditor General's Report to hand. $400,000 for purchase of S.S. Prospero and Portia; $42,324.74 paid Reid for branch line to Argenta; $47,667.40 paid for building sheds and wharf for terminus.

The Hand-Writing on the Wall

Squires Flees to Hr. Grace--Knows Certain Defeat Awaits Him in St. John's West He Seeks to Gain the Good Will of the Voters of the Second City.

That Squires and his colleagues will be ignominiously defeated in St. John's West on Thursday next, is admitted by all; but his action of running away to Hr. Grace at this late hour of the campaign is perhaps on the part of himself the best admission of what is in store for him by the voters of this important district. Sir Richard promised each and every one of his well paid candidates that he would visit all the districts in Conception Bay, Placentia, Ferryland, and St. John's East. It was with this belief that he induced many of his dupes to assert his course. To-day Squires' chances of winning one seat in these districts are very meagre, and knowing this he sets out to prepare for the worst to feel his way with the voters of Hr. Grace, that if by chance his party was returned with a majority, he would seek re-election there.

"Smilin' Through."

A REAL TREAT--PLAY HAS SUCCESSFUL RUN.

Another capacity audience greeted the Canadian players at the Casino theatre last night. The audience was the largest yet for a Friday night attendance since their stay, and it speaks well for the talented troupe in running such a delightful show with splendid success all through the week. Amongst those present last night was the American Consul Mr. J. S. Bennett, and his wife. Upon their arrival at the theatre they were received by Manager Wilmer M. Bentley and troupe, and after a few congratulatory words, the party were escorted to seats in the box. Mr. and Mrs. Bentley enjoyed the fantastic comedy "Smilin' Through" immensely, and at the close they warmly congratulated the entire troupe in placing such an excellent play before a St. John's audience. The show was undoubtedly the best yet seen here, and all who can should make an effort to get to the final performance to-night. The stage setting was particularly fine, and the flower arrangements were exquisite and delightful. Amy Dennis in the dual roles of Kathleen Duncannon and Mounting Clara made a distinct hit last night. She has come to stay, and clearly showed her ability as an actress. The whole audience was wrapped up with her clever interpretation of the roles, and as she would bring the smile of joy to her face as the case warranted. Kathleen, as John Cartwright, the lead of Kathleen, who played the role of the staid, but not unkindly old man, until the climax is reached in the act, was realistic and feeling. Mr. Frank Harvey as Dr. Owen, a next door neighbour of Mr. Cartwright, played in his usual manner. He fixed matters right with Kathleen Duncannon when she usually married the man who lives in the West, in the dual roles of Kathleen, Wayne and Jeremiah Wayne (son of Kenneth) gave a splendid performance, while the minor roles were played by Lotie Lee, Miss Ida Moulton and Nettie Davenport. Mr. William Carey as Willie, who had a great love for Kathleen Duncannon, failed to win her love, a splendid impersonation of a comedian, and kept the audience in a humour throughout the whole play. This afternoon there will be usual matinee for the kiddies, and the week's show promises to be a fine production, and it has been staged by Grace George in New York for a period of two years. "Woman's Way" shows Mr. Bentley's local theatre goes. Mr. Bentley's Continer is now busy preparing scenery and all will be ready Monday night.

GRIMES HAS LOST FOGO.

Editor Evening Telegram. Dear Sir.—Please allow me space in your esteemed paper to make a few remarks. Mr. Grimes arrived here on the 24th of March and held a public meeting. His discourse was all about the Humber Deal and a Flour Mill they were going to erect somewhere in the country, and also the setting of the Labrador. No doubt, Mr. Editor, a grand proposition; sell one half the country to redeem the other. Newfoundlanders have come to something now, when the Squires candidates will stand on public platforms and tell the electors of this country they are going to sell their freedom. Surely that is what it means. Come Messrs. Squires and Coaker, Newfoundlanders and Newfoundlanders and BENNETT AND BETTER TIMES.

FREEDOM.

THE TRUTH ABOUT IRELAND'S EYE.

