DEATH LIST EXCEEDS 650 IN CUBAN STORM

6,500 ARE HOMELESS; PROPERTY DAMAGE IS NEARLY $100,000,000

Ten Municipalities Completely Wiped Out and Toll of Injured Is Great; 200 Dead in Havana Province Alone

HAVANA, Oct. 22.—Reports of more than 650 persons killed in Wednesday's hurricane, an unknown number of injured, and 6,500 homeless, were mingled with frantic appeals for aid early this morning.

Ten or more towns and villages are said to have been completely destroyed. The damage is estimated to reach nearly $100,000,000 at various places in the provinces of Havana, Matanzas, Santa Clara and Pinar Del Rio. In Havana alone it is estimated that 200 persons were killed and 1,600 injured, and that 3,200 families had their houses destroyed.

The two villages comprising the municipality of Batabano, on the south coast of the island, reported more than 800 dead and both towns completely destroyed. They were the first upon which the hurricane struck with all its fury as it came out of the Caribbean Sea, crossed over the Isle of Pines and hit the Island of Cuba. Bajocel, lying midway between Havana and Batabano is said to have had 80 fatalities. At Gabriel there were 110, Central Fajano 8, Guira Del Melana 9, Camp Columbia 8, Guanabacoa 3, Matanzas City 6, Guines 8.

GREAT DAMAGE DONE

In all these towns and villages great damage is said to have been done, many persons were injured and numerous families left homeless. Several villages are reported to have been completely razed. Few reports have been received from parts of the provinces of Matanzas, Santa Clara and Pinar Del Rio over which the storm passed. They are completely cut off from communication because of wrecked telephone and telegraph lines and blocked railroads and country roads.

RELIEF MEASURES

By order of President Machado two relief committees have been formed. Barely $100,000 already has been subscribed to aid the distressed people. Government automobiles have been put into service in efforts to reach interior towns and villages in the storm area. In Havana City all the homeless have been given food and shelter.

Fifteen bodies have been taken out of Havana Harbor, bringing the total number of known drowned to 19. Officials believe that 50 or more persons possibly met death in the harbor when the heavy seas and the wind destroyed numerous craft.

VESSELS WRECKED

They are fearful that when the vessels were thrown against docks, sunk or piled up on steep shoals, numerous seamen perished and that their bodies probably will come to the surface today or tomorrow. A preliminary estimate of the monetary damage done to shipping is $50,000,000.

YORK CO. CHILD DIES OF BURNS

Clothing Ignited While Playing With Sister Near Kitchen Stove

Special to The Times-Star FREDERICTON, Oct. 22.—A terrible tragedy occurred Wednesday, at the home of Harvey Morchouse of Stone Ridge, a child died from burns received during play with younger sister, according to word reaching here today.

Mrs. Fannie Morchouse, wife of Harvey, left the house to attend to some duties outside. She left the two children playing near the stove which had a fire in it. Soon afterward she heard screams from the elder child and, rushing into the house, found the little girl lying on the floor with a burning stick in her mouth and her hair on fire. She tried to smother the flames with her hands, but the child died before she could be saved.

A call for medical assistance was sent out. Dr. B. W. Rouston responded and found the child unconscious and so badly burned that there was no hope for recovery. Death ensued a few hours after the accident. The mother learned from the children that the clothing of the elder child had caught fire from the stove and she struck the other with it or put it against her clothing.

GASPE PENINSULA IS SWEEPED BY STORM

Coal Boat Is Sunk Near Percé Rock—Two to Three Inches of Snow

CAMPBELLTON, Oct. 22.—According to reports reaching here, the Gaspé coast was hit by yesterday's storm and a lake boat loaded with coal for the sulphite pulp mill at Chandler, Que., was driven upon the rocks east of Percé, near Percé Rock, and may be a total loss.

The entire south shore of the peninsula was raked by one of the fiercest easterly gales in its history throughout the day yesterday, and the storm was accompanied by heavy rain and a very high tide, which threatened the highway and the railway tracks where they run close to the sea shore. Electric Refrigerators To Fore In New York Display

NEW YORK, Oct. 22.—Despite the allure of an electric safety razor and 20,000 other more or less startling results of Thomas Alva Edison's early tinkering, the most far-reaching fact proved by the 19th annual electrical exposition here is the passing of the Red Grange era of ice industry.

Several million dollars' worth of gadgets that can be plugged into a meter socket and will immediately start out sorting the lettuce or removing a double chin, all three floors of the Grand Central Palace. But each one seems to be wedged between another couple of kinds of electric refrigerators and the bewildered layman lights his cigarette beneath the electric "no smoking" sign and leaves with a definite feeling that the football stars of coming years will be no more than meter readers.

A third and light earthquake was felt at 6:42 a. m. Inquiries developed the quakes were not felt in the northwestern states of Oregon and Washington. Fresno, Los Angeles and San Diego also escaped them.

The centre of the shocks appeared to be between San Francisco and Monterey Bay. The tremors were felt as far south as San Luis Obispo, approximately 200 miles from San Francisco, and as far north as Napa, 60 miles from here. They were also felt at Stockton, 80 miles east and south.

In San Francisco, Oakland and San Jose the largest cities affected, large buildings swayed like trees, driving people into the streets and parks for safety. Hotel guests were shaken from their beds and the quakes were not felt in the northwestern states of Oregon and Washington. Fresno, Los Angeles and San Diego also escaped them.

Stockton—Shock not felt at Aalms, severe shock, no injuries or serious damage.

The quake appeared to move in a north-south direction along the old fault which caused the trouble in the quake of 1906. At the Palace Hotel one of the largest hostesses in the city, plate glass windows were broken, plaster fell from ceilings and small cracks appeared in the lobby floor. At the New Bulletin building, where the Associated Press offices are located, windows were stopped, molten type metal was shaken from the pots in the stereotyping room and furniture jiggled around.

Santa Barbara which suffered in the 1923 quake, apparently did not feel today's tremors.

The Pacific Telephone and Telegraph company reported that the quakes were felt in virtually every town up and down the coast for 300 miles in California and for 100 or more miles inland.

Police and fire stations and newspapers.

The terms of the constitution apply over the peace time policy of the division. Printing of the constitution was authorized and copies will be sent to all branches.

FINANCIAL STATEMENT. The financial statement of the society's endeavor for the last nine months showed a general balance of $2,698.83 on hand. The receipts for that period were $2,780.79, while the expenditures were $819.96.

Considerable correspondence, including an appeal from an ex-soldier, and communications from the head office and branches was read.

There also elected an executive committee consisting of five members.

Provision was made for special standing committees in connection with Junior Red Cross, nursing service, divisional office and finance.

Regrets were received from the Countess of Ashburnham, president of the Ashburnham branch, Mrs. J. P. Byrne, of Bathurst, and Miss Elizabeth Nutter, of the Women's Institute, who could not attend the meeting.

