The marquis said the Turks proved to be thoroly trained fighters, and that they concealed their trenches so well that they were invisible at forty yards. The British Government was never under any delusion as to the possibility that the Turks might bring up a force of considerable magnitude to attack the British positions. It was for this reason that British forces were sent to Mesopotamia from Egypt and India.

A definite answer, however, was made to the question as to whether the government would introduce conscription. David Lloyd George, chancellor of the exchequer, said that the government was not of the opinion that there was any ground for believing that the war would be more successfully prosecuted thereby, and added that Earl Kitchener, secretary for war, was very much gratified with the response to his appeal for volunteers.

PREPARE FOR WAR

to Be Ready for June

North Toronto Conservatives are rallying to the banner of the party in preparation for a general election. Assurances that it is on the way were not lacking at a meeting held in Cumberland Hall last evening, and all the delegates assembled had their spirits stirred by addresses of combative nature. Mayor Church led on the attack with a warning that the poils would open in June.

"The election is coming," he declared. "It may arrive like a thief in the night, or in the twinkling of an eye, but we must be ready. An election will thoroly clear the air." He claimed it was a wise measure to let the soldiers in the trenches share in their franchise privilege by the

W. K. McNaught urged the splendid work of the Borden government. No Liberal government had punished grafters, and now a precedent was set by which Sir Wilfrid Laurier might well profit. President Geo. Stephenson retired with his executive, and new officers were elected, as follows: President, R. G. Smythe; vice-presidents, M. J. O'Leary, John Pearl, F. R. Cleland, J. Baker; secretary, F. R. Richardson; treasurer, F. J. Hearn; auditors, W. H. Fairbairn and David Pearl.

Official intimation has been received by Mrs. Dickson of Scarlett road of the death from wounds in northern France of her husband, Pte. Jas. Dickson, who as a reservist left to join the Scots Guards immediately on the outbreak of the war. A curious coincidence is that Mrs. Dickson has received a letter from her late husband dated the day of his death, in which no hint was given of his serious condition.

Pte. Dickson was a veteran of the South African war, and went thru that war unscathed, as he did also thru the present war until receiving the wound which caused his death.

The orchestra of the church will furnish the music and an excellent program is being arranged.

ROME, April 20.—(Via Paris).—Prince Von Buelow, the German ambassador to Italy, has requested the Associated Press to deny a rumor in circulation here to the effect that he had transferred the Villa Malta, his residence in Rome, to his brother-in-law, the Prince Di Camporeale.

Instead of there being a break between Instead of there being a break between Italy and Austria-Hungary, Prince Von Buelow said that he thought the negotiations connected with his mission here were proceeding satisfactorily; they had given him confidence that what he termed "the good sense of the Italian people would triumph in the end."

The negotiations, according to Prince Von Buelow, were now mostly being conducted in Vienna, but as in all the discussions the contracting powers had been far apart in their point of view, it was taking a long time to come to any concrete conclusion. But, the prince added if ultimately they did not reach an agreement on a basis of reciprocity he would quite despair of human reason.

quick, vigorous protest from Great Britain. It has just been sent to Germany thru the American embassy and state department.

Full details concerning the nature of the treatment of British prisoners in Germany are not at hand. The government only knows what Germany cald in the original note transmitted thru Ambassador Gerard, which stated that 39 officers, equaling the number of submarine prisoners here, had been taken from the ordinary detention camp and confined elsewhere under military arrest. Later press reports stated that ten of these prisoners had been placed in solitary confinement. Upon hearing this the government asked Washington to make enquiries as to the truth thereof, But to this no answer has been received. The government, however, has not swaited the answer, feeling that the facts already at hand justify a protest.

May Become Serious.

It seems likely that this prisoner matter will become serious. It is stated on splendid authority that the submarine prisoners are not being held in an ordinary detention camp with other prisoners of war, being considered unentitled to any honors in view of the nefarious character of their work, but they are in a naval detention barracks, where they are given ample food and exercise, and, according to a report officially received from Germany they are as comfortable as any prisoners in Germany.

U. S. Official to inspect Men.

Arrangements are now in the making for an American official to inspect these prisoners. A favorable report on their treatment so far as humaneness is concerned is quite certain, which may serve to alleviate conditions for Britishers in Germany. There has been infinitely more talk here about harsh treatment for prisoners than action. When these submarines were first taken the press was full of letters from advisers recommending all sorts of drastic punishment. The favorotic idea was to treat them as pirates. The government finally decided not to accord honors of war to these prisoners. Nothing drastic, however, was done, and the prisoner are Special to The Toronto World.

Let us first consider the transplant-ing of the indoor seedlings spoken of yesterday.

Having accustomed these gradually or at least a week or ten days to conditions as near approaching those of outdoors as possible, the next thing to consider is the outdoor beds.