Special to Evening Telegram. Dear Sir.—I notice in the Evening Advocate that the meeting held at Ireland's Eye by Stone, Bradley and Hodder was a complete failure. Now, Mr. Editor, this is a little too much and I am going to contradict that article. The meeting at Ireland's Eye was a very successful one, better by far than ever the Government members had there. And we, the people of Ireland's Eye, are going to stand by Stone, Bradley and Hodder in the coming election and vote for BENNETT AND BETTER TIMES.

MONROE, WINSOR AND LITTLE HOLD GREAT MEETINGS.

Special to Evening Telegram. PLAT COVE, April 27.

Monroe, Winsor and Little held three successful meetings yesterday at Knight's Cove, Broad Cove and Plate Cove. All three are solid for the Bennett candidates. This is a great gain on 1919. Bonavista will return these three.—COR.

Meetings were held yesterday at Open Hall, Tickle Cove, Summerville and Sweet Bay. All these places practically solid for the Opposition.—COR.

POLITICAL ACTIVITIES IN PORT DE GRAVE.

Mr. Mackay Holds Enthusiastic Meeting at Clarke's Beach.

CLARKE'S BEACH, April 27. (By Telephone)—A very large meeting was held here tonight. It was the finest meeting ever held in this town. People were present from Barenede, the Dock, Otterbury, North River, Hall's Town, the Motion, the Goules, Juniper Stump, Salt River, Salmon Cove, Foley's Hill, the Cross Roads and Clarke's Beach.

Mr. W. A. Mackay who spoke for an hour, met a wonderful reception. Two men cheered for Winter, one of them his Salt River Chairman, the other his Chairman at Clarke's Beach. Enthusiasm ran high. If Mr. Mackay were in the district another fortnight the Squires candidate would not save his deposit.

Mr. Winter held a meeting at Juniper Stump to-day. His Chairman was the manager of the Woolen Mills, whom he has appointed to-day as Deputy Returning Officer at the Goules, having dismissed Joseph Anthony. His call for a show of hands at the end of his meeting resulted in responses from ten, some of whom were women.

Mr. Mackay has visited every part of the district and expects to be returned by a much larger majority than Sir John Crosbie received in 1919. The Port de Grave peninsula is strongly for the Opposition. The Prime Minister was here for half an hour to-day. He did not receive a solitary cheer. It is rumored that he purposes staying over here till after the election.

Mr. Hickman who with the Hon. J. R. Bennett, the leader of the Opposition and Mr. Archibald, is conducting a most successful canvass in the Harbour Grace District, will join Mr. Mackay to-morrow. They purpose holding a joint meeting at North River to-morrow afternoon, and at Cupids to-morrow night, when Mr. Hickman will discuss Fishery matters generally.

BURGOE ACCLAIMS CHAMBERS.

BURGOE, April 28.

Our member elect Mr. Chambers with Capt. Greene held a most successful and enthusiastic meeting here in Orange Hall last night. John Matthews, chairman, Burgoe particularly wants better times and a Bennett Government. (Sgd.) J. A. Matthews, C. D. Keen, M.D., Edwin C. Dickie, Capt. J. Vatcher, P. Matthews, John Anderson, Capt. Geo. Street, Walter Pinel, Jos. Vatcher, and numerous others.

CASHIN, LINEGAR AND HUNT AT THORBURN ROAD.

Cashin, Linegar and Hunt visited the Thorburn Road yesterday afternoon, and at night held a meeting in the School House, which was attended by practically all the residents in the vicinity. The candidates were greeted with salves of musketry. Mr. Patrick Parrell presided and introduced the candidates who delivered forceful addresses reviewing the general state of affairs in the country, and showing up the kind of a government we have had for three and a half years past. They were cheered to the echo, and at the conclusion Mr. J. T. Phillips gave a short address which was well received. The Thorburn Road will give the Bennett candidates a big majority on Thursday next.

SQUIRES MEETS WITH FROST AT HR. GRACE.

Special to Evening Telegram. HR. GRACE, April 23.