Schr. Ovonhyatekha Found Going Rough

The schooner Ovonhyatekha, Captain Frank Hogan, arrived in port yesterday afternoon after fighting a winning battle with the wind and waves in the Bay of Fundy. Captain Hogan said this morning that the seas in the bay were the largest that he had seen in 40 years.

The schooner left Halifax Tuesday with five men on board, and had good weather until the storm struck on Wednesday night. Late that night a rain, snow and hail storm the fastenings of the mainmast gave way, the mast falling to the deck. The boat was wallowing in the heavy seas and shipping water, but the jib sail was put up and the schooner was headed before the wind and run into Saint John.

PLAYS PRANKS IN OAKLAND. The earthquakes which shook Oakland played some queer pranks. In the Schlesinger department store one of the largest in the city, a wax model in one of the display windows, did a cross between the shimmy and the Charleston when the first shock came. The model plunged through a large plate glass window into the street, and was decapitated.

The master clock in the city hall tower, which regulates other clocks in the city, was stopped at 4:37 a.m. when the first shock was felt. The clock in the Elks Club building also was stopped.

The ball on top of the flagpole on the City Hall fell and could not be found. Water pipes at the Oakland Technical High School were broken. Power wires at the Alameda municipal light works, were broken. Guests fled from the hotels but no injuries were reported.

AFTER THE CONVENTION.

The Canadian Board of Trade convention has provided food for thought and discussion for some time to come. Perhaps, from the viewpoint of the organization as such, the most inspirational address was that delivered by Mr. Colvin B. Brown, of the Chamber of Commerce of the United States, because it set out so clearly what the Canadian Board of Trade may become under energetic leadership in the years to come.

A most hopeful indication of success for the Canadian Board is the complete unanimity which marked the deliberations of the last three days. Not a jarring note disturbed the harmony of the proceedings. The spirit of the closing hours of the Winnipeg Conference prevailed throughout the Saint John convention.

Moreover, the delegates from the central and western provinces were deeply impressed by the truly Canadian spirit which animated the delegates from the Maritime Provinces. The latter made it clear that if the recommendations of the Duncan Commission are followed by proper legislative action these provinces will do their part to advance the prosperity of all Canada, in a true spirit of Canadian nationality.

The executive of the Board was strengthened yesterday by the addition of a representative from each province. It was already representative, but is now more so, and the voice of every section of the Dominion will be heard in its councils. It will thus be a great unifier, since nothing tends so much to satisfactory concerted action as a clear presentation of all points of view. It will be the fault of provincial boards if the benefit of their views on all matters of importance are not given to the executive, while the democratic nature of the national body is such that its voice will not be the voice of a faction, but of the business interests of all Canada.

The praise given to President Simms, Commissioner Scanders and the Saint John Board of Trade, for the admirable arrangements made for the convention, was fully deserved. The whole proceedings centered in the Admiral Beatty, whose management very ably cooperated; so that every need was met and the work of committees and of the Board expedited in a manner seldom equaled at a convention. ### KIPLING AND THE TRIPPERS.

A new Kipling poem forming the introduction to a book entitled "Sea and Sussex" is quoted by the Montreal Gazette. It runs as follows: "On the downs, in the weald, on the marches, I heard the old gods say: Here come very many people, We must go away."

"They take our land to delight in, But their delight destroys; They flay the turf from the woodland, They load the dunes with noise. "They burn coal in the woodland, They seize the east and the mill; They camp beside our dew ponds, They mar the clean-flanked hill.

"They string a clamorous magic To fence their souls from thought; Till our deep-breathed oaks are silent, And our muttering downs tell aloud. "They comfort themselves with neighbors, They cannot hide alone; It should be best for their doling When the old gods are gone."

"So here are the downs and the marshes, And the weald and the forest shown, Before there were very many people, And before the gods had gone."

Kipling loves the Empire, he loves England, but, most of all, he loves Sussex. A huge proportion of his stories with English setting draw their local color from Sussex. And Kipling is not alone in this, for Sussex is a peerless county of concentrated variety of beauty in miniature. The lush marshland from Pevensey and Rye to Battle, where Harold fell; the weald, a paradise of hill and wood and stream, of village and farm and mansion; the downs of dew-ponds and rolling green sward, dotted with grazing sheep to the edge of the towering white cliffs beyond which the shipping of all the world passes up—down on its lawful occasions, all these attract the lover of the beautiful, and hold the historian spellbound.

But apparently Sussex has extended its invitation to the plowman, the charabanc tripper and the builder of the basses sort. The preparators are making Sussex hideous with their litter of bottles and paper and their irreverent noise. The old gods, Wodin and Robin Goodfellow and all the "little people," have been driven out; and Kipling laments. Times change, and with cheap and rapid road transport many a heretofore "unspoiled" place is converted into a clamorous rubbish dump. Up to a point it is inevitable, if said. But there is no reason why the tripper should leave a trail of discarded paper bags behind him. It is thoughtlessness, not deliberate offensiveness. We in New Brunswick know the breed. No one country has the monopoly of this type of irresponsible. So far our province is so large in proportion to the number of tourists who visit our beauty spots that the offence of those who leave an unsightly track is not yet unbearable. But that number is happily increasing and it were well to take steps to stop a nuisance before it gets a good start. An appeal to courtesy and reason might best effect this.

HARBOR COMMISSION.

The plan of harbor management under such a commission as proposed by Premier Baxter at the Canadian Board of Trade banquet last evening has everything to commend it to the citizens. The commissioners would be the joint appointees of the Government and the two great transportation systems. Under such control there would be no suspicion of loose management, and no clash of conflicting interests. The three parties to the appointment would have a like interest in bringing more business to the port, and in such management as would ensure the prompt despatch of vessels. A comprehensive scheme of harbor development would be carried out. Sir Henry Thornton and President Beatty are prepared to confer on the subject. The Government at Ottawa will undoubtedly be prepared to do its part. Of course all this pre-supposes such an agreement between the city and the Government as would provide reasonable compensation for the city when it gives up control of the harbor upon which it has spent so much of its own money to equip a national port.

The fact that the heads of the two great railway systems are in accord in their desire for improved conditions at this port, and ready to aid in solving the problem, should encourage the citizens to press for such negotiations as may bring about a greatly desired result.

New Brunswick has a large and growing trade with Cuba. If later despatches confirm those indicating urgent need of assistance for hurricane victims, the sympathy of our people will take a practical turn. President Beatty agrees with Sir Henry Thornton that these eastern provinces must have their share of immigration. The railway systems can do much to bring about that desirable change.

A Useful "Claw."

At a feast on a fifteenth century model, served in Paris the other day by Prosper Montagne, a famous chef, no forks were used, the guests following the ancient custom of eating with knives. We have grown so accustomed to the fork that we can hardly imagine getting along without it, but to this day Orientals deliberately prefer to eat with their fingers, and the Persians scornfully refer to a fork as a "claw."

