THE TELEGRAPH DEAL.

HEADQUARTERS OF THE NORTH-WESTERN COMING TO TORONTO.

The Work of Consolidation—When will Rates be Increased?—Montreal Telegraph Stock to go out of the Market.

The lease of the Montreal telegraph line to the Great Northwest company has been consummated, and Dr. Wiman, the president of the latter, has formally gone into possession. Mr. Wiman came up to Toronto yesterday and is now in the city.

THE HEAD OFFICES of the Great Northwest company, according to a Montreal dispatch, will be removed to Toronto shortly. This step will probably cause considerable feeling in Montreal, and will give an impetus to any opposition likely to be offered to the new concern.

This is a most likely move, though it may be some time before it is made. Mr. Dr. Wiman said to be the manager of the new company, and he no doubt would have a word to say to the Montreal, the Dominion and the North-western, could be managed much better than anywhere else in the country.

THE REAL HEADQUARTERS OF THE CONCERN, however, are in the West. Union people of New York, and what they say will determine the policy of the Canadian managers. Shrewd Yankee business men, they are said to be pledged to pay a dividend, and to make the company a success.

It is said Mr. Wiman has been very liberal in the promise of an increase of wages to the staff of the consolidation, but the officials will do well not to put too much faith in Mr. Wiman's good intentions. They should be ready to give a cheaper rate than in the past, and to be prepared to run on strict business usage, and the men in New York who have secured the monopoly will not be slow to do so.

THEY WILL REDUCE THE NUMBER OF OPERATORS, they will close unproductive offices, and they will increase the rate of wages, they think any of the present employees do not suit they will dismiss them with little or no notice. The new company will do to all the telegraph business of Canada much cheaper than the three companies did, and therefore ought to give a cheaper service. But they have the monopoly, and monopolies do no missionary or good Samaritan work.

THE NEW AMERICAN CAPITAL telegraph company has completed a number of contracts for building and equipping of its lines. Thus far the company has made rapid progress in its work. At present it has a contract for building lines from Boston, via Providence, Hartford, New York, Philadelphia and Baltimore, to Washington, and from New York, via Springfield, Wilmington, Del., and other cities. It is expected that the line from New York to Chicago, via Albany, Buffalo, Cleveland, Toledo, and Detroit, will be completed and opened for public business early in October. Already it is in Buffalo, and would make connections with the Erie and the Western Union.

WHERE WOULD BE IN THE GREAT cable companies. As soon as Gould's new cables are laid, they will be in the hands of the Western Union. The latter will then control the biggest system in the United States and Canada, and four cables to Europe, and the operation will get very little business from him. In self-defence they will have to get hold of the American Mutual or some other system, and start an opposition to the Western Union.

THE IRISH LAND BILL. Favorable Comments of Two Leading London Journals. The Daily News in a leading article says that there can be no doubt that the land bill is a good one, and will make capital out of the interference of the house of lords with the bill. We regret that the opportunity has been offered them to say that the lords spoiled the bill, but reasonable men know that the bill is not spoiled. We do not believe that the lords will do anything to compromise the value of its beneficent operation.

The Times in a leading article says: "The bill goes back to Gladstone's speech in the commons on the introduction of

The lords are responsible. They undertook to amend it in the interest of the landowner class, of which they are themselves the leading members.

But the measure is in many respects an improvement on the old law, and it is wisely administered.

The agitators will find their occupation gone, and Irishmen will feel at last that they have become part of the nation.

By the disembarrassment of the Irish church and the reform of the land laws Mr. Gladstone has done more real good to Ireland than any English statesman that ever lived.

Our commercial independence. The government policy has given us the national policy has done a great deal, though no doubt quite unwittingly, for Canadian independence.

It made a wide breach between the two countries commercially, and it is more true of the nation than of the individual that his heart is in its pocket.

The national policy has not only estranged Englishmen from us, but has imbued our own people with national pride. There is in this way being a drift away on both sides.