See to it that these beds are in the proper condition before any transplanting is undertaken. The earth should have settled sufficiently after the digging of a couple of weeks perthe digging of a couple of weeks be-fore to such a degree that no further settling is probable. A bed that sags in the middle is a despair more or less all summer long, because unfortu-nately it is the kind of a bed that keeps on sinking.

Then see to it also that the soil is in a properly moist condition to allow of proper manual working. A sticky soil is a most maddening condition to work in, and usually comes from the work in, and usually comes from the direct carelessness or ignorance of the gardener. It often happens that the gardener decides to water the bed just before transplanting. There is just one sensible thing to do when this happens, and that is just to delay transplanting until next day. Don't you believe it? Well just water that bed, and then try transplanting. To experienced gardeners it may seem a silly waste of time to even mention silly waste of time to even mention the thing, but this department is for new gardeners, and a number of them waste two or three days, and many plants just because of this one little mistake.

So be sure to water your beds the lay before transplanting. Your soil does not want to be too wet nor too dry. And it is a very important thing to look after, gardeners. Remember you are going to put baby plants in new surroundings and expect them to go along alone. So try to make these new surroundings so suitable that, as we pointed out yesterday, there will be no check in the slow and gradual growth. A check in the growth often means a dropping of the leaves, and worse, a blighting of the new-coming Soil too wet means a clogging around the tender young roots, and a soil the least little too dry means an immediate withering of the whole plant. Once the plant has with ered even the smallest bit, goodby to any definite hope of satisfactory bloom as far as most annuals and semi-annuals are concerned.

(To be Continued.) J.B. Mimico-Sweet peas as a rule are not suitable plants for transplant-ing, on account of the peculiar tap-root. Therefore, as I pointed out some chancellor Boyd yesterday, in the foot attaining people need are provided. All leading druggists supply Sarges, and say there is a large demand for it.

While this new preparation has given splendid results as a nerve-tonic and victalizer, it should not be used by nervous people unless they wish to gain at least gen pounds of flesh.

Chancellor Boyd yesterday, in the non-jury assize court, awarded Norman Davis and Gordon, A. Walls, real weeks ago it is not wise to number your sweet peas among the plants in the seed-boxes. Some gardeners claim they can get transplanted sweet peas, but, I have not in a special article.

The consequences of eating between meals are far-reaching. If a child is well and strong, no immediate evil results are seen; but, little by little, the digestion is weakened and the in-evitable dyspeptic results follow. Constant nibbling of biscuits, apples, cake and candy keeps the gastric juices constantly at work and the muscular movements of the stomach in action. The stomach needs a rest as well as do other parts of the body, and if this is denied it, of course it wears out. I think many well-meaning but thoughtless people cause careful mentions.

thoughtless people cause careful mo-thers a great deal of axniety. I refer to those kind neighbors who insist on giving other people's children "pieces," or fruit or candy. It is enough to discourage any young mother who has worked hard to bring up her children properly to find that they have no appetites for the food they should eat, because of the pernicious "piecing"

when with playmates.
Perhaps every child does not suffer ill results. But, because your children seem immune, never take it for granted that your neighbor's children are the same. No person has a right to feed another person's child without first asking permission of that child's mother. It is not tactful either to let the child overhear such a request, since it only makes the refusal cause

Water should be taken between meals, but nothing else, unless you know the child to be really hungry. In that case give milk and watch results. Then, if the appetite fails at the regular meal time clients. the regular meal time, give nothing but water between meals, even if the child is sure he is very hungry. Often a drink of water is all that is necessary to relieve the child is sure he is very hungry. a drink of water is all that is necessary to relieve the hungry feeling. And then you must remember that children often ask for something to eat because they are for a moment unoccupied, and do not know how else to fill in the time.

No child who is fed according to any of the schedules given in this column will suffer from lack of nourishment. So do not injure their digestions by allowing your children to eat between meals and do not allow other people to so hurt them and you. people to so hurt them and you.

EXCUSE HAS VANISHED

Way to Bring Good Times Back is to Spend a Little.

For more than a year the habit of selfdenial has been practised by many people. inclination has been to refrain from purchasing. To save, not to spend, has been the rule. The moment has come to reverse the practice. The maxim which will lead to new prosperity is buy it now! that the prosperity of the people is in their own hands. By their own act they can hasten the end of the existing depression and speed the arrival of unexampled prosperity. That end and that arrival are certain to come in any event, men ordinaril, forehanded became misers; the ancient maxim was amended to read; "Take care of the pennies and lock up the dollars out of use."

The result has been a financial stringency now happily fast disappearing, and business depression for which no reason longer exists.

Put Genius Into Stew.