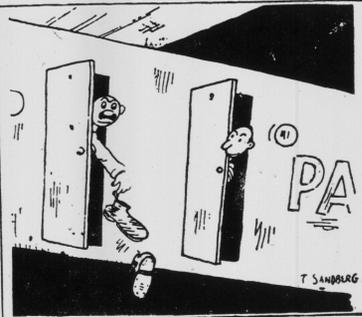

Though the Anglo-Saxons had forks, they used the implements for serving, not for eating. The fork was not introduced into England for eating purposes until the time of James I. Even in the reign of that monarch forks were regarded askance. Coryate, writing in his "Cruicities," says that he was dubbed "finger," evidently in contemptuous jest, because he used "those Italian neatnesses called forks." Here is another instance of time making the normal out of something formerly regarded as bizarre and affected.

Recipe for a Sea-Serpent.

(John O'London's Weekly.) Ingredients—The girth of one blue whale; the tail of another, two eyes large and bright. The head of a marine reptile of lineage at least several million years. The tail is a crocodile and several of his scales, taken preferably while he sleeps. The back fin of a sword fish. Mode—Fix the head on with a giraffe's neck, stuff with sea "sawdust," mix at a distance of a mile and view through the wrong end of a telescope. To be taken with a grain of salt. Seasonable—At any time.

Queer Quirks of Nature

By ARTHUR N. PACK

IT IS spring, and Bob White is calling from a fence post beside the road.

It is a cheery call, and base indeed would be the man who would harm Bob as he sends forth his challenge. For the little call serves a double purpose; it tells Mrs. Bob that here he is on the job, and it proclaims to other Bobs, in no uncertain terms, that this is his domain, and that he will resent with all his might their intrusion.

Some suppose that this loud call is Bob White's only method of voicing his emotions, but this is far from the truth. Let his brown-throated sweet-heart wander near his perch and he drops down into the thicket and with the softest and most persuasive of calls pursues his wooing.

The gentleness and beauty of Bob White has led to attempts, in some states to have him put on the list of song birds, that he might be protected. What a tragedy for poor Bob, for those of us who love him alive, and for our children who may never know his cheerful challenge.

MARRIED WOMEN MARRIED TO BOLSTER FAMILY BUDGET By ROSE SCHNEIDERMAN Woman Labor Organizer, in a Recent Speech.

EIGHTY per cent. of the 2,000,000 women engaged in gainful occupations in the United States are married. These women not only are wage-earners but home-makers as well. Surveys reveal that most of them have families and they are not working for pin money, but to keep the family budget from becoming depleted.

As a woman engaged in the trade union movement, I have found that most of the women engaged at work are compelled to do so because their husbands don't receive a sufficient wage to support a family. In New England recently a survey of living conditions of the wage earners disclosed that in 85 per cent. of the homes the head of the household received less than $1,500 a year, while government advice is that it takes at least $2,300 a year for a married man to live and support a family. ### POEMS I LOVE

"The Swallow" by Ralph Hodgson.

AS IN the case of W. B. Yeats's "Cradle Song" which I have quoted, it seems astonishing that this poem by Hodgson could have been written by a man. Of course it is a woman's cry, uttered by the poet—the cry of maternity; and the poem is so delicate both in thought and treatment that one is amazed. It's almost ghostly trailing off, yet its absolute completeness, is another notable thing about it.

The morning that my baby came They found a baby swallow dead, And saw a something hard to name, Flit moth-like over baby's bed.

My joy, my flowers, my baby dear, Sleeps on my bosom well, but Oh! If in the Autumn of the year When swallows gather round and go . . .

BOOMED TO DEATH (St. Thomas Times-Journal.) The municipal income tax is one thing that is doomed to an early death, even if Mr. Ferguson does not at present see his way clear to abolish it. Ratepayers cannot see why they should be required to pay a civil income tax in addition to a federal income tax and a property tax. In many respects, especially the part that fixes the exemption for children, the civic tax was heavier than the federal tax; now that the federal rate of exemption has been increased, it will hit a great many householders who will not be affected by the federal tax. The civic tax is going to be much more unpopular than it has been, and that was considerably.

A ROYAL EXAMPLE (London Morning Post.) The announcement that the Prince of Wales will go into camp with the Welsh Boy Scouts will not only fill with joy the hearts of the Welsh contingent, but will serve as a well-earned encouragement to every scout master. In every part of the Empire the scout masters are quietly and conscientiously carrying on the work of that admirable institution, the Boy Scouts, sacrificing what is commonly a scanty leisure to the welfare and happiness of lads who are not endowed with too much of either. . . . The benefit derived by the children is incalculable. They learn the rudiments of discipline, which they enjoy, simple crafts, dancing, how to manage a camp, how to solve and other useful and happy. . . . The example of the Prince will, we hope, serve to attract even wider support for what is one of the best institutions in the country.

"But the deer and the buffalo have disappeared. Times have changed." "That's just it. Half the girls in this tribe are named 'In Lizzie'."

Three Troops and Cubs at Gathering—Good Program Given

At the annual supper for the Edith avenue troop of Boy Scouts, provided by the troop committee last night, there were present members of the three troops of East Saint John and the Cub packs, numbering about 45 in all. G. G. Vincent was chairman and special guests included Hon. E. J.
Ritchie, Rev. F. E. Walker, Assistant
District Commissioner F. Choppin, District Secretary W. E. Hoyt, Scoutmaster W. Wilson, Calumet, Raymond Fillier and assistant cub mistresses, Miss K. Chetley and Miss Frances Fraser. The committee in charge consisted of Rev. W. J. Bevis, W. A. MacCallum, Rev. I. D. Colwell and the troop committee members,
F. D. Foley, chairman, G. C. Elliot and G.
G. Vincent. Hon. Mr. Ritchie made the presentation of a Wolf Cub instructor's badge to Garnett Clarke and gave a short address on Scouting.

An interesting program was given as follows: Piano solo, Mrs. W. A.
MacCallum; Morse signalling exhibition by Patrol Leader William Whittier; recitation, B. Davidson; Scout Law and Promise by Scout Fuller; knot tying demonstration by the Monarchs; rap-tion, Scout Lawson; recitation,

"Cohen at the Telephone"; Percy Feley's recitation, Scoutmaster W. Wilson; Scout games by the Beaver patrol; and a short Scout sketch by several Cubs. The Wolf Cubs took part in a short program giving recitations, songs and an exhibition of Cub work.
Rev. W. J. Bevis spoke of Trafalgar Day and its significance and pointed out that the more the community and the Scouts put into Scouting the more they would get from it.

HAVE COUNCIL FIRE
A council fire followed. An imitation fire was built on the stage and Scout songs, recitations and instrumental selections were heartily rendered.
The troops represented at the gathering and their leaders were: No. 27,
Edith Marie, Patrick Enslow; No. 6,
Stella Avenue, Walter Whipple; No. 4, oughly enjoyed the evening. Those who served the excellent supper so efficiently were Mrs. O. J. Lawson,

Mrs. F. D. Foley, Mrs. D. Downes,
Miss H. V. Day, Mrs. Fred Pawcett,
Mrs. B. Chetley, Mrs. W. McIntyre and Mrs. W. A. MacCallum. As kitchen assistant Otty Capson helped greatly.