Squires held meeting here last night; Opposition supporters went in mass and filled hall. It was prettily arranged that he should be given patient hearing. He talked Humber and Labor but told nothing about the contract. Squires-bluff and talk too well known here to deceive electors again. As Squires passed down the Hall on his way out not a cheer was given for him but upon reaching the street he was greeted by cheer after cheer for Bennett, Hickman and Archibald from the 250 men gathered around the door. Special reporter came along. No doubt Govt. papers will have great story. No

FEEDING HIS PET

The greatest Scandal in the political history of Newfoundland was the Government's action towards the Reids. "I will put the Reids in their place," said Sir Richard, and then proceeded in deliberate contradiction to fatten this organization financially until it has been glutted with huge sums, taken directly from the pockets of the people. Throw out this breaker of promises lest he bring you to ignominious insolvency. Save the country for your children's children and vote for BENNETT AND BETTER TIMES!

ATTENTION!

Men of St. Philips, St. John's West!

For a quarter of a century, I have had my eye on St. Philips, and have seen the good work done there on your public wharf and your other public improvements. Surely, you do not forget, that many years ago, when your two wharves were almost completely swept away, that Bennett and Morris immediately came to your rescue and made you better off than you had been before. Many times it would have been impossible to have your sick attended to, were it not for Bennett's good-will towards you, and you will, nor cannot forget, ever forget—that your old Pastor was almost as much your Doctor as your clergyman. Broad Cove or as it is now called St. Philips has become an important settlement, but I see little public, at least, improvements since Campbell and Squires came into power. Do you think for a moment, that any man who spends thousands of dollars to make his son a doctor cannot find a place for him to practise in that great big country of Canada. The most of the medical fraternity who have come here, to say the least, have very little intention of remaining here. You men work in Bell Island. All knew Dr. Corochan. Do you think he has gone to Detroit to make his living after so many years work on Bell Island. Campbell will treat you likewise and laugh at Newfoundland as too green to burn. Why has Squires, so pronounced a Newfoundlanders, McMurdo's Store News.

Neustadt, Ont., April 27.—(Special)—"I suffered for about six years from rheumatism, lumbago and neuralgia. I started taking Dodd's Kidney Pills and my health is very much improved." This statement is made by Mrs. Becker, a well-known and highly respected resident here. Mrs. Becker recommends Dodd's Kidney Pills to all who suffer with kidney troubles. All that is claimed for Dodd's Kidney Pills is that they are a kidney remedy. They heal and strengthen the kidneys. They are used to treat rheumatism, dropsy, backache, urinary troubles, diabetes and heart disease, because all these ills are either of the kidneys or caused by diseased kidneys. If you suffer from any of these complaints, give Dodd's Kidney Pills a trial, and see how well you will feel. They are obtained from all druggists at 50c a box, or six boxes for $2.50.