The address of the afternoon was given by Rev. J. W. Granam, B.A., D.D., who appealed for loyalty to college trauitions, to Aima Mater, and for an extension of appreciation for woman as queen of the home. The speaker wished more attention paid to the profession of home-making, to the science that puts "Witchery into a ribbon and genius into a stew."

The business part of the work was contained in the mation before this depression set in. We do not counsel extravagance, but we insist that niggardliness is no longer either necessary or help-ful—not even to the person practising it. At a host of points millions of men and women have been saving each a little beyond the normal amount of saving. By so doing they have reduced demand, stifled trade, shut down factories, lessened employment and spread destitution and distress far and wide.

The pusiness part of the work was contained in the resume of the year's activities by the president, and by the reports of the secretary, Mrs. Allan Keith; corresponding secretary, Mrs. H. G. Johnston; hostess committee, Mrs. Ernest Walker; charity work, Mrs. Ernest Walker; charity work, Mrs. Mortimer.

While they were in the trenches, says Col. Currie, the fighting was incessant, shells by day and rifle fire at night. The fight at Neuve Chapelle was very hot. The Canadians were not in the thick of it, "but the rifle and artillent fire sounded like Niagara." The Canadian artillery were doing good shooting, and he adds that the Canadian troops would as soon trust their own artillery to shoot over their heads as some of the British batteries.

Even back from the trenches, as they went to sleep at night, they could hear the patter of German bullets against the walls of the building. At the time of writing Col. Arbitrating Values of Real Estate.

Friends of Chairman Drayton of the court of revision, who is also official arbitrator of the city, are defending his award in the Miller arbitration, by saying that he goes according to the evidence laid before him ir such cases. This is not a defence. It is the ground of the objection to his awards. Mr. Justice Middleton handed out judgment in the action of Arnold Swayze, John R. Chapman and Samuel Viddowson against Ernest Grobb, Joshua Garrett, David Cowan and William P. Kearney and the London

Foundry Company.

The plaintiffs are shareholders in the company and they allege that the defendants, who are directors, held a meeting some time between February 3, 1915, and February 15, 1915, and allotted twenty shares to Joshua Gar-rett and fifty shares to David Cowan, thus giving them the right to vote.

It was claimed that the election of Messrs. Grubb, Garrett, Cowan and Kea ney to the directorate on February 15, 1915, was illegal, and plaintiffs asked that the defendants be restrained from dealing with the assets of the company or transacting its business. His lordship holds that it was illegal and set it aside.

LONDON, April 20 .- In the sem weekly narrative written by an office at the headquarters of the Britisl army in France, under date of Apri 19, and given out today by the officia 19, and given out today by the official press bureau, the writer reports the capture by the British of a German position on a hill to the west of Zwartelene. Both belligerents lost many men. He also reports increased activity among the heavier-than-air services ,and says that four German aeroplanes were brought to earth in three days. The officer's account says:

"The improvement in the weather since the last report resulted in an increase in the activity of both our own and the enemy's air service. Advantage in the exchanges has been with us. In the Ypres district four hostile aeroplanes have been brought down in the last three days, two by us and two by the French. Yesterday one of our airmen drove off three hostile aeroplanes, completing subsequently the reconnaissance on which he was engaged.

"Early on April 15 the enemy shelled our trenches near St. Eloi heavily, and exploded a mine which injured some of our parapets. No attack followed, and the damage was promptly repulsed. "On April 16 the enemy exploded aree mines in the La Bassee district, at they were quite harmless."

SERVICE CRIPPLED

LONDON, April 20 .- A marked result of the war thruout London at the present moment is the partial dislocation of the postal services. Mail deliveries are less frequent and haphazard collections are also fewer, and seldom adhere to fixed times. A postoffice official explained today that this was due to the fact that 30,000 postal servants are now under arms, the service being accordingly disorganized. "We simply cannot get men over the military age to fill the places over the military age to fill the places of the absentees. When we do get them it takes considerable time to train them, consequently the residue of the staff is struggling to carry on the work of those who have gone. We get occasional complaints regarding the late deliveries of letters, but it is useless complaining. We are just doing the best possible under extraordinary conditions."

costs cwing to the favorable nature of the ground.

In the great zones of shearing and fracture which are found at Porcupine, vein systems of five or more veins are fully as numerous as single veins in other gold fields. It is obvious that $100,000,000 in gold ore concentrated into a space of 100 acres can be found with much more certainty and recovered with much less expense than if contained in a larger area. Hence the central shaft, the elaborate development of power and the great milling plant for the several properties.

Ore is Deep Seated.

Porcupine differs greatly from any other gold fields in Ontario. The country rock was originally a hard massive volcanic, but the shearing has rendered it soft, schistose and favorable for voin formation and readily permeable by the hot solutions which carried the precious metal. In such ground ore deposits are always deep seated, large and numerous, tho in places somewhat irregular. For this reason the mining problem is not yet fully solved. Even at the Hollinger each year brings fuller knowledge of the characteristics of the ore bodies, enabling development work to be carried on with a greater degree of certainty.