SATURDAY EVENT
Preparations are well along for a big

NEW YORK, Oct. 22—Much has been written and said about London climate but it remains one of Eng-finishing touch.

INQUEST ON NOV. 1
Coroner H. A. Porter decided that an inquest was necessary in the death of Roy Thompson, 66, Dorchester juries received when he and a companion, Weldon Babinington, 104 Brittain street, while painting the front of a house at 145 Orange street, were shown from a swinging staging which broke in the centre. He empanelled a and also the scene of the accident and then adjourned until Nov. 1 to assemble again at the Court House.

DEAR KATY:
You must confess that you are a "doubting Thomas"
(if a girl can be a Thomas) otherwise you would not have shipped in Calais at all, even though you didn't buy anything.
But I am glad you did go because you saw with your own eyes.
Saint John merchants of course buy the same goods as Calais. Merchants do it and it costs less to do business here in Saint John there is no reason why you cannot get exactly what you want here and at the right price.
Tom wants to know if your intended husband is the same Jack Ellsworth who went to University of N. B.
Tom confesses that he used to be sweet on a Frederic-sworth cut him out. But perhaps it was a different boy.

I wish I could go along with you when you pick out your furniture but mother is feeling so poorly I can't get away very often. And Tom doesn't like it if I don't have a good dinner waiting for him when he comes home.

The auxiliary of Dominion Lodge L. O. B. A., held the first meeting of the season last evening at the home of the president, Mrs. Jennie Brown, 75 High street. There was a large number of members present, and part of the evening was spent in sewing. Plans were made for the winter's activities. A drawing for a quilt took place and the lucky winner was Mrs. Frank Lodge. The proceeds for the drawing amounted to $15, which will go to the N. B. Protestant Orphanage Fund. At the close of a social half hour refreshments were served by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. W. Totten and Mrs. W. Kierstead. Those present were Mrs. T. Rogers, Mrs. C. Atkinson, Mrs. T. Members of Zion Church Are Honored
At the close of the prayer meeting, quite a number of members and friends went their way to 10 Canon street, the home of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Hannah and Mrs. Dykeman, who have been active and earnest workers in the church for years. They are about to pay a visit to the United States, and it was felt that they could not be allowed to depart without some expression of appreciation. An appropriate address was read by the pastor, Rev. George Orman, and presentation of a leather handbag to Mrs. Hannah and a fountain pen to Mrs. Dykeman, was made by Miss Jordan. Also there were speeches by F. L. Purdy, H. M. Lettiner and K. Day. Ice cream and cake were served and a very pleasant evening spent.

More Received For Upkeep of Orphans

The Community Club at Martinton, Kings county, which meets from house to house for parties and work and amusement of various kinds raised and gave to H. Usher Miller, secretary of the N. B. Protestant Orphan's Home board, the sum of $67.15 which was thankfully received for the maintenance of the children in the home. A sympathetic letter has also come to Mr. Miller with enclosure of $1 for the orphans, from Hal, Esther, Phyllis Clayton and Leonard Grew, children of Mrs. Bessie Grew, Nerepis. They tell Mr. Miller that they are giving their weekly allowance of 20 cents each, which they usually spend for treats to help the orphans.

MANY COMPLAINTS BY THE JOCKEYS

Suggestion Made That Jockey Club Have Steward For Each Race
There has been so much trouble of late over the starting of the races courses in England that the suggestion has come from several sources that the stewards of the Jockey Club should have one of their number at the start of each race. The trouble has mostly arisen from complaints from jockeys as to the failure of their mounts to get off, and in each instance the stewards have been obliged to uphold the starter's position to the jockey. In a recent race a rider was fined $25 for making "an inaccurate and unjustifiable complaint" that the starter had ignored him. The stewards in this case based their action on the report of Lord Londale, who happened to be at the starting point without the knowledge of the jockey.
Another reason advanced as to why there should be a steward at the start is that the starter, when confronted by large fields, cannot see whether the jockeys hold to their positions. It has been reported on the highest authority that in a recent race a certain horse was a strong favorite and that in order to make his success sure the jockey on another horse shifted his position after he had been seen by the starter to take the one which had been allotted to him, and as the flag dropped jumped over the second horse, which was considered the most dangerous to the winning of the race by the favorite. The well-backed horse won.

JUDGES REPORTED FOR PARKING CARS

Law Enforcers Summoned For Violating Law—Fire Chief Complains
BOSTON, Oct. 22—Two judges, six chiefs of police, deputy sheriffs and more than a score of police officers and attorneys were among the 200 automobile owners who had their machines tagged for violation of the parking rules in the vicinity of the Middlesex County Court buildings at East Cambridge.
The drive is at the instance of Fire Chief Casey, who complains that the solid lines of parked machines on both sides of the streets near Lechmere square hinder the work of the firemen and would make it impossible to fight a serious fire in that neighborhood.
Captain Leahy said that the drive is not aimed at those persons who park their machines long enough to transact some legitimate business in the courthouse, but rather at the large number of persons who park on the streets all day, many of them going to work on the Elevated from Lechmere square.

Four Believed Dead In Airplane Crash

MALTA, Oct. 22—Three British officers and a naval telegrapher aboard a gunnery spotter seaplane are believed to have been drowned when the plane made a forced landing in the Mediterranean.
The plane was participating in exercises with the Third cruiser squadron when a message was received from it saying that engine trouble had developed and that a forced landing would be necessary. Assistance was sent to the spot but nothing was found beyond some fragments of wreckage. An all-day search failed to reveal any trace of the plane's crew.

TWO POSTAL BANDITS ARE IDENTIFIED

NEWARK, N. J., Oct. 22—Outbreak of a new type of crime and knowledge that federal authorities were close on the trail of the eight gunmen who last week slew a postal employe in Elizabeth and escaped with $121,000 yesterday added impetus to the war against banditry which has overwhelmed New Jersey in the past few months.

INSTRUCTIVE

Dorothy Dix

The Dependent Mother Who is Forced to Live With Her Married Children Has Our Sympathy; She is a Martyr; But the Rich Woman Who Intrudes is a Parasite and a Fool," Says Dorothy Dix.

THERE are a million phases to the in-law problem, and one of the most difficult of them to deal with is that of the mother who insists upon living with her children after they are married because she cannot bear to be separated from them by even a few blocks.

DOROTHY DIX

This woman is not financially dependent on her children. She has plenty of money to maintain her own establishment. She is not old or ill or helpless. She is middle-aged and strong and well. But she has absorbed herself so much in her children that she has no life without them. She has no interest except in them, and what they do and have and think.

So when Tom or Sally gets married, there is no possibility of leaving mother behind. She is fastened like the Old Woman of the Sea upon their shoulders, and they have to take her along in the new homes where she is almost invariably the evil genie.