"A Red Herring" REFRIENDS "FOX" SQUIRES—ST. JOHN'S EAST WILL "SPEW HIM OUT".
 "He who draws a red herring across the trail befriends the fox." In St. John's East, Dunfield is the herring, and Squires the fox. The only purpose an Independent candidate can serve is to help save Squires from defeat.
 Suppose the election result in 1908 were duplicated, except that instead of a tie on straight party lines, Squires got sixteen supporters and Bennett got seventeen, the thirty-sixth man being Dunfield. By supporting Squires, he could keep the Squires-Coaker gang in power. Would he? Consider his record. Squires' colleague in 1912. Coaker's assistant in 1919. Predicting this year, "Squires will win". Your answer is complete. The fox would be saved by the red herring.
 "I have no policy," says Mr. Dunfield, in his Manifesto, "an Independent must do his work by criticism, supporting or hindering the Government." That means that Mr. Dunfield will not be constructive, but destructive, and stands for nothing but criticism. This is a time when initiative is necessary above all things, and when a mere "gadfly" can be of little use. Mr. Dunfield has been prominent as an advocate of non-denominational schools, and might have been expected to have stood upon that policy as a platform, particularly when reward is paid to the fact that two school teachers are his proposers. Where does he stand on this matter as an issue, and why is he silent about it? Is this another piece of deception?
 There is a suggestion in Mr. Dunfield's Manifesto which is surprising when coming from a "superior" person. It smacks of "grat, corruption and waste," which he affects to deplore, but he broadly makes a corrupt suggestion to procure votes. After announcing himself as an "Independent," whose mission will be to criticize unmercifully all that a corrupt government may propose, Mr. Dunfield says to the electors, "It's useless to vote for the Opposition candidates, for men in opposition can do nothing for you, but, if elected, I can get 'you' what you want, for if the district is represented by me, it will 'always be on the government side'." The implication is, Dunfield will always be on the government side! As he says, "Squires will win," he means that he will be on the Squires-Coaker side.
 Anybody who says, "Elect me and I'll get you what you want," is attempting to bribe support. He does not say, "Elect me, to support what is right," but "elect me to get, not what you need alone, nor yet what you deserve only, but what you want," and that spells bribery with the public funds. Anybody who says, "The government will not give anything to opposition members, but I'll always be on the government side, consisting though it will be of grafters and corruptors, and so will be able always to get you what you want"—such a person, we say, really means to imply "because I shall always be ready to sell my support, or suppress my criticism, for public money for my constituents, which I could not get for them if I were really and truly independent." "My independence will be for sale."
 We have dealt thus completely with the candidature of Mr. Dunfield because it constitutes a public menace, for the very virtues it will seem to possess at the outset might be a trap for the unwary. He is an educated man, well connected, of good abilities, and good character, and one whom we would gladly support under ordinary conditions, and if his election could be afforded by the Colony. But the continued existence of the Squires-Coaker oligarchy is the issue, the only great issue in this election. Mr. Dunfield himself has said, "Squires has brought you bad times, but Coaker will put him in again." It is the supreme danger of the hour that this prediction may prove true. The abyss yawns before the people of the Colony. Destruction, complete and overwhelming, threatens this city especially. This Laodicean, Dunfield, professes to believe that neither existing party is to be trusted, yet offers no resistance to the grafters in power. "Because thou art neither cold nor hot, I will spew thee out of my mouth," said the spirit to the Church at Laodicea, and this is just what the electors of St. John's East should say to Mr. Dunfield. Under our constitution, crime in office can only be rebuked by turning the criminals out, and this can only be done, as far as St. John's East is concerned, by voting the straight ticket for Higgins, Fox and Vinicombe.
 Mr. Dunfield has made a sectarian appeal for the support of the Protestants in St. John's East. This affords an opportunity for a striking display of religious toleration, and for an example which will help to banish a noxious thing from public life. Mr. Dunfield's personal character is so good that it will help to point the moral. Let the Protestants be appeals to say by their votes for others, "We will not vote for you, or for any man, who seeks advantage in politics by appeals to religious bias. They should lead the way to a better feeling in our public life."

Obituary.
WM. F. SNOW, R.N.R. LOST AT SEA WITH THE SINKING OF THE VESSEL "FLORENCE HOW." ARR. NOV 30TH, 1922.
 Of the many Newfoundlanders who passed into the Great Beyond during the past year, the list is large that mournfully records the loss of those at sea, and none was more loved or better known than the subject of this obituary notice. William Snow belonged to the West End of the city, and was a son of the late Capt. John Snow, who in earlier years came from Pogo. The spirit of the sea, with "its incessant call" to the sons of the country was in the boy, and in 1914 Willie joined the Royal Naval Reserve, being only then 17 years of age. Through the time of strife, when that portion of His Majesty's Navy represented by the Newfoundland Royal Naval Reserve unit was distinguished for its splendid manly power, and when such boys as the Crookers, Joys and Barrigans proved themselves to "Home and Duty," Willie Snow too, did well and received his discharge marked with the utmost fidelity to the welfare of his Empire and Country. Personally, he was humble and unpretentious, making and keeping to him the innumerable friends who today mourn sincerely his passing. So honorable and sincere was that friendship, that the writer knew by some premonition that the dear lad must have passed from this world, when some months ago a loved, and now sadly missed correspondence was suddenly interrupted, and only on Tuesday last the sad intelligence of the end of his young life was received from the Shipping Agents' Firm of Harris and Anderson, New York. There are many who loved him well, and will miss his dear boyish presence and company and cheery smile now—but none more than the writer of these few lines dedicated in all heartfelt sympathy to his cherished memory. To his mother, stepfather, brothers and two sisters sincere condolences will be expressed and in praying for the soul of this dear son, and brother, there will be united an "asking of Heaven" to give reconciliation to the bereaved ones left, that they may find too, balm in the knowledge that "God has seen, and taken to Himself the boy so far from home." May his dear soul rest in peace.