Englishmen feel that Canada has shown an ungrateful spirit, and that as a colony she does not pay to keep. Canadians, however widely they may differ upon the tariff, feel a measure of self-importance in being able to construct their own fiscal system.

And it is well to remind some of our commercial independence was a recently-obtained freedom. The Marquis of Lorne was the first governor sent to Canada whose instructions did not direct him to reserve any bill imposing differential duties for the queen's approval.

Lord Dufferin the bill must necessarily have been reserved for the consideration of the home authorities. Would they sanction it? It is hard to say.

CANADA'S FUTURE

To the Editor of the Toronto World. Sir, -The two of these journals that stoutly fight for the maintenance of British connection imply by their utterances that an ill-fitting amounting to total separation is the inevitable result.

But there is not such a result, because it has been shown at various times and in a variety of ways that England is not longer than incoherent with their wishes.

Numerous British statesmen as well as political writers have repeatedly expressed sentiments favoring Canadian independence.

I will here mention the names of some of them: Lord Derby, Mr. Lowe, Sir George Campbell, W. E. Forster, Mr. Bright, Lord Grey, the late Lord Russell, Lord Monk, Lord Brougham, Earl of Ellenborough, Lord Howick, &c.

And many others. I know that Mr. Gladstone in 1870, whatever his opinions are now, expressed himself strongly in favor of the separation of the colonies from the mother country.

Therefore it is perfectly safe to predict a quiet and peaceful separation which would leave Canada free to act in its own interest.

The inauguration of Canadian independence would do more to benefit this country than any other measure.

Such a step would be the means of consolidating the various provinces, which are now but loosely held together.

Canadians have at their disposal the means of a national unity, and the command of a military nation, the command of which cannot be held otherwise than by the corner-stone of independence.

The coming manhood of this country is not to be feared. It is the result of the principles of nationalism, and stoutly maintains them.

A MISERABLE DEATH.

A Paralytic Old Woman Dies in Poverty in Her Bed—Her Husband Arrested For Drunkenness.

About three weeks ago Mrs. Peacock, living at 78 Essex street, rented a room to a man named William Duke and his wife. Duke was a man of very respectable appearance.

With white hair and beard, suit of black cloth and gold watch and chain. His wife was partially paralyzed, and Mrs. Peacock afterwards ascertained that she had been living for some time previously in the house of industry.

The new tenants furnished the room very comfortably, but on the second day, and it is said has not been since. The furniture was sold piece by piece, until yesterday not a single article remained. They must have been living in a very shabby fashion, as although it was arranged that Mrs. Peacock should have six small children, Peacock's story, nothing has been cooked for the past week.

Mrs. Peacock, who has a husband laid up with lameness, and six small children, began to be troubled by the habits of her lodgers, and having heard that Duke went to Grace church, she called on the Rev. J. P. Leach, and tried to get the couple into the house of industry, where, however, they were refused admittance on account of their dissipated habits.

Yesterday morning Duke came into the kitchen to return a dust pan and became very abusive, and when he started to go, he appeared as if he was drunk. He was the matter when he answered that he had been drinking in the morning, and he had not answered when he spoke, and when he examined her he found she was dead.

The unfortunate woman was found lying on an old straw mattress, attired in a dark dress, but with no skirt or other covering. Mr. Peacock, having covered the fact, sent word to No. 2 police station, and a policeman was sent to inspect the room. About 1 o'clock Duke was arrested.

HE PROBABLY CAUSE OF DEATH.

It was not considered necessary to hold an inquest. The paralytic affection of the woman, her alleged dissipated habits, combined perhaps, with the fact, seen in the early account for her miserable death. Mr. Peacock, who keeps a hotel at the corner of Agnes and Elizabeth streets, kindly interested himself in having the corpse decently buried, and obtained an order for that purpose from Ald. Ryan, acting mayor, which he is accordingly intended by Mr. Stone.
