All the provisional, or split stamps, are rare, some of them being represented by a single specimen. Of the pence issue splits, the two and a half 3 pences used as 7½ pence, and the diagonally cut 6 pence, are the most common varieties. In all cases the vertical or horizontal split is much rarer than the diagonal variety.

In the above list, I have omitted the various shades of the shilling, as the stamp is extremely rare, and I prefer not to speak from hearsay.

The Stamps of British Columbia and Vancouver Island.

BY W. F. VAN MALDER.

Of all the British North American stamps, the stamps of British Columbia, with which is included Vancouver Island, are the least heard of. They certainly are worthy of as much study as any other B. N. A. stamps, and in a good used condition are comparatively. rarer than any other of the B. N. A. and are fully worth the catalogue To prove this, all that is necessary is to go to any large dealer and observe the small number of British Columbia and Vancouver Island stamps he has, as compared to those of Nova Scotia, New Brunswick, or other B. N. A. Look, again, at the collections of those making a specialty of B N. A., and see how few of British Columbia they contain. I have had the pleasure of examining a good many collections myself, with the result as above, therefore a few words on the stamps themselves will not be out of order.

British Columbia and Vancouver Island issued their first stamp in 1861, and it was of the denomination of 27 pence, printed in pink, and had the names of both colonies on them. They are found imperforated, and perforated 14, the imperforated being very rare. In fact, I think, without exception, it is the rarest of all B. N. A. stamps, as very few are known to exist.

The next to follow were the 5 cents rose and 10 cents pink of Vancouver Island, and are priced in cents, as the accounts of that colony were kept in dollars and cents from 1862, during which time those of British Columbia were expressed in pence. They were issued about July, 1875, and were typographed on white paper, water-marked a crown and C C, and are found imperforate and perforated 14, like the 2½ pence British Columbians, are much rarer imperforate than perforated. they were only in use one year when the colonies became united, we can thereby judge the rarity of good used copies, and Scott's price is not too high.

In 1866 we have the 3 pence blue, bearing the names of both colonies, printed in blue, in shades from dark to light, and watermarked crown and CC, and is the commonest of all the Columbia British andVancouver stamps.

To meet the requirements of the change in currency, in 1867, the decimal series came in use. To save the cost of a new plate, they were all printed from the same plate as the 3 pence blue, only in different colors, and had the values printed at the The colors are—for the 2 cents, brown; 5 cents, red; 10 cens, rose-pink; 25 cents, orange; $1, green. The earliest printings are perforated matter of amalgamation.

14, and some measuring  $13\frac{1}{2}$ . later printing they were all perforated  $12\frac{1}{2}$ , except the 2 cents value. The 10 cents and \$1 are found in about the same proportion both ways; the 5, 25 and 50 cents are much starcer perforated 123.

To those making a specialty of B. N. A. stamps, I would advise to fill up their British Columbia as quickly as they can, as the time will surely come when the true value of them will be more generally known, and consequently the prices will advance.

Like most other countries, they are not entirely free from the counterfeter, but as the printing is so poorly executed, and are on unwatermarked paper, it requires only a comparison with a genuine copy to be able to distinguish the difference.

THE secret mark on the stamps of Queensland consists of a crown and the letter Q, embossed faintly—in fact, being bifficult to distinguish. nearly the size of the watermark, and is impressed on the center of the stamp. It exists on all the hand 1 pence stamps, on their wmkd. paper.

THE principle difference between the original issue andithe re-engraved of the 1854-6 1 pence red stamps of Great Britain, is in the eyelids, which are scarcely visible in the original, and are very plain in the reengraved series.

WE are somewhat late this month due to waiting for reports as to the amalgamation meetings. We must apologize for this, but the chance of securing a "scoop" was tempting, so much so that we held the paper back a week in order to have the news in the

EDITORIAL.

THE article in our last number, on the Nova Sootia Remainders, by "A Halifax Collector, " has attracted considerable attention and was reprinted by Mekeel's Weekly Stamp News. In a later issue of that publication, there appears a little note from Mr. Donald A. King of this city, contradicting the statements of our contributor. This is surely a unique position for Mr. King to take, for, as everybody knows, he was the prime mover in the deal that brought to light those shady news that amalgamation is off. remainders. In his letter, Mr. King is well known, Mr. Weldon, at a moment careful to expunge any hint as to what when the committee on amalgamation the real facts of the matter are, and was ready to bring matters to an issue now, since our contributor is in error, interferred, and issued a circular in we extend to Mr. King a cordial corroboration with Capt. Wurtele of invitation to give the public a statement of the true facts. You have the floor, Mr. King.