Well Done Carboner.
MOORE WILL LEAD BY A BIG MAJORITY.
 Editor Evening Telegram
 Dear Sir—All doubt has vanished in Carboner regarding as to who will be the winner for to-day. Squires men have abandoned the fight and concede that Jim Moore will lead by a big majority. This will be in accordance with the sentiments all around Conception Bay for from every section comes the welcome news that the electors are finished with Coakerism and insist on victory for Bennett and Better Times. The secret Humber Deal of Squires cuts no ice as the people refuse to be lead blindfolded into what may afterwards prove to be merely a trap that will do more harm to them than good. Anyway we are satisfied that the Bennett Government will handle the Humber Deal to the best advantage. So here goes Carboner for Jim Moore with a good routing majority.
 Yours truly,
 NATIVE.

Inter-Club Billiards.

B.I.S. WINNERS LAST NIGHT.
 The Billiard Tournament between the B.I.S. and Masonic players is drawing large crowds of supporters from the respective clubs to the Masonic rooms each evening, and keen interest is being displayed by spectators and players alike. Last night two games were played, and in each case resulted in wins for the B.I.S. In the first game a fine exhibition was given between Sellars (M) and Moakler (B.I.S.). The latter player who played a steady game right through, made a great recovery towards the end of play and won out from his opponent by 31 points. The breaks were:— Sellars—(319) 15, 25, 20, 11, 13, 11—108.
 Moakler—(350) 12, 10, 19, 13, 11, 25, 12, 12, 11, 18, 13, 28—191.
 The second game was between J. J. McKay (M) and W. J. O'Neill (B.I.S.) and resulted in an easy win for the latter by a majority of 183 points. O'Neill for the (B.I.S.) was in excellent form. He scored many difficult shots, and had several good breaks to his credit. The outcome of the last game cut down the Masonic's total number of points considerably. The breaks were:— McKay—(187) 14, 11—25.
 O'Neill—(350) 18, 31, 12, 17, 17, 35, 21—154.

Girl Guides Entertainment.

NAUTIC THEATRE, MAY 27TH.

A meeting of the Girl Guides Association of Newfoundland was held on Thursday afternoon at headquarters to discuss Mrs. C. MacKenzie Harvey's plans, which she has kindly made, to present a big variety entertainment in aid of Headquarters funds. This entertainment will be held at the Maritime Theatre on Empire Day, the 24th May. Papers are urgently required for equipment of companies forming, purchase of literature and badges from Headquarters, England, and Headquarters funds. Although it is the object of the movement that each Company should be self-supporting, there are children already in the movement and others about to join who are absolutely unable to pay the small weekly subscription towards their uniforms. The Association hopes to be in the position to help those that the work of the Guides may be lighter. Miss Hayward, Commissioner, reported the formation of a Guide Company and a Sewing Club at Grand Falls, where Mrs. Cooper has consented to act as Commissioner. Letters were read from Guides at St. John's and St. George's where committees are at work, and from Mrs. Hignitt, Mr. Grace, who hopes to do something for the movement there. A letter was read from Lady Baden-Powell, stating that the Chief Scout and she would do their utmost to come to Newfoundland between the 29th and 31st of May. The Island Commissioner has telegraphed her urging their presence at the entertainment on the 24th May. The Association was interested to hear that Miss Macpherson, their Commissioner, and two other Newfoundland ladies were doing special training at Poole, the Girl Guide Training Centre in England, and that an English Commissioner was shortly expected to visit Newfoundland.