THE other day a woman came to me with a case of this kind: "My mother," she said, "is one of the best people in the world, but hard to live with. There is no finer man than my husband, but he also has his peculiarities. Mother insists on living with us, and I have to stand perpetually between these two antagonistic personalities, and it is wearing me to a frazzle and driving me crazy."

"My mother has plenty of money," the woman went on. "She could live luxuriously anywhere, but she is of the clinging vine type and wants to live with her children. She is not willing to be left alone for a minute. Wherever my husband and I go, she has to go, too, and she loathes it. I love my mother and want to do everything possible for her happiness, but, after all, she is nothing to my husband except a tiresome old woman. She isn't his mother and I can't blame him for resenting not having the home he supports to himself. We never have any home life alone together. And I don't know what is the right thing to do about it."

"When a woman gets married," I replied, "she swears at the altar to leave father and mother, and cleave unto the man she takes for better or worse. Therefore, her duty to her husband is paramount to her duty to her mother, and in a case where her mother is ruining her husband's happiness and disrupting the home, the mother must go."

"THIS is a hard saying. It is hard for the mother who has given her life to her child to know that there is no place for her in her daughter's house and that the child she has loved with an idolatrous love is happier without her. It is bitter hard for a mother to be forced to realize that while her children are necessary to her, she is not necessary any longer to them."

"But it is doubly hard on the daughter. I can think of nothing more cruel that can befall a girl than to have to evict the mother she loves and who clings to her and depends on her. It will tear the daughter's heart out for her to remember how her mother has cared for her in her helpless childhood; how mother has watched by her sickbed; how mother has sacrificed herself for her; how mother has put her before all the world."

"BUT, on the other hand, when a woman gets married she takes her husband's happiness in her hands. If he is good and kind and tender and considerate, she has no right to let his peace be destroyed and permit him to be made miserable by friction in his home. And living with an ungenial person is a daily and hourly martyrdom."

"Furthermore, the wife is in honor bound to protect her home for her own sake and the sake of her children. She hasn't a right to let even her mother wreck it. And it is a practical certainty that an objectionable mother-in-law in it will drive the husband out of it into the wilds where the lady waltzes in slacker clothing and prey on the lambs that have escaped from the domestic fold."

"IN CASES where a mother has no money, and where she is to depend on her children for a living, and where they are not able to support her outside of their homes, there is nothing for her to do but to live with them and run the dangers that this involves. But there is no excuse for the 'women of independent means' impeding their children's homes by forcing themselves into them."

"They know well enough that they are not wanted, because every young couple naturally desires to be alone. They know that they will be a constant source of discord, and that being the cause of breaking up their children's homes and being the cause of divorce between them."

"They know that when they themselves married they didn't want any in-laws sitting around or to have to drag an older person around with them wherever they went. They know how they resented the unsolicited advice that their in-laws handed out to them."

"YET they saddle themselves upon their children because they are afraid of being lonely. They can't bear to be with Tom or Sally every minute of the time, and they can't endure not to dominate their children's lives."

"These women think that they would be unhappy separated from their children, but they wouldn't. They would be a million times happier because they would have the joy of independence. They would even be closer to them because they would be united in spirit. No two people are as far apart as the mother and child who live together but between whom is an eternal conflict."

"It is for mothers to settle this phase of the in-law question. They have no right to force it upon their children. It is too cruel to make a tender and devoted child shut his or her door on the mother he or she loves. It is for the mother to have dignity enough, consideration enough, unselfishness enough, to refuse to put herself in a position in which she becomes an embarrassment and a source of sorrow to her children. She should never go to live with them."

"THE poor, dependent mother, who is bound to live with her children, is entitled to our profound sympathy. She is a martyr. But the rich woman who insists on living with her children cannot be too much censured. She is a parasite and a fool!"

SNOW HIDES ADIRONDACKS
Blanket of Two to Eight Inches Covers Mountains in Heavy Fall
Canadian Press Despatch.
SARANAC LAKE, N. Y., Oct. 21.—An unprecedented heavy autumnal fall of snow during the night started the Adirondacks under a blanket of white. The depth ranged from two to eight inches in the various localities. The heaviest fall, eight inches, was reported from Tupper Lake, while six inches covered the ground in this village and at Elizabethtown, the county seat of Essex county. At Malone, up near the Canadian border, only two inches fell.

Coolidge Says No Minister To Ottawa

WASHINGTON, Oct. 21.—President Coolidge can see no present reason for sending an American minister to Ottawa, when Canada sends a resident minister to Washington. In any event, Mr. Coolidge is quite certain that such action would require an act of Congress.

At present, it was said at the White House, he feels that consular questions are being handled efficiently with Canada and that any other questions that might arise could be dealt with through the present organization.

SEE-SAWING ON BROADWAY

JUST about a month from the time I announced that Greenwich Village was outgrowing its swaddling clothes of pose and affectation, along comes a new café and holds a Tuesday evening "poodle" platter."

All the dream-eyed young bards are rhyming overtime and appearing in the highways just before the dinner bell, with scripts sticking from their pockets. Thereafter the scene is quite as self-conscious as ever it was in the Village's palmist days. At the close of the dinner they rise and read their stilt to the assembled gathering of admiring young women who have sneaked off for the evening. On an average their stuff is pretty bad—almost funny.

And since it is a poet's platter, the charge for the dinner is for four bits, or 50 cents, as they say east of Chicago.

I AM told that the idea germinated in the mind of a certain young poet, famous for his eccentricities. This young man never was known to pay for a drink or a meal, except on those rare occasions when all doors were closed to him.

There are enough strangers in New York to make it impossible for him to carry on an almost continuous business of meal mooching. Deciding to make sure of at least one "square" a week, he convinced the café proprietor of the business advantages of this poet's round-table and thus is able to grab meals.

This same fellow hears the reputation of having been kicked out of more places than any living human. For many months he made a practice of discovering where and when "literary teas" were being served. He never waited for the formalities of an invitation but crashed the gate, gorged on sandwiches, cakes and tea, and, once finished, dashed out, generally with some insult to the hostess because her fare had not proved sufficiently filling.

JUST over the edge of the village is a dingy bookshop where, day upon day, you can see a white-haired old lady at the sewing. I am told she has occupied the antique chair for 20 years, and though all the radical and "modern" youths of the past several generations have come to her place she maintains her old-fashioned and motherly attitude.

ANOTHER book store, a half dozen blocks away, carries a sign announcing a "first anniversary sale." The sign reads: "I started out to borrow a coffee pot and came back with a bookstore."

The proprietor was a former waiter who rode the range, punched cattle, and wandered about the southwest and Mexico. He knew little about books, but a great deal about people. He brought scores of customers to his store by sitting at a piano and singing cowboy songs. They stayed to buy books.

It seems he tried to borrow a coffee pot from two young women who had owned the place and who were heavily in debt. So he just took over the business. Just across the street from this place stands a man in cowboy costume, acting as doorman for a "western atmosphere" café. The "cowboy" never has been west of Jersey and, no doubt, thinks bronchos are some sort of throat trouble.