While we are writing this, meetings are being held in Toronto and Montreal for the purpose of amalgamating the D. P. A and the C. P. A. These meetings are being held under the authority of the respective Presidents. and amount to nothing. We refuse to be amalgamated, and await with interest the amusing antics of our peculiar President. Come up, gentlemen, and join the great new society, - it will only cost one dollar to join, and this amount is divided between the official organ and the secretary The name is the D. of C. P. A., with a probability of having the first word cut off. all the suckers in the philatelic domain hasten to join the new association, in which the dues are only four times what they should be. All D. P. A. members should rally round, and hasten to join the C. P. A under the new name and the same old nature. "Send the Secretary one dollar" will now take the place of "Send Uncle Tommyrot two dollars," of Sunday World fame. In the meanwhile, we will go right on with the D. P. A and rational dues, knowing that we will receive the support of a majority of its members, and firm in our faith in low dues and officers who do not soil their hands with remuneration for their services.

Just as we go to press, come the.

the C. P. A., which contained a plan of union, This circular called for initiation fee of 50cts and 50cts. per annum dues. From the tenor of this circular, we thought it was Mr. Weldon's intention to force almalgamation under any conditions, and consequently condemned most strongly his actions in this respect Interference of this oddious kind ill befits a President of a national society, and Mr. Weldon's action in doing this, is something not easy to forget. Still. when the matter was brought to issue, it appears that Mr. Weldon has not overlooked the interests of our Association, for which we will be very glad to give him his full credit. Particulars are meagre as yet, and we hope the light of fuller information may show that Mr. Weldon's actions were in the in the interest of the D. P. A.

Amalgamation Off!

Advises from Toronto and Montreal indicate that amalgamation negotiations will not take place.

(Special telegraph report to H. P. M.)
TORONTO, FEB. 1ST, 1897.

Amalgamation meeting favored lower ducs, otherwise in favour. Further particulars unobtainable. Believe Montreal meeting favoured amalgamation unanimously.

LATER PARTICULARS.

"The meeting of the C. P. A. was "in favor of amalgamation and eu"trusted me with necessary authority
"to enter into relations with the D. P.
"A. to conclude matters. I regret
"however, that upon my return here,
"I was informed by Mr. Weldon that "the D. P. A. was prepared to accept "the proposal conditionally with a still "greater reduction in fees. This, I could not for a moment entertain and regret that our efforts have proved unavailing. Under the circumstances, I am taking immediate measures to re-organize the C. P. A.

ERNEST F. WURTELE,

President C. P. A.

THE above is all we can obtain up to to time of going to press, which indicates that amalgamation has failed to connect, and that Canada will now have two national societies. We are inclined to the opinion that it is forthe best, certainly it would never do for the D. P. A. to surrender itself to the C. P. A., and while amalgama. tion would necessitate some concessions on both sides, still the D. P. A. has some principles of vital importance, which, in surrendering, would mean its practical extinction. From what we can learn, Mr. Weldon acted in the interests of the D. P. A., and although his interference in the matter appears to have been uncalled for and discourteons to the Trustees and others, still he appears to have acted as a loyal D. P. A. member, and we extend our approval of his latter action.

Mr. Patterson's Reply to Mr. Weldon.

The ex-Secretary of the D. P. A. gives some inside facts in re the late Convention, effectually answering the invendos of his detractors.

TO THE EDITOR OF THE H. P. M.,-

Dear Sir,—In the Philatelic Era for Dec. 12th, in the "Canadian Notes," there appears a lengthy paragraph relating to me personally, and which calls for a reply. I take this opportunity of showing the falsity of the argument.

Toronto, who writes under the name of proxies and received 6 more while "Jasper," in beginning states that I there. I should state that I went four am continually harping on bossism, etc I days before the convention was called. an instance of this kind I give it to the the city and introduced me to the leadwho wrote the notes in question. But, as Mr. Weldon has seen fit to take up the subject, I must, in as brief a manner as possible, answer his Mr. Weldon says that statements. the world knows I was a candidate for Sec'y-Treas. of the D. P. A at the the last election. Now, as election drew near, I announced that I would not be a candidate for Sec'y-Treas Messrs. Muirhead, another year. Bishop, Wicks and Barnum and other gentlemen, whose names I can give if necessary, solicited me to again stand being satisfied with the work done by me during my term in office.

I consented to run and did so, but did not solicit one vote during the election as I desired to leave the choice entirely free. I challenge Mr. Weldon to produce proof that I solicited votes during the campaign. Mr. Weldon's opinion of me has evidenly changed during the campaign, as he then wrote I re igned would make a good running pair." Perhaps Mr. Weldon has forgotten this little incident. support was pledged to Mr. Muirhead. proxies at the convention and the or retract it.