Harbor Grace Notes.

Mr. Robert Luffman passed away on Friday night last at his home on Harvey Street. He had been in poor health for some time. He was for many years an employee of the Reid Nrd. Co., having been Section Man on the railway line. To his widow, nee Miss Jessie Brown, as well as other relatives and friends, we offer sympathy in their hour of sorrow. The funeral was held on Sunday in St. Paul's Church, and was attended by the Sons of England Society, of which deceased was a member. Interment was made in the Church of England Cemetery, Rev. W. R. J. Hignitt officiating.

Miss Alice Cleary of the Riverhead who went to the General Hospital a short while ago to undergo an operation for appendicitis returned by Monday afternoon's train.

Mr. Bob Snow, a young lad, who was also to the Hospital for an operation of a similar nature returned by the same train.

The S.S. "Seal" arrived in port Saturday morning last with a part load of seals from St. John's and having discharged at Messrs. Murray & Crawford's premises, left again in the afternoon.

The annual Masonic Festival for the children was held in their hall on the afternoon of Monday, St. George's Day, and it is needless to add that the young folk enjoyed the occasion to the fullest extent.

Mr. C. A. Stevenson spent last week in the city on a business visit and returned to town again by Saturday afternoon's train.

The play "Capt. Rackett," which was to have been staged on Tuesday night at Riverhead, had to be postponed owing to the inclemency of the weather, and will likely go off later in the week, probably on Thursday night. The play promises to be a good one.

There was no parade of Societies here on Monday, St. George's Day. The Boy Scouts was the only turn out for the day. They paraded in the forenoon and as per usual put up a good show. Their numbers would have been much larger, but the uniforms which had been expected for some of the boys, did not come to hand.

Nomination of the different candidates for the District of Harbor Grace took place in St. Paul's Hall on Monday.

Amongst the visitors to town during the last few days have been, Miss

Let us now claim it, make it yours and mine— Here is a thought as clear as running brooks. Just two of us, we sat—and yet there came Writers of old, sagacious, keen and wise. Hr. Main's Sentiments.
WILL STAND BY BENNETT.
 Editor Evening Telegram
 Dear Sir.—On May 3rd, we will once more be called upon to declare our political allegiance, and the result is to all a foregone conclusion.
 In 1920, an effort was made to cajole us into voting for the Government candidates in the bye-election. We were told that if we did not vote for the Government, the district would not share in the great prosperity that the Squires-Coaker Government was going to bring to our island home. We did not trust Squires and Coaker then, neither are we going to trust them now. But, as in 1920 when our declaration was that Hr.
 Main wanted none of Squires and Coaker, we nailed the flag of liberty to the mast-head then and the good old flag is still fluttering in the breeze.
 In 1920 when we had everything to gain by electing government candidates in the bye-election, when all kinds of promises were handed out to us, our reply was in no uncertain manner: "away with you," "we have no trust in you." And so, Mr. Editor, in 1923 Bennett's candidates will poll the greatest vote ever recorded in loyal old Hr. Main. You need not fear that Dr. Jones as an Independent is going to influence us to "split".
 We are sorry for Dr. Jones and we think he was very badly advised to stand as an Independent. We fear that the honor conferred upon him in 1920 has turned his head, but he will live to learn that Hr. Main is a party district, that his traitorous action tous will be answered with the greatest party vote for Woodford and Kennedy ever polled. The Manuals incident the other day clearly indicates what will happen to Dr. Jones on polling day. Here in our section and the surrounding places, one would want a magnifying glass to find a Government or a Dr. Jones' supporter. If there is one, he is keeping it all to himself. We are asked to support a Government that has brought us nothing but destruction and want. We all know the poverty that the Government brought on St. John's, the terrible depression of trade, the impoverished condition of the people, the difficulty we have to sell our produce in the city, the outrageous taxes, the incompetency of the incapables who call themselves a Government who reduced a once prosperous people to a condition of great want, and no one knows this better than the country people who visit the city to sell their produce.