Be the metallurgical problem in treating the ore is now practically determined and there cannot be much further delay in arriving at the most effective and coonomical methods of locating the numerous ore bodies and bringing them to the surface.

sconomical methods of locating the numerous ore bodies and bringing them to the surface.

Several properties will in a few years be developed and equipped to full capacity and mining and milling operations will proceed more efficiently and cheaply and on a much larger scale.

Profits $3,000,000 Yearly.

The Hollinger has, for the time being, been getting along with 60 stamps and earning more than the East Rand proprietary with 900 in commission. But with sufficient development the Hollinger can very easily supply 120 stamps with highly payable ore. When thus operating the net profits will be over $3,000,000 per year, a sum considerably in excess of that of any other gold mine in any part of the world and more than the annual earnings of our argest bank.

The Hollinger is not the only valuable property in Porcupine. The Acme is considered by many to be superior to its great neighbor. And there are several others that with further development will make large forcumes for their lucky owners.

The shear zones and vein systems are strong and well defined between the Millerton on the west and the "Big Dome" on the east. In other parts of the field single veins occur, not containing as much ore, but often more regular than the vein systems in the central portions. On the whole results have been unusually good for the work done, and notwithstanding the tendency in some quarters to underrate the resources of Canada it can be asserted with absolute confidence that Porcupine is potentially a great mining camp and will soon be contributing very materially to the world's stores of gold.

FREE GOLD PLENTIFUL. Pike Lake Mine is Now Being Operated on 18 Ft. Vein,

The result of the work being carried on by the Pike Lake Company on its property in Deloro is proving most satisfactory. Every shot discloses free gold and the vein on which the shaft is being sunk has a width of eighteen feet. Some very rich ore has been encountered in this shaft, and some of the most spectacular specimens ever taken out of Porcupine were obtained from this vein. There are a number of veins on the property, all of which show free gold, and the results obtained from numerous assays indicate high values.

—22e advices from the superintendent at the property are so promising and flattering that the directorate are more than satisfied—as one of them says: In face of the information we have from than satisfied—as one of them says: In face of the information we have from our superintendent it is difficult to make conservative statements as to the future of the Pike Lake Company's soldings.

LONDON DISLIKES FOUNDRY SHARES

LONDON, April 20.-The Canadian Car LONDON, April 20.—The Canadian Car & Foundry president's statement that the directors are not yet proposing to take action over the payment of the preference dividends has had little result in stemming eager demand for shares, which has arisen within the last few days, altho financial critics here give no encouragement to investors to seek largely for the company's stock. The Financial Times today frankly puts the resent demand down as a gamble, remarking that, while the immediate outlook for the concern has greatly improved luring the last two months, the advance of the ordinary stock to 70 hardly appears warranted, altho the preference stock at 90 does not look so overvalued.

CHICAGO, April 99.—Wheat values became much unsettled today, owing to a sudden break of 1% in the price of the Mary delivery. The break, which was reversely the charge was somewhat influenced by the erate action of the Wall Street market tysiends. Prices generally were easier, and sen a good demand for Steel Corporation from Montreal falled to hold the price of these, shares. In the more stalic issues, Twin City was in demand at 194. Mackay common was firm around at 195. When the supply coming is appeared to trading is quite promising. Montreal had a rumor year taking an interest in the Steel Corporation Company.

NEW YORK MARKET,

H. Nightingale had the following wire at the close of the market:

Slocks have been active, without definite tendency of prices. Announcement just before noon that application had heen made for a receivership for the Chicago Rock Island and Pacific, however, had little immediate unsettling effect on the market. Rock Island dropped 221½, which was over 12 points below resterday's close and about 16 points off from Saturday's closing price. In some Charters it is believed Monday afternoon's break in prices was an interpretation of the difficulties of Rock Island. We believe that intending buyers should wait until they see what effect the decision will have on other stocks. On these reactions we advise buying standard issues.

The 'Why' of the Home Lovers' Club

Many people who are natural-born home-lovers haven't felt like buying even necessary furnishings lately, because it might mean a big slice out of their available cash funds.

To such people the Home Lovers' Club will be good news, because:

1—They will be able to get immediately the homefurnishings they need at our usual close cash prices, or at the sample sale prices now prevailing, but the payments will be spread over a period, with no interest or other charge for the accommodation.

2—On account of the new tariff homefurnishings will inevitably cost more in the future. By getting what they want NOW custom.

more in the future. By getting what they want NOW, customers will be decidedly in pocket.

3—In so far as the furnishings are made by Canadian workmen, the Club plan will be a new stimulus to Canadian industry.