BEHIND THE SCREEN

THERE won't be a scarcity of comedies built around well-known players this winter since Hal Roach has been steadily gathering in "big names" under his banner. At present thirty or forty actors and actresses are under contract to him.

Among the women most recently signed are Marjorie Daw, Priscilla Dean, Anna May Wong, Mae Busch and Agnes Ayres.

Seems as if really good comedies become scarcer each day while the slapstick variety flourishes. What with Chaplin, Langdon, Keaton and Harold Lloyd firmly devoted to feature length productions there is a good market for comedies like those Hal Roach proposes to put out in his "Star Comedy" series.

"River's End," which Famous Players made several years ago, is to be "Barbed Wire," based on Hall Caine's "The Woman of Knockaloe," is to be Pola Negri's next production. It is a story of the late war.

Tom Moore is playing opposite Laura L'Arronde in "Beware of Widows" for Universal.

Life is a-throb with melody, listen and catch the song; hear it in echoes of childhood's mirth, borne by the winds along; hear it in voices of toiling men, happy and strong and deep, hear it in mothers' lullabies lulling their babes to sleep. Life is a-throb with melody sweet as a silver chime, catch it in mellow notes of age, sense it in manhood's prime. Ever and ever to song men go, song that is sweet and clear; music is master from age to age, master from sphere to sphere. Life is a-throb with melody, ringing through changeful days, lifting men's thoughts to the hills of joy, hinting of happier ways. Set your feet to the rhythmic notes, listen and catch the song, moving onward to melody, still, though the way is long.

CLAIMS EXPORT TRADE AS BASIS OF PROSPERITY

Trade Commissioner to New York, in City, Says Canada's Credit High

That the credit of Canada in the United States was never higher than it is today was the opinion expressed last night by Frederic Hudd, Canadian Government Trade Commissioner at New York, in the course of an interview with The Times-Star.

Development of Canadian export trade, said Mr. Hudd, was one of the factors essential to prosperity. The feeling in the United States was that the future of Canada was secure and that present conditions gave every ground for optimism.

Mr. Hudd, who was formerly a Toronto newspaperman, has been attending the conference of the Canadian Board of Trade, and left last night on a tour of the Maritime Provinces in the interest of export trade.

"Although more than one-third of Canada's exports go to the United States, under present tariff conditions, except in emergency circumstances," said Mr. Hudd, "it is difficult for the Canadian manufacturer to sell his goods there. The bulk of Canada's present exports to the United States is composed of natural or partly manufactured products and this trade, especially in a few lines, such as pulp and paper and asbestos, is so highly organized that it more or less promotes itself.

EXPORT BUSINESS

"A very considerable export business with foreign markets outside the United States is capable of development through New York," said Mr. Hudd. "New York is the foreign buying centre of the North American continent and there are to be found many hundreds of export houses engaged entirely in selling products in the various markets of the world.

"It is important that the Canadian manufacturer should establish contact with these houses, preferably in person. In some cases the New York agent has exclusive representation in this or that overseas market and through these channels it is possible for Canadian manufacturers to develop a very considerable export business.

CANADIAN PORTS

"In developing business through the New York agent, every effort should be made to ensure the shipment of the maximum quantity of Canadian goods through Canadian ports. According to the 1925 returns, 20 per cent of the total export trade of Canada moved through the ports of the United States—17 per cent through New York. Under present economic and other conditions, a certain percentage of Canadian business must continue to move through these channels, for fairly obvious reasons: if we do not do the business at all, but there is every indication that we are doing more than a necessary minimum.

CREDIT NEVER HIGHER

"The credit of Canada in the United States was never higher than it is today and the personal standing of Canadians in every walk of life is remarkably high. Canada is regarded as the best field for investment outside of the United States and the feeling in the United States is that the future of Canada is secure and that present conditions give every ground for optimism.

Beatty Says C.P. Will Aid In Development Of Saint John Port

"They were white people and healthy, God-fearing and not afraid to work," he said.

ASSIMILATION OF PEOPLE.

Speaking of the assimilation of the people in this country he likened it to putting sugar in cold water and in hot, and strongly urged his auditors to warm the welcome to newcomers and spoke against keeping people out.

He commended the people of Canada generally and quoted reports of famous doctors to the effect that of the people that entered the United States the best had come from Canada. He also lauded the pioneers of Eastern Canada and mentioned the names of several families that had made names for themselves in the world. They were all first-class sons from good stock and he said tribute to the East for giving the West the pioneers that it had.

LESSONS OF PIONEERS.

There was something to be learned from the pioneers, he said, and that was to produce an honest day's work for an honest day's return. He condemned the ordinary hundred mothers and fathers of the present day and said that they should provide inspiration for the generations to come. He mentioned whence famous persons had received their inspiration, telling of Nelson, who got his inspiration from the tales of soldiers told by his uncle. He also mentioned Sir Walter Scott and others. This generation should receive inspiration from the Tillies, Lauriers and Tappers.

He also told of the Neopoltan wars and of the famous men born at that time, including Gladstone and others and likened that period to the present one, and said that the babies should be considered. He gave the praise for sending the babies into the world and said that it was the job of this generation to lead those babies who should be taught to revere and uphold the good name of Canada.

The following message was sent last night to His Excellency Viscount Willingdon, Governor-General of Canada, by Col. J. L. Regan, secretary, acting on behalf of the Canadian Board of Trade assembled in convention at Saint John, N. B., Oct. 19, 20, 21:

"The Secretary to the Board of Trade, Ottawa, will kindly convey the following message to His Excellency, the Governor-General and all the members of the Canadian Board of Trade assembled at the conclusion of their first meeting at Saint John, N. B., desire to respectfully request that Your Excellency will graciously accept their sincere thanks for your inspiring message which has been an incentive to continue the national work and duty upon which they are engaged."

Capt. W. C. C. Innes

The case against the income tax was presented to the taxation committee by Captain W. C. C. Innes, Dominion executive director of legislation for the Retail Trade Bureau of Canada, as follows:

"The system of raising revenue through the Dominion income tax is, in my opinion, absolutely wrong in principle in a young and undeveloped country requiring capital for the development of its national resources and population. It is all very well to argue that other countries are subject to income tax, but it should be remembered that these old countries are fully developed and have generations of accumulated wealth behind them, while we in Canada have unlimited undeveloped national resources but no great accumulated wealth, and a burden which could hardly be borne by an old country with its great capital resources is one which might strangle the future development of a young nation."

INCOME TAX HIT.

"I am satisfied that the income tax is the most outstanding check upon the industrial life of this country. Eighteen months ago my association, the Retail Trade Bureau of Canada (an association of outstanding retailers) made a careful examination of the workings of our income tax with a view of ascertaining as far as possible, the effect it was having on our industrial life. Our investigation more than confirmed our contentions and for the last twelve months we have conducted a vigorous educational campaign, holding public meetings in the principal cities and towns, and putting before the tax payers of this country our views on this matter."

AS WAR MEASURE.