 "A Premier worth while" we are told —worth while for what? It must be for himself and his followers, he never did any good for the country. Everything he and Coaker undertook, they made a mess of. Fishery Regulations, Labrador fish scandals, salt scandals, sugar scandals and other scandals, too numerous to mention. The only ones to benefit from Squires and Coaker in this district are the few heeled who constitute the Road Boards. They must be dismissed after the return of the Bennett Government and the choice of Road Boards left with the people. We learn from reliable friends in St.
 John's that they are going to elect six men and one of our men who lives in Kelligrewa, told us he attended a meeting of the Bennett candidates in St. John's and he never witnessed such a sight. Thousands of men cheering for "Cashin, Linegar and Hunt," "Bennett and Better Times," and "Higgins, Vincombe, and Fox," "Bennett and Better Times," was the constant cheer. Such enthusiasm he never witnessed. Well, we are returning Woodford and Ken-

HIGGINS, FOX AND VINCOMBE AT POUCH COVE.
 Yesterday evening Messrs. Higgins, Fox and Vincombe held a very successful meeting at Bauline under the Chairmanship of Mr. Noah Le Grow.
 The gathering here was a very enthusiastic one and after the candidates had addressed the voters for over two hours loud cheers were given for the Fighting Trio, Bennett and Better Times. The team then left for Pouch Cove where they were due to arrive at 4 o'clock. About a mile from the settlement they were met by a large number of men who had prepared large bonfires in their honor.
 Two motor trucks filled with gunners were also out to meet them, and preceding the candidates carriage, they escorted them to the village where the whole population had assembled to give the Bennett standard bearers a hearty welcome. All along the route, women and children gave joyous cheers for Higgins, Fox, and Vincombe. On arrival the candidates were given a cordial welcome.
 After being entertained at the house of Mr. Sullivan, a huge overflowing meeting was held in the S.U.F. Hall.
 Mr. Reg Sullivan was unanimously elected Chairman and for over four hours Messrs. Higgins, Fox and Vincombe addressed the gathering who were deeply interested in and much impressed by the arguments against the present Government and in favor of the Bennett Party, so well represented by candidates. Mr. James Gould proposed a vote of thanks to the Chairman, which was heartily given. After prolonged cheering for Higgins, Fox and Vincombe, the most successful meeting in the history of the Shore was concluded at 12.30 this morning. There is not the least reason for doubt that Pouch Cove is more than 85 per cent. solid for Bennett and Better Times.

Our Dumb Animals.
REPORT OF THE CHIEF AGENT FOR WEEK ENDING APRIL 26TH, 1923.

Attended to the landing of 44 head of cattle, Shorses and some pigs from the Sable I. Cows heavy in calf at my request were landed in boxes for the first time. All cattle were carefully landed, watered, and fed. Capt. Murley deserves great praise for the humane way he had the cattle attended to. I would like to thank Mr. P. Morrissey and other longshoremen for the careful way in which they handled them. I also inspected ten horses from the railway consigned to Mr. P. Lewis and owned by the North British Trading Company. These horses are the worst I have ever seen come in from the Labrador woods, the shoulders of some were chafed badly. I had them examined by a Veterinary Surgeon and below is a report from him and the case is being investigated.
 Copy of Vet's report is as follows:
 "This is to certify, that I, this day, at the request of Inspector Barter, visited some horses at the Railway Station, and I find same horses in a very bad condition, shoulders very sore and in my opinion they were treated very badly this winter; the horses looked as if they had not been fed.
 (Signed) V. SMITH, V.S.
 This case was placed in the hands of the Society's Solicitor, Mr. L. R.
 Curtis, who issued a summons, but on account of being served in the wrong name, the case has to be taken up again in a few days. Meantime the names of the parties responsible for ill-treating the animals will be secured and a fresh summons issued.
 I was called to humanely put to death one of those horses on Saturday night. I was called to humanely put to death a cat for a lady in the East End and another for a lady in the West End. Both ladies contributed towards the Society's funds. I went to Mr. Campbell's slaughter House with the humane killer and painlessly put to death a large bull.
 Mr. Campbell was highly pleased with the effect of the humane killer, death being instantaneous. Animals killed in this manner are better blood and make better beef. I ordered two lame horses off the street. I also called on Mr. H. Wyatt, Manager of Morey & Co. about the entrance to their premises on the Southside. He has agreed to move the gate post, which will make it much easier for horses carting coal from those premises. I would like to call the attention of the Reid Newfoundland Co. to the condition of the Railway track on the Long Bridge. There is very much traffic there now and it is very hard on truck horses carting heavy loads of coal that way. I was also called to look after another horse at the Station consigned to Mr. Richards, and found the animal in good condition. I attended to the twelve heads of cattle and to and found all these horses in condition.