The writer, Mr. I. E. Weldon of I took to the convention in Toronto 43 Now this is not the case. When I see | Mr. C. Bailey kindly took me around readers of the philatelic papers and ing dealers. In a conversation with there let the matter drop. What I Mr. W. R. Adams, I learned the true said in regard to the D. P. A., I said state of affairs when he said that over my own name that all might see Toronto collectors would never permit the D. P. A. to be amalgamated with the C. P. A. He said that before doing that they would start another society. I then saw the true state of affairs and gave about 30 of the proxies I had into Mr. C. Bailey's hands, instructing him to give my books, etc., to the convention and inform them that I was not a candidate for re-election, but, to see that the proxies were voted by the persons whom I was supporting. I was not defeated, as, had I desired to run, I held enough votes, outside of the personal promises of other friends to have controlled the whole election had I so wished. The conventien was a farce, the nominating committee being the power behind the throne the result was anounced, and I had received an impartial report of the convention, I had no further desire to become identified among the leading lights of the D. P. A. and last month However, I did not resign me a postal card adding that "we for over three months after the election. As to Mr. Weldon's statement that my proxies were fraudulent, I will say that I replied that my it is a falsehood and I defy him to prove that one proxy held me was not Mr. Weldon then states that I was signed by the memper whose name defeated and shortly after sent in my appeared thereon. If Mr Weldon's a resignation to the D. P. A. He also gentleman, and I believe hel is, he will states that I held a large number of either present proof for this statement Mr. Weldon also states larger part of these were thrown out that the Toronto members do wish to as not having been signed by the mem- run the society but for its own good bers or in other words he charges me and feel quite confident of being able with executing fraudulent proxics. to do independent of me. When I assumed the position of Sec'y-Treas of D. P. A., only one member in Toronto, Mr. W. R. Adams, had paid his dues, and at the time of holding the convention not over six out of over forty Toronto members had paid their dues. Mr. Weldon's name had to be blacklisted before he would pay his. The interest the Toronto members took in the D. P. A was truly marvelous. After six months of hard work upon society affairs, in which Messrs. Adams and Bailey afforded me a little assistance, the society was on its feet. and then these guardian angels were willing to condescend to take the whole management of the Association into their own hands and receive the credit of building up the society. They are quite willing to pose as public benefactors.

In closing his article, Mr. Weldon asks pardon of the editor and readers for giving so much of his time to the attacks of a disgruntled politician, but he would like to set these much abused Toronto tin-gods right in the eyes of the philatelic world There we have the key-note of the whole thing. Toronto members want to look right in the eyes of the public They wish others to do the work while they goes on. obtain the credit. This reminds me of Burns' quotation.

"O wad some power the giftie gle us To see ourselves as ither see us! It wad frae monie a blunders free us And foolish notions."

Also of the later addition.

But, oh! how pleasing to these selfish elves If other see them as they see themselves."

IRVING E. PATTERSON.

LITERARY NOTES.

* BY A M. MUIRHEAD.

Just three years ago, there came a little crudely gotten up paper that none in red, blue and gold, and begins a new thought would live six months.

larger faultless themselves. papers, hastened to ridicule the little stranger, and went for it with a will. Yet it lived and prospered until few would recognize in the Evergreen State Philatelist the result of so humble a to-day, beginning. Fine to its name, its cover is ever of that color so dear to the Irishman's heart, and our hope is that it hall meet no obstacles in its onward march, and that every year shall bring twelve numbers of the popular E. S. P.

AND now we come to Mekeel's Weekly Stamp News Surely in no country under the sun with the exception of the United States, could such a publication pass through the mails as second-class matter. It is all Mekeel, the grand, the mighty, the omnicient Mekeel. We might almost look through the paper upon which it is printed and expect to find it watermarked Mekeel. Literary giants, writing from all the principal centers of philately, contribute each week their soul stirring notes, and each burns incense to the name of the only Mekeel. The mighty firm of Mekeel gets out the "Postage Stamp Album of the World," and invite all to compete for a prize of $50 in gold, as to who shall write the best essay on its virtues. No less a person than C. E. Severn of Cook County, wins the prize, after prostrating himself body and bones, and all the literary talents he might possess before the Album and the name of Mekeel. And thus the good work

THE American Collector is one of our best papers - a "bird," as Mr. Page, of Muscatine, Iowa, would say. Mr. Miller,. I am sure, has no dearth of well-wishers, and doesn't need any praise I could give him, but I can't retrain from adding my voice to the rest in expressing the hope that his paper shall see many noons, and that Seebeck shall get out many more of his yearly sets before the American Collector is numbered with the departed.

THE Philatelic Advocate, published by Starnaman Brothers, at Berlin, Ont., has turned out a most enterprising sheet. The January number has a cover printed The volume. We extend congratulations.