"The Dominion income tax was introduced as a war measure, and for that reason it was justified, but there is always a danger of such measures becoming permanent, and this is exactly what has happened with the income tax. It has had the effect of

Port Traffic Prospects Here Better, Says C. P. Head

PRESIDENT E. W. BEATTY

"THE PROSPECTS for export and import traffic through the port of Saint John for the coming season are better because of the general increase in trade and particularly the improvement which has taken place in Canadian export," E. W. Beatty, President of the Canadian Pacific Railway, stated to The Telegraph-Journal in a brief interview last night.

"The same can be said of the grain traffic," he continued, "and the Canadian Pacific will be prepared to handle all the grain offered for export via this route through the coast, if not controlled the routing."

In reference to scheduled sailings from the port of Saint John this year, Mr. Beatty said they were substantially the same as last and to the same point. The company's plans for next year had not been determined, but it was unlikely that any very extensive works were contemplated here.

Speaking of the relations between the city of Saint John and the Canadian Pacific Railway, Mr. Beatty said they had been uniformly friendly and hoped that they would continue to be so.

"We have never had any difficulty in discussing very frankly any plans we have had for the improvement of facilities here with either the Board of Trade or the City Council, and the common interest of the city and the city should ensure that these friendly relations should continue," Mr. Beatty said in conclusion.

whose experience in drastic cuts in taxation has resulted in surplus revenue and prosperity.

SAVES MANY LIVES BY GIVING BLOOD

Remarkable Frenchman Submits to Transfusion 101 Times—Accepts no Reward

PARIS, Oct. 21.—The Cross of the Legion of Honor is being sought for a clerk in the Paris markets, Raymond Briez, 29 years old, who probably holds the world's record for the number of times he has given his blood to save the lives of others. He recently underwent his 101st operation for blood transfusion.

Medical men in Paris regard the young Frenchman as a unique specimen of manhood and several surgeons call upon him regularly for blood. Briez demands no compensation and asks no questions. He has saved the life of a president of a South American Republic, a prince of a European state and numerous poor workmen.

During each of his 101 operations he has given a quart of blood. In July he gave his blood 17 times, and once he underwent the weakening process three times in 24 hours. His most cherished possessions are letters received from those whom he has saved by his heroic sacrifice.

"Thanks from the heart is all I have ever asked," said M. Briez when questioned about the matter.

WHY BOW TO THE PARISIENNE?

Why must Canadian women look to her as the personification of chic?

What I think is the one difference between the Parisienne and the Canadian.

By Lucille La Marre

BOTH in this country and Paris, I've always been concerned with the buying habits of women of fashion. I don't mean of women of wealth alone because the woman of a limited income may have the style of a princess. By the term, "a woman of fashion," I mean nothing which concerns the pocketbook exclusively.

My feeling is that the French woman always thinks before she buys, whereas the Canadian is too often led by impulse. With the transplanting of fashion so expeditiously nowadays, there is also coming to Canada something of the Parisienne's "feeling" for chic.

This is a hopeful situation. Not so long ago there were many who felt that "the latest" was all-important. Nowadays there is a growing tendency to apply the Parisienne's ideal of thoughtful pre-planning.

Nowadays there is enlightenment as regards the combination of style and economy.

To generalize less, I mean that while the latest edicts of Paris can be adapted over here, it takes a house like Julius Kayser & Co. with all its worldwide resources to give, for instance, a sheer pair of evening hosiery that other wanted quality—sturdy wear.

In my goings about from fall opening to fall opening, from shop to shop and manufacturer to manufacturer, I am delighted with the Kayser offerings this fall, as I know you will be.

This great house specializes in those three intimate articles of the toilette, hosiery, lingerie and gloves, the three items which touch one's skin.

They specialize, likewise, in silk. They bring this season, the elegancies of Paris, seemingly fragile, yet uniquely durable. They bring the current originals, yet not at import prices. They offer exquisite and dainty things, but made to wear.

All because Julius Kayser & Co. has one unchanging policy. Its label guarantees 100% pure silk and 100% pure dyes, plus fine workmanship.

Styles may change with the seasons, but Kayser quality never. Kayser standards are ever the highest.

This accounts for the ever increasing number of women, I believe, who are learning to THINK before they buy. They insist upon seeing the Kayser Label.

To buy otherwise is sometimes disappointing. Mere "looks" and mere "feel" are often deceptive.

Let me give you an example. There is the genuine full fashioned hosiery, such as Kayser makes. There is the imitation. The genuine has a real seam which runs from the toe-tip to the top of the stocking. It becomes a fitted hose, knit to conform to the leg and not losing its shape.

The imitation is merely the old-fashioned tubular hosiery with a fake seam running up the back. With the first washing it loses its shape—twisting and wrinkling around the ankle in loose folds.

So often it is with the claim of "pure silk" and "pure dyes." There is often "loading" or "weighting" also which gives a fictitious impression of weight. Kayser hosiery is never weighted.

All Kayser stockings, too, are fine gauge (42 gauge). Note their smooth, even elasticity compared with coarse gauge stockings.

With the present day tendency of "oufits"—that is, the proper set of lingerie, hosiery and gloves for each occasion—it is highly necessary to THINK, as the Parisienne does, before one buys. It isn't at all wise to buy on impulse.

To do so means short satisfaction and quick disappointment.

My advice is to buy carefully, to look for the label. Do not be misled by pretty pictures or hysterical claims. Do not be guided by "feel" and "looks" alone. If your purchases bear the Kayser label you can be assured of both chic and economy.

The Kayser offerings, as announced in the adjoining columns, are well worth your inspection. I have seen them and I promise that you will be delighted.

MATERNITY WARD FUND GROWING SATISFACTORILY

More Than $1,000 Received From Houghan Concert in Imperial Much satisfaction was expressed at the meeting of the Women's Hospital Aid yesterday afternoon when it was learned the proceeds of the William Houghan concert recently held for the benefit of the maternity ward project had realized more than $1,000.

Mrs. J. J. Stothart, president, was in the chair.

SPECIAL PLEA

A special plea was made for members to assist with the weekly visiting at the hospitals and to inquire for follow-up cases. It was decided to provide crutches for hospital patients.

Mrs. Walter L. Gregg gave the secretary's report. Mrs. Lester Mowry as treasurer reported a balance of $704.34 in the general fund and $709.17 in the emergency fund and $1,027.72 in the hospital ward account. The total included proceeds of the William Houghan concert for which the grand total receipts had been $1,001.50 to date.

The concert proceeds included $122.74 on tickets not used and direct donations to the fund.

Letters of thanks were sent to W. H. Golding for the use of the Imperial theatre and Ralph Robertson for assistance in taking the tickets.

VISITING REPORT

Miss Ella McGaffigan gave Mrs. J. C. Lee's report as visiting convener, expressing concern because so few follow-up cases were reported since Miss Belle Howe's services as social service worker were no longer available. It was felt there were many such cases of which the Aid was not informed. Last month there were only two follow-up cases and it was recommended that in future the visitors should inquire of the head nurses of the wards.