Ground which is FERTILIZED will produce more vegetables than sterile ground.
 Good Fertilizer properly used will convert poor ground into good ground.
 Good Seed put into good ground will yield goodly crop of potatoes.
 A couple of extra barrels of potatoes will repay the cost of fertilizing.

Farmers,
Read this Carefully!

This year, acting on the advice of Agricultural Experts, we have imported Fertilizers of higher grade and greater strength than were imported during the past decade of years.

The Fertilizers we now offer, are of more value than last year's importations and are guaranteed to give even better results.

Although our prices this year figure higher per pound, the cost per unit of fertilizing value is considerably less.

Putting Fertilizer into your ground is like putting money into savings bank.
 You can rely on getting more out, than you put in.—it pays to fertilize.
 NOTICE!—Our fertilizers are not adulterated with spent slag or rock dust.

EARLY CABLES.

DE VALERA SEEKS PEACE.
DUBLIN, April 27.
Suspension of hostilities by Irish Republicans and an offer to negotiate peace with the Free State on certain conditions was proclaimed to-night by Eamon De Valera and his Chief-of-Staff E. F. Aiken. De Valera's Proclamation sets forth the general political principles of the Republicans and asserts that the ultimate court of appeal for deciding disputed questions is a majority vote of the people of Ireland; that resistance by violence should be excluded but that adequate facilities should be afforded the people for the proper presentation of the issues involved. The proclamation adds that nobody holding Republican principles should be excluded from Parliament and the Council of Nations. It says the military forces are servants of the nation and amendable to a freely elected National Assembly. De Valera expresses the belief that this declaration will afford a basis for peace, and adds "We hope this advance will be met in the spirit in which we make it and that it will be supported by all who love our country and desire a speedy and just ending to the present national trouble. As evidence of our own goodwill the army command is issuing herewith an order to suspend aggressive action to take effect as soon as may be, but not later than noon on Monday." The effect of this proclamation is still doubtful. De Valera all along has declared his willingness to abide by the will of the people but says still that to maintain that position the British Government must not interfere in Ireland if the people decide in favor of a Republic. Chief-of-Staff Aiken, in his order for a cessation of operations, tells the Republican troops to remain on defence and protect themselves and munitions.

AUSTRALIA ASSISTS FREE STATE AUTHORITIES.

Under the agreement, longshoremen will receive 70 cents an hour with $1.07 for overtime, and double time if compelled to work during supper hour from 5 to 7 in the evening.

BOMB EXPLOSIONS ON RUHR RAILROADS.

DUSSELDORF, April 27.
Five separate bomb explosions on Ruhr railroads cut railway, telegraph and telephone connections and temporarily disorganized traffic during the night. This is said to have been the most serious damage since the beginning of operations. During the subsequent confusions the Germans made a determined effort to run the customs barrier with goods, but were circumvented by the French and large quantities of goods were confiscated.

U.S. ASKS BRITISH CO-OPERATION.

WASHINGTON, April 27.
News representations on the subject of rum smuggling have been made by the United States Department which is requested in friendly terms to co-operate in preventing vessels flying the British flag, from engaging in liquor traffic between the United States and foreign ports. Among the subjects taken up is that of cancelling British registry of rum vessels found to be actually controlled by United States interests. The British Ambassador is asked to use his good offices with Canadian authorities to prevent the issuance of clearance papers to vessels with liquor designated for United States ports.