The report told of the good supply of magazines and funny papers, urged the use of the Aid's badges all ways by the visitors and drew attention to the undependability of having boys and girls in general wards as they are at present.

Reference was made to the fact that there had been two maternity cases and one life had been lost and another hung in the balance.

NEED SEEN

This fact was felt to emphasize the need of a maternity wing. Mrs. J. Carleton Lee paid a special tribute to the work of Mrs. Verner McLellan and Mrs. J. J. Stothart for the Houghan concert.

Miss Ella McGaffigan reported there was an elderly man in the hospital who needed crutches and on her recommendation the Aid decided to provide the crutches.

Mrs. Ralph Robertson was appointed convener for visiting the General Public Hospital next month.

Mrs. J. J. Gillies reported as convener for visiting the County Hospital, telling of an effort to supply the small needs of patients as well as to give fruit. Her visitors had all been members of Central Baptist church and by visiting on five successive weeks had gained a better idea of the work and been able to have a more friendly contact with the patients. She reported a child needed a sweater and a woman needed night garments. It was decided to refer the child's need to the Junior Red Cross and Mrs. T. H. Carter offered to supply the garments for the woman.

Mrs. George Ewing was appointed convener for visiting the County Hospital next week.

JELLY DAY

Jelly Day was next spoken of. It was decided to hold Jelly Day on Nov. 9, but there was a lengthy discussion as to how to divide the contributions of jelly between the two hospitals. Last year the County Hospital received a very small proportion. It was decided Mrs. Ralph Robertson and Mrs. George Ewing should have charge of the dividing of contributions. Those who will receive jellies for the hospitals are Mrs. George Ewing for the County Hospital, and Mrs. Ralph Robertson for the General Public Hospital. Mrs. T. T. Hertram in the West Side for both hospitals, and Mrs. T. H. Carter in the North End for both hospitals.

It was decided to hold Book Day for the General Public Hospital on next regular meeting day and an earnest at plea was made that puzzles and games for the children should be given at the same time.

It was decided to have Halloween decorations for the two hospitals. Miss Ella McGaffigan and Mrs. G. McCluskey were appointed conveners for the General Hospital and Mrs. George Ewing for the County Hospital. It was also decided to give fruit to both hospitals for Thanksgiving.

TUBERCULOSIS CASE

A report was received of the tuberculosis case for which the Aid is providing maintenance and it was decided to continue this work and to have the patient brought to Saint John for a report on the case by Dr. H. A. Paré. Denominational vice-presidents' reports showed members fees as follows: Anglican, one from Trinity; Presbyterian, one from St. Matthew's; Hebrews, seven, and Roman Catholics, six. For the United Church Miss Rose Hopkins reported on visitors supplied and expressed the hope that there was to be a new branch formed in a West Side congregation.

Mrs. George McCluskey reported on the supply of magazines during the month and said Mrs. H. S. Peters would have charge for the ensuing month.

Mrs. R. S. Sims, as convener of cook books, reported that there were 62 still unsold.

ONE DEAD, MUCH DAMAGE IN STORM

Fishery Inspector Le Blanc of Buctouche Drowns as Boat Upsets

ONE death, that of Fishery Inspector LeBlanc, of Buctouche, the only one reported in New Brunswick, may be attributed to the wind, snow and rain storm which swept the northern New England states and the Maritime Provinces from yesterday morning until last night. The snow, which in some districts fell to a depth of six inches, was driven by a regular gale and was generally followed by a heavy rainfall. Along the North Shore of the province the tides were unusually high and considerable damage was done to wharves and breakwaters. In some instances boats were torn from their moorings and considerably damaged while between Bathurst and Campbellton telephone poles were blown down, roads washed out and communications generally interrupted.

NO DAMAGE

The West Side fire department was called out at 6:50 last evening by an alarm from box 93 for a chimney fire in a house in Union street owned by W. E. Emerson. The fire was extinguished with salt and no damage was done.

CHURCH EVENTS WELL CARRIED OUT THURSDAY

Successful Teas Held at St. Andrew's and Fairville Baptist

In a setting of most effective and striking Halloween decorations the annual tea and sale of St. Andrew's Benevolent Society was held yesterday afternoon in the church rooms and enjoyed very generous patronage, realizing a very satisfactory sum for the society funds. Mrs. Norman Shaw, president, was general convener and had efficient committees assisting.

The Halloween idea was carried out in the trimming of the various booths and on the tea table yellow and black candles and bright yellow pumpkins were used in a very pleasing manner, black candles in black candlesticks and bright yellow pumpkins were used in a very pleasing manner. Mrs. J. S. Bonnell and Mrs. D. Walker presided at the tea table and the refreshments were Mrs. J. Royden Thomson, Miss Marie Hamilton, Miss Campbell and Miss Cole. Members of the society assisted in serving.

Those in charge of the various booths were as follows: Candy, Mrs. H. S. Brennan and Mrs. Sims; home cooking, Mrs. G. McA. Bilsard, Mrs. Geo. Bishop and Miss Marion Knox, and fancy work, Mrs. Sydney Young. The tickets were taken by Mrs. George Watson. Musical numbers during the afternoon added greatly to the enjoyment of the occasion. Miss Gwyneth Hodgson was violinist and A. Bishop was pianist.

FAIRVILLE BAPTIST

The W. M. A. S. of Fairville Baptist church held a delightful afternoon tea yesterday from 3 to 5 in the school room of the church which was decorated with cut flowers and palms. The many small tables with their white covers had each a single rose in a bud vase as centre decoration.

Mrs. W. J. Stevens and Mrs. R. Ryder presided over the tea and coffee urns at a nicely appointed serving table, which was centered with a vase of marigolds. While tea was being served Miss Bertha Cougle sang sweetly "Mary of Argyle" and "Sing Me to Sleep." Her accompanist was Miss Katherine Fox. Mrs. Pierce, the organist, gave piano selections, and a violin and piano duet was contributed by Miss Mae Betts and Miss Sadie Cougle. Mrs. C. B. Black and Mrs. C.

Canadian Press Despatch. NEW YORK, Oct. 21—Fifty per cent of the receipts of the "Gala performance to do honor to Her Majesty Queen Marie, of Rumania" at the Metropolitan Opera House next Sunday night, will go to the ballet producer, The World quotes Mrs. Clarence Calhoun, sponsor of the affair for the Mothe Memorial Foundation, as having made that assertion and as having reiterated the announcement that boxes were selling at from $1,000 to $5,000. The World estimates that the ballet producer should receive half a box office intake of $100,000.

Noting withdrawals from patronage of the affair The World quotes Mayor Walker as saying with respect to an invitation to speak: "I have not accepted the invitation and do not know whether I will go or not."

The World also says that it is in receipt of telegrams from Mrs. Harry Payne Whitney announcing that she refused to act as a patroness, and from Mrs. W. K. Vanderbilt asserting that the use of her name as a patroness was "wholly unauthorized."
